MINING AND MILLING INDUSTRIES

A Trial Shipment of Ore From Springer and Lemon Creeks to Be Sent to Trail.

GENERAL NEWS OF INTEREST FROM NEIGHBORING CAMPS

N. F. McNaught, one of the best known mining operators on Springer and Lemon creeks, was in the city today en route to Trail. He is taking a trial shipment of ore from the Hampdon group to be smelted and expects the test to be satisfactory. The Hampdon group is above and adjoining the Arlington property, and was purchased by Mr. McNaught last spring from Popin and McFarlane, the prospectors who staked the Bondholder group, recently bonded to Spokane and Slocan City parties. The group includes the Ethel K, Plunger, Camp Fire, Silver Bow, Hampdon and Hampdon fraction claims. It was staked in 1895, but no work was done outside of assessments until the property changed hands. Since then sufficient development has been carried out to indicate that the Hampdon is in a fair way to become one of the richest properties in the Slocan country. The formation is similar to that on the Arlington and the lead parallels the Arlington vein. The ledge is 40 feet wide and has been stripped for 250 feet, ore being found for the full distance. For the full width the lead averages fifty ounces. The paystreak is twelve inches wide and averages 400 ounces. Specimens can be obtained almost anywhere in the paystreak which will run 12,000 ounces. Mr. McNaught has a silver button made from an ounce of selected ore and the button is almost as heavy as the sample was before it went into the crucible.

An 80-foot tunnel was driven on the lead this summer and the ore taken out in drifting paid $40 a foot over and above the cost of the work. During the summer 60 sacks of clean ore was shipped to Trail and realized 790 ounces to the ton. The shipments now going through consists of 144 sacks, half from the paystreak and the balance from the ledge matter. Good buildings have been erected on the group and equipped with water pipes. Next spring a road will be constructed from the terminus of the Arlington wagon road and the Hampdon will be worked extensively.

Mr. McNaught with his brother James, for many years chief attorney for the Northern Pacific railroad and now president of the new road being built out of Quebec, is a half owner of the Alpha mine near Silverton. They purchased the property outright for $70,000 in 1893 and sold a half interest later to senator Hansbrough of North Dakota and Alex MacKenzie of Washington, D. C. The Alpha was the best proposition and had the biggest lead showing in the Silverton camp at the time. In the first four months after the McNaughts took hold of it 1200 tons were shipped which ran 112 ounces of silver and 62 per cent lead. The initial shipment of 800 tons was the first ore ever carried on the Nakusp branch of the C. P. R. then operated by the construction department. In the winter of '94-'95 the owners disagreed as to the proper method of working the Alpha and the property was shut down suddenly. Tram cars were left where they stood, the cables on the tramway were left stretched and 400 tons of shipping ore lay on the dump ready to be forwarded to the smelter. Since then not a drill has been driven on the property.

The McNaught brothers control a quarter interest in the Kilo group on Lemon creek above the Chapleau mine. The balance of the Kilo group, which aggregates 28 claims and extending for about four miles on the creek, is owned by the Warner Miller Syndicate of New York. The company has spent fully $150,000 on the property and is about to enter the producing stage. Last spring twenty tons of ore in three ton lots from seven points on the group, was shipped to Wood & Co., of Denver, Colorado, to be treated with a view to ascertaining the most desirable method of reduction. The shipment was sidetracked for sixty-five days, and the result of the test has only recently been received. The twenty tons averages $43 principally in gold with some silver. The nature of the process recommended by Wood & Company is not divulged, but Mr. McNaught states that the Kilo company can handle $5 or $6 ore profitably. The company will erect a mill next spring. To handle the property as extensively as is contemplated will eventually necessitate half-a-dozen mills at various points on the group, and this is part of the programme. The Kilo people are affiliating with the Chapleau company in the construction of the Lemon creek wagon road, and the mile and a half of grade necessary to complete the road between the Kilo and Chapleau will be started at an early date. There are ten or twelve buildings on the Kilo group, with comfortable accommodation for crews. Since commencing operations on Lemon creek five years ago the Kilo company has pursued the policy of developing extensively on various claims, so that they now have mines at several points which only require mills to be on a producing basis.

Referring to mining matters Mr. McNaught says: "I believe this country to be the best of them all from a mining standpoint. I have been in Washington and Colorado and there are no brighter opportunities there than in British Columbia. I am satisfied there are scores of properties all over the country in mining sections which are quite as good or better than any of those now operating and look to see the Kootenays go ahead rapidly from this on."

Litigation Over the Blue Jay.

The suit of Lawr vs. Parker was disposed of at the court house yesterday, judgment being given in favor of plaintiff. The action was of some interest, involving as it did a Morning mountain mineral claim which will probably turn out to be a valuable property, and arose in the following manner: In August, 1898, William Lawr, the plaintiff, staked the Rebecca claim on Morning mountain, and in the following year on the J. A. fraction, adjoining the Ida claim, which he also claimed, believing at the time that the work was done on the Rebecca. It was brought out in the evidence that the assessment was done on the Ida and that plaintiff filed no notice of his intention to do the work on the Ida to apply as an assessment on the Rebecca as recorded, and on August 30th, 1899, made and filed an affidavit that he had done the work on the Rebecca, whereas it was done on the fraction adjoining the Ida. On the affidavit being presented a certificate of work was issued which was filed in the mining recorder's office. On August 30th, however, a prospector named William H. Warren found that no work had been done on the Rebecca, nor had notice been filed of other work to apply on the claim, as is provided for in the Mineral Act, and staked the ground as the Blue Jay. He sold to John F. Holden, formerly superintendent of the Venus mine, who in turn sold the Blue Jay to Charles Parker, the defendant. Plaintiff asked that the Rebecca claim be declared a valid and subsisting location as against the Blue Jay. Mr. justice Walkem held, under section 28 of the Mineral Act, that after the certificate of work was recorded the right or title of Lawr held good and that even although no work had been done on the Rebecca the only means of attacking the title was through a suit instituted by the attorney-general to set aside the certificate on the ground that it had been obtained by fraud. It is understood that the case will be appealed. Taylor & Hannington acted for plaintiff and Galliher & Wilson appeared for the defence.

Lost Creek Property Bonded.

A deal was closed here yesterday by which the International Gold Mining and Development Company Stansted, Quebec, took an option on the Mastadon claim on Lost creek owned by C. H. Green. The company paid $1000 cash, and the agreement calls for a further payment of $5000 in six months together with 150,000 shares in the above company, which was formed to take over the property.

BOER ACTIVITY CONTINUES

LORD ROBERTS TO SHORTLY RETURN TO ENGLAND.

British Casualties During the Month of October Were Heavy--Lost 167 Men Killed in Action.

LONDON, November 3.—The South African situation is improving and lord Roberts will shortly return to England with the majority of his staff. Arrangements are being made in Cape Town to send the first batch of refugees back to Johannesburg, and accommodation is being provided at Bloemfontein for a garrison of 7000. Nevertheless the activity of the Boers continues. On October 26th a commando of 300 captured a garrison of 30 men at Reddersburg but afterwards released them. Trains from the south to Pretoria are attacked by the Boers almost daily. On October 24th the burghers occupied Koffontein.

On the other hand general Knox has inflicted a reverse on general Dewet's forces near Parys, capturing two guns, one of them a weapon lost by the British in the Sannas Post affair. The daily tale of British casualties is heavy. During the month of October the British lost 167 men killed in action, including 15 officers, 71 who died of wounds, 367 who died of disease, 22 who died of accidents and 97 captured or missing. A total almost equal to the monthly average for the duration of the war.

Another Story.

LONDON, November 3.—The Daily Express publishes sensational statements that the Boer revival is more serious than has hitherto been believed and that in consequence lord Roberts' return is likely to be still further postponed. It says also that no considerable part of the troops will return before January or February, while the regimental drafts from England will continue and 5000 horses will be sent out. The paper definitely declares that the Boers are well armed and abundantly supplied with ammunition and that the campaign is likely to last another six months.

Street Railway Earnings.

MONTREAL, Quebec, November 2.—The city of Montreal's percentage of the street railway company's earnings this year amounts to $77,889. The company pays four per cent on gross earnings up to a million dollars, six per cent on earnings up to a million and a half, and eight per cent above that.

MAY INVALIDATE LICENSES

CASE OF MANLEY VS. COLLOM NOW BEFORE THE ASSIZES.

Lax Method of Doing Business Responsible for the Present Litigation.

A point of very great interest to the miners and prospectors of the Slocan and other sections has arisen in the course of the trial of Manley vs. Collom, now being taken at the assize court. The point at issue affects the validity of scores of miner's licenses and the course of events will be closely watched until the matter is settled. To explain the point in question necessitates a brief resume of the facts leading to the suit, which is as follows: The plaintiff seeks to adverse defendant Collom's application for a certificate of improvements on the Arlington Fractional No. 1, situated between the Arlington and Burlington mineral claims. The ground in issue was staked in 1897 by C. A. Haller, then foreman on the Arlington property. Haller filed an abandonment of the fraction, and the ground was re-staked by Jack Halpin as the Native Silver Fraction. Collom alleged a conspiracy on the part of Haller, and during the summer located the ground as the Arlington Fraction No. 1, had surveys made and applied for the certificate of improvements which plaintiff is adversing.

During the hearing at yesterday's court it came out that the miners' licenses taken out by Haller and Halpin had been signed by others than the mining recorder or the gold commissioner and objection was taken on this head. The statute is mandatory in setting forth that miners' licenses must bear the signature of a mining recorder or gold commissioner, and when the attention of Mr. justice Walkem was directed to the point his lordship took a serious view of the matter. The case was adjourned till Tuesday to have E. M. Sandilands, who signed licenses for recorder McGinnis of New Denver, and McGinnis together with recorder Christie of Slocan City, who will give evidence as to the genuineness of the licenses produced. Even if no more serious results should follow, it would appear to indicate a seemingly loose way of doing business in some government offices.

Back From Boerland.

MONTREAL, November 2.—Returning members of the first contingent are to arrive here at 1:30 tomorrow morning. The train is expected to arrive at Levis about 1 o'clock this morning. If the train came right through to Montreal the men would arrive here at a convenient hour. If the train is held back the Ottawa demonstration would be ruined by the late arrival of the men. Consequently the Montreal committee has arranged that all the men, except Ottawa men, shall be held at Levis, and have chartered a special train so as to get them here in proper time. Arrangements for the reception, including a parade and banquet in the drill hall, have been made. The city is on the tiptoe of expectancy, and there promises to be a great time.

Drugs Were Explosive.

NEW YORK, November 2.—The police department has been investigating the list of persons reported missing in connection with the Tarrant fire for the purpose of obtaining a correct list of the persons supposed to have lost their lives in the fire. The persons reported were investigated through the station nearest the addresses given for them and in many cases were reported as safe. Dr. Lederle, health department analysist, who examined the seven drugs found in the ruins, said today that they had contained analine oil which is only a little less explosive than kerosine.

Sweet Vengeance.

NEW YORK, November 2.—Robert Elkins, a shipping clerk, was probably fatally wounded today by John Sweet, a salesman. Elkins was in front of the store engaged in marking a case of goods when Sweet passed him. Elkins was kneeling at the time. He turned his head without seeing Sweet and spat upon him. Sweet became enraged and before Elkins could rise to explain drew a revolver and shot him in the neck. A large number of truck drivers and others, who witnessed the affair, started in pursuit of Sweet who ran down the street and turning fired a shot at his pursuers which luckily missed. His flight took him to the Mercer street police station into which he ran for refuge. He was promptly locked up and Elkins was taken to the hospital.

Want Debs to Withdraw.

BOSTON, Massachusetts, November 2.—The Globe tomorrow will print an open letter to Eugene V. Debs urging his withdrawal in favor of Bryan, the signers being professor Frank Parsons, president of the National Public Ownership League; B. O. Flower, founder of the Arena; Elwood Pomeroy, president of the National Direct legislation, and Dr. George W. Galvin, all personal friends of Mr. Debs. The signers are all believers in the co-operative commonwealth, but are of the opinion that its advent will be hastened by Bryan's election.

Petty Larceny Solicitor.

TORONTO, Ontario, November 2.—Justice McMahon today passed sentence of six months in prison on J. Percy Lawless found guilty of theft. His lordship, in passing sentence, said Lawless was worse than an ordinary thief. As solicitor for a community he was entitled to the belief that he would hold his trusts inviolate. Breach of trust was the worst feature of the case.

PHOENIX CIVIC ELECTION

G. W. RUMBERGER, A PIONEER, THE FIRST MAYOR.

One Hundred and Forty-Seven Votes Were Cast and Six Councilmen Elected.

PHOENIX, November 2.—[Special to The Tribune.]—The first civic election of the new municipality of Phoenix was held today at Miners' Union hall, polls being open from 10 a.m. to 4 p. m. The returning officer was R. B. Kerr. There were 162 voters registered up to last night and 147 ballots cast today. For aldermen the result was as follows: James A. Clark, 103; James Marshall, 104; Michael McBean, 99; Dougald McInnes, 118; John A. Morrin, 108; James Punch, 110; and Joseph H. Graham, 74. The returning officer declared the first six elected as councilmen. George W. Rumberger, one of the pioneers of the camp, was nominated for mayor last week without opposition, which was equivalent to election. The new council will consist of leading business men with the exception of Messrs Marshall and Punch, who are miners well thought of in the community. The council will meet for the first time tomorrow afternoon and proceed to organization and administration of city affairs.

Grafters in Trouble.

MONTREAL, November 2.—Two political clubs gave up the ghost tonight and both parties suffered equally. Four men are under arrest, Arthur Corrigan, A. E. Fitzgerald, W. J. Stevenson and R. Robertson. They appear to have been working a clever game. They had two clubs organized, the principal asset of which was a subscription list. Both lists were identical except that Laurier was substituted for Tupper and Liberal for Conservative. On the Conservative list $1500 had been collected while Liberals only subscribed $300. It had not been as extensively circulated. The funniest feature of the affair is that the president of the Conservative Club was arrested with the Liberal list in his pocket, while the treasurer of the Liberal Club carried the Conservative list. Among the subscribers were Tupper, Laurier and several Liberal candidates in Montreal and many prominent Liberals and Conservatives.

Terry the Pug Wins.

LOUISVILLE, Kentucky, November 2.—Terry McGovern, the marvel of the prize ring, defeated Joe Bernstein of New York in the seventh round before the Nonpareil Athletic Club here tonight.

PLACER MINING MAY BE REVIVED

Hydraulic Plant on Forty-Nine Creek Likely to Be Absorbed By English Company.

OLD TIME WORKINGS TO BE RESURRECTED AND DEVELOPED

A report is current of a deal by which an English syndicate is to acquire the hydraulic plant owned by J. Fred Ritche of Rossland and located on Forty-nine creek where the outfit was used for several years. The plant is in good condition and could be worked with a small outlay for repairs. In this event placer mining will be revived, and there are numerous engineers and prospectors who believe the creek will yield handsome returns if properly worked. The difficulty encountered heretofore has been the presence of big boulders in the creek which could not be handled with the machinery available. Much capital has been invested in the proposition but in every instance the operators have apparently failed to put in the apparatus necessary to ensure satisfactory results.

The history of placer mining on Forty-nine creek dates back a quarter of a century or more, when a number of French Canadians returning from the California diggings worked up the Columbia river and washed along Forty-nine, Bird and other creeks in the free milling belt west of Nelson. All these had made their clean-ups and left the country years before Nelson became a settlement, and no accurate idea of their success can be secured. The general impression is, however, that thousands of dollars were taken out of the district and that Forty-nine was among the best creeks of the lot. Back in 1891 Mr. Monahan staked half a mile of the creek from rim rock to rim rock, as the old act read, and held the ground until the next year when he leased the claim to captain Tatlow, Dan McGillivray and Hugh Keefer. The lessees placed Mr. Keefer, who is the father of George H. Keefer and now resides at Vancouver, in charge of the proposition, and put in a small plant. Half a mile of ditch was cut, a penstock built and a canvas hose used to handle the water. They worked one summer and took out about $800, just enough to pay operating expenses. Then the ground reverted to Monahan and John Dougan became interested.

In February, 1894, the Nelson Hydraulic Company bought out Monahan and Dougan, who became stockholders for part of the purchase price. The company started work on a good scale, building a dam three miles up the creek, two miles of ditch, a 4 by 4 flume 1000 feet long, a rock cut 400 feet long by 12 feet wide and 6 feet deep and a plant built at McGillivray's foundry in New Westminster. The high water in June, 1894, played havoc with the company's property, washing out the flume and sluice boxes and piling them up at the mouth of the creek, while slides broke down the ditch in places. The damage was repaired and the plant was operated during the fall. In 1895 the plant was leased to A. J. McVicar, who operated it in '95 and '96. The Nelson Hydraulic Company spent $30,000, and it is stated that from $14,000 to $17,000 was taken out with the plant installed by them. The theory has since been evolved that the work was not done in the old channel of the creek which has since been discovered in the course of developing quartz claims along the creek. While the company was operating one nugget was taken out which brought $165.

The last clean-up made by individual miners on the creek was by the late Richard Fry, who washed out several thousand dollars on a claim near the mouth of the creek. Since the hydraulic plant shut down a few Chinamen have worked the creek from year to year up to this season.

Result of League Matches.

George M. Phillips, secretary of the Nelson Rifle Association, has received a copy of the annual report of the Canadian Military Rifle League, giving the results of the league matches in which the local organization participated during the summer. The first regimental team prize was won by the Thirteenth Regiment of Hamilton, Ontario, with a score of 3790 points, while the association team prize went to Guelph, Ontario, which aggregated 3632 points. Out of 51 association teams competing Nelson came thirteenth with a total of 3093 points. H. Bird of the local team won a first-class marksman's certificate with 354 points, standing 183rd out of 2090 competitors. Second class certificates were captured by N. F. Macleod, 347 points, Alex Grant 312 points, and J. McKenzie 308 points. In this year's matches 209 teams competed, an increase over last year of 43 teams.

A Fighting Man.

Toronto Telegram.

There is not a Liberal cabinet minister outside of New Brunswick who seems to have the courage to take a fighting chance for his political life in a doubtful constituency. All the Ontario cabinet ministers except William Paterson, represented safe seats, and Mr. Paterson never rested until he got away from North Grey and elbowed James Somerville out of North Brant. Men love a fighter, and the spectacle of Ontario's ministers clinging to safe seats in Liberal hives is less inspiring than the sight of Hon. A. G. Blair ready to battle with Hon. George E. Foster and the influence of the C. P. R. in St. John, New Brunswick. The Hon. A. G. Blair appears to be what sporting men would call a "game man," and although the temporary disappearance of Hon. G. E. Foster from parliament would be a loss to the country, there are Canadians who would be sorry to see the minister of railways offered up in St. John to the sacrifice of the greed of the C. P. R. The Hon. A. G. Blair is about the only member of the Laurier government, including its honored head, who has dared to think for himself and act for the country on any question affecting the interests of the C. P. R.

Strikers Win.

WILKESBARRE, Pennsylvania, November 2.—The officials of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company and the laborers employed at their Dorrance and Prospect mines, who went out on strike yesterday, reached an amicable agreement today and all the men returned to work. The striking laborers employed at the Delaware colliery of the Delaware & Hudson company also returned to work today, the company compromising with them. It is said that some of the operators in this section will pay semi-monthly in the future. The drivers, runners and door tenders at the Pittston mine, operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western company, quit work this afternoon. They want shorter hours.

Monument to Parnell.

LONDON, November 3.—John Redmond says that as the trustees of the Parnellite fund cannot purchase Avondale, the estate of the late Charles Stewart Parnell, which was purchased by Mr. Boyland the other day when sold at auction by the land judges court, they will devote the fund to the erection of a monument to Parnell in Dublin.

Seven New Steamships.

MONTREAL, Quebec, November 2.—The Allan line are adding four new twin screw steamships to its fleet. The first new boat will be ready in January and will be called Pretorian. The Beaver line are also to have three new boats.

Music in the Air.

CHICAGO, November 2.—Republicans had a big demonstration here today with 100 bands and thousands of marching men. Mark Hanna had the place of honor on the reviewing stand.

MORE original mining news of the districts of which Nelson is the center is printed in THE TRIBUNE than in all the other daily papers in the province combined.

THE Slocan Drill says a vote for Foley means a vote for government ownership of railways. The government had better begin at something smaller than owning all the railways in Canada. A commencement had better be made at ownership of all the telegraphs.

LESS than two years ago a numbers of Americans who had prospered through making ventures in the mines of British Columbia pulled up their stakes and left the country. These men had no good word for a country that would pass laws limiting the working day underground to eight hours. They wanted to mine in a country where they could do as they pleased. They went over to Sumpter, Oregon; to the Buffalo Hump country, Idaho; to old worked out districts in northern California. In fact, they went anywhere, as long as it was south of the international boundary line; they could not operate and live contentedly north of the line. In two short years, they are all back again in British Columbia, notwithstanding that the eight-hour day for miners underground is still in force, and that mine owners are taxed 2 per cent on the value at the dump of all ores that they ship. They come back to British Columbia because it is a good country in which to make money in mining ventures—and for no other reason.

FROM the scare heads printed in the Vancouver Province and in the Evening Miner of Nelson, one would imagine that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was battling with a horde of dishonest employees; that trainmen and station agents in the Kootenay and Boundary countries were banded together to do up the company, and that the huge conspiracy was discovered only through the wonderful sagacity of skillful detectives aided by dissolute men and women in Rossland. The chances are the employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in Kootenay and Boundary districts are just as honest as the common run of humanity. Journals like the Province and the Miner, however, care nothing for the reputations of railway men as a class so long as they can spring a sensation on their readers.

WRITTEN BY LIBERALS.

THE TRIBUNE has placed a part of one column at the disposal of the Liberals, whose views will be expressed therein from time to time during the campaign. A like privilege is accorded the Labor party and the Conservatives.

Harry Cowan, union printer, and ex-president of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council is reported as follows by the Vancouver papers: Mr. Cowan was the last speaker and he gave a stirring address. He made particular mention of Mr. Puttee, the candidate of the Labor party in Winnipeg. Mr. Puttee on almost every occasion last session voted with the government, and this being so the Liberals were not going to oppose him this election. Mr. Cowan said he was for a year and a half a partner with Mr. Puttee, and he could say Mr. Puttee was a man of honest, independent ideas, who thought a matter out and allowed himself to be controlled by no outside influence. The support of such a man as this was in itself a strong commendation for the Liberal party. Mr. Cowan had not the slightest doubt but that he would see the government returned to power with a greater majority than ever. (Applause.)

The Miner says that sir Charles Tupper said that sir Wilfrid Laurier was too British for him, because the latter had been advocating a federation under which the colonies should be taxed from Westminster. As sir Charles has not yet been able to offer any explanation, the Miner's solution of the problem should be cabled him at once. In the meantime it matters little that sir Wilfrid never advocated anything of the kind.

The Miner says that the present alleged "abominable mail service in southern British Columbia" is caused by the mails being overburdened with franked campaign matter. This may be true, but then it is strange that none reaches the local Liberal committee rooms.

WRITTEN BY LABORERS.

THE TRIBUNE has placed a part of one column at the disposal of the Independent Laborers, whose views will be expressed therein from time to time during the campaign. A like privilege is accorded the Conservatives and the Liberals.

The workingmen of Nelson naturally feel indignant at the sneers of the Conservative writer which appeared in yesterday's TRIBUNE, and feel sorry that such a gifted individual—in his own estimation—should be allowed to cast a slur upon a man who is evidently his superior.

Our candidate, Chris Foley, may not have had the advantage of the "Liberal education" which the writer refers to, but his associations and experience have enabled him to acquire a thorough knowledge of the requirements of the country and the necessities of the vast majority of the people who are proud of the title of "workers," and who intend to build up the country in an honest and upright manner without descending to the political bribery and corruption that is so rampant.

One feels that the writer of such unmanly sneers could not possibly have been the recipient of such an education, as otherwise his association with gentlemen would have prevented him from indulging in such ill-bred remarks.

How many presidents and senators of the neighboring republic and how many of our own legislators have risen to their high and honorable positions without a classical and often without an ordinary education.

Chris Foley is a man of the masses that every thinking and highly educated man would consider as an equal and would not disdain to associate with him, knowing that the integrity and blamelessness of his record is unimpeachable.

We are delighted to meet with fair and honorable opponents, but in future will refuse to notice such mean contemptible utterances.

The writer, in reference to the appeal recently made to the merchants of Nelson for support, again refers to the co-operative store which has been established in Rossland, and with all the presumption of an ignorant nobody infers the possibility of its being extended to Nelson. For the benefit of his readers only, as he would certainly be incapable himself of appreciating the truth, I have much pleasure in informing them that the co-operative store in Rossland has not been endorsed by the labor unions and has not received any official sanction, but is simply a private enterprise similar to the Army & Navy Co-operative Society in London and many other similar institutions. Our dear friend may rest assured that the working men and their families are perfectly satisfied with the just and courteous treatment they receive from the traders of Nelson.

NOTICE TO LIBERALS.

There will be a rally of W. A. Galliher's supporters in his committee rooms, on the corner of Vernon and Ward streets, at 8 p. m. this evening. Various members of the party will speak, and all are invited.

VOTE FOR .....

A. H. MacNEILL

of Rossland

Candidate of the Liberal-Conservative Party for Member of the House of Commons for Yale-Cariboo.

PLATFORM

Adopted by the Liberal-Conservative Party in Convention at Revelstoke, September 15th, 1900

We, the delegates of the Liberal-Conservative party of Yale-Cariboo constituency, in convention assembled, reaffirm the principles of the party, and more particularly that cardinal principle, protection to home industries, and that that principle be carried out so that all sections of the country shall equally share its benefits.

The one industry on which the prosperity of this constituency is almost wholly dependent is mining; and we believe that our mining industries are as fairly entitled to protection as the manufacturing industries of Eastern Canada; therefore, we advocate that the duties on lead and lead products be increased, so that they shall be as high as those now imposed by the United States on the same articles.

That the output of the precious metal mines is largely increasing, therefore we favor the establishment of a mint, so that the specie in circulation shall be that of our own instead of that of a foreign country.

We advocate the restriction of the immigration of Chinese and Japanese, and all classes who cannot become good citizens of the Dominion of Canada, and suggest the adoption of the principles of the Natal Act.

British Columbia has not now the representation in the federal parliament that she is entitled to: therefore we advocate that when the redistribution of seats is made that this constituency shall be given representation according to its population.

That it augurs well for the success of the party that Hugh John Macdonald has decided to leave the field of provincial politics to take part in the larger one that affects the people of the whole of Canada.

A SOUTH AFRICA CLEOPATRA

Boer Serpent of the Nile.

A. G. Hales unfolds an extraordinary store of the Boer spy service to the Daily News. The head of the service was a woman whom he styles "Madame," who, by her eloquence and fascinating charms, drew from our officers information which enabled the Boers to forestall us in every important move. If the Boers ever write the true history of the war (says Mr. Hales), they will stagger England with the revelations they make in regard to their secret service. Their agents were everywhere, active, intelligent, daring, and well paid, and at the head of them moved the woman of Johannesburg, "Madame," with her eloquent eyes, magnetic touch and clear, level head.

When lord Kitchener of Khartoum arrived in Africa, she went to meet him, for she knew that if she could get inside his secrets she could learn all things. She made it her business to come casually in contact with the Egyptian Sphinx. She ran her eyes over the tall, gaunt figure, the rugged, ugly face. She looked into the prominent all-seeing eyes, and knew at a glance that she was face to face with a magnetism stronger than her own, and nothing would induce her to go near him again.

"That's the most dangerous man in Britain," she said. "I feel as if I were in the shadow of death when I am near him. He is a man for men to conquer. No woman can reach him to use him; he would read me like an open book in an hour, and I believe he would shoot me as he would shoot a Kaffir if he caught me red-handed. I will try all other men, but not that living death's head. No wonder he conquered in Egypt. I think he would conquer in Hades."

So she went back to her work amongst the kid-glove contingent, like a hawk in a poultry yard, until even our dull-witted officials became uneasy. For it was upon the mouths of all men that important military secrets were leaking out almost daily. So she closed up the "nest" in Cape Town, and went up country for a change of air. Wherever she went she was welcomed by our officers, and it was a noticeable fact that disaster to our arms followed her friendship.

A time at last arrived when she found it absolutely necessary to confer with the Boer leaders. She had our whole military system at her fingers' ends, the gist of things she had sent to her friends, but full details could only be conveyed by word of mouth. So she determined to make the effort. Dyeing herself as black as the inside of a camel with nitrate of silver and logwood, she stood transfigured as a Kaffir woman, and it was then that her glorious figure stood her in good stead. From farm to farm, right through the Free State, on to Pretoria, she was passed. And in Pretoria she gave the Boers information worth a king's ransom.

From Pretoria she passed to Mafeking, and afterwards boasted that Baden-Powell gave her with his own hands one of his horse rugs. She next appeared clothed and in her right color at Delagoa Bay, and a few weeks later was at Durban, Port Elizabeth, and East London in turn. At each of these centres she gathered statistics of value to the Boers, and was ever welcome to the officers, many of whom she betrayed, to their undoing.

At Durban a German retired officer met her. He had gleaned much concerning her and her works, and knew her for what she was—the head centre of the Boers' secret service. He had been under British rule for many years, and bore us the best goodwill, on account of favors received. So, calling upon a British merchant of good repute, he told him the true history and occupation of the charming daughter of Delilah. The Briton did not allow the corn to ripen in his path, but went with all speed to tell the military that which had come to his knowledge. And lo! a kid-glove effigy of a soldier, after listening to him with ill-suppressed insolence in every lineament of his fat, foolish face, requested him to confine his attention to his own business affairs, adding, as he strutted back and forth, that the British army could attend to its own affairs, and did not want any educating at the hands of any d——d German military or civilian.

When things took a decidedly bad turn with the Boers, and "Madame" saw that her fertile brain could be of no further use to the sinking cause, she drew her check on a continental bank, and sailed for Europe, and, for aught I know, her eyes may be the first to scan these lines in London. For it would be characteristic of the celebrated Boer spy if she elected to stay in our capital on the money she earned by trying to wreck us.

QUEER WAYS OF WOOING SLEEP.

"Sleep, O gentle sleep, how have I frightened thee?" asks the distracted king in Shakespeare's "Henry IV.," and it is a question which thousands of weary mortals both before and after that sovereign's time have been in the habit of framing, though no answer has been forthcoming. That several ingenious persons have, however, solved the problem of inducing sleep the following peculiar methods of counteracting insomnia will, says Tit Bits, clearly demonstrate: His imperial majesty, the shah of Persia was a martyr to insomnia for a long time until in a happy moment of inspiration one of the court physicians hit upon the extraordinary notion of patting the autocrat upon the arms and back until sleep weighed down his eyelids. So admirable was this specific found to be that it was immediately adopted by the shah, and it is stated that the suite which accompanied him to Europe contained, among other functionaries, two "patters," whose sole occupation took the form of helping to send their master into the realms of the drowsy Morpheus.

At the Paris exhibition there is shown the model of a cave once occupied by a famous Greek brigand, who was in the habit of being sent to sleep by the dropping of pieces of gold from the roof of the cave on a carpet beneath. The gold thus dropped represented some of the booty that he had acquired from passing travellers, and so dear had the sound of coin become to him that nothing but its clink upon the ground would soothe his eyelids to sleep. Of all queer methods of inducing drowsiness, the foregoing would certainly seem to be the queerest.

A gentleman who resided for many years in the town of Worcester was unable to drop off to sleep unless half a dozen peaches were placed under his pillow, as he averred that the perfume of the fruit brought with it a certain degree of drowsiness.

Somewhat similar to the device of this worthy was the plan of a Parisian merchant whose only remedy for sleeplessness was the insertion beneath his pillow of a sachet of lavender, the smell of which, he declared, would send him to sleep in less than five minutes.

Very peculiar was the following: A middle-aged engineer who lived for many years close to the beach of a seaside town had grown so accustomed to the lullaby of the waves that when business took him to Manchester, where he was thenceforward compelled to live, he found that the absence of the sea murmurs robbed him of sleep. He therefore fitted up in his bedchamber an apparatus which was so constructed that the sound of the waves as they broke upon the shore was most cleverly imitated. Aided by this fictitious appliance the engineer was enabled to sleep perfectly, and the apparatus continued in constant use until the day of his death, some years later.

In some Oriental climes the natives who find themselves unable to sleep by natural means prevail upon their friends to adminster to them very sound floggings with bamboo canes. The pain thus sustained is supposed by the natives in question to induce a sensation of drowsiness, followed by sleep.

Having disposed of our business to Mr. Ernest Mansfield, we bespeak for him a continuance of that liberal share of patronage which has been extended us during our career in Nelson. We can only say that those traits which have built up for us and maintained our reputation for reliable dealings will be continued throughout by the new firm. We therefore take great pleasure in recommending him to all our old customers, and also to any new ones who may honor him with their patronage.

Thanking you for past favors,
