Meeting of City Council

Civic Improvement Committee Make Important Suggestions to the Council

The first item of business at Friday's Council meeting was a discussion with Mr. Casorso, who appeared in connection with the refrigerator plant to be installed in their new buildings. Mr. Casorso presented the engineer in charge of the installation, who stated that it was their intention to put in an elaborate plant which would be in continuous aperation all through the summer months. They would prefer using electric power, but when compared with the cost of running an oil engine the power rate of the city was prohibitive.

Ald. Sutherland said the power rate had been reduced this year. It was costing the city at least 8 cents (the present power rate) to generate the current, and tney could not very well supply it for less. The power house was, moreover, at present carrying its full load, and it would perhaps be better if Mr. Casorso did instal an oil engine.

Ald. Copeland said ne would like to see the council grant Mr. Casorso's request if possible. He understood that it would be necessary soon for the committee to instal another unit at the power house, and in view of that they should endeavor to secure and retain all the power business that was available.

Ald. Sutherland pointed out that it would be necessary to reduce the rate for power to all consumers if Mr. Casorso's request were granted. This would mean that light consumers would be paying a portion of the power rates until a Diesel engine or other cheaper means of generating the current could be obtained.

The decision ultimately arrived at was that the council could not grant Mr. Casorso's request.

Mr. W. C. Blackwood attended with a petition signed by a number of residents in reference to the continuation of Lawson avenue to the Government road, a matter which was discussed two weeks ago. He suggested that as Mr. Varney was opposed to the idea because he would have to give twice as much land as the other petitioners the city should make a valuation of all the respective adjoining property, and let each holder bear a proportionate share of the expense involved. The petition was filed for future consideration.

The following correspondence was then taken up and read:

From the Pacific Coast Pipe Co. soliciting an order for wooden pipe for the waterworks system. As no pipe was immediately required the letter was filed.

The Union of B.C. Municipalities wrote asking the council to lend its support to the idea of an inter-provincial highway to extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. A form of resolution was enclosed to which the cit‡ was asked to attach its seal. A resolution was passed that the city council approved of the construction of an interprovincial highway across Canada.

The Northern Electric Manufacturing Co., of Seattle, wrote to inform the council that a representative of their firm would shortly be in Vernon, and thought it would be a good opportunity for him to visit this city and give an estimate of the cost of installing a modern fire alarm system.

Some communications respecting the sale of the city's debentures were referred to the Finance Committee.

The following accounts were passed for payment:—

C P R, freight	$ 14 69
Sewer time cheques	61 00
Water works time cheques	43 49
Mikado Cafe, prisoners meals	22 50
White & Bindon, stationery	75 00
Municipal Const. Co, wood pipe	1358 23
Palmer & Rogerson, March acct	64 75
J H Steveson, work in park	156 50
Fred Smith, do	16 50
George Graham do	12 00

By-law 131 was then introduced and given a first reading. This by-law is identical with a previous by-law relating to dog taxes, except that it provides for the raising of the tax on dogs from $2 to $5. This by-law was given a second and third reading, during which there was some discussion as to the amount at which the tax should be fixed.

Ald. Taylor thought any increase of the tax should be limited to mongrel dogs. He thought thetax on pedigreed dogs should remain at $2, as tending to encourage the keeping of a better class of dogs. As for mongrels, they should be taxed to the limit.

Ald. Copeland said he had spoken to the owners of several pedigreed dogs, and they had all been in favor of a high fee being levied, suggesting anything from ten to twenty-five dollars. The highest tax allowed under the Act, however, was five dollars.

Mr. P. Brooke waited on the council with a complaint regarding the payment of his light and water account. He stated that he had on the 15th inst., forwarded a cheque in payment of the account, with the discount deducted, but the City Clerk had refused the cheque as it had not reached him until the 16th.

As neither debtor nor payee would accept responsibility it was decided to lay the blame upon the postal authorities, and this led to the production of several other instances of mail having been delayed. The mayor advised Mr. Brooke to lay his claim before the postmaster.

Mr. B. McDonald appeared to request the city to supply pipe for the extension of a drain from the Farmers Exchange to the lake, a distance of 150 feet, the latter to supply the labor, as had been done last year when the original drain was laid.

Ald. Calder stated that at present all the pipe on hand was needed for water extensions. Mr. McDonald was therefore assured that the matter would receive further consideration when a fresh supply of pipe was ordered.

Mr. Lionel E. Taylor was present and addressed the council on the question of the supply of water for people in the vicinity of Bankhead. A number of new houses were going up there, and the owners wanted to use the main which had been laid to the ranch. Mr. Taylor asked if the council was ever likely to buy up such outside systems.

Ald. Sutherland did not think so, as the provincial government were curtailing municipal powers in transactions outside their corporate limits. He suggested that residents outside the city could form a company for the distribution of light and water, after getting the assurance that the city could supply them. The city would then meter the total consumption and render accounts to the company, which could then collect individual accounts from its members.

Mr. Taylor was also present before the council as a delegate from the Board of Trade, and had several matters to lay before the meeting on behalf of the civic improvement committee of that body.

He first drew the council's attention to the dirty condition of the lanes, especially the one south of Bernard avenue, and suggested that a number of municipal bins be placed at various points to act as receptacles for paper blown about the streets, and other rubbish.. The council expressed their approval of the idea, and stated that attention was to be given to making the scavenging more efficient.

Mr. Taylor also asked that all animals brought to Kelowna to be slaughtered for human food should be inspected. To this the mayor replied that there were no slaughterhouses in the city, and it was questionable whether the city had power to make regulations for the inspection of animals before they were slaughtered TThe health committee were instructed to examine all slaughterhouses in the district and report to the council.

The next suggestion from the Board of Trade was that the council should take steps to have oil spread over all sloughs and swamps for the prevention of mosquitoes. This suggestion also met with the approval of the council, the mayor expressing the view that the use of oil should be made compulsory to owners of such property.

Mr. Taylor next asked the council to deal with the increasing number of the destructive English sparrow stating that the Board of Trade thought an effective method would be the placing of poisoned wheat on the roofs of houses.

The last point brought by Mr. Taylor was the lack of lavatory accommodation at the Opera House, the council agreeing that it ought to be connected with the sewers.

Connolly Retains Championship

Monday's wrestling match, as had been anticipated, drew a large crowd in spite of the increase in the price of seats. The contest was too good a one to miss argued the local sports, and they dug up the extra admission rather than be left out.

The preliminaries, which might have been well dispensed with without seriously hurting the show, occupied a considerable time, and the audience began to manifest signs of impatience for the great event to begin.

At length the two contestants for the world's championship in the light-heavyweight class put in their appearance and were greeted with rounds of applause from their respective admirers.

The Irishman had wrapped his bulky form in a brilliant jersey of the most pronounced emerald hue, and bowed as gracefully to the audience as a prima donna in grand opera. Bob contented himself with a nod of recognition and a matter-of-fact overcoat.

The manager of the opera house briefly announced the conditions of the match, of which Harry Small was to be the referee, with Bert Johnson and F. Foote as umpires in case of a dispute as to the referee's decision.

From the first it was quite evident that the local man had met his match and more. Notwithstanding this however, Sutherland managed to get the first fall to his credit, after a bout lasting some forty odd minutes. He was fresh in wind and muscle and after several unsuccessful attempts managed to get the powerful scissors hold on his opponent and made it stick. It was no small achievement, the enormous strength of Connolly seeming to make it possible for him to break any hold which could be put upon him.

The second bout went faster, Connolly pressing Sutherland hard, and Bob came to the mat in nineteen minutes.

Connolly won the third bout in eighteen minutes with a cruel hold which meant submission or a broken limb, and so the honors remain with "ould Oirland."

Sutherland put up a good fight, and Connolly admitted the toughest he had encountered for a long time; but he was plainly outclassed by the Irishman whose experience and constant training gave him a tremendous advantage.

Don't forget the address by Mr. R. Robertson on the formation of a central selling agency. Raymer's Hall on Saturday next at 2 p.m.

Pat Connolly appeared before Mr. R. H. Parkinson this morning charged with assaulting the night constable, Geo. Mackay. A fine of $5 and costs was imposed.

Mr. Fulton, of the public school, received this week the sad news of the accidental death of his brother, an electrical engineer. The funeral takes place in Vernon tomorrow.

Okanagan Centre and Woods Lake

(From our own correspondent)

Messrs. J. W. Fowler and G. M. Watt have received appointments as commissioners for taking affidavits in the supreme court.

Mr. W. Swalwell has a stump-puller at work taking out the stumps on 15 acres of his bottom landproperty.

Mr. Harry Gleed has been appointed a notary public in this district, and will have an office at the Centre.

Messrs. Gus Macdonald and Alec Campbell are busy burning up the slash on their properties and getting them in shape to be cropped.

Mr. J. W. Fowler was in receipt a short time ago of a set of meteorological instruments from the government at Victoria, and is now keeping a daily record of atmospherical conditions.

Mr. Monsees has rented his lot to J. P. Bready and son forthe summer, and Mr. and Mrs. Monsees are leaving for the prairie, where the former has property.

Messrs. Johnson & Carswell have a team and a few men engaged in getting the logs off the steep bank over which they were put in the winter, into the water and boomed. The tug towed the first boom of logs up to their mill last Saturhay. They have a million feet on the dump this year.

A large consignment of fruit trees came down with the first trip of the Johnson & Carswell boat from the head of Long Lake to the Oceola wharf. The bulk of them were for the Okanagan Valley Land Co., and also some for the Duck Lake Fruit Lands Co.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gibson returned from England, where Mr. Gibson spent the winter. It was while away that Mr. Gibson took part in a very interesting ceremony, so that he comes back to us na longer a bachelor. Mr. Gibson and his wife have taken up residence on their fruit farm near Carr's Landing.

The residents of our district were glad to hear just about a week ago the whistle of the steamboaton Woods Lake, when it made its first trip right through to the Oceola wharf. The ice was a long time going out this year, so that the siren's awakening echoes soundeh as a welcome harbinger of spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Goldie have returned from their bridal tour through California, and have now taken up their residence at the Rainbow Ranch, of which Mr. Goldie is manager. Mr. Goldie reports heavy loss in the crop of oranges throughout California as a result of the unusual frosts.

The services of Mr. Manery have been secured by the O.K. Cannery Co., as manager. Mr. Manery has been in the employ of the Vernon Cannery for the past year, gnd previous to that time was at the canneries at Nanaimo He comes well recommended, and the directors are to be cangratulated upon securing so steady and capable a young man. The Company are providing their manager with a residence close to the cannery, where he will live with his wife and a baby girl.

What might have proved a serious accident occurred last week, when Mr. Sadler, an employee of the Okanagan Valley Land Co. was hauling a load of lumber up the hill from the Centre. Stopping on the hill to get of and secure a pole to further bind his load, the young man turned around to find his team had started off down the hill towards the cannery. Making a frantic run after them he succeeded in catching one line, but in some way he tripped, and was dragged underthe wheel, which passed over his body at the thighs. He was picked up and conveyed to the camp, where a doctor was summoned. It was feared at first that he had sustained serious internal injuries, but we are glad to state that he is now well on the way to recovery.

Quite the best entertainment that has been given in our district for some time was the concert held in the Woods Lake school house on the evening of Friday the 18th. The concert was devoted to the rendering of Scotch selections for the most part, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience which filled the school house, there being present over a hundred. The very respectable sum of $33 was realized, which will be devoted towards the maintenance fund of the Presbyterian church, which is under the care of Mr. N. Inglis. An interesting programme of songs, duets, quartets, and recitations, was contributed by Miss Owen, Miss Smith, Mrs. Shanks, Mrs. Petrie, Mrs. Whittaker, Mrs. Pixton, and Messrs. Inglis, Shanks, Robinson, McFarlane, Stanley Clark, and Bowker.

Great credit is due to all who were instrumental in getting up so fine an entertaiment. Some of those who took part came from as far as Ellison and Oyama, and we hope that this concert will only be the precurser of many more as delightful. Nothing helps just quite as much as the development of the musical talent of a district to promote good feeling, and the giving of this talent for the social enjoyment of others. Tea and cake were served at the close, and Mr. J. W. Fowler gave a short address thanking those who had taken part, both entertainers and entertained, his remarks being interspersed with numerous witticisms. "God Save the King" was sung at the close.

Death in the Can

We are glad to see that the Council, on the solicitation of the Board of Trade, are about to make some effort to deal with the question of cleaning up the back lanes of the city, the filthy condition of which has long been a standing disgrace and a source of untold danger to the health of the public generally.

The seemingly chronic state of inefficiency which has hitherto always been the chief characteristic of the scavenging service can no doubt be adduced as one of the main causes of this deplorable condition of things; even the most careful householder, anxious to have the accumulations of household refuse removed has frequently had to wait indefinitely before this could be done. Probably this fact in itself has caused many to become careless who would otherwise have paid more attention to the cleanliness of their back premises, and it certainly has furnished an excuse to the naturally indifferent. At the present time the scavenging is probably done about as well as it ever will be—for the price, but the trouble is that there is no regular system of garbage collecting. This latter duty which is really distinct from scavenging proper, is left for the spare time of the scavenger, and if he does not happen to have any spare time, the rubbish must rest where it is.

We do not of course suggest that nothing has been done to remedy matters. From time to time the council has made spasmodic efforts to induce merchants to keep cleared away the waste paper and empty boxes left from the unpacking of goods. In this they have been partially successful, though an inspection of the rear of some of the stores with imposing fronts would reveal much to be desired—or much that is undesirable, if you prefer to put it that way.

It is to be regretted, however, that these efforts have been confined almost entirely to the business houses. Practically no attempt has been made to compel people to keep the lanes and back portions of the lots on which they reside free from the abominable heaps of cans and other refuse.

Some of the back lanes of the city are almost impassable to persons with delicate olfactory senses. Almost every house has its disgusting pile of decaying animal animal and vegetable refuse, with empty cans and bottles strewn around in amazing quantities. Empty cans, did we say? They would be sufficiently objectionable if they were empty. But place one of these "empty" cans unber the microscope, and note the process which is going on there! Empty, forsooth! Each one is a hot-bed, an incubator of millions of deadly germs of loathsome diseases, carried to the food in your houses by the myriads of flies which feed on their nauseous contents.

The thoughtful man will see to it that the filth is removed when he realizes that his own and his children's lives are in danger, but what about the thoughtless man, who, alas! is in the majority? It is nearly as dangerous to you if the heap of rotting filth is in your neighbor's lot as it would be in your own. There's nothing for such but compulsion.

The only remedy is a properly organized system of garbage collection. Each householder should be compelled to provide a proper sanitary galvanized iron receptacle—with a cover, to keep out the flies—and these should be emptied at frequent intervals by a day scavenger employed for the purpose.

If the council thought fit, the bins could be purchased in quantities at a wholesale rate and supplied to householders at the lowest possible price. But whether or not they should be provided.

First Anniversary of Ill-Fated "Titanic"

Tuesday was the first anniversary of the sinking of the ill-fated steamship Titanic, and was the last day on which claims against the owners, the White Star Steamship Company, for loss of life and property, could be filed in the United States courts. A list of claims for damages in excess of $10,000,000 had already been demanded.

FARSIGHT IN CAR SELECTION

THE measure of your pleasure in motoring depends on the discrimination you use in purchasing your car.

Not alone should you investigate the worth of the car itself. You should be particular about the firm that makes the car. Look a little ahead—ask yourself whether the car you're about to purchase is likely to have a factory at all behind it six months hence.

There's sure satisfaction in the choice of a McLaughlin Car—not only are McLaughlin Cars trustworthy in themselves, but they come from a factory that has been producing high-grade cars for five years, and was making high-grade carriages nearly half a century before that—a factory that is the keystone of a big organization, with completely-equipped sales depots all over Canada.

How Concrete Work Was Made Easy For You

UNTIL a few years ago farmers considered concrete a rather mysterious material, that could be used successfully only by experts. They knew that upon the quality of the cement depended much of the success of concrete work. They had no means of testing cement, such as big contractors employ, and so could not be sure of its quality.

Yet the farmer needed concrete.

He was kept from using this best and most economical of materials by

1. Lack of knowledge of how to mix and place concrete.
2. Lack of a brand of cement upon the quality of which he could absolutely rely.

Canada Cement

has supplied both these requirements.

We employed men to make a thorough investigation of the farmer's requirements; to find out where and how he could use concrete with profit to himself; to discover all problems he might come across and to solve them. This investigation was expensive. But when it was completed we had the material for our campaign to show the farmer how and where to use concrete, and we printed a book, "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete," for free distribution. That book makes every farmer who reads it a concrete expert, as far as his needs are concerned. He finds that there is nothing mysterious about concrete—that a few simple rules supply all the knowledge required.

At the same time we met the farmers' second objection—inability to test the quality of cement—by producing cement of a quality that does not need to be tested.

The Canada Cement that you buy by the bag is the same Canada Cement that is sold by the train-load for great elevators, buildings and bridges.

Boy Scout Notes

By "MAGISTER."

The Boy Scout movement has grown up of itself out of the suggestion given by the Scouting Handbook, and has spread to almost every corner of the earth. Its principles appeal to every class of boy, and are adaptable to every country, which fact enables it to serve as a bond of union between foreign countries in such a way as to be conducive to the peace of the world

Thereare scores of instances of the public utility of Scouts; some of us may remember the gratuitous work done by them on the occasion of King Edward's funeral in putting up the street decorations and taking them down afterwards, and as ambulance detachments in tending the distressed people in the crowd that day. These points illustrate the fact that they realize that it is their duty to do something for their country or fellow subjects when occasion offers—without looking for a reward.

The cases of saving life by Boy Scouts, which were rewarded in two years and a half amounted to about 120, half of which were for rescuing people from drowning.

From a chief constable, who states that in a certain town the Boy Scouts are worth twenty extra constables to him, down to the old woman who has had her fuel brought to her daily by Scouts, letters of appreciation reach head-quarters from all parts.

The credit for the rapid attainment of results which have been achieved, is undoubtedly due in the first instance to Scoutmasters, i.e., men who have taken up the work and who have carried it out with the great difficulties incidental to the first organization of the training of boys; and credit is also due to those who have taken up the duties of Commissioners, etc., among whom are some of the best known men in the country.

King Edward took a great interest in the aims and methods of the movement, and showed his appreciation of it both by honoring the founder, and by commanding a parade of Boy Scouts before him, and also by throwing open to their particular use certain of the Royal parks. His Majesty King George has graciously shown a similar interest, and has confirmed this by becoming our patron.

The suggestion was made that since "Scouting" has appealed so strongly to the boys themselves, it might be made an instrument for education of every boy in the Empire.

By the rules a Scoutmaster has to serve three months before he is recommended for his warrant. The object of this probation is to enable him to see whether he finds scouting after all what he expected.

It so often happens in similar organizations that a man comes in full of high hopes and ideals, and then finds that he cannot fall in with the views of those in authority, or he has not the gift of dealing with boys, and so on.

The difficult problem of the age and the main danger to our nation is that we are not sufficiently self-disciplined; we put our personal views before the good of the state, and this failing is one we want to reform inthe rising generation.

The course to be followed in getting hold of the boys is ably summed up by Mr. A. D. How, in his "Book of the Child," as follows:—

"A man whose daily walk led him down a certain dingy street saw a tiny boy with a grimy face and badly developed limbs playing with a banana skin in the gutter. The man nodded to him but the boy shrank away. The next day the man nodded again; the boy had decided that there was nothing to be afraid of, and spat at the man. Next day the little fellow only stared, and the day after he shouted 'Hi!" as the man went on. In time the boy smiled at the greeting which he now began to expect, and finally the triumph was complete when the tiny chap was waiting at the corner of the street, and seized the man's fingers in his dirty little fist. It was a dirty street but it became one of the brightest spots in all that man's life."

The Scout's motto is "Be prepared" and it is just as suitable for the Scoutmaster; he must be prepared for disappointments at first although they are often out-weighed by unexpected successes. He must also be prepared for the prevailing want of concentration of mind on the part of the boys, for they will never paygreat attention to any one subject very long. A formal lecture on one subject would very quickly pall, and their thoughts begin to wander, because they have not learned how to fix their attention where it is wanted and to keep it there.

Making the mind amenable to the will is one of the important inner points of training.

Badges of efficiency are established in order to develope in each boy a taste for hobbies or handicrafts, one of which may ultimately give him a career and not leave him helpless on launching into the world. There are upwards of 50 of these badges, besides badges of rank, medals, competition shields, and badges for everyday use, such as straw hat ribbon and badge, athletic costume badge, etc.

A strong feature is made of discipline; this is not gained by punishing a culprit for a bad habit, but by substituting a better occupation that will absorb his attention and gradually lead him to forget and abandon the old one.

Amusements

It has long been the desire of the many friends of the Juvenile Bostonians to see these clever young artists in something besides the particular brand of musical show that they have heretofore appeared in, that is, a bunch of bright and tuneful songs and clever comedy served with a dressing of beautiful costumes and scenery with a few really good musical numbers on the side. Although this style of amusement has earned a fortune, the management have, on the advise of several well known critics secured a real Broadway success that has been played by grown-ups. Out of over fifty pieces offered, Kirk la Shelle and Julian Edwards "The Princess Chic," was chosen for its tuneful music, clever libretto and the fact that the different parts seem to fit the members of the Bostonians as if they were written for them and they handle them in a manner which has earned an offer of a New York engagement. "The Princess Chic" will appear here, played by the Bostonians at the Opera House during their two nights stay, April 25 and 26 with a special matinee Saturday.

Contract Let for Flooring New Church

A special meeting of the building committee for the new Anglican Church was held on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. P. Edmund Corby, the architect, was present. The tenders received from four builders for the work necessary to complete the building were opened. That of Mr. G. A. Bowser being the lowest was accepted and the architect was instructed to have the work put in hand at once. It is anticipated that the work will be completed in time for the church to be dedicated by the bishop at the end of May.

Oven Results From A Gurney-Oxford Range

The value of a stove to a woman is measured by the successful results in cooking obtained from the oven. With this primary object in view, stove experts have invented means of absolute control over the distribution of heat to every part of the range.

The Gurney-Oxford is constructed with a Divided Flue that carries the heat to the back of the stove through two different divisions. By this scientific arrangement the two back lids of the stove are given equal cooking value and the oven is thoroughly surrounded by a steady even heat.

With a Gurney-Oxford, it is never necessary to open the oven door several times during the baking of a pan of biscuits to turn them around next the heat.

Biscuits, pastry, cake, or bread all bake evenly, rise evenly, and brown evenly without any attention whatever from the cook.

A simple device aptly called the Economizer regulates the exact temperature of the oven by moving a small lever around a series of six notches. A woman soon learns the important value of each notch, one of which immediately checks the hottest fire and keeps it low until she requires it again.

A wonderful cooking reputation is made and lived up to through a Gurney-Oxford range.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for the lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Water Investigation Board

The plans of the hydrographic surveys made by order of the Board of Investigation during the last two years have been open for inspection during the last week, the members of the Board being present to explain them to all interested parties.

Many persons have availed themselves of the opportunity, and objections have been filed against certain of the claims that have been made.

The Board has set Friday, the 2nd day of May, at 10 o'clock in the morning, for a final hearing. Evidence and argument will then be heard regarding objections filed by: W R Pooley against J K Salvage and others under record 317, July 23, 1892; W D Walker against A B Carle; B E Crichton, South Kelowna Orchard Co, and Roy Sweeney, to determine whether water record 558 of August 20, 1896, is for Saw Mill Creek or Six Mile Creek.

Evidence and argument will also be heard on the conflicting records for water from Twin Lakes and tributaries of the north fork of Mission Creek granted to Mary Hereron, C H Geen, Thomas Orchard, F O Conklin, R S Hall and J F McLellan.

Applications have been made for amendments of the water rights map to show an increased area of irrigable land in connection with the following water records:—
