Rapid Development Puts Tiger Into The Limelight

The Tiger property, which is being developed by the Utility Mining & Financing Co., is attracting a great deal of attention in the district. The reasons the Tiger has stepped into the limelight during past two or three months are many, chief of which, however, is the comparative ease with which the ore bodies have been encountered underground, their richness, and added to these the fact that operations are in charge of capable men and that the company mean business and have the money available to place the Tiger on the ore shipping list within a short time.

Outside construction work and also underground operations are being pushed with all possible rapidity. Excavation is now in progress for the new camp, next week lumber will be moving over the railway and construction work will be commenced.

The new camp will comprise a bunkhouse and dining room, giving accommodation for 20 men, a blacksmith shop, assay office, and general office. It will be built on the main trail from the Toric to the Wolf, and it is expected that the main working tunnel will be on about the same level as the camp.

Orders for lumber for all construction purposes have been let locally to Al. Falconer, and cutting is now well advanced.

The new tunnel, which was commenced a short time ago, after ore had been encountered in the 240 foot level tunnel, has been driven a distance of over 80 feet. This tunnel will encounter the ore at a depth of 400 feet. When this has been done a main tunnel will be driven, and while this work is in progress the blocking out of the ore on the three upper levels will be undertaken.

This work will consist of drifting on the ore bodies and driving raises from one level to the other.

That a big tonnage of ore will undoubtedly be developed is shown by the fact that the ore was encountered in the 240 ft. level tunnel at a point 300 feet south of where the 140 foot tunnel hit it.

In regard to the installation of the compressor plant, definite word has been received from Vancouver that the plant will be shipped from there on October 5th. and will be installed immediately upon its arrival here.

It is the opinion of everyone visiting the mine that the Tiger is rapidly developing into a big tonnage producer, and that the aggressive manner in which the Utility Co. are conducting operations will shortly produce startling results.

From all available sources of information it is learned that the Utility Mining & Financing Co. are in a strong financial position, and include on their directorate a number of very influential men, who are as follows: F. L. McDonald, president; Wm. M. Brewer, vice-president; E. H. Martin, company director. Directors of the company are, W. J. Renix, C. O. Wickenden, G. A. de Haseth, W. J. L. King, secretary.

Esperanza Co. Decides to Enlarge Their Operations

An expansion of mining operations at the Esperanza Mine will be instituted at once, and the mine operated on a larger scale this coming winter than at any other time in its history.

This decision was arrived at on Wednesday evening at a meeting of the directors held at the mine. Those present were: Thomas McMeekin, president, N. Fraser, D. B. MacDougall, E. H. Mortimer.

A considerable amount of business was disposed of and among other things decided upon was the purchase of a 42 h.p. Deisel engine which will be used for developing power for a new compressor plant. The engine and compressor plant have already been ordered. The compressor will operate two drills and will be put into operation this fall.

This decision was arrived at after the visiting directors had made a thorough examination of the mine, and they were very much impressed with the amount of ore developed in the different drifts.

The new tunnel, which was commenced recently at a lower elevation than any of the present workings, has been driven a distance of 70 ft., and it is expected to encounter the ore at any time. This tunnel gives a much greater depth on the ore.

If this tunnel is successful, the company will be satisfied that sufficient quantities of ore exist to warrant the driving of a new tunnel at a much lower elevation. This tunnel will be driven at a lower elevation of about 400 ft.

There is a persistent demand for Esperanza stock, especially throughout the southern interior, and an active stock selling campaign will be instituted during the coming winter.

An aerial tramway and a concentrating mill, will possibly be installed at some future time, but no arrangements have been made yet.

The Esperanza is the most persistent shipper in the north, except for the Hidden Creek and Premier mines, and ore shipments will be considerably enlarged now that machinery is being installed.

The Anyox branch of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire are a live organization. When this branch was formed about two years ago many people were skeptical as to its success, and questioned the wisdom of forming an additional organization when it was felt that too many already existed. The ladies of the I. O. D. E. however, have shown that there was ample room in Anyox for such an organization, and since it has been functioning it has resulted in doing a lot of good work, without working a hardship on anyone. For September 28th. and 29th. they have purchased the picture shows at the Mine and Beach. The money taken at the doors will be used to brighten the lives of little crippled children of the province, who are inmates of various institutions. Fifty cents is the price of admission, and what is 50 cents where a crippled child is concerned.

During recent months publicity regarding an outlet on the coast for the Peace River country has not been very active. The issue however, is not dead, for occasionally a newspaper or magazine publishes an article showing that the big railway companies are still interested, and that unquestionably the road will be built, and that it will not be many years before the Peace River grain is pouring to the coast. Where the outlet will be has not yet even been hinted at. A great many believe that the terminus will be at Stewart, which is not altogether unlikely.

Following is a portion of an editorial recently published in the Calgary Herald, regarding a coast outlet for the Peace River.
 "The significance of a four-days' tour through the Peace River country by President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and ten directors of the company should not be lost on the Alberta Government. They are all extremely busy men, with huge financial interests to occupy their attention. It may be assumed that this group of outstanding business men in the Dominion are not devoting four days to a mere holiday jaunt through the northern section of this province. Their trip has a serious purpose in view and it requires no prophet to forecast it concerns the future relationship of the premier transcontinental railway system with the Peace River area. . . . With the growth of traffic and trade in the Peace River country a western outlet appears inevitable. The current season's grain crop is estimated at 30,000,000 bushels. This production will appear small in comparison with the yield in the near future and other traffic will expand in proportion. A direct haul to the Pacific has been discussed for several years. It may be that the C. P. R. directors, in their visit to the North will consider this angle of Peace River transportation to the exclusion of any alternative plan.

If and when such a direct outlet is provided for the northern settlers the value of the Provincial Government's northern lines will be greatly impaired. It is a situation which should cause some anxious thought in inner administration circles in Edmonton these sunny days."

Consolidated Co. Will Enlarge Kimberley Mill

Latest development in the continuing expansion of the plant and operations of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada is a 50 per cent. enlargement of the Kimberly concentrator which last year was brought up from a capacity of 3000 tons a day to 4000 tons. This is now to be enlarged to 6000 tons daily. This new capacity for which authorization has just been made, is expected to be available before the end of 1929.

The Kimberley concentrator treats the ore of the Sullivan mine whose production, of course, will be stepped up correspondingly when the new milling capacity is available.

Don Cameron, Former Resident, Makes Bold Trip

Don Cameron, who was a prospector and miner of Alice Arm, Anyox, and Stewart, and later, after selling the Wolf mine to the Dolly Varden Mining Company for $50,000, was a mine operator, is at present in the Hudson Bay country, up in the barren lands. A vivid report of his exploits and hardships was recently published in the Northern Miner of Cobalt, and those who knew Don in this district a few years ago will be pleased to learn that his six feet two inches of brawn and muscle are as tough as ever.

From a lengthy report published in the Northern Miner it appears that Cameron headed a party of men for the Nipissing Mining Co. to explore a portion of the barren lands adjacent to the Hudson Bay. Other parties were also in the field but Cameron beat them all by about four weeks.

Following is a portion of the Northern Miner's report of the hazardous trip:

"While Wilson and his men were toiling on their long journey across the Northern Hinterland, the crew under Don Cameron were fighting their way from the Hudson Bay Railway's present end of steel. They struggled against ice in the Nelson River, trying to get to Port Nelson and tidewater, where they could either get a gas boat or use their extra large canoes and outboard motors. In early June they found the lower reaches of the Nelson choked with ice. They were also informed that two other canoe loads were awaiting for the ice to go out. They turned back and headed across country northward for the Churchill river, which usually goes out ahead of the Nelson. Where they could find open water to use their canoes they launched them. Where there was no water they dragged them on the ground. Here start the Barren Lands. For nearly two hundred miles they worked their way, at last reaching Fort Churchill where the ice was just leaving. They hired a gasboat which had intended going south to Port Nelson, and it conveyed them and their equipment to Cape Eskimo, 200 miles up the coast, where there is a Hudson Bay Post. They received a hearty reception, for the few inhabitants had been out of touch with the world for seven or eight months. 'They treated us wonderfully well,' wrote Cameron, but they kept us up all night talking."

"From Cape Eskimo they travelled the remaining hundred odd miles to Ranken Inlet, by their power canoes, passing the low, forbidding shores, where land can only be reached at high tide, without reported incident. They arrived about July 5th., a good month ahead of the Lindsay boat expedition, and six weeks ahead of the N. A. M. E. party."

There is as much difference between an Eldoro cigar and the other kind, as there is between a silk shirt and a gunny sack.
