Supplying Liquor to Indians Must Be Stopped, So Say the Courts.

A few days ago three white men, on mischief bent, left the Sechart whaling station, with a large supply of whisky, and made a call on the Indian reserve at Toquaht. Liquor was passed generously among the Indians, and the visitors, imbibing freely themselves, enjoyed a night of what they thought to be rare sport. They returned home early in the morning feeling that their time had been well spent. They knew they had broken the law, but they had no fear of being found out, nor were their minds troubled with thoughts of the moral seriousness of their offence. They had done only what many a white man had been known to do before. Some had been caught, but probably as many more had escaped. Those who had been caught had been fined something like $50 and costs, and there were some, it was believed, who would be willing to pay the same price again for the same amount of immoral amusement.

On the day following their debauch the Sechart trio received some news that caused them worry. One of their Indian friends, Mackie by name, whom they had left in a spificated condition, was dead.

The news spread and reached the ears of Constable Kvarno at Ucluelet. The officer journeyed to Sechart and investigated. He telegraphed the result of his investigations to Chief Constable Cox at Alberni, and the chief, accompanied by Magistrate Neill, went down to Toquaht. Constable Kvarno arrested the three suspects and took them also to Toquaht where court was held. Dr. McLean, of Ucluelet, made a post morten examination, and decided that the Indians had died of weak heart.

The prisoners admitted their guilt.

In passing sentence Magistrate Neill called attention to the seriousness of giving liquor to Indians under any circumstances and without regard to probable tragic results. It was an offence held altogether too lightly by many white men, and he was convinced that more severe punishment than was customary would have to be meted out in future. The practice would have to be stopped, and future offenders could look for the imposition of the maximum penalty. A fine of $250 and $18 costs was inflicted on two of the white men, while the third was assessed $50 and the same amount of costs. An Indian, who had acted as social sponsor for the offenders, was fined $30 and costs.

Magistrate Rayson, of Alberni, commenting on the case, endorsed the pronouncement of Magistrate Neill, and said he would be prepared also to inflict the extreme penalty in cases that were proved in his court.

Probably this warning will have some effect in restraining foolish white men from an indulgence that has been altogether too common. If not, a more severe punishment than the statutes now allow will have to be provided for. In this connection Chief Justice Hunter, presiding at the Assize court in New Westminster on Friday of last week, had something interesting to say. The grand jury had presented a lengthy report. It reflected upon the increase of crime as indicated by eleven indictable offences that had been considered. The gravity was the greater when it reflected upon the continuous increase of foreign population coming into the country.

In reply Chief Justice Hunter drew attention to one serious omission. They had on trial an indian charged with murder. That charge would never have been laid had it not been that these Indians had been supplied with alcoholic drink. That drink was ordinarily of a most atrocious character and made them commit crime. Indians were men of generally inoffensive character. The punishment for supplying them with alcohol was quite inadequate, fine and a short term of imprisonment, and he had frequently recommended to the government that the first offence should be punished by a long term of imprisonment, and he would go further and advocate for a second offence the infliction of the cat. He would like them to consider that.

Reckless Liberals.

Complaint has been heard from the Liberal press of British Columbia, in the past, about the large amount of money that has been spent by the Provincial government in advertising, prior to the court of revision on the voters' lists which is held twice a year, the names against which objection has been made.

As the amount of cost necessarily depends on the number of names objected to, one might be led to think that the Liberal organizations would be slow to register objections and thereby help to curtail an expenditure which they aver is unnecessary, and which, their newspapers claim, benefits only the publications that support the McBride administration, but the contrary would seem to be the case.

As will be seen when the court of revision sits in Alberni on the sixth day of next month objections have been made by the Liberals to the names of men who were resident in the district when the objections were made, and to others who are well known to be absent only on holidays.

In the city of Vancouver over six thousand names have been objected to, and the Liberals are responsible for nearly five thousand of the number. Included in the list of objections in Vancouver are the names of many prominent men who have never given up residence in that city.

This may be a move to stop the government from spending money in this class of advertising as it can be easily seen that if the work of the Liberals in Vancouver were to be indulged in on a proportionate scale in every electoral district the expense of advertising would be too great for the province to stand. The raid is not, however, likely to have that effect. The government might, wisely, place more responsibility on persons who register objections.

Hurts Vancouver.

The people of Vancouver are sorely disappointed over the result of the census recently taken. It is said, on authority, that the enumerators have allowed a population of only 96,000.

It is also said, on authority, that the official returns will give Winnipeg a population of 135,000 and Calgary 51,000.

It is explained that the total of 96,000 allowed Vancouver does not include the population of Hastings Townsite or District Lot 301, both of which districts are now included within the city limits. It is stated that the chief census commissioner was not officially notified of the annexation of the two districts and therefore their population is not credited to Vancouver.

Hon. William Templeman has now an established standing in the Can't-Come Back class.

November 15 has been fixed as the date on which the new Dominion parliament will be assembled.

The Toronto Telegram says that newspapermen are seldom a success as members of a government. Newspaper men who know him will not accept that as an excuse for Hon. Wm. Templeman.

"Our best condolences to President Taft on the new weight that has fallen on his broad shoulders—namely, the white man's Borden," says Punch by way of comment on the result of the Canadian elections.

J. F. Bledsoe, of Alberni, threatens to start another paper in that town. Mr. Bledsoe has made a hundred thousand dollars in Fort George real estate and can afford to go into the newspaper business as an amusement. —Ladysmith Chronicle.

Geological Survey Work on the Island.

R. H. Chapman of the Geological Survey has been at the Somass Hotel some days, closing work and preparing to return to Ottawa. When asked about the season's work Mr. Chapman said:

"The season just closing has been a successful one, the delays from smoke and bad weather have been fewer than in other years, and while much of the area mapped has been without road or trails, no particular difficulty has been experienced.

"Since the end of May about three thousand square miles has been carefully mapped. This area is entirely on Vancouver Island and does not include the adjacent islands, which must be done another season.

"The work comprises a strip across the island extending along the West coast, from near Jordan River mouth to the vicinity of Cape Beale, and along the East coast from Comox to Neck point and Hammond Bay and everything between the coasts, Cowichan Lake, Nitnat Lake and all the drainages of them are shown, most of the Alberni Canal, China Creek, Cameron Lake and River, Nanaimo River, Englishman River, big and little Qualicum, Horne Lake, and many smaller ones that have not been mapped heretofore.

"The map shows roads, trails, railways, streams, lakes and ponds, towns and houses, and the hills and mountains, and intervening valleys are shown by contours of two hundred feet interval. The field scale is about three miles to an inch, and the correct relations of all the points on the map is obtained by triangulation and traverses. Many mountain peaks have been climbed, and some long pack trips have been necessary."

To obtain these maps one should write to the Director of the Geological Survey, Ottawa.

The Industrial Workers of the World held a large meeting on Sunday night last in memory of Francisco Ferrer who was executed by the Spanish government two years ago.

BICK'S CALGARY SWINDLE TOO MUCH FOR LOCAL AGENT

To the Editor of the Pioneer News:

Sir,—Owing to the disgraceful advertisement regarding Port Alberni published in the Calgary Daily Herald, September 25, 1911, by the manager of L. W. Bick's Calgary office, I have decided to resign my position as manager of their Alberni branch. In doing so, however, I should like to state that I do not think Mr. Bick is personally responsible for the lurid advertisement that appeared in that paper, as he has been in the east for some considerable time, nor do I think he would have for one moment countenanced any such statements had he been present. On first reading the advertisement in question I wrote very strongly both to Mr. Bick and his Calgary manager remonstrating with them for publishing such reckless statements. Mr. Bick in answering denied all personal knowledge or responsibility and is now, I believe, in Calgary adjusting matters with the guilty parties.

It is much to be deplored that an occurence of this sort should have taken place as it is morally certain to give strangers a false impression, and, to some extent, blind them to the fact that Port Alberni has a very bright future before it, and must eventually become a place of no mean importance.

Yours truly,

J. Scudamore Cunningham.

CITIZENS ORGANIZE NAVY LEAGUE

A public meeting for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Canadian Navy League was held in the Waterhouse hall on Wednesday night when there was a fairly good attendance of representative citizens. The aims and objects of the league were briefly outlined by G. H. Bevan-Pritchard, and it was unanimously decided that a branch should be formed to be known as the Port Alberni branch. Officers were elected as follows:

President—R. J. Burde.

Vice-president—Dr. C. T. Hilton.

Secretary-treasurer—G. H. Bevan-Pritchard.

Mr. Burde was elected a representative to attend the Trafalgar Day celebration of the league to be held in Victoria this evening.

The league starts with fifteen members and several more in prospect.

A visit is expected from Capt. Clive-Phillips Wooley in the near future when the public will be invited to hear him discourse on the Canadian Navy league.

NEW POOL ROOM OPENED SATURDAY

Jack Clark's pool and billiard hall, in the Watson building, was formally opened last Saturday night, and from the hour of opening, 8 o'clock, the place was filled with patrons, and all four tables were in use. Mr. Clarke has fitted up one of the most modern halls of its kind to be found. Everything is new, in first-class shape, and there is ample room for the cue handlers to move around without interfering with each other. A large and well assorted stock of cigars, cigarettes and tobaccos is kept on hand. A large and powerful light has been placed on the corner of the building which illuminates the lane where the entrance is.

The clearing of the site for the E. & N. roundhouse was completed this week by James Gibson's staff of stump blowers, and building will be commenced next week.

Follow the bunch to Harry's pool room.

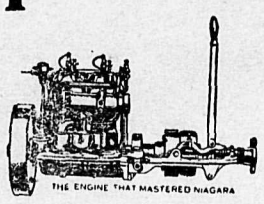
FERRO



If for any reason the machine comes to a sudden stop, examine the ball bearings, all the stop cocks, the piston rod, the fly wheel, the eccentrics, and then if you don't find the trouble examine the license which says you are competent to run your machine. This may not start you up but it will be some comfort to know that the trouble is not with you.

In order to sell off the 1911 Ferro Motors we will offer 15 per cent. off the catalogue price if ordered before November 1.
