BUSINESS AT A STANDSTILL

SAN FRANCISCO LABOR TROUBLES REACH A CRISIS.

Fifteen Thousand Men Are Affected---Amalgamated Association Strike Still Unsettled.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—The labor trouble in this city reached a crisis today. Maritime traffic and labor along shore is nearly at a standstill, and industries are almost totally paralyzed. The order for a general walk-out in the City Front Federation, which comprises 14 unions and organizations with a full membership of about 15,000, was made effective this morning. Three thousand men are employed at sea or in other cities and the strike order does not apply to them until they return to San Francisco. Twelve thousand men obeyed the order today. When the order to walk out went into effect all the big shipping companies, with one exception, were left without a union man.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Owing to the strike of the Water Front Federation, which was inaugurated today, the business section of the city is completely tied up and indications are that business stagnation will ensue. Although a large number of men were hired to fill the places of the strikers, little merchandise has been moed. No disturbances have been reported.

The labor troubles in this city reached their culmination last night, when the City Front Federation ordered a general strike on the docks of San Francisco, Oakland, Mission Rock and Port Costa, to go into effect this morning. The resolution to strike, which received the unanimous indorsement of every delegate to the convention, was short, but its effect will be to cause such a paralysis of shipping business in San Francisco as has not been known before. It reads as follows: "The full membership of the City Front Federation refuses to work at the docks of San Francisco, Oakland, Port Costa and Mission Rock. The steamers Bonita and Walla Walla, with mails and passengers now in the stream, will be allowed to go to sea."

The meeting of the federated boards was a long one, and there was much heated argument, but when the resolution came to a vote every delegate present voted in favor of the strike. The following were represented, comprising all the workers on the water front: Sailors' Union of the Pacific, four local unions of longshoremen, marine men, brotherhood of teamsters, ship and steamboat joiners, porters, packers, warehousemen, shipping clerks, pile drivers and bridge builders, hoisting engineers, steam and hot water fitters and coal teamsters. This action, which is a direct outcome of the lockout of the teamsters, will have for its immediate effect the cessation of all labor in and around the great docks about San Francisco bay. The Sand Teamsters' Union and the Oakland Teamsters' Union also ordered a strike. This will make a total of 25,000 union workers who have stopped their labors, divided as follows: City Front Federation, comprising 14 organizations, 15,000 men; machinists and ironworkers, 7000; cooks and waiters, 1500; sand teamsters, 600; Oakland teamsters, 1000. The tie-up will be complete if the plans of the labor unions are successful. They hope to stop the loading and even to prevent the moving of ships that are now almost ready for departure. Unless the proprietors and managers are able to secure sufficient non-union men to load and man their vessels the strike will practically mean the closing of the port and the suspension of business in the wholesale and manufacturing sections of San Francisco and Oakland. Two non-union teamsters fired into a body of strikers this afternoon. One man was wounded, but not seriously. The shooters were arrested. They claim to have fired in self-defense.

The Steel Workers.

PITTSBURG, July 30.—Disappointment and apprehension pervade the air of Pittsburg tonight because of the failure of the executive board of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers to ratify the peace proposals arranged at the conference in New York last Saturday between the national officers of the Amalgamated Association and Messrs. Morgan, Gary and Schwab, representing the United States Steel Corporation. The members gathered at the general offices of the Amalgamated Association early in the morning and at 9:30 o'clock were called to order by president Shaffer. Those present, in addition to officials of the board, were J. Bischof, former president of the association and now a member of the Ohio board of arbitration, and M. M. Garland, also an ex-president of the organization. When the meeting was opened all but the conferees were requested to leave. The discussion started after president Shaffer had gone over the details of the conference he had had with Mr. Morgan and president Schwab in New York. Secretary Williams read the report of the conference which he had prepared and also the propositions that had been made by the officials of the United States Steel Corporation. At the close of the day's session the members of the board slipped away to their respective homes, until no one was left at headquarters but president Shaffer and secretary Williams. They at first refused to give any information, but finally president Shaffer volunteered the statement that an adjournment had been taken until tomorrow. Further than this he would say nothing, and admitted that even the announcement of adjournment was more than he should have said. Secretary Williams said matters were in such a condition that nothing could be made public.

Narrow Escape of a Publisher.

LONDON, July 30.—The printer and publisher of the Daily Mail of this city had a narrow escape today from being ordered to appear at the bar of the house of commons on Thursday next as the result of observations made in connection with the war secretary's (Mr. Broderick) boycott of that newspaper on account of African disclosures. The Daily Mail this morning characterizes as "baseless and mean" Mr. Broderick's assertion in the house of commons yesterday that the paper had a habit of surreptitiously buying secret war office information, adding that if Mr. Broderick ventured to repeat outside the house that the paper had stolen official documents it would prosecute him for libel. In the house of commons this afternoon Swift McNeill, Irish Nationalist, made a motion to the effect that the Daily Mail's charges were a breach of privilege of the house. The government leader, Mr. Balfour, assented, but apparently not desiring to stir the matter up, he said he thought it was not necessary to press the motion. Mr. McNeill, however, insisted and the motion was carried without a division. Mr. McNeill then moved that the printer and publisher be ordered to appear at the bar of the house tomorrow. The motion was defeated by 288 to 128 votes.

Train Wrecked.

KREMLIN, O. T., July 30.—The northbound Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific passenger train No. 2, which left El Reno at 7 a. m., three hours late, crowded with departing homeseekers, was wrecked this afternoon while going at full speed two miles south of here. C. L. McLain of Enid, O. T., was killed and 2 others received cuts and bruises. It is believed none but McLain was fatally hurt. A broken rail in a culvert washed out by heavy rains threw the baggage car from the track. This car, the smoker and one passenger car were overturned, resting on their sides. Three passenger coaches and the Pullman also left the track, but did not overturn. The track was torn up for 300 feet.

FROM PROVINCIAL POINTS

Boundary Coal Assays Well.

GRAND FORKS, July 30.—[Special to The Tribune.]—The bituminous coal recently discovered on the north fork of Kettle river, 80 miles north of Grand Forks, is pronounced by the assay office of the Granby smelter to be coking coal of excellent quality. The analysis made by the smelter officials is as follows: Fired carbon, 73.3 per cent; volatile matter, 22.2 per cent; ash, 2 per cent. Joseph Wiseman, the discoverer, George A. Fraser and others who are interested will ask the provincial government to make an appropriation for the immediate construction of a trail to the coal fields. The existing trail to the forks of the river will have to be extended nearly 50 miles. The coal, it appears, outcrops on both sides of the river. In all over 7000 acres have been located. This area will be thoroughly prospected this season as soon as supplies can be packed in. The coal belt is about 80 miles from Grand Forks.

Vancouver Notes.

VANCOUVER, July 30.—[Special to The Tribune.]—Local detectives claim that the man who was a go-between in the recent San Francisco mint robbery and who disposed of the $30,000 worth of gold afterwards was in Vancouver a few days ago and left for Australia by the Aorangi.

There is a tremendous run of salmon on the Fraser river.

The Indian woman who was found dead at Steveston last night was not killed, as first thought, but died from alcoholism.

Government Assay Office.

VICTORIA, July 30.—Since the opening of the provincial assay office on Monday morning $30,000 in gold dust has been treated and purchased here. Most of this came from the Yukon district, but $2500 came from Black Sand diggings on the west coast of this island. Yukon miners selling gold here receive a rebate of one per cent of the royalty paid in Yukon.

Was a Hot Skirmish.

DURBAN, Natal, July 29.—Details received here of what first seemed an ordinary skirmish between a British column and a Boer commando near Nquita, July 28, show that a hard all-day fight occurred, in which the British narrowly escaped the loss of a gun of the Sixty-seventh field battery. Four hundred Boers repeatedly rushed the British position, killing major Edwards and gunner Carpenter. The gun was limbered up and taken at a gallop for three miles under heavy fire. Five British were killed.

LONDON, July 30.—The war office has received the following from lord Kitchener: General F. W. Kitchener, after a long chase of Ben Vigoen's commando, caught up with it. A sharp fight ensued. We captured a pom pom and 22 wagons and took 32 prisoners. The British had five wounded.

YACHTING AND OTHER SPORT

A FOUR-DAYS' REGATTA STARTS AT BUFFALO.

Cadillac and Milwaukee in the Finals ---English Amateur Cricketers Will Visit Philadelphia.

BUFFALO, July 30.—A four days' regatta began here today for yachts from different ports on the great lakes. Races for three classes were on today's program. In the special class Merry Thought of Toronto crossed the starting line first, followed by the Vreda of Toronto, to the surprise of the Detroit and Aggie of Toronto. In the 40-foot class the Chinook of Hamilton crossed the line first, followed by the Clyde of Hamilton and Vedette of Toronto. In the 30-foot class the Hazard of Hamilton was the first across the line. There were eight starters in this race. There was a 15-mile breeze at the time of the start. The course was triangular, three miles to a leg, to be sailed over twice.

Competitors for Canada's Cup.

CHICAGO, July 30.—A decision has been reached by the judges presiding over the trial races which were held to select a defender for the Canada's cup. It abrogates the plans for another contest today and declares that the Illinois is not entitled to further consideration and the victory belongs to either the Cadillac or Milwaukee. This action on the part of the board caused a lively row this afternoon, the upshot of which was that no race will be held today, and not until Friday, perhaps, will the Cadillac and Milwaukee start over the triangle to determine the question of superiority. The Milwaukee has been fitted out with a new mast.

CHICAGO, July 30.—It has been agreed to have a series of races between the Cadillac and the Milwaukee to select a defender for the Canada's cup.

English Cricketers.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—A visit from a team of English amateur cricketers captained by B. J. T. Bosanquet is now practically assured for fall. A meeting of the Associated Cricket Clubs was held here for the purpose of considering a letter received from captain John P. Green, a Philadelphia patron of the game, stating that Mr. Bosanquet was willing to bring a gentlemen English team provided the legitimate expenses of his party were guaranteed. The local committee cabled captain Green, accepting the terms. This action insures a series of international matches for the autumn. Mr. Bosanquet will bring with him a number of the most expert amateur players in England. It is doubtful whether the Philadelphia players were ever better prepared for an international series than they are at the present time.

Bicyclers.

ALBANY, July 30.—Major Taylor was tonight suspended indefinitely for refusing to compete in the second heat of the one-mile professional handicap bicycle race in the grand circuit races held at the Coliseum track, Lagoon island. He was suspended by Dick Robe, referee of the race. Tom Cooper had the first heat and it was against him. Taylor would have been pitted had he won second. Freeman Wilson, Downing and Stevens also ran. The last named won the heat in 2:05. The result in the final heat was: Stevens first, Gascoyne second, Cooper third; time 2:03.

Canadian Reciprocity.

BOSTON, July 30.—The subject of reciprocity with Canada came before the board of directors of the Boston Chamber of Commerce today and is a subject upon which the chamber has for several years taken a pronounced stand, advocating the freest possible exchange of commodities between the two countries through an international treaty providing for reciprocal concessions. At the meeting today the secretary of the chamber, Mr. Preston, was directed to take immediate steps to place in tangible form by petitions and otherwise the desires of the business men of the different cities and manufacturing towns of Massachusetts for such legislation as will facilitate the exchange of commodities with the Dominion of Canada.

Could'nt Stand Disgrace.

HELENA, Mont., July 29.—Upon the complaint of C. L. Hathaway, a Wardner, Idaho, hotelkeeper, chief of police Travis this evening arrested at her apartments in one of the most prominent hotels in this city, Miss Flora Nickelsen, a prepossessing and fashionably attired young woman, on the charge of having stolen several diamonds, a sealskin cloak and other valuables, said to be worth over $2000, and to be the property of Mr. Hathaway's wife. The woman had been traced from Wardner to Helena, and when confronted by the officers, broke down in hysteria, and created a scene as the officers removed her. She was taken to the city prison, and after a preliminary hearing before the police judge was placed in a cell, where her attitude became one of defiance. Upon examination of her cell later the officers found her unconscious, suspended from the grated door by a handkerchief in an endeavor to commit suicide. She was cut down, and after half an hour's medical attention, was resuscitated and removed to a hospital. Her home is said to be in Monmouth, Ill., which place she left about a year ago, visiting in Chicago and Denver, and finally went to Wardner about two months ago. The affair has created a decided sensation. She will be returned to Wardner for trial as soon as her condition will permit. The woman refuses to make any statement concerning the affair.

Swindle Discovered.

CHICAGO, July 30.—George Phillips of the Board of Trade today reported to the postal authorities his discovery of an alleged attempt at a gigantic swindle. He told inspector Stewart that the country had been flooded with circulars from New York asking for subscriptions to a $2,000,000 fictitious pool for a deal in September corn.

THIEVING MINE PROMOTERS

STOCKHOLDERS THREATEN TO LYNCH THEM.

Five Thousand Pounds Squandered in Stock Speculation---The Mines Earn Nothing.

LONDON, July 30.—At the meeting of the shareholders of the Standard Exploration Company today, one of the mining concerns known as "The Whittaker-Wright group," the official receiver made such astounding revelations that he drew from the excited shareholders demands for the lynching of the persons implicated. The receiver said that the estimated assets were farcical. The 14 mines, valued at £767,000, had earned nothing. The company started with a cash capital of £500,000, but the directors took little interest in the company's mines and devoted themselves to stock exchange speculation. "And that's where your money has gone," said the receiver; "£228,000 was lost in differences in Lake Erie speculation and £225,000 was lost in differences in Caledonian copper. The total profits from speculation are £38,000 and the losses are £536,000." After a few more such statements, which a shareholder said would "stagger humanity," another shareholder asked the receiver to prevent the directors from making away with their property, as it was reported they were doing. "And they are still at large," shouted another shareholder. "Yes, they are," came the answer and immediately those present at the meeting rose to their feet, shouting "Lynch them!" It was an exciting moment for lord Pelham-Clinton, general Gough-Halthorpe and others who were attending the meeting. A storm of angry cries was hissed, but the receiver finally succeeded in calming the shareholders by promising them every possible protection.

Details of the Expulsion.

LONDON, July 30.—Mail advices received here today from the Associated Press at St. Petersburg give details of the expulsion from Russia of George Kennan, the American author and lecturer, who, as cabled recently, was called on at his hotel in St. Petersburg Thursday evening and was informed by a high police official that he must leave the country by 10 o'clock Friday evening. Mr. Kennan was courteously treated but not allowed to leave his room in the interim. His expulsion was carried out quietly. He was provided with a traveling passport, signed by the chief of the political police and boarded a train for Wirballin, accompanied by an escort. His own passport was returned to him on his arrival at Wirballin. The correspondent says: "Mr. Kennan arrived in St. Petersburg three weeks ago after an absence of 15 years. He entered the country by way of Finland, on an American passport, which had been examined and signed by the Russian consul at Hull. Since his arrival here Mr. Kennan had renewed his old and pleasant acquaintances and had collected literary material. He was not engaged in any political agitation. The Russian press referred to Mr. Kennan's return courteously, no paper suggesting that he was not welcome, and he began to feel secure. At about 6 o'clock Thursday evening a high police official placed him under detention in his room and read a notice requiring Mr. Kennan's departure by 10 o'clock Friday night. There is only one explanation for Mr. Kennan's expulsion, and that is that the Russian government has not recovered from the effects of his criticisms of the Siberian exile system, which has been greatly modified and restricted since Mr. Kennan first wrote about it."

TORONTO, July 30.—The four-months' old child of George Billinghurst of 76 Wellington avenue yesterday, during a violent coughing, vomited a brooch which it had swallowed over two months ago. The child suffered no pain and is none the worse for its strange experience.

Bridge in Full Use.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Full traffic and car service has been resumed on Brooklyn bridge. Crowded bridge trains and surface cars passed over all day Sunday, and the scare seems to have made no lasting impression on the public mind. Plans for a new truss for the structure are under consideration by the bridge commission. The World says it learns from the highest authority that the plans for the new truss have been drawn, and that prior to the finding of the break the attention of the authorities was to have been called to the fact that if the bridge was to continue to be burdened as at present, and was to receive the loads in the future, a new truss would be an absolute necessity.

THEY WANT MORE VISITORS

TRYING TO CORRECT A FALSE IMPRESSION.

Joint Meeting of Railroad, Hotel and Newspaper Men Meet to Discuss the Situation.

BUFFALO, July 30.—A joint meeting of railway passenger agents, hotel and newspaper men was held this afternoon with the view of adopting some means for correcting so far as possible the impression that appears to prevail at distant points that railway rates to the Pan-American exposition are high and that hotel rates in Buffalo are excessive. The conference revealed the fact that Buffalo can accommodate 200,000 visitors in the private houses and hotels at rates ranging from 50 cents to $2 per night, and that no one need pay more than $1 for a first-class lodging in a private house. It was also shown that the railroad rates are lower than for any former exposition for a five, ten or fifteen-day ticket, according to distance, being at the rate of one fare plus $1 for the round trip, from all parts of the country. The Niagara Falls one day special excursion of former years, when trains were overcrowded and everyone subjected to great discomfort, are remembered only so far as the low rate is concerned, and this is quoted as showing what might be done. The passenger agents assert that the present half rates are as low as can be reasonably expected. An extension of the present limit has been looked for, as it gives too short a time for anyone to see the big exposition, but it has not yet been modified. Other points which the representatives of the publishers' association will lay stress upon is that the exposition is complete in all details and that both Buffalo and the exposition are well policed and as free from dangerous characters as any city in the country. A joint committee was appointed to deal with questions affecting the exposition and the proper welcome and care of guests. The exposition has had in operation for some time a free bureau of information for the convenience of the intending visitors. The average daily attendance since the opening day has been 30,000. The average during the month of July has been 40,000.

Murdered for Money.

ROANOKE, Va., July 30.—The dead bodies of John Tolly and Charles Berry were found yesterday in the country road between Pocahontas and Copper, West Virginia. They had been murdered and rolled. Tolly had been in charge of some railroad construction work at Copper for some time past. Berry arrived there last week. The two murdered men were cousins and hailed from Tennessee. They went to Pocahontas late Saturday night, where they spent Sunday. When they started for Copper yesterday it is alleged they were followed by Mary Graham and Bob Nidiffer. When Tolly and Berry crossed the state line into West Virginia they were fired upon from behind and killed instantly. Mary Graham and Bob Nidiffer were arrested and lodged in jail at Bluefield. The coroner's inquest developed facts which implicated Pete Spangler, George Nelson, George Graham and Jack Martin, all four of whom were arrested and placed in jail. Mary Graham and Bob Nidiffer claim that Spangler and Nelson did the killing. George Graham and Jack Martin are held as witnesses. Mary Graham is the mother of George Graham.

Want a Royal Residence.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The possibility, even the probability, that Auburn house on the Isle of Wight, where queen Victoria died, may pass into the possession of an American is suggested in a dispatch to the World, which goes on to say: "King Edward wants to get rid of it because of its inaccessibility and because it costs $60,000 a year to keep it up. William Waldorf Astor is said to have offered to pay any price the king might fix, desiring to present the famous royal residence to his daughter when she marries the duke of Roxborough, but it was found that under queen Victoria's will the king is only given a life title to the palace. Rumor says Mr. Astor now wishes to lease the property. Senator William A. Clarke of Montana is reported to have written to the king, asking him how much he will take. Charles T. Yerkes is also reported to be a bidder.

Oklahoma Lottery.

EL RENO, O. T., July 30.—The scenes about the lottery platform today, where the drawing for lands in the Kiowa-Comanche reservation is being conducted, were a repetition of those of yesterday. When the second day's drawing commenced it was estimated that over 30,000 people were on hand. Yesterday's drawing had given to 1000 homesteaders the privilege of locating the best claims in the reservations. This left 12,000 claims and 166,000 applicants. It was decided to draw 2000 names in the wheels today, 1000 each from the El Reno and the Lawton land districts.

For the Pacific Cable.

LONDON, July 30.—By a vote of 150 to 44, the house adopted a resolution authorizing the exceenditure of £2,000,000 on the Pacific cable, Great Britain's share under the agreement with the colonies.

The trouble that now exists at Rossland between the Le Roi and War Eagle companies and the miners dates away back in the early 90s. "Colonel" Peyton of Spokane was the manager of the Le Roi in those days, and having a "cheap streak" in him, cut wages from $3.50 to $3 for miners and $3 to $2.50 for muckers. There were no machines on in the country at that time, and all the work in Kootenay was done by hand, the standard rate of wages being $3.50 for miners and $3 for muckers. When Rossland commenced to boom in 1895, a miners' union was formed. The question of raising the wages to the standard paid in other camps in Kootenay was considered; but the members of the union, many of whom were claim owners, thought it would hurt the prospects of the camp were any friction to arise between employer and employees, and the raise was not demanded. From that day to this there has been more or less unrest in Rossland over the question of wages. When the Clarks controlled the War Eagle they knew how to "soft soap" their men, and superintendent Hall of the Le Roi was equally successful in handling his men. But a new school of managers were installed in these mines, and trouble that was smoldering burst out in flames at times, until finally the flames could not be got under control, and a strike is the result. The men cannot be blamed, looking at the question from their standpoint. Where the mistake was made was in not demanding the standard wages in 1895. "Agitators" have had little to do with causing the trouble at Rossland. The responsibility for the trouble rests on the shoulders of "colonel" I. N. Peyton of Spokane in the first place, and with the two "union mashers" that are now managing the Le Roi and War Eagle mines in the second place.

There is an element in this province that realize that Joseph Martin shook things up when he was in office, but they fail to realize that the conditions that existed before Joseph took office have passed away for good. Were an election held tomorrow, the old regime would hardly be a factor in any of the constituencies outside of Victoria and Cariboo. The men who, for good reasons, were dismissed from office by the Semlin and Martin governments are no longer political factors, however much they may imagine themselves entitled to a place as "slick workers" and "heelers." There is a new set of "workers" and "heelers," and they can give the old set pointers in the game of practical politics. Were the seats in the legislature redistributed on a fair basis, Kootenay and Yale would have one-third of the members of the house, and no man would be elected in any constituency in either of these two districts pledged to support the Reactionists of Victoria.

Merchants and business men generally in one or two sections of Kootenay are beginning to show discontent; they believe that a period of depression is commencing; and they know that some of them will have to go to the wall. Ninety-nine per cent of these men know not what it is to deny themselves or their families of any reasonable want; they have never gone hungry. Yet when want and hunger may be in sight, they become discontented and make it manifest often in disagreeable ways. Yet many of these men, when times were good with themselves, could not understand why workingmen and mechanics were discontented, men who seldom were able to work more than three-quarters time during the year, and whose wages ranged from $2.50 to $3.50 a day when they did work.

CATCH FISH

Nothing is so disappointing to the angler as to return home after a day's fishing with an empty creel. You may make elaborate preparations and take apparently everything that is necessary, rod, line, reel, casts, flies, troll, bait, net and gaff, but unless they are made of the right stuff it is money thrown away. Vexation and often profanity follows. We are careful in the selection of our fishing tackle and know something about it, too. If you buy your fishing tackle off us you will CATCH FISH, but, if you don't, well perhaps you might get a sucker.

The Tribune correspondent at Vancouver has read the stuff that is turned over to the Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company at Buffalo as Associated Press so much that he imagines an item like the following is news: "The Indian "woman who was found dead at Steves-"ton last night was not killed, as first "thought, but died from alcoholism."

Pioneers.

The pioneers of Utah held a reunion at Salt Lake last Thursday. In commenting on the procession, the Salt Lake Tribune utters words that are as applicable to the pioneers of Canada as to the pioneers of the States. The Tribune says:

"It was pleasant yesterday as the gay procession was passing with flags advanced and bands playing, and the green trees and decorated houses lending beauty to the scene, to contrast the splendid present with the sorrowful beginning 54 years ago. The uppermost thought was that the foundation of American States are laid on brave hearts. When a great bridge is to be built caissons are sunk, and the debris lifted out until the solid rock is reached on which to lay the deep foundations. When states are to be created, states to be dedicated to liberty and to justice, and a foundation is sought for; thus far clear across the continent those foundations have been laid on the brave hearts, grown pulseless, of the pioneers. Theirs the sacrifices, theirs the hardships, theirs the sorrows which come when the mother cannot give her children what they need, when the father looks upon wife and children with a mighty longing to make them happier, which longing is never realized. And then the incessant toil, the poor reward, the utter banishment of luxuries and of many of the ordinary comforts; the work, the want, the dangers, all these are the wine press that is trodden by the pioneer, and it is good to honor their memories, and where here and there one is left, around him or her should be drawn the loving arms of all the present generation, and they should be made to feel that they are the state's pride and perpetual solicitude. It is good to steady their steps; good to crown them with flowers; good to point out to them that because of their coming the frown of the desert has been chased away and in lieu of it all the world is smiling; it is good to feast them and to surround them with music and in every joy-song to make them feel that henceforth so long as they may live they are to be the state's chiefest solicitude. Then the thought comes back that the foundations of all our states are laid in the hearts of true men and uncomplaining women; those who toiled until their youth died; those who suppressed many and many a reasonable longing; those who worked without reward and buoyed by the only one hope that the burdens on their children might be less hard to bear than their own was."

Was Won by Eloquence.

The following regarding the proceedings of the annual meeting of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen is taken from the Victoria Colonist of Sunday: "The question of the holding of next year's regatta was the next business discussed. Mr. Matthews made a strong plea for Nelson, urging that as the youngest member of the association the Kootenay city should be given a chance to establish aquatic sport on a firm basis by enlisting the interest of the citizens. The Vancouver delegates gracefully waived their claim to the regatta of 1902 in favor of Nelson, while the Portland men said they would be satisfied if they were assured of the meeting at Portland in 1905, the occasion of their centenary exhibition. This was conceded, and Nelson was definitely chosen for 1902, the dates to be fixed between July 10th and August 1st. The question of transportation was discussed in connection with Nelson regatta, and several delegates testified to the kindness and liberality of the C. P. R. in that respect. The election of officers was then proceeded with, and the following were elected unanimously: President, H. Dallas Helmcken, M. P. P., Victoria; vice-president, A. H. Buchanan, Nelson; secretary-treasurer, H. W. Kent, Vancouver; executive, Victoria, A. J. Dallain, D. O'Sullivan; Portland, R. C. Hart, W. A. Robb; Nelson, A. M. Johnson, E. W. Matthews; Vancouver, J. H. Sinclair and J. A. Russell."

A Complicated Mixup.

The start in the junior four's race was rather ragged, and the boats had hardly got 100 yards on their course when Vancouver and Victoria fouled badly, Victoria's rudder being carried away. After that Victoria assumed the character of an aquatic comet, colliding with Nelson and rushing wildly all over the course, her loose rudder raising a crest of foam in her erratic wake. When they got out of the mixup, Nelson took up the rowing and gave Portland a good race for a time, Vancouver and Victoria struggling manfully to recover lost ground. Midway of the course, Vancouver and Portland did some good work, but it was impossible to follow the race in detail as the judge's launch was too slow to keep anywhere near the shells. From the launch it seemed to be the most complicated mixup imaginable, a succession of fouls and wild steering, the Portlands alone pursuing an even, steady course, which landed them over the line in 9:25, with the nose of Vancouver's shell almost touching theirs. Nelson came third, 2 1-2 lengths behind, and Victoria about 20 lengths in the rear.—Victoria Colonist.

Successful Swindlers.

PARIS, July 30.—The police here have unearthed turf swindlers and card sharpers whose operations were characterized by extraordinary audacity. The first discovery was made at the end of May, when a horse named Colimacon (the Snail) and known as a worthless plater won a race at Colombo easy, with the betting 12 to 1 against the horse. A week later Colimacon engaged in a similar performance at Maison Laffite. The jockey club investigated the running of Colimacon and found that a first-class English race horse had been substituted for the original Colimacon by a Belgian named Herbout, who had previously been warned off the French race courses. The police then took the matter up and discovered that he was the head of a perfect organization of crooks working in France and Belgium. A majority of the members of the gang had assumed high-sounding titles and frequented fast circles and clubs. One member, a brother of a well-known Abyssinian explorer, who styled himself "count," was arrested. Two others were self-styled barons and one had given himself the title of prince. They occupied sumptuous apartments in the Champs Elysees and Madeliene quarters, to which they inveigled gilded youth and swindled them at baccaret. The losses of prince Karageorgovitch and four other young men of good families, alone amounted to 370,000 francs. The swindlers owned a yacht called the Westernine, on board of which their dupes were inivted and were subsequently plucked.

The police also traced to the gang the promotion of a number of fictitious mining and coal companies. The investigations of the police led to the flight of the swindlers. Several of them have gone to Abyssinia. Herbout sailed for Holland on board the Westernine.

Another Irish Member Suspended

LONDON, July 30.—James J. O'Shea, the Nationalist member for West Waterford, was suspended in the house of commons today for disorderly conduct in applying the term "judicial blackguardism" to the conduct of O'Brien, the lord chief justice of Ireland, in charging the jury at the recent trial of T. Walsh, an alderman of the Waterford county council, on charges of conspiracy at Cork. Mr. Walsh is connected with the United Irish League and the latter boycotted a man who rented a farm from which the previous tenant had been evicted. The charge of conspiracy arose this morning. The Nationalists contend that baron O'Brien conducted the case in an extremely partisan way.

Concessions of China's Emperor.

PEKIN, July 30.—The edict of the emperor providing for the reorganization of the Chinese foreign office has been received here. Its tone and substance satisfy the ministers of the powers. The edict coincides with their demands on the subject formulated by the United States special commissioner of peace. The edict declares that foreign affairs will hereafter be the most important part of the business of the government, gives the foreign office precedence over the six old boards that previously outranked it and provides for the reception of the ministers in the hall in which heretofore only near relatives of the emperor have entered. It also provides for the entertainment of the ministers by the emperor at occasional banquets. The German minister, Dr. Mumm von Schwarzenstein, is engaged in drafting a protocol providing for the punishment of Chinamen guilty of participating in the Boxer movement. A feature of this is that the number of culprits has dwindled from 160 men originally named to 5. This is due to the fact that in the majority of cases it has been found impossible to prove the guilt of the accused.

"Then what do you suggest as a remedy for the state of affairs?"

"I do not suggest any remedy. But what I think is this: That, so long as the British public are such fools as to put their money down on the faith of a showy prospectus, British Columbia gold mining will go along merrily enough for the people actually engaged in the mechanical work, but will bring precious little profit to the investor in new ventures, unless something phenomenal is discovered."

"I suppose the government railway schemes are likely to improve matters—when the lines are built?"

"Certainly. But when they are you will probably find the last people to get the benefit will be the investors in mining shares. I need hardly say I am talking to you in my unofficial character. You will not mention my name, of course?"

I promised I would not.

FRENCHMAN WHO HAD NERVE

De Mores and the Rustlers.

The slaying of the famous marquis de Mores while leading an expedition in Tunis is made the occasion of a strong story of the marquis' adventures with the rustlers in the Bad Lands of Montana, told in the July number of Everybody's Magazine, an extract from which is here reproduced:

The marquise lived under constant dread that some rangeman would kill her husband, and when he was abroad on his tours of inspection she spent most of her time in the little church. It was well she remained in Medora, or his grave would now be on the melancholy, lava-strewn shoulder of some little butte, instead of in far-away Tunis. One day the Frenchman adopted the tactics of his rustler neighbors and brought down his man. He fired from ambush into a party which had just cut his fence and was riding away, laughing over the trick they thought they had played on the silly marquis. One man plunged from his saddle and the others galloped over the hill with bullets from the enraged nobleman's gun clipping the sage brush around them. The man who was killed belonged to a band of cattle rustlers who operated all over the Little Missouri country. They rode into Medora one afternoon, hitched their horses in front of the saloon and openly announced that they had come down to hang de Mores to a telegraph pole.

"We'll hang him," said the leader, "where the madam can look out of her winder an' see him claw air."

They hung about the saloon all the afternoon, and about sundown the leader of the crew and his lieutenants retired behind the church to perfect their plans. It had been one of those skin-shriveling days in the Bad Lands, but "the madam" had walked across the bridge to the little church. She was sitting beside an open window when the men who were hungry for her husband's life left the saloon and disappeared behind the church. They stopped within two yards of the spot where she sat and unfolded their plot in detail, the leader giving each of his subalterns their instructions. They were to watch for the marquis' arrival, and one of the gang was to ride up to the gate, call him out, and hold him in conversation regarding his fences until the others could surround the house and close in. "The madam" waited until she heard the men move away, then crept along the floor to the door, determined to warn her husband. It was several hundred yards to the railroad, and between it and the church was nothing to shield her from the outlaws. In a few seconds she was well on her way across the stretch of white between the church and the railroad, speeding like one of those little desert whirlwinds. Half a dozen revolvers were jerked from their holsters and half a dozen little clouds of dust were kicked up around the racing woman's feet. But "the madam" did not slacken her speed. She reached home as the marquis came galloping up to the gate. When de Mores heard her story, he was furious. He mounted a horse, and, unattended, rode over to Medora. There he learned that his enemies had crossed the river and gone into camp. The marquis swung into the saddle again and rode away toward the river. The saloon keeper and the few citizens who had plucked up courage to come out for their regular nightly round of drinking stood looking blankly into each other's faces as he disappeared in the darkness. They were daily witnesses of audacious feats, but this Frenchman going single-handed against 25 ruffians who were ready to hang him was the most striking exhibition of nerve ever seen in Medora. The rustlers were eating their supper, some drunk and none very sober, around the embers of their fire, when the thump of horse's hoofs and the rustle of the scrub sagebrush as the animal came on, picking its way in and out, brought them to their feet. All stood with brows drawn and revolvers clutched tightly, trying to bore into the night and see who the intruder was. The stranger guided his horse up to the fire, sprang to the ground, dropped the long bridle reins at his feet, faced the astonished men and remarked:

"Now, gentlemen, if you have the rope ready here I am. I am the marquis de Mores."

The unsteady blaze, leaping up and falling low, like the pulse of a man who is dying of thirst on the desert, showed the marquis' strange, pale face. One of the long pistols in his hands pointed at the breast of the leader of the gang; the other persistently followed his head, no matter how he turned it. Presently the leader of the gang threw his revolver down with an oath which made the marquis' horse start, jerked his hat off, advanced toward the Frenchman, holding out his hand.

"Put 'er there, pard," he said; "you got a blanked sight more grit'n I give you credit fur." Then facing his grim-faced crew he continued: "Boys, they won't be any hangin' up to Medora tonight. That affair has been indef'nitely postponed."

Together, de Mores and the men who had a few minutes before enjoyed the prospect of seeing him "claw the air," rode over to Medora. The gang drank long life and tight fences to the marquis and several gallant toasts to his pretty wife. That was the last adventure of the brittle-tempered Frenchman in the northwest. He stayed in the Bad Lands until he was whipped by the country. One afternoon the inhabitants of Medora were not surprised when they saw the numerous trunks of the dwellers in the green mansion piled up on the depot platform. The marquis was a strange man, who came into the west as a fantastic shadow out of another world and tried to fashion the big, raw country after the pattern of things he knew. He was slain, as he slew his man in the Bad Lands, from ambush, while leading a French military expedition in Tunis something more than four years ago. His widow now advances his claim that he was the victim of a conspiracy on the part of certain French government officials.

Nelson is to have a new brewery. It will be conducted by Julius Reisterer and P. E. Emerson. The new firm are now making the necessary arrangements and expect to have their beer on the local market within three months.

Robert M. Hood of J. Y. Griffin & Company's Nelson branch was married at Griswold, Manitoba, on Wednesday last to Miss Harriet M. Calpitts of Moncton, N. B. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Winnipeg, after which they will take up their home in this city.

* * *

Messrs. Hyde, Titsworth & Company made a considerable shipment of cherries to the Winnipeg market this week. The cherries were grown in the state of Washington, but in a short time it is expected that the trees in the district will be bearing sufficient to meet the demands of the eastern markets.

* * *

Agnes Jean McDonald, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. McDonald, died last evening. Mrs. McDonald had just returned from a trip to Montreal, which was taken with a view to improving the child's health. D. McArthur & Company have the funeral arrangements in hand but the time for the interment has not yet been set.

* * *

The sale of the Ontario Powder Company's property and effects took place yesterday at the Reynolds stables. There were reserve bids on the realty, steamboat and much of the heavy machinery, which were not reached, but upwards of $700 worth of chattels were disposed of at good prices. Charles A. Waterman & Co. had the sale in hand.

* * *

William Roberts, of the Florence Park ranch, two miles east of Nelson, sent a box of cherries to The Tribune office yesterday. The fruit is larger and better flavored than any brought to Nelson from the outside. There are hundreds of small patches of land along the West Arm of Kootenay lake and Kootenay river on which fruit could be grown to perfection, and if workers would only cultivate these small patches intelligently as much good could be realized from them as from 100-acre farms back East.

* * *

The provincial government employees in the court house are anxious to arrange a base ball game with the lawyers of the city. They have been devoting their attention to practice for the past three weeks and now consider themselves the best base ball aggregation in the city. The lawyers have been approached upon the base ball subject, but they appear to be fighting shy of the match so that the court house nine has about despaired of meeting them.

* * *

"Blake" Wilson is back from a trip to Jennings, Montana, where he went to see that P. Burns & Co. made no failure in getting a supply of fresh meat to the grading camps along the line of the Montana end of the Crow's Nest Southern. He reports Jennings a wide-open town in the most liberal sense of the word, and that business is lively. Guthrie & Co. have the contract for building the road, and all their supplies and all contractors' outfits are hauled over the Great Northern free of cost.

* * *

An outbreak of glanders is reported from Slocan. So far the disease seems to be confined to the stables of W. Warden at Slocan. Mr. Warden reported the matter to the Dominion veterinary surgeon at once which no doubt enabled that officer to prevent its spread. It was found necessary by Dr. Armstrong to destroy five of Mr Warden's horses as well as the stable in which they had been kept, and the other buildings in the vicinity were thoroughly disinfected.

* * *

Wilson Hill, one of the first settlers in Nelson, but now living at the north end of Slocan lake, is in town. Mr. Hill and his brother bought the two lots on which the Victoria block stands for $60, and three years afterwards (in January, 1892,) sold them to John Houston, Charles H. Ink, and G. A. Bigelow for $1000. The only improvement on the lots was the log building that now stands on Josephine street, to the north of the Houston block. This goes to show that Nelson real estate was worth money ten years ago.

* * *

W. A. McLean, who has charge of the road work which the provincial government has in hand in converting the old Forty-nine creek trail into a wagon road, says that the worst of the rock work should be done by tomorrow. So far there have been a number of narrow escapes from the flying rock and the workmen will be glad when they get back a little further from the line of travel. A small boy had a close call yesterday. He made his appearance on the track after the call of fire had been given and appeared to take no notice of any attempt made to warn him of his danger. He was walking along the railway track carrying a basket and when the blast went off a piece of the flying rock knocked the basket out of his hand. The youngster was thoroughly frightened and took to his heels so fast that it was impossible to find out whether he was injured or not.

* * *

John Guba of Grand Forks, who has a five year term before him in the penitentiary, will be taken to Westminster on Friday by provincial constable Wilson of Creston.

* * *

The members of the local lacrosse team have received word from the Grand Forks team that they will not be able to play in Nelson tomorrow, but that the chances are good for having the return game pulled off one week later. The Nelson boys are putting in some good work every evening and they should make a good showing against the Boundary team when they meet for their second encounter.

* * *

Isaac Brown, whose disappearance was advertised in The Tribune in June last, called at the provincial police office yesterday to let the police authorities know that he was still in the land of the living. He was very anxious to know why the police were advertising for him, but when informed that the police were acting upon the suggestion of a sister in Vancouver he did not appear to be at all pleased. He sent a wire to the police at Vancouver to the effect that he is at present in Nelson.

* * *

The case against Thomas Cunningham, charged with assaulting Michael Stanton, was not proceeded with in the police court yesterday morning owing to the absence of W. H. Swerdfeger, whom the prosecution regarded as a material witness. Swerdfeger is supposed to be out on Bird creek and an effort will be made to secure his attendance so that the case can be proceeded with this morning. W. A. Galliher, M. P., has been retained to defend Cunningham. It is said that a meeting of the police commissioners will be called as soon as the Stanton case is disposed of, when the merits of the Heavener- Cunningham mill will be inquired into, in connection with which policeman Heavener is at present under suspension by the chief of police.

NELSON MINES AND MINING

Venus Deal Pending

Nothing definite has yet arrived with respect to the deal on the Venus property to the Athabasca Campany. It is said that the local holders of Venus stock do not favor the arrangement which has been arrived at in the east, which involves a considerable departure from the original deal in that it provides for a much smaller cash payment. A. E. Rand was expected to arrive in Nelson for the purpose of effecting a better arrangement among the local shareholders of the Venus company but he either missed his connection or was detained at the coast. The Athabasca people are confident that they will be able to make a deal on the Venus, in which event it is said the Athabasca company will be reconstructed.

Maxwell Stevenson, junior, arrived in Nelson from Ainsworth for the purpose of meeting his father, judge Stevenson, of Philadelphia, who intends to spend the next month in the Ainsworth camp. Maxwell Stevenson says the Highlander property continues to develop nicely. The south dirft, which has been driven in on the big ledge which was cut by the crosscut tunnel, is now in a distance of 130 feet and has disclosed a fine body of ore in what appears to be a continuous chute. A drift has also been started north, but it is not in more than 20 feet at the present. Work upon the crosscut is being pushed for the purpose of catching the Mamie ledge. How much farther this will have to be driven depends upon the manner in which the ledge dips. If the dip is toward the crosscut it should be reached within the next 25 feet, but if it is away from the hill it may be necessary to run the tunnel 150 feet further.

Daring Rescue at Kaslo.

Jasper Phair, the Dominion quarantine officer at Rykerts was in Nelson yesterday. He was a witness of a very plucky rescue from drowning of a deckhand on the steamer Kaslo as that boat was approaching the landing wharf at Kaslo. When the steamer was within a few feet of the floating wharf Mr. Phair heard a splash and on looking over the side of the steamer saw the head of a man disappearing under the water. He at once gave the alarm. A man named Hall was standing on the wharf at the time and saw the deckhand go overboard. Without a moment's delay he plunged in after him but the action of the steamer's wheel carried the two men in under the floating wharf. Hall had no difficulty in reaching the drowning man, but the latter managed to clutch him around the neck which rendered him powerless to effect the rescue or save himself. As neither of the men rose to the surface the spectators began to think that they had witnessed a double drowning fatality. Fortunately it occurred to some one on the wharf to probe under the wharf with a bamboo pole. In doing so he prodded Hall and the latter had just sufficient sense left to take hold of it and in this manner was drawn out from under the wharf together with the deckhand. The breath of air which Hall got revived him for a moment and he then went down for the deckhand a second time, who was now unconscious. He succeeded in bringing him to the surface, when he again gave out. The two men were then fished out of the water and after several minutes' work were resuscitated. Hall's feat was pronounced by all who witnessed it as the most daring attempt at saving life ever seen on Kootenay lake, as he took all kinds of chances in going in after the deckhand in view of the proximity of the steamer to the floating wharf. He will be recommended for the Royal Humane Society's medal.

Mining Records.

Three bills of sale were registered at the Nelson record office yesterday. In one Kate D. Green and Joseph Barnard transferred the Homestake and Hallaes mineral claims, on the north fork of the Salmon, to George H. Green of Rossland, who in a second instrument transferred the same property to the Copper Farm Mining & Development Company. In the third bill of sale J. L. Vanstone, in consideration of the sum of $200, transferred a one-fourth interest in the Shandon mineral claim, between Forty-nine and Bird creeks.

There were six new locations recorded. Hartford, adjoining Granite on the south, near Maud S. Group, by C. B. ### RUPTURE

Four years in British Columbia, during which time a great many ruptured people have been cured by my patented appliances. Send for testimonials.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

My Hernia support has cured a much larger percentage of ruptured people than any other Truss or injection in America. I can prove it. Every appliance I adjust I keep in good repair, free of charge while it is necessarily in use. Every appliance is constructed and adjusted especially to suit each case. I have been granted more patents for improvements upon trusses than any man in Canada.

No matter how hard the rupture or how hard to hold, I will pay your fare both ways if you can force it down in any position with my new Retainer on. Size or age immaterial. Infants, children and adults.

FOR LADIES ONLY.

I have the privilege of referring you to some most reliable ladies who have been cured by my appliances, resident in Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo.

Numbers of my Canadian patents: January 10, 18,387, 23,799, 24,963, 26,214; July 5, 1895, 49,887.

Special Bargains IN Boots and Shoes

Notwithstanding that there are two bankrupt stocks of boots and shoes now being offered in this city, I am prepared to meet the prices listed for same, and as my stock is fresh—just opened up—from the manufacturers, I would solicit an inspection before purchasing.

The results that I have obtained since advertising my discontinuance in business have been most satisfactory. The great variety of my stock of clothing and gents' furnishings, with all prices marked in plain figures, has proven an irresistible factor in securing sales.

Those who have not taken advantage of my reductions should call and compare prices and quotations with those offered in any other store in the city. Everything is offered at eastern wholesale cost.
