The largest copper mines in the Dominion are situated at Phoenix. The Granby Co. employs 500 men, and has a monthly pay roll of over $50,000, while the Rawhide pay roll is $18,000.

GRANBY'S HIDDEN CREEK SMELTER TO BE IN OPERATION FEBRUARY FIRST

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS HELD NEXT WEEK

Monday is Nomination Day—Thursday, Jan. 15th, Election Day in Phoenix.

Next week municipal elections will be held in many of the cities throughout the province. In Phoenix next Monday is nomination day, and Thursday, January 15th is election day. However, in all probability the present mayor and board of Alderman will be re-elected by acclamation. It will be necessary to select one new alderman to fill James Marshall's place. The people of Phoenix are apparently well satisfied with the way in which the business of the city has been handled by Mayor D. J. Matheson and Aldermen Geo. Rogers, A. D. McKenzie, W. J. Pendergast, M. H. Kane and Theo. Biner.

At Greenwoed Mayor F. W. MacLaine will stand for re-election, but may have opposition in Dr. J. D. McLean, who has been asked by friends to enter the contest.

At Grand Forks Mayor G. M. Fripp is in the field for re-election and may not have any opposition.

At Rossland Tom Embleton and J. D. Wilson are running. Mayor Deschamps refused to take the office for another term.

At Nelson J. J. Malone seems to be the choice of the citizens, and will probably be the only candidate. James O'Shea, barrister, may also enter the contest.

Mayor MacGregor of Kaslo is running for the office again, and will have no opposition.

Simon Taylor is the citizens' choice at Cranbrook, and from present indications will be elected by acclamation to succeed A. C. Bowness, the present incumbent.

Held Double Funeral

There was a very large turnout last Sunday to attend the double funeral of John R. Nelson and Angelo Catterini, the two victims of the unfortunate mine accident on New Year's eve. Every available sleigh and cutter in Phoenix and several from Greenwood were pressed into service, and scores of people walked to and from the graveyard below town.

The funeral service was held at the Miners' Union Opera house, and was conducted by the Rev. A. T. Bell, pastor of the Methodist church. The two caskets were placed upon the stage, and at the conclusion of the church service, the Odd Fellows' ritualistic funeral service was read by E. E. Barnes, noble grand, and John C. Tait, past grand of Snowshoe Lodge No. 46, of which Nelson was a member. Catterini was a member of Phoenix Miners' Union No. 8, and the Union service was read by Louis Goebel, while beside him were Harry Elsmore and D. A. Vignaux, president and secretary of the union respectively.

Both caskets were covered with wreaths, from the Masons, the Odd Fellows and the Miners' Union.

At the graveyard the remains of Nelson were laid in the I. O. O. F. plot beside his brother Paul, who was killed at the Granby about nine months ago, and those of Catterini in the Miners' Union plot. The Odd Fellows marched in a body and wore regalia, and the pall bearers for Nelson were members of both the Odd Fellows and Masonic orders, deceased having been a member of both lodges. Catterini was buried under the auspices of the Union, and the pall bearers were members.

GRANBY CONSOLIDATED BIG FAVORITE ON THE BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE

Mechanical Equipment, Hydro-Electric Power Plant, Smelter and Railway System Completed.

Reports received Tuesday at the local offices of the Granby Smelting company from W. A. Williams, superintendent in charge of construction at Hidden Creek, B. C., state that the entire mechanical equipment, including the smelter, hydro-electric power plant, machine shops and railway system, is completed and will begin operations January 15, says the Spokesman-Review. It will require not less than two weeks to get the machinery adjusted, and Superintendent Williams predicts that permanent operations will not be inaugurated before Feburary 1.

Construction at Hidden Creek, begun nearly two years ago, represents an expenditure of approximately $3,000,000, and the enterprise has been financed from Granby earnings, aside from the $900,000 disbursed in dividends in 1913. The capitalization of the corporation was increased several months ago from $15,000,000 to $20,00,000, and $1,500,000 of the additional capital has been paid in, but this has been expended in acquiring new properties, none of it being enlisted in development at Hidden Creek.

The new smelter, built primarily to handle the output of the Hidden Creek mines, which now have approximately 8,000,000 tons of ore in reserve, running from 3 to 5 per cent copper, has a daily capacity of 2,000 tons, and will treat the output of the Midas and other properties in Alaska recently taken over by the Granby company.

Operations at Hidden Creek, it is predicted, will almost double Granby earnings and add years to the life of the corporation. Not only are the average values of the Hidden Creek ores equal to those at Phoenix, B. C., where the mines supplying the 4000-ton daily capacity smelter at Grand Forks are located, but they are so situated and equipped that the operating expense will be much less, and the proximity of the mines to the smelter, connected by 1½ miles of electric railway, reduces transportation on the ore to the minimum.

The report states that there are 16 inches of snow on the level at Hidden Creek, but that the buildings were all inclosed and roofed before the storms came, making possible completion of the work on schedule, the original estimate providing for blowing in the smelter furnaces between January 1 and Feburary 1, 1914.

Granby Consolidated has been a prime favorite on the Boston Stock Exchange during the week, Hayden-Stone and other prominent interests being heavy purchasers, says the New York Mining Age.

Some 8,000,000 tons of ore of an average grade of 2.2 per cent copper have already been blocked out on this property, and a recovery of 40 pounds of the metal per ton is expected. Some estimates give the Hidden Creek ore reserves already blocked out as nearer 11,000,000 than 8,000,000 tons.

Granby during the first 11 months of 1914 produced 20,103,997 pounds of blister copper, as against 20,570,000 pounds in the corresponding period of 1912. It is apparent that production will not fall materially below that of a year ago, and what with the Hidden Creek, the Midas, Snowshoe and possibly other new Granby holdings in operation in 1914, the next year should witness a stupendous increase in Granby output. In fact, it would occasion no surprise were Granby's 1914 production to approach 45,000,000 to 50,000,000 pounds of copper.

MILD WEATHER HITS BOUNDARY COUNTRY

Retards Winter Sports—League Hockey Games Postponed—Hockey Game Monday.

Milder weather than was ever known before in Phoenix was the climatic condition prevailing here the first of the week. The snow almost entirely disappeared, and wheeled vehicles again took the place of sleighs for a day or two. The ice in the big skating rink became flooded with water, and skating was out of the question. The League hockey games to be played this week had to be called off. This was the one between Phoenix and Greenwood to be played here Monday night, the one between Phoenix and Grand Forks at Grand Forks Thursday night, and the one between Grand Forks and Greenwood at Greenwood Friday night.

Thursday night the weather turned colder and the skating rink has again been opened. If the ice is in condition, in all probability there will be a hockey match here next Monday night between the Greenwood and Phoenix teams.

B. C. Mining

At the Jewel mine a winze is being sunk from the 300 to the 400 foot level. Two shifts are employed on this work and the winze is already down 50 feet.

Eighteen mines in the Kootenay and Boundary districts of British Columbia shipped out 6,814 tons of ore, which brought the total receipts of the Consolidated company's plant for 1913 to 351,059 tons.

Ruddy & McKay were awarded the contract for hauling the ore from the Silver Standard mine to the cars at New Hazelton. The contract is a big one, probably double the amount of ore that was at first anticipated. Ruddy & McKay will get their outfit in shape and start hauling at once.

The news that the Red Cliff mine at Stewart is to be reopened in the spring is received with intense satisfaction on every hand. The mine, which was one of the mainstays of the camp from its inception, has been shut down for the last twelve months, and the loss of its pay roll has been keenly felt. The impetus given to copper mining generally in this part of the world by the activity of the Granby Consolidated Mining company, has been the direct cause of the new capital being interested, and it is learned on the very best authority that sufficient money has been raised to start to block out the immense bodies of copper already proven to be existant in the mine. A new phase in mining promises to open early in the spring. This is the sacking and packing out of high-grade ore from the various rich properties in the district.

Great interested is being manifested in Rossland at the receipt of authentic information to the effect that the Nickle Plate mine is to be reopened. The property has lain idle for nearly ten years, except that part of the plant is being operated under lease by the Le Roi No. 2. The Nickel Plate is owned by the Rossland-Kootenay Mining company, Ltd., England, with C. Williamson Milne as chairman and F. A. LaBouchere, secretary. Bedford McNeill, consulting engineer for the company, was at Rossland with the touring geologists and mining engineers last fall, carrying back to England accurate reports of the great success of the operations of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Ltd., and reporting that rich veins in the War Eagle and Centre Star ran in the direction of the Rossland-Kootenay company's properties. At the annual meeting of the company, it was decided to spend from $50,000 to $100,000 on exploration work and diamond drilling. C. H. Stewart, of Alexander, Hill & Stewart, consulting mining engineers, has been in Rossland recently investigating for the company and has sailed for England. The mine is down 800 feet.

SATURDAY, JAN. 10, 1914.

Oh, you January thaw! Right on the dot this year.

No, gentle reader, Chinese New Year will not be celebrated in Phoenix.

The new broom sweeps clean only when there is a willing hand at the other end of it.

The unlucky 13 has just past, and now we can expect everything to run along lovely until 1923—ten years hence.

It is said that the 1914 models in wallets are considerably smaller and can be conveniently carried in the watch pocket.

It is a difficult matter to keep the Smith family down. Did you notice what "Gunboat" Smith did to Pelkey a few nights ago?

While the mild weather experienced this week cut down the fuel and clothing bills, the most people of Phoenix would gladly have paid the extra cost had the hockey games not been interfered with.

Thrown into the discard years ago, "the bustle" has come back. The ladies of Pittsburg are wearing them, and the craze is said to be drifting west. They will probably be worn in Phoenix by the beginning of summer.

Bankers throughout the country declare that business appears to have "turned the corner." This appears to be the prevailing opinion everywhere. The cloud seems to be lifting, and in a few months from now the business of the country will be jogging along at its former pace.

The life of a printer's devil is popularly supposed to be rather a thankless one, but that there are exceptions to every rule was demonstrated over at Penticton on Christmas Eve., when the devil in the Herald office was presented with a valuable set of books by the other printers on the staff of the paper.

In two years the people of the United States have lost one hundred and twenty-nine million dollars through swindling operations carried on through the mails. But as the people are ever ready to grasp at "get rich quick" schemes, it is doubtful if the evil can be remedied no matter how hard the government tries.

A subscriber who comes in these days and pays the printer, is blessed, and in the kingdom to come he will be given a place a little higher than the angles. His name will be written at the top of the column next to the reading matter and nothing in the house will be too good for him. He will get comps to all harp recitals and have a reserved seat beside the editors, while all the delinquent subscribers will have to carry water for the performers and sit up in the gallery.—Ex.

A Pittsburg physician is reported as saying that an evening's relaxation in the company of good liquor aud reasonable men relieves the strain and benefits the bodies of men whose work is constant and trying; especially if it be of the brain. Of course, he says such evenings should not come too often and should never degenerate into sprees. His belief will be condemned by the prohibitionists, but there are many who will share it. And men like the governors of the Carolinas who addressed each other on the subject on a famous occasion will be inclined to criticise it for its moderation. So varied is popular opinion.—Vancouver Sun.

His Disposition

During a concert tour of the late Theodore Thomas and his celebrated orchestra one of the musicians died, and the following telegram was immediately dispatched to the parents of the deceased:

"John Blank died suddenly today. Advise by wire as to disposition."

In a few hours the answer was received, reading as follows:

"We are heartbroken; his disposition was a roving one."

The merchant who uses stationery decorated with gargling oil, axle grease, or other cheap advertising matter is to the home printer what the mail order house is to the home merchant.

How to Live Long

John H. Pugh, deputy county auditor of Spokane, has just celebrated his 75th birthday and gives the following advice to those who wish to live long and be happy.

Smoke little, drink little and do not eat too much.

Do not worry or try to get along on less sleep than is required to rest your mind and body.

Educate yourself to carry out your daily program. Do not get to the office late. A time clock should not be required to make a man be prompt in doing his duty.

Cultivate your memory. It is one of the most convenient files ever invented. The man who can rely on his mind conserves his brain.

Marry a good woman and then take an interest in your home and children.

Choosing a Preacher

They tell a little story of the canniness of a certain Scotch Presbyterian congregation in Ontario which recently faced the problem of choosing a new pastor.

There came a long, thin clergyman first. He did not meet with approval.

The second was almost as thin. He, too was passed up.

The third was a stout man. Let us take him, said one wise old elder. Stout men are not too long-winded. And they took him.

Baby Born in Street Car

The first baby born in Vancouver on the New Year was born in a street car. Mrs. Rochester, of Powell street, was the proud mother, and almost equally proud were the motorman and conductor of the car, who were called upon to leave their posts and make the preliminary preparations for the advent of the little stranger. The mother and baby were taken to the general hospital, where both the parent and offspring are progressing famously.

The Panama Exposition

More than a thousand tons of glass will be used in the construction of the buildings of the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco next year. Many of the great paintings of the old masters, which have never before been loaned to any exposition, will be seen in the Palace of fine arts. A reproduction of the Yellowstone National park will be another feature. A standard gauge railroad will be run through the concession, taking visitors through the entire park.

The Home Paper

Your home paper comes to you as an old friend and neighbor, telling you all the home news, while the large city daily enters your home as a stranger.

The Place for Boys

Don't hang around the corners of the streets, boys. If you have anything to do, do it promptly, right off, then go home. That is the place for boys. On the street corners they learn to swear, smoke tobacco, and do many things they ought not to do. If your business is play, play and make a business of it. I like to see boys play good, earnest, healthy games. Every town should give the boys a good, spacious playground. It should have plenty of green grass and trees and fountains, and a broad place for them to run and jump and play suitable games. It should be as pleasant and as lovely as it can be, and be given to the boys to play in, and when the play is ended the boys should go home.—Judge Ben Lindsay, of Denver.

Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

The OLIVER TYPEWRITER
"The Demand of Operators, and the Goal of Inventors"

The Oliver Typewriter secures all typewriter essentials by the employment of only about five hundred parts, as against fifteen hundred to three thousand parts necessary on other standard machines. The principle of OLIVER construction is entirely different from that of all other writing-machines, and to this fact is due its extreme simplicity, resulting in what is known all over the world as OLIVER efficiency—now the standard.
