Activity Will Follow Completion of Railway

The forces have been augmented, track-laying is proceeding more rapidly and will continue without interruption until the terminus at Port Alberni is reached, which will be before the end of the summer. Such was the assurance given by R. Marpole, vice-president of the E. & N. Railway company, who, in company with a party of railway officials, was in town on Saturday last.

And that the completion of the railway will be followed by general activity in the district was a further assurance given by Mr. Marpole.

Immediately following the inauguration of a regular passenger service on the Port Alberni extension of the E. & N., the Canadian Pacific Railway company will, by widespread advertising, endeavor to direct a stream of tourists to this district, and will make provisions for their accommodation and entertainment on a large and systematic scale. To commence with, a chalet will be built at Cameron lake this summer, and a trail from there to the top of Mt. Arrowsmith will be made. From Arrowsmith the trail will be continued to a junction with the Cowichan trail which connects with the railway again a short distance this side of the summit of the Beaufort range. In a similar way all secluded beauty spots of Alberni district will be made accessible and luxuriously habitable.

Another important part of the general scheme is to use Long Beach, making it one of the most attractive tourist resorts on the Pacific coast. A preliminary survey of the ground has already been undertaken, beautiful drives and gardens will be laid out and a magnificent hotel will be built.

While in Port Alberni Mr. Marpole made an inspection of the coal discovery on the waterfront, south of Waterhouse's wharf. He said his company was interested with the Land company in the discovery and that it would be thoroughly prospected. The surface showings were good enough to warrant the expenditure of a considerable sum of money on development. Mr. Marpole said the railway company had other coal indications in the valley, and that other prospecting work would be undertaken in the course of time. The prospects of Port Alberni becoming an important coal shipping center were, he thought, very bright.

Asked about the railway station plans for Port Alberni Mr. Marpole said these were now in the hands of Mr. Cambie, the chief engineer, and it would not be long before the work was commenced. The site of the station is just opposite the Somas hotel.

Interest In Cricket Meeting Is Called

The cricket match between Alberni and Port Alberni teams on Coronation Day was won by the former by a margin of three runs and five wickets to spare. The ground was not in much better shape than it was for the previous match, but fortunately there were no accidents on this occasion. In the first innings Port Alberni scored 22 and Alberni 30. In the second Port Alberni piled up 44, and the Albernis reached 39 when only six wickets had been taken.

It was a most interesting match and the players were all of the opinion that something should be done towards improving the ground and fostering the game. With this end in view a meeting of all interested will be held in Whyte's hall next Monday night commencing at 8 o'clock, when it is hoped there will be a large attendance from both towns.

To Raise Funds To Build Hospital

A meeting of the joint hospital committee was held in H. C. Rayson's office on Tuesday when Mr. Rayson was elected chairman and W. H. Marcon secretary. Others present were Dr. C. T. Hilton, Rev. H. H. Lewis Seale and R. J. Burde.

The site selection committee reported that two lots on Eighth avenue, just north of Dry creek, had been accepted from the Alberni Land company as a donation, and that a five-year option of purchase had been obtained on five other lots which comprised a whole block.

Plans for raising a building fund were generally discussed, and will be definitely formulated at a subsequent meeting to be called by the chairman as soon as the secretary obtains some necessary information and advice on procedure.

Coronation Exercises In Public Schools

The coronation of King George V. was celebrated in the public schools of Alberni and Post Alberni on Wednesday afternoon when the pupils engaged in musical and elocutionary exercises and listened to patriotic addresses.

The Alberni District Brass band was present at the exercises in Port Alberni, and there was a large attendance of citizens, many in the gathering being from the old town. It was the first appearance of the band before the public and it received a splendid reception, which was well deserved. A patrol of boy scouts, numbering eight, was on parade, and the school children rendered national songs in chorus. Myrtle Paul, one of the pupils, gave a patriotic recitation which was listened to with marked attention and won generous applause. Mrs. Roy Hanna and Miss Lowe contributed to the programme. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Miller and R. J. Burde.

Rev. Mr. Reid, Rev. Mr. Seale, A. W. Neill and R. J. Burde delivered addresses to the pupils in the Alberni school.

H. J. Morris returned to Alberni on Saturday last after having spent a few months at Hope, B. C., as timekeeper for Janse & McDonnell, contractors on Canadian Northern railway construction. Mr. Morris expects to be transferred to work on Vancouver Island.

Sawmill machinery, acquired by E. L. Gill from G. H. Bird, was moved to the latter's ranch on the Beaver Creek road on Wednesday. Mr. Gill will clear 120 acres of land and manufacture the suitable timber into lumber as the clearing progresses. Timber not fitted for good lumber will be cut up into stove wood and marketed next winter.

Carelessness

The importance of the great forest resource of British Columbia and the paramount necessity of its protection from fire and its adequate conservation were eloquently outlined recently in an address delivered by Hon. W. R. Ross at North Vancouver, in which address the steps that are being taken to minimize the annual fire loss were sketched in outline and comprehensive conservation measures earnestly urged.

"We are now in June," said the minister, "and the annual burning up of British Columbia's forests and prosperity is about to begin. Careless campers will light fires in the brush, and leave them to spread and devastate stretches of our choicest timber. Conflagrations will be sown broadcast by defective locomotives and logging engines, in spite of every effort of the Government to detect and punish the persons responsible. Tenderfeet ranchers will 'take chances' and be virtuously astonished when the putting out of their fires costs thousands of dollars of public money. Quite a few lumbermen will look upon the spreading of fresh traps for fire as a necessary part of their daily business, and will have another summer's gambling with the God of Fire—staking their plant and timber against many a lighted match and butt-end of a cigarette. Many an honest citizen will conceal what he knows about the cause of a bad forest fire for fear of making an enemy of the man who started it, or in order 'to let the poor fellow down easy.' People will stand looking on at forest fires and wondering when the warden will arrive to fight them, or try to hold him up for fancy wages when he asks their help. By the end of the season, gentlemen, careless citizens of this Province will have shot several million dollars worth of our national resources out of existence into smoke. All this will happen, gentlemen, and the reason for it will be carelessness—just rank carelessness. This is our great weakness as a people—we are careless about our great inheritance of timber and we tolerate each other's carelessness. Public opinion is all-important in the prevention of forest fire. Orators may thump the drum of eloquence; governments may strive to do their utmost—as the present Government is doing—to save the forests, but in the long run success depends on a very commonplace matter—the amount of care the average citizen can be induced to exercise when using fire near the woods; care with matches and tobacco and cigarettes, care with camp and clearing fires, care with donkey engines and locomotives. Every man, woman and child in the Province can do a little to help protect the forests."

The provincial government has just awarded to Green Bros. and Burden a commission to survey a tract of 50,000 acres of land for pre-emption purposes, this land being contiguous to the block of 200,000 acres north of the Nechaco river and between the Salmon and the Stuart river, already surveyed. The surveying of a tract of 500,000 acres is contemplated in the government's plan. This will afford homes for 3,125 pre-emptors, or, allowing five persons to the family, a community of 16,000 in this section of the Fort George district.
