ALBERNI MAY GET THE BIG SHIPS

Victoria Colonist Speculates on Plans of the C. P. R. Company.

Now that we know on the authority of Sir Thomas Shaugnessy that at an early date the Empresses of the C. P. R. Atlantic line are to be transferred to these waters, says the Victoria Colonist, there is room for some very interesting speculation as to what particular port will be chosen by the company from which to operate them. Several well-informed mariners have expressed the opinion that they will be operated from Victoria, as owing to their immense size and great draught it will be found impracticable to take them through the tortuous passages on the route between this island and the Terminal City. Some people are of the opinion that the company may intend to operate them from Alberni on the completion of the branch line of railway now being built, and in support of that we have the statement of Sir Thomas, made in Winnipeg some months ago, that it was possible that the C. P. R. company would utilize a port on the West Coast of Vancouver Island for its trans-Pacific traffic.

Tees Changes Time.

Commencing tomorrow the steamer Tees will go on its winter schedule making only three round trips per month. It will leave Victoria on the 1st, 10th and 20th of each month, arriving in Alberni on the following days.

GIVES UP FIGHT; BETRAYS FRIENDS

Conservative Candidate For Comox-Atlin Withdraws at the Eleventh Hour, and William Sloan is Declared Elected By Acclamation.

Dr. W. J. Quinlan, of Prince Rupert, the man who received the Conservative nomination for Comox-Atlin, and who was promised strong support in all parts of the constituency, threw up the sponge and threw down his friends on Wednesday.

It was nomination day, and Dr. Quinlan was in Cumberland, the returning officer's seat. William Sloan, the self-nominated Liberal candidate, was also there. He was elected by acclamation. The two returned to Nanaimo in the same motor car, and a few people who did not know either of them were led to believe that it was a reunion of long separated brothers so devoted were they to each other.

Close observers, however, had their doubts about the sincerity of one side of the devotional display, and these were substantiated when the member-elect, taking advantage of an opportune moment, gave his associate the shake and retired.

Back to Prince Rupert went Dr. Quinlan; at least that is the supposition. The best the Conservatives of Alberni can wish him is that he be allowed to back up into private life without having to pass through such a storm of indignation as he would have encountered if this were the place of his discreditable retirement.

The news of Dr. Quinlan's funk was a rude shock to the Conservatives of this part of the constituency. It seemed most appropriate that a nasty gush of wind should come along, as it did, just after the news was received, blow the law-protected election proclamation from the boards, and sweep its torn and tattered parts through the mud on the street in front of the hall where, but a few days before, the candidature of the Prince Rupert man had been strongly and enthusiastically endorsed.

From the commencement of the campaign the Conservatives of the two Albernis, well organized and strong, with practically all the independent vote in thorough sympathy with their purpose, were out for a fight to the last ballot against the Liberal party in general and William Sloan in particular. There was not a suspicion of feeling that the battle should be given up in case of the Laurier government being returned by a substantial majority.

It was a matter of principle that the man, who had four years before, been given this seat by acclamation, and who had, throughout his term of office, maintained an attitude of indifference to everything except the welfare of himself and a number of Liberal organizers and heelers, should be opposed.

William Sloan's parliamentary record of inaction, and his display of contempt for the general electorate, together with his now-recognized incapacity for expression, without the aid of a press agent, would have been disclosed before the people, and he would have had a most anxious time in facing the music. It is easy to believe that he feared an election, feeling that if he could not, by use of his well-known art, secure the seat by acclamation, he would have but a slim chance of being sent back to Ottawa.

Mr. Sloan is a wire-puller.

There may be worse things that can be said about both of them, but in the present instance the Pionser News can suggest nothing better.

Vancouver turned a Liberal majority of 800, at the previous election, into a Conservative majority of over one thousand, and New Westminster, with its smaller voice, spoke in the same way and with about the same strength. In Nanaimo the Liberal candidate was driven, a badly defeated man, to retreat in the military garrison at Esquimault from which the soldiers, over two hundred of them, marched to the poll and saved him, the voice of the people being suppressed by the roar of musketry. In Yale-Cariboo and Kootenay—deferred elections—the Conservativer are keeping up the fight with every promise that the Laurierites will be routed from every stronghold in this province but two, one of which was held by the regular militia, and the other betrayed into their hands.

In the face of the fact that handicapped British Columbia had, in such a courageous, masterly and decisive manner, started Laurierism on the hike for the other side of the Rocky mountains, the action of Dr. Quinlan is too deplorable for charitable contemplation.

ALLOWS LAURIER TO FINISH WORK

Eastern Canada Give Him Good Working Majority in the House.

The result of the Dominion elections on Monday, Oct. 26, was the return to power of the Liberal party by a slightly decreased majority. Following are the latest returns from the different provinces:

	Lib.	Con.
Alberta	4	3
British Columbia	2	3
Manitoba	2	8
New Brunswick	11	2
Nova Scotia	12	6
Ontario	39	47
Prince Edward Island	3	1
Quebec	52	11
Saskatchewan	8	1
	133	82

Majority for Laurier, 51.

Cabinet Chances.

William Sloan expects to be taken into the Laurier cabinet. Ralph Smith has the same expectations. As far as British Columbia is concerned it will make but little difference which of them gets the portfolio, but the betting should be in favor of Smith. Sloan's only chance is in wire pulling. The other man has some natural ability along the same line, and chameleon blatherskite that he is, he can, in one minute, give more evidence of the possession of brains than his rival can give in a whole hour.

Alberni, B. C., Oct. 31, 1908.

ON TO ALBERNI.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, did not come to Alberni as expected. He has gone east again. At a banquet given him by the Board of Trade in Victoria he said, in the course of his remarks, that his company was engaged in building a railway extension to Alberni. That was about all of particular interest to this place that he had to say, but it can be taken as an important utterance. It is the most authoritative endorsation possible of previous announcements that the E. & N. line would be extended to the head of Alberni canal, and that there would be no cessation of building operations already begun.

Faint rumors have been heard at times to the effect that the Alberni extension might be delayed in favor of building operations in other parts of the island. Sir Thomas did speak in a most optimistic tone about the island in general, and intimated that his company would lay rails in other parts, but he made any other plan a secondary consideration to the Alberni extension.

Here is a statement made by Sir Thomas that should awaken the general public interest:

"The chairman made a remark about government subventions, and in this respect I am quite free to say that we would only be too delighted to forego everything in the shape of a public grant if that were adopted as the general policy of the country. But, of course, we would not at all like to see other railway companies receiving such considerations while we were ignored. For we would be very much pleased indeed to carry out any works which we believed to be in the public interest, as well as in the interest of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, without anything in the nature of government assistance if the practice of giving that assistance were discontinued by both the Dominion and the provincial governments."

UNEXPECTED WHINE.

One would have expected W. W. B. McInnes, as accustomed as he is to political reverses, to accept his defeat in Vancouver philosophically, but listen to this spiteful whine made by him after the ballots had been counted;

"Vancouver, I am sorry to say, has done a serious damage to itself. That man who did not see how the country was going—that man, I say, will rue the 26th of October. Again I declare that the citizens as a whole have been unfortunate in their action of today. I don't mean this because they rejected me personally—this was not a question of personalities—but because Vancouver failed to realize the situation it faced. The Dominion government did more for British Columbia than any other province, and more for Vancouver than any other city, and I felt that I was entitled to support.

It is a sorrowful thing that the city did not, in a masterly voice, declare its support of a policy tending to its advancement.

"I wish to God the citizens of Vancouver had been true to themselves today."

It is said that William Sloan, M. P., can now, in fancy, see his name in print as "the Hon. William Sloan."

SAMPLE OF SOCIALISM.

A number of copies of the People's Press, a weekly paper published in Victoria—"provincial organ of the Reform League, a journal devoted to moral, social and economic betterment"—have been received in Alberni. They are being freely distributed by a citizen who believes that the competitive system is all wrong, and who has for a long time past, in Alberni and other places, been striving to make others believe as he does. He is a Socialist, and accepts practically all printed matter with the Socialist brand on it as good material for the enlightenment of the people most of whom he is convinced are blind to their own well-being.

Among other things the People's Press is Socialist. As a producer of food for thought it is as barren a specimen as ever wore the color of Socialism. The editor is, in one respect, exceedingly modest, preferring the use of scissors and paste to his own brain and pen for copy. One of his own productions fully justifies this modesty. In his issue of last Saturday he ventured a prediction of the results to the Liberal and Conservative parties in the general elections, and hit about as far wide of the mark as was possible without getting completely off the range.

On the front page of the People's Press there is a picture of two figures, one of which is supposed to represent a type of man who lectures on Socialism. It bears a close resemblance to the exaggerated villian in the cheap blood and thunder dramatic performance, and anyone may be excused for accepting it as the editor's conception of the specimen of mankind that is going to provide the remedy for the ills that now afflict the civilized world.

What will happen at Parksville now? Will someone who knows William Sloan well please tell us?

J. D. Taylor's victory in New Westminster was probably the most glorious in the west, and we predict that his parliamentary career will prove him as true as any to such generous confidence of the people.

The Victoria Times was just as certain of the return of the Laurier government to power as it was of the reelection of the Hon. William Templeman by about one thousand majority. Now that it has been convinced that Mr. Templeman was not elected, it may be expected to become confused, at times, and refer to the Conservative leader as Premier Borden.

On Wild-Cat Lands.

Wild-cat townsite properties have proved to be good grounds for hunting big game this fall. Panthers, bears and deer seem to have shown a partiality for these parts. James Taylor, one of the surveyors who subdivided the Greenwood property, and who bagged a big bear on it a few weeks ago, killed a deer in the same place last Saturday. He says the Pioneer News put it mildly when it said the location offered choice advantages to wild ducks in the wet season. He does not go hunting ducks there because there is good shooting in that line much nearer home.
