A NEW SANITARIUM

Opened at St. Leon Hot Springs.

A Palatial Hotel.

(By Our Special Reporter.)

The Arrow Lakes are destined to be the playground of British Columbia. With their magnificent scenes of mountain and of vale, their stretches of navigable water affording some of the finest boating and yachting to be had the world over, the numerous pretty bays enfolded in the bosoms of the mountain slopes, streams abounding in trout, bear and deer being plentiful in the vicinity, and last, but not least, with their health-giving hot springs rising from the heart of the earth, there are few places so gifted by nature as resorts for the invalid, the holiday-maker, the mountaineer, the sportsman, and the painter.

A new point of interest is found in St. Leon Hot Springs Hotel. The St. Leon Hot Springs were for years a favorite resort of the Indians, and since the surrounding country has become peopled with pioneers, St. Leon has been a favorite resort for miners and others in search of recuperation from the toils and hardships of life.

Last summer the owner of the springs, M. Grady, who is well-known throughout the Kootenays as a successful prospector and mine-owner, determined on the erection of a hotel which would provide tourists and health-seekers with every comfort while enjoying the benefits of the St. Leon waters. T. E. Julian, architect, of Vancouver, was entrusted with the preparation of the plans for the work, with the result that St. Leon now possesses one of the finest hotel buildings in the Province. The contract was let to Andy Wallace, of New Denver, who has made a thoroughly good job of the work, and this week the hotel has been opened for business.

THE NEW BUILDING.

Located in a pretty bay, and built on a gently rising piece of ground on the east shore of the lake, stands the St. Leon Hot Springs Hotel. The building has a frontage of 85 feet by a depth of 45 feet. The frontage is prettily broken by bay windows on both the ground and first floors, and by a verandah on the ground floor and a balcony opening from the drawing room on the first floor. On entering, the visitor finds himself in a commodious hall, and office 32 feet in length by 20 feet in width, lighted by windows 6ft. by 8ft. Off the hall opens on the right the gentlemen's parlor, 14 feet by 26 feet, with two bay windows, and on the left a capacious dining room 26ft. by 36ft. The kitchen leads off the dining room and is 18ft. by 24ft. The bar leads off the gentlemen's parlor and is 18ft. by 26ft. The walls look well with a cedar dado and plastered throughout.

Off the main hall the sanitarium part of the building extends back a distance of over 40 feet by 16 feet in width. Here are provided lavatories fitted with the most up-to-date appliances, a cooling room 18 feet by about 15 feet fitted with reclining tables, a sweating room 8 feet by 10 feet, with steam laid on and capable of being regulated according to the requirements of the person using it. The last room is entirely taken up as a plunge bath, a stream of water direct from the hot springs being conveyed into this bath at a temperature of 120 degrees. This hot water is conveyed a distance of 9000 feet down the mountain side. The walls of these rooms are of Portland cement.

On the first floor is a gorgeously furnished ladies parlor, 14 feet by 32 feet, opening on to a balcony running the full length of the room and overlooking the lake. The rest of the front of the building and the right and left wings are occupied by bedrooms, all of which are well lighted and beautifully furnished. The central receding portion of the building on the first floor is, as on the lower floor, set apart entirely for sanitarium purposes but is arranged exclusively for the use of ladies. The accommodation provided here includes dressing, cooling, sweating and bath rooms, a large plunge bath filled with hot water fresh from the hot springs, and the walls of these rooms being likewise lined with Portland cement.

The second floor is devoted to bedrooms, all well lighted and furnished.

The hotel is heated with steam throughout, and wires have been laid for lighting by electricity. At present acetylene is being employed for lighting purposes.

GENERAL.

A wharf is required and will be provided by the C. P. R. at an early date. The grounds will be laid out and planted, and horses provided for tourists who wish to ride up the trails and see the fine mountain scenery. A trail extends along the valley behind the hotel for a distance of ten miles. Good fishing is afforded in two streams which flow into the lake near the hotel and there is splendid boating. A bicycle track will also be laid out.

Mr. Grady employs only white labor, the kitchen being in charge of Miss Beaton, and the Misses Smith, Mr. Grady's nieces, have charge of the domestic arrangements. J. McKernan is in charge of the bar and office.

A first-class table is provided, and the rates are fixed to be within the reach of all, being from $1.50 to $2.50 per day.

The dining room is furnished in oak, and the furniture of the rest of the hotel is in proportion.

The system of heating is that known as the two-pipe gravity system, which is especially safe, as it avoids high steam pressures, and was successfully fitted up by P. Moran, of Revelstoke.

The lake steamers stop to take on or put off passengers as required.

Mr. Grady will celebrate the opening of the new hotel by a social party and dance on Tuesday next and arrangements are being made to run a special train in the evening from Revelstoke, and a boat from Arrowhead.

THE VIRTUE OF THE WATERS.

C. R. Butler, who is at present at the hotel, said to our representative: "I have been here since May last. When I came I was such a sufferer from rheumatism that I could not walk. Previous to coming to St. Leon I had been disabled for five years. To show you the benefit which I have derived from the use of the waters here I was able last week to walk 15 miles on snowshoes, a thing I could not have undertaken for several years past. There is something in the water and climate which has wonderful health-giving properties."

SMITH CREEK.

Gold Discovery Reported

E. A. Bradley, superintendent of the Duquesne Mining Company returned from Smith Creek on Wednesday after a hard trip of 65 miles on snowshoes. As the result of his return all sorts of rumors got abroad to the effect that a rich strike of gold had been made and that several prospectors intended going up there immediately to stake fresh ground. It was also reported that Mr. Bradley brought in $400 of gold with him from the new strike, and that Capt. Hughes, secretary to the company, who has been waiting here for Mr. Bradley's return, had wired the head office at Pittsburg satisfactory announcement of the new strike.

Our representative saw Mr. Bradley and Capt. Hughes regarding the matter but neither would talk. They said they could neither deny nor confirm the rumors in circulation and could make no announcement for the present. While the matter is one of great public interest, it is admittedly the private concern of the company who have spent so much to prove the old channel of Smith Creek, and what applies to Smith Creek will apply in more or less degree to the whole of the old channels of the Big Bend.

This much we are satisfied is true. The Duquesne Company have got the old channel of Smith Creek, and they have proved it to be 38 feet in width at the point where their workings are located. They have also got gold, but to what extent is known only to Mr. Bradley and Capt. Hughes. The gold is also fine. Bedrock has not been reached, but a blind shaft will be sunk to test it, and from the results so far attained the prospects are exceedingly encouraging as, from the work already done on Smith Creek, it has been found to carry some of the coarsest gold in the Bend, and this will naturally be found towards bedrock.

Owing to the cold weather difficulties have attended the washing of the gravel taken out of the old channel, so that it is almost certain the results will be better than yet proved.

The Duquesne Mining Company have taken up additional ground and have options on other claims, and if the results of their work are satisfactory they will carry on operations on an extensive scale, placing a steamer of their own on the river above the rapids. The attention of other capitalists will also be directed to the Bend, and it is within the bounds of possibility that the Big Bend may be on the eve of a revival of its old-time prosperity when gold to the value of $1,250,000 was taken out in about two years by the most primitive methods.

We wish the Duquesne Company the success they deserve, and their success means much to others interested in the Bend and to the City of Revelstoke.

TRACKMEN.

Visit of Officers.

The Public Meeting.

At the express wish of a number of trackmen we give herewith a resume of the addresses at the public meeting held last week on the occasion of the visit to Revelstoke of President Wilson and Vice-President Lowe of the B. of R. T. of A.

Vice President Lowe said they had just come from the Atlantic and could say that the men from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean were with them. (cheers). Referring to the strike the results had been to bring the C. P. R. to time, and every man who had been out on strike went back to work on their own terms. They

and they did not want to fight now. The best way to avoid a fight was to be prepared for it. When they first met Mr. McNicol they expected fair treatment from him. He asked them to give him the necessary time to enquire into the conditions throughout the system. If they had refused and gone out then they would not have had the splendid public sympathy which was extended to them in the late strike [cheers]. Mr. McNicol

of the time they had given him by trying to break up their organisation and by circulating false stories about their committee, and the company rushed work all they could meantime to place the track in as good condition as possible. They put it in such splendid apple-pie order that it ran for two months without going to piece [laughter and cheers]. In a few days they would be in better position than they were then. They would have their

and men selected to represent them in every department. If necessary they were going to be thoroughly loaded and loaded for bear [cheers]

As matters stood before, a section foreman might be dismissed without cause—he got two tickets—one to go and another never to come back [cheers and laughter]. It was due to him that they had Mr. Wilson as their president and if he had done nothing else, he would not have lived in vain when he took steps to give the trackmen John T. Wilson as their head [cheers]. They were not only fighting the battle of the trackmen, but that of

with his hands [cheers]. They demanded that no man be paid less than $1.50 per day. There was no reason why a trackman's boy should feel that he was not as well dressed or have as good a lunch as other boys [cheers]. All wealth was produced by labor. He was glad to see the C. P. R. going ahead by leaps and bounds, as was shown by the fact that the returns for last month were $200,000 more than for same month of previous year. That wealth was not created by their shareholders but by their employes. They were not getting a fair share of the wealth they created. They were going to get a better and fairer share of that wealth and they were going to get it without trouble if possible [cheers].

Messrs. Haggen, Grogan and Adair then addressed the meeting by request, Mr. Adair saying that if they had another fight he was sure they would enter on it as manfully as before, and if so they would have the sympathy of the people with them. $1.50 was the lowest wage that should be offered to any man in Canada, and he hoped they would be successful.

THE PRESIDENT.

President Wilson, who was received with prolonged cheering, said: It gives me great pleasure to meet the citizens of Revelstoke and to thank you for the generous support you gave our poor boys last summer when they were struggling for their rights. Men who draw $60,000 a year have the face to get up and say a dollar a day is enough for a working man (cheers and laughter). Education is the only thing that will free us from industrial slavery. We are not anarchists. We are the safety valve between the oppressors and the anarchists. Labor is the father of capital. Capital is the child of labor, and should be

THE SERVANT OF LABOR

(hearty cheers). The man who will not fight for his rights and for his family will not fight for his country (cheers). We stand for more wages. The questions which we ask ourselves are: "Do we receive a fair wage; and if not can the C. P. R. afford to pay it?"

During the last three months the

FRIDAY, FEB. 14, 1902.

THE London Graphic congratulates Canada on the results of its go-ahead policy.

THERE is no better opening in the world for the farmer than in British Columbia. Last year this province imported to the extent of $5,497,800 farm products which could be produced here.

COMPLAINTS reach us of the prevalence of cigarette smoking among lads attending the public school. It would be well if trustees and teachers could devise a means of suppressing the practice.

THE Victoria Times is doing all it can to sow dissension in the ranks of the Liberal party as the result of the late convention, a policy that will have a serious reflex on Senator Templeman's position.

THOS. Taylor, M. P. P., has met his constituents at Trout Lake and Ferguson. He should also give the people of Revelstoke an opportunity of meeting him before leaving for Victoria, as there are many matters of importance to the district that can't be discussed.

THE platform of the Provincial Liberal party which we publish in another column is one of the most progressive and best adapted to the interests of the Province that has been compiled, and if carried out will place British Columbia in a foremost place in the Dominion.

THE Laurier Government is to be congratulated on the financial returns for the first seven months of the current year. These show a surplus of $6,273,000. Receipts are greater by $2,681,137 than for the corresponding period of last year.

WE congratulate Senator Templeman on his appointment to the Dominion Cabinet as representative of this province. Senator Templeman has the confidence of both liberals and conservatives and it will be of great advantage to have at the seat of power one who is so well acquainted with the requirements of British Columbia.

REFERRING to the address at Kamloops of President Wilson of the B. of R. T. of A. the Sentinel says he "gave a great measure of praise to the Vancouver Independent, the Winnipeg Voice and the Revelstoke MAIL. He said he hoped that all union men, or at any rate all trackmen, would support these papers by digging down in their pockets."

PREMIER DUNSMUIR has rendered valuable service by the forcible manner in which he has pointed out the financial relations as between the Province and the Dominion resulting from the confederation agreement. The conditions of the Province have changed since then, and the financial relations between the two governments should be altered to meet these changes. This is where Senator Templeman should be able to get in good work.

Now that British Columbia has an Agent-General in London, we would suggest that at his office there should be established a permanent exhibition of the resources of the Province. These should include a good display of the different ores, plans of the leading mines, products of the canneries and the lumber mills, agricultural and horticultural exhibits. Such a display would do much to advertise the resources of this province and attract hither British immigration.

GOVERNMENT in Canada can never make true advancement till some of the fossils who are at the head of affairs are replaced by men with brighter ideas. For instance Deputy Minister of Railways Schrieber says: "I am opposed to government ownership of railways." Mr. Schrieber conveniently forgets he is the servant of the people, and if they declare for government ownership of railways his opinion goes for nothing, though he may of course, from his position, place many obstacles in the way.

A GOOD deal of discussion is going on in the press regarding the Dominion Government holdings of coal lands in the Crow's Nest Pass. We have no hesitation in saying the Government should not alienate these lands to the Crow's Nest Coal Company, C. P. R. or any other corporation. The day is coming when the government will be called upon to assume the ownership of the railways, and in that case the government should not be at the mercy of any private corporation for its railway fuel supply. We hope the Liberal Association throughout the Dominion will take up this matter and impress the importance of such a policy as that we advocate on their representatives.

THE position of the $8000 grant for new schools in the city is most unsatisfactory. The money was offered the former board and refused by them till more could be got. This was done on the advice of Mr. Taylor, M. P. P. The position of the board now seems to be that they cannot get the $8000, let alone an additional sum. We pointed out at the time the serious mistake made by the former board, as when a grant is offered and refused it is only reasonable to suppose the government will be glad to place it where it is wanted and will be accepted. Unless the matter can be rectified the city may have to shoulder the total expense of the new buildings, and that through no fault of the city itself.

THE prospects of Revelstoke were never better or more cheering than they are today. The list of proposed new buildings, and the extensive railway improvements on the Mountain and Shuswap section, particulars of which we recently published, constitute some of the most welcome news yet given out in Revelstoke, and must have been cheering to all interested in the welfare of the city and district, involving as it does improvements to the extent of nearly $400,000. Then there is the opening of the Big Bend by first-class steamboat transportation, and the activity which must necessarily attend development in that quarter in the way of lumbering, mining and the settlement of the land.

THE TRACKMEN.

Those who had the privilege of listening to the addresses of President Wilson and Vice-President Lowe, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, last week, must have been impressed by the logical and reasonable demands of this important branch of the railway service as represented by these officials. Level headed men they are, who are well capable of handling such a difficulty as that with which they were confronted last spring. There is nothing of the wild agitator about them and their version of the affair was so clear that their hearers were forced to conclude the agitatorship and sole excuse for the strike was on the part of the railway officials at Montreal. The demands of the men are most fair and reasonable and should be conceded. The trackmen and bridgemen of the C. P. R. have shown themselves a class of men whom any railway company might be proud of having in its service.

THE LIBERAL CONVENTION.

The two liberal conventions held at Vancouver have been unfortunate in that they have been attended with disturbing conditions. The executive were, however, clearly to blame on the last occasion, and from the moment that the announcement was made of the place of meeting and the manner of holding it, there has been much antagonism exhibited from all parts of the mainland. That this dissatisfaction should find vent at the convention was only to be expected, and the action of Senator Templeman and others, in withdrawing because they did not get things all their own way was subversive of the first principles of liberalism. Compared with the number of properly appointed delegates those who withdrew formed an insignificant minority, so that the party stands pledged by the decision of the convention. When the next elections come round therefore they must be contested on strictly party lines, with Joseph Martin as leader of the liberal party whether for better or worse. Meantime, however, Mr. Martin is bound by the pledge which he gave the convention in his address to support the Dunsmuir Government as against the McBride faction. This is a course which will meet with general public approval.

RESTLESS LITTLE ONES.

Peevishness and Sleeplessness a Sure Sign That Baby is Unwell.

When babies are restless, cross, or peevish it is the surest possible sign of illness. Well babies sleep soundly and are cheerful and playful when awake. When baby is cross too many mothers give so-called "soothing" medicines, which contain opiates that deaden but do not remove the trouble. What is wanted is a medicine that will go right to the root of the trouble and make baby sleep well, eat well and be cheerful in a natural way. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets, which are sold under an absolute guarantee that they contain neither opiates nor other harmful drugs. All mothers who have used them for their little ones speak of them in terms of warmest praise. Mrs. Albert Young, Stratford, says:—"My baby who is now five months old, has always been very cross and peevish. She was very constipated and sleepless. She was a thin, delicate looking child and cried nearly all the time. I did not know what to do with her. I tried several medicines but they did her no good. A friend who had used Baby's Own Tablets advised me to try them. I did so, and since using them baby has been quite well, her bowels are regular, and she has grown plump and good-natured. I am delighted with the Tablets and keep them on hand all the time, and whenever baby gets cross and feverish I give her a Tablet and she is all right."

These Tablets are the best medicine in the world for simple fevers, colic, diarrhoea, all stomach troubles, constipation and other minor ailments of little ones. They are for children of all ages, and dissolved in water or crushed to a powder may be given with absolute safety to the youngest infant. Mothers who once try them will never afterwards use any other medicine for their little ones. Sold by all dealers in medicine or sent post paid at 25 cents a box by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Rowland Brittain, patent attorney, Vancouver, reports: G. A. Roedde, book-binder, Vancouver, has this week received his patent on a temporary binder for magazines, catalogues, etc., which has been previously referred to.

The cold weather had good results for the Fred Robinson Lumber Company. They got their ice bridge thrown over the river and are hauling in immense quantities of logs. This season's work will clean out the saw logs from the portion of the company's limits across the river from the city.

J. McMahon's workshop is busy turning out three large logging sleighs to the order of R. Samson. Mr. McMahon has also in hand an order for a stage for W. Fleming to run between the city and the boat landing at Nine Mile.

Had to Conquer or Die

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel Springs, N. C. "I had consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month; but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by seven bottles and am now stout and well." A ROMANCE OF THE RAIL.

BY FREDERIC REDALL.

claimed English, a product of the slums and the gutter. Reuben Filley had risen to the surface of the current of life in the great metropolis by the very simple method of throttling or pushing aside every other struggling swimmer who came in his way. "Do others or they'll do you" was his cheerful motto. He attracted the notice of John Draper when the latter first came to New York; was taken in to his employ as an office boy and ultimately reached the post of private secretary, a place which offered great possibilities to a young man of his peculiar proclivities and of which he immediately proceeded to take unfair advantage. "Looking out for No. 1" Filley called it. Plainer people fond of calling a spade by its agricultural name would have termed it lying and stealing; but, then, Filley took care never to be found out.

Rascal though he was, he deserves to have his pen picture like all the others of the party, and here it is: Height, 5 feet 8; weight, 140; complexion fair; eyes steely blue, shifting and treacherous; a brownish yellow or "Calo colored" beard and mustache closely trimmed served to hide an animal jaw and a cruel mouth; ears pointed and peculiarly shaped, being so joined to the neck as to present no lobe; in speech garrulous, boastful and profane.

He was by nature coarse and vulgar, yet by contact with the world had been licked into what pass. I current for bluff frankness and good nature. Woe betide the man, woman or child who trusted Reuben K. Filley, for treachery was in his heart and self was his god.

His arrival was hailed with an exclamation of satisfaction by John Draper, who took from him several letters and telegrams and darted into the car. Filley was the last of the guests, and with the coming of Mrs. Hurst's maid, Annette, and of Draper's man, Henry, the personnel of the party was complete.

Filley followed his employer into the car.

"Mr. Draper," he said, standing before the desk where that gentleman sat, "is it absolutely necessary that I go along?"

"I thought we settled all that yesterday, Reuben," was the reply. "I shall certainly need you when we get to Denver. There will be a hundred and one things to attend to and mighty little time in which to do them. So let's hear no more about it."

With this answer, delivered in a quiet but emphatic manner that brooked no argument, Filley was forced to be content, and with a sulky fling of his shoulders he turned away, muttering to himself as soon as he was out of Draper's hearing:

"The party will be smaller by one several miles this side of Denver, or my name's not Reuben K. Filley!"

'Twas exactly three minutes of 10 when a switching engine pushed the president's private car and its attending sleeping coach out of the station and on to the main track. Here the "limited" was halted long enough to permit the necessary coupling, and then, with a final toot, the monster engine lay down to its work and with a full head of steam went rushing and panting across the Hackensack meadows, past Newark, Elizabeth, New Brunswick and Trenton, 50 miles an hour, and so into Philadelphia.

By this time the millionaire's party were fairly well settled in their respective nooks and quarters. The three ladies and the maid were assigned to the double stateroom in the Miranda, John Draper took the other and the smaller one. Between them was the saloon, where all meals were served and which answered for a general rendezvous and lounging place. Ives and Filley and the manservant bunked in the Pullman, with the negro porter Aleck for additional company and sport.

All the way between the metropolis and the city by the Schuylkill Draper and Filley were busy over their correspondence at what might be dubbed the business end of the saloon. Arrived at the Broad street station, the secretary jumped to the platform and hurried to mail several letters and dispatch divers telegrams. Rising from his table, their host came toward the ladies, saying:

"Now I am free until we reach Pittsburg. Which shall it be, luncheon or recreation, the mind or the body?" For plutocrat and man of affairs though he was, his heart was young, and the secret of much of his health and success lay in the fact that when he chose to play nothing else was allowed to interfere.

Mrs. Hurst looked up smilingly, but it fell to Madge to answer, though John Draper happened to be regarding his ward solicitously.

"I move you, sir," she said, with grave lips, yet dancing eyes, "that the car now proceed to business and take its pleasure afterward. I'm desperately hungry. Aren't you, Flo?"

Florence admitted in her stately way that "some slight refreshment would be acceptable," and no sooner had the wish been uttered than the millionaire clapped his hands a survival of his southern training when Aleck appeared and received the facetious order:

"Luncheon immediately."

A very merry party it was which sat down to what Madge christened a "car picnic." A long and narrow table was set up in the center of the saloon. A chair at either end was occupied by Mr. Draper and Mrs. Hurst. Florence Granniss was seated at her guardian's right hand, with Chester next to her. Reuben Filley sat on his employer's left. Madge and Chester were vis-a-vis at the lower end, as were, of course, Miss Granniss and Reuben Filley. These positions were unchanged during much of this memorable journey.

It is a safe assertion that only one member of the party felt any regret at being there. This one was Filley.

John Draper was bound for Denver to attend an important meeting of the residents of some of the greatest trunk line railroads in the country; hence the presence of his secretary and of his confidential man was a necessity. Yet Filley had begged hard to be left behind in New York on the flimsy plea of ill health and overwork. But his employer overruled all his objections, as we have seen, saying that the trip would do him good.

Now, as a matter of fact, it was as much as Filley's reputation and safety were worth to be out of New York at this juncture. He had entered on a career of duplicity culminating in actual crime. Unless he could be back in the metropolis considerably within the ten days named as the limit of the trip he would be ruined and disgraced. He must return and would, and he counted on being able to concoct some pretext, fair or foul, for leaving the party. Meanwhile there was some intermittent compensation to be gained from the fact that he would be able to see just how far matters had progressed between his patron and Miss Granniss, for Reuben Filley cherished designs on the heiress, and if he "pulled off" his present dangerous coup he would be in a better position to sue for her hand and her fortune.

That a high bred, high strung and high minded maiden like Florence

Filley was left to swear under his yellow beard and be amiable.

Granniss could see anything repulsive in such an alliance never occurred to the conceited and self satisfied fellow. Beyond the usual conventional greetings and a few brief conversations at their casual meetings in her guardian's house there had been no intimate intercourse between them. Respecting the man her mind was a blank. On the other hand, Reuben Filley had dwelt so long on the idea of one day calling her his wife that the thought was become second only to his master passion, wealth getting. Not a gesture, not a glance, not a tone which passed between the millionaire and his ward escaped his vigilant and cunning eye. Of one thing, however, he became sure, there was no definite understanding between them as yet, though he shrewdly suspected that Draper would try to bring matters to a crisis during this trip. Well, so would he!

To this end he set out to make himself entertaining and at times verged on being positively brilliant. All through the meal the most trifling incidents or remarks served to remind him of a story or a pat illustration, and he drew upon his varied store of checkered experience so that he well nigh monopolized the conversation and battered himself that he was making a good impression upon Florence. She laughed at his sallies of wit, appeared interested in his highly colored adventures and joined in his banter. But if he could have heard her confidential comment to Madge when the two were alone he would not have felt so elated.

"That man leaves a bad taste in one's mouth," she said. Wherein she but voiced Chester's private opinion, which was that Reuben "did not ring true."

The day wore on. The thrilling ascent of the Alleghanies was breasted and the summit crossed ere nightfall. Then came the long descent to the Ohio valley, and while the party was at breakfast the next morning the train rolled into Indianapolis. While the engines were being changed every one alighted for a stroll. Draper and Miss Granniss led the way, then followed Chester and Madge, so that Filley was left to swear under his yellow beard and be amiable to Mrs. Bradley Hurst. The astute woman of the world saw through his discomfiture and took an especial delight in detaining him at her side, so that he had no speech with Florence, and the situation was unchanged when once more the limited took up the route for St. Louis over the Vandalia.

Deafness and Noise in the Head

It is calculated that out of a hundred deaf people, sixty have noises in the ear. This symptom is felt in different ways, some experiencing it in the ear itself, others at the back or side of the head, others all over the head.

The description of these noises is also varied. They are compared to buzzings, whistlings, to the sound of bells, cracklings, the boiling of water, the song of birds, &c. Different sounds may be heard at the same time, sometimes very painful, and it is not infrequent for the patients to ask to be freed first of all from these noises, to which they attach much more importance than to the deafness itself. Others are convinced that their deafness is solely due to these noises, and that if they could get rid of them, they would recover their hearing at the same time.

Persons attacked by constant buzzings, and above all, those subject to giddiness, are generally under the influence of very great intellectual and moral depression. They are unable to do any brain work, their intelligence remains clouded, their temper becomes soured, they grow sad and melancholy. In certain cases these noises become so acute that unhappy people have been known to seek by suicide to put an end to their intolerable suffering.

For a long time a remedy for these serious affections of the hearing has been sought, but it is only quite recently that a French aurist, Dr. Drouet, of the Paris Faculty of Medicine, has discovered a curative treatment. This treatment, which can be applied at home, is fully described in a late number of the "Journal for the Deaf," together with examples of cures in a large number of cases of deafness and noises in the head. Those of our readers who are interested in this subject can obtain a free copy of the Journal by addressing the Secretary of the Drouet Institute, 72, Regent Park-road, London, England. The Journal is always accompanied by a Pathological Report Form which enables each patient to describe his case so clearly that the consulting surgeon can send accurate information of the treatment necessary to effect a cure.

CORRESPONDENCE

Fish River Bridge.

TO THE EDITOR:

SIR,—In your issue of Jan. 21st your correspondent "Fair Play" appears to me to write from the point of view that Comaplix and Comaplix only, is concerned with the proposed bridge. The people of Camborne do not cavil at a bridge being built, but they want to see it built in the best possible place.

They want to get rid of the big camp hill. "Fair Play" says the teams have been taking out two tods of ore to the load. Is he aware that they have been making extra trips to the top of this hill and then making up their loads in order to do so? It is ridiculous to talk of this being a good road. Any kind of a road will make a sleigh road in such a spell of hard weather as we lately had. Last fall we sometimes saw one ton giving four horses considerable work.

A bridge is a necessity for communication with Comaplix, but cheaper nothing like having a good site for it.

FIELD.

Great Improvements Contemplated.

Trainmaster Carey, of Field, who was in the city last week, gave encouraging news of Field. The C. P. R. will spend $40,000 to $50,000 in improvements there this season with a view to making it the great holiday resort of the mountains. Skating and curling rinks, pavilion, coasting, landing, bowling alleys are all to be provided at Field. A chalet, to cost $5,000 will be erected at Emerald Lake.

A snowshoe club is being organised among the railroad boys.

RAIL AND STEAMER

Conductor Stevens was the life and soul of the trackmen's banquet on Thursday last week to their President and Vice-president.

At the banquet last week the trackmen took the opportunity of acknowledging their great indebtedness to the bridgemen for their assistance in the late strike, and their excellent management of strike matters in this division.

By a broken rail at Swift Current the eastern express was derailed on Sunday. All coaches were overturned and three passengers injured.

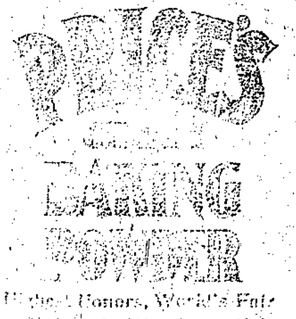
A British electrician and inventor, L. S. Edelman now employed in the C.P.R. shops, has a plan for an electric railway over the mountains, and which he will lay before the company.

DEATH

J. F. Guerin Succumbs to His Illness.

On Sunday last the death was announced of J. F. Guerin, after little more than a week's illness with [illegible]. He was born in New Jersey in 1844. He was a [illegible] by trade. In Jacksonville, [illegible] married and three [illegible] Mississippi and [illegible] proceeded to Rossland and finally to Revelstoke where he entered into partnership with W. M. Brown in the Commercial House. The late Mr. Guerin was the highest Mason in the city. He was a member of St. John Lodge No. 10 Jersey, for 24 years; of the Chapter R. A. M. of Portland and of the Knights Templars, Rossland commandery. He was of quiet, retiring disposition, and was highly esteemed by those who knew him best. During his illness he was patiently nursed by his wife, Mrs. Lennett, Mrs. Dick and Brown and D. Campbell.

The funeral took place on Tuesday. The body was taken to St. Peter's Church and thence to the cemetery. The service was conducted at the church and the grave by Rev. C. A. Procunier. The attendance was the largest of any funeral in the city. Members of the lodges acted as pallbearers. Beautiful wreaths were sent by Kootenay Lodge A. F. and A. M., the Knights Templars, Messrs. Taylor and George, Mesdames H. Smythe, Stone and W. Abrahamson. Much sympathy is felt for the widow and sons in their bereavement.



THE TRACKMEN.

C.P.R. had a surplus of $5,000,000. Some of this money should be distributed among the people of Canada (cheers). The company ought to pay fair wages. If they won't do it

MAKE THEM DO IT

(cheers). They are running the railway for profit. They employ labor for profit. They would discharge every man if they could do without him (cheers). We do not believe in crippling the industries of a country. We stand for progress. We look on the employer as a benefactor and he should be regarded as such. At the same time we do not propose to let any man assume an air of superiority and consider everybody else beneath his notice (cheers). I recognize that labor organizations are sometimes as tyrannical as capitalists, but as a rule they are willing to arbitrate. The only man who is the man who is stealing something and who is getting away with it (cheers and laughter). Men who will not fight for themselves will not fight for those whom they are employed by. I was completely disgusted last summer by the detective system. The railway was lined from one end to the other with hoboes (cheers)—men who sneaked into saloons and stole whisky. The idea of paying thieves $3 to $5 a day to watch honest men (cheers). You have a million voters in Canada of whom 750,000 are working men. You have two members to represent you (laughter). I don't know how many the others have (renewed laughter). Members go to parliament to not the corporations (loud cheers). In the United States the average earnings per man are $1,960 of which only $430 per man is received in wages. The most prosperous countries are those which pay high wages. In the United States and English countries wages are high, but they are not as high as they should be yet [cheers and laughter]. Labor organizations teach their members to obey the laws of the country. They are educating the people so that I believe in a few years it will be necessary for a man running a railway to run it right and in the public interest [cheers.] The man who precipitates a strike and will not submit to arbitration should be treated as a criminal [cheers]. I believe the man who work to enable him to have a good home, a house comfortably furnished and all the necessaries of life and some of the luxuries—musical instruments, books, newspapers, pictures [cheers]. He is entitled to it because he is a producer. The policy of our organization is to do everything in our power to avert trouble, but if we must fight for our rights let us do it in such a way as to command the approval of all good people [cheers]. It takes just as much skill to lay and maintain a railway track and bridges as to run an engine. The life of the men in the maintenance of way department is the hardest of any railway men in the country. They are as important to the railway service as any other class of men, and conduct their affairs so as to merit the sympathies of all honest upright people in all countries in which they operate [cheers].

SHOULD BE PAID SUFFICIENT

W. A. Nettle: Does the union intend sending a delegation to Ottawa regarding the amendment of the Alien Labor Law?

Mr. Wilson: We have taken no steps but will co-operate with the Trades and Labor Council in the matter. The act is a farce. (Cheers.)

Mr. J. W. Bennett said he had enjoyed the president's remarks. There was not a person in Revelstoke but admired the conduct of the men on strike. The maintenance of way man was as important as any other servant. The Alien Labor Law was a farce.

Gillespie said there were no better union men than those in Revelstoke and the women were just as good union men. (Roars of laughter).

W. Donaldson, on behalf of the machinists, was pleased to see the way the strikers conducted themselves. Had the machinists been called upon to assist it would have been fully endorsed by the Grand Lodge (cheers).

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the President and Vice-President, and with three hearty cheers for President Wilson the meeting separated.

THE BANQUET.

About 60 trackmen and bridgemen sat down to the complimentary banquet afterwards tendered to President Wilson and Vice-President Lowe at the Central hotel, where Messrs Abrahamson laid an excellent spread. D. C. Fraser, President of the local division, presided, and was supported on his right by the guests of the evening and on his left by Bro. Crick. The following was the toast list: "The King," "President of the United States," "Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen of America" coupled with President Wilson and Vice-President Lowe; "Division 208," proposed by Bro. Wilson and coupled with the chairman, Bros. Graham and Crick; "Citizens of Revelstoke," coupled with J. W. Bennet and Chief Bain; "Sister organizations," coupled with Conductor Stevens, representing the trainmen, and Bros. Donaldson and Webster, representing the machinists; "The Ladies," proposed by T. Gillespie and responded to by E. Waterson; "Press," responded to by E. A. Haggen; "City of Kamloops," coupled with Conductor Stevens; "South of 49th parallel," coupled with name of President Wilson and proposed by Conductor Stevens; "The Bridgemen," proposed by John Anderson and coupled with names of D. C. Fraser and W. Magee; "Extra Men," proposed by Vice-President Lowe, coupled with John Anderson; "The Officials," coupled with Inspector Miller; "Hosts and Hostess," responded to by J. Abrahamson.

During the evening songs were sung by J. E. McPherson, P. Murphy, T. Gillespie, dance by T. P. Wilson, instrumental selections by J. McPherson and J. Fennel.

The gathering was one of the most enjoyable and successful affairs held in the city.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

A social and dance will be held at St. Leon on Tuesday night on the invitation of M. Grady, to celebrate the opening of the new hotel there.

The friends of Dan Robinson will be glad to know that the change to Victoria has done him much good.

We regret to learn that W. Porritt, photographer, has been laid up at the Oriental Hotel with a bad attack of rheumatism.

The fancy dress ball held under the auspices of the Quadrille Assembly on Monday night was an unprecedented success. The array of dresses and fancy costumes was magnificent. We regret that we have not the space to give a detailed description of so brilliant a pageant. Supper was served in first-class style by A. N. Smith and the music by the Revelstoke orchestra.

The hospital ball resulted in the net addition of $281.10 to the fund of the institution.

W. F. Buck, foreman of the Northern Pacific roundhouse an shops at Helena, Mont., has been promoted as master mechanic of the Rocky Mountain division of the Great Northern. The appointment has been received with delight by the employes as Mr. Buck is one of the most popular men in the service. He is a brother of L. H. Buck, C. E., of this city.

The fancy dress carnival at the rink on Friday night was a grand affair. Mesdames Brown and Kincaid and Messrs Doyle and Pinkham were the judges. Miss Major as "Angel" won the ladies prize, and E. Allum as a cavalier, that for gentlemen. Miss N. Baker took the girls prize as "Maid of Erin," and C. Dent that for boys as a Bengal Lancer. A special prize was awarded A. Caley as Brownie. Another carnival will be held tomorrow night.

RHEUMATIC PAINS.

Caused by an Impure Condition of the Blood.

Liniments and Other Old Fashioned Remedies Will Not Cure.—The Rheumatic Taint Must be Removed From the Blood.

The lingering tortures of rheumatism are too well known to need any description, but it is not too well known that medical science recognizes that the primary cause of rheumatism is impure or impoverished blood. The result is that, hundreds of sufferers apply external remedies which cannot possibly cure the trouble. The only thing that will really cure rheumatism is an internal medicine that will enrich the blood and free it from rheumatic taint. The surest, quickest and most effective way to do this is to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which are proved to have cured thousands of cases of rheumatism many of them after all other medicines had failed. The case of Mr. Philip Ferris, one of the pioneers of South Essex, Ont., is proof of this. Although Mr. Ferris is 76 years of age he is as smart as many men of 50. But he has not always enjoyed such good health. Mr. Ferris has the following to say about his illness and cure:—"For fifteen years I suffered greatly from rheumatism. At times I would have severe pains in the knees, while at others the pains would spread to my hips and shoulders. I tried several remedies which were of no avail until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took eight or ten boxes and they completely cured the trouble and I am now as smart as many men much younger. I have a great deal of faith in the pills for I know of other cases where they have been equally as successful as in mine."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich, red blood and strengthen the nerves with every dose. It is in this way that they cure such troubles as rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, kidney and liver trouble, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance and erysipelas. Through their action on the blood they restore the color to pale and sallow cheeks and cure the ailments that make the lives of so many women miserable. The genuine always have the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on every box. Sold by all dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
