THE OBSERVATORY

THINGS TALKED OF AT HOME AND ELSEWHERE

Another newspaper man has taken a leap, and thrown behind him the cares of a single life. Louis J. Ball, business manager of the Vernon News, was married a few days ago to Miss Mary Haffey, of Brantford, Ont., the ceremony being performed at Revelstoke. The ranks of the bachelors in the profession are thus becoming sadly depleted.

A conscientious study of the map of British Columbia would not do any harm to the editors of a number of coast journals. If pursued diligently they would learn something of the interior, and gradually get over the idea that there is little of consequence away from salt water. In such case, we would not find the sturdy Victoria Colonist speaking of the Eva mine as being located at Cranbrook, with a number of other journals copying the item, mistakes and all.

Four years ago this week the plant for the Phoenix Pioneer was being freighted into the Boundary from Bossburg, Wash., via Cascade and Grand Forks. There were untold troubles in getting the paper started on its feet, not the least of which was to secure a place in which to do business. After it was finally secured, the place was sans doors and windows for nearly a week, so great was the demand for mechanics and building material of all kinds. There have been many changes in Phoenix since that time, a short four years ago, but the chief mining camp of the Boundary has shown a steady growth with every year, in spite of the fact that the boom that always comes with the building of a new railway, passed away, with all that it implies in the general shrinkage. Each year has seen a progress that was marked and substantial. The years have, to a large extent, been years of preparation, and the next four should see an even greater era of progress, now that the initial stages have gone into history.

The Pioneer has the best evidence that the C. P. R. has recently reduced its freight rates from the east. The reduction, as we see it, is not large enough to affect the regular dividends of the company, but it is a reduction, nevertheless, and that is something. The total difference on a certain shipment of paper from Toronto to Phoenix was $1.05 less than the rate previously charged on an identical shipment. This is a move in the right direction, and should be encouraged, as there is no telling how low the rates may get in time.

Seemingly, the eastern editor who wrote the following, had had the advantage of experience:

Young man, don't swear. There is no occasion for it outside of a printing office, where it is useful when the paper is behind time. It also comes in handy in proof reading and is indispensable when the ink works bad and the press begins to buck. It has been known to remove that tired feeling of an editor when he looks over the paper after it is printed. Outside a printing office it is a foolish thing.

We notice in a number of exchanges references to a smelter which is to be built in the Similkameen, and it is said, will be larger than any smelter now in operation on the American continent. Can this be the Ashnola Smelter, Ltd., exploited a year or two ago by D. R. Young, and which was supposed to have fallen into innocuous desuetude? It can be set down as a fact that no smelters will be built in that section until railway connections are made, and as yet the only railways that have been built in the Similkameen were built as the smelters were—on paper.

George E. Dey has been visiting his brother at Rossland this week.

Rev. J. Burt Morgan will preach in the Presbyterian church tomorrow.

Alex. Birnie, a brother of L. Y. Birnie, was in the city this week from Vernon.

Dr. Simmons, dentist, has moved his office to the Boyle block, on Knob Hill avenue.

J. E. W. Thompson, of the firm of Morrin, Thompson & Co., is expected to return from the east next week.

TWO SHOVELS AT WORK

Second Machine Arrived This Week.

NOW RUNNING AT THE GRANBY MINES

Third is Expected Here by the End of This Month—New Machine Was Borrowed from the C. P. R.

Two steam shovels are now hard at work in the ore quarries of the Granby mines, handling the broken down ore in a most expeditious manner. The one that has been in use for some months, made especially for the purpose, is still doing good work at the mouth of the No. 1 Knob Hill tunnel, and is giving the greatest of satisfaction. The machine was made by the Automatic Shovel Co., of Lorain, Ohio.

This week, the second machine arrived, being loaned to the Granby Co. by the C. P. R., it having been at work at the gravel pits at Castlegar. On its arrival it was immediately switched to the special track laid for its use, at the No. 1 pit or quarry, and as soon as it was gotten in order, was set at work loading the broken down ore directly into the C. P. R. dump cars, for transportation to the smelter. While not made specially for this particular work, and consequently not as adaptable for it, the machine is doing very well, considering. It is larger than the No. 1 shovel, and somewhat heavier.

Some time the latter part of this month a third shovel is expected to arrive from Lorain, Ohio, where it is now being manufactured to the order of the Granby Co.

CITY WILL PAY $1,000.

On Its Obligation to the Bank of Montreal, Greenwood.

At Wednesday's meeting of the city council, there were Mayor Rumberger and Councilmen Birnie, McDonald and Marshall. Among other matters of importance, the city clerk was directed to pay the Bank of Montreal, of Greenwood, $1,000 on account of the note due that institution by the city, which will reduce the obligation to $8,000.

The chief of police was directed to order the proprietors of the Reco laundry to ditch and pipe the waste water from that concern.

G. C. Hodge, district manager of the Vernon & Nelson Telephone Co., was present, to arrange with the council the placing of the new poles that the company is now erecting on Knob Hill avenue. Mr. Hodge also talked over the installation of a fire alarm system in this city. In this connection, a communication was read from E. G. Warren, of the Greenwood Electric Co., offering to install a fire alarm system with five boxes for $350.

A letter was read from Hon. Richard McBride, Victoria, acknowledging receipt of a letter from the city clerk, in regard to the erection of a pest-house, which it was said would have attention.

After attending to these various matters, the council, on a recommendation of the finance committee, ordered the payment of the following accounts:

Phoenix Water Supply Co.	$ 84 90
McIntyre & McDonald, coal, etc.	63 00
J. B. Macaulay, scavenger work,	3 00
J. T. Tipping, jail account	1 75
Morrin, Thompson & Co., supplies,	14 80
H. A. Munro, sidewalks,	72 93
Phoenix Curling Club, lumber,	42 00
V. & N. Telephone Co.,	4 00
Hunter-Kendrick Co., supplies,	13 90
Pioneer Pub. Co., stationery,	7 50
N. Lemieux, labor,	45 00
D. J. Matheson, freight,	41 00
Total,	$370 90

Cecil Martin, son of J. L. Martin, rode up from Spokane on his wheel this week, accompanied by a friend, Homer Boydston. The boys are attending high school in Spokane. After spending a few days here they returned on their rubber steeds.

PHOENIX WILL HAVE THE BEST.

Work Started on Telephone System Improvements.

This week the long talked of improvements to the system of the Vernon & Nelson Telephone Co. in Phoenix were started, when District Manager Hodge, of Nelson, and Foreman Irwin arrived with a force of linemen.

A new trunk line is being built up Dominion avenue and School street, through the heart of the city, and the old line, that has done service for the last five years, will be torn down. The long cedar poles are now being put in place, and tons of wire have arrived. The new system will be the best one in the Boundary, as it will be a metallic circuit throughout—no other exchange in the Boundary being so arranged. This will give absolute privacy to all conversations, and the annoying crosstalk, which has been so prevalent, will, happily, be a thing of the past.

As soon as the new system is complete, and the transfer can be completed, the central office will be moved from the present location to the First street entrance of the Bank building, in the office formerly occupied by Manager Martin, of the Phoenix Electric Lighting Co., Ltd.

Mr. Hodge says that the work will be rushed with all possible speed, so that by the first of December, everything will be in good working order in the new office. Were it not for the delay in the receipt of supplies to prosecute the work, it would now be well on towards completion.

During the prosecution of the work the system will be in more or less of a disarrangement, but local patrons will doubtless put up with this with little grumbling, in view of the improvements that will shortly follow.

ASSOCIATED BOARDS MEETING.

The sixth annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia will meet in Rossland on Wednesday, December 2nd, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The boards entitled to be represented at this meeting are those of Nelson, Kaslo, Rossland, Moyie, Fort Steele, Grand Forks, Cascade, Revelstoke, Trail, Greenwood, Phoenix, Vernon, Cranbrook, Fernie, and Kamloops, and any other Board of Trade within the districts of Kootenay, Yale and Cariboo that has been registered under the Dominion Boards of Trade Act, and that may make application for membership.

Resolutions proposed for discusssion at the Convention must be in the hands of the secretary at least twenty days prior to the date of the meeting.

The usual arrangements in regard to transportation will be made, and announced later.

In the temporary absence from the province of the secretary (Mr. Jackson) all communications in regard to this meeting may be sent to the President,

G. O. BUCHANAN, of Kaslo.

School Report for October.

The report of the Phoenix public school for the month of October shows that the attendance has been steady and the progress fair.

In the first division the average attendance was 38.36, with eight new pupils enrolled. In the second division there were also eight new pupils enrolled during the month, the total of enrolled pupils being 96. The average in the second division was 40. The new principal, Charles L. Thornber, is taking hold of the work in good shape, and giving very general satisfaction. School was in session about three weeks of the calendar month. He states, however, that one great need of the school now is large maps, and hopes that arrangements will be made soon to supply them.

You will make no mistake by attending the concert ball being given by the Hospital Ladies' Aid at Miners' Union hall next week Friday. The union has very kindly donated the use of the hall for this occasion.

Fred Marrall, who had been ill some weeks at the Phoenix General Hospital, died Sunday evening, the funeral being held Tuesday, Rev. W. J. Wood officiating. He was a young man of some 26 years, a native of the northern part of Germany, and had been in camp since June, coming from Washington. He was afflicted with a complication of diseases.

RUNNING NOS. 5 AND 6

Two New Furnaces at Granby Smelter.

TWO OTHERS ARE BEING REPAIRED

In a Few Days All Six Will Be in Blast, and This Camp Will be Shipping About 2,000 Tons Daily.

This week the two new furnaces at the Granby smelter, Nos. 5 and 6, were placed in blast, this being made possible by the arrival late last week of one of the slag hauling locomotives, that have been on the way so long, and which should have arrived two or three months ago. When the two new blast furnaces were finally placed in commission this week, two others, of the original four, were allowed to go cold for the purpose of making minor but necessary repairs, before all six furnaces were placed in operation at once.

It is anticipated by the smelter management that these repairs will require but a few days, and that very shortly the full battery of the six furnaces—making by all odds the largest smelter in the entire Dominion of Canada—will be using up Phoenix ore at the rate of 2,000 tons per day. This state of affairs will probably be in effect some time next week, according to the present programme.

As there is no complaint on the score of coke supply nowadays there should be a good long run ahead of the Granby smelter at its fullest capacity, which, of course means the employment of at least some mor men at the company's mines in this camp. It is said that there is a reserve of over 4,000 tons of coke in the Crows Nest now, which can be drawn on.

Electric Pump Arrived at Last.

This week the electric pump for the Phoenix Electric Lighting Co., Ltd., was received and is being installed at the new pump house, located near Marshall lake, a short distance from the old pump house that was burned down last week.

The pump is a pretty little machine, weing complete something like 6,000 pounds, and is probably the finest of its kind ever brought into the Boundary country. To prepare for its use the company has built a new well near the lake, where the new pump house has also been erected, having spent several thousand dollars in preparing to give the residents of Phoenix the purest water for domestic purposes of any town in the interior. It is expected that the pump will be in operation early next week, the power being generated by the falls of the Kettle river at Cascade.

Latest Prices in Metals.

NEW YORK—Copper, electrolytic and lake, $13.50 @ $14.00.
Bar Silver, 50⅞.
Lead, $4 50.

H. T. Ceperly, of Vancouver, one of the best known insurance agents in the province, and whose companies are known to be gild edged in the fire insurance world, was in the city late last week, to adjust the loss at the pump station of the Phoenix Electric Lighting Co., recently destroyed by fire. The loss was adjusted at something over $1,000.

Boundary Mining Notes.

The Granby smelter treated 38,367 tons of ore in October.

This week the Athelstan-Jackpot ore shipments take quite a jump.

It is said that there is likely to be a reorganization at the Boundary Falls smelter shortly.

It is reported that the Goldfinch, in Skylark camp, is looking better than ever with development.

The Mother Lode has a private system of eight telephones, connecting different parts of the works.

At the Winnipeg the compressor has been set on its bed, and the connections are being made. Next week it will be in operation.

In October the Granby mines shipped 39,398 tons of ore; the Mother Lode sent out 12,665 tons and the Snowshoe sent out 9,480 tons.

Next Tuesday will be the monthly payday for the employees of the Granby mines. It will be one of the largest paydays yet had by the company.

Since the general close of the mines in and around Butte, Montana, not a few of the miners have been coming into the Boundary to secure work.

The new castings for the cylinders for the two 30 drill air compressors for the Granby mines, to take the place of those that exploded in August, arrived this week, and are being placed in position as rapidly as possible.

Smith Curtis, manager of the Oro Denoro, has been at the mine again this week. Everything about the property is going along smoothly, and the shipments are soon to be at the rate of 200 tons daily, now that the air compressor is in good shape.

The final payment on the Elkhorn, adjoining the Providence, is to be made next month, and will be made, like the payments on the Providence were, out of profits from the ore shipped. This is one of the high grade mines of the Boundary, the ore running over $100 per ton, and Phil McDonald and James Sutherland, who have the bond, evidently have a splendid property.

Several small properties in the Boundary have recently had development work started on them. Dr. Averill and associates are working the Eagle, and he is also working on the Minnie, in Summit camp, near the Emma. Chas. Simpson is working the Iron Chief, adjoining the Betts and Hesperus group. W. T. Smith has started work on the Emma fraction in Summit camp. J. K. Fraser is working the Evening Star in Wellington camp, and G. W. Rumberger is developing the King in the same camp.

New Curling Club Officers.

The members of the Phoenix Curling club held a meeting last Monday evening, to arrange affairs for the coming winter season The following were chosen to manage the affairs of the club: President, T. J. Hardy; vice-president, J. A. Morrin; secretary, O. B. Smith, Jr.; treasurer, G. W. Rumberger; executive committee, Isaac Crawford, Dr. R. B. Boucher and Geo. McNichol.

It was decided to go on with the putting of the rink in shape against cold weather, and the prospects for the members having some good sport with the stones this winter are excellent.

Reserved seats, without extra charge, for the Olde Folkes Concerte, can now be secured at Thos. Brown's store.

A meeting of the Hospital Ladies' Aid is to be held at the residence of Mrs. Issac Crawford, Brooklyn avenue, Monday afternoon. A full attendance is requested.

Following are the officers of the hockey club elected last Wednesday: Honorary president, W. S. Macy; president, Wm. Dunn; vice-presidents, W. X. McDonald and E. P. Shea; secretary-treasurer, J. O. Church; executive committee, C. D. Hunter, J. J. Strutzel, J. O. Church and M. H. Roy; manager, A. E. H. Clark.

With great glee the Liberals chortle to themselves at the supposed disruption in the Conservative ranks. As it is very largely in their own minds, however, they are reckoning without their host. There will be no pie for them at the provincial counter for a long time to come.

It is now understood that the McBride ministry will meet the people, as arranged, on the 26th of this month, pass some needed fiscal legislation and then adjourn till after the holidays. By that time the by-elections will have taken place, and the premier will likely have a good majority.

In ten months of this year Boundary mines have shipped somewhat over 530,000 tons of ore, with the probability of the year's total running upwards of 650,000 tons—an increase of 25 per cent over the output of 1902. This is doing very well, when everything is taken into consideration.

The Nelson News has been at pains to publish any old rumor that it's Liberal correspondent at the coast could find, and display it to the disadvantage of the McBride government. It seemed to matter little whether the item had the remarks of truth or not—It went, just the same. But much to the disgust of the News, Mr. McBride seems to be getting along very well, and is paying no attention to the opposition press.

There is a marked difference between the copper kings of Montana and the lesser copper kings of the Boundary. In Montana they seem to be ever in deadly conflict, and in the Boundary they get along very well together. And it is more than probable that British Columbia today has as much or more copper in her rock ribbed hills as has Montana. Incidentally, the war now on with greater virulence than ever in Montana, is likely to do incalculable damage to that state and its inhabitants.

John Houston seemed to be permeated with the idea that he was the whole thing when he reached the coast. Undoubtedly Mr. Houston would have made a good cabinet officer, but the powers that be did not agree with him. Therefore, like the little girl, John proceeds to take his doll and wend his way homewards. Now he breathes dire vengeance on those who were the cause of his not being accepted for a portfolio. Suppose every member elected by the Conservatives did the same thing, as every one has just as much right to do as John Houston. It would be a nice state of affairs. Mr. Houston made his own bed, and must now lie on it.

Two Great Mines.

Utah has many great mines, but it has two that may be classed as exceptionally great. They are Silver King and Daly West.

Since the first of the present year the Daly West has paid dividends amounting to $1,098,000, and its grand total of dividends to date is $3,355,000.

The Silver King has, since the first of the year, paid in dividends an even one million dollars, while its grand total of dividends to date is $6,950,000.

World Wide Mining

The increase in the price of silver means about $100,000 more monthly to the Coeur d'Alene mine owners.

The Rio Tinto dividend this year was 32 shillings per share, amounting to 60 per cent. on the capitalization of the company.

Colorado has become an important producer of zinc ore, the output for the year for that state being placed at 24,241 short tons, valued at $2,544,993.

Never before has so much solid development work been done in the Index mining district, Washington. The North Star, Ethel, Copper Bell and Sunset are all putting in new machinery.

The official figures of the Rand gold output in September are 276,197 ounces, or 300 less than the estimate cabled a few days ago. Nevertheless they show an increase of 4,279 over August.

The officers of the U. S. mint at San Francisco have just given out that California produced $16,972,100 in gold last year, placing the state second as to gold output, with Colorado at the head.

The Daly West mine at Park City, Utah, is paying its stockholders 36 per cent. per annum on a par value of $20. The Silver King mine at the same place pays its fortunate stockholders 40 per cent. on a par value of $20.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

Advertising generates business activity.

One good ad after another compounds business at a rapid rate.

There's something wrong with the business that truth will not effectively advertise.

The appropriation for advertising should keep pace with the growth of the business.

If you know how to get at people in the right way, you should know how to make your advertising pay.

The business man who keeps out of advertising or stops it because it is an expense will eventually find it rather expensive to be in business at all.

CONTRACTED FOR 104 OVENS.

International Co. to Employ 600 Men Next Spring.

H. N. Galer, secretary of the International Coal & Coke Co., which is developing its coal measures at Coleman, on the Crow's Nest Pass railroad, has just awarded the contract for the erection of the first battery of 104 coke ovens. The output amounts to 100 tons of coal daily, and shipments are being made to various points. The colliery inside of ten months is expected to be producing 2000 tons of coal daily. Three hundred additional coke ovens are to be built next spring, when the company expects to have 600 men on its payroll. The contract for all the plant, electric locomotives, tipples, etc., has just been awarded by President A. C. Flummerfelt, who is in the east.

The officers of the coal company are closely identified with the Granby Consolidated. Besides shipping coke to the Granby smelter, it is the intention of the company to ship its product to American as well as Canadian markets.

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 50 N. Tenth St. Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it pretty hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by all druggists.

B. C. MINING

It is announced that five large gold dredgers are now under construction for use at Atlin.

The Eva ten stamp mill is putting through 33 tons a day or three and a quarter tons per stamp.

A meeting of the Executive of the Provincial Mining Association is to be held in Kamloops on November 23.

The Wilcox mine, Ymir, is shipping its concentrates regularly, and they prove a big source of profit.

The Stemwinder mine at Fairview is working 30 men, and the high grade ore lately struck is holding out all right.

A 50 ton Elmore oil concentrator plant has been ordered for the War Eagle and Centre Star mines at Rossland.

180 men are now working on the Silver Cup and Nettie L. properties New boarding and bunk houses are being erected at the Cup.

The Inland smelter, which will be built about three miles down the river from Kamloops, will be, when first started, capable of handling 200 to 300 tons of ore yer day.

Ore shipmenss from Rossland camp for last week were: LeRoi, 5,070; Centre Star, 1,440; War Eagle, 1,110; Le Roi No. 2, 220; Jumbo, 300; Kootenay 180; I. X. L. (milled) 140; total for week 8460; for year to date, 330,574.

What a delightful role the parent plays, who, to satisfy the greed of a grasping neighor is able to give away a few acres or a few dollars which belong to his son. It is so generous and broad-minded and with-all so inexpensive—to the giver.—Vancouver Province.

HOW OLD IS ANN?

A Brain Twister That is Now the Rage.—Read It Carefully.

How old is Ann? It is a simple proposition. The whole country is now working on it, and women's clubs promise to take it up. Here is the problem.

Mary is 24 years old. Mary is twice as old as Ann was when Mary was as old as Ann is now. How old is Ann?

Simple, isn't it. Just as easy as rolling off a log. Of course you will say Ann is twelve. Then you will think it over for a while and discover that Ann is 16. Then you will kick yourself for your stupidity and confess that the girls are the same age. Before you go to bed your mind will be full of uncertainties, and you will proceed to work out the problem by algebra.

The problem first came up at Harvard. Football practice was suspended while it was being worked out. Then the New York papers were crowded with solutions, all different. From New York the fever spread. Even Philadelphia awoke, while Chitago has gone so far that the Tribune has a long editorial on the supject. It's a plain proposition. Read it over carefully.

How old is Ann?

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by all druggists.

Caught in a Stampede.

TWO years ago, when the cowboys of north-eastern Arizona came together to find out who was the "best man" in various ways, James Evans won the steer-tying championship by roping, throwing and tying a vicious steer in twenty-four seconds. But in a recent round-up the champion did a more remarkable thing, by which, says the Kansas City "Star," he saved his own and another man's life.

While he and some companions were camping for the night on a high tableland, which ended a few miles away in an abrupt drop of two hundred feet, a storm swept through the mountains. Made nervous by the lightning, the herd of fifteen hundred cattle stampeded in the direction of the precipice. Evans and his men mounted hurriedly and, circling to the front of the maddened cattle, tried with whoops and revolver-shots to turn them back.

In the dense blackness of the night Evans's horse missed his footing and went down in a heap, one leg in a gopher-hole. The horse of a cowboy named Davis, running close behind, stumbled over Evans's horse, and Davis, too, came to earth and lay still, unconscious.

Fifty yards away came the herd, and a short flash of lightning showed Evans the situation. The swiftly moving sea of cattle reached one hundred yards each way. Unable to arouse Davis, and never thinking of leaving his disabled comrade, Evans took the only chance of saving both. He emptied his own revolver and his companion's into the center of the herd, cutting a breach in the front of the mass. Then, throwing the inanimate form of Davis over his shoulder, he awaited his opportunity.

As one of the leaders brushed by, Evans, with one movement, put the body of Davis across the shoulders of the steer, and mounted, also. Vainly the animal leaped, bucked and sidejumped. With his legs wrapped tightly around the body of his mount, Evans drove his spurs deep in, and held himself and Davis in place.

The steer, wild with rage, agony and fright, rapidly left the herd in the rear, and, veering to the right in a furious gallop, carried his riders out of danger. Then Evans rolled off the back of his strange rescuer, and a half-hour later, when his cowboys turned the herd at the rim of the canyon, and rode back to look for the foreman and Davis, they found them, both unconscious. The weary steer, with his sides covered with blood, lay exhausted a short distance away.

The outfit ordered a medal for Evans, and the steer has been pensioned for life on the best alfalfa in the valley.

A Revolutionary Age.

Soulless corporations, heartless coquettes and conscienceless rascals of various sorts we have had with us now these many years, and it looks very much now as if a kind of providence was about to even things up a little by providing us with such useful contrivances as wireless telegraphy, heatless light, smokeless powder, boneless chad and seedless oranges. If some genius will rise up now and give us a breed of biteless dogs and stingless mosquitoes, together with some loseless umbrellas and spendless cash, we shall all be happy and content.—"Leslie's Weekly."

When to Get Married.

The astrologers, it is said, have named the following as propitious dates for marriages for 1903: January 2, 9, 11, 19 and 21; February 1, 3, 10, 19 and 21; March 3, 5, 12, 20 and 23; April 2, 4, 12, 20 and 22; May 2, 4, 12, 20 and 23; June 1, 3, 11, 19 and 21; July 1, 3, 12, 19, 21 and 31; August 2, 11, 18, 20 and 30; September 1, 9, 16, 18 and 28; October 1, 8, 15, 17, 27 and 29; November 5, 11, 13, 22 and 25; December 1, 8, 10, 19, 23 and 29.

The Monk's Knowledge of Women.

AN interesting story comes from the French Alps of Dauphiny relating the futile efforts of the Princess of Croy, who desired to enter the monastery of the Grande Chartreuse, a habitation from which women visitors are rigidly excluded.

The story runs that the Princess dressed herself in boy's clothes and accompanied her husband to the institution. The gates were opened to them, and the Prince sent his card to the father superior, with a line to the effect that he was accompanied by a friend.

Just as they were about to make the round of the building the word was received that the father would like to see the Prince and "his friend." Going upstairs they were received by the smiling monk, who cordially invited them to join him in an appetizing luncheon. The Princess endeavored to make the best of the situation, but she was not put any the more at her ease by the fact that the monk kept gazing sharply at her.

At last he exclaimed suddenly: "Catch it, young man!" at the same time throwing at her a large pear. The Princess was startled, and, thrown completely off her guard, made a motion to grab up her skirt, the absence of which she overlooked in her confusion.

Then the father stopped smiling and said with great gravity:

"I beg your pardon, madam, but ladies are not allowed in the monastery. I must ask you to wait outside until the Prince has finished his inspection."

And outside she had to go, the reverend father bowing her from the room with most elaborate politeness.

The Democracy of Children.

ONE amusing trait in children is their unconscious democracy. They are nearly always democratic when permitted any latitude. The desire for playmates levels sense of caste, if any exists. On a street through which I often pass there is a coterie of children who blend with the most thorough harmony, although they are of quite different social strata. One of the boys is a "smart" young gentleman in knickerbockers, always well groomed; another is a little Italian; a third, the thin, restless, wide awake son of a housekeeper. One of the little girls is a negress, with her woolly hair standing out from her head in thin curved-up tails. She is quite a belle in this "mixed" company.—Harper's "Bazar."

The Isle of the Lush Bananas.

A millionaire and a beggar suffered shipwreck and both were cast upon an uninhabited island which abounded in bananas. The millionaire, whose property was all in railroads, did not lose a cent by the shipwreck, but the poor beggar saved only the shirt on his back—which, indeed, was the only shirt he had had for longer than he could remember.

When they found themselves on the shore the millionaire nodded affably to the beggar and said: "I don't remember to have seen you before, but I suppose you must have been on the steamer. Second cabin?"

"No, stowaway. It's cheaper."

"Ah, yes. I hadn't thought of that. Well, this shipwreck is something of a leveler, and we might as well be friendly and see how we can help each other until we are rescued. What can you do?"

"I? Oh, I can beg."

"I'm afraid that in the absence of inhabitants that is a useless accomplishment," replied the millionaire.

"Well, what can you do, yourself?"

"I can buy," said the millionaire.

"Umph!" said the beggar.

"A very just remark," said the millionaire. "I see that we are on the same footing and the outlook is discouraging."

"That is just where I fail to agree with you," said the beggar. "For the first time since I can remember I can live without begging. See, the island is full of bananas."

"But," said the other, "bananas don't agree with me."

"You should have bought a better digestion when your money had purchasing power. Still, if you don't like fruit, there are fish. I see them leaping in the cove there, and we can make fire with your spectacles for a burning-glass."

"But fish almost poison me. I never eat them."

"Well, you are difficult. But there is a small bird."

"I never eat them without the accompaniment of a cold bottle. Still, I suppose I could go a small bird if you caught it and cooked it."

The twain spent months on the island and the beggar grew fat while the millionaire became as thin as an ascetic.

One day, while the millionaire watched the beggar making a meal of weak fish and fried bananas he said: "I would give all my millions (if I could get at them) for your appetite."

"There have been times," said the beggar, "when I would have jumped at your offer, but as we seem out of the track of steamers I won't even consider it. And to tell the truth, I don't believe that all your millions would make these fish any more delicate to my palate nor would seven millions buy so luscious a banana in New York as this that is now slipping over my tongue. But as for you, if you could buy my appetite it would be cheap at any price, for I am happy and fat and you are starving and sad. A word of advice. Next time you begin life see to it that you get an appetite for nourishing things along with your money, for there is more food in the world than there are places where money is valuable."—Charles Battell Loomis in "Saturday Evening Post."

Mark Twain on "Gentlemen."

Commenting on Mrs. Astor's alleged statement, that "without a college education no man can be a gentleman," Mark Twain says that "perhaps Mrs. Astor, when she uses the word 'gentleman,' does not have the same meaning in view that we rude people have." He thinks she probably means "a leader of cotillions; a spick and span dandy, who knows enough to observe the ordinary rules of politeness when he is on parade, and who has a valet at home to tell him what clothes are proper to wear." Twain's idea of a gentleman is "a kindly, courteous, unselfish man, who thinks first not of himself, but of his fellow-man; not one of those 'chappies,' who are in reality the most selfish men on earth," and he adds: "Take the men of prominence in the United States to-day and pick out the true gentlemen. I'll venture that nine out of ten of them never had a high school education, let alone a college education. Why, the first gentleman I ever knew was an old California miner, who could hardly write his own name. He was a '49er, and he and his partner had struck it rich in the early days. The old man had neither chick nor child, and he had worked hard all his life, and when he did get his money he hardly knew what to do with it. He didn't try to jump into society, or to push his way with the 'big fellows' there. He continued to live with the people he had associated with all his life, and many an act of kindness was done, many a wandering son and father saved, many a sorrowing woman's burden lightened and her life brightened by an unknown donor whose identity was only known to a few. It was different with his partner. He had a wife and two daughters with social aspirations, and after a whole lot of pushing and hauling and shoving they landed in society. The expense was too much of a drain on the husband's purse, and he speculated, with the inevitable outcome. He lost his entire fortune and shot himself. Then it was the true gentlemanliness of the old man showed itself. The widow and her daughters had no one to turn to but him, and he did not disappoint them. He saved their home for them when everything else went under the hammer, and he maintained them in it in all the regal style to which they were accustomed, although he still lived in his old lodgings. He lived long enough to see both of the girls well married and the mother comfortably settled for life. Then he died in a charity hospital in San Francisco. He had spent every penny he owned on the family of his partner. That is what I call a gentleman."

The Book of Facts.
