Last week Henry Jolly was terribly injured, while at work in a sawmill at Havilah, Wash. He was taken to a Spokane hospital, bot died the next day. The funeral took place in Oroville last Sunday, and was attended by several friends from Greenwood.

The Star Theatre was completely filled on Saturday evening. The Africanders gave a clean, breezy and lively show, that was much appreciated by the large audience. Their orchestra provided the music for a dance, that followed the stage entertainment.

Professor Thompson of Pullman, recently visited the Boundary mines. Writing in the Spokane Review he says, that sanitation and living conditions appear, to be receiving more attention at the Mother Lode than at any other mine that he had visited.

Save your money for the Big Auction Sale, June 14th. Free Lunch.

The Bostonians will be here next Thursday, and are sure of a full house. This company is famous all over the continent, and is composed entirely of young ladies. It is the largest, and probably the best musical attraction that has ever visited Greenwood.

R. P. Williams, for about 20 years well known in Boundary and Kootenay districts as a sales representative of the Canadian Rand and Ingersoll Rand mining machinery manufacturers, recently returned to Vancouver from a business trip to the latter company's headquarters in New York city.

A. L. White has it.

H. Browning, of Victoria, purchasing agent for the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited, who some years ago filled a similar position for the British Columbia Copper Co., at Greenwood, is convalesent after a severe illness which incapacitated him for office duty for about a month.

Never take booze across the line, unless you have it concealed within your internal anatomy. The other day Big Andy Johnson and some friends autoed to Molson. They had a bottle of brandy. They drank the contents and filled the bottle with water on this side of the line. An officer at Molson searched the car, and found the bottle. He got the scent which does not convict even in Washington.

Mrs. Law, wife of W. M. Law, formerly of the Russell-Law-Caulfield company of Greenwood, died at Alice Arm, Observatory Inlet, last month. Some years ago she was a resident of Greenwood, where, as Mrs. Fuller she was well known. It is reported that Mr. Law, who recently established a mercantile business at Alice Arm, took the body to Portland, Oregon, for burial there.

E. Jacobs plans to shortly spend two or three weeks in Slocan and Ainsworth mining divisions, obtaining information relative to the progress of mining in those parts. He will leave Victoria about the middle of June and travel via Spokane and Nelson to Sandon, at which last mentioned town there will be held, on June 27, a meeting of the Western Branch of the Canadian Mining Institute, of which he is secretary.

A week ago yesterday, A. J. Wickersham, Angus McLean, Lester Armstrong and Henry Hofmear, went on a joy ride from Oroville to Fairview. That night when the auto returned to Oroville, Hofmear was dead in the car, with a bruise on the side of his head. As a result of the coroners inquest, the other occupants of the car were committed for trial. Wickersham and McLean are out on bail, and Armstrong is confined in the Okanagan county jail. The police on this side of the line are imformed that Hofmear was allright when the auto left Fairview.

One day last week Tom Hanson autoed to Oroville. He had two bottles of booze in the car and cached these in the sagebrush on this side of the line. At the line the sheriff and other officers of Oroville held up his car and searched it. They found a flask, containing two inches of Washington contraband—rye whiskey in a boot of the car. Tom had forgotten that it was there, the booze being yellow with age. For this terrible offence he was fined $50 and costs in the "land of the free." In addition he was deported, and considers he was lucky to get home with his car. Tom has appealed to Washington for a decision. The Oroville officers came across the line and found Tom's cache, leaving the bottles with the Osoyoos custom officer.

Copper at Olalla

Olalla is near Keremeos, and the following is from the Vernon News:

"Messrs. Brown and Jordan, owners of the Dolphin mine, are rejoicing over a "lucky strike" which Mr. Brown made last week on their claim. As Mr. Brown while doing his assessment work dug down from the main tunnel looking for molybdenite, he uncovered an unsuspected (in that direction) vein of beautiful copper ore. A mining man immediately motored from Copper Mountain to look at the prospect and insured them that it was indeed a bonanza, and intimated after his report engineers would be sent down at once. The mine is nicely situated, being easily of access and within 1½ miles of a railroad. The opening of the mine is expected to be the beginning of a boom in Olalla for if one mine starts, some of the others which are equally as good are bound to open up also.

The more a woman is set in her ways and opinions, the more she resents being told of it.

Western Float

Alberni uses a fog horn as a fire alarm.

J. L. Ruttan has a fox farm near Fort Fraser.

Help your local paper and you help yourself.

Nicola wheat is selling for $37 a ton at the coast.

Vanderhoof will soon have a Catholic church.

R. J. Long is the Tory candidate in the Kaslo riding.

This spring at Erickson 50 acres were planted in potatoes.

The measles returned to Vernon during the last days of May.

C. A. Bigney is developing his copper claims at Aspen Grove.

For running a gambling house in Chilliwack, a Chink was fined $75.

A postoffice has been opened at Kingsvale, 17 miles east of Merritt.

Bees are being exported from Creston, that hive of honey and fruit.

Last month John F. Dixon was killed at Cowichan lake by a falling tree.

Charles Strickland is putting up a silo, on his dairy farm near Enderby.

Hubert McInnes of New Denver has joined the University Battalion at the coast.

Jack Golume, formerly of Fernie has gone to the front, with a corps of engineers.

Fred Peters, K. C. is now city clerk of Prince Rupert, in addition to being city solicitor.

At Kelowna, Clifton Ferguson was fined $2.50 for riding his bicycle on the sidewalk.

A new salmon cannery will be built on the Skeena river. Fred Mitchell will be manager.

The Vancouver Fish Co. has sent three vessels to Prince Rupert, and will operate out of that great port.

In one month this spring, 4,000 tons of potatoes were inspected, and shipped out of the Chilliwack valley.

Country merchants lose a great deal of business, because they do not advertise enough in the local papers.

Kenny Rood was fined $5, because he did not report a slight accident that occurred while he was driving an auto.

The booze business will be extra good in Vernon this summer, and the hotels should become independent of compensation.

Recently in four days, more than a half a million pounds of halibut were landed in Prince Rupert, and sold for a little over $135,000.

Joe Christian died in Kelowna last month, aged 87 years. He was the first settler in the Okanagan, taking up land in 1861.

Mrs. Harvey of Ridgeton, Newfoundland has knitted 200 pairs of socks for the soldiers at the front. She is a sister of Mrs. Charles Rendell of Vernon.

Jimmie Jackson is the only Indian who carries a license to run a steamboat on the Yukon river. Why are so many Indians in the north called Jackson?

Death duties on the estate of C. W. R. Thompson, of Victoria and Douglas Lake, enrich the province by $99,000. The estate is worth a little over a million dollars.

Dr. Bonnell who is with the Fifth Medical Corps in Greece, is visiting friends in Fernie, having obtained a leave of absence for a short time. He says that poker is scarce in Greece.

The editor of the Blairmore Enterprise apologized last week, because his paper was late. It took him so long to read the Coleman Bulletin, that he could not get his own paper out on time.

J. G. Whiteacre the piano man of Vancouver, owns 3,000 acres of land on the Stuart river, north of Chilco. He is stocking his big ranch with cattle this summer, and not one of them can play the piano.

At Dale's Meadows near Vanderhoof, Neil Gething has planted 70 acres with oats, wheat, barley and vegetables. Neil was one of the pioneers of the Slocan, and went north when New Denver became too civilized.

Coyotes are becoming a great pest in the upper Yukon, and some means should be used to stop them from eating up all the rabbits in that country. When the rabbits are gone the fox and lynx will follow suit, and the Indians will have to eat snowballs for a living.

The Merritt Herald says that months ago Alex Lucas, M.P.P., promised that the government would put up half the cost to build a wagon road to the Aberdeen mine. So far the government has done nothing, and the Aberdeen Mining Co. had to build the road themselves in order to market their ore.

Ideas of a Plain Man

There are four great cries of feeling which all human interest has centered, and will to the end of time; four spots in the soul's career where it bursts into flame.

They are: Falling in love, getting religion, getting drunk, and the madness of fighting.

These are the four keys of history.

They will, or some one or more of them will, explain every human action.

They are those climaxes of life when a man is more than a man, or less.

The thirst for them is as inborn as the thirst for water.

The child play them, the mature seek them, the old recall them.

These are the four wines that poets drink.

These are the four passions that leads some souls to heaven and others to hell.

They underlie the four great institutions of the race; love makes the family, religious emotion the church, intoxication the feast, and battle-madness the army.

These are the four pillars, two of fire and two of smoke, burning forever at the four corners of the earth.

These have been men's gods (true and false.) Perhaps this is why they whom the gods love are said to "die first,
And then whose hearts are dry as summer dust
Burn to the socket.

AT Verdun the sun set for the Hun, and the red grass grew all around.

MOSBY is dead, and the North is perfectly safe from his kind of raiders.

DID Noah have any booze on the Ark? It is reported that he belonged to the wets.

IT looks as though Brewster had roped the B. C. government? Can he get it into the corral?

NOAH must have been a great poker player. When he sailed for Ararat he took a pair of every kind with him.

EVEN if Joshua was on earth today, we do not think that he could make the Vancouver Sun stand still for three days.

IN this province we need more justice, and fewer laws. Too many third rate lawyers wobling and squabbling in the political foggy sea.

THE use of alcohol does not shorten life, but its abuse does. So does the abuse of meat, salt, water, and everything else that we eat or drink.

SINCE the war all stock and material used by printers and publishers has advanced from 30 to 3000 per cent. Little wonder that so many papers are going out of business.

IN Rossland a store advertises to sell radium hosiery for women at 35 cents a pair. Must mean radiant, as there is not enough of radium in the world to even make one pair of hosiery.

ABOUT 60 years ago Jim Hill left Canada with $10 in his pocket. He worked his way on a boat from Buffalo to Chicago, and sent the $10 back to his mother. He died the other day worth $200,000,000. That shows what becomes of some boys who are good to their mothers.

NOT long ago a man died in Holland from eating too much hardware. He used to fill up on nuts, bolts, slate pencils, nails, coins, screws, hooks, tin tacks and cold chisels. Such diet should be prohibited by law. It is too difficult to masticate, although it will, for a short-time, give you an iron constitution.

B. C. Mines

There is a deal on for the Good-enough near Sandon.

The Aberdeen Mine Co. has opened fine offices in Merritt.

The Yankee Girl at Ymir is shipping to the Greenwood smelter.

The San Poil at Republic is shipping 600 tons a week to Trail.

The Granby is looking for copper properties in the Nicola Valley.

Zinc has been found on the Mammoth claim, 23 miles from Hope.

A representative of the Guggs has been examining mines near Hope.

At present the principal products of Poplar Creek are potatoes and butter.

A rich gold strike is reported at Hixon Creek, 35 miles south of Fort George.

Jack Foran of Rossland, has gone to Lima, Peru, to act as foreman for a copper mine.

The copper mine at Loon Lake has increased its force, and is shipping to the Greenwood smelter.

At the St. Patrick group, about four miles from Argenta there is a good showing of lead, silver and zinc.

Good showings are reported from the Piker and Plunger, two claims on the Mirror lake road, near Kaslo.

The Grant mine near Golden, will be operated this summer. It was recently experted by W. B. Dornberg of Spokane.

At the Lone Pine, Republic, new machinery is being installed, and the mine will soon be shipping 250 daily to Northport.

The 22nd annual meeting, of the Western Branch of the Canadian Mining Institute, will be held in Sandon, on June 27.

A 30 day option for something like $300,000 has been given to an eastern broker by the owners of the Union mine in Franklin camp.

The smelter at Ladysmith will resume operations when a sufficient supply of ore is in sight. It is one of the best smelters on the coast, and has been shut down five years.

The manager of the Crows Nest Pass Coal Co. at Fernie, has more orders for coal than he can fill, owing to the scarcity of miners. A rise in wages might relieve the situation.

At the Florence in Ainsworth camp, 5,000 feet of development work has been done, and three big chutes of ore shown up at an average depth of 300 feet. The amount of lead zinc and silver ore in sight is estimated to be worth $1,500,000.

Merrick & Thompson recently shipped some free gold ore from their claims on Ladner creek, not many miles from Hope. The first grade ore went $1600 in gold to the ton, and the second, $262. A stamp mill will be built at the property this summer.

The Hope mine at Republic has been leased for two years. The royalties to be paid are as follows, on net smelter returns: On $15 ore, 10 per cent; $15 to $25 ore 15 per cent; $25 to $35 ore, 20 per cent; $35 to $45 ore, 25 per cent; $45 ore and over, 30 per cent.

Adjoining the slag dump of the Greenwood smelter, there is a promising silver and lead claim called the Pleasant View, principally owned by Owen Boyer. It is now under lease to Herb Neil and his partners, and in a short time they will begin shipping to Trail.

The Lamefoot at Curlew lake, owned by Dutch Jake and others of Spokane is about to be taken over by Day Bros., of Wallace, Idaho. The Granby had a bond on the Lamefoot some years ago. This mine carries large bodies of fluxing iron, containing high gold values.

After being closed down for 28 years work has been resumed on the Stump Lake mine, situated about half-way between Kamloops and Nicola. A 100 ton mill will be built. The concentrates will be hauled by wagon 25 miles to Nicola, and shipped to Trail. Seattle capital is working the property. The ore is mixed sulphide, worth about $10 a ton.
