EIGHTH YEAR. NELSON: TUESDAY MORNING OCTOBER 16 1900 PRICE FIVE CENTS

THERE ARE MANY CRIMINAL CASES

Majority of Offences, However, Committed Outside of the City of Nelson.

HOWARD WILL BE TRIED FOR ATTEMPT TO MURDER

The list of criminal cases to come before the fall assizes, which open this morning at 11 o'clock, is one of the longest in recent years. With two exceptions the alleged offences were committed outside of Nelson. The first case on the list is that of Regina vs Ernest Chenoweth, the defendant being a lad eight years of age. On May 23rd last a Chinaman employed in the home of the boy's mother at Rossland was shot dead. For some days no light was thrown on the case and then young Chenoweth was arrested charged with doing the shooting. The police claimed that a rifle belonging to the boy's brother was used and a confession said to have been made by the lad was read in court. Young Chenoweth has been in jail here since June, and his mother moved to Nelson to be near him. She has visited the jail daily since, and the boy has kept his health and spirits well. He is stated to be a quiet, inoffensive little fellow.

Regina vs Albi and Albo who are not related despite the similarity in names, is also a Rossland case, the defendants being jointly charged with attempting to murder one Herbert McArthur in a hotel owned by William R. Albi. The latter was in goal here for some weeks after which his release was secured, the attorney-general granting bail at $10,000. James V. Welch, the railroad contractor, is an uncle of Albi. N. E. Nuzum, a well known Spokane attorney, will assist in the defence which will be conducted by Macdonald & Johnson and Daly & Hamilton of Rossland.

In Regina vs Kettner and Frederick, the prisoners will be charged with fraud arising out of their connection with the Lord Howson and International mineral claims in Burnt Basin.

Regina vs Stadlander is a case in which defendant is charged with the theft of a ballot box at Fort Steele during the last election.

Another Rossland case is Regina vs Thompson and Henderson. Deputy Sheriff Robinson seized the goods and chattels of the Strand saloon at Rossland and placed a man named Brown in charge. Brown alleges that defendants assaulted him, and they will be tried for interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty.

The first Nelson case is Regina vs. Maslonka, the defendant being about ten years old. He is to be tried on the charge of breaking into the house of Charles Kursch here on July 28th, and stealing therefrom a watch and other articles to the value of $25. Young Maslonka is incorrigible and would probably have been committed to the reformatory several months ago had he been of sufficient age then.

Regina vs. Carlyle and Sutherland is a Kaslo case. It arises out of recent changes in the management of the Lode Star Mining Company, defendant Carlyle being the present manager. In securing the company's books he is alleged to have entered an office during the night, hence the charge.

Regina vs. Hocking is a case of alleged bigamy. The crown will seek to prove that on January 12th of this year Hocking married Jean Montgomery at Cranbrook while his wife, Winnie Hocking, was alive and residing in Salt Lake City.

The last case entered is Regina vs. Howard, in which defendant is charged with having attempted to murder William T. Muller at Nelson on October 7th. Muller is recovering rapidly, and will probably be able to go into the witness box to testify at the trial.

Constables Barnes of Fort Steele, Forrester of Robson, Devitt of Trail and Young of Procter are in the city to attend the assizes.

COURT CALENDAR FOR TERM

Cases Before Assizes.

Three cases were added to the civil list for the assizes opening today, and one of the trio, Robert Jennings vs. William Van Arsdale, E. E. Jones, David Newell and Robert Dempsey, is a mining suit with several unique features. The case arises over the Silver Bug fractional mineral claim located by Jennings in 1898. The defendants staked the Greenhorn claim on the same ground subsequently, asserting that when the Silver Bug was located the ground was occupied by the Noonday claim and that the location was therefore invalid, while their location, being made after the Noonday expired, was good. Plaintiff sets up the claim that when the Noonday was located the ground was occupied by the Rocket and the Noonday was therefore invalid. To this reply is made that when the Rocket was staked the ground was occupied by the Dandy, hence the Rocket was invalid. The rejoinder is made to this that Bourgeoise, who located the Dandy, and who was, by the way, the locator of the Le Roi mine at Rossland, but allowed his miner's license to lapse, hence his location of the Dandy was invalid. Up to date the pleadings filed in the case have exceeded those of any action ever entered in British Columbia. The plaintiff opened by filing a statement of claim, to which defendants responded with a statement of defence. This was followed by a reply, a rejoinder, a sur-rejoinder and a rebutter. Had a sur-rebutter been reached the category of the pleadings would have been exhausted. The case will give rise to a pitched legal battle.

The next action is Fournier vs Madden, arising out of a real estate deal in Ainsworth. The plaintiff, George P. Fournier claims possession of lots 3 and 4, block 1 and damages for the wrongful detention from July 30 last. The defence asserts that defendant James Madden is entitled to possession by virtue of an agreement to purchase a half interest. On this point the claim is made that the agreement called for a payment of $600 on September 21 failing which all previous payments were forfeited to the vendor and the agreement rendered null and void, which payment it is asserted defendant did not make. Defendant states that plaintiff waived forfeiture in payment of certain debts and the expenditure of certain moneys on the premises.

Manley vs. Collom has been set down also. It is a mining suit, the litigants being Mark Manley and J. Frank Collom of the Arlington mine. Plaintiff asserts that he purchased a half interest in the Native Silver fractional on Springer creek, adjoining the Arlington, and that defendant or his agents restaked the ground as the Arlington No. 1 fraction while the Native Silver was a valid and existing location. Plaintiff asks to have his location declared good, a decree setting aside the location of the Arlington No. 1 and an injunction restraining defendant from proceeding in his application for a certificate of improvements. The defense claims that the Native Silver was located in a manner contrary to section 32 of the Mineral Act; that the lands upon which the Native Silver was located were within the limits of the Arlington fraction. Defendant also asserts that the alleged transfer by John Halpin, the locator of the Native Silver, to C. A. Haller from whom plaintiff purchased his half interest, was part of a fraudulent and illegal scheme by Haller, Halpin and Robert Cooper, president of the Arlington Mining Company, to evade the provisions of the Mineral Act.

May Take London's Place.

NEW YORK, October 16.—The Evening Post today prints the following: "One of the best authorities on exchange pointed out that efforts would probably now be made abroad to stop further exports of South African gold to the United States, and London might be counted on to impose whatever barriers she could. But the opinion was expressed by one well known exchange house, which is in touch with conditions at all foreign centres, that the United States was fast reaching a position of comparative independence as regards the world's gold supply, and that she might before long assume the control which London had so long held."

The Hague Conference.

PARIS, October 15.—It is officially understood that if an international conference at The Hague regarding the settlement of the Chinese indemnity question shall be decided upon it will not discuss with China the amount of compensation she must pay, but will confine its labors to finding and distributing the proportion of the indemnity which will go to the special countries interested.

Cannot Join Their Husbands.

BERLIN, October 15.—A dispatch received here from Shang-Hai says the British there warn European women against coming north from Hong Kong in the hope of joining their husbands, the situation in the Yang Tse valley being very serious.

SETTLED THE CLAIM IN FULL

A CORPORATION NOT ALTOGETHER SOULLESS.

The Policy of Alex Gervan, Killed in Powder Explosion, Was Promptly Paid.

C. D. J. Christie, local agent of the Canada Life Insurance Company, handed a check yesterday to Thomas McCammon, administrator of the estate of the late Harry Alex Gervan, in settlement of the face value of a policy on the deceased young man's life. The facts of the case are of more than ordinary interest, indicating, as they do, that corporations are not always as soulless as is sometimes represented. The late Harry Gervan took out a $2000 policy in the Canada Life last fall about four months before his death. At the time he was employed as a book-keeper and so described himself in the application for the insurance. Within a short time he went to work for the Ontario Powder Works and was killed in the explosion which followed. The insurance company explicitly set forth in its regulations on the policy that no policy-holder could engage in hazardous occupations, among which that of working in a powder factory was set forth within two years of the date of issuing the policy without forfeiting all claims to insurance. At the time of Gervan's death this clause was violated and it is probable that no court would have compelled the Canada Life to fulfill its part of the contract. The company took a generous view of the situation, particularly in view of the fact that the deceased young man's father, who was the heir at law, had lost heavily through the destruction of the Baldwin Iron Works at Ottawa. They concluded to pay the claim, and in the interim the necessary legal steps have been taken to prove death and appoint an administrator for the estate. The fact is of some additional interest also because this loss was the first sustained by the Canada Life in Nelson since Mr. Christie took the agency four years ago.

The Duke Denies It.

LONDON, October 15.—The duke of Marlborough is sending out a denial statement that W. K. Vanderbilt had given £100,000, as some papers said, and others £500,000 to the duchess as a thank offering for the duke's safe return from the war. The duke and duchess of Marlborough have been annoyed by the pleasantries and serious congratulations that have swollen their past fortnight's mail.

Appointed a Judge.

LONDON, October 15.—The Hon. Arthur Russell, eldest son of the late lord chief justice of England, baron Russell of Killowen, has been appointed a judge of the circuit court.

HE MAY BE AGENT GENERAL

HON. J. H. TURNER ARRIVED LAST NIGHT.

Is Surprised at Nelson's Improved Appearance Since His Last Visit.

Hon. J. H. Turner, minister of finance for British Columbia is registered at the Hotel Phair. He will remain in the city for several days visiting the local government offices and renewing old acquaintances. At the conclusion of his stay here Mr. Turner will go to Rossland and the Boundary on a similiar mission, His last visit to this city was made two years ago and the marked improvements reported from Nelson have elicited his surprise and admiration.

In referring to the report that he would become agent-general of British Columbia in London, England, Mr. Turner states that the matter is yet in the hands of the government. Should the appointment be made, however, it will not take effect until after the next sitting of the logislature, when the question is to be discussed in the house. Mr. Turner has an advanced opinion as to the method of running the office. He believes that ample room should be arranged for to accommodate a thorough exhibit of mineral specimens and other products of the province. In addition to this he advocates a thorough system of procuring and forwarding statistics which will afford full and up-to-date information regarding the products of British Columbia mines, farms and fisheries. On this visit he will gather general information, and in the event of taking the agent-generalship, will return later to procure the data necessary to effect the usefulness of the agency.

Touching on the report of cabinet changes imminent, Mr. Turner states explicitly that so far as he is aware no step of the kind has ever been or is now contemplated.

Considerable interest is taken locally in the appointment of officials to fill the wardenship and registrarship vacant in Nelson. Mr. Turner states that these positions will be filled at the next cabinet meeting a couple of weeks hence.

Asked as to the date of the next sitting of the House, the finance minister remarked that this point was to a certain extent an open question as yet, but that the session would undoubtedly take place early in the year. He ventured the opinion that the session would be comparatively brief, although several matters of import would come up.

Referring to matters in general at the coast, Mr. Turner remarked that the leading topic of discussion in business circles was the proposition of the Great Northern to build into Victoria. The matter would be laid before the city shortly, and he believed the citizens were strongly in favor of encouraging the American road to come in.

News From the North.

VICTORIA, British Columbia, October 15.—The steamer Amur arrived today from Skagway and reports a new placer strike on Lake Lebarge in Ogilvie valley. A stampede from Dawson in boats and scows to the new find was made by miners going to Keyokuk, on Chandler creek, which enters the Yukon 50 miles below Circle.

Twelve cases of smallpox are reported at Grand Forks. Dawson has ordered a quarantine against there and a doctor has been placed on White Pass summit to examine all trains.

A severe earthquake shock was felt for several seconds at Skagway last Tuesday.

Colored soldiers at Skagway caused a riot by attacking a saloon which refused to serve colored persons.

Wants a Concession.

VICTORIA, October 15.—From No. 10 discovery claim on Little creek in Big Salmon district $10,000 has been taken in three months.

The railway committee of the city council tomorrow evening will consider a proposal from the Great Northern railroad to run a ferry from the Canadian terminal at Liverpool on the Fraser river to connect with the Victoria and Sydney railway for this city. They ask a bonus of $15,000 a year for 20 years, terminal facilities and right to run over the proposed extension of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway to the head of Vancouver Island. In time they intend to run a railway to the mouth of the river, making the ferry trip a short one. A branch line through Chilliwack valley is also part of the scheme.

Forfeited His Bail.

MONTREAL, October 15.—T. J. Chisholm, arrested a few days ago on a charge of defrauding the Merchants' Bank of Halifax out of $220,000, failed to appear in the police court today when his name was called and his bail of $22,000 was ordered forfeited. It is said that Chisholm has gone to South America.

LORD ROBERTS WILL REMAIN

ACTIVITY OF THE BOERS CAUSES THE CHANGED PROGRAM.

The London Standard is Particularly Severe and Demands That Harsh Measures Be Adopted.

LONDON, October 16.—The Durban correspondent of the Standard wiring yesterday says: "Railway communication north of Standerton has been suspended since Thursday. There are persistent rumors of Boer attacks on the railway.

Considerable uneasiness has been caused by the postponement of lord Roberts' departure.

Commenting upon the activity of the Boers and the statement from Capetown that lord Roberts has postponed his home coming the Standard says: "There are certain indications pointing to the conclusion that unexpected difficulties have arisen which lord Roberts deems grave enough to demand his presence for some time to come. All the facts suggest that it is impossible yet to denude South Africa of any substantial portion of the large army now engaged in dominating a sullen and recalcitrant population.

The editorial finally calls for the severest measures against irreconcilable Boers, for a prompt and ruthless punishment for every insurgent burgher caught in delicto. The editorial concludes with the statement that "the imperial government has the country's mandate and need not be afraid to act vigorously.

Pleaded Not Guilty.

WATERTOWN, New York, October 15.—Loveland Miller, Jr., under indictment for manslaughter by causing the death of W. D. Tyler on August 3rd, was arraigned in the supreme court today and pleaded not guilty. The defense will be that Tyler was intoxicated and that Miller struck the blow in defense of his brother, whom Tyler was endeavering to stop in participating in a fight with another boy.

Empress Frederick's Condition.

MIKADO CROWDED THE OPERA HOUSE

A Finished Performance and an Enthusiastic and Appreciative Audience.

IT WAS SPLENDIDLY COSTUMED AND CREDITABLY STAGED.

The initial production of Gilbert & Sullivan's charming opera "The Mikado," by the Nelson Operatic Society last night was highly successful, both from an artistic and social standpoint. The opera was well presented, splendidly costumed and well staged, while the audience crowded the house to the doors and was appreciative in a ratio equal to its number. The Nelson amateurs possess dramatic talent rarely if ever encountered in a city of this size, and in their latest venture they have ample scope to display their ability. Any points at which the touch of the amateur could be detected were more than counterbalanced by the clever costuming and the manner in which the stage business was handled. The shade of stiffness observable in places was only to be expected on a first night and the citizens who patronize "The Mikado" tonight will have the benefit of the more finished production. The play made a big hit and the local amateurs covered themselves with credit.

"The Mikado" lends itself particularly to the costumer's art, and no effort was spared to make this a feature of the production by the operatic society. The costumes for the chorus were made in Winnipeg and were excellent. The "Three Little Maids from School" who figure so prominently were most becomingly attired in costumes made by Mrs. J. E. Halton. The scenery was especially painted for the occasion by J. E. Halton and added in no small measure to the success of the production. The theatre decorations, including the designs of Japanese umbrellas, fans and screens, were arranged by E. J. Crickmay.

The cast for the "Mikado" was as follows: The Mikado of Japan, W. J. Caldwell; Nanki-Poo, his son, John Lochore; Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner of Tipitu, George Williamson; Pooh-Pah, Lord High Everything Else, C. B. Winter; Pish-Tush, E. Grizzelle; Yum-Yum, Mrs. Melville Parry; Pitti-Sing, Miss Bensusan; Peep-Bo, Miss Ida Johnson; Katisha, Mrs. M. S. Davys; ladies in chorus, sopranos: Mesdames E. McLeod, J. E. Annable, L. S. Otis, J. A. Armstrong, W. Rutherford, W. J. Caldwell and F. R. C. Beer, Misses B. Sutcliffe, E. M. Little, L. E. Tamblyn and Lennox; contraltos: Mesdames R. H. Williams, E. E. Arthur, W. A. Thurman and Wambold, Misses Clarke and Chambers; Men in chorus, tenors, Onslow Newling, S. M. Johnson, H. R. Jorand, E. J. Crickmay, John Rae, J. G. Nelson and F. R. C. Beer; basses, L. B. Hodge, A. R. Sherwood, G. S. Kellaway, Fred Smith, W. F. Ross, C. Burt, R. Brown, E. Parkes and W. L. Burt. The orchestra was: Herr Steiner, conductor; first violins Mrs. Painton, Mrs. Morley, Mrs. Archbold, Mr. Harris; second violin, Mr. Campbell; viola, Mr. Morley; bass, Mr. Otis; cello, Miss Hedley; clarinet, D. Wambold, Mr. Farquharson; flute Mr. Tregillus; cornets, H. Wambold, Mr. Brown; trombone, Mr. Porter; drums, Mr. Mills; accompanist Miss Wilson.

"The Mikado" abounds in witty dialogue, catchy music and humorous songs. The thread of the plot is frail and ridiculous in the extreme, but the famous composers made it the vehicle for an opera which has delighted two continents. Of the principals in last night's production much might be said to their credit and of the manner in which they interpreted their roles. George Williamson, as Ko-Ko, had the leading comedy part and was on the stage much of the time. His work evidently pleased the audience if the roars of laughter punctuating his dialogue may be taken as a criterion. C. B. Winter had the second comedy part, and his stage business was excellent. John Lachore sang well, although his role did not afford him the opportunity to repeat the hit he made in "Pinafore." E. Grizelle and W. J. Caldwell had walking parts and acquitted themselves creditably, the latter's make-up being particularly effective. The ladies in leading roles were unusually clever. Mrs. Parry and Miss Bensusan divided honors as two of the trio of schoolgirls, and Miss Johnson rounded out the trio nicely. Mrs. Parry sang salendidly and really carried off the palm for the best acting. Miss Bensusan was charming and captured all hearts by her graceful manner and attractive personality. Katisha, a difficult role, was in the hands of Mrs. M. S. Davys, who surprised her friends with the spirit which she threw into her work. One of the special features eliciting round applause was the fan dance by mesdames Otis, Armstrong, Williams and Astley and misses Tamblyn, Sutcliffe, Clarke and Johnston.

The orchestra's work was admirable on the whole, and this feature should be perfect at tonight's performance.

The ladies in leading roles were presented with handsome bouquets during the evening.

YET ANOTHER RICH STRIKE

171 Claims Staked in a Day.

VICTORIA, October 15.—Reports of still another new gold discovery are given by passengers arriving here from the north. As several of these were passing the mouth of Stewart river on the 2nd instant they were told that on the previous day 171 claims had been staked off on Clear creek, a tributary of the Stewart river, where it is stated that 50 miles of good placer ground is available. Pay dirt is said to run 25 cents to the pan. Another strike has been made southwest of Atlin. The discoverers, however, are keeping the locality secret and refuse to record their claims in hopes that bigger claims than 100-foot ones would be established. There are two Clear creeks in the north, that on the Stewart and that on the Chilcat in the Porcupine country, which have both recently been the scene of stampedes.

In a letter judge George Girton, United States commissioner at Porcupine, says that he is confident that the new strike on the latter is a rich one. He further says that there is plenty of ground there, and owing to the small sized British Columbia claims there will be room for many locations in the district. A new grant on the Porcupine has been issued for Berry Wiley and his associates and Mr. Girton says that next season they will be able to take out $1000 a day.

A $100,000 Blaze.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 15—Fire last night destroyed the car sheds of the Cleveland and Eastern Electric Railway Company at Galos Mills. A number of cars and other property were burned. Loss $100,000 covered by insurance.

THE Liberal "push" were in great spirits yesterday because of the turnout at their first organization meeting on Saturday night. Last night the Conservative "push" were in equally good spirits, because of the result of the first report of the canvassing committee. The Labor men are not as sanguine of success as at first, but they are hard at work. But the great bulk of the people are more interested in turkey for Thanksgiving dinner than in politics.

TAXATION based on net income would be a failure. Were the farmers of British Columbia taxed on the net value of the produce they sell, how many of them would pay taxes? If the mines were taxed on the value of the ore produced, less the cost of production and treatment, what revenue would the province receive from that source of taxation? If the men who are taxed on their incomes were allowed to deduct their living expenses from the amount of their incomes, how much would the province receive from income taxes? It is all very well for mine owners to say the two per cent tax is an unfair one on them; but they must be able to prove that it is unfair before people will take any stock in their contentions.

WERE the LeRoi mine and the Payne mine and the Last Chance mine taxed as real estate, a fair basis on which to arrive at the value of these properties for taxation would be the market price of their shares. The Payne is divided into, say, 3,000,000 shares of the par value of $1. The shares were quoted on the Toronto stock exchange yesterday at 93 cents bid. This makes the mine worth $2,790,000. A fair assessment would be two-thirds of that, or $1,860,000. Taxed as real estate, the rate of taxation would be four-fifths of one per cent, which would make the taxes on the property $14,880, which it is safe to say is as great a sum as the Payne will pay the province this year on the 2 per cent basis.

Now that it is settled that polling day in the Yale-Cariboo will be a week or two later than the date fixed for the country as a whole, there is less interest being taken in the canvass. Yale-Cariboo will undoubtedly go as the country goes, notwithstanding any effort that the local politicians may make. If the country goes Liberal, Yale-Cariboo will return candidate Galliher. If the Conservatives carry the country, candidate MacNeill will be elected easily. This is not because the people of the constituency are lacking in principle, but because a large number of the electors are not strong partisans. These men believe that there are no great principles at stake, and that the constituency can best be served by a member of the party that is in power. And they are right. If the Liberal party is returned to power, of what use would Mr. MacNeill be in the house? If the Conservatives carry the country of what use would Mr. Galliher be in shaping legislation, or securing what is urgently needed for the district? Of course, the Labor party men will argue that their man is sure to win, and that his influence will be felt no matter which party is in power. And, of course, the Labor party men are entitled to their opinions.

FOUND GREAT OPPORTUNITY

Big Contracts for America.

In this practical world there is nothing quite so great as a great opportunity, says the Saturday Evening Post.

During the past 12 months much has occurred in England. More than 200,000 troops, the flower of British manhood, have been chasing Boers in South Africa and have been causing the government to spend millions of dollars a day and to lay the hand of taxation heavily upon the people. With the absence of part of England's working force and with the presence of the financial problem, the sharp-witted American saw his chance. This has happened not only in regard to the transportation problem in London, not only in respect to the charters for trolley lines in the other cities of England, Scotland and Wales, but also in respect to the building of large industries on American plans and the profitable employment of American capital.

England made millions out of our civil war and did not lose anything in our war with Spain. Now it is the turn of the United States.

In round numbers, we are now sending from our shores $4,000,000 worth of exports every day. Of this over $1,000,000 per day is in manufactured goods.

Take the increase by decades. The figures given are quoted from a statement from the treasury department: "In 1860 the exports of manufactures averaged $3,500,000 per month; in 1870 they were a little over $5,000,000 per month; in 1880 they were less than $10,000,000 per month; in 1890 they were $12,500,000 per month; in 1899 they were $28,000,000 per month, and in the fiscal year, 1900, $36,000,000 per month." More than three-forths of these exports go to Europe.

In big things this country leads so markedly that sometimes it hardly seems that it has any competition. In wealth it is at least 25 per cent ahead of any other nation. In coal and other resources it has a paramountcy—to borrow a word from our current politics—which towers beautifully. In the annual products of its manufacturing industries it is nearly 50 per cent ahead.

NELSON MINES AND MINING

An Athabasca Strike.

A rich strike was reported to have been made at the Athabasca mine yesterday. E. Nelson Fell informed THE TRIBUNE that 40 feet of ore had been stripped in the shaft and was shot down yesterday morning. It proved to be as rich as any ore in the mine, but Mr. Fell was not disposed to call it a strike, preferring to describe the discovery as a gratifying indication that the rich mineral already found in the shaft is equal in quality for an additional 40 feet at least. The result of further development will be watched with keen interest by Nelsonites who have predicted a great future for Morning mountain.

Temporarily Suspended.

Ernest Mansfield informed THE TRIBUNE yesterday that work on the Camp Mansfield properties operated under his direction has been temporarily shut down, and that he leaves for England on Thursday to interview his directors and arrange for the resumption of work at an early date. He anticipates putting in a machine drill plant to expedite development.

Robert Heddle, superintendent of the Venus mine, was notified yesterday that the directors of the company had decided to put in a ten-stamp mill on the property.

HE DIED AT THE THROTTLE

The Strain on Engineers.

A few days ago another locomotive engineer died at the throttle. This time it was one of the most famous engineers in the entire country. Dispatches from Ashtabula, Ohio, announced that George Martin, noted as the man who was fireman on the presidential train which drew Lincoln to Washington when he was first inaugurated, had suddenly dropped dead while at his post on an engine of the Lake Shore fast mail, says the Chicago Chronicle. By a strange coincidence it seems Martin was also fireman on the engine which hauled the Lincoln funeral train west from Washington.

Within the last few years there have been so many engineers who have dropped dead while running their engines that the suddenness of the death of so many men employed in the same capacity has caused considerable comment. There is scarcely a road in the country on which one or more engineers have not thus suddenly departed life while on duty in the locomotive cab. There have also been a number of instances in which engineers have met with death by accident while seated in the locomotives. Some time ago an engineer on the New York Central met an untimely end in a peculiar manner. The water pipe on a tank at the side of the road had been broken in some way and had dropped from its vertical position and hung suspended in the air almost exactly over the rail on the water tank side of the railway. A through train which did not make a stop at this tank came by at lightning speed. As fate would have it, the engineer poked his head out of the window just as the train reached the tank. His head struck the heavy pipe and was knocked completely off his shoulders as if it had been severed by a sword. The unfortunate man had lost his life so quickly that he could not have known what happened to him, for within a fraction of a second his head had been dashed from his body.

Only a few months ago an engineer on the Michigan Central had a narrow escape from death down at Hammond. He leaned so far out of his cab that his head was dashed against the post of a semaphore. Fortunately the train was not going at great speed and the man's skull was not crushed. He was simply knocked unconscious to the floor of the locomotive. A few weeks in the hospital brought him around all right and he went back to his engine, resolving not to stick his head so far out of the cab when he wanted to get a breath of fresh air or a little better view of the rails or the country in the future.

It is not, however, the accidents to engineers, but their deaths from heart failure, paralysis, etc., which are of the greatest significance. Many railroad people will well remember a sudden death which occurred on an engine of one of the great western roads not long ago. A fast train was thundering along over the rails at its usual rate of speed. Suddenly the fireman noticed that the train shot over the grade crossings of a country road without the usual preceding whistle. The fireman looked over at the engineer and wondered what in the world was the matter.

The engineer was sitting on the little seat on his side of the engine, with his eyes on the track ahead. The fireman concluded that by just a little oversight or forgetfulness the engineer had neglected to pull the whistle. About the next minute the train flew over another crossing without the whistle blowing. The fireman grew a little uneasy, but he was disinclined to call the attention of the engineer to his mistake for fear his correction might not be kindly received. Superior employes, like military officers, do not take rebuke with pleasure from those under them. The fireman did not wish to give offense, so he kept still. But a few minutes later the train ran by a station where it was scheduled to stop. Then the fireman's eyes began to stand out—a queer lump came up in his throat, and for a few minutes he remained frozen to his seat and staring at the engineer, who still kept his seat and looked steadily ahead at the glittering rails. Another station seemed to fairly fly past the train and the fireman began to regain his senses. He slowly got down from his seat and stepped over to the engineer.

"Say, old man," he said, half hesitatingly, as if fearing he would get called down for interrupting his superior's thoughts. There was no reply.

"Say, John, I thought maybe you—" here the fireman reached forward and touched the engineer's arm. He sprung back with a startled look on his face; then he jumped forward and with both hands shook the engineer. Then the fireman knew why the train had sped over the crossings without whistling and why it had run past stations where it stopped every day. The engineer was dead. The fireman sprang to the throttle and brought the train to a stop as it was entering the next town. A physician was hurriedly summoned, but he was too late to be of any service. He said the man had been dead over an hour. "Heart failure" was the verdict. The fireman ran the train until he got to one of the larger towns, where another engineer was taken on to finish the trip.

This was a typical case of the engineer expiring at his post. All of the many cases of death are of almost exactly this same character. The engineer fails to whistle, runs past stations or fails to slow up when going down grade or running through stations where the law requires a slower speed, and then for the first time the fireman discovers something wrong and steps over to his chief to find that without the least warning life has departed.

"I have been thinking much lately about those sudden deaths of engineers," said an old railroad man the other day, and I have just about come to the conclusion that it is caused by pure nervous strain and nothing else. Few people realize what great strain an engineer, a conscientious one, is under. He has hundreds of lives in his hands all of the time and the responsibility of these, together with the fear that he may sometime run over some innocent victim, is enough, when long continued, to try the nerves of the strongest.

Wherein does E. F. Clarke, M. P., fail to be as truly a representative of labor as Ralph Smith, M. P. P.? An avowed relationship to the Conservative party should no more disqualify Mr. Clarke from representing labor than Ralph Smith should be disqualified by his unavowed relationship to the Liberal party. If labor reformers cannot support Mr. Clarke because he is a party man first and a labor man second, they can find the same reason for refusing to support Ralph Smith. The People's party candidates in eastern Canada may as well realize first as last that they will be overloaded by any affiliations with the leadership of Ralph Smith. The record shows that Mr. Smith did his best to strike down a government [Joe Martin's] in British Columbia which was pledged to operate the best theories in the platform of the People's party. The People's party candidates in Toronto cannot accept the leadership of Mr. Smith without becoming responsible for his treachery to progressive principles in British Columbia politics.

VOTE FOR....

A. H. MacNEILL

of Rossland

Candidate of the Liberal-Conservative Party for Member of the House of Commons for Yale-Cariboo.

PLATFORM

Adopted by the Liberal-Conservative Party in Convention at Revelstoke, September 15th, 1900

We, the delegates of the Liberal-Conservative party of Yale-Cariboo constituency, in convention assembled, reaffirm the principles of the party, and more particularly that cardinal principle, protection to home industries, and that that principle be carried out so that all sections of the country shall equally share its benefits.

The one industry on which the prosperity of this constituency is almost wholly dependent is mining; and we believe that our mining industries are as fairly entitled to protection as the manufacturing industries of Eastern Canada; therefore, we advocate that the duties on lead and lead products be increased, so that they shall be as high as those now imposed by the United States on the same articles.

That the output of the precious metal mines is largely increasing, therefore we favor the establishment of a mint, so that the specie in circulation shall be that of our own instead of that of a foreign country.

We advocate the restriction of the immigration of Chinese and Japanese, and all classes who cannot become good citizens of the Dominion of Canada, and suggest the adoption of the principles of the Natal Act.

British Columbia has not now the representation in the federal parliament that she is entitled to: therefore we advocate that when the redistribution of seats is made that this constituency shall be given representation according to its population.

That it augurs well for the success of the party that Hugh John Macdonald has decided to leave the field of provincial politics to take part in the larger one that affects the people of the whole of Canada.
