We note with satisfaction that Mr. Burns, of Nelson, contractor for building the new post office here has arrived in the city and is making arrangements to get the material. Work will be started on Monday. Mr. F. W. McLaine has been appointed clerk of works.

Although Canada is at present experiencing a general business depression, this is by no means the case so far as the Boundary country is concerned. Just now every mining town in the locality is prospering and this does not originate from the inflated prices of real estate, but is altogether attributable to the ever increasing activity of the mines. At Boundary Falls a concentrator is to be erected, diamond drills are to be used at several mining properties, 12 hours journey to the coast within a year, which means more traffic through this section, and with a new $50,000 post office Greenwood is coming into its own.

BIRTHS

Paul Hauch has opened a shoe shop in New Denver.

F. E. Morris has bought the Paulson building in Rossland.

At Rossland work will begin on the Blue Bird mine this month.

Jake Serson died in Nelson last week. He was an old-timer.

The races in Clinton will be held on September 25 and 26.

At Vernon, Otto Estabrook has recovered from a ten weeks siege of typhoid fever.

Talk of a daily paper has been revived at Fernie.

Wool is being shipped from Pincher Creek to Toronto.

There is some talk of another boom at Poplar Creek.

Kaslo is now famous for its cherries. It was once notorious for its Comique.

C. E. Stanhope, of Edmonton, has opened a restaurant in Fort George.

The Dominion government has a national park of 800 square miles at Mount Robson in the Rockies.

Thirty men are working at the Cumshewa mine on Moresby Island.

Miss Carr has gone to Queen Charlotte to paint scenes of Indian life.

Some of the canneries on the Fraser are paying twenty cents each for salmon.

A. J. Smythe has exchanged two of his ranches in the Okanagan for $135,000 building in Vancouver.

R. E. Plewman, of Rossland, has been appointed Provincial Prior in B.C. for the Masons.

Parr and Priestley were drowned in the Naas by the upsetting of their canoe.

John Blomberg will build a $22,000 hotel in Nelson on the lot next to the Grand saloon.

It is reported in Orient that the Granby has bought the First Thought mine.

At Republic while operating a machine drill in the San Pail mine, William Crumb was killed by falling 100 feet.

Wm. E. Shultz was burned to death in a fire that destroyed a rooming house in New Hazelton. He was a Phillipine veteran.

A moral wave has struck Fort George and the Cyprians will probably have to seek more secluded quarters.

While on his way from Hazelton to Fort George, O. B. Eller was thrown from his motorcycle and had a leg broken.

A Stanley auto stage runs between Oroville and Penticton, and often makes the fifty-five miles in two hours.

In Ferguson during the past six months four have tried and three have succeeded in committing suicide. That little camp is a great suicide centre.

Mr. Grubb is building a $45,000 hotel in Oroville. His enterprise will be appreciated by those who have been compelled to stop at the Peerless in olden days.

On the stage road between Telkwa and Decker Lake, Bill Kennedy lost a package containing $416 in money. Jim McLeod found it and hunted up the owner who rewarded his honesty by giving him $50.

Vancouver statistics for July, 1913 are as follows: Building permits: Number 153; value, $441,085; total for first seven months, $7,551,138. Bank Clearings: $51,411,870.

Vancouver's fire loss for July amounted to $2,743 of which $2,025 was fully covered by insurance. The brigade answered thirty-six calls during the month checking fires involving property worth $568,000.

Denver Ed Kelly was murdered at Burns Lake a few days ago. He was standing at the counter in a cigar store about two o'clock in the morning when a rifle was pushed through the window and fired. The bullet hit Kelly in the head and he died in two hours. Jerry Mulvihall has been arrested charged with the murder. Kelly had whipped Jerry the day before.

Vancouver bank managers interviewed recently stated that financial conditions will reach the normal stage at an early date. Money, like water, is finding its own level, was remarked by one banker. The city's commercial standing is sound and speculation has been curbed. Contrary to popular belief, the banks of British Columbia have advanced $22,000,000 on loan in excess of deposits.

MacArthur Brothers Company of New York, will build the last section of the Kettle Valley Railway from the summit of the Hope range down the valley of the Coquehalla river to the town of Hope a distance of thirty-eight miles. The line will be used jointly by the Kettle Valley and Victoria, Vancouver and Eastern railways and work will be finished Nov. 1, 1914. The undertaking will cost over $3,000,000.

Okanagan Valley growers will ship $1,000 carloads of fruit this season. Owing to reduction of rates over C.P.R., Okanagan growers expect to get a large share of the B. C. fruit trade during the present year. Active publicity campaigns are being started and the Progress Club is assisting in the work of making B.C. fruit popular with Greater Vancouver housewives.

George Williams, the wizard of the Fraser river, arrived in town again this week from end of steel bringing down another large consignment of the merchandise for Kennedy, Blair & Co., a local mercantile house. George Williams, together with William McLaren and Bob Alexander, both well-known rivermen, have brought down over sixty scows from steel head since the opening of navigation this spring and have not lost a pound of freight. Over one thousand tons of freight have been landed here by these three men and there crew since May.—Fort George Herald.

Philadelphia.—Following the report of Captain Remnant, of the British Steamer Lucilne, that he had sighted wreckage of the lost Titanic, an investigation has been started by the hydrographic office. According to Captain Remnant's story, the stern of the ship is protruding eight feet out of the water, which would indicate that a submerged ledge of rock had prevented the wreck from going to the bottom. If such a ledge exists, and evidences of one were reported as long ago as 1723, then it is regarded as possible that the foundering of the Titanic was caused by striking a hidden obstruction which ripped open the hull.

Was the man who is accused of setting Kaslo on fire in February, 1894, at which time the business portion of the town was wiped out, a visitor in town a couple of weeks ago? It is claimed that a tramp painter is the man in question. The police were notified to watch out for him but he evidentally got wind of the fact that he was wanted, because he skipped out and no more has been seen or heard of him since. Several claim to have recognized him, though as far as is known, he showed no signs of recognition. At the rear of the Vienna Cafe the individual in question was heard to remark to a Chinese vegetable peddler, that he had been in Kaslo in the early days. The big fire in 1894 was started at the place in the vicinity of where the King George or the Eagles' opera house now stand. It was started in the kitchen of an hotel building, a can of coal oil being scattered about on the floors and walls in order to give the blaze a good start. A man named King was accused of starting the blaze but before he could be collared he got down to Troup Junction, then 5-Mile, and hoofed it out over the N. & F. S. to the other side of the line. That is thought to be the last seen of him here until a couple of weeks ago.—Kaslo Kootenaian.

Send for a catalogue of headstones and monuments, made by the Kootenay Monumental Works, Nelson, B. C.

Inspector—"What is a fishing net made of?"

Smart Boy—"A lot of little holes tied together with bits of string."

High Finance

The financial genius who bought a bank, discounted his notes in the bank for the purchase price, and then drew his check on the proceeds to pay for it, is entitled to a prize in the art of buying a bank with the bank's money.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

THE LEDGE

is located at Greenwood, B. C., and can be traced to many parts of the earth. It comes to the front every Thursday morning, and believes that hell would close up if love ruled the world. It believes in justice to everyone; from the man who mucks in the mine to the king who sits on the cushions of the throne. It believes that advertising is the life of trade; and that one of the noblest works of creation is the man who always pays the printer.

The Ledge is $2.00 a year in advance, or $2.50 when not so paid. It is postage free to all parts of Canada, Mexico, Great Britain and the county of Bruce. To the United States it is $2.50 a year, always in advance.

R. T. LOWERY
EDITOR AND FINANCIER.

GREENWOOD, AUGUST 21, 1913.

A blue mark here indicates that your Subscription has become deceased, and that the editor would once more like to commune with your collateral.

THE pen is mighty with the man who is raising hogs.

WE war with ourselves because we are made up of half-truths.

IN making a short cut for wealth many get mired on the trail.

THE world is full of crazy people, most of them outside of the asylums.

IT is strange that so many lazy people remain on earth when the dead do not have to work.

THE editor has gone to the cent belt for a few minutes to deliver some lectures to the heathen about the fame and glories of the silvery west.

MEN get old and die because the system is clogged with clinkers. The use of olive oil and distilled water helps to drive away the clinkers.

IF all wage-earners would fight evil habits and thoughts with the same vigor that they do capital, the millenium would touch this earth inside of a few months.

THE Supreme Court in New York holds that vaccination against your wishes is an assault—just as punishable as hitting a man with a club.

OUR higher civilization seems to be crumbling and we are gradually drifting back to force and barbarism. This does not surprise us as history invariably repeats itself.

WITH the editor of this paper in the east, and Dick McBride in London, it is difficult to figure out how this province will get along for the next thirty days.

THAT was a great sight in Port Arthur last May, when 60 steamships left that Port in one day, with cargoes whose total value was $27,000,000. And yet times are said by some to be hard in Canada.

THE government will expend about $50,000 for a postoffice in Greenwood and the contract has already been let. The site although it is in the centre of the city does not suit some people, and it is to be regretted that the government cannot put up several more postoffice buildings in Greenwood in order to please everyone It is a 100 to 1 shot to get this building, and to howl about the site at this late day is something like tickling a gift horse with nettles.

Thinking Themes

Nowhere does convention lay its paralyzing hand upon poor mortals so hardly as at the funeral.

A man can live as independently as he pleases, wear a soft shirt, eat with his knife and refuse to go to receptions, and altogether imagine that he is an individual, but when he dies, custom with iron hand and velvet glove invades his house and takes charge.

The great high priestess of funerals is Mrs. Grundy. The sensitive, torn hearts of the family shrink from any sort of conflict, and so they submit to the absurd, expensive, and vulgar things that make of the funeral a horror.

The widow is anxious that all respects be shown. Hence she submits to the extortions of the funeral director and consents to the purchase of a casket that costs six times what it is worth and ten times what she can afford.

Why should people who never ride in carriages in their lifetime be made to pay for carriages for all the relatives and friends out of the insurance money that belongs to the widow and children?

A decent respect for the dead and for the opinion of our neighbors demands that there be some ceremony, as solemn, as reverential as can be made. But above all things their rights should be purged of display, extravagence, and show. They should be simple, heartful, and genuine.

It is not the money spent that matters so much. In our grief we care nothing for that, and only wish we could squander millions if by so doing we could show the depth of our sorrow. But that is precisely the point of error; for the expenditure of money does not express grief, it expresses pride; it is a disposition to make a show which is entirely out of place.

The grief of bereavement is essentially private and shrinking. A funeral should be an affair of the utmost privacy and simplicity. That, of all places, is no place to parade.

And what a spectacle is the modern graveyard, with its distinctions of rich and poor more sharply marked than among the living. By all means let a man live in a palace if he chooses, but why should he wish to project the class lines of wealth into that region where riches and poverty are no more. At least the realm of death is a democracy. At least in "God's Acre" men ought to be willing to lie still in bare manhood, altogether in their investiture of day, equal at least, prince and pauper, there where there is no more

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power."

If we can have no real democracy while we are alive, at least permit us to have the democracy of death.—Dr. Frank Crane.

Modern Girls

Our modern girls are talented in fifty-seven ways; I'm full of admiration when I watch their skilful plays. One damsel wears her brothers clothes and at the tennis court convinces all the lookers on that she's a nifty sport; another drives a motor car with wondrous grace and ease, and runs down a pedestrian and breaks him at the knees; another takes her fountain pen and writes a gripping book; they all are wonders in their way, but mighty few can cook! I hear of girls in aeroplanes, and girls who practice law, and dentist girls who dig the teeth from out your aching jaws; and preacher girls, and painter girls are everywhere I look; they're demonstrating lots of things—but mighty few can cook. and in a million gloomy homes good grub is being spoiled, and wives are busy frying things which rightly should be boiled; they're busy baking loaves of bread as hard as brick or stone; they ruin everything they touch, while heart sick husbands groan; they do not know a chicken from a buzzard or a rook; they're great on elocution, but they don't know how to cook. Oh, I am full of sympathy, my good old bosom aches, for husbands who must fill themselves with charred and stringy steaks, who once had realms of pleasure home and cheerful inglenook, and hooked up with the gifted girls who never learned to cook.—Walt Mason.

Capital and Labor

The rivalry between capital and labor, if the teachings of Christ were followed, would be a rivalry of service, as in reality the true measure of Christian greatness must be interpreted in terms of service both to God and our neighbor. If we could only keep before our minds and draw into our hearts the all-embracing principles of Christ's Christianity, if only we were actuated by His motives, we should find that the solution of the economic problems before us today begins not with the reform of society but with the reform of the individual.—Father Bernard Vaughan.

ARGO TUNNEL

It is necessary to develop and work the natural resources that surround a city in order to bring prosperity to the community. The tunnel at the Argo is in a long distance and a large body of high grade ore may be struck at any time. This would mean a big profit to the stockholders and another boom for Greenwood.

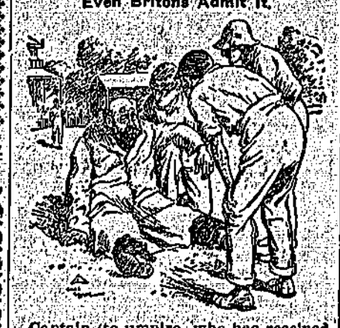
COUNTY FAIRS.

I remember, I remember
The fairs that used to be,
No aviators circled
Above each pole and tree,
Nobody ever rubbered
Toward the orb of day
Save when some young balloonist
Let his toy get away.

I remember, I remember
The race track at the fair,
No racing devil wagons
Raised any dust cloud there,
No motor cycles, whizzing,
Led racers to their fate,
Old Dobbin did his half mile
In just three forty-eight.

I remember, I remember
How simple were the shows—
No moving picture experts,
No dancers shy of clothes,
One clown, one bag of popcorn
One lemonade, and there
You have the joys in toto
Of that dear county fair.
—Denver Republican.

Even Britons Admit It.



Captain (to umpire, who has received a severe blow)—Jove, it's a nasty smack! But cheer up; it's all part of the game.

Heroic Umpire—Yes, sir, and the cricket was getting a bit slow, wasn't it?—Punch.

A Statesman.

At a meeting of a woman suffrage organization in Kansas City, Kan., it was suggested that the members talk to their servants and other women workers with a view to forming an estimate as to the strength of suffrage sentiment in that particular locality. One member, who has employed the same washerwoman for the last six years, reported that she put the question to this worthy lady.

"Are you in favor of votes for women?" the suffrage woman asked.

"I don't pay attention to politics," the washerwoman replied. "I leave all that to my husband."

"Well, how does your husband stand on woman suffrage?"

"He don't stand at all. He believes in women staying at home and minding their own business."

"How many families do you wash for?"

"Six."

"And what does your husband do, Mary?"

"He ain't doing anything right now—unless he found something this morning."—Kansas City Times.

A Suggestion.

At the dinner table on board an ocean liner one man was much annoyed by the vulgar manner in which his next neighbor ate.

He tried to take no notice of the man, but after watching him pick a bone in an extremely primitive fashion he could not control his feelings any longer, and turning to the offender he said:

"Don't you really think you would be more comfortable if you took that bone out on the mat?"—Youth's Companion.

All is Well.

"Your letter came. Glad you bought a team of horses. Hilda is sick. She has diphtheria, and she will die, I think. Clara died this eve. She had it too. We are quarantined. Five of Fisher's family have got it. My wife is sick. She hain't got it. If this thing gets worse we may have to get a doctor. Them trees are budding good. Everything O. K."—Chicago Tribune.

Why George Exploded.

"I never knew that George had such a frightful temper."

"How did you discover that he has one?"

"He took me to a baseball game, and when I asked him why they didn't make the bats square and the diamond round the language he used was terrible."—Detroit Free Press.

A Safe Prediction.

"Well, what is your opinion of the political outlook now?"

"My opinion of it is that there is going to be a lot of useless talk before anybody is elected and that the man who is chosen will not succeed in satisfying everybody who votes for him."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Their Romance.

"Was your love affair romantic?"

"Oh, very! I met Reginald at the seashore. We both pretended to be very rich."

"Yes, yes."

"And now it turns out that he collects the payments on our piano."—McCall's Magazine.

A Hard Luck Story.

Ted—So Tom told you the champion hard luck story?

Ned—Yes. He got a Black Hand letter and was on his way to deposit the money demanded when he was held up by bandits in a taxi.—New York Times.

His Design.

"Why did you insist on having your wife join the Suffragette club?"

"Because," replied Mr. Meekton grimly, "I want to see that Suffragette club get all the trouble that's coming to it."—Washington Star.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

IT is so much easier to find time to do what you want to do than it is to find time to do what somebody else wants you to do.

A girl's idea of a good time is ice cream, cake, moonlight and a black mustache.

Some men are not happy unless they are paying a smooth fellow a big salary for working them.

A fast man may be defined as one who loses money faster than he makes it. The other sort is slow.

We can't be bright all the time. The price of elbow grease and scouring material is too high.

The only way to cure a man of arguing is to put up a mark and let him argue it down.

A woman does hate to have her husband bet—and lose.

Isn't it queer that the better looking our photograph is the less our friends think it resembles us?

The man who gets on in the world leaves a lot behind him.

The man who takes a little notice of what his wife did during the day insures a big day's work to follow.

Pipe Dreams.

What should we do without the dreams
That come to cheer and jolly,
That stem the tide, the seething streams
Of somber melancholy?
Hard pressed and sore beset by care,
We long for dreams and visions
And know that we shall find them there—
In nicotine Elysiums.

At night with pipe beside the fire
We set the smoke clouds rolling
And dream that with our heart's desire
We in sweet fields are strolling;
That, wrapped in mantle wide of peace,
With dear delights around us,
From trouble we have found release—
No more can sorrow wound us.

Not for the dreamer is the toil
Of dismal nights and dreary.
Above his head the smoke clouds roll,
And still his heart is cheery.
So fill the pipe nor listen to
The rasping voice of trouble,
And dream of joy and hope anew.
So will your pleasures double.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The man who works his tongue more than he does his brain has a lot of explaining to do.

One sharp tongued girl says the reason why she can't get her own consent to marry is that she fears she hasn't brains enough for two.

Cupid has to show his bank account these days before he is permitted to take out a marriage license.

He is a fool who spends his money over night and has nothing but a grouch to show for it next morning.

The fellow who really expects to get the worst of it is generally so well prepared that he doesn't.

Some men are so grouchy that they really seem to hate to see anyone draw his breath.

A first class pessimist takes it as a personal injury if any one has any good humor on tap.

The smaller a girl's foot is the more interest she takes in stylish footwear.

It often costs a lot of money to learn some things you don't want to know.

Some men are always contrary because it is the only way they know to call attention to themselves.

NOTICE

Zear and International Mineral Claims situate in the Greenwood Mining Division of Yale District, near to Myncaster.

TAKE NOTICE that I, J. S. Harrison, agent for Jas. P. Blaine, Free Miners' Certificate No. 61763B intend, sixty days from date hereof, to apply to the Mining Recorder for Certificates of Improvements, for the purpose of obtaining a Crown Grant of the above claims.

And further take notice that action, under Section 85, must be commenced before the issue of such Certificate of Improvements.

Dated at Midway this 6th day of August, A. D. 1913.

J. S. HARRISON.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations.

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N.B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

About Float.

Float is not a periodical. It is a book containing 86 illustrations all told, and is filled with sketches and stories of western life. It tells how a gambler cashed in after the flush days of Sandon; how it rained in New Denver long after Noah was dead; how a parson took a drink at Bear Lake in early days; how justice was dealt in Kaslo in '93; how the saloon man outprayed the women in Kalamazoo, and graphically depicts the roamings of a western editor among the tenderfeet in the cent belt. It contains the early history of Nelson and a romance of the Silver King mine. In it are printed three western poems, and dozens of articles too numerous to mention. Send for one before it is too late. The price is 25 cents, postpaid to any part of the world. Address all letters to

BOUNDARY MINES

Shipments of ore from the Union group of claims, located in Gloster camp, 46 miles up the North Fork of Kettle river from Grand Forks commencing this week when 12 tons of ore was delivered at Lynch Creek, the present terminal of the Kettle Valley railways' North Fork branch, 18 miles up the river from this city.

The group of claims, which comprises the Union, Union Fraction, Idaho and Paper Dollar, all adjoin and are owned by Louis Johnson, Pat McGinnis, Jack Henderson and the Mike McDonald estate, each party holding a quarter interest.

The ore runs high in gold and silver, assays giving returns of from $35 to $230 per ton, with only a trace of copper. The formation is a new one for the camp and gives promise of being very extensive, the ore body having been traced by means of open cuts across for of the adjoining claims.

The Union is the first property in either Franklin or Gloster camps to undertake the shipment of ore on a commercial basis, and if the smelter returns from the first 100 tons are satisfactory, it is the intention of the owners to keep up the shipments.

There are a large number of properties being worked more or less in the two northern camps this season, and the owners are anxiously awaiting the smelter returns from the shipment of Union ore to determine whether they can undertake the shipping of ores by wagon to Lynch Creek or not. The present high cost of transportation, and the need for better roads between the railroad and the mines will, however, prevent a number of properties from doing anything in the way of actual shipments until such times as the road is placed in safe condition for the heavy loads or the Kettle Valley railway completes its spur to Franklyn camp, which will put the mines in close proximity to the Granby smelter in this city.

It is stated that the British Columbia Copper company will resume development work about September 1st on properties in Franklyn camp, upon which they recently renewed their bond.—Grand Forks Gazette.

B. C. MINING NEWS

On the Ingineca group a tunnel has been started on the 40-foot vein. Ed Kohse, who came in on Monday, says the tunnel is already in fifteen feet and shows about four feet of quartz, with plenty of yellow copper and some gray copper. A crosscut will be driven to tap number one and number two veins at a depth of 100 feet.

On the Silver Creek group situated just back of Smithers, the Hudson Bay Mining Co., is busily engaged in development, with forty men under the management of Harry Carpenter. Col. R. G. Steele, superintendent of the property, is expected to return from the coast in a few days, accompanied by directors of the company. This concern, with one of the best prospective mining properties in the district, is likely to cut an important figure in the development of our mines. Within thirty days it is expected that the crosscut tunnel will tap the big showing on the second vein. With a length of about 400 feet, the tunnel will give a depth of foot for foot on the vein, it is estimated. The company is working in the most systematic and thorough manner. J. G. Carsley, of Montreal, arrived with R. G. Steele on Wednesday. They have gone up to Smithers.

J. O. Trethewey, the Cobalt man who it is interested with Frank Martin in the White Heather group, visited the property this week. He expressed himself as well pleased, not only with the property in which he is interested, but also with others on Hudson Bay mountain. A small crew is working on the White Heather at present, and larger operations are being planned. Frank Martin is preparing to make a shipment of ore, much of which carries native silver. The first shipment will probably be made to Trail.—Omineca Miner.

Kaslo-Slocan

Splendid progress is being made upon the development of the Revenue, a South Fork property, recently bonded by a Calgary syndicate, headed by R. G. Barnes, of that city, according to information brought down from the hills by Lachlan McLean, who is associated with Scott Thornburg and Thomas Melrose as one of the former owners. A splendid showing of galena is being opened up and as development is proceeding this ore is being taken out and sacked for shipment to the smelter. The ore is of a good shipping grade and the Revenue has the ear marks of being a clean cut mining proposition that will ultimately assist greatly in the bringing of the rich South Fork section into the prominence that the district deserves.

A new find has been made on the 12-Mile section of the North Fork of Kaslo creek. The property is known as the Helen group and is being opened up with Wm. English and Scott Thornburg. It is situated a mile or so south of the railway and the strike was made a few days ago on the surface of nearly eighteen inches of clean galena, running eighty per cent. lead and over 140 ounces of silver, the later figure being the lowest assay for the white metal obtained from any of the pieces sampled. The ledge is said to be about 8 to 15 feet in width. The country rock is granite. Other parties owned the claims, of which there are three in the group, several years ago, and by a 200 foot drift succeeded in gaining approximately 200 feet of depth on the ledge. No ore was found, however, in this development, but the present owners believe that if they had cross-cut at intervals to the walls, that they would have succeeded in finding ore. It is their intention to take advantage of the former fruitless development work at a later date. For the present ore is being stoped from the surface in a merry fashion and about half a carload of the rich stuff is at present ready for shipping.

Shipments of ore will be commenced from the Sun mine, on Woodbury creek this fall if possible, according to D. H. Nellis, who was in Kaslo this week on business. It is expected that ore would be coming down before this but during the high water season a log jam broke loose up Woodbury creek and swept the whole length of the stream, taking out seven or eight bridges that spanned it, said bridges formed part of the only trail by which the Sun mine could be reached. A couple of crews of men are now repairing the damage.

W. B. Smith has taken a lease and bond on the Mountain Goat and the Lucky Boy claims in the Jackson bason and is doing some development. It is stated that a very encouraging showing of ore has been uncovered on the Lucky Boy. These properties adjoin the U.S., a zinc proposition that Mr. Smith bonded last year.—Kaslo Kootenaian.

A Bore—"Yes, I learned to play entirely by ear."

EFFICIENT SERVICE---SOLID VALUES

Every year our mail service grows in efficiency as the servant of the out-of-town buyer. Every year our illustrated catalogue increases in circulation, and that is not because of the extensive increase in the population of the province, but because the honest methods we employ in merchandising, and the solid values we give, have won the entire confidence of every buyer who sought our service.

REGARDING JEWELLERY

In every line of Jewellery we have paid strict attention to fashion, and everything from the least to the greatest in the matter of price is made after select styles. Our catalogue gives a faithful representation of all lines carried by us in this department, the prices are fair and moderate. Write for our catalogue today.
