A BIG DEAL AT GOLDFIELDS

The Ophir-Lade Syndicate Have Purchased the Imperial and Oyster Groups Near the New Town of Goldfields.

The HERALD learns on good authority that the management of the Ophir-Lade Gold Mining Syndicate has just purchased the famous Oyster, Rossland and Imperial free milling properties at Goldfields.

These properties, comprising eight or nin claims, are well known to be exceedingly rich both on the surface and at depth, and, together with the Lade group, on Gainer creek, will give the Ophir-Lade people the oppertunity of making one of the biggest gold mining companies in the province.

If reports are true it will not be very long before Manager Pool is turning out gold bricks of the genuine stuff, as it is rumored his syndicate intends to put in a stamp mill at once, there being enough ore in sight to warrant this step.

Judging from reports of mining men from all parts of the world, and on the phenomenal samples of free gold that have come from the Lade group and the Oyster, Imperial, Criterion, Rossland and other properties on the Lexington mountain, there is likely to be some sensational developments from Fish Creek and the Lardeau in near future, especially now that some of the bauner gold properties have got into the hands of a capable outfit. The original owners of the Imperial and Oyster groups were Messrs. J. J. Foley, Cory Menhennick, J. Brennand, W. Allen, B. B. Starkey and J. Ennest.

The City Schools.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:

SIR,—A public meeting is being called for Thursday night to discuss the bylaw now before the citizens for raising $8000 to supplement the government grant of $10,000 for new school buildings.

As large an attendance as possible is earnestly desired, the school trustees, and no doubt, the city council as well, being desirous that the citizens should be fully informed as to what is intended to be done with the money. It is also desirable that the voting on Friday should be decisive enough to fully disclose the feeling of the feeling of the ratepayers. Having in view the paucity of votes recorded on the bylaw for sidewalks recently, one cannot but feel that, however satisfactory it may have been by way of giving the city council authority to raise the money, it certainly cannot be regarded as an expression of the feeling of the town. Without wishing to forestall any remarks that may be made at the proposed meeting, the writer would like to point out that next Friday's voting will exhibit to outsiders the measure of the citizens' opinion as to the future prosperity of their own town.

Another matter to which I should like to direct attention is that the school children seem to have been overlooked in the approaching coronation celebration. About $30 would provide each child attending the schools with a tasteful medal and clasp commemorative of an occasion, the repetition of which we hope will be long delayed. Probably the secretary of the coronation committee will not think it too much trouble (I have not been able to ask him) to receive subscriptions from those patriotic citizens who approve of the foregoing idea. At any rate the undersigned would be pleased to receive and acknowledge subscriptions (however small) and apply them for this purpose.

HENRY FLOYD.

The Clara Hanmer.

The Clara Hanmer Co., will open a week's engagement in repertorie in the opera house, commencing on Monday next, the 16th inst. The opening piece will be "Master and Man." This company comes well recommended as instanced by the following from the last issue of the Kamloops Sentinel:

"The Clara Hanmer Theatre Co. who are booked to play here for the remainder of the week appeared last night for the first time in this city in the comedy drama "Master and Man." The hall was fairly well filled by a very appreciative audience. The company is one of the best that has ever visited this city, and judging them on the merits of last night's performance will have bumper houses during their stay. The different characters were all well sustained, and tonight a crowded house will greet their presentment of "The Danites."

The S. S. Revelstoke.

The S. S. Revelstoke will sail on Friday morning from Nine Mile for La Porte. On Thursday (tomorrow) afternoon freight to go north by the steamer will leave the city, and all parties having freight for shipment are requested to notify W. Fleming before noon (tomorrow) so that it can be delivered at the wharf at Nine Mile in time for the sailing of the steamer. Passengers can leave the city Thursday afternoon. First class accommodation is offered on board the boat in the way of berths and meals.

GETTING IN EVIDENCE

Trackmen Preparing for Next Meeting of Arbitrators—Will Base Claim for Consideration on Increased Cost of Living.

The officers of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen are busy these days in the gathering of evidence to lay before the board of arbitration who will further consider the claims of the Canadian Pacific maintenance of way men at Montreal, some time next week.

When the arbitrators met in Montreal some time ago to consider the claims of the disaffected employees of the company, it was agreed that if the arbitrators would establish minimums for section foremen and section men, that the wages of all other classes could be worked out from that basis, by the committee and the general manager, by allowing them a proportionate increase. This, Chancellor Boyd acted upon when writing the award, giving the men a twenty per cent increase over the rate paid in 1897.

Since this award was made the men claim that there has been a disposition on the part of the management to euchre them out of the advantages which it should give them, and that an effort was made to shelve the award on the score that it is not sufficiently explicit. The men do not agree with this and are anxious to have the arrangements carried out as they say it will mean an advance of twenty per cent from the first of May for the men over the entire system. They will endeavor to secure this at the final arbitration and to this end are gathering statistics for the purpose of showing that the wages of the trackmen in the west have not kept pace with the advances in other avenues of work nor with the cost of living. These statements are being prepared with the greatest of care and before being forwarded will be sworn to.—Nelson News.

The School By-Law.

Before the next issue of THE HERALD the bylaw to raise the sum of $8000 to add to the $10,000 grant made by the government, for the erection of a suitable and permanent school building in the city will be voted on. THE HERALD is informed that there is likely to be some opposition to the passage of the bylaw. It is to be hoped that this will not prove correct, for the very reason that Revelstoke should have a school building both modern and in keeping with the rapid advancement of the city. Revelstoke wants a school building for the education of her children that will be a credit to the city and one that will not need patching for some years to come. By some it is claimed that the cost of the building is too great, and that a cheaper building would do for the present. The fact is that in the end it will be found that the erection now of a building such as outlined by the trustees, will be much cheaper. It is to the future that we must look in taking into consideration the work of the construction of a public school. If our citizens have confidence in the future of the city they will, by their vote on Friday, show to the outside world that they have such confidence.

A public meeting will be held in the Opera House on Thursday evening when the question of this bylaw will come up for discussion and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

AROUND THE RAILWAY YARD

Personal Paragraphs Pertaining to Railway Men Picked up By the Herald Man on His Daily Rounds.

There is a movement on foot among the conductors of the Canadian Pacific railway, aiming at the presentation of a demand for increased remuneration and other concessions. The general committee of the order is in session in Montreal completing and perfecting organization and deliberating on a revision of the schedule of wages, which is now in force, somewhat after the manner of the trackmen and telegraphers, who recently obtained an advance in their scale of pay. The meetings that are being held are private and the committee have little to say on the subject of their deliberations. Up to the present the conductors have not made their demand upon the company.

Mr. Dalton, the architect, of Vancouver, who was in charge of the hospital work here, arrived in town on Monday. He has taken over the hospital for the management from the contractors Messrs. Foote & Abrahamson, and complimented them for the excellent work done, as well as highly commending the heating and plumbing done by E. Moscrop.

A ROYAL COMMISSION

The Minister of Mines Promises a Commission to Review the Existing Tax of the Two Per Cent.

In the house on Friday last, Prior, minister of mines, practically promised that a royal commission would issue after the house rose for the purpose of reviewing the existing tax of two per cent. upon the value of the mine output. As the tax is now imposed, the value of the ore on the dump is taken, deductions being of course made for freight and smelter treatment but no provision being made for the cost of mining. The minister in the course of his remarks said he was prepared to admit that as it stood the tax bore heavily upon some of the low grade mines.

The virtual promise for the issuance of a royal commission came at the close of the debate upon the bill to amend the Assessment act. In this debate Smith Curtis took a prominent part. He made a strong speech against the existing undue taxation of the mines, which, he said, in some instances amounted to fifty per cent of the net profits of the companies operating. Curtis went so far as to suggest that in view of the depressed state of the mining industry the government should forego all taxation upon the output of the metalliferous mines for a period of two years.

The Ferguson Hospital.

On a slight eminence on the north side of the town of Ferguson, commanding a full view of Nettie L. and Silver Cup mountains and the valley of the Lardeau river, stands the Ferguson hospital which is being erected by the Lardeau Miners Union. The building is under construction, the framework being nearly completed and ready for roofing. It consists of two stories with basement for hot air furnace. The first floor is arranged for kitchen, dining room, bathroom, a ward for four cots, a private ward and bedroom. On the second floor will be a reception room, three bedrooms, private ward, doctor's office, operating room, and a ward for two beds. The building will thus accommodate eight patients, doctor and nurse.

The committee in charge of construction are Messrs. Gordon, V. Lade and Shannon, a guarantee that the work will be substantially and economically performed. The building is estimated to cost $3000, exclusive of furnishing. This matter is being undertaken by the ladies of Ferguson whose perseverance and energy can have but one result—complete success.

The salubrity of the Ferguson climate will prevent any great demand on the institution except for accidents and surgical cases, to which a mining camp is always liable; indeed, the recent instance of a miner having had to be conveyed 50 miles for treatment for an accident has shown the absolute necessity for such an establishment.

So far the work has proceeded without any outside assistance, the miners and business men of Ferguson having chipped in in fine style. On Thursday evening last at a social followed by an informal dance, over $100 was netted.

The outlook augurs well for the attainment of the success the institution deserves, and it is devoutly to be wished that the highest hopes of the promoters may be realised and the demands on the institution be few.

Gordon, justice of the peace. The accused was committed to stand his trial on both counts at the next Court of Assize. J. M. Scott has been retained as counsel for the prisoner. Const. Upper took the prisoner to Nelson on Sunday morning, where he will be held till his trial takes place.

DISCRIMINATION AGAINST MINING.

TO THE EDITOR HERALD:

SIR,—To one who has been absent from Kootenay for six months the district presents a more forlorn and desponding appearance than it did during the days of the strike. If the strike was the sole cause of this deterioration there would be the best of seasons for believing that the old-time prosperity would soon revisit us. But as the Kootenays are not the only mining camps at present suffering from more or less stagnation there must be other causes than strikes at work to produce such depressing effects as are apparent in nearly every mining camp in British Columbia.

The heavy decline in copper and silver prices is no doubt an important factor in the general dulness of the mining industry, but this was beyond our power to avert, and it also affects every copper and silver lead mining district in the world. We must look closer home for the chief cause of the mining depression in this province. The miserable, deviating and erratic policy of the provincial governments for the past half decade or so has much to answer for.

So much has been written and published concerning the unjust two per cent tax on output and its hardship on low grade properties that I need not touch on it here, but there are many other unjust discriminations against mining that have very rarely been mentioned in the press. The government is badly in want of money and there is no industry in the province that will stand the "squeezing" process so well as the mining industry. Therefore, ever since it became an assured fact that the mining industry in this province would be permanent the successive governments at Victoria have been engaged in "piling it on." Many of the imbeciles the people have sent to represent them in the legislature seem to think that mining simply means the digging out of mineral treasure from the sides of any old mountain in the mining sections of the province. Let us contrast the treatment of the mining industry at the hands of the legislature with that of some other industry, say ranching.

The prospector's life is a hard one. Buoyed up with anticipation and hopes of "striking it rich some day," he goes out into the mountains and trackless wilds with his grub and blankets on a pack horse or on his own back, and, and after weeks or months of untiring activity and hard living he may come back to civilization with a few good locations, or, as is not infrequently the case, with a whole summer wasted in fruitless search. For the privilege of doing this he pays the government a tax of $5 a year, and when he takes out his licence he is nearly always corralled by the official who acts as government agent, mining recorder and tax collector, and held up for $3 more for revenue tax. Thus he has to pay $8 a year for the privilege of going out in the wilderness to hunt for iron caps. Against this taxation no complaint has ever been made by the prospector, and none is likely to be.

But when the prospector has located his iron caps he has to pay the government $2 50 for recording each claim; another $2.50 for recording each assessment, and another $2.50 for each bill of sale he gives his partners. This he has always submitted to with good grace and made no kick. But when a conglomeration of pseudo mining men, with a crass ignorance that is astonishing considering their environments, proceed to pass a resolution recommending the government to increase the recording fee from $2.50 to $12.50 it is high time to kick. Was it the aim of the Kaslo convention of wiseacres to drive the prospector from the province entirely?

As a rule the prospector records three claims for every one he holds on to. The first assessment may show him that the claim is no good, and his labor and money thrown away. His iron cap may assay only "a trace, but he willingly puts in one assessment at least. Iron caps, as a rule, do not improve much in one assessment. But say he decides to do the work on a group of three claims from which he has obtained values ranging from $2 50 to $7 per ton. He does $400 worth of work on each, $1200; pays the $2.50 tax for recording each assessment $30. Then, as the location is inaccessible and packing expensive, he decides to crown grant them and wait for better times, till the advent of a railway makes it possible to at least do some real development. The claims are not good enough to sell, but after all the work he has done and the money he has spent he does not like to let them run out. So he gets them surveyed and crown granted, which cost him something over $300 more, a total of about $1600 for the group.

The tax on crown granted claims not being worked is 25c. an acre, or $12.50 a year for a full claim. This has been the law of the province for years, and the claim owner goes to the expense of crown granting his property in full confidence that by complying with that law he is entitled to hold the claims until such time as he is enabled to work them. But what can be said of the intelligence of the would be mining expert who advocated at the Kaslo meeting the breaking of the government's contract with claim owners all the province over by advising that the tax on idle crown granted claims be increased from 25c. to $1 an acre?

In defence of this piece of rank injustice to the prospector it was stated that the majority of idle crown granted claims were held by rich companies and foreign corporations. This I deny. Two-thirds of the crown granted claims that are not working today are held by prospectors and others to poor too develop them till the facilities for so doing are obtainable on easier terms than at present is the case. Rich companies and foreign corporations do not buy claims to let them lie idle and unproductive. A crown granted claim that is not being worked is either very low grade or very inaccessible. The present tax of 25c. an acre is not so steep that the owner cannot meet it till he can do some more work or get hold of a company to develop it. But let the government act on the advice of this sapient philanthropist who so kindly points out the best way to increase the revenue from mining. Let the government increase the tax to $1 an acre—what would be the result? Why, two thirds of the crown granted claims that are today paying the government a revenue would simply be allowed to slide, and the government would get less from that source instead of more. A claim may be good enough to retain on a 25c. per acre tax that would not be worth holding on a dollar tax. To increase the tax on crown granted claims would simply defeat the object aimed at—more revenue.

The Fred Robinson Lumber Co., Limited

DISCRIMINATINN AGAINST MINERS

On this particular feature of taxation I would like to ask if it is legal to tax a man for land he does not own? The claim owner has no surface right on the mineral claim he is taxed 25c. an acre for. The rancher's taxes amount to about 1 1-4c. per acre before he gets his title deeds and about 8c. an acre after he has paid for the land at $1 an acre. But the rancher has full surface rights. The land is his absolutely and his heirs in perpetuity. If the claim owner wishes to obtain the surface rights he has to pay the government $5 an acre for it, after spending $500 per claim to get it crown granted. There seems to be unjust discrimination against mining in this.

The rancher can take up land, live on it (and also live off it) for years, and then sell it without ever having paid the government a cent of purchase money. The taxes he would pay on 320 acres, at 1 1-4c. per acre, would be $4 a year, while for three full claims, or 150 acres the prospector pays $37.50, and this after costing him $1000 for crown granting; and he would still have to pay $5 an acre, or $750, before he could obtain the surface rights. Then again the rancher is allowed time, a great deal of time, in which to pay up. But let the claim owner neglect to take out his license on or before the 31st May, or fail to record his assessment in due time, or pay his 25c. per acre tax, he will quickly find he has lost his title to the property as well as all the money he has put into it.

I know of ranchers who pre-empted their land years ago and have never yet been called on to pay for it, or any portion of it. The government seems to have lost all track of them. I know of instances where ranches have changed hands several times, each time at enhanced values, and not a cent has been paid the government for it, even by the first pre-emptor. Then note the disparity in taxation: A rancher owning $50,000 worth of land pays about $50 a year in taxes—less than the average prospector, who does not own a foot of land. A mining company has to pay the government a tax of $500 (more or less, according to capitalisation) as registration fee, $100 a year as license fee and nearly another $100 a year for miner's licenses, recording fees, etc. Of the two per cent. tax on output I say nothing, because the number of mineral claims that ever attain to an "output" are infinitesimally small compared with the number located and also the number worked.

The example set by the government of "holding up" the mining industry is greedily followed by the railways, coal companies, teamsters and ranchers, who one and all endeavor to place on mining the most extortionate charges that it will possibly bear. As the industry that brings in population, that builds up cities in the erstwhile wilderness, that creates traffic for the railways and markets for the farmer, that pays higher wages and more revenue than any other industry in the province—the mining industry is deserving of fairer treatment than it is now receiving in British Columbia, and if fairer treatment is not accorded, and that very soon, the present depression will be intensified, not only in Rossland, but in other camps where it cannot be said that the cause was "solely the strike."

The government must cease this discrimination against mining. Mining men, both employers and employed, must see to it that they are represented in the legislature by men who have a thorough knowledge of mining and its needs. And the prospector, that lone wanderer whose discoveries create new mining camps, must not be forgotten or overlooked. His burdens must not be increased even for the sake of alleviating the owners tax on output. There are only a few members of the legislature who really understand what it costs to develop a mining property to the shipping point, and these few are swamped by the know-nothings who are positive that mining must be a lucrative calling, else there would not be so many who are willing to pour thousands of dollars into a hole in the ground, forgetting that for one successful mine there are a score of total failures. And so they cry: "Tax it, tax it for all its worth." Oom Paul Kruger held that same idea, but no doubt the old gentlemen now sees the folly of it and wishes he had acted otherwise.

But if our sapient legislature will persist in squeezing money out of the mining industry for no better purpose than handing it over to self seeking railway contractors it will only remain for mining companies to go a step further in the direction they have already taken, and instead of a partial shutdown let it be a tight shutdown. Then we shall see what we shall see. The government in its anxiety to get revenue may then have leisure to turn its attention to the thousands of acres of wild lands held almost entirely free of taxation by cattle kings and others who deny their fellow men the right to buy a single acre. Possibly some revenue might be obtained that way. This policy of making fish of one industry and flesh of another has about reached its limit.

Yours truly,
R. W. NORTHEY.

Work commenced on the ground between the Taylor block and Reid & Young's this morning, for the erection of Mr. Kilpatrick's new block. When completed the building will be occupied by Geo. F. Curtis, of the Red Cross Drug Store.

A letter addressed to Miss F. Shepard Revelstoke, and re-addressed Arrowhead, was lost between McKenzie Ave. and Front Street. The finder will confer a favor by leaving it at the HERALD office.

A good practice game of football was played on the Gun Club grounds last night. There was a good turnout and a fast game played. Combination play was rather weak, but outside of that the boys are well up to the mark. With a few more practices they will be in fair shape to give their contestants a hard battle to win out.

The steamer Kootenay had an exciting experience this week. While taking a load of cattle to Thompson's Landing Sunday morning she stuck in a mud bank near the mouth of the channel going up to the upper landing. All efforts failed to move her off, though several big trees were pulled down in the attempt. The Minto and Rossland were sent to her relief, armed with cables, pulleys, etc., and after nearly three days hard work she was rescued from a whole summer's banishment by the Rossland washing away the mud bank with her wheel. She arrived at Arrowhead yesterday afternoon.

Resolution of Condolence.

The following resolution has been passed by Court Mt. Begbie, No. 3461, Independent Order of Foresters:—

"Whereas it has pleased God to break our Circle of Concord by removing from it our well beloved Brother Bert W. Temple;

"Be it resolved, that we, the officers and members of Court Mt. Begbie, No. 3461, I. O. "And be it further resolved, that a copy of the above resolution be spread upon the minutes of this Court and be sent with this rider to the bereaved parents and relations of our deceased brother, as expressions of the sympathy we feel with them in our regretted mutual loss.
