Fred Stork and Bert Kergin Address Electors

The electors of Anyox and Alice Arm were deluged with a flood of political oratory during the week. Both liberals and conservatives held meetings in both towns, in an endeavor to enlighten their audiences as to justice of their assertions, past history, and promises of future good government.

Direct hits; side swipes and anything to belittle the opposite party were indulged in. Statements made at one meeting were flatly contradicted the next evening. Those who have attended the meetings have heard both sides of the argument, and Tuesday next will decide whose words carried most weight.

We are reporting the meetings held at Alice Arm, and they are, we believe, much along the same lines as those held in Anyox. Our space not permitting every meeting to be published in detail.

Fred Stork, liberal candidate, and twice elected to represent the Skeena riding, made his first address in this district during the present campaign, at the Alice Arm Coliseum on Monday evening. H. F. Kergin also spoke, and Harry Fowler was chairman of the meeting.

In opening the meeting, the chairman said that the conservatives were always ready to condemn every move made by the liberals in the Skeena riding. They had endeavored to block everything advocated for the benefit of Prince Rupert, including the elevator. Everyone must admit that under Mackenzie King the improvement made in the earnings of the C. N. Railway were remarkable and that the financial state of the country had also improved for the better.

H. F. Kergin M. L. A. gave an illuminating and instructive address. He delved repeatedly into history in order to convince his hearers that the liberal party always were and always will be, the champions of the masses. He reviewed the history of the middle ages in Great Britain and said that the great reforms in that country were led by the forerunners of the present liberal party. The conservatives, he asserted, were afraid to give the vote to the people as it may have constituted their downfall.

Mr. Kergin said that from 1896 to 1911 under Sir Wilfred Laurier, Canada witnessed an unprecedented era of prosperity. When the conservatives went out of power in 1921 the country was on a toboggan, and the Mackenzie government had again restored its prestige.

He said the late government had reduced taxation and the operating costs of government had been reduced $100,000,000. The liberals had passed the Old Age Pension Act, and a conservative senate saw fit to kill it.

Tariff Question Given Prominence Conservative Meeting

The conservatives held several meetings during the early part of the week in Anyox and Alice Arm. On Tuesday evening they held a meeting at the Alice Arm Coliseum. The speakers were Col. Cy. Peck, who in former years represented this constituency, and T. S. Baxter, ex-mayor of Vancouver, the meeting was conducted by J. A. Anderson.

Col. Peck was the first speaker and he referred to his pleasure at meeting so many old friends again. He produced a copy of the Prince Rupert Daily News, and said that he had not seen a copy for the past five years, but noticed that it carried the same old headlines, the same old editorials and the same old type worn down by printing misrepresentations. He also produced a liberal leaflet and said it is a lie and a slander that the conservatives have no use for the foreign born population, and said its the same old lies, and such tactics were to be deplored.

The liberals, he said, say that the custom's scandal is not a vital question, but I believe it is. The liberals have said that they knew something was wrong. Certainly they knew, for Mr. Sparks, head of the detectives employed by the Merchants' Protective Association had repeatedly brought it to the attention of Mackenzie King, and Sparks informed Meighen that all information had previously been given to the government. The Merchants' Protective Association were the people that did the investigating. Isn't it a shame, he said, that this money has been squandered on smugglers and bootleggers instead of being spent on our maimed and distressed soldiers and their dependents.

Rupert Oddfellows visit Anyox Brothers

On Sunday September 5th. Askew Lodge No. 38 received a very pleasant and instructive visit from the Grand Master Roy Perry who was accompanied from Prince Rupert by a number of the brethren of Prince Rupert Lodge No. 63 and the District Deputies of Prince Rupert Lodge and Askew Lodge, Brothers Ferguson and Dresser. After a meeting of the Lodge a very enjoyable banquet was held interspersed with speeches and songs until midnight, when the visiting brethren left again for Prince Rupert. It is hoped they will not be long in repeating their visit.

In reviewing Mr. Brady's fitness as a representative for this constituency, he said that the statements made by this gentleman during his recent speech at Anyox made him ashamed as a Canadian. Mr. Brady termed Mackenzie King a liar.

B. C. Press Comments on Alice Arm Booklet

The publicity booklet, published by the Alice Arm branch of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, has been the subject of much favorable comment by those who have received copies at outside points.

The British Columbia Financial Times in commenting on the booklet says:

"We are in receipt of a very attractive pamphlet gotten out by the Alice Arm branch of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, covering the subject of metalliferous mining in the Alice Arm district, the product of the Alice Arm Herald press, for which it deserves considerable credit. The pamphlet is descriptive of the country in general, and reviews the mineral occurrence and mining developments of the district. The pamphlet is very informative and should contribute toward calling the attention of investors and operators to the large possibilities of the Alice Arm district."

The Vancouver Western Tribune were also greatly impressed, and voiced their opinion as follows:

"Alice Arm mining interests, represented by the Alice Arm Branch of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, have published one of the most attractive booklets in the province showing the mineral wealth of this wonderfully wealthy district. Beginning with a short description of the location and history of Alice Arm, the writers deal with the facilities of the highly favored town and camp, and then describe in detail all the various properties that make the region one of the finest on the continent for mineral riches. No detail is overlooked in this highly creditable work even a sketch map, showing the district and the mining division, being included. The Chamber of Mines is to be congratulated on the work."

will be strictly confined to natives.

With a Grand Concert by the Greenville Concert Band in the Westholme Theatre, Sunday evening, September 19th, the Fair will be brought to a close. Advt.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

The Mining Laws of this Province are more liberal and the fees lower than those of any other Province in the Dominion, or any Colony in the British Empire.

Mineral locations are granted to discoverers for nominal fees.

Absolute Titles are obtained by developing such properties, security of which is guaranteed by Crown Grants.

Practically all British Columbia Mineral Properties upon which development work has been done are described in some one of the Annual Reports of the Minister of Mines. Those considering mining investments should refer to such reports. They are available without charge on application to the Department of Mines, Victoria, B. C. Reports covering each of the six mineral Survey Districts are published separately, and are available on application. Reports of the Geological Survey of Canada, Winch Building, Vancouver, are recommended as valuable sources of information.

The Colonel said that it was preposterous to blame the governor-general for the present plight of the liberals. The people would decide next Tuesday who was right, and he was willing to leave the matter with them.

The liberals, he said had held office for the past five years, through trafficking and bargaining with progressives, labor and independents, and had staggered through with majorities of three and four.

When a party is wrong vote them out, whether you belong to them or not. He would vote against the conservatives if they had been found half as guilty.

Mr. Baxter was the next speaker. He dealt chiefly with the tariff question, and proved to possess a mass of information, which he imparted in a very understandable manner. He said that the conservatives were instrumental in consolidating the present C. N. Railway system; they also gave Canada manhood suffrage and the ladies the vote. The conservatives have been in power thirty-four years since confederation and they did not take the vote away from foreign born and never will.

Our people, he said, are forced to go to the United States—a high tariff country—in order to make a living. Since the close of the war, sixty-seven countries have raised their tariff against Canada, while we have lowered ours.

Mr. Baxter defined the difference between the liberal revenue tariff and the conservative protective tariff. The liberal policy is to encourage goods to come into the country so that the government can collect taxes. The conservative policy is to make the goods in Canada, thus giving employment to our own people, but we don't. Some say that protection will force up the price of goods, but it hasn't done in the United States. A tariff gives work for everyone and a market for the farmers' produce.

Less than 100 years ago, the speaker said the population of the United States was only 13,000,000, and at the present time they were spending money to keep people out. Their enormous population was built up by a tariff system. Under the present system Canadian manufacturers are in a lot of cases competing with the low wage scales of Europe. They can't do it and keep in business.

He believed in giving a trade preference to the countries forming the empire, but would look after our own people first. He said that at the present time there were hundreds of idle men in Vancouver, who were tramping the streets seeking employment. We let the United States get away with the Fordney tariff, and did nothing.

He said that the lowering of the duty on logging engines, put one firm in Vancouver out of business and threw 42 men out of employment.

If we raise our tariff we wont have to spend millions of dollars persuading people to come here. The United States don't and never did.

The speaker ridiculed the Robb budget and said that it covered a multitude of sins. The sales tax was criticized extensively, everyone pays, from the babe in the cradle to the old man in his grave. It is something you don't see, but you pay and there is no escape. The Old Age Pension Act was brought down he said to get the votes of two labor men in Winnipeg, and it was a sham and a fraud. When the bill was voted on by the senate, twenty liberal members were absent.

Proper ageing makes healthful beer

AMONG the measures taken in the plants of the Amalgamated Breweries to assure that the beer made for the people of British Columbia is of the purest and most healthful character there is a factor not often brought to the attention of the public.

That is proper ageing, under the most favorable conditions known to the science of brewing. The stability afforded the brewing industry in British Columbia by the legal, above-board and Government Controlled sale of beer, by the glass in licensed premises and by the bottle in Government Stores, affords the Amalgamated Breweries an opportunity to maintain an ample and sufficient reserve that is allowed to mature slowly and naturally.

The ageing of beer in the plants of the Amalgamated Breweries completes the physical and chemical processes that the malt and hops undergo in the course of brewing and is among the reasons why the people of British Columbia are provided with beer of high quality.

Pure and healthful beer is the product of the finest materials plus the utmost care, and most elaborate and scientific equipment is required. In its making it is absolutely sterilized, and prolonged filtering leaves it crystal clear and a delight to the eye. Then comes the ageing that removes every trace of the rawness often found in beers that are too "young," and that makes it bland and digestible—really a pre-digested liquid food, high in nourishing qualities.

The valuable sugars, proteins, mineral salts and organic phosphorous compounds are united in close and homogeneous union, and, most important of all, fermentation is totally ended, leaving the alcoholic strength low—4.25 per cent. as provided for by law—and just sufficient to stimulate the digestive system in the most favorable manner.

Visitors are welcome at all times to inspect the model plants of the Vancouver Breweries Ltd., Rainier Brewing Co. of Canada Ltd., Westminster Brewery Ltd., Silver Spring Brewery Ltd., and the Victoria Phoenix Brewing Co. Ltd., where the beer supplied to the people of British Columbia is made.

traiter and grafter, and said he would rather cut off his right arm than vote for Mr. Stork, and after making these wild statements he then asked you for your vote. The speaker challenged anyone in the audience to mention one single commendable statement Mr. Brady had said on a public platform in the district. Mr. Brady, he said was in favor of putting an export duty on copper. An export duty on copper meant that the Granby Co. would close their Anyox plant or the men would have to take a substantial cut in wages.

Fred Stork was the next speaker and he said that since his last visit here a lot of things had happened politically. The conservatives say the vital question of this election is the custom's scandal, but he considered that there were greater fish to fry.

The vital question today is who is to govern Canada. Regarding the so called custom's scandal, he said that smuggling had been going on since confederation. It was not new but the volume depended on the profits to be made. The minister of customs Mr. Boivin, had known that something was wrong with the customs department, and he called in three detectives to investigate. One of the detectives instead of turning over the information gathered, to the government to act upon, gave it to the conservatives. H. H. Stevens made a lot of wild charges in connection with the affair. His only purpose was to convince the progressives and independents of the unfitness of the government to carry on. These wild charges are easy to make, but they have yet to be proved. An investigation is now being carried on by a judge of the supreme court, who will investigate all charges and make a truthful finding. Mr. Stork said that when the liberals advocated reciprocity the tory cry was no truck or trade with the Yankee. The U. S. took them at their word and passed the Fordney Act, which cut off the Canadian farmer's market.

When the Mackenzie King government took office in 1921 the national debt was 2½ billion dollars, and the interest on this debt each year was $140,000,000. We had an adverse trade balance of $29,000,000, and in 1926, five years under a liberal government, we had a favorable trade balance of $401,000,000.

During the past five years, the speaker said that a large number of bills had been brought down by the government. In order to encourage industry the taxation of mining, logging, fish and agricultural implements and machinery had been reduced, and to show that it had increased prosperity he stated that the Massey-Harris Co. of Ontario experienced their best but one last year.

In order to defeat the government, Mr. Stork said that the conservatives bargained with the progressives. A grain bill, formed by the progressives had just passed the House of Commons and was before the senate. Mr. Meighen said if you want this grain bill passed you must vote out the government, and that was the cause of the whole upheaval.

The governor-general was placed in an embarrassing position by Mr. Meighen when he had to make a decision regarding dissolution. Mr. Meighen legally was not entitled to govern. The members of the House were informed by flunkies and page boys of what had occurred. Don't be stampeded by the wild statements being made by the conservatives, he said. Mackenzie King is going to be our next premier, and he will have a bigger majority than ever.
