TREATMENT OF GOLD ORES.

A well known authority on Colorado gold ores claims that chlorination is best suited and is more advantageous than the cyanide process. He says it is a well known fact that a solution of chlorine in water is a very efficient and rapid solvent of gold, much more so than cyanide and about the same as bromine. The relative dissolving powers of the different solutions as given by Rose in his "Metallurgy of Gold," is as follows:

Chlorine—saturated solution in water (about a 1 per cent. solution) 1¼ hours, 4.49 per cent.

Bromine—One per cent. solution, 1¼ hours, 6.46 per cent.

Cyanide—One per cent. solution, 1¼ hours, 0.57 per cent.

In each case the temperature of the solution was 60 centigrade.

It has been said that one ton of chemicals as at present used in the chlorination process will treat only 20 tons of ore; while one ton of chemicals used in the cyanide process will treat 100 tons of ore. This is a mistake, as one ton of chemicals in the chlorination process has been proved to treat from 60 to 150 tons of ore, and even in some cases nearly 200 tons of ore; this when using chloride of lime and sulphuric acid, but when it is considered that of the chloride of lime used only 50 per cent of its weight is available as chlorine, and acid has to be used to liberate it, it will be seen what the present reason is for having to handle a great amount of freight. Now, however, a great advance in the chemical industry has been made, and it is possible to get chlorine in a practically pure state, thus eliminating the freight on 75 per cent. of the necessary chemical. And as equal quantities of chlorine or cyanide in a solution will treat the same ores, except that chlorine will be about eight times as fast as cyanide, and as the relative cost of the two chemicals is as 20 cents to 55 cents per pound, it can readily be seen where chlorine has the advantage, and the cost in one particular will be materially reduced. But this is not the only thing that shows the greatest possible advantage that the chlorination process has over the cyanide, as by recent improvements it has been proved possible to manufacture chlorine from salt direct by electrolysis, at an expense of from 5 to 7 cents per pound; therefore, when a large chlorination mill is built that will make their own chlorine, it can readily be seen how much cheaper treatment can be made.

Other advantages that chlorination has over cyanide is that it is not necessary to reduce the ores as fine for chlorination as for cyanide, and it is well known to mill men that where eighty tons of ore can be reduced to ten or twelve mesh, sufficient for chlorination, only thirty tons can be reduced to thirty mesh, absolutely necessary, except in rare cases, as at the Mercur, for cyanide, thus reducing the amount of crushing plant necessary, and therefore the cost of crushing and wear and tear of machinery.

It has been claimed that the cyanide process does not require the ore to be roasted, and that chlorination does. This is not always true, as it has been demonstrated in several cases in America that certain ores will not yield their contents to cyanide without roasting. It has also been demonstrated that certain low-grade silicious ores will yield very high extraction by chlorination without any preliminary roasting, showing that even in this particular the advantage is not all with the cyanide process. In any case the roasting of ores is a comparatively cheap and simple matter, as manufacturers of roasting furnaces are ready to put in furnaces and guarantee that ore can be roasted for from 30 to 35 cents per ton.

As to the relative cost of the works to treat by either process, this is practically the same in each case. A resume of what chlorination will cost on Cripple Creek ores as compared with cyanide would be about $2.55 for chlorination to $2.80 of the cyanide. To cyanide the royalty must be added, amounting to from $50 cents to $1.50 per ton, according to the grades of ore treated and the good will of the managers of the process.

If the cheaper method of producing chlorine is added to the works the cost of chemicals will be reduced about one-half, and should any of the large mines put up their own works the labor and cost of sampling would be reduced, making the whole cost still less.

It is a well known fact to those familiar with the action of the two processes that the extraction on all grades of ore by the chlorination process is uniformly high, ranging from 92 to 98 per cent., while that of cyanide is such that the cyanide mills do not care to accept any ore that runs over 0.6 to 0.75 ounces per ton, by reason of the lower extraction made and having to pay $19 an ounce for the gold in the ore.

At the Golden Reward Chlorination works, the pioneer works in America, where they have treated upwards of 200,000 tons of ore since starting in 1890, the cost of treatment has been reduced to $5 per ton, and they are adding improvements that will still further reduce this figure.

The lowest grade of tailings being treated by the cyanide process in America is probably at the Harqua Hala in Arizona, where the value is $4.10 per ton and an extraction of 70 per cent. obtained, according to the manager's report to the company. This is about the same extraction as obtained in South Africa on tailings of from 4 to 6 pennyweights, and the cost of treatment of which, not including royalty, ranges from $1.25 to $2.50 per ton.

It is not hard to figure where the profit to a chlorination mill will come from out of a $5 treatment charge, when the actual cost of treatment will not exceed $2.55 per ton, and chlorine extracts from the ore full value paid for, and in the higher grades from 2 to 5 per cent. more.

RICHER THAN EVER.

The Le Roi mine at Rossland has again broken all previous records. It is certainly one of the richest mines in this country, and recent strikes place its possibilities in the realm of the fabulous. From the bottom of the shaft 40 tons of ore was shipped Tuesday that gave an average return of $53.0 per ton. These figures were returns from samples taken from each sleigh load of ore as it left the mine, and are approximately the returns that will be received from the smelter. In his report to the Spokane office the assayer expressed doubt as to whether these returns, large as they are, represented the full value of the ore, for the reason that if there should be free gold in the ore, it would probably escape him. The explanation of this is that before making assays the ore is converted into a powder and put through a fine sieve. Free gold being malleable will not break into fine powder, and if there is free gold in the ore it is likely to be pounded into small flakes and thrown out with the waste, because it cannot pass through the fine meshes.

This lot of forty tons of ore was taken from near the hanging wall, and one not well informed regarding the ore of the mine would pronounce it inferior, because it carries so large a proportion of white quartz. In the Le Roi mine it is the rock that carries the gold rather than the iron.

The ore was taken at a depth of 450 feet. It is estimated by well-informed mining men that in the slope between the 350-foot level and the bottom of the shaft there are 80,000 tons of ore. If this should average $50 per ton, it would mean $4,000,000 in sight in this one spot in the mine. The fact that ore of this remarkable richness, in an ore body of such magnitude as that of the Le Roi, is taken at such depth, is construed by mining men as opening up a field of great expectations for Trail Creek.—Spokesman-Review.

A NEW RACKET.

Fred Rogers is working a new racket on the wolves and coyotes. The wary animals have long since been leary of poisoned bait, and unless it is very skillfully prepared give it a wide berth, and even when they do take it they have a disagreeable habit of going off to some secluded spot to make their last kick, and thus defrauding the honest wolfer of the fruits of his labor. To avoid this and make returns surer, Fred has lately been fishing for them. A good stout hook is fastened to a copper wire and an anchor of some description is fastened to the other end of the wire. The anchor is not so heavy that it cannot be hauled around but two heavy to run off with. The hook is baited with a very tempting morsel, completely covering it, and thus arranged the trap is left out over night. Brer' Wolf comes along, examines the bait and finding no suspicion of strychnine, bolts it. Finding the wire in his mouth, he swallows all the harder, and being unable to disengage it or bite it through, he trots off, and then the anchor gets in its work by inaugurating a pull that fastens the barb of the hook in the interior department of the wolf, and there he is and there he stays until Fred makes his morning call and at a safe distance drops his game with his Winchester. With several of these trot lines dispersed over a place where wolves and coyotes are in the habit of passing, a rich and safe harvest is reaped. The copper wire is used because if it gets kinked it does not break, which it is liable to do in case the wolf struggles much.—Yellowstone Journal.

TRAIL TRAMWAY AFFAIRS.

While Mr Gutelius was at Vernon procuring condemnation papers against the Nelson and Fort Shepard railway and the Rossland Townsite people, Mr. Corbin was very much alive, and secured an injunction in the supreme court of British Columbia, restraining the Tramway company from a prosecution of the work until such time as the matter can be settled by the courts. The injunction was obtained on the 17th inst. and has before this been served upon the representatives of the Tramway company.

Just what is at the back of all these proceedings it is difficult to say, as it is said Mr. Corbin has at all times been willing to concede a right of way upon liberal terms. The terms, however, do not seem to have been satisfactory to the Tramway company and they are determined to fight the matter to a stand still, and will furnish all the necessary funds for the raising of the injunction, or any other restraint that may be placed upon them. The amount of land included in the right of way is about 70 acres.

ROSSLAND TO INCORPORATE.

A movement is on foot at Rossland to incorporate the town, as the citizens of that busy place seem to think the time has arrived for them to adopt municipal government. Public meetings have been held and committees appointed to canvass the property owners for their concensus of opinion upon the matter, and it would seem that a majority are in favor of incorporation. A desire for municipal government is a good healthy sign, and nothing should interfere with the citizens receiving the same.

ANOTHER NEW GOLD-SAVING PROCESS.

An invention of the utmost importance for the treatment of the low-grade ore of Cripple Creek, Boulder county, and other telluride camps, has just been successfully demonstrated on a large scale by its inventors, H. R. Cassel, and C. C. Heineman, of New York. A 50-ton mill has been erected at Boulder, Colo., by a few New York capitalists, headed by Robert Leaman, a millionaire, to test the process, and extremely high extraction has been obtained from $6 ores. The mill is now in operation day and night, and the process will open up immense fields of low-grade tellurides hitherto considered untreatable.

The inventors use bromide, but recover it at extremely low figures. Mr. Cassel is the inventor of the well-known metallurgist and cyanide processes, and is also the originator of the Cassel Gold Extraction company of Glasgow, to whose process is due the immense development of the South African gold fields.

LIFTED THE STEMWINDER BOND.

The fact was chronicled in one of our former issues that Mr. R. Denzler had gone out to Butte with the ostensible object of closing the deal on the Stemwinder property. This has been done, as the following taken from the Spokesman-Review will show:

"The Stemwinder mine in the Boundary creek district has an interesting history. The property was owned originally by James Schofield and Robert Denzler. About a year ago Farrel and Midgeon of Butte bought the interest of Mr. Schofield for $3,500, and last spring bonded the other half from Mr. Denzler for $10,000. The property was developed sufficiently to satisfy the bonders that they had a good thing. A few days ago W. F. Smith and Mr. Denzler passed through Spokane and went to Butte, where Mr. Denzler received the balance due on the bond, about $9,000. He has other good prospects in the Boundary creek district and will hold them for a while, feeling that he can afford to do so.

CLAIM JUMPING.

The most flagrant case of deliberate claim jumping that has ever taken place in the province was brought to light in the gold commissioner's court at Midway a few days ago, when the suit Patterson v. Lancaster was brought on for hearing. For some time past we had been acquainted with the fact that the Roderick Dhu, the claim in question, had been jumped, but as we did not wish to prejudice the case in any way, and as we were curious to know upon what technicality the defendant's action had been taken and could be defended, we purposely refrained from referring to the matter in our columns.

Now that the case has been decided, we feel no longer under restraint as to giving vent to a free expression of opinion, as also of bringing the matter to public notice, and to the notice of those who are endeavoring to enact such legislation as shall make a repetition of such action as the defendant in this case was guilty of, entirely impossible. The more fully to understand the enormity of the defendant's action in the case referred to, it is necessary to know that so entirely was the case one of claim-jumping pure and simple, that the defendant thought it unwise even to put in an appearance to defend his case, and on the contrary the evidence adduced by the prosecution showed that no technical defect existed in the title to the claim, as the plaintiff had strictly complied with the requirements of the Mineral Act. The general supposition is that the man Lancaster acted as a tool for others, who were interested in preventing the sale of an interest in the claim, or who wished to vent their spite upon the owner, as one witness testified that a man by the name of Dempsey, acting as agent for a Mr. Jones of Spokane, had threatened on a certain occasion that if he could not procure an interest in an adjoining fraction of a claim owned by the plaintiff, he would take steps to tie up the entire property for ten years to come. Lancaster's action is looked upon by miners and others in the district as the direct outcome of the expressed threat, and this it is that lends such a despicable tone to the affair. The fact that the claim jumper's record has been cancelled and the costs of the case levied against property held by him in the district, does not furnish a sufficient palliative for the offence committed, and it is greatly to be hoped the plaintiff will take further steps to reimburse himself for the loss he has sustained, owing to having his property tied up, by instituting a suit for damages against one to whom it is to be regretted a more severe punishment cannot be meted out under our law as it now stands in reference to such cases.

THE ADVANCE acknowledges the receipt of a very pretty map calendar from the office of the Province Publishing company of Victoria. The map shows the electoral divisions for provincial purposes, and the fact that it is the production of a provincial firm lends additional interest to it.

SMALL DEBTS COURT.

On Friday last a case came before C. A. R. Lambly, Esq., at Midway, who acted for the first time in the capacity of stipendiary magistrate, an action having been brought by Mr. J. R. Jackson of Midway against Messrs. Kerr Bros. of the same place, to recover the price of a yearling heifer, valued at $15.

A good deal of interest centered in this case, as for some time past efforts had been made to bring the matter before a court of arbitration, but without avail.

The circumstances leading up to the action were as follows: About a year ago Mr. Miller brought a band of cattle to Mr. Ingrim's ranch on Kettle river and fed them there for a short time, and in part payment gave a calf to Ingrim, which resembled as to color, etc., one owned by Mr. Jackson, who is a near neighbor. During the summer Mr. Ingrim sold his band of cattle to Kerr Bros., butchers of Midway, and in the deal turned over apparently the wrong animal, which during the summer was killed by the defendants in the regular course of business. At the time of purchase Mr. R. Kerr, who testified to having received the cattle from Mr. Ingrim, saw no brand on the animal, but subsequently, about a month after, when earmarking the cattle, noticed that the animal was branded on the hip. He, however, took it for granted that the brand was that of the man from whom Mr. Miller had purchased the cattle, brought to Ingrim's ranch from across the line, as it was generally understood that this man's brand was a KO joined together. Mr. Jackson's brand is a circle and half circle joined, which he uses in different ways, sometimes the half circle being on top, or at the bottom, or to right or left, according as the animal branded belongs to different members of the family. This accounts for the similarity of brands. A good deal of evidence was adduced upon each side, but the crowning testimony for the prosecution was given by Mr. Miller, who swore that the animal he turned over to Mr. Ingrim was branded with his own brand—two half circles joined—and put on the side of the animal, and that the animal had not been branded by the party across the line from whom he purchased the cattle.

The weight of evidence throughout clearly substantiated Mr. Jackson's claim to the animal, and judgment was therefore given in his favor with costs.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT.

Mr. C. K. Simpson of Grand Prairie paid Midway a visit on Friday last.

Mr. Murry, of Coryell & Murray, Grand Prairie, is spending a few days in Midway.

Mr. and Mrs. Lundy have moved into the new residence recently erected by the Townsite company.

Messrs. Flett and Frank Coryell arrived from Grand Forks last week and will remain in Midway the balance of the winter.

Mr. John Douglas from Skylark camp is in town, having come down on Friday on business in connection with his mining interests,

Messrs. Blue and Fisher are now receiving their saw mill machinery at Greenwod city, and will be cutting lumber in about a week or ten days.

On the evening of Valentine day, February 14, a grand ball will be given in Palmerston hall, under the auspices of the Ladies' club. All are invited and a good time is assured.

Tuesday night's stage brought Mr. John Weir to Boundary Falls. Mr. Weir is at present stopping in Midway, and is here in connection with the Thompson-Fowler deal in mining properties.

Mr. C. A. R. Lambly came over from Osoyoos on Monday and has been engaged in matters pertaining to his office as gold commissioner and stipendiary magistrate the past week. He returned to Osoyoos Saturday.

The past week has seen a marked moderation of the weather, and as a result of the thaw, nearly all the snow has disappeared from the foothills, and sleighing is none of the best. Up to the present the winter has been particularly mild and open.

Mr. E. Driscoll of Vernon returned from Grand Prairie Monday last and on Tuesday proceeded to Vernon, where he will collect his stock together ann return, as he has decided to open out a harness and saddlery business at the new town of Carson.

Mr. G. B. McAuley, one of the owners of the Cariboo mine at Camp McKinney, came in from Spokane on Thursday and on Friday proceeded on to the camp. Mr. McAuley reports a large attendance expected at the forthcoming convention of the Northwest Mining association to be held in Spokane February 22.

As a result of the thaw, the banks on the upper side of the main trunk road, where side cutting had to be resorted to, is coming down, and the road is being filled in places with boulders and gravel. With early spring it will be necessary to give attention to the matter, so that travel may not be unnecessarily impeded.

On Thursday last the sad rights of burial were accorded the infant son of Mr. and Mrs McClung of the reservation near Midway. The little one had been unwell for some time, and on Tuesday morning, the 28th inst., passed peacefully away. This is the first funeral that has taken place in Midway for quite a long time, and sympathy was attested toward the parents by a large number who assembled at the grave.

The inhabitants of Greenwood City, Boundary creek, are seeking the establishment of a postoffice at the new town, and they are entirely justified in so doing as it would not only be a convenience to themselves, but also to a large number of miners whose headquarters lie adjacent thereto. The Penticton-Grand Forks mail carrier could deliver mail at this point without any great inconvenience if the government would be willing to pay a little extra for the service rendered. It is to be hoped the matter will be speedily attended to, and without being necessary to supply it with a tail of red tape two miles long before it becomes of sufficient importance to receive official attention.

Having completed the work on the survey of the Grand Forks townsite, Mr. Coryell and staff returned to Midway on Tuesday last. For a greater part of the winter Mr. Coryell will be engaged upon the production of a new map of the district, which will be compiled from surveys and exploration work, carried out between the years 1896 and 1896, and which will show all the mining camps and the claims in the same recorded up to the 1st Jan., 1896, within and for the Kettle river mining division of Yale district. The time and attention bestowed upon the production of such a map should be well rewarded, and the map when issued will be a great acquisition to all mining men and others interested in the Boundary creek and Kettle river mining camps.

GOLD COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

On Monday last at Midway was held a sitting of the above court, C. A. R. Lambly, Esq., gold commissioner, presiding.

The case before the court was an action brought by Mr. R. Patterson of Boundary creek, against D. D. Lancaster of Spokane, in which the plaintiff sought to eject the defendant from the Roderick Dhu mineral claim, situated in Long Lake camp, Boundary creek. The better to understand the case, it is necessary to explain that the plaintiff, R. Patterson, located the Roderick Dhu mineral claim on the 7th day of June, 1895, and recorded it on the 12th of the same month. Subsequently the plaintiff disposed of a one-half interest to a Mr. Jones of Spokane. After doing a considerable amount of work and recording the same, the owner left the property and went to work elsewhere. The defendant then made a visit to the country, coming in from Spokane, and relocated or jumped (jumped is the right word) the claim, and recorded it on the 28th day of November, hence the result of the action.

Mr. Patterson, sworn—Testified having located and recorded the claim on the dates above mentioned, and as regards stakes, etc., proved to having complied with all the necessary requirements of the Mineral Act in making the location

The court by reference to the records verefied Mr. Patterson's statements, and acknowledged that everything was apparently in order.

The next witness for the prosecution was Mr. C, W. H. Sanson, who, upon being sworn, testified to having been engaged with Mr. Coryell upon the survey of the Roderick Dhu, and while at work there, being approached by a man named Demsey, an agent of Mr. Jones of Spokane, who wished Mr. Sanson to use his influence so that he might obtain a half interest in an adjoining fraction, which had been located as an extension on the Roderick Dhu ledge, and named the Lady of the Lake. Upon his refusal to do so, Mr. Dempsy thereupon made a threat that if he could not obtain an interest he would tie up the whole of the property, referring also to the Roderic Dhu, for the next ten years.

This closed the case for the plaintiff, and the defendant not having put in an appearance or sent an agent to represent him, although ample time had been allowed, as the gold commissioner adjourned the court twice at the request of the defendant, who wrote stating he would be in on the stage either Monday or Tuesday, judgment was given for the plaintiff with costs. The court also ordered the cancellation of the record of the Telluride mineral claim, and issued an attachment against several mining interests held in the province by the defendant, for the costs incurred in the suit, the warrant to be made return able at once.

MINING NOTES.

Messrs. Mangot and McEchran are steadily sinking on the east vein on the Morning Star claim at Fairview, the shaft being now down a depth of some 140 feet, with the ore gradually becoming of a better quality as depth is attained.

Messrs. Sheehan and Gwatkin's recent work on the Stemwinder claim at Fairview has disclosed another ledge upon the property, the ore from which is pronounced by those who have seen specimens of it as being superior to anything taken out of the ledges formerly worked upon. So good is the ore that if steamboat communication be furnished upon the Okanagan river the coming summer, no difficulty will be experienced in shipping the same profitably.

Messrs. Atwood and Wake are engaged developing the Silver King claim in Skylark camp, and the work done has given very satisfactory results. There are four distinct veins of ore upon the claim, each of about 6 feet in width, and all covered with a heavy iron capping through which surface crosscuts have been cut. They are now sinking a shaft on one of the ledges and at the bottom of the same the ore is changing somewhat in character as more galena is observable in the ore being taken out. This is a very promising property, and will no doubt prove itself of great value when more fully developed.

It has been reported on good authority that eastern capitalists have offered some of the parties holding claims on Kruger mountain, near Osoyoos, to put up some kind of reduction or smelting plant at a point near the mines, if a consideration be given in return of a half interest in all the claims held there. Whether the offer be accepted or not, it is only too sure the claims of that vicinity will be in active operation the coming summer, as it is well known ore exists there that will pay to mine and ship out of the country, and the owners have expressed a determination not to allow their property to remain idle much longer.

BORN.

To Mr. and Mrs. C. Pittendrigh of Rock Creek, on the 28th of January, a daughter.

To Mr. and Mrs. H. Pittendrigh of Rock Creek, on the 19th of January, a daughter.

DIED.

On the morning of the 28th January, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. D. McClung, near Midway.

THE SEA QUEEN WAKES.

"The flying squadron, which, together with the existing available squadrons with which it is proposed to join it, will form the most powerful fleet of war ever put afloat."—Cable Message, January 11, 1895.

She wakes! in the furthest West the murmur has reached our cars—
She wakes! in the furthest East the Russian listens and fears—
She wakes! the ravens clamor, the winds cry overhead,
The wandering waves take up the cry, "She wakes whom nations dread!"
At last, ye have roused the Sea Queen; at last, when the world unites,
She stirs from her scornful silence, and wakes to her last of fights;
Alone, with a world against her, she has turned on the snarling crew,
No longer the Peaceful Trader, but the Viking North Seas knew.
She calls, and her ships of battle—dragons her seas have bred—
Glide into Plymouth harbor, and gather round Beachy Head.
She wakes! and the clang of arming echoes through all the earth,
The ring of warriors' weapons; stern music of soldiers mirth.
In the world there may be nations, and there gathers round every throne
The strength of earth-born armies, but the sea is England's own;
As she ruled, she still shall rule it, from Plymouth to Esquimalt
As long as the winds are tameless—as long as the waves are salt.
This may be our Armageddon; seas may purple with blood and flame
As we go to our rest forever, leaving the world a name.
What matter? there have been none like us, nor any to tame our pride;
If we fall, we shall fall as they fell, die as our fathers died—
What better? the seas that bred us shall rock us to rest at last,
If we sink with the Jack still floating, nailed to the nation's mast.

—Clive Phillips-Woolley.

THE LE ROI DECLARES A DIVIDEND.

The Le Roi Mining and Smelting company has declared a dividend of $50,000, payable on February 1. This is 10 cents a share on the capital stock of the company, which is 500,000 shares of the par value of $5 each. With this payment $75,000 has been paid within the past few months, and the probabilities are that monthly dividends will be declared from this on.

HERE AND THERE.

In the near future Puget Sound will be recognized a a great car-building center, as already the work turned out of the South Tacoma shops is attracting attention, and it is stated the Northern Pacific management have in view the increase of their operators to about 1,500 men for the purpose of building cars for the Northern Pacific and other railways. There is no reason apparently why the industry should not grow to a gigantic size, as the material necessary is right at hand, and is no doubt cheaper than that procurable in the Eastern States, where the scarcity of lumber is beginning to be felt. Should the Northern Pacific carry their intention into effect a great stimulus would be given several lines of industry.

The lethargic policy of the C. P. R. excites comment from a great number of railway men, and one prominent one has given it as his opinion that if they do not build the Crow's Nest Pass railway the coming summer, they will make a grievous mistake, as if built it would give them virtually the complete control of the West Kootenay mining country, and would be a more valuable feeder than the main line is west of Calgary. As an instance of their dilatory methods may be cited their failure to complete the southern extension Revelstoke to Arrow Head, which would have given them an all winter route for the ores of the Slocan. If they do not awake to a realization of the situation the first thing they know other roads will come in and shut them out from the traffic of certain sections of that country altogether. The same dilatory tactics displayed in the Kootenay are being repeated in the Yale district, where they are allowing matters to go by the board as it were, and other corporations are seeking charters for the building of railways in territory closely in touch with their system at the present time.

A CARD.

To the Boundary Creek and Kettle River Miners and Residents Generally:

GREETING.—We beg to make the announcement that we have opened a general store at the new town of Greenwood on Boundary creek, where we have on hand and daily arriving a large stock of general merchandise.

In soliciting a share of your patronage, we do so feeling confident that if you will entrust us with your favors, we shall be equally and mutually benefitted.

Many years' experience in other parts of the province has convinced us that the public generally would much prefer to do business upon a cash basis, providing the price of goods is consistent with this system. Feeling confident that such is the case, we beg to say that we have adopted this method of doing business, viz. either for cash or trade, and in doing so we believe we are acting in the best interests of our customers.

An inspection of our stock and an enquiry as to prices will convince all that such is the case.

In conclusion, we would say that every opportunity will be embraced by us to foster and render assistance in the development of the rich mining and agricultural resources of this section.

Thanking you in anticipation for your many favors, we remain respectfully yours,

R. WOOD & CO.
