OUR CANADA—OR IS 17? by JANINA OLEJNIK

Canada is obviously a separate and distinct country. This fact would be difficult to prove if it were not for the aid of an atlas. We cannot all grow flat tails, fur and buck teeth or wear garlands of red and blue maple leaves to distinguish ourselves from our southern neighbors or our British and French ancestors. A Canadian, in other words, is unknown as a distinct commodity, both genologically and nationally.

And yet, we are supposed to be proud of Canada and of being a Canadian. We are required to stand at attention and sing "O Canada and of the stand at attention and sing to Canada and of the stand at attention and sing to Canada at a standard at a standa da", at worst a spiritless musical number written by a Frechman, at best a repetitious spiel of glowing assurances that we will stand on guard.

Our flag, despite years of Parliamentary quarreling, is a composite of another nation's. British Columbia has its own flag-if other provinces also adopt one, we will have a choice of ten to pay homage to. This will enable us to travel through Canada without being bored by the sight of a National flag, a sad situation which other countries force on their citizens.

Our history is treated almost as if it were something to be kept in a closet, like the family skeleton. Certainly, few people know anything beyond the date of Confederation, if that. In view of these facts, this writer feels that there is very little distinctly Canadian of which to be proud. Fortunately, all is not lost. By 1967 our Centennial, we could have our own flag, our own athem, and a Canadian history which has been glorified. I urge every citizen who would like to be proud of being a Canadian and cannot, to fight for this end.

Most supposed juvenile delinquents are not those attending school, but young adults in their early 20's. Further, there is less crime at present among teenagers than there was when our parents were teenagers. Often people will High Schools complain that the youth today in schools are nothing more than "bench-warmers" attending Big Winners school for fun. I disagree. If parents were to take advantage of Education Week and look at the House Plans and Vocational Studies of Guidance students, the projects of Home Economics and Industrial Arts students, they would probably agree that there has been a great deal of work put into these.

Finally, if adults feel they have valid com-plaints, why don't they run for School Board, or help in some way to relieve the problems of teenagers through provision of recreational facilities and counselling

HOW TO BOWL FIVEPINS

Chief Bowling Instructors Double Diamond

HOW TO THINK YOURSELF INTO WINNING

You'd be astonished how much your frame of mind has to do with how much you score in the frames you are bowling.

Bowlers often set up mental hurdles in their own mir know they can never bowl more than 190, or 270, or 310; they're sure they can never roll a decen game on some particular lane; they just can't play beside a wall, or next to pillars.

Your mental outlook is more than half the game. If you think in advance that you are going a frame, or pick a headpin, chances are you'll end up doing exactly that.

One of the biggest mental hurdles comes after running up a string of strikes. A good bowler who gets five strikes in a row may suddenly get that queazy feeling in his stomach. For an average bowler the critical point more often comes with the third hit in a row.

Actually, it is the average bowler who is more likely to roll a perfect game than the expert bowler. After a string of strikes the good bowler begins to "play it cute". He starts throwing to hit the headpin thinner and thinner, to reduce his chance of "picking" it. He's trying for the best probable score, not for a perfect game.

Perhaps the best single thing you can do when the tension is on is to repeat to yourself: "I'm going to keep rolling over the centre dart-but I'll roll this ball slower--slower.

In actual fact, you probably won't roll any slower. Under pressure, most bowlers uncor sciously tend to speed up their to break differently-and sud denly they've blown up, just as they feared they would. By con-centrating on rolling more slow ly, you offset this natural speed up.

Many bowlers are sure they can never bowl more than some specific Tigure—say 800 in a three-game series. If they bowl two top-notch games they just their third game will be bad.

Or, there are bowlers who get a bad score one night on a cer-tain lane. From then on, they're convinced they can't possibly bowl well on that lane.

Here's a useful tip to try if centrate on doing just that by doing just that; by deliberate by trying to pick headpine for on your obsession of bowling badly, you'll relieve the tension and nobody is really good enough to pick many headpins deliber

Many bowlers who "just can't bowl next to the wall, or pillars' are really using this as a convenient excuse Our advice there are many even more wonderful excuses for a poor game. Ex-periment with a couple of new ones. You may soon find you don't need the old ones any more.

One of the most nerve-wracking moments in bowling comes when you've blown one frame then left the counter pin standing in the next frame. Your mind is almost sure to be dominated by the thought that you are going to miss that pin.

A corner pin always looks so lonely and small standing there, away down at the end of that 60 foot lane, when you are more used to seeing five pins in a bunch.

Well, even with five pins standing, you only shoot at a single pin-the headpin. That's just the same size target as the corner pin. Keep telling yourself that. You may even manage to convince yourself, after a while.

One final thing: you feel tension only because you've been doing well up to that point. You really have a chance—to win, to break a league record, to score a perfect game. When you have no special chance, then you are just bowling, and there is no pressure. So, the very fact that you are feeling the ten fill you with self-confidence.

Toastmistress Club Meets

By Relda Staff & Joanne Moeller

When confronted with the question of whether we would like to go to a meeting of the Toast mistress Club we were rather hesitant in replying. But, after attending this meeting, we can sincerely say that we found the experience very enjoyable.

Upon reaching Newlands Golf Club, on Thurs. evening we were greeted and introduced to the members. Despite heavy snow fall, it was very heartening to see the large attendance. The meeting itself was very interesting. Mrs. Margaret Green as Topic mistress, introduced theme "Suppressed Desires" for from the wish of being a Siamese Cat to living the life of a Beatnik. The speakers were all very convincing, and at times we also felt we would like to become cats.

The meeting turned to a more by the Parliamentarian concern ing the proper procedure of meeting. Following this, a panel of Evaluators from the Skyline Toastmistress Club of Vancou ver spoke about the good' and the small mistakes made during the meeting. The club especially praised for their original and interesting meth accepting a new member. A time was set aside for questions after the panel's discussion. We found this question period to be very valuable because it showed that the members truly desire to learn the art of becoming accom plished Toastmistresses.

Earle Porter is one of 850 Imperial employees who supply B.C. people with oil products at bargain prices. Take Esso gasoline-motorists throughout B.C. buy it at an average price of $6\frac{1}{10}$ cents a pound. That's a real bargain ... even common table salt costs more per pound. And of the 610 cents paid per pound for gasoline, two cents is for federal and provincial taxes that provide you with such things as social services and new highways.

To bring you this bargain, since 1951 alone Imperial has invested more than $80,000,000 in B.C. That's more than $90,000 per employee...and this doesn't include wages and other operating expenses which have increased year by year. Yet today, on the average, Imperial gets less for the Esso gasoline it sells in B.C. than ten years ago...and Esso gasoline today is much more powerful than ten years ago.

EDUCATION-The Measure of a Nation

The Lieutenant-Governor / in Council has been pleased to pro claim the week of March 4-10 as "Education Week". "It is valuable to have time set aside when we can give particular thought to so vital a process in the lives of all of us," said L. R. Peter son, Minister of Education to "Education-the Measure of a Nation-is the slogan selected to guide our thinking this year,, and the sub-theme,-Accent think, a matter which has be come the concern of all of us in recent years, whether we be educators or leaders in the Government, labour, business or social worlds.

"During this Education Weel let us resolve then, first of all, our measuring instrumen shall be adequate. Nothing short of excellence should satisfy us. Let us be determined not to be disturbed by cynical comments about unobtainable ideals. It still remains true that a man's reach should exceed his grasp, and the thing we need most to fear is an uncritical adherence to the standards of a faded yesterday no longer adequate for the needs to-day, and to-morrow.

"We can be thankful for the design so carefully prepared by wise and vigorous pioneers. At the same time we must avoid a comfortable acceptance of the well-worn hand-me-downs of past successes, and strive as strong a spirit to face the demands of our own times as our own forefathers showed to their world. I believe that of all the enemies, imagined and real which we need to fear to-day, the most devastating can be the enemy within-our own inclination to slumber when all the bugles of a new world are sounding reveille.

"Inevitably the attempt to provide universal education to a higher level for a spreading population has created the danger of dilution: quantity threatens to destroy quality. Inescapably urgencies of a dawning technological age sometimes lay us open to hurried fumblings and misdirection. These are the kinds of problems we must recognize and face, with the hope that there is yet time to accomplish our task.

"The continued progress o any country will depend finally upon the development of its human resources. It has been said that education is the primary investment of any commonwealth. The truth of this, however, lies broader concept of education than mere rule-of-thum mechanical competence. It includes the quality of moral ex cellence which gives purpose to all our undertakings and carries us beyond individual attainment, even past our own national boundaries, to include the welfare of all mankind. Ours is the responsibility to recognize and set upon this. By so doing we shall not fail to challenge the best in the future citizens of Canada, whose education has been entrusted to us."

THE ROLE OF THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

If a person were to visit ele nentary schools in Prairie, Alberta; North Bay Ontario; Sydney, Nova Scotia or Langley, B.C. his impression of the schools and their educational programmes would be a composite of many great similarities and differences.

No simple rule, no genera stereotype, and no broad set of generalizations can explain adr., and the sub-theme,—Accent equately the present-day Cana-Excellence, underlines, I dian elementary school. Schools are complex social institutions, just as the Johns, Marys, and Nancys who attend them are complex human beings

> Attempts to understand the elementary school must be based on the immportant ideas which underlie its development, upon the breadth and variation of its practices on its common, persisting organizational problems, and on the realities of children. teachers, and parents, who by their hopes and efforts make these educational programmes possible and significant. Thus the elementary school is charac terized by both uniformity and variation. There is a major role, however, that is found written into the programmes of each elementary school in this coun

The basic responsibility of the elementary school, as designed by the people of B.C., is to help children become more effective members of a demo cratic society. The watchword of the elementary school continues to be "good citizenship" rather than the preparation for university, or for some particu lar job. An appreciation of this responsibility is necessary before some of the differences be tween the programmes of second ary and elementary schools car be understood. The elementary school is con ceived as having a major obligation to help young children become increasingly competent to meet and deal with the prob lems of growing up to be con structive, participating members of our society. The emphasis is on helping a child meet his obligations as a member of his home, peer group, community province, nation, and School world in so far as these obligations are meaningful and im portant for a six, seven, eight nine, ten, élèven or twelve year old. There is never the inter tion to create a miniature adult or to recreate the adult world for a seven year old. The edu cational programme is planned so that seven year olds grow in to eight year olds, and to nine or ten year olds within the frame work of their own terms.

The phrase "good citizenship is nebulous and cries for greater definition. The idea has inherent in its meaning that a citizen of a mass society known as demo cracy be developed equally as an individual person of good character. What, then, are we saying by this? Simply, as the schools Programme of B.C. Studies so nobly states, the elementary programme de velops children in two ways:-

What Education Can Do For Me

Here are the results of the age is almost a nerv essay contest run by the "News" for Education Week. The grade Sixers in the elementary schools at Otter, North Otter, Aldergrove,, County Line, and Mt. Lehman (Dunach) were given the topic "What Education Means

The essays were judged on content and style, Gilda Kuhar of Aldergrove Elementary was chosen winner. Here is her prize winning essay.

I feel there are three important parts to my education, work ing togther to give me a better future. These are my Christian or home education, my school or formal education and my musi cal education.

My formal education is mainly learning the basic subjects. These will help me now and in years to solve problems whether in my home or career show me where and how we and other people live and have lived. Most important of all I feel the school education will prepare me for a good career and life.

My Christian or home educaand church, and teaches me what is wrong and right. In the ten commandments are found the laws of my country. This helps me to be a better citizen and be respectful of my parents, teachers and government.

My musical education is also important. Music will give me relaxation and happy times with my family and others, while everyone in this atomic

A LIBERAL EDUCATION

Education is a life-long process, it is never completed, never broad enough, never deep enough never comprehensive Any man who ceases to have in tellectual curiosity, who refuse to exploit to the full his intellect ual endowment is the poorer. In some ways such a man loses his own dignity, for the impoverished mind fails to perceive the richness and the wonder of the physical and mental world, Edu cation must always be thought of as continuing throughout ou lives; when formal programme of studies are completed only a beginning has been made. The real challenge and rewards still lie ahead for every man and every woman who is willing to wisdom, knowledge, and to become an individual who has confidence in himself and what he knows. At the same time it should guide him into becoming a person who is respected and trusted by his fellow man."

"Good citizenship" in the free society that is Canada, also has within that term the understanding that all pupils in the elementary school master the fundamental skills of learning, each to the limit of his ability; that all pupils be aided to develop healthy bodies; that all children in elementary schools commence a study of those things that are great and valuable in history the sciences, and the arts; to seek out and develop their special talents and potentalities, and overcome their handicaps or weaknesses.

It is obvious that all five of these groups of abilities are a part of all teaching in all areas and all levels of the elementary school. They are the important "common denominators" educational experiences children have in the elementary school. Too often an elementary school is judged adequate or inadequate soley on what the pro vince's citizenry feels is the school's concern or lack of con cern for phonics, spelling, com arithmetic, or handwriting without any considera tion given to the larger and more important aspects of an adequate educational programme. Thus, "good citizenship" is the major role of the elementary school in a free country. It is the broad but simple title to all that a democratic society feels is necessary and worthwhile to the individual people who are learning in the schools set up and progressively improved by each generation of the adult "good citizens" of our province.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES

A board of school trustees could be likened to the directors of a company and a rather large company at that. The Langley Board of School Trustees has a provisional budget for 1962 of over $1,700,000, and the school district has appraised assets of $2,514,000

We, as school trustees, like good company directors endeavour to spend money wisely and try to maintain our assets in the tion is given me by my parents best possible condition. The likeness between a business and a school board ends here because with a business the product can either be accepted or reject1 assembly line. The "product" that the school system turns out is the young men and women of to-day and this product cannot be immediately assessed.

Before the time for this assesment arrives the Langley School Board is doing everything in its power to make sure it produces a high quality "product". The Langley School Board has regular public meetings, the second and fourth Tuesday of every month. However we meet on nearly every "off" Tuesday as well. The purpose of these "off" Tuesday meetings are to investigate ways and means of turning out a better "product" from our Langley schools. Some of these meetings have proved very fruitful for the Langley School District. After having the directo and Florida speak to the Board we hired our present director and embarked on our "steppedup" adult education programme This has proved very successful with the enrollment of over 1100 in this year's programme.

The School District is a mem ber of the Boundary Health Unit and we feel that we have a good health programme in operation. The School Board however is also very concerned with the mental health of the students and it is because of this that we have a 'special counsellor" on our district staff and have been trying for some time now to obtain the services of a clinical psychologist to aid in the development of a better mental health programme for our students. We as a School Board, feel that the teacher should have every aid possible to help turn out a better student. It is with thought in mind that we became the first school district in Canada to rent Compton's encyclo pedias and have a set in every classroom from Grades 4 to 9 This School District was one of the first to carry on an experiment in programme learning We are now investigating the possibility of equipping an old bus as a bookmobile to bring more and better books to the schools. A member of the School Board is going to attend a conference at U.B.C. this month dealing with the pros and cons of TV in the classrooms. Some of the other "aides" that we have supplied the classroom teacher are: a primary supervisor, a music supervisor and principals at the elementary level. The School Board is very interested in a vocational school for this area and a Junior Colconducting a very thorough in-ves igation into all the possibili-be in the ties of obtaining these schools in Langley.

These, very briefly, are some Board has completed or is working on to endeavour to turn out and I hope a better "product" you will join YOUR School Board in making Education Week a success. I urge you to do all in your power to make education a success every week in the year.

OUR SCHOOLS

I have been kindly invited to make a few comments upon our schools and am delighted to do

Before I actually engaged upon active service I spent considerable time in writing down what I imagined to be the requirements of an ideal school system from the point of the parent, the teacher, the trustee, the superintendent and the pupil, follow ing this up with considerable reading on the subject. In the last year I have been gratified to find how far this school system has anticipated what I have in mind, and this is particularly noteworthy in my present study within the classrooms of our district, which if it is not ually eating the pudding it is certainly getting the fragrance right up to last night when we were being kindly briefed as to the requirements if we hoped to build a Community College or Liberal Arts College in the dis trict. There is a fundamental difference between today's high school and that of thirty years ago. Our British Columbia secondary school system is designed to serve every man's child. Their contention is that if their price of butter to the consumer is lowered, it will increase the consumption and it will nar row the gap between margarine and butter thereby increasing the use of butter. The Dairy Council has also asked the Government to make sure there is no increase in the manufact ure of milk products beyond the 1961 levels until the surplus situation is corrected. A Governmen spokesman said an internation al food bank would be valuable in helping to eradicate farm surpluses.

> A measure has been introduced by the Minister of Veterans' Affairs to amend the Veterans' Land Act to extend the period during which a veteran may qualify for benefits; to establish dates on which persons shall be deemed to be discharged; to extend the repayment period of loans; to enable the Director to arrange group life insurance for veterans on a voluntary basis: to increase the rate of interest where a property reverts to the Director; to increase the maximum assistance under Part 11; to provide further financial assistance to certain full-time farmers; to provide further financial assistance to part-time farmers and commercial fishermen; to extend the purposes for which a Part 11 loan may be used; to extend the uses to which proceeds of a sale or other disposition of land may be put; and to provide for the release to a veteran of a portion of the land on which he is established.

EDUCATION WEEK

Education Week in Canada 1962, will be like every other 'special' week, largely ignored. mless we decide to do something outstanding. To do some-thing special, if not done before, is very difficult. However, our participation in Education Week if it is to be a 'special' week must involve us in doing something either by word, by deed or by both. The following suggestions are offered. A few months ago, or a little nore than a year ago, by mark ing our ballot we helped elect individuals to become school trustee. A trustee, as a member of a Board, becomes res ponsible for determining polic ies to control the operation of the schools. Have we forgotten?

Since that time the five trustees, have been intensely busy about our business in providing for the schooling of the children in this community. Have we ever spoken to or written to the trustees or the Board to let them know how we appreciate what they are doing, or to inform them as to how they could develop better polic

There is a considerable staff employed to help to direct our children to grow into adults of character, eager to continue their quest for knowledge, under standing and wisdom.

When did we last say 'thank you' to the bus drivers, the custodians, the teachers or others so as to strengthen them by the knowledge that we appreciate and support them in what they are trying to do?

This involves little important words we could and should use. Perhaps Education Week is the time to use them.

Some people have special talents or possessions that could be shared with the children of the community. This could be done by volunteering our services to one or more of the school principals; like the mothers who are sewing costumes the mother who gives specia instruction in folk dancing or like the father of young children who is coaching senior high school students in rugby.

The Band auxiliaries and P.T.A. groups have room for projects to further the district's educational programmes.

The next meeting will be held in the hall on Wednesday March 21st at 2 p.m. with Mrs. Ellen Kristoff and Mrs. E. Desmarais as hostesses

A Military Whist will be held in the Patricia Community Hall on Wednesday March 14th at friends on the 17th March were 8 p.m. Come and bring your made. The Institute have agreed friends for an enjoyable evening.

Legislative Report

By JIM RHODES, M.L.A. (Delta) Last week saw the conclusion of the Budget Debate and the commencement of the debates on the departmental estimates The first estimate was that of while farming. the premier, who is also the Minister of Finance. This debate centred mainly around power development in the province. The Premier made it clear that this may not be far off". government stands for simultan ous development of the Colum bia and Peace rivers. The Op position claims that it is uneco nomical to develop these pro jects at the same time, and that there is no foreseeable market for electricity in British Columbia from both. It would be thus necessary to export electricity to the United States, and as such vould result in the export of jobs and industries which need in British Columbia. Total estimated cost of these two projects is two billion dollars. The Premier has stated emphatically that if he encounters any ex tensive opposition, either inside or outside the Legislature, he is prepared to call an election.

It is my opinion that Ottawa is not prepared to give in to the Premier and that we could have provincial election in British Columbia by this summer.

During the Premier's estimates I called again for the removal of all tolls in British Columbia to which Mr. Bennett replied "The B.C. government will build ferries". He also asserted that he hoped to remove existing tolls as soon as possible. Earlier in the session I had pointed out that all the tolls could be re moved at a cost of only four million dollars a year. It could well be that the Premier intends to remove tolls just prior to the next provincial election.

The Premier also spoke or a plan for taxing farmers. This would involve zoning farm lands an indispensable pre-requisite for future economic growth".

A country with a high educa-Sional development will have a high per capita income, re-gardless of whether its natural resources are high or low.

In our community over recent years local taxation has accounted for some 34% of local school

Is the Langley school system able to do the best job to ensure that a high level of personal income will be assured? Are we seriously investing in education?

It may be that our investment education is controlled by the slow pace of the compara-tively simple days of the first half of this century, rather than recognition of the competitive investment being made in education in other lands.

The new developing countries are not hampered by obsoles Education Week may be the time to consider the adequacy of our local investment in educa-

In the past five years the Committee has given out $15,315 worth of scholarships and loans $4,725 of this has been raised by the committee through its annual campaign. Few people realize that every teacher in Langley District with the help of ex-teachers and students from all over the world help contribute towards the scholarship fund. The remainder has been scholarships offered by local organizations, individuals, and firms.

In June of 1961, the Committee awards totalled $3700, yet it had more applications than ever before, evidence of the continuing and growing need for schol-arship assistance.

SEA CADET NEWS

Due to the snow storm on Thursday, the Olympic wrestlers previously invited, arrived later than expected. There was talk of calling the show off but they decided to give us an abbreviated exhibition. They demonstrated the proper method of holding an opponent, then proceeded to give the boys instruction in acquiring these holds.

Able cadet Forsythe was promoted to Leading cadet.

All the previous parades were called off due to the revival of winter over the week end.
