SHOT AT THE WRONG MAN

EXCITED FRENCH WOMAN MAKES A MISTAKE.

Had a Grievance Against Minister of Foreign Affairs, but Attacks His Colleague.

PARIS, July 16.—M. Baudin, minister of public works, was shot at while driving to a cabinet meeting at the Elysee palace this morning. The author of this attempt upon the life of M. Baudin was a woman, who was accompanied by a 10-year-old child. She approached M. Baudin's carriage and suddenly drawing a revolver fired at the minister. M. Baudin was not hit and proceeded to the Elysee palace. The woman was arrested and gave her name as Oglewska and said she lived at Naterre. Her husband is a Pole and was an architect at Nice until 1894. Madame Oglewska asserts that she had no intention of hitting M. Baudin, but that she fired her revolver in the air to draw attention to an alleged grievance of her husband's. Her husband is described as count Oglewska, a naturalized Frenchman holding a government receivership in the neighborhood of Paris. He believes he is being deprived of money due him by the minister of foreign affairs.

Madame Oglewska was much disappointed when told that she had fired her pistol at M. Baudin and exclaimed: "What, I thought he was M. Delcasse (the French minister of foreign affairs). I deeply regret I made this mistake and I will tender full apologies to M. Baudin." When asked if her act was premeditated, Mme. Oglewska replied: "Yes; I hesitated shooting in a gallery last Sunday at Naterre, where I reside." She said further that she had been arrested at Nice in January, 1900, for libeling and threatening M. Delcasse, but that she was subsequently released. She refused to explain why she wished to shoot M. Delcasse. When the husband of Mme. Oglewska was interviewed at his home in Nanterre he explained his wife's act, saying his family was in straitened circumstances and lived on 800 francs a year, and that his wife committed this act in order to draw attention to her misery. The revolver she used is of small caliber and contained only one cartridge. The grudge of the Oglewskas does not appear to be against M. Delcasse for personal reasons, but against him in his position as minister of foreign affairs, who had refused, as did his predecessor in office, to entertain certain claims which Madame Oglewska presented to his department. Her persistent visits to the foreign office on the matter of her claims resulted in her obtaining several small sums of money.

Later particulars would seem to reduce the importance with which the Baudin incident was at first regarded. That Madame Olzewsky (not Oglewska) did not try to hit M. Baudin, but fired her revolver in the air, would seem now to be established. The claims of the Olzewskys against the department of foreign affairs are based upon the fact that in 1896 count Olzewsky was inveigled from Nice across the frontier to Italian territory, where he was arrested on false denunciation as a spy. He was released a month later and asked the French government to demand of Italy the payment of 100,000 francs compensation, asserting that his arrest had ruined his business. He received from the foreign office sums amounting to 985 francs and his position as ex-collector, or receiver for the government, was worth 288 francs a year. He and his wife were dissatisfied and frequently pestered M. Delcasse. These culminated in today's incident.

Should Be Money in It

NEW YORK, July 16.—A bureau for the purpose of arranging marriages between titled Europeans and American women of wealth is to be established in London by Frank S. Willard, according to a dispatch from the London correspondent of the World. It is stated that Mr. Willard is related to the late Frances E. Willard, the temperance advocate. The promoter of the scheme is quoted as saying: "You would be amazed by the number of women in the United States who would eagerly change their money for the social position gained by wedding a title. We expect to do business all over Europe, but naturally a British title is the most negotiated. We purpose charging a percentage on the income brought to the husband, and have fixed the rate for a title delivered to the wife.

Canadian Scores.

MONTREAL, July 16.—The Evening Telegram's London cable says: "Shooting of the first stage of the king's prize was concluded today. The wind was very shifty and the heat excessive. It is considered likely that only scores of 92 will get into the three hundred who will fire in the second stage. If so every Canadian who will be in are: Staff sergeant Crowe, Guelph, 94; lieutenant Gilchrist, Guelph, 94; lieutenant Murphy, London, 97; sergeant major MacDougall, British Columbia, 93; lieutenant Ogg, Guelph, 92; colonel Richardson, Victoria, 92; sergeant Wilson, Ottawa, 96. Seven in all. Not a bad showing. Lieutenant Murphy was 27th and captain Wetmore 29th in the premier match, each winning £1. In the Alexander marine match sergeant Lodelly, Victoria, B. C., was second, winning £6; lieutenant Gilchrist, winning £1. In the Keystone burgundy match Gilchrist was fourth, Crowe fifth, sergeant Swain, Kingston, seventh, and captain Wetmore, 12th; each winning £2; private Armstrong, 14th; sergeant Bodely, 15th, sergeant Mortimer, 23d; private Graham, 24th, and lieutenant Murphy, 13th, each winning £1. In the duke of Cambridge, sergeant Wilson was sixth, winning £3.

Cuba's Small Debt.

NEW YORK, July 15.—Independent Cuba will begin business, says a Washington dispatch to the Herald, with a bonded indebtedness of only $122,400, resulting from the clause in the new constitution pledging the Cuban republic to the payment of the bonds issued by authority of the revolutionary government during the war with Spain. There has been considerable doubt as to the amount of this indebtedness, but unless some of the bonds were issued just before or since the intervention of the United States the figures are correct. Representative William Alden Smith of Michigan has just made public a letter which he received from Senor Guerrera, treasurer of the revolutionary government just before the beginning of the war between the United States and Spain, which has never been communicated to anyone except the members of the foreign affairs committee of the house of representatives. In this letter Senor Guerrera says that the revolutionary government issued a total of printed bonds amounting to $3,145,600, and that the total bonds disposed of was $122,400, leaving bonds in the amount of $3,023,200 in his possession as treasurer.

DEVELOPMENT AT THE JUNO

High Assays From the Rock.

M. S. Logan, resident managing director for the Montreal company that is developing the Juno property, was in Nelson yesterday settling up accounts for the past month's operations. There is nothing new to report with respect to the development of the Juno property. Bob Nelson is still driving the long cross-cut tunnel in to catch the big Juno lead. He is in pretty hard rock and progress is, therefore, very slow. This tunnel has yet to be run for a considerable distance before the ledge can be picked up. When it is a depth of some 300 feet will have been attained and if the values indicated on the surface are maintained the Juno company will have a bonanza. Surface indications suggest that this ledge is from 6 to 12 feet wide, and uniformly high assays have been had from the rock, which is free milling.

The company which is developing the Juno property is composed chiefly of Montreal men and they are said to be in a position to proceed with such development as may be necessary without being forced to resort to stoping. The officers of the company have very little for publication, but it is understood that its present program calls for continuing the present cross-cut until it gets the ledge and then to drift both ways upon the ledge and thoroughly explore the property before giving any consideration to the erection of a stamp mill.

Hit the Wrong Man.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—The last mail from the east has brought a detailed newspaper account of the shooting affray at Pekin, which has resulted in a German claim against the United States. The account which appears in a Japanese newspaper states that an American sentry had been posted at the western extremity of Legation street, close to where the new American legation is building. That portion of Legation street was being newly macadamized and rolled. A barricade had been put up, and major Robertson had posted a sentry on the spot to warn persons not to ride over the newly made road, pedestrians only being allowed to traverse it. A German officer came riding along, knocked down both the sentry and the barricade and galloped across the forbidden route. The sentry scrambled to his feet and sent a shot after the officer, but missed and the bullet lodged in the leg of a German sentry standing on duty half way down the street. The newspaper states that the American was sentenced to one month's imprisonment and fined a month's pay, "presumably for hitting the wrong man."

Hill Coming West.

NEW YORK, June 15.—President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern left for the west today. He has been absent from St. Paul nearly a month, during which time great changes have been made in the railroad world. The Northern Pacific panic and the Burlington deal have been the features. Hill has spent most of the time at his fishing lodge off the coast of Labrador, but his influence has been felt here as though he were personally present. It is expected that at the Northern Pacific meeting to be held soon W. K. Vanderbilt will go on the board and the details of the relations with the Union Pacific will be fixed up. Rumors of a hitch between Morgan and Harriman are emphatically and persistently denied.

May Be Blondin.

MADRID, July 16.—In the senate today the opposition raised the question of the sale to the United States of the Spanish dry dock at Havana. The government made the matter a question of confidence and the opposition was beaten by 81 to 34.

BUDGET OF ORIENTAL NEWS

EMPRESS OF INDIA ARRIVES IN VICTORIA.

Havoc Created by a Volcano on the Island of Java--A Distinguished and Desperate Murderer.

VICTORIA, July 16. — News was brought by the Empress of India of heavy volcanic eruptions which had occurred about the end of June at Sourebay, Java island, as a result of which great damage had been done to the sugar plantations, and about 200 lives had been lost, including 10 or more European residents of the island. The Singapore Free Press gives details of an earlier outbreak at Mount Kloeth, 14 miles from Tawang Redjo Bolitar, Java, in which the correspondent tells of showers of stones coming from the mountains, and afterwards sand and ashes, which showers alarmed the natives considerably. They thought the end of the world had come. Two estates near that of the correspondent were burned and forests were set on fire by the lava. One superintendent was badly burned while going to another estate for relief, and on his arrival fell into a swoon from which he did not recover. Another superintendent was drowned, with his two children, and the correspondent feared that many would be burned to death, a fear which when details were afterwards learned proved all too true.

News was brought of the murder of Hoshi Toru. He was stabbed to death at the city hall, Tokio, by a fencer named Iba Sotero. The murderer was a man of influence and well-to-do. He entered the hall while the murdered man was chatting with the mayor and others and plunged the knife repeatedly into his side, wounding him five times, and making each wound deep and mortal. The assassin, when overpowered, said he had been waiting to commit the deed and had resolved to sacrifice life and property to murder the dead man. The murderer is 51 years of age and president of a bank of Tokio.

The Empress brought the crew of the Nova Scotia bark Celeste Burrill, which was dismasted in a gale off Formosa, while bound from Manila to Victoria, and was taken to Hong Kong and there condemned.

Reports were received by the Empress that a rebellion has been started in China headed by general Tsung Fu Hsien. It is said that the plans are to seize the Chinese emperor and raise the flag of revolt under the pretence of driving away the corrupt officials who surround the emperor.

Ina Closed City.

WALLA WALLA, July 15.—Warrants were issued today for Jim Casey, Nick Schneidish and Adolph Schwartz, proprietors of three saloons which kept open yesterday in defiance of the proclamation of prosecuting attorney Cain. The men who tended bar were also summoned. Complaints were sworn out by attorney Pedigo, partner of Oscar Cain. The charge alleged is keeping open a saloon on the Sabbath in the proprietors' case and serving intoxicating liquor for the bartenders. Both are punishable by heavy fine, maximum in justice court being $100 and in superior court $300. The cases will be tried first in justice court tomorrow. The only other complaint filed is against manager Sharpstein of the baseball team. This, too, is expected to be pushed.

Yesterday Walla Walla was a closed town for the first time in her history. Of all the stores, ice cream parlors, clothing houses and saloons that were wont to keep open, but three saloons were brave enough to do their customary business. Drug stores refused to sell hair brushes, soda water, ice cream or anything that was not strictly drugs. The town generally was in a disconsolate but resigned mood. The baseball game came off as usual in the afternoon. Manager Sharpstein took his place in right field until two men were out in the first inning to render himself liable for the team. He states he will fight the case. The crowd applauded him wildly, but there was no excitement.

Satisfied With His Yacht.

GOUROCK, July 16.—Sir Thomas Lipton, speaking today to a representative of the Associated Press, said the result of the trials between the two Shamrocks in the Firth of Clyde had given him every confidence in the challenger and had undoubtedly stamped the challenger as the fastest yacht on this side of the water. Sir Thomas said he thought the Shamrock II was able to beat the Shamrock I by eight lengths in a 30 minute course, and he, therefore, considered she had a good prospect of success against the American competitor. Mr. Watson said the challenger had done all he had expected of her.

Got the Decision.

BNTTE, July 15.—Mose La Fontise of Butte was given the decision over Dave Barry of Canada in a 20-round go here tonight. The men weighed in at 142 pounds. La Fontise was the aggressor almost entirely throughout the fight and kept playing for Barry's face. Before the fight was half over Barry was spitting blood over everything, but was apparently not worrying over the punishment. In only one round—the 19th—was Barry the aggressor, and then La Fontise met him half way. At the end of the 20th round referee Harry Monaghan awarded the fight to La Fontise, the decision being received with satisfaction. In the preliminaries Jack Wade of Salt Lake knocked out Jimmy Daly of San Francisco in two minutes.

Kid Foley of Anaconda got the decision over Young Thomas of Butte in six rounds.

Aim Was Poor.

BUTTE, Mont., July 15.—James W. James, fireman at the Gagnon mine, only missed being a double murderer today by his excitement and bad aim. His step-daughter, Sadie Langren, has been engaged to George W. Schindler for some time. The step-father has been opposed to the marriage. This morning while James was at work the young couple got married. When James returned home this afternoon and heard of it he sent for Schindler and his bride, saying he wanted to talk it over with them and make up. The young couple went to the house of James. After a few friendly words James jumped up excitedly and, drawing his pistol, took two shots at Schindler and his wife. Either his excitement was too great or his aim was poor. He missed both shots. Before he could shoot again a policeman who was near by rushed in and arrested him. James had made threats against the couple in case they married.

Opposed the Sale.

NORWICH, N. Y., July 16.—A middle-aged man who gave his name as Alfred Hopper was brought to the jail here last evening from Mount Upton to serve a sentence of 30 days on a charge of vagrancy. In the meantime efforts will be made to determine whether Hopper is Blondin, the much-wanted murderer of his wife at Chelsea, Mass. Hopper answers to the descriptions of the murderer very closely on a number of material points.

MANIFESTO TO LIBERALS

From Lord Rosebery.

LONDON, July 17.—Lord Rosebery has issued a manifesto on the divisions in the Liberal party. It is contained in a letter to the City Liberal Club, which had invited him to deliver an address. He disclaims any desire to re-enter politics, but speaks out "under the remarkable character" agreed upon by Liberal members of the house of commons of "hearty and undisputed allegiance to the leader and complete liberty of action to dissent with regard to the one vital question before the country. The Liberal party can become a power," he continues, "only when it shall have made up its mind on the imperial questions which are at this moment embodied in the war." Lord Rosebery concludes with a gloomy touch: "It is a matter of sorrow and anxiety," he says, "to see a weak government faced by a weaker opposition at a juncture of foreign hostility and international competition which needs all the vigilance, power and ability at our command." He believes that Great Britain is at a crisis which may have an ultimate effect upon its future.

Failure of Woman Government.

Lincoln, N, J., is a striking example of the failure of government by women. It was founded four years ago and its management was placed in the hands of the fair sex. Women were given equal rights with men in the town's affairs. They had a full vote and, being in the majority, elected the town officers. The first election day brought trouble. Some of the women delayed too long with their shopping in a neighboring town and the polls were closed before they returned to vote. The factional spirit which this created resulted in the success of the opposition at the next election. The town might have survived, nevertheless, but for unwise legislation. The town council, composed of women, passed an ordinance requiring the owners of a terra cotta factory to paint the structure a more fashionable color than brick red. The factory owners moved the establishment elsewhere rather than submit. Then a box factory was suppressed because of the noise it created. Then there was a general quarrel because everybody could not be provided with a public park and the best pavement in front of every individual front door, and none would consent to giving franchises to trolley railroads on any streets except those occupied by their neighbors. Finally, the women who ran again for office were defeated and they moved away. Now the court of chancery has ordered the wreck of the town to be sold at public auction.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Killed by a Cave-in.

FAIRFIELD, Conn., July 16.—A cave-in of earth and timbers at a cut made by workmen when preparing for the foundation of the Uncowa reservoir dam, which is being built by the B. D. Pierce, jr., Company for the Bridgeport Hydraulic Company, killed three men and injured nine others, one of whom may die. All the killed and injured were members of a gang of Italians in the employ of the contracting company.

STATUS OF THE STRIKERS

AMALGAMATED MEN ARE QUITE CONFIDENT.

Stationary Firemen in Pennsylvania Mines Cause a Close-Down of Collieries--The Trackmen.

PITTSBURG, July 16.—The second day of the strike closes with the Amalgamated officials in a satisfied mood and claiming to have made good every promise as to results. On the other hand, the managers will not say a word concerning the strike and refuse to be quoted in any way. Repeated efforts to secure statements from president Corey of the American Sheet Steel Company and general manager Jenks of the Hoop Company have been met with the response that there was no change and nothing to be given out. The Amalgamated people say nothing has been said to them of any plan for mediation or arbitration and they will continue to carry out their program as originally considered.

NEW YORK, July 16.—President Charles M. Schwab of the United States Steel Corporation and the other officials of the company now here decline today to publicly discuss the strike situation. Mr. Schwab has been in conference with J. P. Morgan and others, but no hint of their attitude or conclusions have been given to the public. It has been reported there would be a general conference on the subject here and that also there was a movement afoot for the settlement of the strike, but confirmation or denial of these stories could not be obtained at the offices of those in authority.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 16.—The strike order of president Mullahy of the Stationary Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania was promptly obeyed at 7 o'clock this morning, when 900 members of the organization in this section of the state refused to go to work. Most of the strikers are employed as firemen at the coal mines and their failure to report for duty caused nearly all the collieries in the northern anthracite region to suspend operations, throwing out of work, it is estimated, 30,000 men and boys.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 16.—All the firemen of stationary engines of the Delaware & Hudson, Erie and Ontario and Western Railroad Companies' mines in the upper part of the Lackawanna valley, from Peckville to Forest City, were on strike this morning. The result forced a complete shut-down of 20 collieries and the idleness of 10,000 mine workers. The mine firemen between Olympia and Old Forge met here last night and indorsed the Wilkesbarre action, to become effective at 5 o'clock this afternoon if the demands are not granted. This will throw fully 50 more mines idle and no less than 25,000 mine workers will be affected.

WINNIPEG, July 16.—The committee of striking trackmen here are becoming very much discouraged. Public sympathy has entirely left them, and the men themselves earnestly wish the Montreal committee would call the strike off. The feeling among merchants and farmers is that if the strike continues it may interfere with harvesting operations. As one of the strikers remarked, the Montreal committee is only issuing appeals repeating old statements that do not materialize and asking them to hold out still longer without in any way showing them how they can hold out.

To Dredge at Nome.

Albert Allen, who has given attention to both law and mining, will start for Nome August 1st, with a submarine dredge which he hopes will revolutionize mining along the beach. Mr. Allen says it will either be a rank failure or it will thresh out the gold at a pace never equalled. From tests that he has made, Mr. Allen is very hopeful that it will prove a signal sucess. George Liebes, formerly city comptroller, is associated with him in the enterprise and is furnishing part of the capital. Mr. Allen has returned from a swift trip to Nome to look over the field. "It seems as if the beach there were made for my dredge, and my dredge was made for the beach," he said yesterday. "The machine is a radical departure from previous dredges. It consists on an iron case a foot in diameter and 30 feet long, with riffles along the lower side. At the forward end is a plow that cuts a furrow in the sand about four feet wide and some three feet deep and carries the gravel into the tube. The machine is submerged and we run a 2 1-2 inch hose to it and force the water at a pressure of 120 pounds from the nozzle backward through the dredge tube. That creates a suction which draws the sand forward from the plow through the tube and discharges it at the rear end of the machine. In passing, the gold is caught in riffles.

"In operation we set a boiler and pump and a winding drum on shore. Out at sea we set an anchor and connect it with the winding drum by means of a double cable. The dredge is fastened to the cable, so that it can be pulled forward or back. All that remains is to connect the dredge with the pump by means of a hose. By pulling the cable the dredge plows through the sand underneath the sea and the suction from the hose carles the gravel over the riffles. I got a patent on the machine last March, and this summer I constructed a small one. It was put to use on the Rogue river, in Oregon, under very adverse circumstances, but the miners say that its capacity for saving fine gold is marvelous. Some time ago I took the machine down to Portland and tried it in the river. I scattered about a dollar's worth of Nome gold in the stream in the path of the dredge, and I verily believe the riffles recovered every grain of the precious stuff. My trip to Nome with Mr. Liebes convinced me that it is the very machine for that country, and we mean to give it a thorough trial. Nome men to whom I showed a model are enthusiastic over the idea. There are stores of abandoned dredges and machinery at Nome and we can buy our pump and boilers there cheaper than at Seattle or Portland.

"There are a good many Spokane people at Nome. Joel Warren is chief of the fire department and has some mining interests. His brother is on the police force. Seiffert Brothers have a big saloon and gambling house. The saloon seems to be paying well, but gambling is dull in Nome. Hayes & Skidmore have a prosperous clothing store. Nome appears prosperous. About 3500 people wintered there. About 4500 went in on the steamers this spring and 2000 more were reported at St. Michaels on their way out from Dawson to Nome when I left. A number of new districts were opening. The Koogrock and the Bluestone countries, 60 miles northwest of Nome, and Golofin bay, about 50 miles northeast, promise to rival the gold camps right around Nome."—Spokane Review.

Mr. Dick had been staying at the Kanff hotel, and it was not an unusual thing for him to remain away for several days. On Sunday, the 7th, he wandered off and today his body was found. He was estimated to be worth $2,000,000.

UTICA, July 16.—This is one of the hottest days of the season in Central and Northern New York. At noon today in this city the mercury reached 94 degrees. Yesterday at Adirondack resorts the mercury registered from 88 to 97 degrees. Reports today show several degrees higher.

BOSTON, July 16.—There were three prostrations at Lynn, Mass., up to 1 p. m. with the thermometer at 98. Mills and quarries at Biddeford, Maine, were closed at noon owing to the intense heat. A number of prostrations occurred during the morning. The thermometer registered 90 to 100 in different parts of the city of Biddeford. At Worcester, Mass., the temperature was 95 at noon. This afternoon in this city the thermometer after steadily climbing since 5 a. m., had reached 91 1-2. Two prostrations had been reported, one of which, having caused a fall and a fractured skull, was likely to prove fatal. Two prostrations from the heat occurred at Lowell today.

Inhaled Prairie Fire Flames

LARNED, Kan., July 15.—A prairie fire which started 18 miles north of this place burned over a large area of country yesterday afternoon and destroyed over 40,000 bushels of wheat in the stack.

Frank Junod, from whose threshing engine the fire started, in his endeavors to put it out inhaled the flames and is reported dying. The residence and barn of Henry Hanhart and the residence and barn of Mrs. Julius Rhiner were completely destroyed, with their contents. Some stock and many tons of hay were also burned.

For Unrequited Love.

TACOMA, July 15.—James G. Peterson shot himself tonight because Clara Yenne would not return his love. He sought the flat in which the Yennes live and killed himself before their door. He left a letter reproaching the girl whose affections he could not gain and blaming her for the deed. The Yennes came to Tacoma recently from Salt Lake and Peterson followed them.

Stabbed the Mayor.

ORAN, Algeria, July 16.—While Max Regis, the anti-Semite mayor of Algiers, was going to the Casino tonight he was stabbed in the neck. His assailant was arrested. Rioting followed and 30 persons were taken into custody, among them Louis Regis.

Were With Dewey at Manila

SEATTLE, July 16.—The United States steamer Concord, commander Harry Knox, which played such an important part under commodore Dewey in the destruction of the Spanish fleet in Manila bay on May 1st, 1898, arrived from the Philippines today via Dutch Harbor, Alaska. Of the officers in command of the vessel during the memorable sea fight but one, F. E. Schute, paymaster's clerk, remains on the ship. As to the force of marines, but five of the Concord's crew at the time she turned her guns on the Spanish battleships are now on her. They are C. F. Selfton, T. O'Keefe, S. Murphy, E. Elkin and L. Howard. J. Latham and A. G. Burton of the Baltimore's crew during the fight, are now on the Concord.

FROM PROVINCIAL POINTS

ROSSLAND MINERS INDULGE IN A PICNIC.

Coal Reported Found in Considerable Quantities on Kettle River---Globe Trotters Reach Victoria

ROSSLAND, July 16.—The striking miners had a big demonstration today. About 1200 men marched, 1000 being union miners. They paraded to the Recreation grounds, where James Wilks, vice-president of the W. F. A.; Rupert Bulmer, president of the Rossland union, and B. Shed, president of the Smeltermen's Union at Northport spoke. Speeches were temperate. The balance of the afternoon was spent in sports. The streets are crowded tonight.

The Newsboys' Union has declared a strike on the Daily Miner, but no new crew has been secured and no annoyance was caused.

The report of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer that Bernard McDonald has resigned is regarded as the vaporings of a badly informed correspondent. Everything is quiet here. Many men are leaving for Spokane and Northwest mining points.

Prospector Finds Coal.

GRAND FORKS, July 16.—[Special to The Tribune.]—Joseph Wiseman, a prospector, claims to have discovered coal on the north fork of Kettle river, 60 miles from Grand Forks. He returned here yesterday, bringing with him specimens weighing over 20 pounds. At the Granby smelters they were pronounced to be bituminous coal. Wiseman states that he discovered three parallel seams averaging four feet in width. He was outfitted several weeks ago by George A. Fraser and R. R. Gilpin, for whom he located 1280 acres. Mr. Fraser leaves tomorrow for the new coal fields to make a more thorough examination.

World-Racers at Victoria

VICTORIA, July 16.—There were two parties of globe-circling racers on the Empress of India, which arrived today, MM. Lebaud and Stegler, representing Le Matin of Paris and C. C. Fitzmorris and S. M. Williams, representing the Chicago American, arrived. The latter couple were taken from the Empress in the Straits by a tug and rushed to Seattle, where they arrived at 5:45 and left there for Chicago at 7:50 p. m.

Dawson News Notes.

SEATTLE, July 16.—Advices from Dawson under date of June 28 state that the gold shipments to the outside this year have amounted to $5,000,000 to date.

News has just been brought from the mouth of the Hoolinqua river by steamer that a placer strike has been made on Lake creek, a tributary to Lake Teslin, the source of the Hoolinqua. No particulars have been received.

Hams, potatoes, cream and all kinds of fruit are selling in Dawson at exceedingly low rates and traders are losing money. Cherries, peaches, apples and other fruits are plentiful.

Wesley Broady, aged 22, was swept from a raft on the Yukon river a short distance above Dawson last week and drowned.

J. W. Lowes, a native of Toronto, and a resident of British Columbia, was drowned near Big Salmon a few days ago.

Game Wardon Shot Two Men.

DELTA, Cal., July 15.—Deputy game warden F. A. McHaney, half-breed Indian, shot and killed W. A. Womack and fatally wounded A. L. Hinchman, who, it is claimed, resisted arrest while illegally fishing in Grandmesa lake. McHaney gave himself up and was taken to Gunnison for safe keeping, as the feeling against him among the people in the vicinity of the lake is very bitter.

For several years there has been friction between the citizens of Delta county and the game wardens who were stationed at the lake to prevent the public from fishing there. The citizens claim that the lake is public land, stocked with fish. William Radcliffe, on the other hand, claims exclsive fishing the other hand, claims exclusive fishing lake and by virtue of state law, and he employed the game warden to protect his rights.

Stop Lynching in Virginia.

RICHMOND, Va., July 15.—A resolution aiming to prevent lynching was introduced in the Virginia constitutional convention by Mr. Pedigo, republican. It provides that the governor shall offer a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of every person who shall engage in the offense, that the crime shall be murder in the first degree where hanging or lynching is accomplished, and the governor shall pay $100 to the heirs of any person lynched, the money to be charged to the county or city in which the crime was committed.

A manager of one of Nelson's wholesale houses, commenting on the question of freight rates, said yesterday: "The trouble is that the railways all "favor the Eastern or the Coast wholesalers, and to accommodate them give "blanket rates from Eastern and Coast "points to all points that can be reached by Nelson wholesalers. A drummer for an Eastern or Coast wholesale house makes a trip through Kootenay or Yale, gets orders from a "dozen different retailers, sufficient to "make up a carload, and the goods "are hauled and delivered at just the "same freight rate as goods are hauled "and delivered at Nelson to the wholesale dealers. The Nelson wholesalers, "in order to do business, must cut prices "just the amount of the local freight "rate from Nelson to the points to "which goods are shipped, and to do "this often means selling goods at a "loss, instead of at a profit." The wholesalers do not complain of the volume of business. All agree that there is sufficient business in the country directly tributary to Nelson, and that the business can be handled to good advantage from Nelson, if only the railways would give our wholesalers a square deal, which they appear unwilling to do. As an instance: The C. P. R. makes a rate of 85 cents on a certain class of merchandise from Vancouver to Nelson and a rate of 88 cents on the same class from Vancouver to Cranbrook. This shows that the C. P. R. is willing to haul merchandise the distance between Nelson and Cranbrook for THREE CENTS a hundred, provided the merchandise is purchased in Vancouver; but if purchased in Nelson the rate will be FIFTEEN TIMES as much. If these are not statements of fact, then The Tribune is not well informed.

The Rossland Miner has a fight on its hands that is not to its liking. The president of the Rossland Board of Trade calls it down for grossly misrepresenting the attitude of the board on the difficulty that now exists between managers McDonald and Kirby and the Miners' Union; the newsboys will not sell it on the streets or deliver it to subscribers; and the merchants are withdrawing their advertising patronage. All of which makes the manager of the Miner sick. No newspaper in the province has been so foolishly virulent against the government, the mining laws, the unions, and individuals; and no newspaper has so little justification for such foolish virulence. Rossland is a town that is largely dependent on the district in which it is situate. That district has received very fair treatment at the hands of the provincial government. The business of exploiting undeveloped mineral claims was practically at an end at Rossland long before any of the legislation now said to be unwise was passed, and the mining companies operating there that have brought discredit on the business of mining seem unwilling to adopt business methods that are found to work successfully in other districts. Unions are in existence in all the great mining camps in America, and the camps that are the most prosperous and successful (camps like Butte in Montana) have the strongest unions and have had the minimum of labor trouble. Individuals should not be subject to newspaper abuse and mud-throwing merely because they are not friends of the editor. The Rossland Miner, when owned by Messrs. Reavis and Jackson was a credit to Rossland; but since it passed from their hands it has become less a newspaper every day of its publication, until now it is utterly lacking in reputation or standing either in Rossland or in Kootenay district.

All the men employed as carmen and shovelers in mines in Kootenay and Yale districts, with the single exception of one camp, and that one camp is Rossland, are paid three dollars a day. The average man, while depricating a strike at this time, must admit that the Rossland carmen and shovelers are not asking anything that is either unfair or unreasonable.

NEW YORK, July 16.—A large number of letters have been received regarding the proposed extension of the king's title, according to the London correspondent of the Tribune. The addition which seems to find most favor is sovereign lord of Canada, Australia and South Africa. Several correspondents suggest that the two sons of the duke of Cornwall and York should be created prince of Australia and prince of Canada.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 16.—F. D. Cobourn, secretary of the board of agriculture, does not share in the general opinion that ruin will come upon Kansas as a result of the present dry spell. The damage to hay and corn has been serious, but the deficiency will be nearly made up by the great crops of kaffir corn and alfalfa that have been raised. Mr. Cobourn states that there are over 900,000 acres of kaffir corn and alfalfa in the state, which have not been materially affected by the dry weather. In addition to this there are 40,000,000 bushels of old corn in the farmers' hands.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The proposed continental boycott of American goods is taken very seriously in London city circles, says a London dispatch to the Tribune. The view is, the correspondent says, that the menace of America is not merely a matter of trade. They profess to regard the question from a highly moral standpoint. They say it is no advantage to the world that a great nation should dominate it with ideals that money is the controlling power. The ideals of Europe have ever been higher than that adopted as the American standard.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., July 16.—Seal Cove fishermen claim to have seen a steamer last night ashore at Renew's island near the scene of the wrecks of the British steamer Delmar and the Orient Steam Navigation Company's steamer Lusitania The fishermen say they watched the steamer from a distance until nearly 1 o'clock in the morning. A strong wind was blowing from the northeast. The fishermen supposed the steamer in question either sank or got off again. They say small craft were sailing about in the vicinity of the supposed wreck all this morning as if engaged in picking up wreckage.

Notwithstanding that there are two bankrupt stocks of boots and shoes now being offered in this city, I am prepared to meet the prices listed for same, and as my stock is fresh—just opened up—from the manufacturers, I would solicit an inspection before purchasing.

The results that I have obtained since advertising my discontinuance in business have been most satisfactory. The great variety of my stock of clothing and gents' furnishings, with all prices marked in plain figures, has proven an irresistible factor in securing sales.

Those who have not taken advantage of my reductions should call and compare prices and quotations with those offered in any other store in the city. Everything is offered at eastern wholesale cost.

THE FOURTH AT CIRCLE BAR.

The Circle Bar outfit, as a little colo- lacked many of the adjuncts of civilization which now go far to make the great West a paradise in comparison to its former days.

The Circle Bar outfit, as a little codony of cattlemen was called, from the brand of the "cattle king" who employed them, were in a fair way of forgetting the traditions of their eastern homes, when the arrival of two additions to their ever-changing family brought back a vivid recollection of former days to the whole reckless crowd. Their cook, a drunken Swede, had been killed in a quarrel with a halfbreed Indian, and it was his successor who indirectly brought about this transformation.

One day a lanky "Down Easterner" drew rein before the Circle Bar outfit. "I'm Peters, the new cook," he announced to the group of cowboys by the door.

"What ye got on yer pommel?" queried the horse wrangler of the outfit.

"That's my kid," replied Peters, with evident pride, exhibiting a chubby boy of 12. His words were heard in the ranchhouse, and the rest of the cowboys poured out at once to see the boy. He was a genuine curiosity to these men, years away from the sight of a child's face, excepting the young Indian children, who scuttled away at their approach.

The boy scrambled to the ground and stood looking at the dingy ranchhouse.

"I don't think much of this place; it's so very dirty," he said to the cowboys. They looked at each other, scratched their heads and grinned sheepishly. "It's dirty," they said, and from that day "Kid" Peters ruled the Circle Bar.

"I must have some fireworks," announced the Kid a week later. "Only five days before the Fourth of July, you know." The men looked at each other wild-eyed. How they had forgotten! "Why, back East—" "Ye shall hev' 'em, Kid," said the horsewrangler.

The men contributed generously to "the Kid's blowout," as they called it. For three days packages came addressed to "Mister Kid Peters," from Clay Gulch, the nearest town, 26 miles away. The Kid's days were passed in a fever of anticipation.

The night before the Fourth the members of the outfit were seated on boxes and logs outside of the ranchhouse, seeking relief from the oppressive heat, when a roll of approaching hoof-beats aroused them. A horseman drew rein before the door. His horse sat down. "Apaches!" he shouted. "Burnt out old Joe. I got through"—he fell limply on the hot sod. An arrow shaft protruded from his side.

The men awoke from their lethargy. The cattle were corralled. Men lined the high log fences. Only Pete stayed in the ranchhouse. The cattle must be protected.

At length a line of shadowy figures topped a distant ridge. The moon arose, showing a band of Indians in full war paint deploying silently toward the corral. They were after the cattle. A sharp crack of Winchesters from the corral caused them to vanish behind tufts of grass and bumps of ground. Some sprawled in attitudes not lifelike, but there were a great many who steadily advanced, creeping and firing toward the corral. The moon went under a cloud, the painted and feathered figures gathered and rushed at the stockade. The cattlemen worked their repeaters desperately. The Indians fell back, then gathered again.

"Another rush and it's all over," groaned Jim Howard, the "boss" of the outfit, from behind his loophole in the corral fence. "They're a-gettin' ready," gasped the horse wrangler. Then a wonderful thing happened. The ranchhouse vomited fire. Long, snaky streaks of fire shot toward the Indians. Balls of flame hung over the feathered heads, then burst into little globes of many colored sparks. Then threads of light blushed over painted bodies and then flared up bravely before going out. It was the "Kid" taking a hand in the battle with his fireworks. Whirling pinwheels cast a vivid reflection over the astonished savages, throwing every figure in relief. A furious volley came from the corral. The range was short, the aim was deadly. Many of the dusky figures fell limply in strange attitudes. The rest drew off. "Waugh!" said Striking Snake. "Bad medicine." Their scattered shots stopped altogether. Soon the nervous trot of pony hoofs resounded on the prairie sod. At a final blaze of rockets from the ranchhouse the trot broke into a gallop. They were gone.

The men lay behind the corral fences until daylight broke. Then they streamed into the ranchhouse, where they found the "Kid" in tears. "Jim" Howard, the "boss," caught the little figure in his arms.

"Ye musn't cry, 'Kid,'" he said, "Why, you're a regular hero. Heroes don't cry."

"But I shot off all my fireworks," sobbed the boy. "Can't have no Fourth now."

"Well, young man," said the "boss," "I guess we had about as much excitement last night as is coming to most people on the Fourth. Don't you think it is better to lick a lot of Indians with fireworks than just to pop away for fun?" The "Kid" dried his eyes and smiled. "That's so," he said. "I never thought of that."

Some Strike Statistics.

Statistics given in annual reports on strikes and lockouts in England, Germany, France and Austria during 1899 show that in Germany the number of strikes and lockouts was nearly double that of either of the other three countries. This fact points to a high degree of industrial activity in Germany. Strikes are most apt to occur in time of prosperity than in time of depression. There were 1288 strikes reported in 1899, of which 331 succeeded and 429 partially succeeded. In Great Britain there were 719 strikes and lockouts, 230 of which were settled in favor of the trades, and 230 in favor of employers; 236 were compromised.

In France there were 740 strikes and 10 lockouts. Of the strikes 180 were successful, 282 partly successful, and 277 failures. The number of strikes reported in Austria in 1899 were 311, of which 15.41 per cent succeeded, 45.02 per cent succeeded partly and 39.55 per cent failed. The largest percentage of any successful strike was claimed by England, the home of trade unionism.

The report of the French government gives statistics of strikes for 10 years. Of the 4310 strikes reported in that period 2125 were due, either wholly or in part, to demands for increased wages, and 544 to demands against reduction of wages; 766 were due to the demands for or against the discharge of workmen, foremen or directors, or for their reinstatement, and 472 for reduction in the hours of wages.

The demands regarding wages and hours of labor were most successful or partially so, while those for or against the discharge of workmen or for their reinstatement usually failed.

Mexicans and Negroes Fight

HEREFORD, Texas, July 16.—Word reached this place yesterday of a pitched battle and wholesale killing between Mexicans and negroes who are working on the new Rock Island extension near Liberty, N. M., 100 miles west of here. The trouble originated in the killing of a Mexican by a negro some weeks ago. The authorities undertook to arrest the assailant, but his friends interfered and they were obliged to withdraw. Last week some 35 or 40 Mexicans armed themselves with Winchesters and went after the negro. A battle took place in which 15 negroes were killed and several wounded. The casualties among the Mexicans cannot be learned.

W. Cooper, a deckhand on the tug Ymir, was charged before magistrate Crease yesterday with assaulting a Chinaman at Kootenay Landing. The assault was the outcome of some fooling on the part of Cooper and the Chinaman, and the Chinaman's story was that when he resented the pleasantries taken with him he was struck over the mouth with an iron bucket. The mouth of the Chinaman bore mute testimony to the truth of the story of contact with the bucket. The magistrate found the charge against Cooper proven and he imposed a fine of $25 and costs, with one day's imprisonment or in default three months.

Bowling Rinks Formed.

A meeting of the men interested in bowling was held on the court house green yesterday afternoon for the purpose of selecting skips and rinks for the summer's play. The skips were chosen by motion, and the names of the other members were then put into a hat and drawn out one at a time by the skips. This resulted in the forming of the following rinks:

John A. Turner skip, J. H. Nolan, Dr. Quinlan and J. E. Annable.

Judge Forin skip, R. E. Lemon, A. T. Walley and Dr. Arthur.

J. F. Weir skip, D. J. Dewar, C. D. J. Christie and Dr. Hawkey.

F. A. Tamblyn skip, H. F. Macleod, C. E. Miller and P. Lamont.

Tracklaying Brought to a Standstill.

All is not plain sailing in building railways more than in running newspapers. The C. P. R. is building a branch from Lardo to Trout Lake. Four miles from Lardo the right-of-way runs through a ranch owned by a man named Murphy. The roadbed has been graded and the track laid through the ranch, but the land used for a right-of-way has not been paid for, and the owner wants a settlement quicker than the railway people want to give it to him. The other day he felled a big tree across the track, and now he sits on the tree three shifts a day in order to keep the tracklaying crew from removing it. The latter, it is reported, are down at Kaslo looking for law, and Murphy is quietly holding the big tree down.

Mining Records.

Certificates of work were yesterday issued to the Susquehanna Gold Mines, Limited, on the Gold Crown and White Rose; Transvaal and Zambesi Mining Company on the Black Night, Harry Rippin on the Iona, and W. Murphy on the Golden Crown and Apex.

There were four new locations recorded: The London, about three miles east of the Yellowstone, by Harry Housen; Lucy Ann, on the north fork of Salmon river, by William Beadle; and the Copper Creek, in the same district; Lookout, at the head of Barrett creek, Allie Miswald.

One bill of sale was recorded, in which E. S. Glassford transferred to W. B. Pollard the Madge on the east slope of Morning mountain.

How a Mine Lost Its Night Shift.

A story comes from the Slocan that goes to show that men are a good deal like sheep. A night shift boss at one of the mines had to throw up his job in order to do assesment work on claims he owned in another district. The superintendent instructed the day shift boss to select a man to take the position. There were two applicants, each of whom had his following. One was selected, and the other and his following rolled their blankets and went down the hill. This so angered the other, that he and his following did likewise, leaving the mine without a night shift.

City's Collections Good

The City of Nelson is a fairly good collector. The collections on the 15th amounted to $5379.05, and for the month $7175.10.

Electric light rates	$1,091 61
Water rates	1,875 80
Scavenger rates	279 69
Licenses	3,647 00
Police court fines	79 00
Miscellaneous	140 00
Dog taxes	44 00
Total	$7,175 00

Are Making a Wrong Start.

Slocan is starting off wrong as a municipality. It is a house divided against itself. One faction is quarreling with another over a petty office, as if petty offices were the sole busines to be considered by people who take upon themselves the responsibilities of self government. Evidently it was a mistake to give the people of Slocan even a chance to manage their own affairs.

LE ROI TO TREAT $7 ORE

Eight Million in Sight.

According to secretary Labouchere of the Le Roi Mining Company, the mine will soon be able to treat $7 ore at a profit. That would be a substantial lowering of the shipping grade, which is unofficially supposed to be about $10 per ton.

Secretary Labouchere has a number of other interesting things to say, according to a London financial paper of June 25th, which published an interview with him. Mr. Labouchere is credited with saying that the mine is equipped with machinery worth £500,000, or $2,500,000. This will be news to most Americans. The value of the smelter has never been estimated at more than $1,000,000, and it has never been supposed that the mine outfit was worth $1,500,000. But here is the interview:

"When you say that there is in sight £3,000,000 of ore, are you taking into consideration what has been opened up since October?"

"No. We were then only down to the 900 foot level, nor had any driving been done at this depth; but we are now down to the 1100 foot level and over £4,000,000 is now in sight.

"Our capital, as you know, is £1,000,000, in £5 shares, which now stands at about three premium, so that the total market value of the mine is £1,600,000. The ore in sight, as I have told you, amounts to £4,000,000 and the cost of working is well inside 60 per cent, so that the remaining 40 per cent is clean profit. This 40 per cent amounts to £1,600,000, so that the market value of the mine is represented by the ore in sight alone, without taking into consideration the machinery, worth about £500,000, and the whole of the remaining possibilities of the mine.

"How much do you owe the Bank of Montreal?"

"Only £108,000, but this is more than covered by ore and matte in transit. We can always get an advance up to 50 per cent of our ore in sight." The secretary added that it was not likely that the smelter strike would extend to the mine. The smelter, he said, would be able to treat 1500 tons per day shortly, and this would considerably reduce the cost of treatment. "Indeed, we shall be able to treat $7 ore."

"What is the average value of your ore now?"

"About £2 12s, but then, as I have told you, we have been treating only low grade stuff."—Spokane Review.

Lynched Three Thieves.

HELENA, Mont., July 16.—A special from Big Sandy, in northern Montana, tells of the lynching of three horse thieves by a posse of infuriated ranchers on the Missouri river just below Judith, Saturday afternoon. Details are meager, but there is no doubt of the authenticity of the report, which was brought into Big Sandy today by John Tingley, a well known cattleman. The men, mounted on their horses, were driven under a tree, the nooses were adjusted over a convenient limb and the animals then driven out from underneath them, leaving the bodies dangling in the air. The men reported hanged were "Bucking Bill," who worked formerly for McNamara; Fred Conne and Pete Waller, both old timers in that country, and each bearing a bad reputation. These men have been suspected of horse stealing for some time and just before the news reached Big Sandy a posse was being organized to go out after them.

The schedule time is shorter than ever before. The contract runs from October 1st to June 30th.
