The Reason Why

You should buy The Best Sarsaparilla for a spring tonic:

Because

1. It is a larger bottle than the others.
2. It is concentrated, therefore the dose is small.
3. Taking three doses a day it will last you one month, thereby costing you but 3 cents a day.
4. It contains celery, sarsaparilla, yellow dock, stillingia with iodide of potassum.
5. It sells on its own merits.

"Little Thinks."

(By Jud Parsons).

If every citizen of Revelstoke who is continually talking of the sleepiness of the town would pinch himself and wake up to the fact that he was the sleepiest of the lot, what a lot of things there would be accomplished in this rising city this season.

Revelstoke has now a steam laundry and it is going to be the best investment in town. Now what we want is some good, smart girls, who are both willing to work and marry.

The lingering hobo is very conspicuous these days, but the time has come when he must "move on," as Sandy has his ire worked up, and the stipendiary magistrate is learning—we hope—a new song,—"00 days" instead of 10.

But why send these men to Kamloops? We have plenty of stumps to extract and town property to clear. Why not enlarge our jail or arrange at any rate to get the labor expended in Revelstoke. The chain gang is a thing the modern stiff is dead leary of and besides our landscape scenery would be much improved. At present all we get is a hard name for sending so many over to Kamloops.

A serious accident may be looked forward to at any time if the ladies, or even gentlemen, insist on riding bikes upon the high sidewalk leading to the C.P.R. station, and, besides, the bath which awaits one on either side would be very unpleasant.

The early closing movement is a go. All hands have decided to be like other great cities and adopt the early closing plan.

We understand that there are only 147 applications in for the position of city police up to this meeting, but of course there is plenty of time yet.

The Canoe river natural supply point in Revelstoke. Is Mr. Kellie going to turn a hand to help us win it? Are the merchants working hand in hand to gain it or is there anything being done except to criticize the other fellows for being so dead to their own interests.

THE RAILWAY SITUATION

In its last issue the HERALD published an interview with G. McL. Brown, of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, touching upon the railway situation in Kootenay generally. The HERALD is quite in accord with the principle of Canada for Canadians. We want to see Kootenay ores smelted in Kootenay and we want to see Kootenay business transacted in Kootenay cities and towns. We have helped to build up Spokane quite sufficiently already to offset anything Spokane enterprise has done to take hold and develop this district. There is no necessity to make that place the business capital of Kootenay altogether. And the HERALD believing that the sole aim and object of the promoters of the proposed Kettle river road is to turn the business of the Boundary country into Spokane pockets has no wish to see them granted their charter. There is no doubt that this is the light in which the scheme is regarded by the Spokane people themselves, and while the HERALD has no quarrel with them for reaching out for all the trade territory in sight, it does not wish to see them get it at the expense of the cities of this province.

But the C.P.R. has the game in their own hands. Only so far they have given it away by trying to fight Spokane from Vancouver. They can cut Spokane out and build up distributing point for Kootenay at any time they like to begin, by making a terminal freight rate point right in Kootenay itself, here at Revelstoke for that matter, if they want to. As far as the present fight with the Corbin road is concerned the C.P.R. has the HERALD'S sympathies, but a great deal of the necessity for fighting Corbin at all for the trade of the Boundary district has arisen from the vacillating, half-hearted policy which the C.P.R. itself has up to quite recently adopted to the development of the Kootenay country and trade as a whole. If the C.P.R. chose to set itself to do so they could build up a wholesale distributing centre right here in the middle of West Kootenay, because in ten years from now the mineral district north of the C.P.R. main line will be quite as important as that to the south of it, which would close Spokane out entirely. And it would be to the advantage of the whole district to have such a trade centre established, instead of having a dozen little points, none of them amounting to anything, except as convenient targets for Spokane enterprise. That is the real way to fight Spokane and the only way in which it ever will be done to complete satisfaction.

With regard to the smelting industries of Kootenay, if the C. P. R. will make it pay mine owners to smelt their ores in Kootenay, they will be smelted in Kootenay and the manufacture of lead and copper products may reasonably be expected to follow the smelters. For the market question, when the Dominion government ceases contemplating Ontario and Quebec as the sun and moon of the political firmament and pays some attention to the development of the resources of this province, a market, the coming market of the world, the greatest market in the world lies at our very doors in the teeming populations of the Pacific coasts.

But on the whole situation the C.P. R. has in the picturesque language of the west "the dead immortal cinch." They have gone into the smelting business and have in consequence made other capital shy of smelters in Kootenay as an investment. They are in the steamboat business and no one else even wants to put a little boat on the river north of their main line because they believe with good reason that as soon as there was anything in it the C.P.R. would step in and squeeze them out. They can build up any point they wish as a distributing centre for Kootenay, or they can, as at at present, make a present of the Kootenay trade to Spokane. It seems to the HERALD a little unreasonable for the C.P.R. to be complaining of the pre-eminence of that city in Kootenay trade or the grasp of the American Smelting Trust for Kootenay ore, when they have only to set themselves seriously to work in order to destroy both, if they wish it.

RICH STRIKE ON THE NETTIE L

Thsee Inches of Grey Copper Uncovered in the Winze, Giving About 3,000 Ounces to the Ton.

It is reported in Ferguson that in sinking the winze at the end of the crosscut tunnel on the Nettie L, three inches of solid grey copper was struck which is estimated to run as high as 3,000 oz. in silver to the ton. The owners are jubilant over the wonderful showing made by this property under development and are confident that it will be at the top of the Lardeau mines as soon as it is properly opened up.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

Cheap Lime for Revelstoke

Capt. Robt. Sanderson left this morning with a party of men to work a limestone quarry and kiln on the west side of Arrow Lake, opposite Halcyon Hot Springs. The limestone is of excellent quality and there is a ledge 40 feet wide of clean white limestone on the quarry. Capt. Sanderson has got good rates from the C.P.R. and will be able to put lime down in Revelstoke at the same price as it is now quoted in Vancouver. He has appointed F. McCarty agent for Revelstoke.

Sad Intelligence.

Dr. McLean received on Wednesday morning a telegram from Belleville, Ont., bearing the sad news of the death on the previous day of Mrs. McLean's father, W. C. Hamilton, Esq., inspector of inland revenues. Mr. Hamilton had been unwell for some time past and was contemplating taking a trip to Revelstoke, B.C., this spring in search of health. At Hamilton he was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity. Dr. McLean starts for Belleville on Monday next.

Board of Trade

At the meeting of the council of the board of trade on Thursday night it was decided to hold one general meeting of the whole board every month, on the first Thursday, the other nights to be devoted to the meetings of the council. The vacancy in the council caused by the resignation of I. T. Brewster, was filled up by the unanimous election of J. D. Sibbald.

The communication of Atkins and Campbell re the city printing, brought forth a good deal of discussion. On motion of Ald. McKechnie, seconded by Ald. Brown that the action of the Mayor in dividing the account for printing equally between the two local papers, be sustained by the council. Carried.

Moved by Alds. McKechnie and Brown that applications for the position of city engineer be now read. The application of Mr. Buck was the only one received, and on motion of Alds. Brown and Kilpatrick the application was referred to the Public Works committee with instructions to report at the next meeting of the council.

The council adjourned.

THE LYCEUM THEATRE CO.

The Best Company Travelling on the Road Today

The Calgary Herald has the following to say of the above named company who are billed to play in Tapping's opera house here four nights commencing Wednesday night next:

It was indeed a surprise to a Calgary audience to see a play presented in the way in which Othello was produced by the Lyceum company at the opera house last night. Many people thought that an intelligible and enjoyable presentation of Shakespeare was beyond the capabilities of any company which would visit Calgary, but they were much mistaken and today the warmest praise of the Lyceum company is to be heard on every hand. Every part showed much care and study, and though of course some of the characters differed from the preconceived notions of some of the audience, there was consistency throughout which made the play most interesting.

Miss Marguerite Lorimer won everybody's heart with her simple sweetness and graceful acting as Desdemona. The title role was played by Edouard D'Olze. Of course Othello has been portrayed by so many great actors, that whosoever essays the part in these days has to bear a considerable amount of criticism. Mr. D'Olze came through the ordeal with flying colors; he is possessed of a fine voice, though in the third act he had a tendency to strain it. Othello was a finestudy and deserves the highest praise, but in the act just mentioned we think Mr. D'Olze could make an improvement in the part if he would save his voice a little. Leland Webb's Iago was rather a new reading to many but it was consistent throughout, and was a fine piece of acting. Brabantio should receive a word of praise for a well played though small part. Edgar Keller was Brabantio and we are glad to see that he will be seen in a big part tonight when he plays Colonel Preston in Alabama. Miss Rose Cameron was excellent as Emilia, Iago's wife, acting with much dignity and looking splendid.

Cassio was well taken by Douglas Paterson. William Colvin deserves mention for his Roderigo.

The dresses were very handsome and the staging beautiful. We have no room to give a fuller criticism than this, or we should have a great deal more to say in praise of the Lyceum company, for it is by far the best theatrical company that has visited Calgary for years, and the thanks of the theatre going public are due to the cricket club for their enterprise in bringing such a good thing to the town.

SPICY COPY IN DEMAND

One of the most unpleasant effects of modern journalism is the way in which the private lives of great personages are probed into and exposed to the roaring mob, not for the purpose of inculcating moral lessons in the rising generation, but of catering to the morbid craving for spicy news on the part of the reading public. The startling paragraph that is going the rounds of the press to the effect that President Faure, so far from having died within the precincts of the Champs Elysee Palace, breathed his last in the apartments of Madame Borel, a variety actress, is a choice morsel for jaded newspaper readers, but is scarcely a fit piece of historical information to be incorporated in the school books of that country. Another great French statesman, Gambetta, died with remarkable suddenness in Paris about 15 years ago, and while all France was mourning his loss, it eked out that he had been shot by an exasperated lady friend. While this contretemps did not affect his prestige at home, it certainly did abroad. The papers ought to leave those great fellows alone with their fame. The British throne was not strengthened or buttressed to any appreciable extent by the exposures of the peccadilloes of the Georges. There ought to be an Anti-Great-Man-Scandal Bill passed at the forthcoming Peace Conference.

SOUTHERN DEVELOPMENT

Comparatively few residents of Alberta ouside of the district immediately concerned have any idea of the magnitude of the irrigation work which is now being carried on in Southern Alberta. A main ditch 60 miles long is being constructed for the irrigaion of a tract of land a half a million acres in area. The water supply will be taken from the St. Mary's river at a point near the mountains and six miles north of the international boundary. The St.Mary's is a strong and swift flowing stream capable of supplying sufficient force and volume ofwater to make the canal itself a good sized stream. The ditch will open up and make available for agricultural purposes an enormous tract of land which has hitherto been practically of no value. The Irrigation company, which is composed of members of the Mormon colony at Cardston, proposes to construct the work by Bormo nlabor, and it is said that no less than 4000 Mormons are coming in from Utah for the purpose. The workers will be rewarded for their service with grants of land in the area to be irrigated by the ditch a fact which should be a great inducement to intending settlers.

The action of the town of Lethbridge in granting a bonus of $30,000 to the company will be generally approved. Construction of this ditch in the district tributary to the town means to Lethbridge all the difference between rapid progress and stolid stagnation, and it is safe to say that in the near future the tax payers whose vote on the bylaw was practically unanimous will find this $30,000 an extremely profitable investment. Now that the town has added to its magnificent tract of coal fields an enormous area of land suitable for agriculture, the material prosperity of Lethbidge will shortly become an established fact.

Chief Dinizulu, son and successor of Cetewayo is advertised as a subscriber to the London Times reprint of the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Truly there is hope even for the Galician!

The earths is reported to be flattening at the poles, and the Winnipeg Free Press will now hasten to inform anxious scientists that the flattening is simply a scheme Clifford Sifton has adopted for improving the climate of the Yukon.—Toronto Telegram.

The Montreal Herald has well earned the applause of he whole country. It undertook to do something towards cleansing the municipal machine of Montreal, and in carrying on that praiseworthy work found it necessary to expose some crookedness on the part of the chief of police. That official sued the Herald for libel and after a tedious trial the Herald has come out on top. The general public does not know that it costs money to win a newspaper libel suit, and in this particular case the Herald must be thousands of dollars out of pocket. But it has won the approbation of all whose opinion is worth anything.

Hamilton Times referrs to the minister of interior as "Hon.J.W.Sifton." Bryon used to define Fame as "being shot in a ditch and having your name misspelled in the Gazette."

A company, in which Mackenzie & Mann are interested, is applying for incorporation with the purpose of constructing a railway along the Stickine route. Neither monopoly nor land grant is sought, and if built it will have to do business in opposition to the White pass road, which will soon reach the Yukon waters. It was a great deal that the senate spoiled last session. It is no wonder the parliamentary promoters curse the senators and want their power curtailed.

How is it that the speeches in the Imperial parliament are so short, and those in the Canadian parliament so long? Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper occupied seven hours in his attack, while the minister of interior spoke over six hours for the purpose of proving that Sir Charles had wasted the time of the house. Is it because the subjects discussed at Ottawa are more important and therefore require more time, or because the speakers at Ottawa are less important and therefore take longer to say less?

One of the "reptiles" of the Liberal press says of Messrs Richardson and Oliver, the Liberal M. P.'s who are not allowed to play in Mr. Sifton's political back yard, that while individual independence is the very salt of public life, every man who is cranky and self assertive is not, therefore, independent. It would be interesting to get the maligned member's views on the mental characteristics of a political pap-sucker. Mr. Oliver's, at least, would be forcibly expressed.

KILL OR CURE METHODS.

Washington's Treatment In His Last Illness Little Short of Murder.

"There can scarcely be a doubt that the treatment of Washington's last illness by the doctors was little short of murder," says Mr. Paul Ford in "The True George Washington." Those were the days of the "kill or cure" treatment, when strong plasters, jalap and bleeding, the universal remedies, left little hope for patients who could not withstand both drugs and disease.

Professor John Fiske writes in his "Old Virginia and Her Neighbors" that when Washington in full vigor found that he had caught a bad cold he sent for the doctors. Meanwhile he had half a pint of blood taken from him by one of his overseers. Of the three physicians in attendance one was his dear friend, the good Scotchman, Dr. James Cralk. His colleague, Dr. Elisha Dick, said:

"Do not bleed the general. He needs all his strength."

His advice was not heeded. Three copious bleedings followed, in the last of which a quart of blood was taken. The third attendant, Dr. Gustavus Brown, afterward expressed bitter regret that Dr. Dick's advice was not taken. Besides this wholesale bleeding the patient was dosed with calomel and tartar emetic and scarified with blisters and poultices.

"The question is suggested," writes Mr. Fiske, "if Washington had lived a dozen years longer, would there have been a second war with England?"

The heroic methods of the seventeenth century, which, though killing thousands, were continued far into the eighteenth, are exhibited by the items of a bill rendered by Dr. Haddon of York about 1606 for performing an amputation. They included "one highly flavored and two ordinary cordials, three ointments for the wound, an ointment precipitate, the operation of letting blood, a purge per diem, two purges electuaries, which are powders mixed with honey or sirup, external applications, a cordial and two astringent powders, bloodletting, a defensive and a large cloth."

Photography In the Courts.

Photography is often called into court as a witness whose testimony cannot be impeached. It is a detective of forged or disguised handwriting, for no matter how clever an imitation or alteration, the eye of the camera will search out, and the sensitive plate display the fraud. A very important case, in which the entries in a document were in question, led to the building of what is probably the largest camera in the world. The bellows may be extended 25 feet and is connected with a dark room, which also serves as a plate holder. The lens seems out of all proportion to the size of the camera, being but two inches in diameter, but its magnifying power is so great that letters one-fourth of an inch in height can be enlarged to 7½ feet and appear in their exact dimensions and without the slightest apparent distortion.—"Photography: Its Marvels," by Elizabeth Flint Wade, in St. Nicholas.

A Highly Cultivated Spot.

Barbados, the chief produce of which is the sugar cane, is one of the most highly cultivated spots on the face of the earth. The whole island, which is of about the size of the Isle of Wight, is parceled out into small holdings, and every acre of land is turned to account.

In No Danger.

As a picturesque description of that mediocrity which nothing can inspire, Zion's Herald quotes the remark of Father Taylor to a divinity student who had taken the place temporarily of Boston's famous "sailor preacher."

After the sermon, as they descended the pulpit stairs, the student asked:

"Father Taylor, what did you think of my sermon this morning?"

Approaching him in a fatherly way and placing his hand on the student's shoulder, he replied:

"My dear brother, if your text had had the smallpox, your sermon could not have caught it."

When the senate threw out the deal last session, MacKenzie & Mann cancelled the order. Judgment was reserved.

Macleod Gazette: It is reported in usually well informed circles that James Hill, manager of the Great Northern railway, proposes to run a branch of that line from Macleod to the international boundary, following the route for which the C. & E. secured a charter. This would give a competing line to British Coulmbia and the coast.

To obtain rapidly the knowledge of the value of reefs or ledges nothing is to be compared with the Diamond Core Drill, which will prove more in 30 days than an outfit of men tunnelling or sinking shafts could prove in ten years.

The Diamond Core Drill can pierce the mountains and take the secret of what it contains from their very hearts, and the more solid he rock formation, the quicker it will do its work.

The Diamond Core Drill is so constructed that it can be taken to pieces and packed on the backs of horses and carried and worked almost inaccessible places where water can be obtained,—and it be in almost any part of British Columbia.

KAMLOOPS MURDER

A Siwash Indian Shoots and Kills a White Man

CHASED BY AUTHORITIES

Speaker Reid to Retire—A Charge of Blackmailing Against Government Officials—Sir Henry Irving Returns to the Stage—Smart German Diplomats

Kamloops, April 17.—Saturday evening Philip Walker was shot by Casimer a Siwash Indian at his own door. Walker lived for 40 minutes after the shooting. The murder was evidently premeditated and was the result of an old feud. Casmir escaped to the Indian reservation but a large posse is now in pursuit of the murderer. In the meantime a party of armed specials was organized in town and is now out hunting for Casimir. They have with them his klootchman, who says she knows where he intends to hide.

SIR HENRY RETURNS

London, April 16.—Enormous crowds assembled at the Lyceum theatre yesterday evening to welcome Sir Henry Irving's retrun to the stage. But those present were somewhat disappointed with Robespierre, which proved rather long and harrowing and which, though staged with wealthy scenery and costumes that always characterize Sir Henry's productions, did not afford to either him or Miss Terry an opportunity to be seen to their best advantage.

REED WILL RETIRE

Washington, April 17.—Speaker Thomas B. Reid of Maine has decidto to retire from congress and will take up the practice of law in New York. Congressman James J. Sherman will have the Maine man's support for the speakership.

WON'T SEE THEM

Ottawa, April 17.—Hon. Mr. Sifton refuses to give audience to the agent of a New York syndicate who says that his company is being systematically blackmailed by government officials.

A CANARD

Ottawa, April 17.—A statement was sent out from Ottawa yesterday to the effect that a modus vivendi touching he Alaska boundary question at the request of the American authorities had been agreed to by an order in council here. But no such action has been taken by the Canadian authorities nor is likely to be taken upntil the American government agrees to the final disposition of the boundary dispute within settled lines and further signifies its willingness to include such stipulations within a final agreement.

CHINESE FIRE WORKS

Hong Kong, April 16.—Villagers of Tai Poo Su, one of the newly acquired places in British territory, on the Hong Kong mainland, and who broke out in rebellion on Friday, burned some British mat sheds and then retired to the hills and fired upon the British troops who were esnt to quell the disturbances. The British returned the fire scattering the Chinese and killing several. The British suffered no casualties.

WILLIAM THE KING MAKER

Pekin, April 16.—The foreign element here is reported to believe that the Emeperor William has planned to make Prince Henry of Prussia king of the Chinese province of Shan Tang and that the occupation of Kiao Choaw is the first step.

SAMPSON WON'T ACCEPT

Montreal, April 17.—Montreal Herald this mornnig publishes a special from Washington to the effect that the United States Admiral Sampson will not accept the invitation of the British naval authorities to visit England, and the reason is understood to be that the U. S. doesn't desire to emphasize to the European powers its increasingly cordial relations with Britain. Admiral Sampson's squadron has been ordered home instead.

GERMANY SCORES

London, April 17.—Germany has scored first blood in the Samoan negotiations at the expense of Great Britain in securing an importantthat of unanimity in the decision of the commission, against which Lord Salisbury held out. Britain's acceptance of unanimity in decisions is a distinct score for German diplomacy.

GUARDING THE POPE

The most important person in attendance on the pope is Pio Centra, the body servant of the aged pontiff. He is more than a privileged servant; he is a constant companion, sleeping in an adjoining chamber with so thin a partition betwixt them that he can hear the pope's breathing. At all times, too, he can keep survellance by the aid of a little glass window which is at the head of the bed, while by means of a telephone he is in communication with Prof. Lapponi, the doctor, who lives out of the Vatican.

Besides the eminent physician there are two assistant doctors who live in the palace and have the care of the health of the 500 souls comprising the population of the Vatican. In the days of Pius IX there were many more who made their abode there.

By an arrangement between the police and the Vatican authorities a window next the papal apartments is kept open during the day and closed at night with a lighted lamp behind it. The shutting of the window during the day, or the putting out of the lamp, means that something unusual has happened and that help is required. When the pope is ill, this singular sign would mean that he is dead. An Italian sentinel is constantly watching this window. This, however, did not prevent the mistake of Gen. Della Rocca, under secretary of state in the Crispi cabinet, who announced in the house the death of Pius IX five hours before it took place.

Latest returns from the Irish county council elections give the Nationalists 300 and the Unionisis 83 seats.

THE C. P. R. HEAVY LOSERS

Bathes in Boiling Tar—Indian Murderer Still at Large—Samoa Again—Western Memoers May Bolt—The Jap Exclusion Bill—Burglars Get in Then Fine Work

FIRE AT FORT WILLIAM

Fort William, April 18.—The Canadian Pacific Railway company's round house here was partially destroyed by fire last night at 8:30 p. m Through the heroic efforts of employees and others the company managed to save several engines and the workshop at the east end of the building. Ten stalls and seven engines were destroyed by the flames. The origin of the fire is yet unknown. The approximate loss will be about $60,000.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT

Vancouver, April 18.—William Davenport who fell into a vat of boiling tar at the Morrison & Armstrong foundry yesterday still lives. Davenport was engaged in dipping waterpipes into the vat by machinery when he slipped and fell. He was immersed up to the knees but was lifted out immediately and sent to the hospital, suffering terrible agony. His life, however, will probably be saved.

KAMLOOPS TRAGEDY

Kamloops, April 18.—Casimir, the Indian who murdered Philip Walker here, apparently without cause on Saturday last is still at large. Armed men have been scouring the country for him without success.

SAMOA AGAIN

London, April 18.—Parliamentary secretary of foreign affairs, St. John Broderick, replying in the house of commons today to Michael Davitt, said that the manager of a German plantation near Apia was arrested by the senior British naval officer on sworn evidence that he was seen directing the natives who had ambushed the naval landing parties. This action, Mr. Broderick added, was taken without the naval officer in question having had an opportunity to communicate with the home government. "We are informed" said Mr. Broderick "that he was handed over to the commander of the German warship Falkeon, on the promise that he will be detained on board."

SEEKS DISALLOWANCE

Ottawa, April 18.—T. Nosse the consul general for Japan in Chicago is here to urge upon the government the advisability of disallowing the Japanese Exclusion bill which was passed last session by the Legislature of British Columbia. WESTERN MEMBERS DOUBTFUL

Ottawa, April 18.—The government is not very anxious to close the present debate, a report being general last night that there will likely be a big bolt of western members when the division bell rings, the ministry being anxious to whip them into line. Even when Bertram's amendment is disposed of the debate on the address will not terminate forthwith, as another opposition amendment will be presented expressing the advisability of a parliamentary investigation being held into the Yukon affairs.

LAWTON RETIRES

Washington, April 18.—General Lawton has evacuated the villages he had taken in the Philippines and has withdrawn his forces to Manila.

What might have happened at Omdurman is at present the subject of some interesting speculations; but here is a fresh story of what did happen before the battle. Lieutenant de Montmorency got his Victoria Cross not only for rescuing the body of his dead comrade, Lieutenant Grenfell, in the charge of the 21st Lancers, but for going the day before the battle into the enemy's lines disguised as an Arab hawker and finding out their plans. He went despite Lord Kitchener's warning, "you take your life in your hands." That day his charger was shot under him, and he went into action and into the charge mounted on a polo pony.

CAMBRIDGE WINS!

A bumper to Cambridge! Great Zeus, how it stirs us
To see the light blues floating first o'er the line!
Fate smiles once again and no longer defers us;
One year makes amends for the losses of nine.
Week followed on week, and in all kinds of weather
They labored undaunted, not daring to boast,
Till at last in a flash they all got it together,
And swinging and smiting sped home to the post.
We saw them take ship, and we saw them with glee row,
We saw how they spurted again and again;
So Cambridge, kind mother of sage and of hero,
Be proud of eight sons who have proved themselves men.
There was Gibbon at stroke, who, forgetting his name sake,
When they pressed him declined not, nor dream't of a fall,
And enjoying the game for the glorious game's sake
Shot his hands off his chest like a ball from a wall.
At seven sat Ward. Did he think of his lordship,
The grandsire who all his young fancies had nursed;
And what thoughts had Lord Esher of old days aboard ship,
When Oxford were beaten and Cambridge were first!
There was Sanderson six, very long he in truth is;
At five was our Ethel, whose surname is Smith,
Though his nickname a girl's is, the rest of the youth is
All manhood and muscle and courage and pith.
At four we had Payne, to behold him was pleasure;
He was stalwart and sturdy and steady and strong;
And behind him swung Goldie, a treat and a treasure,
A chip of the old block who kept the stroke long.
At two was young Calvert, the Antipodean;
From bow little Chapman the prospect enjoyed;
And, since eights must be steered, just to wind up my paean,
I may add that their coxswain, a ripper, was Lloyd.
So a bumper to them! Give them triumph and glory!
Lo, the names and the fame of their prowess abide
Since, what e'er be their lot, they shall live on in story,
The ninety-nine Eight who at last turned the tide.

Twenty-five placer claims have been located on the townsite of Greenwood City, B.C., and great excitement is said to prevail.

The deadly dog poisoner has begun his annual tour. This year he is working eastward, and is now endeavoring to make a big killing at New Westminster.

Kamloops amateurs played the Pirates of Penzance to a crowded house on Tuesday last. The opera was preceded by a curtain raiser entitled, A Happy Pair, in which the leading part was taken by Mrs. White-Fraser, formerly of Calgary.

London Times of last Tuesday advocates the establishment of a Woman's training home in the North West, and says that the inauguration of the scheme would render a service to the cause of imperial consolidation, the substantial value of which would oulast more showy performances professing to further the same objects.

Captain Bernier, the Quebec navigator who aspires to lead the Canadian polar expedition, says he has received offers of aid from all over the country, but will not start out on the expedition unless he can go as the accredited represntative of Canada All he asks from the government is $30,000. His scheme is to purchase a steam schooner in British Columbia strengthen her frame, equip her at Victoria, then make for the north pole by way of Behring straits and the coast of Siberia, getting into the Arctic current, which Nansen demonstrated has a drift towards the pole of 1½ miles per day. Bernier will only take eight men with him, and at a convenient point the entire pary will desert the ship and make a dash for the pole with dogs and reindeer.

A letter just received from Dawson City, Dated March 1, gives late news regarding the chief city of the Klondike. It says a regular bi-monthly mail service has been established under the direction of the North West Mounted Police, over the pass to Skagway. Last mail was 10 days on the way, but o one of the in-going trips the fast time of 8 days and one hour was made. This was accomplished by travelling day and night and changing men and dogs at every police station along the trail. Several late papers had been received there during the previous month and were all sold at $1 each. Sugar and condensed milk are scarce, the former selling at $1 a pound and the latter at $1 a can. Prices on all articles remain about the same during the summer months.

Here is how the New Denver Ledge in its characteristic fasnion assays the Martin-Semlin-Cotton government. "The British Columbia government is located at Victoria and can be traced as far as Vancouver. It is plainly visible during the winter months, and its brains can occasionally be seen by the aid of a mogul X ray. It works for Joe Martin as well as the downtrodden taxpayer. It aims to cut down everything and believes that the devil should take care of all the supporters of the late Turner government. It has not yet been snowslided by public opinion or raided by the victims of cheap salaries It has not stood the test of time, but its paystreak of economy is growing wider. It is a cheap government no one should be without it. Go in and see it when you reach Victoria but do not tell them that you saw this article, or they might borrow your paper to save a nickel."

The Nettie L. never looked better that it does at present. A few days ago the richest ore yet struck was encountered in the drift. It was heavily charged with grey copper and wil run over 1000 ounces to the ton in silver. This strike, which is about three inches in thickness, is embedded in the other ore with which the breast of the tunnel fairly glistens. Billy Glenn is busy rawhiding the ore from the property and is making excellent headway. Several tons of shipping ore are now lying at the dump besides a great quantity of concentrating material.

Hibbert Hot After Sifton—Ontario Lumber Troubles — Collector of Customs Arrested — Britain and Germany Come to an Understanding—Parliamentary News

Nw York, April 15.—Suspected of having murdered her aged father by battering his skull with an axe, Mrs. Dora Jefferies is locked up today at Liberty avenue police station, Brooklyn. It required four policemen to place her in the the patrol wagon and take her to the station. She and her father Thomas Hannon lived at 2544 Atlantic Avenue and it was there he was assailed. He died at St. Mary's hospital, shortly after midnight.

DEBATE CONTINUES

HIBBERT NOT NEARLY DONE

Vancouver, April 15.—Sir Hibbert Tupper in an address today stated that his speech on Yukon affairs will be followed by another which will give Sifton something to think about for some time to come. "My first speech, he said, "was only a preliminary canter and important charges are yet to come. Next time Sifton will not get off so easily."

FIRE AT CARMAN

Carman, Manitoba, April 15.—A fire destroyed the whole of the Roblin block and Massey Harris implement warehouse this morning. Dufferin hall and warehouse beneath, Hemingway & Lawson's store, Bank of Hamilton and Mr. Whitehead's offices have been totally destroyed. Massey Harris people saved the contents of their warehouse, as did also the families residing over the Roblin block. Hemingway & Lawson's stock is a loss valued at $1,640, and insured for $800.

CURTIS' FOUND

Victoria, April 15—News has been received here that the body of the late Sir Arthur Curtis has been found by Indians, who are demanding money before they will give it up or lead those interested to the locality where the remains were discovered. Sir Arthur was lost last year on the Ashcroft trail. He, along with a party of companions was taking that route to the Klondyke. They had a pack train, a large quantity of supplies and a good outfit of horses. Sir Arthur wandered into the forest to shoot one day while the party were camped along a rough piece of trail. He never returned, and since then his fate has been a matter of much speculation.

ONTARIO LUMBER TROUBLES

Washington, April 15.—The crisis it is said has about been reached in the controversy between American and Canadian lumbermen in teh province of Ontario and the parliament of that province, which recently passed an act prohibiting the exportation of all logs. The Ontario officials so constructed the act as to apply it to all timber purchased and paid for by Americans prior to the passage of the act. It is believed here that the president will affix a retaliatory clause to the Dingley act forthwith.

WHAT GIBSON SAYS

Toronto, April 15.—Hon. Mr. Gibson minister of crown lands in Ontario said: This government does not propose to take any action. If the Americans want to put on a prohibitory measure, let them. We have taken our position and we will stand by it. We already have taken the ground that the exportation of logs was subject to our regulations and limits and sold subject to these regulations. The matter has been fully considered from the commencement and now the Americans can go ahead.

MANITOBA LIBERALS

Winnipeg, April 15.—Manitoba Liberals will hold their convention at Winnipeg in June or July.

AGREE FOR ONCE

John F. Stevens, who has been associated with Foley Brothers on the construction of the Crow's Nest railway, has been appointed chief engineer of the Great Northern in succession to Nelson D. Miller, resigned.

According to a return laid on the table of the house by Minister of Agriculture Bulyea, there are 55 stock and hide inspectors in the North West. The number of stock inspected is 24,021 and 1485 hides.

Victoria, B.C., is still without a city engineer. Mr. Kerr, who was recently appointed to the position, now telegraphs from Ottawa that the council of that city has substantially increased his salary and he has decided to remain at home.

It is said, says The Rossland Miner, that there are four grades of society men of the Klondike, who live at Dawson City. There is the first, the chechaco, who is one that has recently arrived in the country and uses baking powder in making bread. Next in advance is the "sour dough stiff," who has been a resident long enough to see the ice go out. Then comes the old timer, who arrived previous to 1895, and lastly, the pioneer, who has taken to himself a fair aborigine for a wife.

Work on the C. P. R. from Trail to Rossland will commence shortly, and be rushed through, so that the broad guage will be in Rossland by the 1st of June, at the latest. The ties have been laid along the road and the rails are ready to be laid down so soon as the frost is sufficiently out of the ground.

THE OUTLOOK

Passing Notes on Current Happenings at Home and Abroad

The oft-repeated adage that "all things come to him who waits," has received an illustration in the near approach of another spring after a long and severe winter.

We heard the familiar notes of the robin some weeks ago, but it takes more than one robin to make summer, and now, added to the song of the birds, we hear the croak of the Canadian nightingale from the swamps around us. But a more pleasing sound than all is that of the carpenters' hammers, telling us of the progress and prosperity of our thriving little city and making us proud of being enrolled as citizens of the corporation of Revelstoke.

Passing on to other subjects, one important item of recent news which will prove a great factor in the future civilization of the world, is the successful outcome of an interview held lately between Cecil Rhodes, the empire builder, and the kaiser of Germany. The result has been to bring about a good understanding between the two foremost nations of the world, and the completion of an Anglo-German agreement for realizing at an early date Mr. Rhode's pet scheme of an all through line of railway between Cape Colony and Cairo, on the Nile.

That, along with the establishment of a university at Khartoun in memory of General Gordon, and the construction of an immense dam on the river Nile, by which thousands of acres of land will be reclaimed and made available for agricultural purposes by means of irrigation, will all prove valuable factors in the civilization of the dark continent.

A great deal of public curiosity is felt regarding the American policy of colonial expansion. It is very questionable how far Uncle Sam has acted with prudence in meddling with the Filipinos—the better opinion being that the U. S. will have a white elephant on their hands. What with heavy taxation, owing to national indebtedness, and the yet slumbering antagonism between the north and south and the already increasing burdens (naval and military) on the population of the Republic, fears are entertained of a probable dissolution of the union.

The system of government in vogue in the U.S. has in it the elements of weakness and dissolution. Such, at least, is the opinion publicly expressed by our parliamentary authority, Sir John Bourinot, who is looked to with respect by both political parties in Canada. Coming nearer home, we have several grave questions demanding careful solution—such as senate reform, prohibitory legislation on the liquor traffic, imperial unity and the expansion of trade between Great Britain and the colonies. It is to be hoped that the national and imperialistic interests will not be sacrificed on the shrine of mere political partisanship.

PROSPECTING

Valuable Hints to Persons in Search of Mineral Treasure

J. P. Wallace writes for the Baker City Republican some sterling truths concerning mines and their value. He says:

"Even with the best of management it is an exceptionally good prospect that will pay cost of development.

"Prospecting should be a business to itself and those engaged in it should be educated and trained for the work. Prospecting companies would do well to equip and send into the field only those who have a practical and comprehensive knowledge of geology, rock, vein formation, faults, ores, minerals and assaying.

"Pay ore is ore that will leave profit after mining, milling, transportation and other expenses are deducted from the average saving. Ore is said to be 'in sight' when it is blocked out into patches of moderate size and exposed to view on three sides. If one side only of the ore body is shown no ore can be counted, but where two adjoining sides are exposed to view a triangular body may be safely calculated as 'in sight.' A single tunnel driven through ore for a considerable distance, but with no openings in the floor or roof, affords only presumptive evidence of the continuance of the ore body much above or below the tunnel.

"Mining properties of all kinds are valuable only for the ore they contain.

"If the ore is too low grade to pay or is in quantity too small for profitable working, the mine has no real value; so, also, if the property is undeveloped and shows no ore 'in sight' it has no real or true value. Surface ore exposures are valuable only for what they promise or for what they are supposed to reveal. The revelations of outcrops are differently interpreted by different persons; there is no infallible guide to their meaning. Herein is the element of risk in the purchase of prospects. It is different with ore 'in sight.' A property is always worth the net value of ore blocked out, plus its presumptive of estimated value. The latter is the value of ore which may be found beyond the present working and which is supposed to be available for mining. The estimated value is to be determined by the geological conditions of the the mine, as well as of the district in general, and is largely a question of opinion.

"Following are some of the factors to be considered in deciding a mine's value and its ability to pay a profit, viz Purchase price, production, timber or coal supply, water for mill and power purposes, railroad facilities, roads, altitudes, climatic conditions, living expenses, wages, mine and mill management, location of property, character and value of ore, freight rates, ore markets, smelting facilities and the probable life of the mine.

"Frequent crosscutting is of the utmost importance to successful mining. Ore bodies equally as good or better than the one being worked, are by this procedure not infrequently encountered. Crossents have often revealed the existence of one or more parallel veins. Sheet veins and link veins have thus been discovered. Immense chambers of aggregate deposits the existence of which had never been suspected, have been opened up by crosscutting. Every mineral-stained seam or decomposed portion of a vein wall should be looked upon with suspicion, carefully examined and possibly drifted on.

"The age of rock formation in itself considered is not material to the deposition of valuable ore deposits. Formerly the oldest rocks were thought to be the only bearers of true mineral veins, but the occurrence of many such veins in the younger rocks has taught us that the chief conditions governing ore depositions are entirely independent of the age of rocks and that no formations are excluded from ore-bearing possibilities.

"The following are localities favorable for the occurrence and discovery of mineral veins, viz: Where the strata have been upheaved, folded and fractured; where dike and intrusive sheets of porphyry or other eruptives occur; along, in or near to fault plane; where intense metamorphism has prevailed; on the flanks rather than at the base or top of a mountain range.

"The character of ore in one lode does not govern the kind of ore in adjoining lodes. The ore may be the same or very different. Neither is it true that because one vein of a group is good, therefore, adjoining parallel veins are necessarily good. Brothers of a family are often quite unlike.

"It is never safe to appoint as superintendent of a mine one who has not a practical knowledge of mining. Success in other pursuits will not atone for ignorance in this. Incompetent management is sure to stamp a mining enterprise with the seal of failure. As the process should be adapted to the ore, so should the man be suited to his work.

Mikado To-Night

Never before in the history of Revelstoke has our amusement loving public been treated to a grander performance than the Metripolitan's Opera Co. has produced; it is the delight of everybody that they favor us with another one of their operas. They appear here to-night and will produce for the first time in Revelstoke Gilbert & Sullivan's bright and sparkling comic opera Bouffe Mikado. The piece is handsomely staged with beautiful costumes and a chorus of 20 voices. The Three Little Maids from School will be taken by Miss Blanche Aldrach, Agnes Millard and Lillian Kemble; Miss Jeanette Lincoln, who was indisposed on their last visit here, will be seen in the character of Katishaw. Miss Lincoln possesses a rich soprano voice which has won for her an enviable reputation. Another valuable addition is Sydney Rhorer, baritone, who will introduce his latest novelty, Edison's Dream Realized, something which is sure to please the audience. The large opera house no doubt will be filled to its full capacity owing to the popularity of this company—which it really deserves.
