Record Year.

During the year ended June 30 the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company's smelter at Trail produced metals, including gold, silver, copper and lead to the extent of $5,500,000, which establishes a new record for the plant. This return is all the more worthy of note because of the fact that throughout the year metal values have been exceptionally low. With prices where they were a couple of years ago, and they are now trending that way, the smelter returns for the past year would have been much higher even than they are. In the face of the market conditions, however, the returns for the year are $77,500 above those for the previous year, the figures for which were away ahead of those for any other year.

Another and an important factor in the bettering of the showing, however, was the fact that during the first portion of the year many improvements were made at the smelter, necesitating a closedown of portions of the plant at different times. These betterments have included several new blast furnaces much larger than those previously in use, so that the capacity of the smelter is now much greater than it was a year ago. The increase in the capacity of the smelter enabled the company, despite the shutdown for improvements, to treat a considerably larger tonnage than ever before. The total for the year was 347,000 tons as against 305,955 for the previous year.

The Cup Remains.

The Moyie junior baseball team again defeated the Cranbrook juniors at the game played at Aldridge park on Wednesday night for the Smyth challenge cup, the score being 3 to 2. This makes two straight games that the Moyie boys have already won for the cup. The rules call for three straights. The game was the best so far ever witnessed in Moyie. Ray Crissler umpired and both teams were satisfied with his decisions. Both teams did excellent work and not a dispute arose throughout the game. The Cranbrook boys took their defeat well. A return cup game will be played at Cranbrook in three weeks. Following is the lineup of Moyie: E. Crowe, catcher; Seaton, pitcher; L. Crowe, first base; J. Ward, second base; W. Attwood, third base; P. Conrad, short stop; B. Barr, right field; C. Nordman, left field; R. Hawke, center field; A. Crowe, spare.

The Cranbrook line-up was as follows: A. Danforth, catcher; S. Boyle, pitcher; G. Kerr, first base; R. McPeak, second base; C. McCowan, third base; S. McDougall, short stop; A. Bathie, right field; S. Elmer, center field; Abe Brown, left field.

Watson-Miller.

Miss Agness Douglas Watson, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Watson, was united in marriage to Mr. Thos. Miller on Friday, July 23, at the home of her mother, Rev. Main officiating. There were a number of relatives and friends present and the occasion was a most happy one. After the ceremony a most elaborate repast was served and the rest of the evening was devoted to song and story. The bride has been a resident of Cranbrook and Moyie for the past year and the the groom is one of the sterling young men of Moyie, and the Herald joins with the many friends of the happy couple in wishing them a life of prosperity and happiness.—Cranbrook Herald.

Caught on the Fly.

The editor of the Leader arrived home Thursday from the coast, where he was on a mission of business and pleasure. At Seattle the A-Y-P. was visited. The exposition as a whole is good. The grounds are in perfect order, with nice concrete walks, green lawns and beds of flowers. All of the exhibits are interesting and instructive, and the attractions along the Paystreak are of a higher order than usual. Canada is well represented in a building all to itself. On approaching this building the eye catches the two mammoth chunks of ore from the St. Eugene mine. Each chunk weighs over two tons, and there is not a better or more prominently displayed piece of mineral on the grounds. The name of the mine and Moyie, B. C., appears in bold letters. Over 21,000 people pass through the exposition gates every day, and the total attendance so far is considerably over the million mark.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Moore are still at Nakusp and are prospering in that thriving town. Mr. Moore had just returned from attending the teachers' convention at Victoria.

A. D. Drummond, a former constable here, is making money in the real estate business in Vancouver, and Dr. S. K. Harvie is said to be building up a renumerative medical practice.

While we did not see Rube Scott, we heard he was doing well. He recently paid several thousand dollars for a lot well in towards the center of Vancouver and is putting up a building. He will open a grocery store.

Was Good Football.

The Moyie football team played the boys at Carbonado last Saturday. The game ended 7 to 0 in favor of Moyie. Goals were scored by Kemp, 1; McNicholl, 3; Marshall, 2; Atkinson, 1. It was a clean game, and a very friendly feeling was noticeable throughout. The coal miners know how to entertain, and nothing was too good for their visitors. They were entertained at the Western hotel, which is conducted by Thos. Rader, a former Moyie resident. That evening a dance was got up and the merriment was continued until daylight the next morning.

The return match will be on August 21st, and both teams are looking forward to an exciting game.

Hen Crows and Lays.

A hen that has the head of a rooster and crows like one, but lays eggs, is the freak of nature that is attracting crowds daily to the barnyard of Mrs. Jos. Tiefenthaler, the owner, who lives near Aberdeen, Wash. The bird affords much amusement, particularily by crowing like a rooster and by cackling like the ordinary hen after laying an egg. The hen was raised with a brooder last fall, but it was not until recently that Mrs. Tiefenthaler observed that it was different from the rest of the brood.

Heart-Rending Calamity.

Just as the Leader goes to press we are startled with the following details of a sad event which will cast a shadow of gloom over this community. For the present, out of respect for the suffering parents of the lady, we refrain publishing the names of the dramatis personae in the scene described below:

For the last seven years there has been in Moyie an eminently respectable family, the pride of whose household was a charming daughter of seventeen. She was as beautiful as the ideal of the poet, and as remarkable for intelligence as for surpassing loveliness. Her eyes were like stars on a Summer night, and her form, warmed by youthful, vigorous womanhood, was as graceful as that of a Grecian goddess. Her hair hung in graceful ringlets over her lovely shoulders like molten gold, and her cherry cheeks, as soft as velvet, looked like roses mingled with snow. As a natural result one would expect that a creature possessed of such charms of mind and form and feature would awaken the grand passion in some man's bosom; such was the case. For several months past, a fascinating young gentleman, well known in Moyie has been paying her the most devoted attention. He, too, was handsome, and intelligent. Her young lady friends would occasionally tease her about him, and a flood of conscious blushes would irradiate her beautiful face at the very mention of his name. Everything seemed to pass along smoothly for a while, when all of a sudden she lost her spirits and wore a look of melancholy. Her musical laughter was hushed, and she seemed like a lily that had been made to fade by burning rays of a Summer's sun. Her parents become anxious about her condition and watched over her with tender solicitude. Although frequently questioned as to the cause of her depression and sadness, she made no reply except in an equivocal kind of style that rendered confusion worse confounded. Last evening, about 8 o'clock, she was missed from her home, and the worst fears of her parents were excited. They sought high and low, but she was no where to be found. At length her father remembered that of late she had been in the habit of sitting, sad, weeping and distracted in a vine covered arbor situated in the garded. He rushed to the arbor, and as that distracted father gazed upon the scene that met his view, rendered more dismal by the dim, glittering starlight, his blood curdled in his veins, his cheeks turned pale, and the heaving of his bosom plainly told that it was filled with deepest emotion. There before him was his beatiful daughter, her tall and graceful form arrayed in spotless white, her long golden hair streaming like a flood of light down to her waist, hanging—oh think of it young men and maidens and parents—hanging with her arms—around her lover's neck and her head pillowed on his manly breast.

New Railway Tie.

Arrangements are being made by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fee road for a series of experiments with ties which will be watched with keen interest by all railroads in the United States. The railroad purchased recently in Japan a shipment of cocoboio and Japanese oak, which is being prepared for use near Great Bend, Kan.

This wood costs $1.15 a tie, higher than the average American tie. It is said to be capable of 25 to 30 years wear and is so hard an ordinary spike can not be driven into it. Holes will be bored and screw spikes used. When laid the cost of the ties will be about $2 each. The shipment contains about 170,000 ties.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

Flowery Words.

P. A. O'Farrell, speaking of British Columbia, says:

"It has been apparent to me for a quarter of a century that British Columbia would take rank in time amongst the greatest nations of the world. It has beyond peradventure the finest climate, the most superb scenery and the most fruitful valleys in all the world. Its mountains are honeycombed with vast deposits of gold and silver ores, of lead and zinc, of copper, coal and iron. The energy of 25,000,000 horses can be harnessed and utilized from its majestic rivers. Its fisheries are of unsurpassed extent, and B. C. is greater in extent than the German empire and France combined, and it has 60,000,000 acres of the richest fruit land and 182,000,000 acres of forests. Its navigable rivers and lakes exceed those of all Europe, and it is destined to become the home of a race of people even more vigorous more strenuous and as heroic as any that has ever yet lived."

The Land of the Blue Ribbon

Cross of Honor

America's leadership in the march of progress has now become something more than a mere patriotic belief.

It has not only been conceded, but has been proclaimed in trumpet tones by a congress of the nations of the world.

National pre-eminence has found equal expression and appreciation in international preference for

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

Sales both at home and abroad have indicated this preference before; but today it stands conclusively proven by the cross of honor and medals illustrated on this page—trophies of a competition which marks an epoch in the history of brewing.

By these decorations, and by the diploma which accompanied them, the International Pure Food and Hygienic Exposition at Antwerp declares Pabst Blue Ribbon to be absolutely the finest of the world's brews—the peer of all beers in purity, nutritive properties and general excellence.

The true significance of this award lies not alone in the fact that famous American and European beers were entered in the competition; but that Pabst Blue Ribbon was the only beer that successfully withstood all the prescribed tests.

Other beers deteriorated; they changed color; or lost their taste. Pabst Blue Ribbon alone showed a perfect score, and thus proved itself veritably the one real "Beer of Quality."

This award is no surprise to those who know Pabst; but it is worth pondering by those who drink other beers, or none.

The perfection of Pabst Blue Ribbon is the logical result of a lifetime devoted to the attainment of perfection in brewing.

Pabst Blue Ribbon is a nutritious beer because it contains all of the food portion of the barley grain—a result of the Pabst eight day natural malting process.

Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is an invigorating beer because it contains the tonic properties of the choicest hops.

Pabst Blue Ribbon is a pure beer because it is made under perfect conditions of care and cleanliness.

Pabst Blue Ribbon is the ideal home beverage because it contains a very small percentage ($3\frac{7}{10}$%) of alcohol. It is truly a temperate drink, invigorating and healthful.

Tragedy at Sham Battle.

What was intended to be merely a sham battle between 100 members of the Improved Order of Redmen and a like number from infantry of the National Guard of the State of Washington, resulted in a tragedy in the Stadium at the Alaska Yukon-Pacific Exposition grounds last Friday afternoon when Joseph Mohrinway, a Redman, of Everett, fell to the ground with a two-inch hole torn in his right groin by the explosion of one of the wax or papes wads which the militiamen were shooting from their guns.

John Mohrinway, a brother of the wounded man, also a Redman, was in the battle and saw his brother fall, but thought nothing of it until the coach drove off the field. He followed the vehicle, as did another brother, Guy, and a sister, Miss Ida, besides the father, Henry Mohrinway, the latter three being spectators. At the hospital the seriousness of the injury was learned.

Who fired the shot which ended in the man's death probably will never be known. When he dropped, mortally wounded, the sham battle had reached a hand-to-hand fighting point, and the explosions were coming so fast and at such close range that scarcely any feature of the melee could be discerned.

The stage coach at that time was a point of both aggression and defense, with the Redmen making the attack and the militia trying to repulse them. The men on both sides were firing round the coach, and some of them could not have been more than four or five feet apart. Morhinway was a leader in the Redmen's charge at this stage of the battle and fell at the off wheel of the coach.

New Utopia.

Samuel Hill is going to establish a new Utopia in eastern Washington. He has acquired 6,000 acres of land on the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railway, where he will locate a Quaker colony. It is in Klickitat county and the name will be Maryhill, which has family associations. Everything is to be established along model lines. Although no dreamer, Mr. Hill believes that perfection is possible. He has done more for the cause of good roads than any other man. He is a son-in-law of J. J. Hill, the veteran railway builder, and a man of large means.

New Engines.

The Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern railway have been keeping the Montreal Locomotive & Machine company busy lately in supplying the demand for engines to move the fall crop. The engines supplied are of the latest design and heaviest class. Already the C. P. R. has received 30, the C. N. R. 10, and the G. T. P. eight of these engines.

Higgins Wins Rock Drilling.

At Hazelton on Dominion Day P. J. Higgins and Amil Olson, better known as the "Black Swede," won the rock drilling contest. Both miners are well known in the Kootenays.
