THE "LIL GAL" CAUGHT

In Great Falls Jail With Her Two Lovers.

TELLS A CUNNING TALE

Touching Interviews Betwe n the Impr's-oned Lovers—More Trouble is Expected Shortly.

The Chinese girl who was stolen from Lun Foo of Kuskonook has turned up at Great Falls, Mont., where she and her two Chinese companions are in jail for entering the country without permits. They were arrested at Bonner's Ferry. The girl gave her name to the authorities of Great Falls as Koo Wong. She is described as young and attractive and she has told her trouble to Chief of Police Guerin of Great Falls, who has taken interest in her case. She says that she was born in San Francisco of rich but well-meaning parents, and about two years ago they sailed for China, leaving her in the care of Wan Chung, the Chinese merchant, now of Revelstoke, B. C., who claims that she is his wife. But Wan Chung, after he had engaged her youthful affections, proved to be drunken brute and, she says, frequently beat her. Then she wrote to Fong Sing and Joe Wing to come up from San Francisco and take her home, where she could earn a living as a seamstress and be rid of the hated attentions of Wan Chung. They obeyed her request and when she was arrested at this point they were taking her back to 'Frisco. This does not agree with the story The Miner picked up at Kuskonook, in which it was shown that the girl was sold by Wan Chung of Revelstoke to Lun Foo of Kuskonook for $400 and was afterwards stolen from him and taken by two Chinamen to Bonner's Ferry.

The Great Falls correspondent of the Anaconda Standard has the following about the girl and her companion:

"Koo Wong is the name of the entrancing fair Chinese maiden who languishes at the city jail and between meals coos to her lover, Wong Lee, alias Wong Sing. She is a dainty maiden of 17 years, and though her feet betray the fact that she did not rise from the mandarin class of her native country, the passion which burns in her almond-shaped eyes shows that she is a good thing and that Wong is to be pitied.

"So far as can be learned from outside sources, Wong Lee and Joe Wing left San Francisco last spring for British Columbia, and without the papers which Uncle Sam requires of the heathen Chinee and which permit him to return into this country. Through the summer they wandered through the northern country seeking a location for a laundry. At last they struck the town of Rose Lake, B. C., (probably Revelstoke) and there, after a few days, they located. Wong had his own reasons for making the halt. In his strolls through the town he had espied the fair slave or wife of Wan Chung, dealer in teas and Chinese crockery. He tarried and his partner, Joe Wing, was overcome by Wong's importuning and stayed also.

"It is not necessary to detail the events of the courtship. Suffice it to say that Wong was hot stuff and a seven-time winner. Chung was old and the maiden's affections, if she ever had any for him, had waned, and when Wong pleaded with her to flee, she was willing. But senility even is not to be easily baffled. Chung got on his work by wire and the Bonner's Ferry people who received his telegram did not hesitate to forward it to this city, where Inspector Ringwald took hold of the case, and with the aid of Chief Guerin, landed their prey.

"Koo has spent the time since she landed in jail in bewailing her fate, and this evening begged that she be permitted to see her lover, Wong Lee. The request was granted and the meeting was affecting in the extreme.

'The officials are holding the heathen until they receive further orders for their disposition. The men are mortally afraid of what may happen to them, as Wong belongs to a different Tong, and they fear that if they are taken across the line death will be their fate. At first the officers were inclined to believe that Wong had abducted Koo by force, but after the events of today they are more inclined to look upon the affair as a transplanted love story."

This also does not agree with what The Miner learned about the girl.

She was sold and then stolen from her purchaser, and there is no love story about it. Wong Hee, who is known as Foo, the gambler, and Joe Wing, who are with her, took the girl away from Kuskonook, not from Revelstoke, or as the Standard calls it Rose lake, the girl's pronunciation probably being defective.

The fact that all the parties in the case are Chinese makes it very difficult, if not impossible, to get at the true inwardness of the matter, but one thing stands out clearly. There will be trouble yet among the Chinamen over the willful damsel. This was predicted from the first by The Miner and the Anaconda Standard gives the following reasons for sharing that belief:

"Whatever may be the true story of the affair, one thing is certain, and that is the evident brewing of trouble among the Chinese Six companies over the escape or abduction of the girl. Chief Guerin, who was brought up in San Francisco, and is more or less familiar with the working of the Chinese companies, is positive that the Chinaman who was here, Wong Lee or Wong Sing, is a member of one of the companies, whom he serves as a "high binder" detective, hatchet man and ward heeler. He wears certain articles which signify his position and other details point to the same conclusion. The girl and he at first claimed the relation of father and daughter, but they have abandoned that plea and have practically admitted that Wong Lee and Jo Wing went from San Francisco at some one's order to effect the release or abduction of the girl. The fact that they brought the girl by this route iinstead of taking her direct to the coast was probably done because there are members of the same tong in Helena who would assist in concealing the flight of the girl."

In the meantime several Chinese witnesses, including Lun Foo of Kuskonook from whom the girl was stolen, are on their way to Great Falls, and interesting developments are expected at the forthcoming trial.

C. P. R. AND GRAND TRUNK.

A Letter From Sir William Van Horne to Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson.

Toronto, Oct. 15.—Following is a Toronto Evening Telegram special cable, dated London, Oct. 15: The Financial News publishes a letter from Sir William C. Van Horne to Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, dated Montreal, September 1st, regarding the rate war. In this it is stated that the Canadian Pacific railway company was indisputably the party attacked as to the North Bay line dispute, and the disagreement between the two roads over the price charged the C. P. R. for running rights over the Northern branch of the G. T. R. The writer says the question has no relation whatever to the transccontinental rate matter. Regarding the use of the line, owning the line or making a shorter road, he insists that no one can be permitted to determine the question for the C. P. R. The question he continued, is not a subject for arbitration. The Financial News expresses the opinion that if Sir William Van Horne refuses much longer to arbitrate, there will be a grave suspicion that he is swayed more by personal feeling than by real regard for the interests of the shareholders of the C. P. R..

Referring to the same subject, the Financial Times says the C. P. R. is not so utterly unreasonable in its attitude as would be inferred from the words uttered by Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson in his recent speech.

GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Miss Beatrice Hoyt won the womens golf championship, beating Miss Maude K. Wetmore, five up and three to play.

WRECK OF THE MOHEGAN

The Loss of Life at Present Unknown.

THERE WERE 116 SAVED

The Steamer Sank Twenty Minutes After She Struck on the Rocks—Stories of the Wreck.

Falmouth, Eng., Oct. 15.—Only 31 survivors reached shore last night from the wrecked steamer Mohegan, but a number of others reached land this morning. One of the 116 passengers saved this morning is a lady. All the survivors are in a pitiable condition and some of them have been badly injured by waves and rocks and are suffering from bruises and torn and fractured limbs. It is announced from Port Houstock, Cornwall, that 45 survivors of the Mohegan have been landed by the life savers of that place. Five dead persons have also been recovered. Fourteen members of the crew of the Mohegan have been found alive on the rocks. One of the survivors, Mr Geo. Maule, of New York, was interviewed after he had sufficiently recovered to be able to tell the story of the wreck. He said: "I am a shipper of horses, employed by the American Transport company. We left London on Thursday and all went well until 7 o'clock yesterday evening, when most of the passengers were at dinner. The steamer was going at full speed, and suddenly, we heard a loud crash which seemed to denote we had collided with some object. Just then we rushed on deck and found that the Mohegan was on the rocks between the Manacles and the Lowlands in the vicinity of the Lizard. Orders were given immediately to lower the boats. Her captain stood on the bridge and perfect order prevailed among the officers and crew. The steamer, however, immediately began to settle by the head. Two boats were launched and women were sent away on these boats, but whether they reached land or not I do not know. I managed to secure a life belt and jumped overboard in company with the chief officer of the Mohegan, Mr. Couch. He made me take off my coat and shoes. Soon after that we were parted from each other. When I was leaving the vessel a little girl begged piteously that I try and save her, as she did not want to die yet, but I was powerless to help her. Eventually I caught hold of a plank which was floating and I clung to it for seven hours and a half, when I was picked up by a tug. I could not have lasted much longer. I cannot explain how the accident occurred. Whole matter is not very clear to me."

From other sources it was learned that the Mohegan sank about 20 minutes after she ran on the rocks. William Moore seaman, of the Mohegan, belonging to London, was among the men who succeeded in reaching port Houstock. He said the vessel struck forward on the starboard side of her bow and sank head first, her stern rising right up in the air. Only the smokestack and foremast of the Mohegan can now be seen above water. The reports received as to the number of survivors is extremely contradictory, even at this late hour.

A FIRST CLASS VESSEL.

New York, Oct. 15.—A. Franklin, of the Atlantic Transport company, when seen said.: "There is no truth in the report that the Mohegan boilers were defective and her condition not satisfactory. The vessel was in first class condition. We do not believe the accident was caused by any defect in her machinery or boilers.

SAD SCENES.

London, Oct. 15 —Sad scenes were witnessed today at the London office of the Atlantic Transport company, to which the wrecked steamer Mohegan belonged. A number of women fainted when the worst news became known. There has been a constant stream of telegraph boys running to and from the office seeking information or taking messages to anxious enquirers.

THIRTY-THREE OF CREW SAVED

London, Oct. 15.—The officers and crew of the Mohegan numbered 96 and of these 33 are known to have been saved. The body of Mr. H. A. Baxter, one of the passengers has been recovered. The officers of the steamship company were busy until night answering inquiries. They still hope that the steamer's boats may have succeeded in saving others of the passengers.

WENT DOWN WITH HIS SHIP.

Falmouth, Eng., Oct. 15.—From the best evidence obtainable at St. Keverine, it appears that the Mohegan sank five minutes after she struck the rocks She was going at full speed She struck twice, stopped and rapidly settled into the water As the captain and the executive officers of the steamer went down with her, it has been impossible thus far to ascertain how she got out of her course, as Falmouth light and the coast were visible Among the incidents recited is the escape of the Pembertons. Mr. Pemberton jumped into a life boat, his wife threw him their two children, then she leaped into the boat herself and thus the whole famliy were saved.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

New York, Oct. 15.—F. W. Lockwood and Mrs. Amedlia Crumbrecht, whose names appear in the list of the Mohegan's passengers, are father and daughter. They reside in Stamford, Conn., where Mrs. Lockwood now is. Nothing has yet been heard of them. Mr. Lockwood is a wealthy oil merchant and dealer in petroleum at 81 New street, this city.

THE INDIAN OUTBREAK.

Those Who Engaged in it Must be Given up.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 15.—A Walker, Minnesota, special to the Pioneer Press says: The Indians, including two delegates from the hostile camp, have had their councils with Commissioner Jones, but it is hard to see where any positive progress has been made. In one respect the authoritis probably gained an advantage yeserday. The Indians tried to consolidate all collateral questions in one issue. The commissioner declined to allow this and told the Indians very plainly that if they would get together and agree as to what they really wanted he would endeavor to settle their grievances as satisfactorily as possible for the majority under the law, but the men wanted by the marshall must be surrendered without regard to the other qusetions.

IN THE LORD MAYOR'S SHOW.

London, Oct. 15.—One of the leading features of the mayor's procession this year will be a car emblematic of Anglo-Saxon union. Britannia and Columbia will be the central figures, being surrounded by the British colonies.

STEAD IS IN RUSSIA.

The Czar is Sincere in his Desire For Peace M. Poliedonostoff is Opsosed to the Idea.

London, Oct. 15 —William T. Stead, who is making a tour of the European capital in behalf of the Daily News, to ascertain the attitude of the various countries towards the czar's disarmament, has arrived in St. Petersburg. From there he writes that the disheartening suggestions of sceptical pessimists are unfounded. There is, he says, no humbug about the proposal. The czar is entirely in earnest. Neither M. de Witte, minister of finance, nor M. Poliedonostoff, procurator general of the Holy Synod, nor Count Muravieff, minister of foreign affairs, was the author of the proposal. which was due to the personal initiative of the czar. He imposed his will on his ministers. Mr. Stead adds "The scheme was conceived in a mind imbued from childhood with the horror of war and the passion for peace which distinguished the czar's father. It was fostered continually by the increasing evidence of the fatuous suicidal policy of 'beggar my neighbor' and found congenial environment in the personal and domestic entourage of the czar and was finally launched with the spendid audacity of youth."

M. de Witte welcomes the proposal in the hope of curbing the ever increasing demands of militarism. M. Poliedonostoff is not enthusiastic over it. Count Muravieff will do his master's bidding. Mr. Stead concludes his letter with the statement that all the governments with the exception of three or four have responded favorably to the proposal. The reply of the British government has not yet been received in St. Petersburg.

THE PARIS PLOT.

Newspapers Declared the Report was Pure Invention.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The anti-revisionist papers regard the reported discovery of a military plot against the government as being pure invention.

The Figaro says it is informed that the French generals agree in declaring that their duty is to show absolute obedience to the government.

The Gaulois classes the affair as a "conspiracy without conspirators," but in spite of this, the papers which announced the conspiracy insist upon the exactness of their information.

The Petite Republique Francaise case points out that there has been no official denial of the reported conspiracy.

The Aurore asserts that the government received warning of the plot from 10 different sources.

FRANCE MUST COMPLY

With British Demands in Upper Egypt

OR THERE WILL BE WAR

The British Authorities Said to be Making Preparations For Hostilities—France no Match For Britain.

London, Oct. 15.—The week opened with an ominous rattling of sabares over Fashoda and ended with the rumblings of a revolutionary volcano in Paris. The situation arising out of the question between Great Britain and France, as to the right of occupation of Fashoda is extremely grave. Everything hinges on the nature of the report of Major Marchand, the French commander at Fashoda, which is now on its way to Paris from Khartoum, owing to the courtesy of the British goyvernment in permitting one of Marchand's officers to use the British line of communication.

The evacuation of Fashoda by the French must, however, take place, if war between Great Britain and France is to be averted, as the Marquis of Salisbury has nailed his colors to the mast and cannot recede from the position he has taken up, and he has received the unanimous support of the country. The clear, strong speeches of the liberal leaders, Lord Rosebery and Mr. Herbert Henry Asquith, coming at this critical moment, were very important in that they demonstrated to the world that the liberal party is solidly with the government in the stand the latter has taken on the Soudan question.

The Speaker, the organ of the liberal party, this week refers plainly to the impossibility of relinquishing the British claims and points out that if it comes to war, it will not be merely for Fashoda, but for the maintenance of Great Britain's place in the world, plus her undoubted rights. The moderate thinking section of the French press is earnestly urging a peaceful arrangement of the affair. The paper candidly admit that France is no match for Great Britain in the event of war. There has been a great deal of talk here about the possibility of war with France, and various preparations upon the part of the British goverment are reported to have been made. For instance, it is announced that a leading small arms firm at Birmingham was asked this week whether it was prepared to turn out 1000 magazine rifles weekly. The significance of this will be appreciated when it is pointed out that the British government works are alone capable of turning out 4000 magazine rifles weekly.

ROSEBERY'S SPEECH.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The Figaro discusses at some length the speech delivered by Lord Rosebery at an agricultural dinner at Epsom on Wednesday and analyzes the liberal leader's utterances critically. It regards the speech as a blunder and accuses Lord Rosebery of talking like a politician and not like a statesman.

HELD FOR MURDER.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 15.—The mystery surrounding the murder last Monday of 16 year old Daisy Smith, whose body was found near her home at Selinas grove by her father riddled with shot and with a gaping knife wound in her neck, was cleared yesterday by the confession of Edward Krissinger, who was arrested on suspicion soon after the discovery of the body. Krissinger says that the girl had jilted him and that he had killed her.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

London, Oct. 15.—It is announced here that in order to mark his satisfaction with his daughter, Lady Curzon, of Kedleston, the first American vicerine of India, Mr. L. Z. Leiter, of Chicago, is to present her husband, Lord Curzon, the new viceroy of India, with another London residence in the heart of the diplomatic quarter.

GLASS MAKERS STRIKE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—The window glass plants throughout the United States failed to start the season's operations at midnight. Fires were blocked and many may be extinguished and 15,000 workers who have been looking forward to a general resumption on October 15, are forced to remain idle. The strike is for an advance in the wages of the cutters and flatteners, but it is really the result of a fight between the Knights of Labor and the American Federation of Labor.

WHERE PROTECTION IS NEEDED.

If the fact that the Northport smelter is situated in Northport, in the state of Washington, should vitiate the sale of the Le Roi property so that the B. A. C. cannot possess what it purchased, it will be high time to take action looking to the protection of citiens of the province. British subjects here enjoy no privileges that are not given freely to Americans. They can prospect and stake mining properties and own and work them without question, all that is required of them being compliance with the regulations in this respect. In the neighboring state of Washington such privileges are denied to Canadians. They can prospect if they wish, but they cannot stake or own mining property by right of discovery. They can, however, by declaring their intention of becoming citizens of the United States and forswearing their allegiance to the Queen and country, buy claims and own them by purchase. Under their interpretation of the law, the minority stockholders of the Le Roi hold that the B. A. C. has no legal status in Washington state and that it cannot possess the Northport smelter. If this be so and British capitalists are in this way deprived of what they purchased and paid for, then it is wise to enquire how far it is desirable to deal with American mine owners in the future.

There is a desire everywhere throughout the country to live in harmony with the people of the United States and to work as far as possible for mutual advancement and profit, but the Americans have studiously sought to have all the advantage upon their side. The provincial government has it in its power to enact that no alien shall locate, work or own a mining claim in this province and the Dominion government has power to impose an export duty upon ore, and if the people begin an agitation for legislation of this kind they will secure it. This country is not by any means at the mercy of the United States and is amply able to devise such protective laws as will give it the full enjoyment and profit of its resources, and this transaction of the Northport smelter if it be persisted in, will go a long way towards arousing the people to demand a law which will place American mining men here on the same footing as the law places Canadian mining men in Washington.

HOW TO GET A HIGH SCHOOL.

It is the desire of every man to have his children as thoroughly educated as possible and it is the duty devolving upon the state to provide full facilities to this end. That the state can be depended upon to make every provision in this direction is well known and the lack or otherwise of educational facilities is dependent upon the communities themselves. There is need in Nelson of a high school. To have their children instructed in the higher branches which give a finish to the public school course, parents have had to send their children to Vancouver or Victoria. All this trouble and expense could be avoided and a high school could be secured for Nelson by compliance with a very simple regulation. As soon as there are twenty pupils in a district who have passed the examination the province is bound to supply the high school grant of $2000 to furnish accommodation in the higher classes. This being the case it behooves parents to have their children instructed with a view to passing the entrance examination. These examinations, under the regulations of the department of education, will be held in the city and if 20 children pass them a high school will be at once provided. This is very simple and can be easily carried out.

THE HEROISM OF THE POOR.

How different was the conduct of the officers and men of the Mohegan, when that vessel was cast away, compared with the cowardly selfishness of the officers and crew of the Bourgoyne, the French liner. The Englishmen and Americans who made up the crew of the Mohegan, stood to their posts like men and gave their lives to save those for whom they were responsible. The captain is said to have maintained his position on the bridge after the ship struck and thence gave his orders with much coolness. These orders were carried out by the men as promptly as they could be under the distressing circumstances. The steamer sank rapidly after the fatal contact with the rock and it was impossible to lower all the boats, but some of them were got out and scores who would otherwise have been lost were taken safely ashore. Many of the crew made no attempt to save themselves in their anxiety to get the women into the boats, and when the ship plunged bow first under the waves the captain and his officers went with her. They that admire heroic action, which is not an attribute of the great and is best exemplified by the humble and lowly, must feel a throb of compassion when they read how these rough men went calmly to their deaths, giving us a splendid example of that great love of which the Saviour spoke when he said, "What greater love can a there be than this, that a man gives up his life for his friends?"

PAY YOUR ROAD TAX.

It matters not what taxes the citizen may hand into the treasurer, if he neglect to pay his road tax, he will not be permitted to vote at the municipal elections. This tax amounts to $2 and every resident over 21 years of age is liable. Those who take an interest in municipal affairs, and every ratepayer in the city should be in that position, should see that his name is on the voters list and know that he is qualified to vote by paying the road tax with his other taxes. Nelson has become an important point, and, as the city increases in business and wealth, municipal management will be a much different matter to what it is now The public works of the place will have to keep pace with its growth and these will require the expenditure of large sums, increasing annually. The best business men in the town will be needed in the council in the future to govern it on business principles and in the public interest. In the hands of the ratepayers will be the responsibility of electing these men and therefore, the ratepayers should make certain that when they present themselves to vote they will not be turned away with the remark, "You cannot vote, having neglected to pay your road tax."

A HIGH SCHOOL FOR NELSON.

W. Burns, School Inspector, Speaks of Difficulties in the Way.

Mr. William Burns, school inspector for the Kootenays, arrived in Nelson on Saturday from a trip of inspection through East Kootenay. Shortly after his arrival, a Miner reporter had a talk with him about the possiblities and prospects of a high school in Nelson, at present there being none nearer than Vancouver

Mr. Burns was of opinion that the remedy is largely in the hands of the parents of the school children. The government could make no move in the matter until the Nelson school could show 20 pupils who had passed the high school entrance examination. There would be no need for the children to go to Vancouver to pass this examination, as one over which Mr. Burns will preside, will be held at Nelson next Easter.

At present, Mr. Burns said, a large number of children were withrdawn from the school when they had reached the 4th or 5th reader, and others were sent away to Spokane or the coast to complete their education, the result being that Nelson had never yet been in a position to ask for a high school. There are only five or six pupils here who have passed the necessary examination.

In Rossland the importance of having a high school was fully appreciated and every nerve was being strained to get the required number of qualified pupils. They already have 16. If the parents would let their children remain on at school and go up for examination, Mr. Burns did not anticipate any difficulty in getting either the necessary number of pupils or the government's consent.

VICTORY FOR RITUALISM

Archbishop of Canterbury Favors the High Church.

A SURPRISING CHARGE

Low Churchmen Very Much Aggrieved at the Primate's Ruling on Matters of Doctrine.

London, Oct. 15.—Since John Kensit's anti-ritualistic crusade, church men have been waiting anxiously the utterances of the archbishop of Canterbury on the grave question raised which has agitated whole body of churchmen. A series of charges to the clergy were delivered this week and the Primate spoke with no uncertain voice. The archbishop's charge has caused a profound impression in church circles and deeply aggreived the low church party. The primate declared plainly that the doctrine of the real presence as embodied practically in the doctrine of non-substantiation, was permitted, though not expressly taught, by the church of England, that although compulsory confession was absolutely illegal, voluntary confession was legal and no clergymen was justified in refusing to haer and; he commended prayers for the dead but forbade the invocation of the saints or the virgin. He declared that the elevation and reservation of the sacrament and the use of incense are non-permissible, but he approved of a certain revival of the ritual in conformity with the prescription of the prayer book. Practically, the primate sanctions all the doctrines and practices which the low churchmen have so vehemently condemned and, the high churchmen are proportionately elated. Though they disagree with some points, most of clergy will fall into line with the primates charges or injunctions.

THE HARVEST FESTIVAL.

A Large Attendance at the Special Service in the English Church.

At the Harvest Thanksgiving service held yesterday evening at St. Saviour's church, a very large congregation was present. Every inch of space inside the church was taken up. The door was crowded and there were even people standing on the steps outside. The altar rails and chancel were tastefully decorated in an appropriate manner, and the usual offerings of fruits and products of the field were there.

Special features of the service, which was fully choral, were the introductory solo and chorus from Mendelsohns' well known oratorio, "Come Let us Sing," and the Hallelujah chorus from Beethoven's Mount of Olives, with which the service closed.

When it is said that the solos were taken by Mrs. Brougham, it is superfluous to add that everybody enjoyed a rare musical treat, while the efforts of the chorus reflected great credit on Mr. Brougham, who, notwithstanding limited opportunities for rehearsal, had taken great pains in training them.

The anthems were accompanied by an orchestra consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Morley, Messrs. J. J. Campbell, N. McLeod, Harris and T. R. Archbold, Miss Wilson playing the harmonium. The choir consisted of the following ladies and gentlemen:

Sopranos—Mesdames Troup, Oliver, Akehurst, Brown, Bradford, Whalley and the Misses F. Crickmay and Hedley.

Contraltos — Mesdames Brougham, Goepel and Heathcote.

Tenors—Messrs. W. A. Jowett, R. M. Macdonald, O. Newling, G. Kydd and P. Walcroft.

Basses—Messrs. A. R. Sherwood, W. L. Smith, F. W. Caldwell and the Rev. H. S. Akehurst.

Mr. W F. Brougham conducted the anthems and Mr. Haines officiated at the harmonium during the rest of the service. It was agreed on all sides that both the Rev. H. S. Akehurst and the ladies and gentlemen who assisted, like deserve great praise and congratulation for the beautiful service enjoyed by the worshippers at St. Saviour's church yesterday evening.

FOR A PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The Ladies of Nelson Take Active Steps to Provide a Reading Room

The Nelson branch of the Women's Council are turning their attention to the establishment of reading and recreation rooms and a public library, the want of which is felt in the city. Both Vancouver and New Westminster have public libraries, the latter city having had, previous to the fire, the finest suite of rooms west of Ontario. There are scores of men, young and old, in Nelson who have no place to spend their evenings and a public reading room would certainly be well patronized. A suggestion has been made that the city when erecting its warehouse should build a two story building and devote the second story for such purposes. A room for chess and draughts a reading room, and library should be provided and, following the example of many of the mechanic's institutes in the east, a billiard room might be added. The mayor has promised to bring the matter before the city council and the ladies appeal to the liberality of the people of Nelson to assist them. Subscriptions for the purchase of a suitable library and securing and furnishing temporary rooms will be received by Mrs. Roderick Robertson, Mrs. Day, Mrs. Parkinson, Mrs. Robson, Mrs. Arthur, Mrs. Russel, Adjt. Edgecombe and Mrs. Telord.

PLEASED WITH NELSON.

Two Calgary Citizens Visit the City on a Pleasure Trip.

Dr. J. D. Lafferty and Mr. D. W. Marsh, two prominent citizens of Calgary, Alberta, who are taking a pleasure trip through the Kootenay spent Saturday and Sunday in the city. To a Miner reporter both gentlemen expressed thmselves as greatly pleased with the appearance of Nelson and predict a bright future for the city. Its geographical position as a commercial center the unlimited resources of the tributary country and the energy and enterprise of its citizens was sufficient evidence to them that Nelson is certain to maintain its position as the leading city of the interior of British Columbia.

Speaking of the prairies they said that the farmers and ranchers were in a prosperous condition. Crops were good and the stock industry was never in better shape. Prices for all kinds of live stock are good and the development of the Kootenay district is providing a ready market for the produce of Alberta. The firm of P. Burns & Co., alone pay about $40,000 per month to the ranchers of the North West. The establishment of the C. P. R. workshops at Calgary has given great impetus to the city and there is a considerable movement in real estate.

The visitors left yesterday evening for home highly delighted with their trip through the mountains.

J. M. KELLIE IN THE CITY.

J. M. Kellie, M. P. P., for Revelstoke spent Saturday in the city. To a Miner reporter Mr. Kellie stated that he saw a remarkable change for the better in Nelson since his last visit two years ago. Nelson in his opinion has made more substantial progress than any other town in the Kootenay and is destined to become the metropolis of the mining district, surrounding it.

Questioned as to the political situation Mr.. Kellie said that he did not anticipate any new developments until the House met in February next, when he expected the new government would have a majority of six on the first division. The people of his constituency and he believed of the interior of British Columbia were all well satisfied with the change in the government of the province and would support the government in any legislation calculated to advance the interests of the province.

Mr. Kellie left yesterday evening for Revelstoke.

ALL QUIET AT VIRDEN

An Attempt Will be Made to Fix Responsibility For the Riot on Gov. Tanner, of Illinois.

Virden, Ills., Oct. 15.—Attorney Wm. Patton, of the Chicago and Virden Coal company, is authority for the statement that no further attempt will be made to land here Alabama negroes, whose coming resulted in the loss of so many lives. It is under consideration, according to the attorney Patton, that an attempt to fix responsibility for the tragedy upon the governor of Illinois will be made. The lawyer declares that it is the intention of the coal company to press the matter before the grand jury of Macon county to say whether Governor Tanner shall answer in the court.

NEGROES SENT AWAY.

Springfield, Ills., Oct. 15.—While over 2,000 miners lined up on the street in the rear of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, ready to follow the remains of their deceased companion, Edward Welch, who was killed in the fight at Virden, on Wednesday, to the cemetery, 106 imported negro miners from Alabama were quietly smuggled out of the city and sent to St. Louis on a special train.

THE PEACE COMMISSION.

The Tribunal at Paris Making Slow Progress.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The American and Spanish peace commissions, will today close their first two weeks of labor here and any careful summarization must disclose the fact that the progress made has been accomplished chiefly by the negative action and the attitude of the Americans. The first article of the protocol provided that "Spain will relinquish all claim of sovereignty over and title to Cuba." Naturally, after the preliminaries providing methods of procedure and such rules therefor as were necessary, the joint sessions were devoted to the Cuban article of the protocol. Naturally, too, the Americans opened their case by the assumption that little or no action was necessary regarding Cuba, on the ground that its disposition was definitely fixed by the terms of the protocol. Notwithstanding, at the meeting last Thursday the Spanish submitted suggestions and propositions amounting to holding that the United States should take over all or part of the Cuban debts. After reading this presentment in English on Tuesday, Senor Montero Rios, president of the Spanish commission, verbally repeated it at length and reiterated the same in summarized form. The Americans at their own session on Wednesday took up the Spanish presentment and determined the formulation of the answer of the United States, on which the clerical force was busily engaged until the hour of the Friday session, the commissioners in the meanwhile devising, amplifying, and fortifying it. Careful, exact and full was the preparation of the answer and, therefore, it became impossible, as intended, to serve a copy of it on the Spaniards before the hour of opening the session, so that the oral discussion might begin promptly. The answer was submitted at the opening of the session, occupying four instead of the usual two hours, on account of the exhaustive discussion of the matter. What was said or done none save the commissioners, secretaries and interpreters know.

Mr. Hanlon is a typical prospector and miner who has lived for years in the hills and has prospected in almost every district in the northwest. He had not slept in a house for four years until he came to Spokane. He has faithfully attended to the work in hand at the fruit fair and has succeeded in interesting many people in the rich prospects surrounding this camp It has been an unselfish work on the part of Mr. Hanlon. He has not a single sample from his own properties.

THE FIRST TRIAL

of our Clothing is generally sufficient to make a life long customer.

We don't offer our goods below cost, because we have no desire to lose money. We sell at prices which are sufficient to pay for good material and good workmanship. The size and variety of our stock enables us to please a customer both as to style and fit. Indeed we are particular on these points. We rather lose a sale than permit unsatisfactory garments to leave the store.

These values cannot be surpassed.
