Premier Bennett agrees

With little fanfare but with a great sense of accomplishment Premier Bennett announced that complete agreement had been reached by the U.S. and Canada regarding the Columbia River Project.

Premier Bennett said the Columbia river agreement was the greatest day in the economic history of the Province. The late 1960s and 1970s will see the greatest development in North America.

It was learned that in the final agreement the U.S. will pay around $420 million to Canada for the downstream benefits received by the U.S. in the construction of dams and the harnessing of the river for power in both Countries.

Magistrate W.A. Walker administering the oath of office to Reeve J.A. Murphy, Councillor W. Scott and Councillor Jacob Janzen. Re-elected Councillor J.G. Neufeld was confined to hospital with an attack of pneumonia but is expected to return to his duties within a few days.

FAMILY ESCAPES FIRE

A Langley couple was lucky to escape overnight as fire ripped through their two storey home in the Glen Valley district.

The blaze, at 25696 Grey Road, Langley, totally destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Morey and their 3 children.

Mr. Morey was awakened by his wife in their smoke-filled bedroom as the fire ripped through the walls in the old wooden frame house. The couple managed to get their 3 children out of their beds to safety. No one was injured.

Four men from the Volunteer Brigade in Fort Langley battled the stubborn blaze for over five hours, but were unable to save the building. However, firemen cut a hole in the wall and, wearing masks and air packs, were able to save much of the larger furniture.

Assistant Fire Marshall Alf Watson says the fire was caused by an old coal and wood furnace in the basement.

The Moreys and the children - Clifford, 7, Ronald, 12, and Patricia, 17 - are temporarily staying with neighbours. Mrs. Morey told the News there was some insurance on both the house and the furniture.

Mrs. Morey also said she would like to pass along thanks to the help the family has received from the Fort Langley firemen and the neighbours in the area.

RCMP RECOVER STOLEN CAR

Langley City RCMP overnight recovered a car stolen from a city resident on January 3.

Police say there was no one in the vehicle at the time of recovery.

An investigation is continuing into the theft of the car.

FATALITY FREE YEAR

For the first time, workers in member sawmills of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers Association have completed a calendar year without a fatal accident.

Since 1925, the first year of the Association's safety activity, there has been a steady reduction in fatalities, but 1963 was the first calendar year without a death attributable to a sawmill accident.

W.M. Allison, senior Safety Director with the Council of Forest Industries, pointed out that in 1925 with 4000 workers, there was an average of one fatality per month.

"Now, with 13,000 workers, served by the Safety Program, we have had a year without any fatalities," he said.

Nursery and hobby shop combined in Aldergrove business

How many local residents have been inside the Haida Nursery and Hobby Shop, on the Trans Canada Highway just west of Aldergrove? Almost everyone knew where Petersen's Floral and Garden Shop was and the Haida Nursery is the same location.

Opened last April, the nursery section did not get off to a very early start but preparations are well on the way for a full year in 1964.

The two partners, Milton Wildfong and Dave Shantz, have built a pretty rockery at the back of the premises and the business will feature rock plants. Plans are under way for a Fuschia Show to take place about the time of Mother's Day, in May.

All kinds of nursery and plant supplies are stocked in that department.

Entirely different is the hobby section. Everything from ceramics, silk screen prints, mosaic sets, driftwood art, models to build, painting and copperwork supplies, wooden trays and plaques with colorful Indian designs and even postcards with unusual designs. Dave Shantz is also doing a little carving.

"DON'T SMOKE" SAY RESEARCHERS

A science panel has concluded that heavy cigarette smoking is the principle cause of cancer of the lungs and larynx and health hazard so grave as to call for action on the part of those responsible for the health of the nation.

The ten man special advisory committee took 14 months to complete 8,000 studies of the effect of smoking on health.

It was found that there is evidence that smoking is one of the causes of cancer of the esophagus bladder, stomach, dimness of vision, and the liver. . . Women who smoke during pregnancy tend to have babies of lower than the usual birth weight.

With regard to lung cancer, cigarette smoking is usually related to lung cancer in men; the magnitude of the effect of cigarette far outweighs all other factors. . .The data for women, though less extensive, points in the same direction.

The risk of developing lung cancer increases with the duration of smoking as well as to the intensity and is diminished by discontinuing smoking.

In comparison with non-smokers have approximately a nine to ten-fold risk of developing lung cancer and heavy smokers a twenty fold risk.

HAIDA NURSERY and Hobby Shop, in the premises formerly operated by Petersen's Floral & Garden Shop, will have been open for one year in April. They are planning a good stock of plants, etc. for the coming year and have a good stock of hobby materials.

COGHLAN GIRL THROWN FROM HORSE

Young Kathy Twemlow and her cousin, Patricia Twemlow, were horseback riding on Kendall Road on New Year's Day when a couple of youths passed on a motorcycle travelling at full speed. Kathy's horse reared and threw her, causing a break near the shoulder on her left arm.

Kathy is the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Twemlow, 6113 Coghlan Road, Aldergrove, and Patricia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Twemlow, 6189 Coghlan Road, is 12 years old.

WHO CARES?

by MARGARET GREEN

Who cares? Those two words were used three times in a short news item on the front page of one of the big dailies on Thursday.

British women are using finger stalls on their high heels to protect office floors but Vancouver girls won't co-operate. They think only of the appearance of their heels and nothing of the employers' floors. And probably have no interest whatsoever in their employers or their businesses, other than the dollars they can get out of them for the least possible effort expended. One girl stated she doesn't wear shoes at home; neither do a great many other women.

Consideration of others and personal responsiblity as citizens seems to be almost entirely lacking these days. Selfishness seems to be the keynote. Lack of responsibility as citizens shows in the small turnout in municipal, provincial or federal elections, and in small turnouts at club meetings, Boards of Trade, and similar organizations. Only a small proportion of the general public seems to care what happens for the good of all. In the educational field, parents in general sit back and let the teachers do the training unaided, but if anything happens which they don't understand they certainly make their voices heard.

It has been said recently that the present generation of "young married" people is being much more strict in the upbringing of their children than their own parents were. Let us hope that this foretells the end of the "Who Cares?" generation.

GUEST EDITORIAL

CENTENNIAL

BY T. GASCOIGNE

The advertisement carried in the local papers which read "Interested persons and organizations are invited to submit their ideas for the celebration of Canada's Centennial in 1967" did not carry a statement of the amount of money involved - which automatically limited the search for good positive thought on the subject.

This locally untried system reminds us of a similar system used by large manufacturers. Their lobbies are equipped with Suggestion Boxes for the use of the employees - suggestions supposedly to be used for ideas to improve the firm's product or for the improvement of administration.

In many instances, ideas were forthcoming, and a few of them were worthwhile. However, most of the suggestions were frivolous, but, even from these, lessons were learned. A person well versed in the understanding of the human mind was able to piece together the general feelings of the employees with regard to the management. Many budding revolts were nipped in the bud as the suggestions grew more sarcastic and more numerous. This is one of the reasons why the larger companies employ public and labor relations staff.

Some of the suggestions offered by the employees were quite pertinent of nature and dealt in personalities, even to outlining the person's general character and the character of all his ancestors - such remarks as 'Drop dead', 'Tie a can on it', and many others unprintable were received. Some, of course, were the product of persons obviously suffering from mental evacuation alongwith others of radical leanings. All were closely studied and each one was a clue to the healthy or unhealthy condition of the work force.

From these Suggestion Boxes, there finally emerged a clear picture and from this picture the management was able to read a useful pattern in order to eliminate future disturbances.

To get back to Canada's Centennial: nothing as pictured above is expected to result from the innocuous advertisement placed in the local papers. This method is used for the purpose of allowing public participation in the choice of Centennial structures. It is a worthy idea and breaks down any post mortem grievances and incriminations.

To find ideas which are acceptable to all our residents is an utter impossibility. Even those who are charged with actuating 'Dedwud Heights' do not expect it. Nor do the Council of the City. It is suggested there will be many ideas couched by persons and by organizations. Out of the many, there will be one or more which will prove acceptable to be discussed at the meeting to be held jointly between the Council of the City and members of the Municipality.

As we have mentioned before, it would be far better for the people to make the initial suggestions. And it would be far better for the Councils to refrain from any suggestions at all. In a matter of this kind, the duty of the councils is to carry out the wishes of the residents - not the reverse.

Before making any suggestions, it is imperative that all ideas be considered from an angle of a useful structure that can be used by all the people. Any thought of a structure that does not fulfill this primary condition should never be acceptable.

Now, let us go forward towards a truly Centennial structure worthy of our traditions and the future.

AROUND TOWN

PUZZLE

By MARGARET GREEN

Reference was made last week in another local paper to an "obscene" book on the shelves of the Aldergrove Secondary School library. Checking up on this with the correct authorities we find it is a teacher's reference book on the prescribed reading list for a course at the U.B.C. It inadvertantly got onto the school library shelves but only one student borrowed it before it was found out. As explained to me, used in its proper perspective, it could not be classed as "obscene."

Last week, I credited the wrong organization with a prize draw. The results were left on my typewriter and the heading was "Xmas Draw Winners,"-nothing else but the list of names. No one else was around at the time I typed it up and I knew the Legion had a "beef" draw because I had a ticket on it. So. . . PLEASE write the name of your organization clearly on anything you hand in. Otherwise, it is not always possible to go around asking people where the item came from.

We wonder who is responsible for breaking those fine new lights at the County Line interchange of the freeway? One is completely dead and the two next to it have their glass covers shattered.

Speaking of the freeway - it will be a boon when signs are put up at the County Line interchange. People are constantly getting "lost" up there now. We watched a car turning then backing up for a couple of minutes the other night. When we asked if we could help he said he was trying to find the road to Abbotsford. Friends who had not been out for some months found themselves heading for Abbotsford before they realized they must have taken the wrong road. We have occasion to use this road daily now and just before 8 a.m. it is a hive of activity, then again around 6 in the evening, a foretaste of things to come!

While two little girls were riding horseback on New Year's Day two youths on a motorcycle came by. As they passed the girls they yelled at the tops of their voices and revved the motor up resulting in one of the horses rearing and throwing its rider, so one of the mothers tells me. The little girl suffered a badly broken arm. There are many youngsters like these riding around nowadays and what are they to do when hoodlums like these do such tricks?

Walking down the street this moring (Tuesday) I noticed that bulb shoots are showing in some of the planter boxes.

United Church News

The first general meeting of the United Church Women for 1964 was held in the Church Hall on Monday afternoon, January 6th. President Mrs. Fletcher was in the chair.

Mrs. Eddy led the group for the devotional and the theme for this period of prayer and meditation was "The Light of The World".

During the business session of the meeting, plans were made for the World Day of Prayer service to be held in Aldergrove United Church on February 14. There will be a reminder of this service again at a later date.

The treasurer's report showed the women had given generously of their time and money and had accomplished much during 1963.

When the business was adjourned, Mrs. Barichello of Murrayville spoke to the group and shared her experience at a Retreat for Women held at Banff Theme for the three-day conference was Christian Women in the World Today.

Guiding the group in thought and discussion were Mrs. Clifford Bender, Official Observer for the Methodist Church (USA) at the United Nations and Mrs. J.C. Fowler, wife of a Presbyterian minister in New Jersey.

Among the many things Mrs. Bender suggested, perhaps the most important was for women to carry Christian ideals in all things. In her address, Mrs. Fowler was trying to stress the ever-present need of the helping hand, a real effort to understand one another, and at all times for Christian women to show an example.

These thoughts and the fine way they were presented by Mrs. Barichello were an inspiration to all the women present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Millen and Mrs. Hall.

Susies Sallies . . .

New Year's resolution . . . to have my news and our little chat complete ahead of deadline time . . . wonder if I will make it. Did anybody miss me? I hope that someone noticed Susie has been missing for three weeks now

Pot Pourri on the menu for today . . . Bonna Jean, oldest offspring of myself and himself, gave grandmother a unique Christ mas present. It was a book, written by herself. Each page was a different story. Actually, it could be called a credit book. Every page entitled Grandmother to a different duty to be paid off cheerfully by the presentor, Bonna Jean. The pages included such items a (1) looking after Miki, (2) one ironing on a day when I don't have to, (3) one making of your bed (4) one vacuuming of your room (5) one vacuuming of any room in the house on a day when I don't have to. She included a few little treats for herself too, one was good for "one hug and kiss". We find the other credit notes are immediately torn up but these are returned to the book for use again and again. Another item is good for one trip to Vancouver, grandmother and granddaughter alone. Thes are the kind of gifts that children can best give and parents and grandparents appreciate. Jimmy gave the same kind of a book to his father a few years ago, including shoe shining, cleaning up the yard taking out garbage.

Golden Wedding Day for grandmother and grandfather turned out to be a success. It wouldn't dare be anything else. The weather was lvely so many visitors came from Vancouver and towns east. I dindn't cry and disgrace the family when giving my little talk. There were over 200 visitors at the open house. All the children in attendance were angels. Grandmother was radiant and Grandfather was not at all impatient to go home. Telegrams were received from all sorts of dignitaries and family. Grandfather was happy to receive a telegram from a man who had been trained on the railroad with grandpa and had worked grandpa's last trip with him. Grandmother's gift of this sort was a beautiful poem composed and read by one of her first school students, now a Chilliwack resident. All in all, is I said before it was a wonderful day and the good feeling was spread much further, too, with grandmother and grandfather taking their flowers to all their shut in friends, and hospitals. Hope that my 50th anniversary of being wed to himself will be as happy and blessed.

More than 4,500,000 cars and trucks have been built at the huge assembly plant of General Motors of Canada in Oshawa.

DRUM BEAT

"Honey," said 'The Light of My Life' . . . "I'll need you for four days this week."

"Four days?!" I said. "For crying out loud!"

"Four days - as well as Sunday," she went on.

"That's five days!" I grumbled, knowing it was useless to argue.

"Sundays don't count," she said, "That's the day you drive me to church, you heathen."

"I resent that remark. I am not a heathen."

"Sometimes you act like one," she said.

"You'll have to buy some gas for the car," I said, "if you expect me to drive you around for five days."

"Alright," she agreed. "How much does a gallon of gasoline cost?"

"Gasoline is 42¢ a gallon. You will need a tankful - if not more."

"I'll buy a whole gallon," she said. "No more. I don't need you that bad!"

"One of these days," I began...

"Never mind," she interposed. "On Monday we go to Vancouver to visit my sister and I want to look at a new dress while I am in there."

"On one gallon of gas?" I screamed. "A new dress?"

"Yes," she said, "a new dress - you promised me one."

"Sure," I agreed, "I did promise you one - and you got it. That blue one."

"I don't like it."

"Oh?" I said. "You don't like it? What did you buy it for if you don't like it?"

"I though I liked it when I bought it. Anyway, I've worn it twice already. You surely don't expect me to wear the same old dress forever, do you?"

"Twice is forever?"

"Now, now," she said, "don't be an old meany. I know you like me to look nice and expensive. I only dress up for you so you'll be proud of me."

"You'll break me."

"No, I won't. And, even if I do," she said, "it'll be worth it, I think."

"You think?"

"On Tuesday, you take me to the hairdresser. On Wednesday . . . "

"Whoa!" I said. "Are you going to change the color of your hair again?"

"I go to look at the new hats," she went on, ignoring my remarks about her hair.

"Honey . . . "

"I should have a pair of new white gloves and a little scarf to match . . ."

"Give me the 42¢ for the gasoline," I said, "before you go for broke."

"I'll give you the gas money when we've used the gas. If I give it to you now, you'll only go out and spend it. I know you. And we can have supper at one of those nice steak houses . . " she dreamed on and on and on . . .

MATSQUI COUNCIL MEETS

Councillor J. G. Neufeld was missing from the Council chamber due to an attack of pneumonia. He was still confined to hospital but was allowed up for a short period last Sunday.

Most of the evening was taken up by a complaint by residents of the odors arising from mink farms and broiler plants. Council discussed the position of the Municipality as regards this nuisance and decided that further investigation was called for.

The writer is envious of the well cushioned chairs upon which the Councillors bottom . . . The chairs provided for the newspaper attendants seem very hard after sitting up to three hours in rapt attention, however. . .

A committee of one asked the Council for support of a new building for the Fair Board. He suggested that a part of the Cnetennial Memorial fund be set aside for this purpose. . .However the Council were of the opinion that the Federal Government would not go along with the idea as the fair board were usually awarded grants by the Government for this purpose.

The Council thought that the fair grounds were far too small at the present time and took under consideration a scheme for the provision of a larger tract of land, in the vicinity of fifty acres, where larger and more premanent quarters could be erected. . .At the present time the land that the Fair board use is leased to them by the Council for a period of five years, three of them still to go.

It was further thought that any building erected on future fair grounds should be dual purpose so that the building could be used at all times by residents for any purpose, which would make any new project a focal point for the entire Municipality.

Because of a slight tie-up in the office, the first column of the New Year was delayed until this week. So here I am, again. And I have a whole pile of news ---from the past as well as the present. The Senior Girl's Basketball Team played an exhibition game against the Junior Boys the week before Christmas exams began --- and lost. The boys picked up an 18-13 win with Dave Warren as their high scorer Edie Chieduch was tops for the girls.

Langley Senior Girls handed our gals a very fancy Christmas present all done up in ribbons and bows in the form of a 33-8, A.H.S. victory. The compact but rather extravagant gift didn't have a "Do not open until Christmas" sticker on it so our girls, anxious for a peek hurried to tear it open. Edie Chieduch led the way with 20 points. By the way, the unwrapping ceremony took place the last Thursday before Christmas Holidays.

On a pre-Christmas tournament at Chilliwack our Junior Boys placed second --- to Abby. Bet we'll se some more fireworks like that from that team before the season's over or I'll --- nope! I won't either! It could be embarrassing.

The combined forces of L.S.S. and A.H.S. lost to Richmond on "Reach For the Top" Tuesday, December 10. Richmond was first on the scoreboard. However, our Laura Traas piled up 25 points in the word game and our valley team battled its way onto the scoreboard too. After the first few nervous moments the teams seemed quite evenly matched.

Now back to more recent events The annual Horsecollar Trophy Basketball game was held last Thursday at noon with the Student Council again Capturing the trophy with an 11-4 win over the teachers.

Then Thursday after school our Junior Girls met up with Abby Juniors and didn't come off too badly at all, losing by only 6 points. The final score was 27-21 and Edie Chieduch was A.H.S. high scorer with 13 points.

And, the first beaque game of the season was held in Port Moody last Friday night. Our Senior Girls, all set for the league opener, were handed disappointment as they walked in. Seems Port Moody coaches forgot to sone and notify our team that Port Moody did not have a Senior Girls' Team. Junior Boys lost to Port Moody, 32-17, while the Senior Boys, in a hard fought game, lost to Port Moody, also --45-30.

In a quick draw in the office, Friday morning, it was decided that Pete Gubbe, Roberta Muralt and Mike Penzer would represent A.H.S. in the quiz programme against Langley later this month. Wonder what kind of a battle old "Lang Home" as Mr. Thompson puts it, will put up.

See you next week. Don't forget to turn out to the first home league game next Friday. By the way, the new scoreboard should be up by then too.

POPULAR GOLF SHOW BEGINS THIRD SEASON

Television's most popular golf program - "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" - will return to the air for its third season Sunday, January 19, on the CBC-TV network. It will feature the current holders of all five major titles in professional golf and the first truly international women's match to be filmed for a television audience.

"Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" will be televised on 11 successive Sundays through March 29. Times will be 3:30 p.m., Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific. Atlantic time will be 4:30 p.m. The show will also be televised on the same day in color on the NBC-TV Network.

The champions who will be seen on the program, and the five major titles they now hold, are: Julius Boros, U.S. Open; Jack Nicklaus, Masters and PGA; Bob Charles, British Open; and Mickey Wright, U.S. Ladies PGA.

The opening program on Jan. 19 is the match between Julius Boros and Miguel Sala at the Country Club de Bogota, Bogota, Colombia. In addition to being the current U.S. Open champion, Boros was recently selected the PGA Golfer of the Year. Salas is regarded as one of South America's leading professionals having won no less than 35 opens on that continent.

Of particular interest to Canadians is the fifth match of the series, between Stan Leonard, long regarded as Canada's top professional, and George Knudson, fast-rising young touring pro from Toronto. The match, played at beautiful Capilano Golf & Country Club in West Vancouver, is described by Gene Sarazen as the most exciting he has ever seen in 40 years of golf. The Leonard-Knudson match will be televised Feb. 16.

Miss Wright appears in the first international women's match to be filmed for television against Europe's outstanding woman golfer, Brigitte Varangot of France, who is the current British Women's Amateur champion. Their exciting contest at the Estoril Golf Club, Estoril, Portugal, will be the second program in the series, Jan. 26.

D.R. Prior, Shell Public Relations Manager, said the company is sponsoring the show for the third successive year because of its great popularity as shown by the audience ratings. He said these ratings indicated 50% to 100% more people watched the "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" than any other regularly scheduled golf show.

Viewers have indicated that the popularity of the show is due to its unusual approach to the game and its' worldwide scope. Besides recording 18 holes of top-notch golf, the program analyzes each course and the strategy of the players. It contrasts their styles and techniques and explains how each golfer's strengths and weaknesses call for different tactics. Commentators again this year will be Gene Sarazen and George Rogers.

A facet of the show with special appeal for golfers is the clinic at the end of each show. The professionals in the match give tips on techniques and demonstrate in slow motion their most effective strokes.

Also adding to the show's popularity is the filmed travelog about the host country which precedes each match. It catches the distinctive flavour of each region and gives viewers a look at the people and the way they live. The commercials blend smoothly with this travelog atmosphere and have won praise from viewers for their informative and entertaining approach.

The matches are:

Julius Boros and Migeul Sala at Country Club de Bogota, Colombia; Mickey Wright and Brigitte Varangot, Estoril Golf Club, Portugal; Dave Marr and Flory Van Donck, Royal Golf Club de Belgique, Belgium; George Knudson and Stan Leonard, Capilano Golf & Country Club, West Vancouver, B.C.; Tony Lema and Chen Ching-Po, Kawana Fuji Course, Japan; Doug Sanders and Juan Rodriguez, Dorado Beach, Puerto Rico; Bobby Nichols and Jacky Bonvin, Crans-sur-Sierre Golf Club, Switzerland; Dave Ragan and Bob Charles, Royal Lahaina Golf Club, Maui, Hawaii; and Johnny Pott and Kel Nagle, Delhi Golf Club, India.

Regarded by many observers as one of the greatest matches ever filmed, that between Jack Nicklaus and Sam Snead at Pebble Beach, California, will be repeated from the 1962 series, as will the Gene Littler - Eric Brown match at Gleneagles, Scotland.

POPULAR GOLF SHOW BEGINS THIRD SEASON

Television's most popular golf program - "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" - will return to the air for its third season Sunday, January 19, on the CBC-TV network. It will feature the current holders of all five major titles in professional golf and the first truly international women's match to be filmed for a television audience.

"Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" will be televised on 11 successive Sundays through March 29. Times will be 3:30 p.m., Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific. Atlantic time will be 4:30 p.m. The show will also be televised on the same day in color on the NBC-TV Network.

The champions who will be seen on the program, and the five major titles they now hold, are: Julius Boros, U.S. Open; Jack Nicklaus, Masters and PGA; Bob Charles, British Open; and Mickey Wright, U.S. Ladies PGA.

The opening program on Jan. 19 is the match between Julius Boros and Miguel Sala at the Country Club de Bogota, Bogota, Colombia. In addition to being the current U.S. Open champion, Boros was recently selected the PGA Golfer of the Year. Salas is regarded as one of South America's leading professionals having won no less than 35 opens on that continent.

Of particular interest to Canadians is the fifth match of the series, between Stan Leonard, long regarded as Canada's top professional, and George Knudson, fast-rising young touring pro from Toronto. The match, played at beautiful Capilano Golf & Country Club in West Vancouver, is described by Gene Sarazen as the most exciting he has ever seen in 40 years of golf. The Leonard-Knudson match will be televised Feb. 16.

Miss Wright appears in the first international women's match to be filmed for television against Europe's outstanding woman golfer, Brigitte Varangot of France, who is the current British Women's Amateur champion. Their exciting contest at the Estoril Golf Club, Estoril, Portugal, will be the second program in the series, Jan. 26.

D.R. Prior, Shell Public Relations Manager, said the company is sponsoring the show for the third successive year because of its great popularity as shown by the audience ratings. He said these ratings indicated 50% to 100% more people watched the "Shell's Wonderful World of Golf" than any other regularly scheduled golf show.

Viewers have indicated that the popularity of the show is due to its unusual approach to the game and its' worldwide scope. Besides recording 18 holes of top-notch golf, the program analyzes each course and the strategy of the players. It contrasts their styles and techniques and explains how each golfer's strengths and weaknesses call for different tactics. Commentators again this year will be Gene Sarazen and George Rogers.

A facet of the show with special appeal for golfers is the clinic at the end of each show. The professionals in the match give tips on techniques and demonstrate in slow motion their most effective strokes.

Also adding to the show's popularity is the filmed travelog about the host country which precedes each match. It catches the distinctive flavour of each region and gives viewers a look at the people and the way they live. The commercials blend smoothly with this travelog atmosphere and have won praise from viewers for their informative and entertaining approach.

The matches are:
Julius Boros and Migeul Sala at Country Club de Bogota, Colombia; Mickey Wright and Brigitte Varangot, Estoril Golf Club, Portugal; Dave Marr and Flory Van Donck, Royal Golf Club de Belgique, Belgium; George Knudson and Stan Leonard, Capilano Golf & Country Club, West Vancouver, B.C.; Tony Lema and Chen Ching-Po, Kawana Fuji Course, Japan; Doug Sanders and Juan Rodriguez, Dorado Beach, Puerto Rico; Bobby Nichols and Jacky Bonvin, Crans-sur-Sierre Golf Club, Switzerland; Dave Ragan and Bob Charles, Royal Lahaina Golf Club, Maui, Hawaii; and Johnny Pott and Kel Nagle, Delhi Golf Club, India.

Regarded by many observers as one of the greatest matches ever filmed, that between Jack Nicklaus and Sam Snead at Pebble Beach, California, will be repeated from the 1962 series, as will the Gene Littler - Eric Brown match at Gleneagles, Scotland.

INQUEST

A coroner's jury in Matsqui Wednesday night urged that all machinery operating on a road have proper lighting and reflectors.

The recommendation followed an inquest into the death of 54-year-old Gerhard Barkman of Matsqui who died as the result of a traffic accident on the Abbotsford Mission Highway December 3, 1963.

Barkman was driver of a tractor pulling a rotovator which was in collision with a car driven by Abram Rempel, also of Matsqui.

The jury found the death to be accidental with no blame attached to any person.

The inquest was conducted by coroner Harry MacDonald.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

While most homes are being emptied of Christmas trappings, several housewifes in Alberta and British Columbia are filling their homes with Christmas cards, and Christmas wrapping paper.

One of these is Mrs. Elice Derksen of Abbotsford. She is asking housewives in the MSA district to save Christmas cards and wrapping paper for a project she takes part in.

Mrs. Derksen reports that absolutely nothing is wasted from the cards, the white unmarked portion of the cards is used for note pads for the use of missionaries, while the pictures are cut into book marks or used for mottos. The results of the project are shipped to missionary projects in Africa, Egypt, the Sudan, China and other Asian countries. Bible verses for the mottos are printed in Chinese and African for use in those countries.

The entire project is completed with the volunteer labor of many housewives in the areas, and financed out of household money. This non-denominational endeavor was started and is done with the cooperation of Miss Chrisie Goode of Calgary.

Cards, wrapping paper and used postal stamps in the MSA area may be left at the Abbotsford Hat Shop, or further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Derksen at 859-8785.

SCHOOL FOR MSA DRAMA CLUB

This weekend will see members of the MSA Drama Club going back to school. A five-session acting and directing workshop under the instruction of Mr. Sam Payne begins at the club rooms on Friday evening, with afternoon and evening sessions following on Saturday and Sunday.

The workshop is part of the service provided to amateur theatre groups throughout the province by the Extension Department of the University of B. C. Club spokesmen say they expect a total of forty persons to attend the classes which are designed as an introduction to theatre for the many new members of the Club. A number of reservations are still open for the weekend course. Interested persons are asked to call Jack Dodge at 859-5277 for further information.

The February production of the club will feature two one-act plays combined with a program of variety entertainment under the title of "SHOWCASE 64", tentatively scheduled for the last weekend in February. A final casting meeting for SHOWCASE 64 will be held next week.

A program which has exceeded expectations in the MSA district is the recreational project sponsored by the Alexander Parent Teacher Association.

A total of eighty-two children in grades 3, 4 and 5 are now registered for the classes held each Friday night. The large registration has forced division of the class. The grade 3 students now meet at 6;30 p.m., are joined at 7;15 by the grade four and fives for joint exercises and are dismissed at 7;40. The older students program then continues till 8;30 p.m.

Instructors for the classes are volunteers from among parents of the students. Chairman of the project Mrs. J.W. Grant has praised the co-operation of the parents in helping with the program.

SUMAS CONSTRUCTION

The rate of construction in Sumas municipality doubled in 1963 over the previous year.

INDUSTRIAL BROCHURE BY C OF C

Abbotsford & District Chamber of Commerce president Oscar Dayton reported to the members a successful year completed and plans for 1964 all ready underway.

Mr. Dayton, in issuing a year end report, tells of a temporary solution to the McCallum road problem, a successful band festival and formation of a group of Abbotsford Businessmen which, while working independently also have close liaison with the Chamber.

He outlines plans of a new committee headed by R.B. Inman to make a full survey of the district with the end result of an industrial brochure outlining opportunities available in the district for industrial development.

Mr. dayton states that while the band festival in the past year was a success, financing of the festival is difficult. This will remain a problem until the district has a building available large enough and with enough seating capacity to seat the large crowds drawn.

The efforts singly and jointly of Matsqui and Sumas municipalities and Abbotsford village to improve the area were also praised by president Dayton in his report.

FIRE

Firemen from two municipalities were called last night due to an error in reporting the location of a fire.

The call was to the home of Robert Coombs of Marshall Road in Matsqui municipality. It was made due to excessive smoke from an overheated stove pipe. Sumas fire department was first notified when the home owner called the telephone operator. The Matsqui department then had to anwer the call after it was located in Matsqui.

Fire department officials in the area request that all residents of the area post the fire phone numbers by the phone and when calling for the Fire department to state which municipality their home is in. The Abbotsford and Sumas fire number is 853-2244 while Matsqui residents call 859-5225. Proper placing of calls and accurate reporting of fire location aids the various brigades to anser calls quickly and decrease the amount of damage caused by fires.

The total value of permits issued from the Municipal office in the 12 month period last year is reported at two million five hundred thousand compared to two million five hundred and fifty-three thousand in 1959. The value of construction in 1962 is reported at one hundred and eighty nine thousand dollars

Impaired penalties increase hit, run accidents

An increase in the hit, run accidents has been noticed since the increase in penalties for drunk driving were increased by the courts.

The total started to increase sharply during the month of november last year when there were 176 hit and run complaints compared to 137 for the previous year-- an increase of 27 per cent.

The trend again increased during December when 224 such offences were reported, an increase of 50 per cent over the 152 of December of 1962.

Senior police officers said a drinking driver involved in an accident is likely to drive on rather than stay at the scene and risk being charged with impaired driving.
