A CHEMICALLY PRODUCED SOUL

Dr. Schaefer has talked some nonsense of late. The press has gone one better, and made the doctor say many things, and much he never even dreamed of.

Young, inexperienced reporters come upon the stage and try their best to make reportorial strikes. At times they succeed beyond expectation. This Schaefer Chemical Soul case is one of this sort. The learned doctor made a scholarly reference to chemism in its various applications, and, lo! the newsmen made a big talk never intended by the scholar.

As a matter of fact, Doctor Schaefer said nothing new. What he said has been said a thousand times during the last two hundred years. He and others speculate and wonder as to possibilities, but affirm nothing new, or striking. The speculations may be striking, and the young newsmen grab at the will 'o the wisp, and give it out as a solid fact, substance, or scientific conclusion. And the whole world stares astounded.

Doctor Schaefer, like every other living man, is absolutely ignorant of the nature of the human soul. By "soul" I presume he means the "spirit." Not even in the realisms of speculation has any man in human life perceived or apprehended the nature of spirit or life. No man is capable of such a perception.

In no case has any chemist produced life from that which he knows to be dead, inorganic matter. No man has ever arrived there by any method of chemical analysis or synthesis. I make this statement knowing well the attainments to date of the chemical world.

No man has ever arrived, by any system of chemical composition or decomposition, at a point wherein he could say this is life produced from inorganic death.

Let us suppose a case most favourable to the materialistic chemists. Let us suppose that some clever man either by accident or by a series of carefully made experiments, should produce what he and other chemists would call organic life. This world would at once demand to be told, or assured of several things. We would ask these advanced experimentors this question:—Will this life, the thing you call life, reproduce its kind? Will it remain in this material world as a new plant or animal? Again—Do you know, Mr. Scientist, that you produced this wonderful thing from inorganic death, that is from an inorganic group of particles or molecules in wrich no life inhered? When you come to tell this big world of human units you have produced material life from molecules in which no life inhered then you will be asked for proof; and well do you now know that you will be eternally dumb in the presence of such a question.

After you have proved satisfactorily that this great problem has been solved, then you may proceed a few paces further into the unknown, and tell us you have found the method by which you can produce a human spirit in tre chemical laboratory. After you prove satisfactorily the less we may be ready to listen to your conjectures and experimentations on the greater. Stop talking nonsense in the meantime, and muzzle the young newsmen a little if you know how so to do.

EXTENSIVE DEVELOPMENTS

Big Interests Seeking Location for Elevators--Port Moody Likely Site

There is intense interest being evidenced in the quiet, but none the less important, activity of some of the big concerns. It is clear to all who are in touch with the situation that some important developments are soon to take place.

A large shipbuilding company from Scotland has had a man on the ground for some weeks, looking up sites and making preliminary arrangements for the establishment of a shipyard on Burrard Inlet. Nothing definite can be learned from him as to actual location, other than that it will be on Burrard Inlet east of the First Narrows. A site toward the easterly end of Burrard Inlet has been under consideration, but nothing final has yet been decided.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of recent activity has been on the part of the C. P. R. It is understood on good authority that the C. P. R. will locate their Grain Elevators at Port Moody, and this is confirmed by recent actions on behalf of that company. The officials of the company have not made a definite or official announcement to this effect, and have refused to do so until the company shall have secured all the necessary property for their purposes. It is, however, definitely known that the officials appointed to investigate the matter have reported favorably as to Port Moody for the location of the C. P. R. elevators.

That this decision is a wise one, and will undoubtedly be acted upon by the executive authorities, might be borne out by a careful study of the situation.

What is essential to elevators is: First, a proper site having good foundations to bear the tremendous weight of millions of bushels of grain, and adequate trackage facilities. Secondly, deep water approach, suitable for large, deep draught freighters, so that the vessel can load direct from the elevators. Thirdly, the junction of the water and rail transportation should be as far inland as possible, consistent with safety to shipping.

Port Moody undoubtedly has all of these advantages. There is ample level and solid ground to accommodate an extensive system of elevators with sufficient trackage, and the channel at this point is deep and safe, so that a huge freighter may with perfect safety steam up, without assistance of tugs, and load from the elevator direct.

Again, there is no point contiguous to deep water which reaches so far inland and which, at the same time is convenient to the C. P. R.

It should be remembered that it would cost the C. P. R. a large sum to move tr ainloads of grain over that section between Port Moody and any other point in Vancouver. In fact so congested is the traffic now that the movement of freight in that area is considered as demanding terminal charges, so that the company are desirous of avoiding this congestion, and hence the decision in favor of Port Moody on the part of the officials who have the matter in hand, a decision, we repeat, which is eminently wise and founded on sound logic, and which, no doubt, will be, or has been, confirmed by the executive head.

The establishment of these elevators cannot be delayed much longer. We know it is the intention of the C. P. R. to build them during the coming year and that they need have no fear of competition from the government, because the policy of a sample market, adopted by the Minister of Trade and Commerce and endorsed by the Grain Growers, largely eliminates the necessity of a government elevator, and places the elevator business on a sound footing.

We would also point to the fact that the C. P. R. will have completed its double tracking to Calgary about the same time as that proposed for the completion of the elevators and of the opening of the Panama Canal, which, to say the least, is a remarkable coincident.

It would appear that at last Port Moody is to come into her own, and that those who retained their confidence in this old town will reap richly the reward for their long wait. Nothing can stop the development of our great harbor, and all parts of it, from east to west, will be benefited.

MONTHS OF THE YEAR

There is a curious discrepancy between the names of the months and their order in the calendar. September is not the seventh month in our year, nor is December the tenth, as their names imply. When old Romulus began the year in March, and the year had only ten months, the last four months stood in regular numerical order, and hence their names were proper. But when Numa Pompilius added January and February to the number of months, and changed the beginning of the year to January, he failed to alter the names of the last four months so as to comply with the new order.

January was named in honor of Janus, a Roman god, who was supposed to hold the key of the gate of heaven, and after whom every Roman door or gate was named Janus. The first month, then styled Januarius, was considered the gateway to a new period of time. But our Saxon ancestors named this month, "Wolf-Monat," because in the snowy season human beings were in greater danger of being devoured by wolves.

February took its name from Februa, the goddess who presided at the Roman feast of purification, but our Saxon fathers called it "Sprout-Kale," or the month in which they sprouted cabbages and other vegetables. They afterward changed it to "Sol-Monath," or Sun-Month, because the sunshine of spring was approaching.

March was named after Mars, the heathen god of war, and the pictorial representation was that of a man of fierce aspect, with a helmet on his head, a bunch of almond blossoms in one hand and a spade in the other, a basket of seeds hanging upon his arm. In early times the Christian church ordained that the calendar year should begin with Easter, and March 25 was made new year's day, which order continued in England until the year 1752.

April takes its name from aperlis, to open, and it points to the opening of buds and blossoms. Nero tried to make a permanent of it by calling it "Neronius," and Charlemagne gave it the designation of "Easter-Month."

May is from Maia, the goddess to whom Romans offered sacrifices. The Saxons called it "Trimilchi," because the cows feeding on the young grass, allowed of milking three times a day.

June was dedicated by the Saxons "Weyd Monath," because "their beasts did then weyd in the meddowes." Its symbol was the figure of a young man, clothed in a mantle of dark green, bearing on his arm a basket of summer fruits, and holding in his hand an eagle.

July was first called Quintilus, the fifth month, but Mark Antony changed it to Julius, or July, in honor of Julius Caesar. The Saxons styled it Hey Monath, the time to mow hay. They also introduced the term "dog days," because the dog star begins at their period to rise with the sun.

August was named in honor of Augustus Caesar, and was dedicated to Ceres, the goddess of corn and harvest. It was a season of joy and merrymaking.

September, from Septem, the seventh month in the old Romulus year, was once called Antonius, then Hercules, then Tacitus, in honor of emperors, but these old Romans were not popular enough to retain the honor.

October, from Octo, eighth, and imber, shower, was regarded by the Saxons as Wyn Monath, wine month. In old pictures this month was represented by the figure of a man sowing wheat, or with a basket of chestnuts on his arm, and he was clothed in a mantle the color of a fading leaf.

November has never borne any other appellation, although the Romans wanted to compliment Tiberius by naming it after him. In this they failed. The Saxons called it Bloten-Moneth, from bloten, to slay. It was their butchering season.

December, under the emperor Commodus, had its name changed to Amazonia, but when the emperor died the original name was restored. The ancient Britons held the feast of Thor at this season, calling it Guil, or Iol, and from a corruption of this terms comes our word Yule.

Fortune Left to Nurse.

New York, Sept. 12.—Miss Eleanor Perquin of Mineola, nurse, who attended Walter Duryea during his years of helplessness resulting from a broken neck, will receive $155,983.90 as her portion of his estate.

Duryea died in 1911 after lying for twelve years unable to move. Appraisement shows the gross bulk of the estate about $589,183.

Manuel Plotting Against Portugal

Munich, Sept. 12.—The Socialist Post says ex-King Manuel of Portugal is here concocting measures against the Portuguese republic.

The chief instigator of the conspiracy is the Duchess Karl Theodor of Bavaria, who is reported to have spent a large fortune in the Royalist cause.

Sons of England.

At the last meeting of Lodge Grandview, S. O. E., B. S., the social committee reported that they had prepared a program of entertainment for the next three months, which the Lodge approved. The program provides for three partial evenings after Lodge meetings, as follows: October 16th, historical review entitled, "When George the Third was King," illustrated with songs and recitations; November 20th, mock trial, details of which will be announced, and December 18th, smoker. The program also provides for two full evenings, a grand concert at the Orange Hall on October 23rd and a box social on December 11th. The concert at the Orange Hall will be adequately planned for, and it is hoped to obtain the services of most of the artistes who furnished such a splendid evening at the last St. George's Day celebration. Coming only two days after the anniversary of Trafalgar, the occasion should be an excellent opportunity for inspiring patriotism and profitably turning thaought to the deeds that made the empire.

Grandview News Notes

Mr. Rodway, senior member of the well known firm of sheet metal workers of Grandview, is very ill from a nervous breakdown due to overwork. We tender him our sympathy.

Rev. Dr. Walbrer of Los Angeles is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Jeffs, 1250 Salsbury Drive.

Rev. Dr. Walker of Los Angeles, Cal., is a visitor to the city, the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Jeffs, 1250 Salsbury drive. Dr. Walker is an eminent Bible teacher and lectured Sept. 26 at the Pacific Coast Gospel Mission, 558 Keefer street near the corner of Princess street. Dr. Walker is the teacher of the largest Bible class on the Pacific Coast and his lecture provided a treat for Bible students.

A very pretty, quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, 2856 St. Catherine street, on Monday evening, Sept. 23, when Miss Alice Dorothy Warren of London, England, was married to Mr. Albert G. J. Bourne. The bride, who arrived from the old land a few days ago, wore a beautiful travelling suit and carried a lovely boquet of white roses.

She was attended by Mrs. Brown, sister of the bridegroom; Mr. Harold Lovick acted as best man. Rev. I. W. Williamson perfermed the ceremony, after which the guests sat down to supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Brown. The happy couple left later in the evening for their new home in Victoria.

Mrs. W. Cowderoy of 923 Salsbury drive will receive tomorrow afternoon and on the first Tuesday of each month following.

Mrs. Harold Somerville and Miss Pugh, 2130 First avenue east, received on Wednesday last and will receive on the first Wednesday of each month during the season.

Convalescent Home.

The new convalescent home at the corner of Templeton drive and Albert street, Grandview, is the scene of busy operations these sunny days of Indian summer. Each of the many rooms is labelled with the name of the circle of King's Daughters which has undertaken its furnishing and each day groups of energetic women gather at the home to plan and sew and to superintend the placing of furniture in the home. It will be some days yet befor the home is ready to be thrown open to the inspection of the public but one may rest assured that when the opening takes place all will be in perfect readiness and a home will be placed at the disposal of convalescents such as will insure their speedy returne to health. A very important and fortunate feature of the house is the broad verandah which encloses tow sides, the front, which is approached by a broad low flight of steps, overlooking plenty of vacant lots, rich just now with autumn bloom and foliage, the western side commanding an uninterrupted view of the Inlet, North Vancouver and the mountains.

Canadian Northern Plans Discussed

After a thorough discussion of the proposal made by the Canadian Northern railway relative to its entry to False Creek, the Central Ratepayers' Association at a meeting Saturday night decided that more time was needed to consider the matter and set next Saturday night as the time to further discuss the question. Clause 8, dealing with the terms between the Canadian Northern road and others that might desire to use its terminals in entering the city, was found particularly puzzling, and a committee, consisting of Messrs Black, McLellan, Seymour and Mills, was appointed to confer with Alderman Baxter, chairman of the bridges and railway committee of the city council, to ascertain exactly what the clause means.

The clause states "other railroad companies will be entitled to the joint use of the terminals and station upon a car basis of 5 per cent per annum on the value of the property and structures included within such terminals, they to bear the same proportion of the cost of maintenance, upkeep and operating." Several members stated that they believed it inadvisable to allow the Canadian Northern to control the terminal situation and they expressed the opinion that it could, if it so desired, place difficulties in the way of other roads using its terminals.

The clause stating that three-fifths of the work will be done within three years and the terminals completed within five years also caused considerable discussion, but was finally accepted as satisfactory.

Big Paving Deal

One of the largest paving projects yet undertaken by the city is now in progress on Westminster Road betwen Twelfth and Knight. Some 300 men are employed by the contractors. The work has been underway for a little over six weeks. The job incldues a heavy fill between St. Catherines and Glen, with a cut between Glen and Clark and a fill near Knight. One side of the street is now paved between Twelfth and St. Catherines and it is expected that at least one side all the way from end to end will be ready for use this winter with the exception of the spots where fills have be nmade, which will have to be planked. The street is bing paved with asphaltic mixture and form a part of the heavy yardage contracts divided up by the board of works this spring between the Columbia Bithlithic Co., M. P. Cotton & Co., T. R. Nickson & Co., and the Canadian Mineral Rubber Co. This particular street section is being carried out by the last mentioned company.

Other Ward Five streets now being paved with apshaltic mixture include ster Road and Victoria Drive, which is practically finished. Vitrified brick has been used on the sides where there are heavy grades. Other Ward Five streets to be improved with paving this year are: Scott, Eighth to Fifteenth, sides only, finished; Tenth, Westminster to Scott, finished; Eighth, Scott to Westminster Road, finished.

Ald. Baxter asserted today that Ward Five had received more paving in 1912 by far than during any previous year.

C. N. R. Agreement Sent to Council.

The work of the bridges and railways committee on the C. N. R. False Creek application was completed on Monday afternoon, when an agreement basis was sent up to the council. This basis of agreement covers the ground already indicated in reports of former meetings and in addition gives a number of modifications arrived at yesterday.

For one thing new, the Canadian Northern Railway Company will fill free for the city some 12 acres at the southeast corner of the civic area, the city reserving this space for its own purposes. It will have frontage on First Avenue. The northern boundary street between the civic area and the Great Northern property, as shown on the Canadian Northern plan, will be eliminated altogether, and the southern boundary street will only extend from Main Street east to meet, by means of a ramp, the proposed viaduct across the creek from Princess (Carl) to either Scott or Carolina.

The city will keep a strip 250 feet wide east of Main Street, from the north boundary south to the proposed railway roadway on the south side of the depot shown on the plan, as a public park. Col. Davidson, of the C. N. R., agreed yesterday to move his tracks on the south side of this private roadway back east 400 feet from Main Street. That is to say, the city will reserve a strip 250 feet wide from the north boundary to the private roadway immediately south of the proposed depot and will reserve a strip 400 feet wide from that point on to the south boundary of the civic portion of the creek.

Col. Davidson and the committee arranged at the meeting that the C. N. R. would start paying taxes on three-fifths of the bed secured by the company in three years' time, and on the whole of the bed after five years. The company is to be given an exemption on all improvements, such as prevails throughout the city at the present time, until 1924.

Heated scenes in which Ald. Hepburn and Ald. McNeill and Ald. Hepburn with Chairman Baxter figured, characterized the committee meeting yesterday, and so marked did the wrangling among the aldermen become that it appeared at one stage as if no business would be put through at all.

PROVINCIAL

Kalmoops, Sept. 26.—It is announced that a wholesale meat plant is among the industrial certainties which will be established here in the near future. The Swift Canadian company are preparing to erect a $40,000 plant.

Province Warned Against Japanese.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 26.—Lord Stanhope, Unionist member of the British House of Lords, interviewed here today, expressed the opinion that the people of British Columbia should be on the alert against Japanese invasion.

He did not think that it would occur for a few years, but he pointed out that already Japan was almost the master of the Pacific ocean and that they were looking for another place of settlement. He said that British Columbia offered the ideal place for them as the Rocky Mountains made a natural barrier.

DOMINION

Five Await Hanging.

Montreal, Sept. 26.—Carl Batista was sentenced this afternoon to be hanged by Judge Trenhole, for the murder of Selvatore MacAruso. He will be excuted December 20. There are now five men in the cells of this city awaiting execution for murder.

Naval Question Soon.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—In response to a call sent out last week to the ministers of the crown, a practically complete cabinet council convened this morning in the office of the privy council, to cofmence the task of preparing the sessional programme.

One of the first things to be decided on is the date of the opening of Parliament, that willbe either Thursday, November 14, or Thursday, November 21, is certain. No matter which date is chosen, there remains only six or seven weeks in which the ministers must prepare for the consideration by Parliament of the various mattters to be outlined in the speech from the throne.

By far the most important of these matters will be the government's declaration of naval policy, which has become a subject of immediate consideration by the cabinet. The addition information from the admiralty which was promised Premier Borden has now been received and the government is in possession of the complete facts both in regard to the German situation and the costs of the construction of war vessels of all types.

The action this session will be confined to the voting of an emergency contribution of a size yet to be determined by council is practically certain.

The permanent naval policy of the government will not likely become definitely known until the 1913-14 session of Parliament.

Prison for Bank Clerk.

Toronto, Sept. 20.—Roland Harris, the young bank clerk who pleaded guilty to the stealing of $7,000 from the Standard Bank, was sentenced on Saturday to three years in the penitentiary by Judge Winchester.

Double Tracking in Spring.

Double tracking of the C. P. R. between Calgary and the coast will be started simultaneously at half a dozen points early next spring. Specifications for the contractors are now being prepared. The surveys are virtually completed.

FOREIGN

New Stomachs for Old Ones.

Paris, Sept. 30.—A man's stomach has been removed and replaced with the stomach of an anthropoid ape, which is, of course, an ape very close to a man in the rising scale of development.

So joyous was the recipient of the new stomach that at the first opportunity he became intoxicated. Naturally the ape had never tasted liquor and the stomach he gave was so healthy that it did not suffer by being drenched in alcohol.

Burglars Strategic Move.

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Startled by the sudden awakening of his victim, whose house he was robbing, a burglar here made a dash for the door and in passing grabbed the pants of Bernard Anderson, his pursuer. Pursuit stopped.

Will Be Five New Cardinals.

Rome, Sept. 18.—The date of the November consistory when five new cardinals, including an American, are to be announced soon by Pope Pius. It is generally believed here that Rector Kennedy, of the American College in Rome will be one of the five.

Remarkable Scene Attends Miracle.

Naples, Sept. 20.—The yearly miracle of the spontaneous boiling of the blood of St. Januarius was accomplished yesterday after two hours of incessant and loud prayers in the overcrowded cathedral, wher the excitement was at the highest pitch.

Legislative Head Assaulted.

Budapest, Sept. 18.—Wild scenes marked the meeting of parliament here today when Count Tisza, president of the lower house, was slapped, insulted and knocked down because of his hostile attitude towards women's suffrage. Count Tisza was set upon when he entered the chamber with the minister of commerce.

Frozen Mutton For Germany.

Sidney, N. S. W., Sept. 17. — The meat famine in Germany has opened the way for the extension of the frozen mutton industry to that country, and commencing in November next, when 100,000 carcases of frozen sheep will be shipped from Adelaide to Hamburg, regular fortnightly shipments will be made to that port.

No Cure For Cancer.

Munster, Prussia, Sept. 17.—Prof. Vinzenz Czerny, surgeon and bacteriologist at Heidleberg University and a world-famous investigator of cancer, has sent a communication to the German Medical Congress dealing with the lately reported cancer cures.

A specific remedy for cancer has not yet been found, he says, and possibly never will be discovered.

Chambermaid's Terrible Mistake.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 18.—As the result of an attempt to save the life of William Hall, a clerk of the Cadillac hotel, Marie Smith, a chambermaid, suffered terrible burns and he is in hospital in a critical condition.

Hall was attempting to throw a bucket of burning gasoline and alcohol out of a window, when the girl saw him and thought he was on re. Rushing to him she seized him with the intention of putting out the flame and in doing so upset the burning mixture overself.

Use Stave Lake Power

Those Industries are Better

In ultimate results which use our electric power service. The factories or office buildings which operate private power plants are under a big expense for maintenance. A trifling accident may disorganize their whole svstem — more serious disturbance, with attendant heavy losses involved, are not preventable. Stave Lake Power is undeniably cheaper and more reliable than private plant operation. See us for particulars and rates.

Mount Pleasant

EDITED BY D. R. PIERCE

Help to make these pages as interesting as possible by writing or or telephoning all local news each week before Wednesday noon.

Mount Pleasant Presbyterian.

The subject last Monday evening was "Believe, Believe Much, Believe Strongly." It was ably handled by Mr. McLeod, the leader of the meeting, who gave many helpful suggestions and those, together with the general discussion by the members present, made it a splendid meeting. The society are about to lose two valued members, Mr. and Mrs. McLeod, who are leaving the city, and their departure will mean a loss to the society as they have been very active in the Endeavor.

Mount Pleasant Methodist.

The report of the missionary meeting held on September 16, came in too late for the column last week, but the subject, "China's Challenge to the Christian Church," was ably taken by Miss Copeland, who gave some interesting facts on home missions, while Rev. Mr. Stillman, secretary of the Methodist Immigration Bureau, outlined the work of his department, giving information regarding the work done since its beginning.

The meeting last Monday evening listened to a very intersting paper on "Citizenship," by Mrs. G. E. Copeland. The speaker dealt forcibly with our responsibilities as church people in the making of good citizens of not only our own people but also those who come from other lands to make this their home. The meeting was in charge of Mr. C. H. Gregg, first vice-president of the league. Next Monday evening will take the form of a social, when all members and their friends are expected to attend.

Concert at Hospital.

The monthly concert under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the general hospital was given last evening at the institution, the programme on this occasion being entirely in the hands of the Kerrisdale Pierrots, who appeared in fancy costume and put on a number of miscellaneous pieces which were most enthusiastically received by the large number of convalescents present. Those taking part included Mrs. Beeman, Miss Winnifred Windle, Mr. H. W. Windle, Mr. Pacey, Mr. Edgar Smith and Mr. Godfrey Webb.

Mrs. H. G. H. Howard of 345 Tenth Avenue West, will not receive on Wednesday, but will resume her day on the first Wednesday in November.

Dr. W. C. Acheson Maimed by Tram.

Stepping from behind a tram from which he had just alighted, at 11:40 o'clock Tuesday morning, Dr. W. C. Acheson, 3020 Scott Street, was struck by another car coming in the opposite direction, sustaining a broken right leg just below the knee and his left foot below the ankle.

The accident occurred at Broadway and St. George Streets. Dr. Acheson stepped from a tram traveling west on Broadway Street. He stepped from behind the car and was was struck by a car on the other track.

Dr. Acheson was hurried into an automobile and rushed to the hospital, where it was found that an immediate operation was necessary. Dr. Wilson, in company with three other physicians, amputed the injured limbs. It is believed that unless complications set in Dr. Acheson will recover.

Mrs O. H. P. Belmont, the suffrage leader, said to a New York reporter the other day:

"Anti-suffragists fear that all kinds of abuses will come in with the universal ballot. There's a story illustrative of their point of view.

"It's a story about a woman's club. The club telephone bell rang, and the porter answered it.

"Hello!" he said. "Who's there?"

"'This is Mr Hattie Smith Williams,' a male voice replied. 'Is my wife, Mrs Hattie Smith Williams, there?'

"'No; good-bye,' was the prompt and curt reply.

"'But how do you know?' protested Mr Smith Williams. 'You haven't had time to make a search.'

"'No need to make a search, sir,' said the porter. 'Nobody's wife is ever here. Rule of the club.'"—Washington Star.

FALL HARVEST

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—A bulletin issued today by the Census and Statistics Office of the Department of Trade and Commerce reports the condition of crops and live stock at the end of August and gives preliminary estimates of the yield of spring wheat, rye, oats, barley and flaxseed as compiled from the reports of correspondents upon the appearance of these crops.

The cold, wet weather which prevailed throughout Canada during August delayed ripening and the harvest is everywhere later than usual; but no serious frosts have as yet been reported. All crops show an improvement since the end of July, excepting peas, beans and corn. The average condition of spring wheat is 84.57 per cent. of the standard or full crop, which is represented by 100; rye is 84.14, barley 87.29, oats 88.15, mixed grains 86.57 and flax 87.84. These figures are higher than those of a month ago by about 1 per cent for wheat, rye and flax, 4 or 5 per cent for barley, mixed grains and buckwheat, and 7 per cent for oats. On the whole they compare not unfavourably with the figures at the corresponding date of last year, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat and mixed grains being in fact higher, while the spring wheat is about two points lower. Peas are 74 against 76 last month and 72 last year; beans are 76.71 as agains 79.27 last month and 80.92 last year. Corn for husking is 69.66 and 73.19 last month and with 81.46 and 86.55 for last year. Root crops and pasture show an excellent condition, the figures ranging from 86.64 for sugar beets to 92.10 for potatoes and 91.79 for pasture.

From the reports furnished by correspondents it is calculated that of the areas sown in Canada 3 per cent spring wheat, 2 per cent oats, 2.1 per cent barley and 3.8 per cent flax will from various causes, such as hail, flood, pests, etc., be entirely unproductive, and the following preliminary estimates of yield are therefore based upon the areas to be harvested: Of spring wheat the average yield per acre for Canada is provisionally placed at 21.08 bushels which upon a harvested area of 8,977,400 acres makes the total yield of spring wheat to be 189,256,000 bushels. This quantity added to the estimate of 16,773,300 bushels of fall wheat as published last month, gives the wheat total as 206,029,300 bushels compared with the final estimate for 1911 of 215,851,000 bushels. The yield per acre in 1911 was 22.19 bushels for fall and 20.63 for spring wheat.

The rye estimate is 3,136,000 bushels for 148,700 acres, a yield per acre of 21.09 bushels compared with 2,694,400 bushels from 142,571 acres last year, a yield per acre of 18.99 bushels.

Barley, with a yield per acre of 32.86 bushels, gives a total yield of 46,497,000 bushels from the harvested acreage of 1,415,200, the relative yield last year being 28.94 bushels per acre.

Oats yields 40.90 bushels per acre, as compared with 37.76 bushels last year, giving a total yield of 376,943,000 bushels upon a harvested area of 9,216,900 acres, the final figures for 1911 being 348,187,600 bushels from 9,219,920 acres.

Flaxseed upon a greatly increased acreage of 1,677,800 acres (allowing for deduction of non-productive areas) is expected to yield 23,145,000 bushels, or at the rate of 13.74 bushels per acre, figures which compare with a total of 7,867,000 bushels from a productive area of only 682,622 acres last year, when it will be recalled, so large a proportion of the area sown in the Northwest provinces was not harvested in consequence of the late and stormy season. For the three Northwest provinces the total yield of spring and fall wheat is estimated at 189,984,000 bushels as compared with 194,083,000 bushels in 1911; of oats the tstimated yield is 230,387,000 bushels compared with 212,819,000 bushels and of barley 29,189,000 bushels compared with 23,043,000 bushels.

The general condition of live stock is very satisfactory, being expressed in percentages of 100 representing a a healthy and thrifty state, as 94.66 per cent, horses 94.90 per cent, milch cows, 96 per cent, other cattle, 93.72 per cent, sheep and 94.81 per cent swine.

Social and Personal

Miss Helen Landers left Monday morning for her home in Tacoma after a pleasant fortnight's visit with Miss Kate Macdonald, Seventh Avenue, Fairview.

Mrs. G. Herbert Stevens, 231 Fourteenth Avenue West, will receive on Wednesday, October 2, from 3:30 to 6:30.

Rev. A. C. Cameron, of St. Andrew's Church has purchased a home at Oak Streets and Twentieth Avenue. He expects to be joined early in October by Mrs. Cameron and her children, who are at present in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Beveridge, 1036 Alberni Street, celebrated their fifty-fourth marriage anniversary on Monday, September 23. The pleasure of the occasion was much enhanced by the presence of Senator and Mrs. George T. Baird of the old home-town, Andover, N. B.

Mrs. W. T. Ferguson of Seventeenth Avefiue and her daughter, Carmel, who have been away for nearly three months, arrived home on Saturday evening.

An exceptionaly delightful gathering was the Sunday School rally last Sunday held in the Mount Pleasant Methodist Church, when over eight hundred children and parents had assembled, notwithstanding the showers of rain. That large body of scholars sang with gusto bright, militant choruses. They had been trained under the able and soulful leadership of Madame Yulisse, therefore it was not surprising that the singing was an especial feature of the programme. The empirical and national flags streamed across the church and were fittingly united by a banner bearing the symbol of the Christian faith. The pastor used these, together with the Bible and school as object lessons to teach the truths which they symbolize, emphasizing that truth that the Bible is the foundation of all goodness and greatness. This was followed by an excellent ladies' quartette. A unique feature of the session was a slendid address given by a former teacher and popular friend of the school, H. H. Stevens, M. P., of the Dominion Parliament. He spoke on "The Flag," and endeavored to inculcate the great principles for which it stands, such as unity, fraternity, self-sacrifice, liberty, responsibility, justice. The claims of country are great, but those of Christ are greater. The superintendent followed with a word to the parents, and the programme finished with the national anthem and benediction. A collection of sixty-six dollars was received.

Victoria, B. C. Sept. 18.—The four collieries operated at Cumberland, Vancover Island, by the Canadian Collieries, Ltd., are shut down today as the result of a strike declared yesterday, in which 1200 miners are participating. Officials of the company say there has been no demands made upon them yet.

Not a Waiter.

Armed with guns and huge game bags, the two Irishmen sallied forth in search of sport. It was their first venture at shooting, and they were dreadfully keen.

Suddenly Casey spotted a bird, and taking careful aim prepared to fire the fatal shot. Then Pat seized him by the arm frantically.

For mercy's sake don't fire, Casey, he yelled. Sure, an' ye've forgotten to load your gun!

That's as may be, my lad, retorted Casey, but fire I must. Begorrah the bird won't wait.

A pretty wedding took place at 318 Eleventh Avenue East on Wednesday, Sept. 18, when Miss Ida E. McKenna and Mr. Andrew H. Craig were united in marriage by Rev. E. A. Henry. Mrs. E Wright, sister of the bride, acted as matron-of-honor, and Mr. William Keith performed the duties of best man.

Mr. Andrew McNeish, a former resident of Scotland, and Miss Mary Duncan of England were quietly married on Tuesday at the Mount Pleasant Presbyterian Church by Rev. J. W. Woodside in the presence of their friends. The young couple have since taken up their residence in Vancouver.

At the Mount Pleasant Presbyterian Church on Tuesday morning, Rev. John W. Woodside officiated at the marriage of Mr. Reis H. Stronach, formerly of Nova Scotia, and Miss Esther I. Hunt of Fort William, Ont. A number of immediate friends witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stronach will reside in Vancouver.

DEATHS.

MEYER—Anna, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. W. Meyer, died Sept. 24, at 919 Eighth Avenue East, aged years, 2 months, 12 days. Burial took place from Center & Hanna's parlors on the 26th in Mountain View Cemetery.

MORRIS—Leonard, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Morris of 713 Fourteenth Avenue East, died Sept. 22nd, and was buried from Center & Hanna's in Mountain View on the 26th. This is particularly painful in that Mr. and Mrs. Morris lost a daughter only two weeks ago. They have our sympathy.

HARPER—Mrs. J. S. Harper, of 190 Tenth Avenue East, died on the evening of the 25th September, aged 39 years. The remains were embalmed at Center & Hanna's and shipped to Buffalo, N. Y., for interment.

OAKLEY—Mr. Samuel Oakley, a well-known aged resident of Mt. Pleasant, was fatally injured by an electric car on Sunday evening near the corner of Spruce Street and Broadway. He died later at the hospital.

Corporal Mechanics.

The motor-bus snorted slowly along the street, gave three loud groans, and stopped with a jerk right opposite the cab-rank.

The driver got off, hurriedly dived beneath the bonnet, and then throwing himself on the ground, crawled underneath the 'bus.

After a while he came out again, and with a confident smile attempted to restart the engine. But no, the engine wouldn't go.

Then he glared at the silent machine and scratched his head, and his mouth worked as if he communed with himself.

A cabby silently took his whip out of the socket, and, crossing to the infuriated man, held it out to him.

'Ere y'are, mate! he said, with a ghost of a smile. 'It 'im!

A Good Baker

What's the use of a range that will not bake properly? That's what you get it for; and yet there are a lot of stoves on the market that won't bake satisfactorily because the heat does not circulate around the oven so as to keep it at an even temperature. But this cannot happen on

Gurney-Oxford Chancellor Steel Ranges

"Well, how do ye young divils feel after a little time to cool off?"

"Rather confused," replied Brockett, instinctively warming to the big Irishman. "Tell us, won't you, how we happen to be here?"

"Have ye no memory at all?" laughed the policeman.

"Almost none, officer. We can remember thing going 'round in circles and then someone shooing our senses away from us—nothing after that."

"I can believe ye," returned the officer. "I was just walkin' State street, me and Flynn, me partner—I'm Hogan, an' the well-known, well-respected team is Hogan and Flynn, terrors to all evil-doers. Well, me lad, be that as it may, we were walkin' State street, not too far from Taylor, when we heard sounds indicatin' that Satan had bruk loose in a coon restaurant nearby. We went over, an' I'm thinkin' we were just in time. Youse two was on the floor, an' half a dozen big niggers was tramplin' the stuffin' outa youse. Five minutes more an' ye'd have both been fine subjects for the coroner."

"Tell me," ventured Solano, "was there one great big fellow, twice the size of an ordinary man, among the crowd?"

"Now ye remind me of it," said the policeman, "there surely was—big Sam Cruttt, the human elephant. Great big nigger, makes his livin' mostly by distributin' ads for fake doctors and thievin' dentists. He was tryin', as near as we could judge, to keep the crowd off from youse two. Anyhow, he wasn't doin' nothin' to harm either wan of youse, an' when we come in he backed out the rear door, nice an' quiet. Bad nigger is Sam, at times, but he didn't seem specially bad on this occasion."

"Just the same," declared Brockett, "the trouble started because he had stolen something of mine—or, rather, had something of mine that another man had stolen. A money belt, containing considerable cash and—well, anyhow, containing all my money."

"He showed the belt in this restaurant," put in Solano, "and we, accidentally happening to be there at the time, naturally tried to take it away from him. Then, I suppose, they all jumped on us."

"That they did, an' the only thing I'm surprised at," remarked the officer, "is that they didn't use their razors on ye. Bad lot of coons hang 'round that place, I'm tellin' ye."

"We fully believe it," said Solano, with a grimace of pain. "But say, officer, how long have we been in here, and how long have we to stay?"

"Ye have been in only a matter of three hours, lads," replied the policeman, "though I suppose it has seemed a week of Sundays. As to how long ye stay—well, ye haven't been booked yet. I'm not a bad judge of people when I see them, an' ye look all right to me. In fact, I haven't a doubt of the truth of your story—ye can explain the details further to me later. I'll take ye out of this, take ye upstairs where ye can wash up, an' then we'll have a little talk about ways an' means of recoverin' your property. Come along now—it's glad ye ought to be that youse are both livin'."

Washed and brushed up the boys felt a little more like live human beings. Officer Hogan treated them like younger brothers, assured them that no charge had been entered against them, and that they might consider themselves as simply held for safekeeping. "Better stay right here till evenin'," said the hospitable officer, "an' then we will sally out an' try to get hold of the big nigger. I have a half-idea as to where we can locate him. He's up against the dope—smokes hop regular—an' it won't be hard to find him. Along after supper, lads, we'll go out an' do the best we can."

Neither Brockett nor Solano could find words to fit the case, but the twinkle in the big policeman's eye told that he fully understood their feelings. He shook hands with them reassuringly, brought them a bundle of newspapers to while away the time, and then busied himself with the routine of his report upon the day's events. The boys were buried in the printed columns, when a little packet of paper seemed to waft itself through the window by which they were sitting. The packet fell at Brockett's feet. As he caught it up Solano sprang for the window, peered eagerly out—and saw no one excepting two blue-clad policemen strolling by.

Brockett opened the packet and found several thicknesses of blank paper, bound together to give weight and accuracy to the throwing of the missile. In the center of the package was a slip of cardboard, and written across this in the hieroglyphs Brockett had himself invented, were these letterings:

"Keep original appointment. Delay no longer," translated Brockett. "Tonight's fortunes then will decide whether we can keep faith as promised or have to give it all up and admit ourselves utter failures!"

CHAPTER XIX.

The day passed somewhat draggingly, for time flies with leaden pin-feathers when you are in a hurry. Brockett and Solano knew that they had little time left for action, and that if they failed to recover the messages now in possession of the big negro their journey would abruptly end, an utter failure. Most of the afternoon and early evening was spent in discussing the giant black, and the chances of finding the documents still in his possession.

"I only hope," said Brockett, "that he hasn't thrown away the envelopes. He might very likely destroy them to make the chance of identifying the belt so much smaller, and to protect him in the possession of the money."

"I hardly think so," Solano encouraged the worried youngster. "When we get the negro, we'll get belt, papers, money and all. And I think Officer Hogan will come pretty near to rounding him up, if anybody can."

"I wonder if the big fellow remembered us from Detroit?" mused Brockett. "If so, he might also remember the card he passed us, something of its general appearance, and, if he opened the envelopes in the belt, the duplication of the writing might impress him."

"Hardly probable," dissented Solano. "He was simply told, in Detroit, to hand that card to us, and was paid something to do it. He might remember us, all right, but would not be likely to remember anything about the message that he gave us. Quit fretting about the whole business. I firmly believe everything will work out all right, and that the lost envelopes will come back to you before morning. Then we can hurry towards Mexico as fast as you may desire."

It was about nine that night when Officers Hogan and Flynn—the latter as big, as husky and as truly Irish as his partner—summoned the boys for the expedition that should spell absolute failure or a chance to retrieve lost fortunes. Both were in plain clothes, both were heavily armed, and both seemed to regard the evening's program as a rare bit of diversion.

"Don't you worry, me lad," chuckled Hogan, "we'll get your nagur before the stroke of twelve, an' we'll get the goods with him. He's no spendthrift nagur, that felly, an' he'll have pretty near all your money still with him."

"I'd be willing," said Brockett, "to let him keep the money if he'd give me back what else was in the belt."

"Let him kape nothin'," growled Flynn. "Wud ye encourage a chape nagur to unlawful doin's? Ye'd spoil him be lettin' him have money. We'll get him, an' the money too."

Walking and chatting pleasantly, the policemen led their companions over a side street, and into an alley that was blacker than a pail of tar. No moon was shining, and the quartet stumbled along, occasional smothered remarks of a thoroughly profane nature marking places where the stalwart "coppers" stubbed a toe or barked a shin. After penetrating the alley for perhaps 200 feet, the policemen ordered a halt, under the lee of a high board fence—the boundary of a miry, evil-looking yard.

"Now, me sons," said Hogan, "right here is where we have to show a bit of generalship, ye understand. Go youse two through this yard to a small back door ye'll find at the far end. Knock three times an' whistle. Some wan will look at ye through a peephole. Seein' that ye are only kids, an' harmless-lookin', they will let ye in. If ye find the big nagur there, it is up to youse to open the door, sudden, an' let us in. If they hinder ye from openin' the door, yell—we'll hear ye. If the nagur is not there, make some excuse—a friend ye wanted is not there, or ye have no money to buy a card av hop—an' come out again. Then we'll hang around an' wait for the black gazabo. Can ye make good? Ye can? Then go to it."

The boys walked through a yard filled with mud, bricks and wreckage of every imaginable kind. At the far end of the yard they brought up against a brick wall. They fumbled along this wall, soon finding the little doorway, and tapped thrice upon the panels. Somewhere in the woodwork of the door a spark of light gleamed, and they were uncomfortably aware that they were under scrutiny. They whistled softly and tapped the door again. It opened and a Chinaman confronted them.

"You want smoke?"

"Of course we do," Solano answered.

The yellow man looked them over, and then beckoned them inside the portals, shutting and bolting the door behind them. Cat-footed, noiseless, he conducted them up a hallway damp with mould, noisome with dirt and the smell of many nights of opium "cooking," and guided them into a room of considerable size. A mattress, gray with dirt, lay on the floor and on this mattress three men—two negroes and one white man—were stupidly reclining, while a peanut oil lamp burned on a bit of matting nearby, and a bamboo pipe was being passed from hand to hand. The sweet, penetrating, sickish smell of opium thickened the air; roaches ran, fearless and inquisitive, along the floor, and the wooers of the poppy-god, silent, lost in happiness, drowsed, smoked and drowsed again, contented in their horrible surroundings as monarchs in a palace hall.

CEDAR COTTAGE

Policeman Thomas of Cedar Cottage is enjoying a well-earned rest.

J. G. McArthur and George Stevens have returned from a trip to Kamloops where they have been attending the school trustees' convention.

Another car collision occurred this week on Westminster Road.

The extension of the carline on Victoria Road will be begun soon. Fifty-sixth avenue will be the new terminus.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Magee were made happy by the arrival of a beautiful 12-pound daughter on Sept. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Read of Commercial street have a fine new boy baby.

Store Changes Hands.

Mr. W. E. Evans has moved to South Vancouver and has bought out the grocery business of Mr. Seth Whitton, corner of Victoria and Wilson Roads, formerly owned by Mr. F. Jones.

Thanksgiving Services.

Saint Thomas Episcopal church will hold its first Thanksgiving services on Sunday next at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Archdeacon Pentheith will preach at the evening service. A good attendance is expected. All are cordially invited. Though but nine months have elapsed since the opening of the church, it has made excellent progress, being practically free of debt. At the Thanksgiving services it is desired that funds may be provided with which to put the finishing touches on the interior of church.

A New Block.

A new block is in the finishing stage at corner of 18th avenue and Commercial drive. It will contain six suites for living purposes and four stores on the ground floor. It makes an imposing addition to the many excellent buildings in the locality.

Mr. C. F. Broadhurst has returned from a trip to Hardy Bay. He is very enthusiastic over the future of this much-hearlded port. He is confident that it has an important future.

A Notable Invention.

It was our privilege not long since to examine the remarkable invention for the cleaning of chimneys brought into existence by the genius of C. F. Broadhurst, so well-known throughout Vancouver. We will not undertake to give a detailed description of the device. It would require a more careful study of its construction. However we might explain that what the poor black chimney sweep has been obliged to do with much hard labor and more dirt, the invention of Mr. Broadhurst accomplishes by one vigorous air-blast. The attendant shock and blast are sufficient to loosen and blow clean out of the funnel and chimney all soot no matter how much or little.

He is having it patented in all the leading countries of the world and will doubtless reap a rich financial harvest as the result of his genius and labor.

DENTAL PARLORS.

Edwin E. Kinney has hung out his shingle as dentist at 3538 Commercial Street, Cedar Cottage. He is a native of New Brunswick, but practiced dentistry in Lowell, Massachusetts for fourteen years and comes to this city thoroughly prepared to satisfy all who may wish work in his particular line. He passed the British Columbia Dental Board last June and now opens parlors as the first dentist who has set up business in Cedar Cottage. He is an admirer of the Western Call and a supporter of good government and social reform.

ARRANGE CHEAP TRIP TO HIGHWAY CONVENTION

C. P. R. Makes Special Inducement to Good Roads Men to Attend Annual Meeting One-way Fare.

New Westminster, B. C., Sept. 26.—Special rates have just been arranged with the C. P. R. for all delegates and members attending the convention of the Canadian Highway Association in Winnipeg, from October 9 to 12. All delegates are required to purchase a full-fare single ticket to Winnipeg and get a receipt for this from the agent, the receipt to be exchanged later for return transportation, after having been properly certified by the secretary of the association.

The one-way ticket for the round trip is good only in case there is an attendance of 100 or over at the convention. If there is less than 100, one-third of the regular return fare will be charged. The attendance will probably be greatly in excess of the required number, and arrangements have been made for a hall that will easily hold four hundred people.

Linen Shower.

A gathering arranged by Mrs. J. S. Lochead at her home on Westminster Road on Tuesday evening took the form of a linen shower in compliment to Mrs. John W. Woodside, nee Currie, who was made the recipient of a collection of dainty and useful linens by a number of her friends. The parcelled gifts were so arranged that the guest of honor by pulling a green cord, brought them all about her, and much merriment ensued as the bride found herself thus appropriately showered. A buffet supper and an enjoyable evening followed, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun, Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Woodside, Mrs. B. Watson, Mrs. Franklin, Mrs. Wides, Mrs. Slater, Miss Lena Mills, Miss Effie Fumerton, Miss Anne Lochead, Miss Janie Stewart, Miss Ina Stewart, Miss Gladys Wallace, Miss E Mitchell, Miss Penman, Miss Emma Penman, Miss Johnson, Miss Ada Johnson, Miss McKee, Miss Edith McKee, Miss Currie, Miss Belle Currie, Miss Flo Currie, Miss Jennie Currie and Miss Matheson.

Will Drive Auto Round the World.

London,—Jules Verne's imaginary trip, "Around the World in Eighty Days," will be rivaled in peril and excitement, if not in speed, by Peter H. Hawker, who has just started to drive his motor car around the world via Pekin and Japan, a feat never before attempted.

Mr. Hawker's car is the 130-horse-power Fiat driven by Lancier in the 1908 Grand Prix race, and it has been fitted with three tanks, able to hold 100 gallons of petrol. Altogether it weighs exactly two tons.

Mongolian Frontier Ablaze With War and Pillage.

London, Sept. 18.—The whole of the Mongolian frontier from Knigan to the Sungari and Nonni rivers is in a state of open warfare and six hundred miles of rich Chinese corn lands stretching from Shantaikwan to Harbin lie open and unprotected along the Mongolian frontier says a Mukden despatch to the Telegraph.

Japanese in Suicide Pact.

Grand Junction, Colo., Sept. 18. — Police who raided a meeting of fifty Japanese here found many of them lying on the floor, striking their heads on chairs and tables and wailing mournfully. Leaders of the party admitted that it had been planned to draw lots to determine who should committ suicide as an expression of grief for the death of the Mikado Mutsuhito.

Gunmen Ask Immediate Trial.

New York, Sept. 18.—Demand for an immediate trial was made by "Lefty Louie" Rosenzeweig and "Gyp the Blood," Harry Horrowitz before Justice Goff here today in pleading not guilty to alleged complicity in the murder of Gambler Herman Rosenthal. Both were remanded to the Tombs.

"Lefty Louie" and Gyp the Blood" were arrested in a Brooklyn flat, where they were living with their wives, having evaded the police for several weeks.

MacLeod-Calgary Line Being Rushed.

MacLeod, Alta.—According to Secretayr C. Cummings of the Northern Construction line of the Canadian Northern, grading is now being rushed, and no effort will be spared in the attempt to complete the line of steel into Calgary this season. With the opening of the new branch line in addition to MacLeod's present advantageous shipping facilities and its proximity to the coal fields, a decided impetus to the manufacturing and industrial interests of the city is anticipated. Meanwhile many more homes, schools and business blocks are needed in MacLeod, and contractors and real estate men find themselves quite unable to keep pace with the demand.

Diaz Sentiment in Mexico.

Washington, Sept. 18.—That a bursting shell killed a Japanese during the battle preceding the captrue of El Tigre, an American mining camp, by Mexican rebels was reported to the state department here today. Government officials fear Japan may try to hold America responsible for his death.

Despatches received here from Mexico points indicate that President Madero is rapidly losing his popularity, an that sentiment for Borfiro Diaz, the former dictator, is increasing rapidly. It is a daily occurrence for crowds to gather around the government buildings in Mexico City shouting "Vive Diaz" and "Down with Madero."

King Sees Mimic Warfare.

London, Sept. 18.—King George watched the sham battles in East Anglia between the blue and red armies, congratulating the territorials on their splendid work.

Commander Sampson was captured by the red army, his biplane having developed a defect. It having been proved that hydro-aeroplanes can make deadly attacks on warships, the admiralty today decided to add largely to its fleet of hydro-aeroplanes at East Church.

It is reported that bombs were dropped down the funnels of the warships from a height of 1000 feet with absolutely accuracy. The new oil-driven batt'eships now being designed, it is said will have armorclad decks and armored funnel shields to protect them from the bomb dropping aeroplanes.

Sun Tubes Instead of Chimneys.

New York, Sept. 18.—The possibility of using the rays of the sun as a substitute for the failing coal supply, was the subject of an address by Professor Giacomo Cinmician of Bologna, Italy, at the concluding session of one of the sections of the International Chemicals Congress here. The speaker said that since the earth's supply of coal is limited, it is not too soon to consider the possibility of getting power from other sources. He outlined a plan of putting the sun's rays to work by a chemical process after the manner of plants. In conclusion he said:

"If we should become able to utilize the energy of the sun in the way I have described the tropical countries would become conquered by civiliization, which would in this manner return to its birthplace. On the arid lands there will spring up industrial colonies without smoke and without smokestacks; forests of glass tubes will arise everywhere; inside these will take place the photochemical processes that have hitherto been the guarded secret of the plants but that will have been mastered by human indutry, which will know how to make thme bear even more abundant fruits than nature, for nature is not in a hurry and mankind is."

GOOD TEMPLAR GRAND LODGE SESSION.

The twenty-seventh annual session of the Grand Lodge of B. C., International Order of Good Templars, was held at Nanaimo on Thursday and Friday, 26th and 27th inst. Proceedings were opened by Grand Chief Templar Bro. C. M. Tate, of Victoria, after which recess was declared while Mayor Shaw gave an address.

Reports from various officers showed that increases had been made in all departments, but particularly the Juvenile Section. A noteworthy feature of the reports was that Onward Lodge, No. 2, of Nanaimo, had made a 400 per cent increase in membership during the twelve months and that Nanaimo, as well has the largest Juvenile Temple in the province.

Three hours' recess was declared during Friday morning's session to enable delegates to take part in the reception to their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. On resuming the following officers were duly elected and installed by D. I. C. T. Bro. Chas. Wellesley-Whittaker:

G. C. T., Bro. J. P. Hicks, Esquimalt.
G. V. T., Sis. M. Drake, Nanaimo.
G. Coun., Bro. R. Balmer, Vancouver.
G. S. J. W., Bro W Waugh, Nanaimo.
G. E. S., Bro. C, F, Timms, South Vancouver.
G. Secy, Bro. Andrew Pender, Nanaimo.
G. Chap., Sis. W. H. McPhie, Cedar Cottage.
G. Treas., Bro. S. Gough, Nanaimo.
G. M., Bro. Albert Jones, Ladysmith.
P. G. C. T., Bro. C. M. Tate. Victoria
G. A. S., Bro. J. Black, Nanaimo
G. D. M., Sis. B. Robinson, Vancouver.
G. Guard, Bro. F. C. Hogg, Merritt.
G. Sent., Bro. W. H. Booth, Esquimalt.
G. Mess., Sis. F. M. Wickens, Vancouver.

Victoria was agreed upon as the place of the next annual session, which will be held during September, 1913.

After the close of the session a special meeting of the International Supreme Lodge was convened when a number of members were exalted to the highest degree in the order.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet with the following program:

Toast, "Our King," responded to by singing the national anthem.

"Toast, "Our International Supreme Lodge," proposed by Bro. C. F. Timms, and responded to by Bro. Chas. Wellesley-Whittaker, followed by instrumental duet.

Toast, "Our Grand Lodge," proposed by Bro. J. R. Matthew, and responded to by Bro. C. M. Tate, after which musical numbers were rendered.

Toast, "Our Subordinate Lodge," proposed by Bro. J. Burpee, and responded to by Bro. Chas. Wilson, Jr., followed by solo and recitation.

Toast, "Our Juveniles," proposed by Bro. W. Waugh, and responded to by Bro. W. H. Booth.

Toast, "The Ladies," proposed by Bro. B. Balmer, and responded by by Bros. M. Storey and A. Pender.

A short speech was given by Bro. J. P. Hicks, Grand Chief Templar, after which banquet was closed by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

IMPORTANT NEWS.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

Six Months for "Bad Man" from East.

Murdock Matheson, found guilty last week of brutally assaulting Police Constable William A. Marriott, was this morning in police court sentenced to six months at hard labor in jail. Sed Hagner, arrested for obstructing Police Constable Thomas H. Olliver, following the capture of Matheson, was sentenced to serve three months at hard labor in jail.

"I believe," said Magistrate Shaw, turning to Matheson, "that at the time you assaulted Officer Marriott you had the opinion that you were a bad man just out from the east and that you could do as you pleased in this western country. Undoubtedly, too, the liquor you had taken had made you somewhat bold and you thought that you would show your friends what a strong man you were.

"I have no desire to brand you as a criminal by giving you a term in the penitentiary. All I want to do is to show you and your type that you must have respect for the law. This assault was most brutal and uncalled for, and I must impress upon your mind that police officers have a very hard time to perform their duty when they encounter such men as you and that I must assist them as far as possible."

If Guilty, All Will go to Jail.

Carrying out the order issued recently by the police commissioners to "clean up" Vancouver, Detectives Levis, Tisdale, and Hart made a "crusade Saturday night and early Sunday morning with the result that they arrested ten persons, alleged inmates and keepers of three disorderly house.

Mr. Frank Lyons of the law firm of Russell, Russell & Hancox, who is defending the accused parties, attempted to secure cash bail for all of the accused, stating that should they be found guilty of the offense charged only a fine or short jail sentence could be imposed according to law.

"Have no fear, Mr. Lyons," said Magistrate South, "if I find these parties guilty none of them will be let off with a fine. I shall sentence them all to terms in jail. I propose to put a stop to these women and men operating disorderly souses in this city as fast as they are brought in.

"It has been proved that a fine is of no value. We don't propose to have these women or men, as the case may be, sneer at us when they are fined, and open up a new house in some other section of the city. Jail sentences are the only punishments that have any effect on them. If a small bail is fixed the accused will simply not appear and forfeit it.'

Protest Again Free Tolls.

Forwarded from London, the local board of trade has received a coyp of the resolution passed by the Canadian chamber of commerce in England, protesting the action of the United States in the matter of allowing free passage to American coastwise vessels through the canal, and calling upon the provincial governments of Canada to strongly represent the need for a fulfillment of the Hay-Pauncefote

The Professor Blundered.

The students of an Eastern college grew so reckless in their behavior that the professor thought to improve their conduct by a lecture no morality. In the course of his l ecture he said: "My young friends, the floors of hell are paved with champagne and automobiles and chorus girls."

He was horrified to hear one of the students say in a sepulchral tone:

"Oh, Death, where is thy sting?"

"Have you purchased your new car yet, Mrs Noorich?" asked the visitor.

"No, Mr Smithers, I ain't. I can't make up my mind whether to get a gasline car or a limousine car. Maybe you can tell me—does limousine smell as bad as gasoline?" inquired the lady.

A CONSISTENTLY GOOD MOVING PICTURE SHOW

I have taken the rounds of the moving picture theatres that I might have a clear knowledge of their true standing. They vary in their moral tone, as any visitor must readily perceive. Of one I wish to make mention:

The Majestic, on Hastings Street, is undoubtedly one of the cleanest and most reliable in the city of Vancouver.

The last exhibit I witnessed was the "Outcast Child." This is a good illustration of what happens almost daily in one part of the world or another. A widow marries. She has a daughter, about twelve or thirteen years of age. The stepfather dislikes the child, and makes its life a burden. He drives it from home. It goes where it may, and has a time of great hardship. Poor, but kind, gipsies and others give it help from time to time.

It is at the point of death when it comes into the keeping of a rich family. The rich man finds out that the little waif is the daughter of his own friend. He at once sends word, and the mother, with a broken heart, comes to care for her daughter. It is one of life's common everyday tragedies.—E. Odlum.

English Widows For Canada.

"I propose to float the widow scheme."—Bramwell Booth.

The above cablegram, received this morning by Col. David C. Lamb, head of the Salvation Army, from General Bramwell Booth, commander of the Army, is the first official confirmation that the plan of the Army to colonize Canada with widows who are in destitute circumstances in England, is to be undertaken at once.

The plan, which will be the means of bringing thousands of settlers to the farms and cities of Western Canada, was first suggested by Col. Lamb to General William Booth some two ago. There are 117,000 widows with 200,000 children in England who are receiving outdoor poor relief, and Col. Lamb estimates that there are an equal number in destitute circumstances who are not receiving any relief. It is the plan of the Salvation Army to bring the widows to Canada, get them located in some desirable situation, and to take care of their children in England until the mothers are able to do this themselves.

"WHEAT TO THE WEST"
Is the Slogan of the Prairies

And just as soon as the wheat does come west you'll see Port Moody shoot up with mushroom-like rapidity. Probably you do not realize that within twelve months the Panama Canal will be open. You cannot possibly imagine what it means to Port Moody. But can you no realize why four of the largest transconteninental lines in the world are centering their activities at this point? The solution is easy. It's Burrard Inlet theyare after, because it affords them the finest location for a competitive port forthe Oriental trade.

Burrard Inlet is on of the finest harbors in the world. Millions are now being spent by the government and the city in making it the finest harbor in the world. From the Second Narrows to the head of the Inlet, including the whole of the North Arm, will probably soon be a fresh water harbor. Four million dollars will probably be spent on erecting a mammoth dam across the Inlet.

All this preparation is being made for a purpose. The purpose is to prepare for the opening of the Canal and to make ready for the increased trade that will soon be coming to the Coast from the prairies.

When the Panama Canal opens there will be no more cry from the farmers of a grain blockade. Instead of shipping the wheat to the Great Lakes and then across the continent, it will come to the coast via

PORT MOODY

Three more transcontinental lines are planning to come through Port Moody, and the C. P. R. is double tracking its lines from Vancouver to Calgary. The grain elevators are expected to be erected at Port Moody in the very near future, and then Port Moody will be one of the big ports of the Pacific. It is only a question of time before the great transformation takes place. Port Moody really has almost doubled in value since we first put our lots on the market. There has been a phenomenal rush for our property because the advantages of an investment here were apparent to those who had visited Port Moody and seen for themselves its marvellous possibilities.

Port Moody's natural resources are enough to make it a prosperous city. It has been developing its own industries, and now its reputation as a lumber centre is known all over Canada. The government is spending big sums on harbor improvements, and the new Dominion government wharf which is now being built will be completed by the new year, when Port Moody will be incorporated.

Amongst the many improvements that will be made to Port Moody's harbor are the reclamation of the tide flats at the head of the Inlet. This will considerably add to the city's territory. The C. P. R. propose to remove their present depot to the head of the Inlet in order to make it a better distributing point for the grain that will soon be shipped there.

A lot in Port Moody is the safest and surest investment on the market today. No other city has shown such gigantic strides in development in so short a time. Port Moody has only just begun to grow, and in the near future it will be a beehive of industry, with the ships of the world anchoring in its magnificent harbor.

If you wish for further information respecting Port Moody, drop into our office and we will give you more particulars of its wonderful growth and possibilities.
