A letter was read from C. R. Gowen complaining of the action of Mr. G. Rowcliffe in fencing in a public lane running alongside his property. The clerk was instructed to write Mr. Rowcliffe requesting removal of the fence.

A letter was also read from the provincial surveyor of taxes stating that the Tax Commission which is at present touring the province would sit in Kelowna on the 21st inst.

A petition was received from residents on Wilson Avenue for the placing of incandescent lights on the poles which are being erected on that street.

The appointment of a building inspector for the city was then taken into consideration. Applications had been received from the following:—

Geo. Patterson, at	$75	per mth.
J. A. Bigger ,,	$10	,,
Geo. Aspell ,,	$110	,,
Robt. F. Ritchie ,,	$110	,,

It was mentioned in explanation of the widely varying amounts of salary asked, that some of the applicants had evidently been under the impression that the position was one which would require full time to be devoted to the duties of the office. The work, however, would only take a small amount of time each month. A resolution was passed appointing Mr. J. A. Bigger to the office.

Mayor Sutherland mentioned that J. G. Clarke had spoken to him in reference to the moving of a building from Chinatown to Lum Lock's sub-division on Ellis Street, near the exhibition ground. He had told Mr. Clarke it would first be necessary to get a permit to move the building which he did not think would be granted if it was necessary to cut the electric light mains.

It was pointed out in the discussion on the subject, that the cutting of the electric light mains was a most undesirable proceeding. Every joint and splice in the wire was detrimental to the system and a source of leakage. Unless the very greatest precautions were taken the release of the strain by cutting the wires threw the poles out of alignment.

In spite of the mayor's instructions to Mr. Clarke he had 'phoned the power house and had one of the electricians cut some of the wires and had moved the building without a permit.

Mr. H. H. Millie waited on the council and spoke in reference to the same subject. He had been informed, he said, that a number of Chinamen were contemplating removing their buildings in the same manner, He strongly objected to this being allowed as it would be necessary to cut many of his telephone wires to enable the building to pass along the streets. This would disorganise the service for some time. The damage done to the pole line was a great deal more than was represented in any charge he could make for the work of cutting and replacing.

It was stated that the trouble and expense caused by the moving of some of the old buildings was more than they were worth. Their owners should, at any rate, be required to cut them down so as to make them pass under the wires.

A resolution was passed that the clerk notify Mr. Clarke that a written permit should have been obtained before moving the building, and that this will in future be insisted upon; also that he was now authorized to finish the moving of the building provided he did not interfere with the telephone service in the daytime or the light service at night.

A tax rebate of $5.20 wasallowed to Mr. G. C. Rose, being amount of assessment on a plank sidewalk removed by the city; a rebate of $14.09 to Dr. Boyce, being taxes on three lots which had been deeded to the city for street purposes; and $11.74 to Mr. W. Trench, who had been taxed twice on the same property.

The mayor presented a plan of sub-division of Lot 1, block 10, map 186, which was approved by the council.

The mayor said he had been requested by Mr. F. M. Buckland to take up the matter of a gymnasium for the fire brigade. the proposal being that the city pass a by-law to raise by way of debentures a sum of money sufficient to pay for the construction of the building, the brigade guaranteeing to pay the annual interest and sinking fund during the currency of the debentures and to provide a suitable site for the building.

Although most of the aldermen expressed themselves in favour of encouraging the fire brigade in their project, some doubt was felt as to the power of the council to pass a by-law to raise money for such a purpose. It was decided to seek the advice of the city solicitor on the matter.

The meeting then adjourned until Saturday next at 10 a.m.

Fort George Reserve

The agreement reached between the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and the Fort George Indians, whereby the latter surrender to the former their reserve in the very centre of Fort George was approved by the departmentof the interior at Ottawa shortly before the defeat of the Liberal government.

The terms of the purchase of the reserve were the payment of the sum of $100,000 cash to the Indians, half to be divided amongst the natives affected and the remainder to be held by the Dominion Government in trust for them. In addition the railway company agreed to build a house for every head of a family and to erect a church and priest's house on each of the two reserves to which the Indians move. The sum of $1,000 is to be given to the Indians to pay for the removal of bodies from graves on the vacated reserve to cemeteries to be established at other points.

Hon. Martin Burrell Gets Portfolio of Agriculture

Popular Member for Yale-Cariboo Elevated to Cabinet Rank - Leaves for Ottawa - Banquet Postponed

The Hon. R. L. Borden completed on Monday his difficult task of selection of the cabinet ministers to whom falls the duty of directing the affairs of the Dominion for some time to come.

Considerable surprise and no little gratification was felt locally when it was learnt that the member for Yale-Cariboo, Mr. Martin Burrell, or, as we must now call him, the Hon. Martin Burrell had been appointed to the important office of Minister of Agriculture.

The good news was received in town first in a wire from Mr. Burrell himself to Mr. R. F. Morrison, the secretary of the local conservative association, briefly stating that he had accepted the portfolio of Agriculture, and as he was leaving immediately for Ottawa, would be unable to attend the banquet which had been arranged for to-night in his honor.

The pleasure which the tidings afforded served to place completely in the shade any disappointment which might have been felt at the necessity for postponing the banquet, arrangements for which had already made some progress.

The elevation of Mr. Burrell to the control of the department of agriculture, is bound to prove a popular one, not only to his many conservative admirers, who helped to send him to Ottawa with such a splendid majority, but also to many of the liberal party, who when Mr. Burrell was elected, like good sports accepted the inevitable, and in spite of their political opposition can not but appreciate the many excellent qualities of the new minister.

Though still a young man and young in the political arena (this being but his second term in Parliament), Mr. Burrell is peculiarly fitted for the position. Of undoubted ability both as an orator and a statesman, he has rapidly risen to the front. His knowledge of agricultural conditions, born of wide and intimate experience of the needs of the farmer and the fruitgrower, will be of valuable service to him in his new duties.

Mr. Burrell's Career

The Hon. Martin Burrell is an Englishman by birth having been born at Faringdon, Berks, in 1858.

His first acquaintance with Canada was twenty-seven years later when he came over to engage in the fruit industry in the Niagara peninsular. His first experience as a public man was as lecturer for the Ontario government, his even then extensive knowledge of horticulture and agriculture causing him to be in great demand. He came to B.C. in 1899, settling at Grand Forks where he purchased a large ranch in the Kettle River Valley. The ranch was planted to fruit trees, and afterwards became one of the show places of interior. He also established the large nursery at Grand Forks, which does a very large business in fruit trees.

In 1907-8 he acted as fruit commissioner and lecturer for the B.C. government in the Old Country, doing valuable work. He is a member of the Provincial Board of Horticulture, and has acted as judge at several important shows, notably the Vancouver Apple Show. For a short time Mr. Burrell was editor of the "Grand Forks Gazette.

The Postpoued Banquet

The banquet which was to have been given to Mr. Burrell has not been abandoned, but postponed indefinitely, awaiting the first opportunity to secure his presence. The enthusiasm with which the function was being arranged when circumstances interfered, will receive added zest from this new honor which has been placed upon him.

Laymen's Missionay Convention

The first men's missionary convention under the auspices of the Laymen's Missionary Movement and Church Missionary Boards will meet in the First Baptist Church, Vancouver, on Wednesday, Oct. 18th, at 4 p.m., and will continue in session until Friday night. There will be three sessions daily—10 a.m., 2 p.m., and 8 p m.

On the third day denominational conferences will be held when the delegates of each of the churches will meet separately and deal with the problems and plan the work of their own denomination.

At this great Christian council, Dr. John R. Mott, of New York, Sir Andrew Fraser, and many of the leaders of the missionary enterprise of Canada and this province will be present as speakers, and most of the practical aspects of work at home and in foreign lands will be discussed by experts. Besides delegates already registered any person desiring to attend can go and be registered at the convention church.

News has been received of the shocking death at Lumby of a young Englishman named John Edwards. The poor fellow appears to have been engaged in land clearing work, when some powder he was using exploded, literally blowing him to pieces.

Jack Hyman, foreman on the Hon Price Ellison's ranch, who was brought into town last week with his skull fractured by a kick from a horse, has since died in haspital.

Personnel of the New Cabinet

The complete list of the members of Mr. Borden's cabinet is as follows:

Premier and President of the council–Hon. R. L. Borden.

Minister of Agriculture–Hon. Martin Burrell.

Minister of Finance–Hon. W. T. White.

Minister of Customs–Hon. Dr. J. Reid.

Minister of Interior–Hon. Robert Rogers.

Minister of Railways and Canals –Hon. Francis Cochrane.

Minister of Public Works–Hon. F. D. Monk.

Minister of Trade and Commerce –Hon. George E. Foster.

Minister of Militia–Hon. Colonel Sam Hughes.

Secretary of State–Hon. Dr. C. J. Roche.

All the new ministers will have to go back to their constituencies for reelection. It is not anticipated however that any of them will be opposed, and it is likely that the formal returning by acclamation will all be over in about a couple of weeks.

McBride will Stay With Province

Refuses Place in Borden's Cabinet

Referring to Premier McBride's refusal to accept a portfolio in the new government of Mr. R. L. Borden, Mr. Bowser said to an interviewer:-

"I may as well tell you that Mr. McBride received an offer to enter the new cabinet at Ottawa, and naturally he gave the matter careful consideration. But he took this view, and I firmly agreed with him in that stand, that in British Columbia he and his government had inaugurated many important matters of legislation, and many radical moves in administration, and he wished more than anything else to stay and see them out. Years of tremendous prosperity are in store for British Columbia. British coffers are beginning to open since the defeat of reciprocity as never before to our investments. Preferment in the East was desirable, but when it came to leaving British Columbia in its growing and prosperous days there was only one decision that the premier could reach, and that was to stay with his native province. Personally I am very glad he made that decision. From every one I have spoken with I hear the same thing—that British Columbia needs Mr. McBride right here. With a conservative government in power at Ottawa, and with active co-operation, British Columbia will get a better show, and the premier will be able to carry through many important things for this province."

K.L.O. Tennis Club.

The Bench Lawn Tennis Club played their second match of the season against the Kelowna Club last week, and after some good tennis the result proved a draw, each club winning two matches. As will be seen from the scores the bench club had a small advantage of four games on the total.

Score.—W. Case and R. H. Hill beat F. Peters and A. Willis 6-4, 8-6; beat D. McKenzie and C. Quinn 6-0, 6-1.

W. C. Spencer and H. Anderson lost to Peters and Willis 4-6, 6-8, and to McKenzie and Quinn 6-8, 1-6.

A return match on the Kelowna Courts is arranged for this week.

The vocal and instrumental music of the "Yeoman of the Guard" opera, to be produced by the K. M. and D. Society this season, has arrived. Rehearsing will commence at an early date and notice of the first call will be duly given.

Census Now Completed

Population Nearly 8,000,000

Canada's fifth census, begun in June, has been completed, and the official figures will be made public as soon as the returns are in from Yukon and North-West districts. The total population will be well under eight millions. Toronto and Montreal have made the largest gains in population, the former having the greatest percentage of gain and the latter the largest gain in numbers. The maritime provinces, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have not grown as have Quebec and the other provinces, but that they have more than held their own is about as strong as the census officials will put it. In Ontario the population of the rural districts has fallen off, notably in western Ontario, from which there has been a large migration to the West since the last census. This has been partly off-set by a great increase of population in northern Ontario, in the four districts of Nipissing, East and West Algoma, and Rainy River and Thunder Bay, where the population has more than doubled. All the Western provinces show great gains, the largest percentage of gain being credited to Alberta. The cities of Winnipeg and Calgary show the largest gains of any of the western cities.

Chicago celebrated Monday the fortieth anniversary of the great fire of 1871, which destroyed $200,000,000 worth of property and caused the death of 300 persons. In Grant Park a replica of Mrs. O'Leary's historical barn was fired as a feature of the evening's performance. A cow was secured to play the part of the famous animal which, according to the general accepted belief, started the big blaze by kicking over a lamp.

It was erroneously announced last week that the old Crowley building, and consequently Mr. Knapton's shoe repairing shop was being moved to Leon Avenue. Shouid have been Lawrence Avenue, near fire hall.

Feeding Value of Hay

One of the most important substances in any foodstuff is portein. All nutritive substances which contain nitrogen are classed under the general term of protein. Protein is composed of nitrogen, carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, sulphur and phosphorus. Protein is the substance which builds up the body. The muscles, tendons, ligaments, connective tissues, skin, hair, hoofs, part of the bone, and, in fact, every part of the body but fat, are made up of protein, together with mineral matter and water.

The next important class of substances is the carbohydrates, which contain carbon hydrogen and oxygen, but no n't ogen, sulphur or phosphorus; they include starch, sugar, etc. These are used for practically the same purpose for which coal or wood is used in the steam engine, namely, to furnish energy and heat.

The third important constituent of hay is its oils. Small quantities of oil are present in all kinds of hay. These oils serve the same purpose as the carbohydrates. A pound of these, however, will furnish two and one-fourth times as much energy or heat as the same quantity of carbohydrates. It can readily be seen when the chemical analysis of hay is considered, why the price of the different kinds of hay should depend first, upon the amount of dige tible nutrients contained, and second, upon the purpose for which the hay is fed. If the concentrated feed—i.e., the grain in the ration—lacks protein, then the hay that is high in this substance is more valuable than one which contains little but carbohydrates, and vice versa. There is quite a range in the amount of the different classes of nutrients in the various kinds of hay.

On an average, in 100 pounds of alfalfa hay the digestible protein amounts to 10.58 pounds; in alsike clover hay, 8.15 pounds; in red clover hay, 7.38 pounds; red top hay, 4.80 pounds, and in timothy hay, 2.89 pounds.

In 100 pounds of red top hay the digestible carbohydrates amount to 47 pounds; in timothy hay, 43.72 pounds; in alsike clover hay, 41.70 pounds: in alfalfa hay, 37.33 pounds; in cowpea hay, 38.40 pounds; in red clover hay, 36.15 pounds.

When fed for protein, timothy hay ranks last, but when fed for carbohydrates it stands next to red top, which heads the list. If the total nutrients are considered there are a number of different kinds of hay which are equal, if not superior, to timothy hay for feeding purposes. —H. B. McCLURE, in "Holstein-Friesian Register."

Warning to Motorists

For the benefit of the many automobile owners in this city we print the following rules which were adopted by the Farmers' Anti-Automobile Society.

1. Upon discovering an approaching team the automobilist must stop offside, and cover his machine with a blanket painted to correspond with the scenery.

2. The speed limit on country roads this year will be a secret, and the penalty for violation will be $10 for every mile an offender is caught going in excess of.

3. On approaching a corner where he cannot command a view of the road ahead, the automobilist must stop not less than 100 yards from the turn, toot his horn, ring his bell, fire a revolver, halloo, and send up three bombs at intervals of five minutes.

4. Automobiles must be seasonably painted—that is, so they will merge with the pastoral ensemble and not be startling. They must be green in spring, golden in summer, red in autumn, and white in winter.

5. All members of the society will give Sunday up to chasing automobiles, shooting and shouting at them, and taking arrests and otherwise discouraging country touring on that day.

6. In case a horse will not pass an automobile, the automobilist will take the machine apart as rapidly as possible, and conceal the parts in the grass.

In case an automobile approaches a farmhouse when the roads are dusty, it will slow down to one mile an hour and the chauffeur will lay dust in front of the house with a hand sprinker worked over the dashboard.

A LITTLE DIP INTO SPACE.

Distances From Earth to Stars That Make Even Imagination Gasp.

One of the greatest sources of the fascination of the starry heavens is the measurelessness of their abysses. The ocean of space is so pellucid that we seem to see its spangled bottom, but trigonometry is powerless to reach it. Here and there only some projecting reef throws a star-gemmed point within touch of the astronomer's sounding line.

Such a spire, situated at a depth hitherto unfathomed, has caught and arrested the spectroscope plummet flung into the abyss by the astronomer Charles Nordmann, who has invented a new method of celestial soundings. The glittering star crag that he has hit is charted by astronomers under the name of Delta Librae, and the length of the mathematical line which now hangs between it and the earth makes the imagination itself gasp.

It is two quadrillions of miles!

It is only step by step that one can comprehend a number like that. Two quadrillions of twenty dollar gold pieces wo'l make 100,000 necklaces, each long enough to embrace the earth and the moon in a double loop. An express train traveling 100 miles per hour and never stopping would require more than 2,280,000,000 years to go two quadrillions of miles. A projectile flying 3,000 feet per second, or in round numbers 50,000 miles per day, would require about 110,000,000 years to reach Delta Librae. Light, the swiftest thing known—the swiftest thing that can possibly exist, if we may trust recent calculations based on the phenomenon of radio-activity, and that can make the round of the whole earth more than seven times in a second—takes 355 years to come to us from that star.

Yet Delta Librae lies in shallow water. It is a gem cast upon a shoal, and all around it the mighty deeps of the ether descend to profundities unthinkable. At ten times, a hundred times, perhaps a thousand times, its depth glitter the star sands of the Milky way. To our telescopes they appear to lie on the very bottom, drifted into heaps and curves by mysterious currents, but it cannot be the real bottom even there. Beyond yawn abysses so black with excess of depth that the stars themselves, great suns that they are, fade to invisibility.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York American.

When He Did Better.

A celebrated bishop once sat through a long and atrocious sermon on a hot summer morning. The preacher was a youth just out of college—a very conceited youth. He bellowed through his sermon at the top of his lungs. His gestures were violent enough to break his arms. At every climax he fixed the bishop with his eye to see if a suitable impression had been made.

And at the end of the service this young snip swaggered up to the bishop and said:

"I fancy I did rather well to-day, sir. Don't you think so?"

"Yes," returned the bishop; "but you did better last year."

"Last year!" said the young man. "Why, I didn't preach at all last year."

"That's the reason," said the bishop, with a pleasant smile.

Retention of Heat.

In human beings the skin is the principal means of heat loss, being responsible for the loss of 37.5 per cent. of the total heat lost. This is not so in some animals—the dog, for instance, whose hairy coat does not permit its skin to perspire. The dog loses heat largely by its expired air and by the radiation and evaporation of water from its tongue; thus it pants and puts out its tongue on a hot day. Obviously our clothes prevent the loss of heat, and the more effectually as they are bad conductors of heat. For this reason flannel, wool and furs are so much "warmer" than linen or cotton, materials from the vegetable kingdom and therefore not the natural clothing of animals.

A Misunderstanding.

"Why don't you go about with Miss Scadds any more?"

"Why—er—she told me that she did not care for society since her father had failed?"

"He is failing, that's a fact. Old age, I suppose?"

"Great Scot! It that what she meant? I must certainly call and—ah—express my sympathy."

Like a Man.

"Well, old Jenkins certainly bore his misfortune like a man," said his friend.

"Ah! Courageous, and all that sort of thing, what?" said the man who did not know Jenkins.

"Well, not so much that," said his friend. "As a matter of fact, he made rather a fuss about it. What I meant was that he blamed it all on his wife."

His Bluff Quickly Called.

"I want you to understand," he said, "that I'm the master in this house."

"All right," she replied. "Go out and tell the cook that we're going to have company all next week."

Then he put on his hat and went away, making sarcastic remarks about people who were afraid to say their souls were their own.

The Brighter Side.

"Goodness, pa, look!" said the mother of the amateur aviator. "His engine's broken down. He is 2,000 feet high. Oh, this is terrible!"

"Don't take it so hard, mother. Nobody can deny that he's going some."

Speaking of Color.

He—But when it comes to hair boys stick to one color longer.

An interesting matter has arisen this year in the compilation of the city's voters' list in respect to the qualifications of voters, and many of those who have hitherto enjoyed unquestioned the privilege of assisting in the election of the mayor and aldermen will need to take careful note of the city's advertisement appearing in this issue if they would avoid being deprived of that privilege. The change referred to is in the barring out of those who have usually voted as owners of property, but who are not actually registered owners, that is to say, who hold their property only under agreements of sale, and are not in possession of a registered title to the same.

Such owners have never really been entitled under the act to vote in municipal elections, but owing to a general misreading of the Elections Act, a more ambiguous statute than which, by the way, it would be difficult to find, up to the present time they have been allowed undisturbed to exercise that power.

Trouble, however, was bound to arise sooner or later, and arise it did in the capital city of Victoria, where a defeated candidate for mayor took advantage of the illegality of the voters' list to lodge a protest against the municipal election, which, on being brought into court, resulted in the whole council being unseated. Victoria was thus left without a governing body, and a special act of the legislature was necessary to enable the city's business to go on until a new voters' list could be prepared and a new council elected.

Kelowna, along with practically every city in the province, had rendered themselves liable to the same disaster, but with the exception of Victoria no protest was lodged inside of the specified thirty days. In consequence the various municipal bodies, although illegally elected were allowed to remain undisturbed.

In the forthcoming municipal election, the city, rendered wise by the experience of Victoria, will avoid laying itself open to such an unfortunate tangle by complying more closely with the letter of the law. No owner of property will therefore be allowed to vote as such unless he is in possession of a registered title to the same. Ownership under agreements of sale will not count, though such owner may pay all taxes levied upon the property. He may even have a title to his property, but unless this has been duly registered there is no qualification for a vote.

At first sight this action would seem to disenfranchise a large section of rhe ratepayers, as there is probably only a small percentage who are actually registered owners. Salvation, however, from such a fate is found in a further clause which gives the privilege of the municipal franchise to those who pay any tax to the city which is not a tax upon their land or property. In our own city the only tax which comes under this definition is the road tax, amounting to $2. Thus those who would otherwise be struck off the voters' list, can retain their vote by payment of this $2 road tax. This will not of course be necessary in the case of business men who pay a trade license.

This is all very well so far as the men citizens are concerned, but alas, for the fair sex. The new regulation seems fated to deal a "staggering blow" to all dreams of woman's franchise. Although there is still an element of doubt in the matter, legal opinion which has been invoked to shed some light on the question, seems to favor the view that women, unless as aforesaid, actually registered owners of property, can not even gain an entrance to the rights of citizenship by payment of the road tax, as "the act confers no power to collect such a tax except from males between 21 and 60 years of age."

It remains then for all male voters who are conscious of being ruled out under the new order of things to at once get busy and pay their road tax or be reduced to ineffectual silence when the elections come round.

At the Opera House

Visit of Miss Jeanne Russell

Kelowna audiences need no introduction to Miss Jeanne Russell, who with her talented company of players are fulfilling this week a six nights' engagement at the Opera House. The company have brought with them on this occasion a first-class repertoire, and are drawing good houses at every performance.

Miss Jeanne Russell will be pleased to welcome all the members who took part in the production of "Iolanthe" last season at the performance of "Emanuella" to-night, for whom seats will be reserved at the box office.

Welsh Choir Great Success

The following extract is but one amongst scores which indicate the enthusiastic manner in which the Royal Welsh Choir, which visits Kelowna on Wednesday next, Oct. 18th, is being received.

"There was a wonderful climax to the concert given by the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir at the Vancouver Opera House last night; a climax which showed how the silver-voiced girls from Wales had touched the hearts of hundreds of their kindred who were in the large audience. As the strains of the Welsh national anthem—"Land of My Fathers"—rose, Madam Hughes-Thomas turned to the audience and made a gesture of invitation. It was not needed for the Welsh people were already on their feet singing as if their hearts were breaking with longing, the grand refrain of one of the noblest national anthems ever written.

First in Welsh and then in English the refrain rang, and the audience was given a taste of the congregational singing for which the Cmyry are noted. Those Welsh people in the audience followed the waves of the baton as if they were a trained choir, and their example was infectious, for the whole audience sang "God Save the King," as the Opera House has never heard it.

Not only will children be instructed as to bird manners and habits, but they will be particularly impressed as to the usefulness of the little creatures in keeping down insect life, and thus protecting trees, fruits and growing crops.
