Hotel Kootenay Sold.

A deal of more than ordinary importance was made this week by the change of ownership of the Hotel Kootenay. The purchasers are Messrs. McTavish & Cameron, who have had the place under lease for a little over two years. The Hotel Kootenay was built in 1898 by McMahon Bros., and was enlarged in 1901. A good portion of the material for the first building was hauled in on sleighs from Kootenay Landing, a distance of 60 miles. At that time it was the finest hotel in East Kootenay, and even today there are few that are better. The price paid for it this week was probably between $10,000 and $12,000 but it is known that it cost more than this amount to build it. McTavish & Cameron have made a big success of the hotel since taking hold of it, and the fact that they have now bought it shows the unbounded faith they have in the camp.

J. A. Harvey, K.C.
who has opened an office in Vancouver with S. S. Taylor, K. C., of Nelson.

Junior Baseball Cup.

The Smyth challenge cup, which is to be played for by the Moyie and Cranbrook junior baseball teams, is on exhibition in the window of the store of Roberts & Messinger. The first game for the trophy will be played at Moyie on Dominion Day. Here are the rules governing the contest:

Cup to be played for by the junior baseball teams of Moyie and Cranbrook.

Cup to be awarded to the team winning three straight games, and cup will then be absolute property of the winning team.

The winners of each game shall take the cup, and it shall remain in their possession until won by the opposing team.

There shall be no limit to the number of games played for the cup during any one year.

Another Hotel Deal.

Mike Bonner has purchased the interests of Wm. Kydd and Patrick Head in the International hotel and is now a partner in the business with D. E. Taylor, under the firm name of Taylor & Bonner. Several improvements are to be made on the hotel.

There will be an opening at the hotel this afternoon and evening.

Jam Factory at Nelson.

The Kootenay jam factory was opened at Nelson Wednesday. Special attention will be given to putting up strawberries. Its capacity is 1400 tins per day.

New Launch for Lake.

The latest addition to the fleet on Moyie lake is the new launch which Teddy Wright had shipped here from Nelson.

GENERAL FLOAT

The little town of Nakusp has an active board of trade.

Vegetables are being shipped from Creston to Saskatoon.

The strawberry harvest has commenced on the Kootenay lakes and at Creston.

The Fernie miners' union will hold their celebration at Elko on the First.

M. A. Beale of Cranbrook is east in Chicago and Minneapolis on a land deal.

The Italian band of Fernie sent to Italy for 35 instruments, and they arrived just the other day.

Billy Pool's mine, the Nugget, on Sheep creek, turns out $8,000 in gold every twenty days with a four-stamp mill.

Canada now ships more fish than any other country. The fisheries yield three millions of dollars more a year than lumbering.

That the population of Vancouver has reached 100,000 is the assertion of James Henderson, compiler of that city's 1909 directory.

Ranchers around Grand Forks add to the menu of the editors by contributing green peas, strawberries and other delicacies of the season.

Ninety per cent of the sawmills in the interior of British Columbia are now in operation, and the demand for lumber is very heavy east of the Rockies.

An average of twenty-five thousand visitors a day have gone through the turnstiles of the Alaska Yukon Pacific Exposition since the opening day on June first.

F. H. Sherman has resigned the position of president of district 18, Western Federation of Miners, on account of ill health. The resignation is to take effect upon the election of a successor.

The Richmond-Eureka at Sandon shipped 451 tons of silver-lead ore to Trail last month, and the Reco 30 tons of zinc to Bartlesville, Okla. The letter property holds the distinction of sending out the richest carload of ore ever mined in the Silvery Slocan.

Creston Minister Objects.

Some weeks ago the Creston Review criticised the action of Rev. D. W. Scott, the Methodist minister of that place, for opposing the granting of a wholesale liquor licence for Creston. The article was copied in the Leader, and due credit was given to the Creston Review, the paper from which it was taken. Yesterday this paper received a lengthy letter from Mr. Scott and some other matter on the subject for publication.

The articles are not published for the reason that the Leader has no desire to be involved in a matter in which it has no concern. Rev. Scott must look to his home paper to adjust any grievance which he may have.

Cleanup Day Monday.

It is proposed to make next Monday a general cleaning day. If the people will clean up in front of their places and rake the loose stones and dirt in a pile, Mr. Wade, who is looking after the road work here, has kindly consented to have his teams haul the stuff away. Now, it is up to everyone to do their share to have the town cleaned up for Dominion Day.

Dominion Day Plans.

On Dominion Day the special from Cranbrook is due to arrive here at about 9 o'clock, when it will proceed to Aldridge park. In the evening it will leave the grounds for Moyie and Cranbrook at 9 o'clock.

Everything is in shipshape at the grounds. The last work was the erecting of a flagpole. There will be many improvements over last year for handling the crowd. The ladies of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches will serve lunch and supper, and will charge 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 12.

Was a Fast Game.

The Moyie football boys "didn't do a thing" to the Cranbrook team at Aldridge park last Sunday afternoon, beating the visiting team by a score of 0 to 3. People flocked to see the game, some going by foot, by boat and by train. It was a fast game, and the drenching rain during the second half only caused the players to grit their teeth and dig in with more vim than ever. The local boys wore their new suits for the first time, and they looked winners from the start. On account of an injury to his knee, Perkins, the Moyie goal, laid off, Ferd Atkinson taking his place.

Hillary, Marshall, Chamberlain and Kemp played a fine game. Chamberlain scored 3 goals, B. Marshall 2, and Kemp 1. For Cranbrook, Lumsden scored 2 and Clark 1.

The Moyie team want to thank the public for their generous support, the collection amounting to $23.05. Also the owners of boats who kindly gave their services.

Big Strike Reported.

It is rumored that a strike of more than usual importance was made in the St. Eugene mine this week, and that one of the largest bodies of ore ever found in the mine was opened up.

The Premier May Come.

An effort will be made to induce Premier McBride and Hon. Thos. Taylor, minister of public works, to visit Moyie when they come to South East Kootenay. They will be in Cranbrook Tuesday, and the premier is to speak at Fernie on Dominion Day. The two gentlemen may be induced to come here Wednesday and remain until evening, when they can take the flyer for Fernie. There is the proposed school building and some other matters to be looked into here.

Editor Remembers Editor.

The fraternal feeling which one newspaper man has for another of the same calling was evident yesterday when the editor of the Leader received from the editor of the Creston Review a token of goodfellowship in the shape of a half a crate of Creston grown strawberries. The berries were grown on the O. J. Wigen place, and were the first of the season. It is needless to say the gift was appreciated thoroughly.

Moyie-Fernie Game.

A team out of the Crow's Nest Coal Co's office at Fernie will meet the Moyie team on the diamond at Aldridge tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The game will be a warm one.

House Boat for Lake.

Calder Bros. have R. Campbell's house boat almost finished, and already he has several applications for it.

Work on Kingsgate Claims.

Gus Kallman has finished doing acsessment work on three claims near Kingsgate, which are owned by himself and Jas. L. Gibbons. There is an enermous iron capping and the prospects are good for a mine.

Damage Estimated at $75,000.

It is estimated that it will cost $75,000 to repair the damage done by the high water to the C. P. R. road along the Slocan branch. So much of the grade has been washed away that it will take at least three months to put it in shape again.

Borden Goes to London.

Hon. R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party of Canada, has sailed for England and will deliver the Dominion Day address in London on July 1st.

Bought Land on Lemon Creek.

Nelson News:—Harry Brown, J. P., of Moyie, and Thomas Elsmore, also of that town, have purchased blocks 6 and 9 respectively of the Chapman subdivision at Lemon creek. The blocks contain 11.20 and 11.88 acres respectively, and will be put into orchard.

Building Tram at Aurora.

A tramway is being built at the Aurora to carry the ore from the tunnel down to the lake that it can be brought across to the railway and shipped. It will be a car tram and will be operated with a windlass. The ore chute in the raise has widened considerably within the last few days.

Cambrian Meeting.

A meeting of the shareholders of the Cambrian Mining Company is called to be held at Moyie on Tuesday, July 13th. At this meeting it will be decided what the future plans of the company shall be.

Back From Cobalt.

"Billy" Whitehead returned Tuesday from Cobalt, where he went with a bunch of other Moyie boys a month or two ago. He was not very favorably impressed with the camp, and was glad to come west again. There are many idle men, and they are coming and going on every train. However, most of those who went from Moyie are working and doing well.

Masonic Picnic.

The members of Selkirk Masonic Lodge No. 55, of Moyie, will hold a picnic at Swansea on Thursday, July 8th. The boats will leave town at 9 o'clock in the morning. There will be a program of sports, and plenty of refreshments. The picnic will be only for Masons and their wives and children.

Ornamenting Church Windows.

A coating of fancy glazed paper has been put on the windows of the Presbyterian church, making a greatly improved appearance. The work was done by C. S. Kinrade.

Novel Contest.

A Special prize is being offered by R. Campbell to the boy or girl under 14 years who can fly his or her Kite the highest at the grounds on Dominion Day. The prize will be a 24 inch barrell nickel plated repeating Air Rifle capable of carrying 1000 shots at one time, automatic leaver action, front and rear sights and weight 3 pounds. The judges will be the committee of the childrens sports.

Moyie can boast of its water supply.

The boat rocker is one whose head ought to be soaked.

Have you noticed the days growing shorter?

Kansas has another holler coming. This time it is for harvest hands.

W. D. Haywood has found cigarette smoking an expensive luxury.

A newname has been given the Paystreak at the Seattle Fair. It has been dubbed the "Joy Path."

Visitors will not regret coming to Moyie on Dominion Day. A good day's fun is in store.

Aldridge park is fast becoming a popular place of recreation. Moyie has long needed just such a place.

To err is human. In a Toronto police court last week, a milkman was fined $10 for putting water in his milk.

There is some jiggling going on at Prince Rupert, and people who bought lots and paid fancy prices for them may find that they are on the outskirts of the proposed business district.

With a big strike on the Annex and a promising outlook for the Society girl, and the St. Eugene looking better than ever, who will question for a moment a bright future for Moyie?

A Chinaman who collected $2,700,000 from his country men for stock in a bogus mine, has been murdered on his return to China. If similar methods obtained here what a carnage there would be among the mining brokers of Toronto.—Calgary Herald.

At last Frank Sherman has stepped out of the limelight, having resigned as president of District No. 18 of the United Mine Workers. There is a wide difference of opinion as to Sherman, and few men in the district have as many fast friends and bitter enemies.

The C. P. R. have a patch of ground back of their Moyie station that could be made an ornament to the town and a revelation to the traveling public if the company would only take hold and improve it. Here is a chance for a railway company's garden expert to display his skill.

W. R. Ross, member for Fernie, has been doing some splendid work for his town. The government will build a new court house there that will cost when finished and furnished over $100,000. The contract calls for a concrete foundation, brick walls, British Columbia slate roofing and copper cornices.

A man named Stone and one named Wood met on the street recently, and they stopped for a moment to exchange a few cheerful views, when a woman in a particularly noticeable sheath gown passed. Simultaneously Wood turned to Stone; Stone turned to Wood; then both turned to rubber.

Twenty five years ago the Spokesman-Review was a weekly publication and was run off on a Washington hand press, the same as is used in the Leader office at the present time. On June 16th the paper issued an anniversary edition of 92 pages, and the issue is a gem from every point of view. Few cities have made equal strides with Spokane during the past quarter of a century.

Few men in South East Kootenay have been more successful than J. A. Harvey, K. C., who left this week for Vancouver to open a law office with S. S. Taylor, K. C., of Nelson. He is not only a good lawyer, but a good financier as well, and now he finds himself interested in most of the leading enterprises in the district. Mr. Harvey's success lay in the fact that he had unbounded faith in the country, and many instances can be cited where he loaned money and gave assistance to people that would not be countenanced by the banks. Harvey has been a good friend to Moyie, and the people here appreciate him. He will make good in Vancouver, for he is built of the right material.

Gems of Thought.

The path is easy that is paved with love.

Better sweetness in the heart than greatness in the mind.

A man and wife when irritated will often say things to each other for which they are sorry the next morning, but pride often keeps them from confessing their faults, and the little differences grow until a divorce suit or an assault and battery case results. When you have made a mistake, be man or woman enough to ask forgiveness, and you will sail along on flowery beds of ease instead of jolting over the rocky beds of discord.

Home is the residence not merely of a woman to share his life, it is place for the affections to unfold and develop themselves; for children to love, and learn, and play in; for husband and wife to toil smilingly together, and make life a blessing. The object of all ambition should be to be happy at home, if we are not happy there we cannot be elsewhere; it is the best proof of the virtues of a family circle to see a happy fireside.

In too many families the mother assumes the care of everything and her daughters are but genteel loungers in the household. The work which could be so easily and quickly done if each bore a share, is left for the hands already weakened by heavy burdens, and when at last the poor household drudge dies at her post, she is remembered with pity not unmixed with contempt because she resigned the post of ruler of the household to become its slave, and her daughters are left to ruin other homes with idleness and ignorance. But there are no such daughters among our households.

Man is naturally a home-loving animal. In fact, most animals are home-loving. And when a man asks a woman to share his life, by is usually taken as a gentle hint that he wants her to make him a home and take a sort of general oversight of his affairs and a special oversight of himself. He likes to know that she does things for him just for the reason that she loves him, and is interested in him and his well-being. He loves his home more if there is some impress of her personality upon it. He likes best the meal she prepares for him. Of course, he says very little—perhaps nothing—of all this, being a man.

No boy, no girl, can ever come to be utterly bad who remembers only love and tenderness and sweetness as associated with father and mother in the old-time home. Give them manly and womanly example, give them training, give them the inspiration of devoted lives, give them these higher, deeper things. Do not care so much as to whether you are accumulating money, so that you can leave them a fortune. We really believe that the chances are against that being a blessing for a boy. But leave them an accumulated fortune of memories and inspirations and examples and hopes, so that they are rich in brain and heart and soul. Then if you happen to leave them a fortune besides, if they have all these, the fortune will be shorn of its possibilities of evil, and will become an instrument of higher and nobler good.

After all that has been said about rare treasures of art and nature that may lend attraction to a home and its surroundings, it remains that the fairest home ornaments are bright, joyous faces; and where these are wanting, all else goes for little. Bright and joyous faces always accompany warm and loving hearts which all true home-makers must possess. Hence all who intend making homes should look carefully into their own hearts; for only when these are right can they expect their home-making to prove satisfactory. Warm hearts make bright and cheerful hearths, but the warmest hearth cannot thaw the icy heart. Love is the great home-maker, that makes even the drudgery of housekeeping a pleasure, and home life a foretaste of the bliss of heaven. One cannot get too much love into one's home-making but easily too little.

Voluntary obedience in the home and not compulsion, is what is wanted; and the parents that are even-tempered, not harsh or unjust, are teaching this lesson most successfully. A mother and father that have not learned self-control, are not capable of controlling children. It is a burdensome thing to many to lead the children the way they should go, for it is very necessary that parents follow the same path; we can't preach any more than we live, and the sermons from which the child draws his ideas take place in the home—no teacher, no minister can do the parent's work. Your child has a body, mind and heart, all in your keeping; if you do your work well, when life's fitful fever shall have passed, for you, the memory of your children will go back to you, with gratitude that they were sent out in the world with sound bodies, cultivated minds, and pure hearts.

"BE COURTEOUS" AT HOME. Why not be polite? How much does it cost to say, "I thank you?" Why not practice it at home—to your husband, to your wife, to your children, to your domestics? If a stranger does you some little act of courtesy, how sweet the smiling acknowledgment! If your husband or wife, ah! "it's a matter of course"—no need of thanks. Should a visitor or acquaintance tread on your dress—your best; very best—and by accident tear it, how profuse you are with your "Never minds," "Don't think of it," "Accidents will happen." If a husband does it, he gets a frown; if a child, it is punished. Ah! these are little things, say you. They all tell mightily upon the heart, let me assure you; and little as they are, they disturb peace or create pleasure in the family circle. A gentleman stops at a friend's house and finds it in confusion. He does not see anything to apologize for—"never thinks of such matters." Everything is cold, cold supper, cold room, crying children—"perfectly comfortable!" Goes home, where his wife has been taking care of the children or attending the sick, and working her life almost out. Then he does not see why things can't be kept in order; "there never were such gross children before!" No apologies accepted at home! Oh, why not look at the sunny side at home as well as abroad, and try pleasant words instead of surly ones? Why not be agreeable at home? Why not use freely that golden coin of courtesy? How sweetly those little words sound, "Many thanks," or "You are very kind!" Doubly, yes, thrice sweet from the lips we love, when smiles make the eyes sparkle with the light of affection! Be polite to your children. Be courteous to your servants. Do you expect them to be mindful of your welfare, to grow glad at your approach, to bound away to do your pleasure before the request is half spoken? Then, with all your authority, mingle kindness, and cheerfulness. Brothers and sisters, be amiable, be courteous among yourselves and your servants.

Strong Healthy Women

If a woman is strong and healthy in a womanly way, motherhood means to her but little suffering. The trouble lies in the fact that the many women suffer from weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism and are unfitted for motherhood. This can be remedied.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Cures the weaknesses and disorders of women. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in motherhood, making them healthy, strong, vigorous, virile and elastic.

"Favorite Prescription" banishes the indispositions of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It quickens and vitalizes the feminine organs, and insures a healthy and robust baby. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits.

It Makes Weak Women Strong. It Makes Sick Women Well.

Honest druggists do not offer substitutes, and urge them upon you as "just as good." Accept no secret nostrum in place of this non-secret remedy. It contains not a drop of alcohol and not a grain of habit-forming or injurious drugs. Is a pure glyceric extract of healing, native American roots.

New Drinking Cup.

Another new step in the universal fight against disease has been made in the adoption by the bureau of charities of New York of the individual drinking cup machine, a device which does away with the old-time common drinking cup, so often a means of disease communication.

The danger from the drinking cup handed from hand to hand and used by scores of persons in a single day long has been recognized by physicians and health authorities throughout the country. Tests made at public drinking fountains in various cities show that the possibilities of public cups as disease carriers often is appalling. In one instance a glass that had been in use for nine days was found to contain 20,000 human cells or bits of dead skin, and as many as 150 germs of one or more diseases were seen clinging to a single cell. Not one of the drinking vessels examined was found free of bacilli, and the fatal tubercular germ was prevalent.

The individual drinking cup machine guards against these evils by presenting each drinker with a brand new white paraffin paper cup. The device is automatic and may be equipped with a coin operating adjunct if desired. In some places fountains have been established where for a cent dropped in the slot one may obtain a clean cup filled to the brim with ice cold water. The machine is made of white enamel with a bottle of water inverted in the top like an ordinary cooler.

"Coffin Nails" and Suicide.

"Damn you!"

This was found scrawled on an empty cigarette box in the pocket of a boy suicide in McKeesport, Pa., last Sunday. It is as short and dramatic an arraignment of the cigarette evil as can be imagined. It condenses the agony of two years—their regret, their remorse—into two words.

Raymond Walthour was 18. Ever since his 16th year he had been the slave of "coffin nails." Otherwise he was a proper lad. He went to Sunday school in the afternoon. In the evening he started for church. On the way he was seen to stop and swallow something. It was carbolic acid, and he died before help could reach him.—Cleveland Leader.

Sewed Up Gauze in Wound.

Is it a frequent occurrence for patients to be sent from a hospital after an operation with sponges, gauze rolls or other foreign matter sewed up in their bodies? The question is being asked by many who have followed the malpractice case brought against Dr. C. P. Thomas in the superior court at Spokane last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lamb were awarded $889.90 damages by a jury because Dr. Thomas, after performing an operation on Mrs. Lamb, sewed up the wound with a roll of surgical gauze remaining inside. This necessated another operation a year later. The Lambs asked for $25,000.

In his defence Dr. Thomas contented that the leaving of sponges and gauze rolls in a patient after an operation was something that happened in the lifetime of practically every surgeon and was something that could not be guarded against in every case. He brought a number of surgeons to testify to the frequency of such a situation.

At St. Luke's hospital in August, 1906, Dr. Thomas performed an operation on Mrs. Lamb for gallstones. She was discharged as cured, but the wound did not heal, a second operation, in Wallace, disclosing the roll of gauze. Before undergoing a second operation Mrs. Lamb had been startled by noticing a raveling protruding from the wound, which she was unable to extract.

It was shown that the Lambs had written Dr. Thomas and that he had offered to settle with them for $100, while disclaiming any responsibility in the matter. Dr. Mowery of Wallace, who performed the operation in which the roll of gauze was found, had refused to surrender the gauze to Lambs for use as an exhibit

Making Criminals.

A Toronto merchant has a driver who does his work well. His horse is always well cared for, and the wagon always clean. But some time ago the merchant noticed that goods were disappearing mysteriously. A detective made a quite investigation and found that this particular driver was systematically stealing. The merchant called the offender into the office, showed him the detective's report, and then said: "I believe that you can be a trustworthy man and a good citizen. Therefore I intend to keep you at work and to raise your wages by a hundred dollars a year." The driver went out of the office a new man. Since that memorable occasion he has worked like a hero, has squared himself away from his unworthy past, and bids fair to justify the confidence reposed in him.

A Monster Locomotive.

The Canadian Pacific is just completing the biggest locomotive that has ever been built in Canada. This monster locomotive is 70 feet from end to end, and with the loaded tender weighs 200 tons. The engine is of the Mallet articulated type, and is practically two engines under one big boiler. It will be tried out this week and then sent west for use on the heavy grades in the Rocky mountains. If it proves a success a number of similar size will be built.

Dubbed Them Cheap Skates.

Fernie Ledger:—One of the cheapest things we have heard of this year happened during the week when a bunch of cheap skates from the Fernie club went to a hotel in the city and after bringing in a pint bottle of beer in each of their pockets asked the attendant to supply glasses and openers as they wished to take the booze with their lunch. And the hotelmen pay a high license to the city.

CRANBROOK, B. C.

The Harvey Banquet.

(From the Cranbrook Herald.)

On the night of Friday, 18th inst., the old-time and later day friends of J. A. Harvey, K.C., gathered at the Cranbrook hotel, from Fort Steele, Wasa, Wattsburg, Elko, Fernie, Waldo, Nelson, Creston and places even farther afield, to entertain him to a banquet, the memory of which will endure for many a day. As is generally well known, Mr. Harvey has entered into partnership with S. S. Taylor, K.C., of Nelson, with a view to transferring the field of their professional usefulness to Vancouver and the coast. The occasion of Mr. Harvey's near departure (he will probably have left Cranbrook by the time this issue will reach the public), was seized upon as a happy opportunity to mark, even very inadequately, the public appreciation of Mr. Harvey's services to the district as a public man, his worth as a citizen and his high professional character.

What added very considerably to the distinction of the function was the very welcome presence of Arthur S. Goodeve, M.P., for the Kootenay district. One would have thought that after his labor during the last exacting session of the house that he would show some signs of the wear and tear of public life. Far from it. He never looked better and never was in finer form. His visit had no political significance whatever, but being in the locality he accepted an invitation to be present. A few minutes before 10 p.m. Andrew McCowan, late piper major of the Black Watch, sounded an assembly on the national instrument of Glengarry, that showed the world there was something out of the common on foot at the Hotel Cranbrook. At ten, precisely, seventy-five, not counting the guests of the evening, sat down to a banquet which, according to Mr. Goodeve, could not be surpassed in the perfection of its viands, its service, or its wines, by any hotel in Ottawa. By the time the mountain trout—and they were genuine Kootenay mountain trout—had become merely a memory and a sweet recollection, the bottle (laughter of Moet & Shandon had reached the cockles of the hearts of the crowd and the laughter almost drowned the splendid music of the Cranbrook city orchestra, under the conductorship of Mr. F. E. Crinson. However, almost dead silence fell when Mr. Miller played "The Flight of Ages," most beautifully as a cornet solo.

All through the feast the messenger boys were busy delivering telegrams to the chairman, Judge P. E. Wilson. When the coffee had been reached he had on hand a selection from King Edward, Ex-President Roosevelt, which latter came from Nairobi via Mombasa, East Africa, John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Smith Curtiss, Carrie Dam Nation and other notabilities, all deploring the departure of Mr. Harvey from the hub of the Kootenays. The ex-president wanted to know if he could join him to slay a chunk of a three-horned rhino he was keeping for his special shooting. Carrie Nation, strangely enough, requested all present to set their faces against drink. Her order was obeyed right royally. Even cheerfully.

After the toast of The King had been honored with ringing cheers, full glasses and the war cry, "No heel taps," the chairman called on Mr. Goodeve to respond to the toast of the Dominion. He proved, once again, that as a public speaker he had not his superior in British Columbia. "Imperialism," said he, "once conveyed the idea of the paternalism or paternalism of England towards the colonies. It in a way suggested that most offensive condition, the prevalence of the predominant partner. Those ideas are gone forever. The new idea of the great bond that will link all Britons into one mighty empire is that of equality of association, equality of responsibility and equality of benefit." It was a splendid effort and well deserved the hearty cheers and congratulations he received.

Mr. Harvey was most effective in his speech of thanks to his friends. He promised that though he was going to the coast still he would keep a warm corner in his heart for those he saw about him, and that he would ever maintain his interest in the affairs of the district. He had, it was true, handed over his business to his partners, but he would never entirely sever his relations with Cranbrook.

Robert S. Lennie, of Nelson, was happy in the last degree in his response to the toast of "The Province." He bristled with happy phrase, good points, and, if one can be said to bristle with ease and quiet dignity, his was the claim to such distinction.

The toast of "The City" could not be in better hands than those of the City Solicitor, G. H. Thompson. He was all there with the goods of oratory.

Mr. E. Mallandaine made a most telling point in his reply to the toast of "The Army and Navy." He said they did not need cruisers down around Creston or up in the savage regions of Proctor, but he thought it would be an excellent idea if the people of Canada would buy some of the obsolete cruisers of the English navy and use them as training ships on the coast for the instruction of our young fellows in the art of naval warfare.

When Archie Leitch came to reply to the toast of the visitors he took advantage of the occasion to present Mr. Harvey with a beautiful ebony gold-mounted walking cane on behalf of a few of Mr. Harvey's more intimate old friends.

J. D. McBride left nothing to be desired in his response to "The Old Timers."

A. R. Macdonald, speaking for "The Professions," was calm even to the judicial calmness, made lots of good points and was cheered to the echo.

Peter Lund made about the most effective speech of the evening in response to the call of "Commercial Interests."

The Ladies found a most persuasive champion in J. R. Robinson.

Young Mr. DeWolff gave an athletic rendition of the Dance of the Seven Veils that brought the house down.

Mr. R. T. Brymner, of the Bank of Commerce, sang the great buffo song from King Dodo, "I Want What I Want" in a manner never equalled in Cranbrook by either professional or amateur. It was a downright fine piece of singing and the accompaniment was worthy of it. Ed. Elwell presided at the piano for that song. Along about four in the morning the last request was on the board. It was time to go home. "God Save the King." It was a ripping good, jolly banquet.

UNHEARD OF HONESTY.

Some time ago George Laurie, of Creston, had a man working for him as sawyer, but later he was set at work swamping. As sawyer he got $2.75 a day and when he quit he was paid that wage for all the time that he was in Mr. Laurie's employ. After his return to his home in South Dakota the man wrote back the following letter:

Esmond, N.D., June 18, '09.

Mr. George Laurie, Esq., Creston, B. C.

Dear Sir: I was working for your company last winter at Alice siding and I got $2.75 per day, but I did not earn that much all the time, so I am sending you back some, and if it is not enough let me know as soon as you can.

Yours respectfully,
Martin O. Sinner.

Esmond, North Dakota, U.S.A.

MARRIAGE.

Yes, she is your wife—that woman who presides over your domestic affairs—legally so, at least; for you were married in strict accordance with what the civil law requires in such cases; but morally you can be a real husband to her only in case you love her. In other words, while an outward compliance with the statute makes marriage legal, nothing can make it holy in the Lord's sight save the mutual and reciprocal affection existing between the parties. That is the first reason why it is so necessary for husbands to love their wives; and this, of course, makes it equally necessary for wives to love husbands.

In enforcing the duty of husbandly love, we remark, first, that this love is due to the wife because of the trust she reposes in him, and in view of what she gives up in order to the consummation of their wedded existence. Did you ever think what it means when an innocent, affectionate girl gives herself to a man, to be his, only his, for better or worse, till death shall separate them? Talk of a leap in the dark! Talk of running a risk! Talk of sacrifices! Here you have an instance of these things which has hardly a parallel in all the realm of human devotion. The girl has a home. It has been hers from childhood. She has known scarcely anything but happiness there. A dear, precious home it is, sanctified by a father's authority and hallowed by a mother's love. That is one thing she gives up. The home, perchance, will still exist; but it will not be hers any longer in the sense it used to be. Her home hereafter can only be such as that man can provide.

Father and mother must likewise be given up. In fact, the girl's life, from that moment, will present an entirely different design. Formerly, the parents were in the foreground of the picture; now these are relegated to the background, and her husband takes the first place. For the marriage relation, we must remember, is superior even to the filial relation in the Christian view of the case; in fact, wedding bonds are the most sacred in which human beings can be held.
