Archibald Forbes was fond of recounting his experience in Leven, Fifeshire, during a lecture tour. When Forbes entered the hall there was not a single soul present. After a bit, however, a man strolled in and calmly proceeded to choose a seat. It seems he was a commercial traveler, putting up at the place for the night, who had found time hanging heavily on his hands. Nobody else coming, Forbes said to the "audience:"—

"Will you have the lecture or will you have a drink?"

"A drink," said the traveler.

Around Home

There will be a few weddings in Greenwood next month.

I. H. Hallet is spending a few days at Halcyon Hot Springs.

The drawing for the books and book case will be held on Saturday afternoon in E. Hicks barber shop.

In Midway last week, John Rusk and Mrs. Etta Colegrove were married by the Rev. J. R. Munro.

The All-Stars Phoenix and Greenwood will play the All-Stars of the Kootenay at Phoenix this (Wednesday) night.

Little Teddie Oliver, who fell out of the upper window of a two storey building is still confined to bed but is gradually improving.

H. Lunney, manager of the local branch of the B. C. Telephone Co., was in Molson, Wash., on Sunday, where he purchased a valuable horse.

That ever popular and genial young man, Bob Halcrow, is liable to become a musician. He won a phonograph at a raffle on Monday evening.

There will be a Hard Times dance in the Rock Creek Opera House on March 17. Anyone appearing with a dress suit will probably be fined.

An exceptional chance—30 acres (more or less) on main road between Phoenix and Greenwood, finest soil, price extremely low. C. C. Tilley, Greenwood.

The Miners' Union having decided not to give a dance on March 17th, there will be a hockey dance instead. Good music and a good time is assured.

A special meeting of the Boundary Womens Institute is called for Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, March 13th. All members are requested to attend. M. A. Frawley, sec-treas.

The Bishop of New Westminster has appointed Rev. R. D. Porter, of Saskatchewan, vicar of St. Jude's church Greenwood. Mr. Porter hopes to take up his duties on the 29th of this month.

Adam Bean from Kentucky discovered Rock Creek in 1860. At one time there were 13 saloons in that town. The first woman to reach the camp was crazy. She was the wife of a miner by the name of Bean.

The Greenwood Gun Club had their first practice at trap shooting on Sunday afternoon. A light wind prevailed and considering that it was their first time out some very good shots were made. Out of 25 birds A. Logan got 19; D. Biner 17; J. L. White 19; Dr. McLean 17, and H. Parker, a new recruit, 12. We understand that the Mother Lode is forming a Gun Club and it is hoped that matches will be arranged between Rock Creek, Grand Forks, Mother Lode and Greenwood.

A crowded house again filled the Star Theatre on Saturday night when, perhaps, the best show since this popular place of amusement opened, was presented. "The Charge of The Light Brigade" was undoubtedly the attraction of the evening when nearly 700 mounted soldiers took part in a realistic manner. The charge they made with cannons in front of them, cannons to right of them and cannons to the left of them volleyed and thundered, The dash back to safety with the cannons killing men and horses gave the audience some idea of the wild charge they made. Mr. Shaw is doing his best to give a good entertainment and is deserving of crowded houses.

Grand Forks Replies.

The Gazette has been working more than union hours trying to explain away the unenviable position in which they are held in the Boundary and Kootenay districts, owing to the hockey squabbles they have got themselves into. Over three columns of its valuable space is taken up with complaints and excuses, but the disgraceful fact remains that they did not give Trail a return game in Trail. We read its explanations and accept its excuses, but take our tip, brother, a straightforward course does not need explaining and it always pays to be truthful.

About Woman

Woman has been an inferior creature ever since the human race was developed, and she must always remain so. The presence of large numbers of women in occupations hitherto monopolized by man is unnatural and indicates racial decline or at least racial stagnation. This is an unprogressive age, and on this ground alone can be explained the relative success of woman in competition with man. The race is at a standstill. We are not making progress in really important fields. We are inventing automobiles and aeroplanes, it is true, and are perfecting business methods. We are worshipers of machinery and system.

But that does not count for the true advancement of civilization. Man is stagnant. The male has dropped out of the struggle, and until he enters it again we shall make no serious advance.

Women by nature is unequal to man in the development of those qualities which make for human progress. She never has distinguished herself by important discoveries in any line of science. Compared with man, there never was a great woman painter, sculptor, musician, architect or scientist.

The elements of sex superiority were fixed by in the vegetable kingdom and she can not overcome them. She is conspicuous in affairs now, only because she is playing a part in a great race experiment in which the activities of man have been temporarily abridged. As soon as man resumes his normal stride woman will drop back immediately to the natural position of inferiority which the female has held through all the centuries that life has existed on the earth.—Professor Frederick Starr, University of Chicago.

A bachelor guesses that most of the women haters are married men.

A Man's Work

The janitor of a New York flat building has come into a fortune of $80,000, but declines to quit his humble work.

"My family wants me to stop working," he says, "but I don't mean to. I'd die within a year if I'd stop work."

It is possibly true that the man who stops work is likely to die. Anyway, it is true that he might just as well. Nature abhors the superfluous. To sit down is to rust away.

Nine people in ten, perhaps, would allow sudden acquisition of wealth to end their usefulness.

They might give a little of their money, and therefore imagine themselves benefactors. But of themselves they would give nothing. They would isolate themselves, in idleness and exclusiveness and their human sympathies would soon be damned up for want of outlet.

Here is one who loves his work for its own sake.

He loves it not for what he can get out of it, but for what he can put into it.

His incentive to work is not the mere animal need of subsistence, but the human impulse to be of service to mankind.

Here is a line that divides the animal from the human being. But how many of us walking on two legs and divested of tail can honestly claim to be on the right side of that line?

It would be impossible even to guess what proportion of us calling ourselves human have any definite purpose in life than to give all we can by doing as little as possible.

Like the lowest of animals, the most of us grub to gratify our animal wants, and have little practical thought of anything beyond.

Lots of us, when we think we have accumulated enough to keep us comfortably the rest of our lives, sit down and go to consuming it. Many of us have not even the good sense of the ant, but dissipate our substance as fast as we get it, work only to get it, and get it only to spend it.

Of course, we can pooh-pooh and say we would do as this man is doing, but the fact is that when it is put up to us, even in little things, mighty few of us make good.

This man is wise in recognizing that his greatest fortune lies not in his $80,000, bat in the fact that he has work to do and the heart to do it.

The real substance of human life is—not what we get. but what we give.—Montreal Mail.

Be good at the depths of you and you will discover that those who surround you will be good even to the same depths. Nothing responds more infallibly to the secret cry of goodness than the secret cry of goodness that is near. While you are actively good in the invisible, all those who approach you will unconsciously do things that they could not do by the side of any other.—Maeterlinck,

THIS is Lent, but beefsteaks still have to be bought.

WITH all the scraps there seems to be a heap of Love in Grand Forks hockey.

It is reported that there is a Nichol in Vancouver worth a million dollars.

THE business man who does not support his local paper is lacking in real public spirit.

HOW much will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and sends out of town for his job printing?

NEVER mind, dearie, the puck may have gone through a hole in the ice, but Casey will soon be at the bat.

IF it is true that no gentleman is ever in a hurry, we must have a lot of fine fellows amongst our delinquent subscribers.

THE Doukhobors have threatened to take off their clothes and march into Nelson naked. That will be worse than a Tango dance on Lake street.

THE Mexicans had a naval battle last week that lasted half an hour. Nothing was damaged except the ozone. The cannons were probably loaded with pepper, tamales, bull rings, cigarette butts, and mescal bottles.

GREENWOOD spends more money in a week upon booze, and more money in six weeks upon hockey, than it does in a year upon its local paper. Public spirit is a grand quality, even if it does only occasionally rise above the waist line.

THERE is quite a roar in Canada just now, because the Laurier government practically wasted $40,000,000 in building the National Transcontinental railway. We should not roar, but bless ourselves that it was not twice that amount. Laurier probably had to do something like that in order to keep his flesh pot followers from making his life miserable. He who rules always has thorns in his pillow.

WHEN you rise from the ranks, only the true the good and the noble will urge you to ascend to greater heights. The base, the ignoble, and the mud-brained will throw stones at you, and use every endeavor to pull you down to their level of mediocrity, and incompetency.

THIS season The Ledge has done more for hockey than any other person or collective force in the Boundary. For this it received no money and no thanks, except from a few clear-minded and unselfish people. In the olden days the multitude did not appreciate Christ, so The Ledge should not murmur.

TRUE sports pay for their own amusements or do without them. Badgering, abusing or coercing others to pay for amusements in which they are not interested is on a par with the fellow who buys whiskey, and asks a temperance orator to help him pay for it. This applies to a community as well as an individual.

LET us rejoice for the blessings that are showered upon us by the unseen hand that turns the wheel of the universe. Spring has come with its balmy breath, its budding trees and singing birds, and Dame Nature is taking away the white blanket, spreading in its place a bright coverlet of green while ever and anon a cackle in our backyard wafts to our auricular appendages, the pleasing intelligence that some noble hen, in her trustful innocence has deposited a fresh egg within easy access of our tenacious hand. Oh, spring! thou art more than a pippin.

Thinking Themes

The net sum and substance of all any man can say to his children, to his friends and to the whole world, is what Jesus said to His disciples: "Follow Me!" For when the book is done, the last chapter written, and the volume closed, the result of it all is not what a man said or did, but what he was.

We would all hesitate to pose as models, and to say we wish others to be like ourselves; and that is precisely what we are doing whether we will or not. It is what I am in my closet, in the dark, that sings out loud above all my volitional deeds. For none of the forces supposed to mould or sway men, such as argument or entreaty or command, singing, praying or preaching, is to be compared in strength to the irradiation of our personal influence. It cannot be permanently concealed; it leaks out no matter how we try to bottle it up.

The most useful acts are those I do in secret from unselfish motives; they find their way by a sort of wireless telegraphy out among others. The greatest wrongs I commit are the unclean or dishonest or cowardly thoughts I harbor and indulge in the back of my brain. An open crime is in a measure purged by its very publicity; but an inner an hidden wrong is pure poison, defiling the universe.

Life is not so simple a matter as to be regulated by any rules or codes of morality; it is a fountain that must be kept sweet and clean at its source. As the most fearful struggles in the sea are in its deeps between huge whales and octopi, so the most terrible tragedies of the soul take place far beneath the superficial eyes and lips. — Dr. Frank Crane.

Religious Raffles

Our neighbors in New Westminster are going to abolish gambling in the shape of sweepstakes and raffles by cigar stores. So far, good. But there is one important inception: "Raffles are not to be classed as gambling if under the auspices of churches, or other charitable organizations." This means that those bodies masquerading as pious or charitable institutions, may gamble or raffle to their hearts' content, while the same practices by private parties are too sinful to be tolerated. It is quite evident that these outfits are barefaced and shameless to the last degree in the prosecution of gain. What the deuce do they care whether there example is worse than there precept. Money, raffles, begging, collections, legacies, offerings and sales of work constitute the chief jargon in religious circles. Alas! They have got far off their course since the year 1 A.D.

The churches of today resound with the hum of financial activity. The Salvation Army, pioneers of the get-rich-quick methods, is simply a collossal and bloated commercial enterprise, which dabbles in any doubtful transaction which promises an easy dollar. We think it is high time that those people threw off the cloak of religion, and went in bald headed for business pure and simple. In any case, if religious propaganda requires to be bolstered up by begging and raffling, most people will agree that we can dispense with any such precarious path to grace. – Vancouver Truth.

About Moses.

The teacher asked: "When did Moses live?" After the silence had bedome painful she ordered: "Open your Old Testaments. What does it say there?"

A boy answered; "Moses, 4000."

"Now," said the teacher, "you have all seen that before. Why didn't you know when Moses lived?"

"Well" replied the boy, "I thought it was his telephone number."

"To our silent heroes," little Willie read from the memorial bronze. "Pa what are silent heroes?"

"Married men," said pa.

An Italian who keeps a fruit store was much annoyed by possible customers who made a practice of handling the fruit and pinching it, thereby leaving it softened and oftened spoiled. Exasperated beyond endurance, he finally put up a sign which read: "If you must, pincha da fruit, pincha da cocoanut."

A Longer Bar

The average hard-rock man is, as a rule, better versed in things subterranean rather than to life lived in a modern club. This being the case it is easy to understand the mistake made recently by one of the local exponents of the single-jack when he made his debut at the ultra-fashionable Union Club of Victoria.

All men who have met north of the 54th are friends, and therefore it was quite natural when Dan met Captain John on Government Street, at the Capital, there came a mutual desire to celebrate the occasion. The Captain acted as pilot and with his prospector friend in tow, a round was made of the prominent hotels, the two winding up before what Dan believed was the Captain's residence. The door was opened and in spite of his longing Dan hesitated when a livered attendent offered to take his overcoat, as a new $50 garment was not a thing to be handed over to the first stranger. However, a nod from the Captain reassured him, and as they passed into the buffet Dan mentally observed that the genial Captain "sure had some house" and answered "rye" mechanically to the time-worn query. But when the bartender endeavored to add soda he was promptly stopped by the exclamation "Mud." Dan yet fails to see why his glass was whipped away with profuse apologies and a clean one substituted.

Knowing his host's idiosyncrasies the northerner stood awhile expecting an introduction to the ladies, but none appearing he shortly headed for the "Prince George" to confide in Billy Coates, the manager, that when he sold his mining property up Bear river he would "sure build a house like the Captain's, only his bar would be a bit longer."—Stewart Miner.

A BETTER REMEDY THAN NASTY SALTS

Few people like to take physic, especially salts, because they are so disagreeable to take and because of the griping and pains they cause. Rexall Orderlies enable you to take less physic, and all without griping, purging or excessive looseness. Salts and physics usually only give temporary relief and often leave the bowels worse off than before.

Rexall Orderlies move the bowels promptly, and soothe, tone and strengthen the intestinal muscles, leaving them healthy and regular in action. They taste like candy, and the movement they cause is as easy and natural as though your bowels were in perfect health and you never had to take any physic at all. We have so much faith in Rexall Orderlies that we urge you to try them with the understanding that, if they do not satisfy you in every way, all you have to do is to get your money back is to tell us. We honestly believe them to be the best bowel remedy made. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores, and in this town only of us. J. L. White, Druggist, Greenwood, B.C.

Don't be satisfied with anything less than an Edison Phonograph

Throughout the history of sound reproduction Mr. Edison has blazed the trail. Every important step has been conceived first in his mind. He is the acknowledged master of acoustics throughout the world. His recent triumph is the Blue Amberol Record.

It came, after countless experiments, with all its strength of volume, sweetness of quality and lasting endurance. To bring out the remarkable tone of this new record demanded a new reproducer. He invented it—the Diamond-Point Reproducer. With it there is none of the annoyance of changing the needle after each record. The diamond is as much a part of the phonograph as its beautiful cabinet.

Hear a Blue Amberol—that's all we ask. Your Edison dealer will play over as many as you like. We are content to leave the verdict with your ear.

LOWERY'S CLAIM.

During the 87 months that Lowery's Claim was on earth it did business all over the world. It was the most unique, independent and fearless journal ever produced in Canada. Political and theological enemies pursued it with the venom of a rattlesnake until the government shut it out of the mails, and its editor ceasad to publish it partly on account of a lazy liver and partly because it takes a pile of money to run a paper that is outlawed. There are still 20 different editions of this condemned journal in print. Send 10 cents and get one or $2 and get the bunch,

YOU CAN'T EARN MONEY WHEN YOUR LAID UP

There are a lot of people in this town who cannot afford to be sick. Perhaps none of you feel that you can, but certainly some of you can't, for as soon as you are sick, your wages stop and worry and debts begin to pile up. The sensible thing for you to do, as soon as you feel run-down and worn out, no matter what the cause, is to take something just as quick as you can to build up strength and health Make yourself more comfortable and provide against serious sickness.

We don't believe there is any other medicine made that will do as much towards saving your health and thus helping you save your money as Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is a medicine that gets right at the trouble and relieves it by toning the nerves, enriching the blood, and giving new strength and health to the whole body. It does not do this by means of alcohol or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. Its strength and health-giving power is due to pure Olive Oil and Hypophosphites, long endorsed by successful physicians, the one for its food value, the other for its tonic value. Here, for the first time, they are combined, and the result is a real nerve, blood and body building medicine—a real strengthener that we are proud to tell you about. You don't need to hesitate in using it, because if it doesn't do all we say it will and satisfy you in every way, it will cost you nothing. If it doesn't make you strong and well again, come back and get your money. It will be given to you without word or question. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. J. L. White, Druggist, Greenwood, B.C.

There is no such thing as man's rights and woman's rights separate and distinct from each other. Woman's rights are simply human rights. The sexes belong to each other; what benefits one helps the other; what elevates either uplifts both. Man is the outdoor and woman the indoor partner in the firm of humanity.

Love is the great homemaker, that makes even drudgery of housekeeping a pleasure, and home life a foretaste of the bliss of heaven. One cannot get too much love into one's homemaking, but easily too little.

* * *

Fathers now basking in the sunset of life may not readily recall all their early experiences in life, their struggles and triumphs of their childhood home, the playhouses they helped their sisters build are photographed upon the hearts tablet and will never fade away. The golden light of eternity will not dim the brightness of this picture, One will never forget the place of his birth, the little broken cart, the sled and kite, and the older brother who led the way to the hillside where the fairest wild flowers bloomed. These sacred memories will never grow less bright or dim with age.

* * *

There should be no day in our lives that did not record some act of kindness, some help held out to the needy One self-denying act or some kind word, or a pleasant glance, has fallen like sunshine or ceased an aching heart. There is no act intended to help another, too small for the Master's notice. It is the conscious attention to what the world calls little things that make the great beauty and success in life.

* * *

Let our homes be places of love, joy and brightest sunshine, places of enduring love that outlasts the wedding day, and which produces a life of one long unbroken honeymoon, the moulding place of character, a place where the child breathes an atmosphere perfumed by the choicest flowers of heaven, where it finds the greatest earthly security in mother's loving fostering care.

* *

If you have a home and are out of debt, don't fret and worry yourself and good wife into the grave for the sake of making money. You have only one life to live, and it is brief at best. Take a little pleasure and comfort as you go day by day, and try to do a little good to others. A morbid, insatiate desire to possess the earth, and grab everything in sight, is at the foundation of more misery than almost any one thing. Wealth alone will never keep memory green; a good life and kind actions will.

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN

A Mother's Letter to Mothers.

Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield, N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, had a bad cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about six weeks when I began giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength beside. I have also found Vinol a most excellent tonic for keeping up the children's strength during a siege of whooping cough."

Vinol is a wonderful combination of two world-famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a patent medicine, everything in it is printed on every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.

Therefore we ask every mother of a weak, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our guarantee.

About Float.

Float is not a periodical. It is a book containing 86 illustrations all told, and is filled with sketches and stories of western life. It tells how a gambler cashed in after the flush days of Sandon; how it rained in New Denver long after Noah was dead; how a parson took a drink at Bear Lake in early days; how justice was dealt in Kaslo in '93; how the saloon man outprayed the women in Kalamazoo, and graphically depicts the roamings of a western editor among the tenderfeet in the cent belt. It contains the early history of Nelson and a romance of the Silver King mine. In it are printed three western poems, and dozens of articles too numerous to mention. Send for one before it is too late. The price is 25 cents, postpaid to any part of the world. Address all letters to

Many people fail to accomplish anything because they try to do too much.

The extreme sense of perfection in some men is the greatest obstacle to their success.

BOUNDARY MINES

The Boundary district of British Columbia produces more copper than any other part of Canada, not excepting the Sudbury district of Ontario. While the ore production of last year was about 100,000 tons less than for 1912, the metal production for Greenwood and Grand Forks mining divisions amounted to about 65,000 oz. gold. 370,000 oz silver, and 29,000,000 lbs. copper, the value of which the provincial mineralogist in the preliminary estimate for 1913, places [at $5,-915,000, an amount only exceeded in the province by the mineral production of the coast district, with a value of $6,500,000.

B. C. COPPER COMPANY, LTD.

This company last year handled a tonage of 100,000 less than for 1912 owing to curtailment of ore shipments to secure a higher grade of ore at the amelter, where only two of the three furnaces were in consequeuce under operation dur- the greater part of ihe year. Of the tonnage 600,000 treated at the company's smelter at Greenwood, 300,000 tons were from the Mother Lode Mine; 240,000 tons from the Rawhide; 30,000 tons from Queen Victoria at Nelson, and the balance custom ore. The provincial mineralogist gives the following estimates of the metals recovered. Gold, 20,000 ozs; silver 85,000 oz. copper 8.208.000 pounds.

The Emma hitherto operated by the company under lease from the purchasers of the assets of the Hall Mines Company, was not operated during the past year owing to the head works of the shaft burned down the previous year not having been replaced. Little or no ore was shipped from the Wellington group, or from the Lone Star and Washington Mines in Washington State just across the boundary line.

Work was commenced during the past year on a 100 ton concentratrator at Boundary Falls, designed to treat ore of the Lone Star mine and to experiment on ores from the Copper Mountain properties which the company has under bond. It is expected that the mill will be in operation this spring. The concentrator will use water. with subsequent treatment by oil flotation.

The development of the company on the L. & H. at Silverton, on the Enreka at Nelson and Copper Mountain properties in the Similkameen is reported to be turning out well, and it is expected that the company will shortly be operating on a larger scale than hitherto.

At the Mother Lode mine the company has made a notable achievement in economic mining, where a cost of 50c per ton—almost a world's record—has been attained under a system of mining adopted two years ago, in which a large number of holes are drilled in pillars and benches and simultaneously fired by electricity. In his preliminary report for 1913, the provincial mineralogist describes the system adopted at a blast fired in August last, and which is said to be the lagest operation of the kind in the history of mining. The scene of the blast was a number of pillars and floors with a total height of 300 feet; 4834 holes of an average depth of 14 to 15 feet were charged with 49,050 pounds of 40 per cent anti-freezing powder; 87,-048 feet of electric wiring were used in the arrangement of the blast, the holes being connected in series of 40 to a group. To prevent any possibility of an accident, everybody was taken off the hill and three safety switches placed in the circuit. The blast was a complete success, between 400,000 and 450,000 tons being broken down.

In such a system of breaking down large quantities of mineralized rock, much waste is included, and to bring up the grade of the ore a picking belt attended by two or three men has been installed. The plan, which has been in operation for three months, has proved a success.

The B. C. Copper Company also operated during the year the Rawhide mine, the property of the New Dominion Copper company, in which the B. C. Copper company holds the controlling interest. Thirty thousand tons of ore were shipped from the Rawhide mine during the year, and development kept well ahead.

OTHER MINES

Other mines operated in the Boundary during the past year were No. 7, owned by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, who shipped from it 4,200 tons of ore; the Jewel, where a fifteen-stamp mill and cyanide plant were operated from July, handling 8,500 tons, which yielded 4,110 ounces gold; the Elkhorn, which made a small shipment; the Argo tunnel; the Sally on Wallace Mountain, which was taken over by Vancouver investors, who shipped three cars of ore, and the Carmi under option to Victoria investors.—The Province.

Donald, the boatman, had been taking the minister, total abstainer, out fishing, and was asked on his return if he had had a good day. "Na, na, the mean speerited body had nae whusky, sae I took him whaur there was nae fish." returned Donald.

Lots of people mistake being mysterious for being clever.

Chesaw Mines

What is classed as native silver was brought in by the crew Thursday evening from the Lucky Strike. The ore was encountered in the 16 foot shaft, and up to the last shot had widened out from a very narrow seam to a width of about eight inches. The metal lies in clusters well shot through the quartz body and is of a character which lends much hope among miners as to its quality. If the strike proves to be as confidently expected it will be a phenomenal one. Assay results will be anxiously awaited.

The town is frequently stirred these days over deals closing or pending. Some good big trades are on, a fact admitted by good property owners, but this week none have reached a point for public distribution. The next sixty days, The News firmly believes, will see more substantial activity among mining circles of this camp, than in any of the ten years we have been watching the clouds rise and fall on the industry's horizon in this district. The outlook was never more promising unless our judgement fails, and it really looks like business for this coming spring—and the editor has not a share of stock nor a foot of ground for sale either.

The every day grind at the Reco, where the new tunnel is being driven with the expectation of striking the gold ledge at depth, is merely a hard rock proposition just at present from which little news of general interest to the public can be extracted. The boys are making as good progress as possible in the hard body they are working through, and the face of the new drive is now in about 65 feet.

While location work was being done on the Reo (not Reco) claim northwest of town a speciman of crystalized matter was unearthed which is rare in any country. It consisted of a mass of cubes and various formed crystal formation, cemented together with a peculiar granulated crystalized matter of sandy consistence. It is not supposed to carry any metal values, but is a valuable piece in its own class.

John Benson, of Chesaw, Jas. T. Johnson and G. W. Fairweather, of Republic; and Dr. Kingston, of Grand Forks, are the lessees of the Ben Hur mine in Republic district now operating under Benson's supervision. The mine ships three cars of ore to Granby smelter every day.

Visiting the mines where the strikes are being made is a popular pastime in Chesaw just now. The Rattler attracted many curious caller's the past week.

A representative of the Monterey is back east with the interest holders paying the way for a good campaign on the group in this camp this season.

More mining claims were staked on Copper Mountain the fore part of the week.—Chesaw News.

The first condition of health is fruitful toil. Work is not a necessary evil; it is our greatest safeguard against disease and advancing old age. Some one once said to me that I looked young for my years, and wanted to know the secret of it. That is largely the secret of it—work.—Doctor Thomas Darlington.

"He's the bravest man I know. He's not afraid of any one in the world." "He must be single."

Father—How is it that I find you kissing my daughter? Answer me, sir! How is it? Young Man—Fine, sir; fine!

"Cards have ruined many a man's home." "I can sympathize with you," replied the gloomy man. "My wife plays bridge, too."

All-Stars Play Drawn Game

The Kootenay and Boundary hockey match played at Rossland last Friday was an excellent exhibition of the sport, the score being a tie 4-4. The ice was in splendid condition and good fast hockey was played all through the game. The first period went to the Kootenays, Atkins and Haddock each making a score, Morris making one score for the Boundary. In the second period, Haddock scored another for the Kootenays a half minute after the face-off and then there commenced a fast rush by the opponents to even the score, and after a good deal of hard scrimmaging Morris managed to land a second one for the Boundary. He also got another two minutes later when the goal tender ran out to check a shot and fell, causing one or two others to go down with him. Morris then got the puck and poked it into the net with no opposition, thus making the game a tie, After that neither side could find an entrance to the coveted net. The third round was also very exciting. In the first part each scored a goal, and although during the rest of the game some very fine rushes and passes were made, the count was not changed and at the finish the total score stood 4-4. As the boys expected to play another game Saturday night between Rossland and the Boundary this tie was not played off. The line-up was as follows:

Boundary		Kootenay
Donnelly	goal	Vannatar
Fisher	point	McCammon
Neil	cover point	Atkins
Trehern	rover	Sexsmith
Lynn	centre	Haddock
Bassett	right wing	Mercer

Spares—Boundary, Howey and Bloomfield; Kootenay, McDonough and McDonald.

Referee, Cook of Rossland; judge of play, Saunders, of Trail.

The hockey game for Saturday night announced at the rink during the game on Friday was cancelled as some of the Boundary boys had to go home.—Nelson News.

Willing to Tell It

The check which the comely young German woman handed in at the window of a Walnut street savings fund bank the other day was made payable to Gretchen H. Schmidt. and she had indorsed it Gretchen Schmidt. The man at the receiving teller's window called her back to rectify the mistake just as she was turning away.

"You don't deposit it quite this way," he exclaimed. "See, you have forgotten the H."

The young woman looked at her check and blushed a rosy red.

"Ach, so I half," she murmured and wrote hurriedly:

Public Lands

Victoria, B.C., March 4.—In response to a request for his policy with respect to grazing matters on public lands, the Hon. W. R. Ross, Minister of Lands, said today:

"I am particularly glad to be asked that question; for while I do not believe that the somewhat natural misunderstanding of the policy of this Department with respect to grazing on the public lands is more than a superficial and a temporary thing. I feel that the quicker and more thoroughly that misunderstanding is removed the better for the above solution of this whole grazing problem.

"So long as I remain Minister of Lands of this Department its attitude towards grazing will be this: To promote in every way possible the legitimate development of the stock industry in British Columbia. I believe that the administration of the range in this province should be based upon three fundamental principles, which are these: First of all to protect those now using the range, and those who will later use the range, in the enjoyment of this privilege. Second, to build up by Governmental co-operation a stable and successful stock industry in the province; and third, and that is also fundamental, to husband and so far as practicable to improve the carrying capacity of the range itself.

"This does not call, at least it does not call upon provincial lands, for a multiplicity of departmental regulations. It calls for the gradual evolution of a practical plan which bears in mind the welfare of the range and the welfare of the srockmen and the welfare of the stock industry.

"There will of course be no precipitate action in working out or in applying this plan, nor has precipitate action ever been contemplated. I look forward during the coming season to taking this matter up in person with the stockmen, and to have it carefully investigated by members of the Forest Branch. About a year from know I shall probably be ready to announce a definite plan of action. In the meantime I shall attempt to develop that plan above all through the co-operation of stockmen themselves, who are pioneers in developing the stock industry in British Columbia."
