Penny For Your Thoughts

"Weel, tae tell you the truth, lassie, I was jist thinkin' hoo fine it wad be if ye were toe gi'e me a wee bit kissie." "Oh, that's it is it? Weel, Tam, I ha'e nae objection." And she planted the desired caress on his lips. Then Thomas went off into another brown study. After a short interval, Maggie smilingly said again: "An' what are ye thinkin' aboot noo, Tammie—anither kiss, eh?" "Nae, nae, lassie; it's mair serious noo." "Is it, laddie?" asked Maggie quietly, her heart going pit-a-pat with expectation, as she edged a bit closer. "An' what micht it noo laddie?" "I was jist thinking," came the reply, "that it was aboot time ye paid me that penny, "that it was aboot time ye paid me that penny!"

Major Anderson Killed

Official news has been received that Major Anderson has been killed while fighting with the expeditionary force in the Mediterranean.

Major Anderson received his commission in 1881, served in India, Malta, and on the general staff in Crete, during the troubles in 1898-9. He served in Asiatic Turkey as Military Vice Consel from 1899 to 1903. He constructed road survey maps of all the principal roads in central Asia Minor, from the Black Sea to Mosul. Major Anderson was married in 1900 to Laura, daughter of H. G. Ellsworthy, barrister, and af Mrs. Ellsworth.

Mrs. Anderson who is left with two daughters resides at Kettle Valley.

Clark's Rambles

Ed. N. Clark, at one time editor of the Coalmont Courier, writes to The Ledge from Big Springs, Texas, enclosing his card printed in Spanish. On it he has something that reads like, "Walking across Canada for pie." He also sends a postal card, with his picture on it in three postures. While walking between two Texas towns by moonlight he wrote a war poem on his collar, and sends it to The Ledge. When the press censor passes it, and The Ledge has more room it will probably be printed. Ed took some fine photographs in Mexico, some of which have already appeared in English and American magazines. His experiences in the land of greasers, outshine those he had in Princeton. Clark says:

"Hullo, Colonel, hope this will find you well and still shying off the hard stuff, we'll live longer that way. Personally speaking, this part of the country is dry owing to the vagaries of local option. At 3 a. m. today while on a lonesome 40-mile hike across a Texan prairie between towns in glorious moonlight I dotted down enclosed lines on a corner of my shirt tail. Yours is the only Canadian paper to get it, and if you run it would much like a copy sent to Dallas, Texas, under cover, as they take little note of newspaper mail. Mail me a copy in an envelope. I will be glad to take a peek at the one remaining live one in B. C. since the lamented and untimely decease of the Courier.

Just out of Mexico after numerous adventures and now headed hot foot for the European war zone. Was arrested as a spy down there by a bunch of dirty Zapata gurrillas and duly scheduled for a firing squad together with two Americans I found repining in the caboose. However, we beat them to it on the eve of the obsequies by breaking goal with the aid of a penknife and bare fingers. Pried out a brick and then some more, trussed up the sleepy guard and placed him inside, then raided the corral and got across the border without mishap. Subsequently I broke in the country again via Juarez, was lucky enough to get an interview with Villa and obtained his photograph and a passport thro all territory under his command. They figure he's a dead one, but believe me he's there with the gray matter o. k. His latest stunt is the commandeering of a silver mine and he's now busily engaged turning out good iron men by the thousand, and silver being silver all the world he's solved the problem of all this paper kole floating around, which has deteriorated to 350 pesos to the gold dollar. Pascual Villa will be heard from yet and Carranza has a hard roe to hoe ahead.

In haste,

Always sincerely,

ED. N. CLARK.

Prices at the Front

One of those letters from the front, printed in a recent issue of the Edmonton Journal, and reproduced below, quotes the first list of prices from the trenches that we have seen, and the item is interesting.

The prices charged at the regimental canteen, recalls Western Canada in the early days. A pound of butter cost 60 cents, biscuits $1 per pound: a bottle of ale costs $7.65, and should make temperance very popular. A tin of lobster can eemand $2, and a bottle of Worcestire sauce $1.75. Cleanliness must be at a discount, for toothpaste costs $1.50 per tube, and soap 50 cents a bar, and shaving soap $1.25 per case. It does not cost much to go to bed, as candles may be had for ten cents apiece. Ink, pen and pencils may be bought at reasonable prices, but to buy other necessities of life, one would have to have the income of a sub-division merchant in the good old days.

THE man who sips his drinks seldom gets drunk.

To a great extent colds can be prevented by keeping the stomach clean, and not overloaded.

IF you wish to have good indigestion never eat impure, or badly cooked food. Do not eat fast, and drink very little with your meals.

THE Grand Forks Sun says that from reliable sources it has learned, that Peter Veregin, recently caused several Doukhobor girls to be stripped naked in a barn, and then he lashed them with a whip until the blood came. If this is true, what are the police doing?

ONE of the most famous figures in Canadian history, Sir Charles Tupper, died last Saturday. The West never had a better friend. He believed in himself, and was noted for saying I. He was the last of the noble band who created Canada, and the C.P.R. He was always strong and vigorous, due to the strict manner in which he looked after his health.

WHY all this tobacco begging for the soldiers at the front? The military authories should supply the soldiers with all the tobacco that they need. Put tobacco along with tea, beef beans, ammunition and all other supplies needed by the men on the firing line. By all means give the soldiers all the tobacco they need, but do not make them objects of charity. Some of these war fads have been a rich thing for grafters, and seekers after cheap notoriety.

Ainsworth-Slocan Mines

A. F. Billings is preparing plans for the new flume designed to secure additional water power for the Cork-Province.

The trail to the Fidelity, on American creek, is being cleaned out, in orer to allow Rady and Merryweather to get in supplies so as to open up the property. It lies to the east of Gerrard.

Lance Hillman has further increased the showing on his properties up Canyon creek, near Gerrard, according to reports from that place. The Hillman properties are considered as being among the most promising in that section.

The American Boy Mining Co., the owner of the American Boy group at Sandon, is issuing a call for an assessment on stock, in order to raise money necessary to re-instate the corporation in the State of Washington and in this province, and to pay off a note due by the company to the Spokane Eastern Trust C. Also it is indicated that steps may be taken either to lease or operate the mine, as it is rich in zinc bearing ores. Shareholders have until November 15 in which to pay assessments.—Kaslo Kootenaian.

The meek may inherit the earth, but if the strong keep at it much longer the heritage will not be worth much.

Rock Creek Fair

The First Fall Fair held in connection with the Farmers Institute at Larsens Hall, on October 22nd proved a great success. The building was artistically decorated by Miss G. Bell and the staff of the Bank of Commerce. The exhibits of grain, fruit and vegetables were of exceptionally fine fine quality. Mr. J. R. Jackson in opening the Fair remarked that the exhibits were some of the best he had seen, and he thought that the Rock Creek district was one of the best agricultural sections in the province.

The Ladies Circle catered for the refreshments, the proceeds which amounted to nearly $100 going to the Red Cross.

The following is the result of the competition which was restricted to members of the Farmers institute only:

"Eternal Peace."

And suppose, after all, that death does end all. Next to eternal joy, next to being forever with those we love and those who hath loved us—next to that, is to be wrapped in the dreamless drapery of eternal peace. Next to eternal life is eternal sleep. Upon the shadowy shore of death the sea of trouble cast no wave. Eves that have been curtained by the ever lasting dark will never know again the burning touch of tears. Lips touched by eternal silence will never speak again the broken words of grief. Hearts of dust do not break. The dead do not weep. Within the tomb no veiled and weeping sorrow sits. And in the rayless gloom is crouched no shuddering fear.—Robert Ingersoll.

Too many persons are unable to distinguish the difference between argument and assertion.
