The largest copper mines in the Dominion are situated at Phoenix. The Granby Co. employs 500 men, and has a monthly pay roll of over $50,000. Two railroads afford access to the city.

Model Methods of Granby

Writing in the current issue of the Boston Commercial, on the present unpopular tone of the copper market, G. L. Walker says:

I know the good mines so well and so fully realize their productive and profit earning capacities that I cannot help being bullish on their stocks at these prices, which seem to me ridiculously low. Not a few of the existing mining companies will earn and pay eventually in dividends several times the present market prices of their stocks, even though the metal should never sell any higher than 14c. a pound.

In recent years it has become a settled policy to regard many mines as yielding [illegible] approaching exhaustion, and this is accountable for the extremely low selling prices of their stocks. During these same few years, however, the tendency has been for the managemental point of view to undergo a material and highly important change. Managements are coming to realize more fully than they ever did in the past that every producing mine is in a way a liquidating proposition. Each ton of ore taken out means that there is one less ton left in the property. Notwithstanding such an operation may be extremely profitable while it lasts, and that it may return to stockholders several times their original investment, it is rapidly coming to be an accepted policy that a mining company should if possible be made a permanent business enterprise. Several companies have adopted this policy and used a portion of their profits and raised new capital to explore, test and purchase additional mining property, much as a manufacturer from time to time lays in a new stock of raw materials.

As a result of such action by the Granby Consolidated management that company's stock has advanced more than 300% in a period when mining shares generally have been declining. This has created a demand from stockholders of many companies that their managements give attention to, and spend money for, the investigation of other properties with a view to increasing the stability of their investments.

New Election Law Clause

At the last session of the legislature at Victoria, a new clause in the election law was inserted in the bill making it obligatory for all naturalized Canadians to produce their naturalization papers when applying to be placed on the list of voters. The clause reads as follows:

"The registrar shall not insert upon such list the name of any applicant who is or claims to be a British subject by naturalization by virtue of section 36 of the Naturalization Act, unless the said form N-2 as furnished is in accordance with this act, and shows such applicant to be a British subject by naturalization by virtue of section 36 of the Naturalization Act and to be entitled to have his name placed on the register of voters."

Labor Day in Phoenix

The success attending the Phoenix Labor Day celebration of last year has prompted a number of people in town to call a public meetiug for the purpose of making the preliminary arrangements for holding a similar event on September next. Labor Day has generally been recognized throughout the Boundary as the day of the year for Phoenix, that is as far as celebrations are concerned, and no doubt everyone interested will make a special point of being present in the lodgeroom of the Union building on Tuesday, July 28. The meeting will be called to order at 7.30.

While accompanying some children on the banks of the Coldwater river a few days ago, Miss Elsie Staton of Merritt was nearly drowned in attempting the rescue of one of the youngsters who had ventured beyond its depth. Seeing the couple in difficulties Robert Barrett plunged into the swollen torrent and rescued both of them after considerable difficulty.

Mining Notes of British Columbia

Ike Thompson, a pioneer from the Slocan is developing a number of gold-copper properties near Jedway, Moresby Island.

Five carloads of oil-drilling machinery and plant have been received at Vancouver by steamer from San Francisco, California, for re-shipment by railway to the Alberta oil fields.

Henry Nixon, one of the Fire Wardens on the Chilliwack river limits was in Chilliwack Tuesday for a short time. He reports considerable activity in mining and prospecting in the Baker group. One camp, the Scott, is milling about a thousand dollars of gold a week.

It has been announced that a concentrating plant is to be obtained for the Surprise mine, above Cody. Beside having shoots of silver-lead ore of good grade, there is much lead-zinc ore opened in the mine, and to make the latter marketable the provision of concentrating machinery is necessary.

Andy Jensen is down from Summit Camp. He is taking in four men to open up the new discovery on the north slope of Treasure Mountain, the vein of which is a continuation of the Treasure Mountain lead. All is in readiness for hauling ore as soon as the road is completed.—Sun.

The Granby Con. company's hulk Gerard C. Tobey, formerly an American bark, which left Tacoma, Puget Sound, on July 3 in tow of the steamer Amur, was wrecked in Seymour narrows, off Vancouver island, on Sunday morning, July 5. She was laden with 1,581 tons of coke for the company's smelter at Anyox, Granby bay.

A local Nelson syndicate is endeavoring to determine whether or not platinum can be extricated from district dike rocks in sufficient quantity to make its recovery a commercially profitable enterprise. A small plant has been put in on Rover creek, west of Nelson, and R. Watson Scot, an English metallurgist, is superintending operations.

The Hedley Gold Mining company has declared the second quarterly dividene of 3 per cent for the year, amounting to $60,000. This makes a total of $120,000 distributed in dividends so far this year and $1,272,000 distributed in dividends since the mine was taken over by the present company in July, 1909, and is equivalent to 106 per cent on the capitalization.

A lead vein has been uncovered on the Rocher de Boule Wonder group. O. B. Wallace came down for the week end and brought some fine samples of new ore with him. He says that he has a vein of from two and a half feet, and the surface samples certainly show some fine lead ore. There is also a little copper running through it, but the lead predominates. Mr. Wallace feels much encouraged by the new find.

The Le Roi No. 2 has been granted an option by the Giant-California company at Rossland, on the two clalms, Giant and California, and has commenced to work them. The agreement covers several years and necessitates practically continuous work by the optionees. The Le Roi No. 2 administration will direct operations chiefly through the workings of the Josie mine, owned by them, since three of the Josie levels abut on California ground adjoining the Annie claim.

Another copper-smelting furnace having been blown in at the Consolidated Co.'s works at Trail, a larger quantity of ore is being shipped from the company's mines in Rossland camp. The total quantity of ore shipped hence to Trail during four weeks ended May 28 was 19,495 tons, which was an average of 4,874 tons a week; during four weeks ended June 25 it was 9,779 tons, an average of 4,945 tons; for the week ended July 2 the quantity was 6,622 tons. Of the total of 45,896 tons shipped during the 9 weeks, only 4,343 tons was custom ore, the larger part was from the Consolidated company's mines, namely: Centre Star group, 28,604 tons and Le Roi 12,949 tons.

Back to the Trail

Narcisse Lemieux, of the municipal board of works, who recently returned to town after attending the old-timers' reunion in Nelson, took to the wilds again this week after enjoying the comforts of civilization for some years. Nels, who is one of the oldest pioneers in the Boundary, left in company with Bert Davies on a prospecting trip to the headwaters of the Kettle river. The principle point headed for is in the neighborhood of Monashee mountain lying between the Arrow and Okanagan lakes, a district seldom troubled with the visit of either a white or red man. The idea of this trip occurred to Nels some years ago when a friend of his showed him some likely looking gold quartz that he had picked up near Monashee, but who on going back was unable to find the source of the float owing to the recent visit of a forest fire. Nels, however, thinks he knows the spot, hence his adventurous trip into the tall timbers. He says that all the creeks at the headwaters of the Kettle river show colors. The party travels via Carmi and will endeavor to negotiate as as possible on horseback, after that it will be a case of Shank's mare. The return trip will be easier and will be accomplished on rafts.

Farewell to Phoenix

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Neil severed their connection with Phoenix this week, and left on Monday's train for the home of Mrs. Neil's parents at Burton City on the Arrow lakes. The former intends spending the remainder of the summer and fall prospecting with his father-in-law in the Fire Valley district, and eventually intends to make his future home at Princeton in the Similkameen.

Wealth cannot buy every happiness, but it will come so near to it, that there are few if any of us poverty stricken ones, who wouldn't care to experiment with it.

Working Chelan Claims

Alex. Peterson, another of the old-timers of the Kootenay and Boundary, left on Thursday morning to continue development on his mining property in the Lake Chelan district of Washington. The claims which are fourteen in number, are considered among the most promising in that section of the state, assays from picked samples ranging as high as $240 to $360 in gold, silver and copper. A general assay, however, taken two years ago which was considered a fair sample, returned $134.80, $56 of which was in silver. Mr. Peterson has refused what many people think was a very tempting offer.

C.P.R. Train Alteration

On account of the closing down of the British Columbia Copper company's Rawhide mine and the consequent cessation of ore shipments via the C.P.R., the train crew of the passenger who have hitherto made their headquarters at Eholt will in future run right through to Grand Forks.

Examination Results

The results of the usual annual examinations for admission to the high school of the province, which for this district were held in Greenwood on June 22, were made public by the department at Victoria this week. Six pupils from the Phoenix public school sat for the exam. and all but one were successful in meeting the prescribed tests. The following are the names of the successful candidates, together with the number of marks obtained: O. William Owen, 631; Geraldine D. McGeer, 614; Andrew Patterson, 607; Francis A. Patterson, 582; and Edward Blundell, 550. The official examiner was Mrs. J. R. Munro.

Because you have money, don't get it into your head you're a winner. Just lose it once, and you'll find yourself about as welcome as a tramp at a garden party.

A Catastrophe

Cats are known to carry considerable electricity around with them, consequently there isn't much room for more than only a slight extra amount in their bodies. Here is a case of one that suffered severely from a slight overcharge of 20,000 volts. About a month ago (ask the sub-station staff why we put it down at a month) a cat with one of its nine lives to spare, wandered into the old Cascade sub-station in pursuit of a bird. The plant is still supplying power, and the apparatus is always alive, though it requires no constant attention and hence is kept locked up. Cautiously pussy crept after her intended dinner, which eventually perched itself on the switchboard. Not to be outdone, puss did a little climbing and took up a favorable position nearby. Then followed a lightning spring that caused the operator at Cascade to wonder where all the extra load was coming from.

The sequel followed within the time above stated, when the inspector under the impression that a glue factory had started in the neighborhood, sallied out to investigate with a can of chloride of lime. The search, however, terminated on Saturday evening, when the remains of what was once undoubtedly a cat were discovered lying around the switchboard in sections.

Thos. A. McIntyre, merchant of Grand Forks, whose strange disappearance two week's ago, caused his relatives and friends considerable uneasiness, has been located in Tacoma, Wash.

Grand Forks Visitors

R. J. Gardner of the Grand Forks firm of Miller and Gardner, accompanied by Mrs. Gardner, motored up from the valley in Al. Almstrom's car on Wednesday and are the guests of the latter for a few days. Mr. Gardner, who is a member of the Grand Forks board of trade, says that the promise of an excellent harvest in his district grows daily more encouraging. Unfortunately the delay in opening the new cannery has occasioned some disappointment, but hopes are strongly entertained that everything will be in readiness to handle a portion of the tomato and corn crop, and later on the apples and pears. Over $14,000 has been expended on the building alone, which is a most substantial structure of brick and cement.

Baker-Bell

The wedding of George Alex. Stuart Bell, late of the Royal navy, to Miss Constance Mary Baker, was solemnized on Tuesday, July 21, at St. John's church, the vicar, Rev. Laurence B. Lee, officiating. Both of the contracting parties are residents of Grand Forks district, where the bridegroom has been ranching for the past three years. The birthplace of the bridegroom was given as Plastow, Essex, England, and that of the bride, the historic cathedral city of St. Albans, England. The witnesses to the ceremony were Henry A. Baker, brother of the bride, and Sam Fraser Powers, both of Grand Forks.

SATURDAY, JULY 25, 1914.

London financiers attribute the present financial stringency to the late Balkan war, the threatened trouble in Ireland, and the internal disturbance in Mexico.

The Nova Scotia Temperance Act abolishes the bar everywhere in Nova Scotia, with the exception of the city of Halifax, which will now be the only wet place in the province.

The government has appointed Mr. Justice Macdonald and Mr. Justice Morrison of the Supreme Court bench a Royal commission to report on the basis of a redistribution measure, to be presented to the legislature at the next session.

The Slocan Record says there is a splendid opening in Sandon for two or three dozen matrimonially inclined young women. It is said that options have been taken on all the recent arrivals in that busy city, and there are splendid opportunities for a limited number of young ladies.

It is reported that the fish hatchery at Gerrard has now upwards of more than a million fish swimming about in twenty-six troughs. In a few weeks they are to be turned loose in the various streams of that section. A gallon or two would be acceptable in Phoenix for the stocking of Loon lake.

There is something in pills after all. Sir Thomas Beecham, who made a pile in purgatives has completed negotiations for the purchase of nineteen acres of property in the heart of London. The consideration is said to be in the neighborhood of twenty million dollars. We never believed it, but he always claimed his pills were "worth a guinea a box."

The two-cent a pound postage rate on British magazines expires at the end of July, and there is no advices at the Ottawa postoffice as to its probable renewal. The subject has been negotiated upon, but without result so far, and whether the rate in force since 1907 will be continued or the rate of eight cents a pound reverted to remains to be determined.

Jos. Martin a former premier of British Columbia and recently the Liberal member for St. Pancras, recently stated that the principles of English Liberals are a disgrace to the nation. He was so disgusted with the white washing of Lloyd-George and Rufus Isaacs during the late Marconi graft scandal that he has come over to Canada for a pure, fresh draught of our invigorating political air. Speaking of principles; wonder what Joe thinks of, say the Farmers' bank, and er the Liberal senators of his native land.

The picturesque, sulphur-breathing and mint-julep drinking southern colonel will soon be a thing of the past if the present war department of the United States is allowed its way. The other day the army board dropped a bombshell into the drawing rooms of South Carolina and figuratively snuffed out of existence no less than three major-generals, thirty brigadiers, and two or three hundred colonels, majors and captains. Our Uncle Samuel is evidently not to be caught napping, and in future as far as the south is concerned, requires something more in the line of ability from its officers than conducting a political campaign or managing a first-class hotel.

The action of the Provincial government in reserving the immense forests of this country is beginning to bear the best of fruit. The other day a tract of timber was sold near Eagle lake for $50,000, or about $25 per acre. One of the conditions now governing the sale of timber by the government is that the land must be logged off within a period of three years. Hitherto the settlement of land in B.C. has been sadly hampered by the absence of some such clause, many of the timber lessees, such as those around the Shuswap, holding on to land after every vestige of merchantable timber had been cleared off. The revenue from the sale of timber by the government promises to reach a tremendous figure, the money for which will be utilized for the construction of roads and other public works, thus relieving the taxpayer of a not inconsiderable burden.

Lloyd George, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, who for the past three years has tried to make a stereotyped joke of the danger of civil war in Ireland, now admits that the laugh is on the other party, that is if there is any humor at all in the thought of a Protestant slitting the throat of a brother Roman Catholic. That erstwhile humorist has at last experienced a thorough change of heart. He admits now that such a horrible contingency is anything but remote. The bristle of the Ulster and Nationalist bayonets have at last aroused him to a deep sense of impending danger. In a speech delivered last week he went out of his way to inform a gathering of bankers and London merchants that he had now altered his mind—there is a danger, and in view of the fact that his pet scheme of disestablishment of the church in Wales is now an assured fact, it would be interesting to know what he and other Welshmen think of the price they have paid for it. Time was when he was glad to escape the fury of an English mob disguised in the illfitting garb of a Birmingham policeman. The ruse came near being a failure, but for the sake of the good he has done, it is to be hoped that his next disguise will be such as to minimize to the very lowest degree any risk of detection.

Maps For Land Seekers

Three new pre-emptors maps covering the Nechaco, Chilcoten and North Thompson districts, have just been issued by the surveys branch of the Department of Lands. These maps form part of a series of ten, covering approximately 100,000 square miles, and will prove of great assistance to intending pre-emptors. They show the lands surveyed to date in the sections covered, the tracts thrown open being shown in pink, while those taken up are shown in white. Surveyed and unsurveyed areas can be pre-empted at the office of the government agent of the land-recording division in which it is situated. It is necessary to stake the unsurveyed land and describe it according to metes and bounds in the application. The surveyed tracts can be applied for without restaking, being described in the application by their number.

Maps have already been issued in this series showing the lands for pre-emption in the Fort George and Tete Jaune districts. It was in these districts that 80,000 acres was opened last month, and over three-quarters of this land remains open. The new maps cover the areas adjoining that embraced in previous ones; the whole series are drawn to connect with each other.

The Nechaco sheet shows a territory westward of the Fort George district extending to the Hazelton division and embraces the great interior lake basin, and the Nechaco, Endako and other fertile valleys. The North Thompson sheet shows the land adjoining the new C.N.P. railway, and extends northward from the railway belt to the territory embraced in the maps previously published. It includes the Canen lake, Bridge lake and Bonaparte districts of eastern Lillooet and the Clearwater, Barriere and Adams lake districts, other areas in which settlement is taking place. The Chilcoten sheet covers the northern Lillooet and southern Cariboo plateaux and valleys. Another map, the Quesnel sheet, is being completed, which will cover the territory between that embraced in the Chilcoten and North Thompson sheets.

The series of pre-emptors maps together with the series of pamphlets published by the Department of Lands describing in detail the topographic and other features of the Fort George, Fort Fraser, Skeena, Cariboo and Peace river land recording divisions will prove of great value to intending settlers in B.C.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Fifteen claims were staked on the ground a few days after the news leaked out and a local company has seven men employed transporting a hydraulic outfit to the place. It is said that the place has been worked before, as tailings and old wheelbarrows are still to be seen together with the remains of an old shack.

The reporter ventures the prophecy that before long the Japs will be renting stalls in the market.

A Useful Expedition

An expedition is shortly to start out from England that will entail a journey of nearly a quarter of a million miles and consume the greater part of six years. The object of the trip, which is under the command of Foster Stackhouse, was at first intended to chart the coast of the Antarctic continent, has now been changed and will include a world-wide search for uncharted islands, reefs and shoals. The seven seas have never yet been accurately charted, says Foster Stackhouse, the oceanographer of the expedition, even the north Atlantic has its doubtful rocks, and just previous to the Titanic disaster four different captains had reported sighting rocks near the point where that ship went down. It is interesting to know that that ill-fated spot is to be one of the first places to be investigated.

Getting Even

The whole tax-paying population of Ulster probably will have to pay for the damage done in that province by the militant suffragettes. Sir Hugh McCalmont, a former Unionist member of parliament, has brought an action against the county of Antrim for $55,000 for the destruction of his magnificent residence by suffragettes in March last.

The action is brought under a law that applies only to Ireland, and which was enacted at the time of the Nationalist militant campaign in favor of Home Rule. Under this law a county is responsible for any damage done by mobs or persons and must also pay for any extra police protection sent in anticipation of violence. Should General McCalmont's action be successful the taxpayers of Antrim will have to pay an extra tax of nearly four cents on the dollar to cover the damage.

HAPPY MOTHERHOOD

The happiness of motherhood is too often checked because the mother's strength is not equal to her cares, while her unselfish devotion neglects her own health.

It is a duty of husband or friend to see that she gets the pure medicinal nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which is not a drug or stimulant but nature's concentrated oil-food tonic to enrich and enliven the blood, strengthen the nerves and aid the appetite. Physicians everywhere prescribe Scott's Emulsion for overworked, nervous, tired women; it builds up and holds up their strength.

Old Phoenix Directory

Recalling the days when there were buz and bang to life in Greenwood, is an old telephone directory, which was secured by H. Lumney, manager of the B.C. Telephone company at Greenwood. The directory, which was printed on a large card, is of the vintage of 1899. It was found in a deserted cabin, a few miles out of Phoenix. Romance centred in the Boundary in those days, and quite a little story is woven around the old domicile in the hills where the directory was nailed to the wall, and judging from the bullet holes had been used as a target more than once. The cabin was erected as an office for Alfred Lynch, foreman for the Brandon-Golden Crown mine, a property located in 1896 by Billie Porter, one of the widely-known prospectors who roamed the hills of the Boundary in those days. He is now living in Victoria, and is reputed to have made his pile. He sold out the mine to a company of Brandon people, and some good ore was taken out of the property. The building was later used as an office by W. P. Tierney, railway contractor, during the construction of the spur from Silica to Jack Pot mine, one of the Wellington group.

Greenwood had a fairly large population in those days and was very active, but a few years after the quietness that often follows a mining boom settled on the Boundary town. Many of the people whose names are in the directory of 1899 are now to be found in Vancouver and other cities on the coast. Of the Phoenix subscribers, Dr. Boucher is an eye specialist in Vancouver; J. B Boyle has a drug store in Kitsilano; Dr. Gordon has an office in the Dominion building, and A. P. McKenzie is in the real estate business in Vancouver.—Telephone Talk.

A big bear descended on Eholt a few days ago and visited the hog pen at Luse's ranch. The visitor carried away with him one of the porcine occupants weighing somewhere about 70lbs.

To Keep Butter Cool

When ice is not available, put enough butter in a small dish and set it in a larger one containing a little water. Turn a porous clay flower pot over it and this will cause evaporation of the water in a way that keeps the air inside the pot very cool. If the pot is wrapped in wet cloth, the corners of which are left touching the water in the outer dish, the arrangement is almost as good as an ice chest. Stand the dish where there is a free circulation of air.

Don't waste your time hating or envying. Spend that time in striving for your aim in life; it's lots more profitable.
