TWO CHARGED ON TOOL POSSESSION

Two men were committed to a trial in a higher court after appearing in Matsqui police court yesterday.

George Dumont of Richmond and Robert Hallett of Surrey plead not guilty to similar charges of possession of burglar tools. The two were picked up in the Clearbrook Shopping Centre by a Matsqui Municipal Police constable on patrol.

ELDERLY MAN INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT

A 91-year-old Matsqui man is in the MSA General Hospital in good condition following an accident last Friday.

Martin Sullivan of the Bakerview Rest Home was struck by a car driven by Jake Berg of Clearbrook. Mr. Sullivan is thought to have a leg fracture.

The mishap occurred on South Fraser Way, one quarter of a mile west of Abbotsford.

Matsqui Municipal Police are investigating.

In other police news, Matsqui Police report three minor accidents Sunday. The first occurred on the Bradner Road between cars driven by Larry Castling of Langley and Peter De Wit. The De Wit vehicle skidded into the right front of the Castling auto, causing an estimated one hundred dollars damage.

The heavy rain is blamed for a 2 car rear end collision on South Fraser Way and a sideswipe collision at the Clearbrook Road and South Fraser Way intersection. There were no injuries in either of these accidents; total damage estimated at more than $400.

DRUM BEAT

By Tom Gascoigne

AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE

"The car isn't running as good as usual," I said to my favorite mechanic at the local garage. "How does it sound to you?"

"Pretty rough," he agreed, coming over and holding his hand over the exhaust pipe. "The engine's missing."

"Very funny," I remarked grimly. "If the engine was missing, it could hardly be running, could it?"

"I mean, one cylinder is missing," he explained, placing all five of his greasy fingers on the polished left front fender.

"Are you trying to tell me one cylinder has fallen off?" I said, in a doubtful tone of voice.

"Naw," he said, kicking the front tire. "One plug is missing; she's only got five cylinders."

"Six," I corrected.

"Five," he reiterated, "one's missing. I guess she needs new plugs. How long is it since we synchronized the engine?"

"Synchronized," I mumbled, alarmed at the sound of the expensive word.

"Complete check," he went on to explain. "Does she boil?"

"I don't think so," I said. "She does smell a little."

"Cooling system needs cleaning out," he stated. "Just finished Miss Granar's, the school teacher, you know the old crock. System plugged up, gave her the high pressure reverse flow, darn near blew her head off."

"Near blew her head off," I said in a very faint voice. "Near blew - oh! Come now!"

"S'truth," he said, wiping his greasy hands on a greasier rag. "Had her rear end out, too," he added, walking to the rear of the car and looking intently underneath.

"No!" I said, staggered by the disclosure. "No!"

"Sure did," he said. "Fixed her up good, quiet as a kitten."

"Rear end out?" I stammered, recoiling with the thought. "Right here?"

"Why not?" he said. "Needed adjustment in the worst way."

"But - but - in a garage -" I stuttered, fascinated by the developments. "You all alone?"

"Well, not quite," he answered. "The foreman was here, helped me turn her over. Nice guy, the foreman - better'n the big boss. Changed her shoes while we had her down, too."

"Her shoes, too," I answered weakly, my hands trembling on the wheel. "Is she alright now?"

"Pretty good for an old lemon," he remarked as he left, adding, "Has a bit of blow-by, but not bad considering what she's been through."

One of the gravest problems which lie unsolved across our thresholds is the one of educational equity for those of the younger generation .... This applies, particularly, to those between the ages of fifteen and eighteen, both to boys and girls but more so to boys .... Each of us, regardless of age or sex, has a duty, not only to our own children but to those of every parent in our whole country ..., Not one boy, not one girl, should ever be placed in the position of accepting lifelong obligations without essential understanding, without the means of engaging in life on an equal footing.

The problem of young people leaving school before a minimum of learning has been obtained, must be remedied .... The use of force by prohibiting a scholar from leaving school, until certain from leaving school, until certain academic learnings are reached, would, in a great number of cases prove futile .... We must learn, as the scholar must learn, that we as a nation, are interested in his welfare, in his abilities, whatever they may be.

We cannot afford to be too lenient nor must we be intolerant to any human concept of living .... If human chemistry followed an infallible pattern, perhaps this world would be a better place to live in .... Unfortunately, but for our own good, this is not the case .... If all men and women accepted the same thoughts and ideals, we would become as sheep, useless to ourselves and others alike. It is the difference in human make-up that decides how each man will accept and resolve any given problem .... Growing youths, who seem at present unstable due to the instability of the chemistry of life's forces, should demand on our part a little extra attention, a little more faith in their ultimate visions.

AROUND TOWN

by LOYD McINTOSH

Old Ma Nature visited B.C. last Sunday. The streets of Aldergrove were quite active with cars making an exodus to the beaches. Aldergrove Beach had a large crowd but amazingly there was ample parking, swimming and picnicing space.

Looks as though we are in for another year of bumpy back lanes. Hate to mention it again but last year we seemed to be among the forgotten when it came to maintenance. Hope we suffer no loss of life or limb in some of the deep crevices, especially in front of Cuz Blare's place.

Not much chance to get around town to hear any chance remarks. So this column will be sort of empty of any comments.

Odd how two members of the family can be entirely different. Met some people last week, sisters to be exact. They were opposites in their physical appearance. May also go further and say one talked an awful lot and the other was quiet. Won't mention any names but Norm Williams had a quiet sister-in-law visiting.

Local elbow benders had a treat last week. An exuberant patron of the suds room was feeding bread to the multitude. This seemed to go over well until he was quickly escorted home by his female custodian. I wonder who he thought he was? All that was lacking was the fish.

Susies Sallies . . .

Home from the holidays and just as I said - the sun is now shining and we will have a beautiful summer.

You asked, if it rained? Boy! Did it ever! Rain and a tent are two ingredients not to mix. With a little wind added for flavor the tent started to leak. A very nice couple from Ontario lent us a plastic table cloth to cover the tent. Himself completed this little chore and we adjourned to the drive-in.

Coming home (to the tent) at midnight, thought it would be so nice to have a dry tent and a good rest. I was surprised and very chagrined to find that himself had draped the plastic over HIS side of the tent.

So, after pouring the water off the top of my air mattress, proceeded to crawl into a damp cold sleeping bag with all my clothes on, in addition to himself's jacket and socks.

By one thirty, wet through and still very wakeful, crawled into himself's sleeping bag but he wouldn't change places. So, what with me gaining a few pounds on holidays, there wasn't much room. Whenever we wanted to turn over, one had to notify the other.

Finally, about five o'clock in the morning, it was time to turn over again, decided it wasn't worth the effort and got up.

At six o'clock, the man from Ontario came into the cookhouse and lit a fire. He was sleeping on three cushions on the floor of his tent and was getting uncomfortable.

We were shortly joined by a lady from Prince George, vacationing in a pup tent. She dragged in her sleeping bag, wrung it out and hung it up to dry over the rafters. This intrepid soul has been vacationing with a small car and her little tent for one month and has two months to go. We only lasted eight days, came home very wet and bedraggled.

It was fun, though; certainly a complete change and the main accomplishment of a vacation such as ours was to heighten one's appreciation of home, roof and mattresses.

Gems of Thought

The SECRET of power is to keep an even temper.

One thing to fear is YOUR OWN fear.

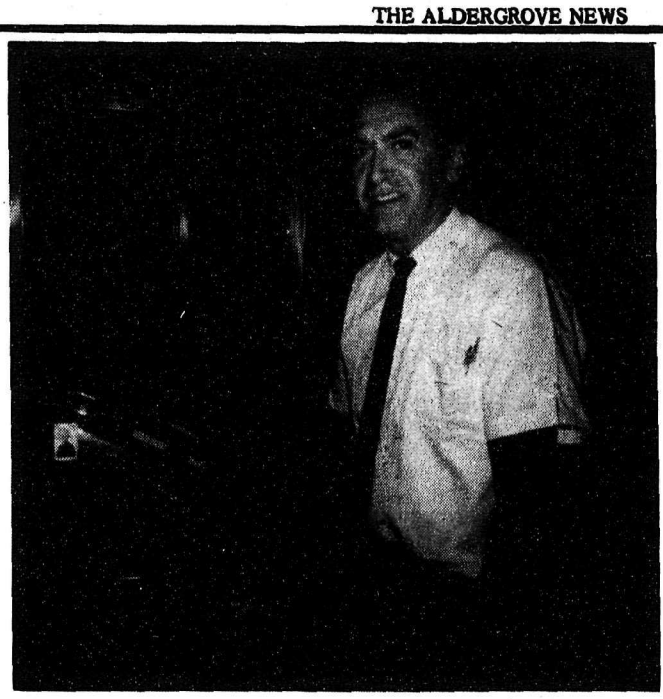
A Cordial Welcome To All



Mr. Robbie Robinson the Chairman of the White Rock Christmas Seal Committee sponsored by the White Rock Rotary Club presented a cheque for $ 1,414.00 towards the cost of the Newton Health Centre to Mr. R. J. Harvey, the Reeve of the Corporation of the District of Surrey. The cheque presentation took place in the Council Chambers of the new Municipal Hall on June 17th, 1963.

This made a total of $ 12,650.00 granted by the B.C. Tuberculosis Society to serve the communities of Newton, Whalley and White Rock.

This was the 71st Health Centre Grant made by the B.C. Tuberculosis Society during the past 9 years. During this time over $ 350,000.00 has been spent to forward the construction of local community health service facilities. It is widely recognized that British Columbia has the best local facilities for public health of any Province in Canada and probably the best in the world and we are very proud of the part the Society has played in this program.

Maximum: 71° -
Minimum: 49°
Precipitation: 0.46"

Maximums for the week averaged one degree below normal while the minimums were 4.5 degrees below. The latter were cooler than those for the first week of July in any of the past eleven years. Minimums on the 1st, 5th and 6th were record lows for the date, the maximum on the first a record high and that on the 2nd a record low for the respective dates.

Sunday night's rain (.54 inches) was the heaviest twelve-hour total for July since July 31, 1955, when we had .70 inch. Our record for the month came on the night of July 14, 1953, in a downpour that gave 1.18 inches.

The total precipitation in the 63 days, May 5 to July 6, was 2.31 inches, only 40% of the normal 5.82 inches. (Abbotsford Airport had 1.99 inches in 62 days). That is drier than the normal for the driest part of summer. Crops have not suffered unduly, however, due to the generally cloudy conditions since June 1 and the relatively few very warm days.

PREMIER W. A C. BENNETT officially accepted the Queen of the Islands, newest ferry in the British Columbia Ferry Authority fleet, on the dock at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, Thursday. The 400-passenger ferry connects the Gulf Islands to the mainland at Tsawwassen with twice-a-day service. A group of shipyard, government and shipping officials were joined by 300 guests in the inaugural run of the newest Queen, hampered by loss of one engine when a bearing burned out during the final trial run.

MOTORISTS URGED KEEP HIGHWAYS CLEAN

Motorists have been urged by the B.C. Automobile Association to curb highway litter this summer through use of litter bags and trash disposal receptacles.

Garbage deposited along the highways is not only an eyesore for people who come to see the scenery, the BCAA said, but it is a safety hazard as well. Many accidents occur when drivers swerve to avoid objects thrown onto the highways by careless travellers.

"Broken glass on the highway can ruin tires," the auto club said. "Fires are caused by people throwing lighted cigarettes from a moving vehicle. Garbage not properly disposed of presents a definite threat to health. And rubbish clogs drainage ditches along the highways."

The BCAA cited an article which appeared in the magazine "Better Roads", describing the manner of creature known as the litterbug. The article said:

"Probably a substantial citizen active in civic work, who goes to P.T.A. meetings and takes a vacation trip once or twice a year. Or a not-so-substantial citizen who would rather dump his household garbage by the side of the road than pay regular disposal costs. Or one of a gay party of high-living people who are drinking their way down the highway, throwing out empty cans and bottles. Or a nice person who simply doesn't think much about what his empty package of cigarettes, or napkin, or soft-drink bottle multiplied by thousands would do to a highway. More than anything else, today's litterbug is a careless, thoughtless motorist."

Mather Comments

By CAMILE MATHER, M.L.A.

On visit here in B.C., and indeed, on a busman's holiday, are Dr. Charles Brook and his wife. They both support and work with the National Health Plan in Britain, and their addresses on this complete and comprehensive care are most interesting.

There has been some sort of prepaid medical care in Britain since 1911. Under the Lloyd George Act men, and men only, were covered for sickness. Women and children were not. This meant that women only too often left medical attention too late, and the results were tragedy rather than recovery. In 1946, the National Health Service Act was passed and became operative two years later.

Much has been said and written about this Act, and it was a satisfaction to me to hear directly from two people who had been active supporters of this plan, and are still working for and with it.

The following are some of the highlights as I heard them:

(1) In case of illness, the family doctor (and the family doctor is still very important) may be referred to, and if necessary, he may advise consultation to a specialist, well-qualified in the needed field. This service is free.

(2) Patients are taken to and from hospital by ambulance, operated under the health service and again, no charge is made.

(3) Full dental care is available. All school children and expectant mothers are treated free, while others pay for an initial exploratory visit. If the attention involved preventive care, or conservation of teeth, the treatment is free. Actual work done in the mouth is done at most acceptable rates .... for instance, a full set of dentures may cost the patient about $12.00.

(4) About care of the eyes. Corrective lenses for children are free. The charges to those who pay is minimal and the patient pays for the frames. The ones provided by the National Health are practical, but if more glamorous or stylish ones are wanted, the patient will pay for his vanity!

(5) Those who are hard of hearing are not forgotten in this plan. Aids to assist in this distressing need are provided free, as are artificial limbs.

(6) Midwifery in Britain is a specialized branch of Medical Care. There it is possible to have a baby at home and receive the best care and attention. Women having their first child are encouraged to go to a hospital, but subsequent births are delivered at home if the first confinement has followed a normal pattern. During the infancy of the child, milk is obtainable at a modest figure.

(7) If prescriptions are required, there is a set fee of two shillings (roughly thirty cents), and this is irrespective of the actual cost of the drugs. In this way necessary expensive medication is provided for all patients.

All this sounds very good, and very necessary. The question is: how is it paid for? From the report of 1960-61 the cost of medical care in Britain was nine hundred and thirty-three million pounds. The figures show that 69% was obtained directly from the exchequer. Local rates or taxation provided 8 1/2%. National Insurance and contributions from wages made up 12 1/2% leaving a balance of 10% to be found. This amount was paid for by the few items actually charged to the patients. These are the prescription charges, eye glasses, some dental care, and by the fees from superannuation plans.

Time and space do not permit further discussion at this time, but it will be continued in next week's column.

TOURIST AID

More than one hundred tourists from many parts of Canada and the United States have visited the Abbotsford Tourist Bureau.

Supported by the Abbotsford and District Chamber of Commerce, the Bureau is open each day Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Information on the MSA district, BC and brochures from cities, vacation spots and states and provinces are available.

This is the second year of operation of the service.

FIRE DAMAGES MATSQUI GARAGE

Seven thousand dollars damage was caused in a fire in a Matsqui village garage. Major portion of the damage was in the living quarters adjoining Matsqui Motors.

Two units of the Matsqui Volunteer Fire Department answered the call to the garage and home, owned by John Denis.

Matsqui Fire Chief Henry Whitehouse states that the blaze is thought to have started in the wiring.

The damage is covered by insurance.

PLAYGROUND ACTIVE THIS SUMMER

A total of 111 children between the ages of 4 and 7 years are registered in the Summer Playground Program in Abbotsford, setting a new record. Last year's registration was slightly over 70.

The 7 week program is sponsored by the Abbotsford Recreation Commission. It is conducted during the afternoons at the Jubilee Park in downtown Abbotsford. Four supervisors, headed by Vicki Tessaro, lead the youngsters in games handcraft.

COUNTRY HOLIDAY As host of CBC Radio's new country and western music program, Country Holiday, Bill Bessey (under the stetson) introduces top recording stars from Nashville, Tennessee, as well as from across Canada. Here Bill meets two idols of bluegrass music, Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs, who are famed for the theme they wrote for TV's Beverly Hillbillies. Others who will appear on this hour-long summer series are Ernest Tubb, Lefty Frizzell, Mac Wiseman, Stonewall Jackson and Canada's Pat Hervey, Sandra Selsie, Tommy Hunter and Gordie Tapp.

FULL TIME TEACHER FOR HANDICAPPED

Students of the Good Shepherd School will have a different building this year. The building on Old Yale Road, Clearbrook, in use for the past three years, is unavailable this year.

The School Board of School District 34 offered the use of the old South Poplar School. The members of the MSA Association for Handicapped Children accepted the offer at a meeting held last night.

The association is considering plans for hiring a full time teacher and running the school on a double shift. The school has been operating from 9 to 12 noon each school day.

Work of claring the five acre property for the farm training program is well underway. The association will purchase a building to be moved from its location in Clearbrook to the property on Mt. Lehman Road.

Students of the Good Shepherd School are at present taking swimming lessons at the Centennial Pool under instruction of pool lifeguards.

MORE TOURISTS

A ten per cent increase in persons entering Canada during the holiday weekend through the Huntingdon Customs port is shown in figures released today.

A total of 10,700 tourists and returning Canadians passed through the port during the three days including June 29 to July 1 this year, compared with 9,754 during the same period last year.

Heaviest traffic this year was on June 30 while last year the largest number of entries were recorded on July 1.

CONSTRUCTION INCREASE IN MATSQUI

The rate of construction in Matsqui municipality continues higher this year than in 1962.

Dwellings and additions made up the total value of one hundred and ninety-two thousand dollars in permits issued during June from Matsqui Municipal Hall. This brings the six month total of one million three hundred thousand for 1963 as compared with one million four thousand for the similar period last year.

Rate of construction in June of 1962 was thirty-six thousand dollars higher than the same month this year. This was due mainly to a sixty-two thousand dollar permit for school addition, and a permit for CFVR transmitter buildings.

JUBILEE PARK

Seventy-seven children registered for the seven week playground program held in Abbotsford's Jubilee Park.

Supervisor Faye Thompson states that enrolment is expected to near one hundred within the next week.

Miss Thompson and three assistants are in charge of the youngsters, ages four to seven years, for a program of games handwork and swimming in the centrally located park.

The program has been sponsored for the past three years by the Abbotsford Recreation Commission and for two years prior to that by the joint commissions.

Her Excellency Senora Eva Samano y Lopez Mateos, wife of Mexico's President Dr. Adolfo Lopez Mateos, has accepted an invitation to perform the traditional ceremony on Opening Day, August 17.

Her acceptance of the invitation was disclosed by Mrs. Thomas R. Fyfe, wife of the PNE President, at a tea in honor of the wives of new PNE Directors in the Board Room at Exhibition Park, Thursday, June 6.

Mrs. Fyfe advised directors' wives that Mrs. Mateos plans to spend several days in Vancouver and asked their co-operation in hosting the several events to be staged in her honor.

Mrs. Mateos is recognized throughout the world for her dedication to the welfare of the children of her country.

She is President of the Children's Welfare Institute of Mexico, an organization unique to that country with the sole objective of seeing that every child, regardless of income, is properly nourished.

Sylvia) (Brian, Audrey)

a dream

(Victor, Alan)

(David, Brenda)

FACTORY worker Jim Hancock and his wife, Winifred, said "Thank-you" 10 times over yesterday. To their 10 children.

"Thank-you" No. 1 was in a letter to their 31-year-old daughter Jean, married to a Canadian policeman and living in Ontario.

And the other nine went to their sons and daughters: James, aged 28, Raymond, 26, Sylvia, 22, Brian, 20, Audrey, 19, Victor, 18, Alan 16, David, 14, and Brenda, aged 13.

The reason?

Well, tomorrow, Mr. Hancock, aged 59, and his 53-year-old wife set out on a second honeymoon—helped by a special "honeymoon fund"—which their children set up more than a year ago.

ALL HELPED

All their children contributed. Some put in pocket money pennies, others gave wage packet pounds.

The second honeymoon—a 6,000-mile round trip by air to Canada to visit daughter Jean—will last a month.

At his home in Brighton-road, Alvaston, Derby, last night Mr. Hancock said: "The children have done us proud. They raised most of the £334 fare and I made up the balance. It will be the holiday of a lifetime."

Miss Campbell was presented with a few gifts in honour of her forthcoming marriage in August.

Better Bowling

Two ways

There are two ways to bowl: They are the pin method and spot method. Whichever system gets you the most strikes is the best for you.

When using the pin method, assume a starting stance so that your right shoulder is in line with the path you figure your ball will follow. Keep eyes on the 1-3 pocket and hold them there.

The ball is hurled along a line which leads directly to the pocket. If you throw a consistent ball, it should follow this line each time.

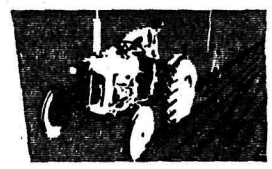
FARMING NOTEBOOK by Alexander Kenworthy



THE research station at Pirbright, Surrey, which has become a world authority on foot-and-mouth disease, is to tackle other animal killers.

The first will be blue-tongue, which has closed good markets in Australia to our pedigree-cattle breeders.

Very little is known about this disease except that it is caused by a highly infectious virus which has been reported among sheep in Spain and Portugal.

But for many years its presence in Europe has been given as a reason for the banning of our animals in Australia.

Another deadly disease in the Pirbright "rogues' gallery" is African swine-fever, which has also threatened to invade Europe through Spain.

By tackling these diseases, never recorded in Britain, the research workers are continuing a strange tradition. Over the last 40 years they have developed vaccines which have controlled foot-and-mouth in many other countries, but none has ever been used here.

Instead, we have destroyed every animal with the disease.

The last outbreak was a year ago.

Pirbright is extending its activities because a £100,000 commercial station has been built to take over making vaccines for export.

Extra staff being recruited will begin work when the new director, Dr. John Brooksby, takes over in January.

Chickens: A last bid to raise £220,000 to ward off an autumn disaster in the chicken industry was begun by Mr. Jasper Bristowe, of Hereford, yesterday. The money is needed to boost sales by publicity.

With more than 6,000,000 birds in store, and an increase of about 20,000,000 on the way, farmers are already getting prices as low as 1s. 5½d. a lb.

Only the most efficient can make a profit out of this. Rates and vaccination have already added about 2d. a bird to production costs.

"I have been promised £160,000 by half a dozen of the biggest firms," said Mr. Bristowe. "I must raise another £60,000 quickly. Our only hope is to extend the peak sales of the summer for another month in the autumn."

After encouraging sales in June demand has dropped because of cool weather. Output is now believed to be running at 135,000,000 chickens a year.

Sugar beet growers are now getting some compensation for the bitter winter which froze 300,000 tons of their crops in the ground.

The frost also killed off most of the greenfly which carry the virus yellows disease at this time of year. Dr. Raymond Hull, who keeps check on risks for the British Sugar Corporation, says there is little danger of this being a bad year.

The crop is expected to yield around 750,000 tons of sugar, about a quarter of our total needs.

Hay: Farmers worked into the night in many parts of the South yesterday to salvage hay crops drying out in the first two dry days for weeks.

Given a fine spell now a big proportion of the crop can be saved, but much has turned black and has to be burned.

Tomatoes, lettuce, and chrysanthemums grow bigger and faster on doses of carbon dioxide. At Lee Valley experimental station, Hoddesdon, Hertfordshire, trials are to be made to see if it is worth while using gas treatment to extend the tomato season until Christmas.

Domestic Disappearance Of Meats

During May, 1963, domestic disappearance of the four red meats totalled 173.3 million lbs. This is an increase of 12.6 million lbs. over the same month one year ago, and an increase of 6.4 million lbs. over the previous month of April. Compared with the same month last year, beef disappearance was up 6.6 million lbs.; pork was up 4.3 million lbs.; veal was down fractionally; mutton and lamb were up 1.8 million lbs.

Total domestic disappearance for the first five months of 1963 was up 3% over the same p in1962. According to the Canada Department of Agriculture, average weekly domestic disappearance during January-May was as follows:

	Head per Week (January-May)
	1962	1963	Change
	(thousands)		(%)
Cattle	38.8	40.2	+ 4
Hogs	129.4	125.9	- 3
Calves	14.8	13.8	- 7
Sheep & Lambs	27.3	32.0	+17

U.S. PIG CROP UP SLIGHTLY

The 1963 spring pig crop in the U.S. has been estimated by the U.S.D.A. at 50.0 million head. This is only 1% above last year's spring pig crop. Last December, U.S. hog breeders indicated that they intended to produce 1 1/2 million or 3% more pigs this spring than the current count estimates.

The average number of pigs saved per litter was 7.14, which was the second largest on record exceeded only by the 7.18 pigs per litter in 1961. The total pig crop for 1963 is now estimated at 94.5% million head, only slightly larger than the 94.2 million head of 1962.

The 1963 fall farrowing intentions indicate a small increase in sow farrowings. If the number of pigs saved per litter equals the spring average plus an allowance for trend, the fall pig crop will total 44.5 million head, the same as a year earlier.

PRICE SUPPORTS - LAMBS AND WOOL

The level of support price on lambs will remain unchanged at $18.80 per cwt. (on a live weight basis) for Choice and Good lambs sold by producers during the period April 1, 1963 to March 31, 1964. The national average of $18.80 will be made payable in the form of a deficiency payment, if required. It represents 94.5% of the national base price calculated over the previous ten years.

Lamb producers will continue to receive quality premiums of $2.00 for Choice carcasses weighing 36-56 lbs., and $1.00 for Good carcasses in the same weight range.

The support price for wool will be 60¢ per lb. f.o.b. Toronto and paid on a deficiency payment basis for wool grading Western Range, Choice, 58/60's, half blood staple, and Eastern Domestic, 48/50's, quarter blood staple. This level of support represents 135% of the base price.

CLOSE TO RHINITIS, ARTHRITIS CURES

An Iowan veterinarian has announced a major break-through in his 15-year research for causes of and treatments for atrophic rhinitis in pigs, according to a report in the Chicago Drovers Journal.

Dr. Wm.P. Switzer of the Veterinary Medical Research Institute at Ames, has isolated a bacterium called Bordetella bronchiseptica which is one of the principal causes of atrophic rhinitis. Two drugs, sufamethazine and sulfaethozypyridazine, will kill the infectious bacterium. A patent is being investigated to permit control of the new treatment in the public interest.

Causative agents of a type of arthritis in older pigs have also been discovered. Certain antibiotics have proven to be effective in controlling this type of infection.

JUNE 1ST MEAT STOCKS

Cold storage holdings of meat in Canada at June 1, 1963, totalled 49.4 million lbs. This was 7.6 million lbs. more than the same month a year ago, and 1.2 million lbs. more than the previous month. Freezer stocks were as follows:

	June 1/62	June 1/63	Change
	(million lbs.)		%
Pork	23.0	25.1	+ 9.1
Beef	10.1	15.4	+52.5
Veal	2.0	2.3	+15.0
Mutton & Lamb	1.5	0.9	-40.0
Fancy Meats	5.1	5.1	----
Total:	41.8	49.4	+18.2

U.S. CITIES STUDY FAT-IN-DIET

Group studies concerned with fat-in-the-diet are being carried out by the American Medical Association in New York, Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, Oakland and Baltimore. Dr. P.L. White of the A.M.A. believes that only time and continued research will determine whether the general public will have to change its diet habits in order to avoid cardiovascular disease. The studies have not been completed and final results have not been obtained as yet.

MILK PRICE UP JULY 7

Fluid milk sold by the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association will rise one cent per quart in price on July 7.

This is the first consumer price increase since 1958.

"In the past five years costs have risen by over one cent per quart," said L.A. Atkinson, General Manager of the Association. "Improved processing and distribution methods and large investments in modern equipment have enabled us to keep pace with these expenditures without a price increase."

"At this time," he emphasized, "heavy additional costs have made a small price adjustment necessary."

Junior Olimpic Training Programme

With the final track and field Zone meets completed this Zone meets completed this week B.C. is set for the first full Provincial Championships of the Junior Olympic Training Programme to be held at Vernon 2nd and 3rd August.

Already some impressive times and heights have been set and records are likely to tumble.

Thousands of youngsters have passed through the hands of the 180 branches of the Legion from the Queen Charlottes to Grand Forks.

Arrangements are now completed to transport the 400 finalists, both boys and girls, by air, train and bus to Vernon. Each zone will provide a male and female chaperone and accommodation has been arranged at the schools.

Feeding arrangements for 400 healthy athletes will take place at the Vernon Legion, Branch 25.

Never before have entrants from places like Port Alice and the Queen Charlottes been included in competition and hopes of another Harry Jerome run high.

The Pacific Command of the Legion voted $50,000 over the next five years to give the J.O.T.P. a solid foundation to build both coaches and athletes.

The first ever Provincial coaching clinic was held at Victoria University campus in April. This produced eighty track and field coaches who have made this programme possible.

The key to successful Track and Field is undoubtedly in having sufficient coaches. At the Legion's forthcoming National Clinic to be held at Guelph, Ont., 12-20 August, seventeen top BC candidates will participate, including Harry Jerome, now at University of Oregon.

Ten coaches from Britain, two from the USA and three from France will join Legion director Geof Dyson to make this clinic one of the greatest gatherings of track and field talent yet.

PHOTOSCENIC CANADA... WITHOUT HEADACHES

Each summer a large proportion of Canada's population piles into automobiles, buses, trains and planes and moves over to another section of the country for a change of scenery.

So big is this country we could do this every year for the next twenty-five and see something new each summer. Quite a project to catch on film!

Few of us are interested in building our own national archives in terms of pictures, but we would all like such travel shots to be a little better, a little special. Something more than the usual snapshot of the family lined up in front of the car with a cloud flecked sky above. This may be at a spot overlooking the lovely Bow Valley in the Rockies, but for all the viewer can see it was taken back home!

We like pictures of the family in fresh settings, but let the scene dominate the picture. Study the viewfinder, arrange the scenery in that little glass rectangle to your desire, then casually group the family some ten to fifteen feet away to one side, or toward a corner of the frame.

We have the scene, the familiar figures, each complimenting the other, a shot that has beauty, yet says "we were there"!

Equipment for vacation picture-taking need not be complex. Photography shouldn't dominate a vacation trip, merely record it. The snapshot camera, or automatic color slide or movie camera will catch every shot you want without fuss or trouble. Lots of film, a keen eye for good pictures, these are the things that count!

Plan ahead, obtain from provincial tourist bureaus all the brochures they can offer on the places you will visit. You will not only have firm ideas about what you want to see, but what you should photograph. This preplanning switches the whole vacation into a smooth overdrive both photographically and from a travel point of view.

In movies and slide sets, make a point of shooting identifying signs at special locales. These can be used as titles in your finished presentations.

Travelling by car? Keep your camera handy for things of interest that may suddenly appear, and remember, if something is worth photographing, it is worth stopping for!

Keep cameras and film in a cool place in the car. The glove compartment and the rear window shelf don't qualify! Inside a case on the floor is a good spot or on the seat in the shade.

Canada has everything to offer. Scenery, festivals, sports events and colorful pageantry. Don't let your camera pass it up this summer!

FRASER VALLEY FALL FAIR SUSPEND PARADE

The Central Fraser Valley Fall Fair will have no parade this year. The decision was made last night by the executive due to long term illness of Parade Marshall J.C. Ellis. The group felt that with Mr. Ellis unable to direct parade activities this year it would be impossible to stage a parade that would measure up to what has been seen in past years. It was hoped that Mr. Ellis could return to work for next year's parade.

Children in the Central Fraser Valley will be able to take part in a new feature at the Fall Fair this year. Directors of the Fairs Association will be asked to approve a suggestion by the Executive for a pet parade and decorated bicycles competition to be held on Childrens Day at the Fair.

A contract with Royal Canadian Shows for rides during the three day fair was signed.

Investigation will be made into changing the title "Miss Abbotsford" to "Miss Central Fraser Valley". It was felt that the queen would then represent the entire district. The present Miss Abbotsford resides in the Sumas municipality.

NATURE'S SCRAPBOOK

BUILT-IN SPRING-BOARD

When the sun rises higher in its daily arc and thaws set in travellers afield will often see the snow covered with tiny dark specks. These are snow fleas, or spring-tails, so called because they are equipped with a built-in spring-board consisting of a tail-like organ that is bent under when the insect is at rest. When this is suddenly straightened, it throws the insect high in the air and several feet away. Through a microscope the spring-tail has a highly ludicrous appearance. Long antennae, large dark eye-spots and forward thrusting hair on head and thorax give it a look of solemn fierceness. In sugar bush country he often makes a nuisance of himself by leaping into the sap buckets. Various species of spring-tails may be found at almost any time of year in damp places.

BAD TEMPERED TREES

Timber probably more fully than any other material contributes to man's comfort and well-being. Certain trees, on the other hand, are positively harmful and malign. There are some which can be approached only at dire risk to life and limb. A vegetable octopus in South America once nearly killed a naturalist and his dog, while there is a "cannibal" tree in Australia capable of trapping a man with its leaves and mangling the lift out of him. The "telegraph tree" of India has electrical properties which can shock the life out of a person with a weak heart. We in British Columbia may count ourselves fortunate that most of our trees, if sometimes knotty, are reasonably content and docile.

HUNTER POPULATION SOARING

The explosive growth of British Columbia's hunting and fishing population since World War II is reflected in revealing statistics issued recently by the provincial Fish and Game Branch.

Number of ordinary firearms licenses (deer) sold since 1945 has more than doubled rising from 37,626 to 78,468. Big game licenses registered an eightfold increase from 5,011 in 1945 to 41,265 in 1961. A steady decline in the fur industry, however, is reflected in figures for special firearms licenses, which dropped from 3,395 to 2,397. Anglers licenses, resident and non-resident, jumped from 41,853 in 1945 to 185,993 in 1961.
