Richter-Henderson

A very pretty wedding took place on Christmas Day at Ingram Ranch, Midway, the contracting parties being Joseph Richter of Midway, and Miss Gertrude Henderson of Birmingham, England.

The bride, who was very prettily attired in ivory silk floral net over creme merve silk, trimmed with pearls, veil and orange blossoms, was given away by Rev. A. M. Lloyd, Vicar of Phoenix. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. W. Simpson, Vicar of Greenwood. The duties of best man were undertaken by Hans Richter, brother of the bridegroom. The bride was chaperoned by Mrs. A. M. Lloyd, the vicarage of Phoenix. The Misses Nita, Maud and Jeane Richter wore very pretty white dresses with rose color sashes.

The wedding was of a very quiet nature, and in addition to the above, the only guests present were Mrs. Hans Richter of Keremeos, the Misses Esther and Mary Richter and Mrs. Ashby of Greenwood.

The bridegroom presented a diamond ring and a set of furs to the bride. The bride gave the bridegroom a pearl pin. The presents were numerous, including two thoroughbred saddle horses given by Hans Richter. The honeymoon will be spent at Spokane, where the bride is very well known. The happy couple will be at home, January 3rd.—Com.

B. C. Mines

The Whitehorse Star makes the following reference to the mining situation in Atlin district: "Despite the shortage of labor in the Atlin mining district the gold output for the season has been greater than for any year since the big rush in 1898. Efficiency has been greatly hampered this year because of the fact that many of the experienced hydraulic men have enlisted for war service and new men have had to be trained to take their places, thus causing a serious loss to operators. Despite this, however, everyone in the district prospered last season. Things have been on the up grade since the Summer of 1913. In that year the minimum of output was reached since the days of discovery. It took a good deal of optimism to hold through the lean years but those who did are now repaid. Three rediscoveries were made last summer. On one creek there were no less than twenty small operators at work, and all are making money. Quartz operations will begin on a large scale next year if the people interested can gain facilities for treating their ore.

The Merritt Herald reports that the Kettle Valley Railway is at work constructing a spur to the Diamond Vale mine. The new washhouse at the mine is in course of construction. It seems apparent from everything that the Merritt Colliers, Ltd., are doing at the Diamond Vale property that the company intends its work to be substantial and permanent. The shipping of coal to the coast markets should commence in the course of a few days, as it is stated by the railway management that the spur now under construction will be ready by that time. Thus far the mine has only been supplying coal to local consumers.

The Copper Chief mine at Kootata, on the Arrow Lakes, owned by Thomas Wilson, E. H. McDaniels and S. Taylor, shipped a large load of copper ore to the Trail smelter last week.

Twenty-eight mines with a total tonnage of 5,252 gross tons, was shipped to the Trail smelter from Dec. 8th to 14th.

The Monitor of Port Alberni, and Jennie Bell of Ymir, are two new shippers to the Trail smelter.

A Record Shipment

United States Counsul Alger, of Fernie, has passed through his office within the past month, records of seventy-five cars of lead bullion shipped from Trail by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company to the East Chicago Refinery. These seventy-five cars of bullion represent a total value of $800,000, or $11,000 per car. About a year ago the territory of the Fernie consular district was enlarged so far as to take in Trail, Nelson and Greenwood, which has thrown a great deal more business through the Fernie office, and for the year 1916, there has been a total of [illegible] passed by Consul Alger of $[illegible]. With all the improvements and additions that have been added to the Consolidated plant at Trail, that institution cannot also treat all the ores that are turned out in southeast British Columbia, although the output of the B. C. Copper Company [illegible] formerly sent over the line for smelter treatment and refining, is now being treated, under contract at the Trail plant, and that institution is enlarging its refining capacity as fast as possible in order to take care of practically all the output of the mines within railway reach of Trail. The constantly increasing demand for copper and lead, resulting from the continuation of the European war, has placed the mining and smelting industries of British Columbia upon a basis which will mean a continuation of prosperity to that industry for a long time after peace has been declared, if not continually.

MOTHER SUPERIOR

Says Vinol Creates Strength

Rosary Hill Home, Hawthorne, N. Y. —"I have used Vinol for many run-down, weak or emaciated patients with benefit. One young woman was so weak and ill she could hardly creep to my door for aid. I supplied Vinol to her liberally and in a month I hardly recognized her. She was strong, her color charming and her cheeks rounded out."—MOTHER M. ALPHONSA LATHROP, O. S. D.

We guarantee Vinol to sharpen the appetite, aid digestion, enrich the blood and create strength.

A Two-and-a-Half Cent Coin

The institution of a two-and-a-half cent piece is hailed with joy in the United States as a practical method of cutting the cost of living. It is estimated that this new coin will save the consumers millions of dollars in providing the right charge in such articles as are now sold at three cents or two for five. People are now charged a whole cent because of the lack of fractional currency to meet situations which involve the half cent. They must either buy what they do not need and thus waste money or lose the discount by not buying in double quantity. The idea of the half cent is both bright and eminently practical. Why should we not have such a coin in Canada? Surely we need it as badly, at least as the Unites States. Here is something the government might do to reduce the cost of living without offending anybody.—Ottawa Citizen.

A 100-Mile Per Hour Slip

Remarkable details concerning the trial trip of the new Italian warship have been published in the Italian press, which is fitted with oil engines, is capable of covering over one hundred miles an hour while travelling at full speed. The foam of the big waves it throws up makes a track several miles long behind the ship, and the disturbance is so great that it is claimed no submarine could venture within effective radius, or if one did any torpedoes fired would become the sport of the waves and be thrown far away from their target. Whether that would happen or no, it would certainly be a feat for a submarine to torpedo a vessel moving at 100 miles an hour.—London Chronicle.

Good Advice

It does anybody good to get away from home occasionally and mingle with the outside world. It serves as an elixir of life. It puts one in touch with what others are doing and how they do things. Too many are content to remain at home and only too often they really come to that point where they believe that their home town is the only pebble on the beach; that it is the only town where things worth while are being accomplished. There never was a bigger fool idea. Get it out of your system. Change your viewpoint. The sooner the better.

Loaned From Vaudeville

The 1917 Ford will not be nearly so noisy. You see, they've taken the brass band off the radiator.—Ex.

Positive Signs

Out in New Mexico even public signs come direct to the point. They do not waste any time in wondering how the reader will feel about it.

In a garage at Albuquerque is posted:

"Don't smoke round the tank! If your life isn't worth anything, gasoline is!"

And on the wall of a barber's shop at Taos is prominently displayed:

"If you can't raise fifteen cents, raise whiskers!"

Recover From This?

Do you know what a "Brachydiastenalolhermumadigascarensis" is? You don't? Well its an embryo sphenifanailes skesiaforid pelicepod of the paleozic age, the professor of geology at the University of Chicago told his openmouth students. No one questioned his statement.

The Bandages Slipped

A soldier whose head and face were heavily swated in bandages, and who obviously had had a bad time, was being feelingly sympathized with by the solicitous lady.

"And were you wounded in the head, my poor fellow."

"No, ma'am," Tommy replied, "I was wounded in the ankle, but the bandages slipped."—Answers.

The Birds In Winter

When the snow comes the birds may starve. A small supply of grain, or even sweeping of haymows, would relieve their distress. Save your crumbs for them. They like bones, pieces of suet, fat meat fastened to trees by wire; cracked rice, mixed birdseed, cracked corn, hempseed, nuts, bread, and sunflower seeds.

A K. C.

A countryman visiting Dublin for the first time took a seat in a tram. Being next to a pompous looking gentleman, he began conversation in a rather free-and-easy style. At length the mighty one said:

"My good man, reserve your conversation for one of your own equals. I'd have you know I'm a K. C."

At this the countryman stood up with outstretched hands, exclaiming: "Shake hands, namesake; I'm a Casey myself."

I have often seen, with an anguish of mind infinitely sad, the souls of animals appear in the depths of their eyes,—the soul of a cat, the soul of a dog, the soul of a monkey,—as sorrowful for an instant as the soul of a child, revealing itself suddenly in a look, searching my own soul with tenderness, supplication or terror. And I, perhaps, have had more pity for these souls of animals than for those of my brothers, because they are without speech and incapable of coming out of their half-night; and, especially, because they are more humble and more disdained. PIERRE LOTI.

Every animal may safely ask for simple justice. It is man alone who must plead at last for mercy.

Do You Talk Directly Into The Telephone?

You should. When your mouth is close to the telephone, you do not have to talk loudly, and you can be heard more easily and distinctly.

The natural conversational tone, spoken directly into the mouthpiece, carries clearly to any local telephone and to most Long Distance points.

Telephone transmission is a matter of voice direction, not voice force.

Float

Float is not a periodical. It is a book containing 86 illustrations all told, and is filled with sketches and stories of western life. It tells how a gambler cashed in after the flush days of Sandon; how it rained in New Denver long after Noah was dead; how a parson took a drink at Bear Lake in early days; how justice was dealt in Kaslo in '93; how the saloon man outprayed the women in Kalamazoo, and graphically depicts the roamings of a western editor among the tenderfeet in the cent belt. It contains the early history of Nelson and a romance of the Silver King mine. In it are printed three western poems, and dozens of articles too numerous to mention. Send for one before it is too late. The price is 25 cents, postpaid to any part of the world. Address all letters to
