Survey Planned To Check Your Shopping Habits

The Aldergrove Chamber of Commerce wants to find out why people go out of the community to do their shopping.

The chamber is planning to mail out some 2 thousand questionairres to all potential shoppers in the area, to try to learn some of the shopping habits of district residents and ask for suggestions on methods of making shopping in Aldergrove more attractive.

Supermarket owner Joe Brier said the survey could pinpoint some problems the chamber is not aware of. He said that no merchant has yet reached the position where he could not benefit from a survey of this type.

The chamber has decided to pay 90 dollars toward the cost of the survey, and ask the merchants in town to share in the remainder. Total cost is expected to be 60 dollars.

The B.C. Dental Association has promised to try and help in securing a dentist for Aldergrove. In answer to a request from the Chamber, the dental group said it would draw attention to the Aldergrove vacancy to all new dentists locating in the province.

Past President Charlie Haid has been delegated to chair a committee to decorate a float to be entered in the Bradner May Day Parade, to be held Monday morning, May 24th. If possible the float will also be entered in the Langley May Day Parade at Fort Langley, later the same day.

The June meeting of the chamber will be the annual ladies night dinner meeting.

School Boosts April Permits

Building permits for April in Langley Municipality were up over 160 thousand dollars, compared to the same period last year. A total of 61 permits were issued last month from municipal hall, for a total value of $369,380. Last April, 45 permits were issued, valued at $206,360.

Permits are up considerably for the first four months of this year as well. A total of 169 permits have been granted so far this year, for a total value of nearly 1 million, 200 thousand dollars. Last year, up to April, total value of 158 permits issued was under 700 thousand dollars.

The Fort Langley High School construction permits accounts for a large portion of the substantial increase in dollar value this year. Ratepayers served by the Aldergrove water system will be asked to approve an extension. Cost of the proposed extention would be under 400 dollars. Municipal clerk D.J. Doubleday says if the extension is approved, the system could gain at least 6 and possibly 7 new customers.

No Grant For Chamber

Langley District has turned down a request for a direct grant from the Aldergrove Chamber of Commerce and the Fort Langley Board of Trade. The two trade groups had asked for separate grants of 300 dollars from the municipality to cover operating expenses and promotional work.

In turning down the requests, Reeve Bill Poppy pointed out that the district had contributed toward the cost of erecting signs at Freeway exits in the district, at the request of the Langley Chamber. Council agreed that this donation would serve in lieu of a direct grant.

Premier To Light Fuse At Dam Ceremony

A large group of Canadian and American officials, accompanied by news media representatives, will visit the site of Duncan Dam on May 19 and the site of Arrow Dam on May 20.

Premier Bennett will set off an explosion at a preliminary ceremony at the Duncan project and the following day will unveil a cairn at the Arrow project to officially proclaim the start of major construction at the Columbia Treaty projects.

Invitations to attend the ceremonies have been extended by B.C. Hydro's Board of Directors to Prime Minister Pearson, Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, various federal and provincial cabinet ministers and officials, and a number of prominent Americans who were associated with the Columbia negotiations.

Also expected to participate in the ceremonies are a number of officials from the Columbia project areas, including reeves and mayors and representatives of Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, industry and labour.

Many of those invited have not confirmed that they will be able to take part in the program.

Part of the group will leave Vancouver on a special CPR TRAIN Tuesday evening, May 18. They will arrive at Arrowhead on Upper Arrow Lake Wednesday morning and transfer to Pacific Stage Lines buses which will take them to the Duncan project, 55 miles north of Nelson. They will be met at Duncan damsite by guests from interior centres.

Following the ceremony at the site of Duncan Dam, the group will briefly visit a museum in an old Kootenay Lake steamer at Kaslo before continuing to Nelson where they will spend the night.

A reception at the Civic Centre in Nelson sponsored by the City of Nelson will be followed by a dinner sponsored by the Nelson Chamber of Commerce.

On Thursday morning, the group will travel by bus to Arrow Dam, located on the Columbia River about five miles upstream from Castlegar.

B.C. Hydro Calls For Tenders

B.C. Hydro has called tenders on a contract to provide sewers, watermains and roads for a 100-acre addition to Langley Industrial Centre.

The contract calls for approximately 4,900 feet of 6 to 8-inch sewer pipe, 5,000 feet of 6 to 12-inch water mains and 3,100 feet of roadway.

The services are required for a land development project being undertaken by Hydro to attract manufacturing industries to the Fraser Valley.

The original block of 50 acres in this development has been taken up by seven firms, including Potter's Distilleries Ltd., Canadian Mobile Co. Ltd., and Homorama Homes Ltd.

Tenders on the contract must be submitted to B.C. Hydro, 970 Burrard Street, Vancouver, before noon on Tuesday, June 1. They will be opened the same day at 2 p.m.

MORE CUSTOMERS FOR ALDERGROVE WATER

A plan to extend the Aldergrove water system will be approved by Langley district council if the ratepayers concerned endorse the proposal.

Using a two-inch plastic pipe it is expected that the extensions can be installed for less than $400 and would add six or seven residences to the system.

District council decided Monday to obtain the necessary endorsement from the affected property owners, and if such agreement is forthcoming, council will draft the appropriate bylaw.

Expansion outpaces development

A good penetentiary is what is needed to cure some of Langley's financial ills, according to Langley District councillors.

Council faced with a five mill increase on on the 1965 budget, would like to see a development like the Matsqui Drug Centre of the B.C. Penetentiary locate in the municipality to help offset rising costs in the district.

Finance Chairman Noel Booth told council members that development in the district is not keeping pace with expansion. He said costs in relation to assessment in Langley are about the highest in the Fraser Valley.

Municipal Clerk D.J. Doubleday told council that Matsqui should realize some 106 thousand dollars in taxes from the new Federal Drug Centre. In addition, says Doubleday, Matsqui has just signed an agreement to sell 36 million gallons of water to the institution. Doubleday says that Langley had first bid on the drug centre, but turned it down because of adverse public opinion.

"Lucrative Business"

Want A Job ? Try Welfare -

A Langley Councillor says that welfare assistance is no longer a stop-gap measure but is developing into a full time occupation. Councillor Bill Blair, reporting to council on the recent increase in welfare payments, says the newest rise in rates is just another instance where the provincial government is putting an additional load on the municipality. The district pays 10 per cent of welfare payments and shares in the cost of operation of a local office. Councillor Art Woolley told council that welfare is fast becoming the most lucrative business in society.

Meantime, in other council news, it has been decided to turn the municipally operated rest home into an all male institution. Councillor Walter Jensen told council there are no more female residents at Langbome and that very few Langley area people are applying for entrance. Jensen says once the home becomes "all male", room could be made for about four extra occupants.

Parents, Children Warned Of 'Poisonous' Stones

Of course the stones found around B.C. are not normally poisonous - unless made that way by people.

The recently reported news story about a child who required hospital care after placing a stone, that had been sprayed with a weed killer solution, in his mouth, should serve as a timely warning to all home gardeners. At this time of year and throughout the summer, a wide variety of chemicals used to control unwanted plant growth, bugs and insects, plant diseases, etc., will provide a constant hazard to our youngsters (and pets) unless adults accept their responsibility to keep these potential "child poisons" out of harm's way. B.C. hospital records show that, of all cases of poisoning requiring hospital admittance of children under fifteen, 85% occur in the age group 1 to 4! In addition there are the many more who require emergency ward treatment or medical care in their homes.

Curiosity, testing and tasting are natural to the learning process of little children. Apparently, young children do not have a discriminating sense of taste as indicated by the wide variety of unpleasant tasting liquids and solids they ingest. Adults must never count on children not attempting to eat or drink substances which would be quite unpalatable to us.

Failure to read the "fine - print" can create serious difficulties in business contracts; failure to read, and scrupulously follow, all the directions on containers of garden sprays, dusts, fertilizers, etc., can lead to death.

Even worse is "booby-trapping" our children by putting these materials in some innocent looking container. One might recall the case of a child who drank from a well known soft drink bottle and died of poisoning caused by a powerful disinfectant. Adults are not entirely free of this danger either. A city workman died before he could be conveyed to hospital after drinking a weed killing solution from another kind innocent looking bottle.

Let us take full advantage of the experiences of others by:

*Always keeping harmful substances out of the reach of children. Remember, the curiosity to climb and poke into the most unlikely places is normal to kids - hiding containers is no insurance they won't be found.

*Always keep the closest supervision on children when garden chemicals are being used. Better still, plan to use them when young children are not around.

*Always read all the instructions carefully and observe them.

*Always remember that the many helpful aids we have to control or kill unwanted plant growth, insects, bugs and plant diseases, must not be allowed to injure or kill children "accidentaly".

Attendance Up At Career Night

Over 300 interviews were conducted last week by career councillors at the seventh annual High School Graduates councilling night at the National Employment Office at Mission.

The students taking part were from senior secondary schools in Mission, Abbotsford and Clearbrook. Some 26 councillors from all phases of business and industry interviewed the 150 graduates, many of whom took advantage of the opportunity to be interviewed by more than one councillor.

Spokesmen for the employment service say the councilling nights have increased in attendance in each of the seven years since inception of the new service, and have now become one of the most important events in the central Fraser Valley.

The Canadian Heart Foundation, with its provincial organizations, is the only national voluntary health agency devoted exclusively to combatting the heart and blood vessel diseases.

Government Continue Freight Assistance

The Honourable Frank Richter, Minister of Agriculture, is pleased to announce that the Provincial Government policy to assist in payment of freight on feed grain shipped from the Creston-Wynndel area of British Columbia to other points in the Province will be continued this year.

As in the past, freight assistance will be paid on whole wheat, oats, barley and rye produced in the Creston-Wynndel area and shipped by direct rail freight to destinations in British Columbia, where such grain is used exclusively as feed for live stock and poultry.

The payment of freight assistance shall be $6.40 per ton less than the carlot short-line rail freight charge through Canada from Creston-Wynndel to destinations in British Columbia, but not exceeding a maximum payment of $5.00 per ton.

The Policy has been extended to cover shipments to all rail destinations within the Province, provided however that the total subsidy paid to any destination shall not exceed the established maximum.

Claims for freight assistance as prescribed must be made on appropriate claim forms which are available from district offices, as well as the Field Crops Branch, B.C. Department of Agriculture, Victoria, B.C.

A Hearty Thanks

A hearty vote of thanks should be sent out to Pete Swennson, Cliff Watt and all the others involved in organizing the Langley walk.

The walk is becoming one of the biggest annual events held in the area, and there appears to be no reason why it should not continue to grow. Congratulations are also in order for the more than 1 thousand men, women and children who "made" the walk, and received their diplomas.

The fact that nearly one thousand of our young people spent a Sunday afternoon walking nearly 17 miles, most of them making the trip with enthusiasm, determination and enjoyment, should help put the lie to those people who constantly harp on the degeneration of our youth. It would be difficult to find such a large group of youngsters together under similar circumstances who conducted themselves as well as did these Sunday walkers. Sure, there were a few ill-mannered kids on the route, but they were, very, very few. There were also a few bothersome teenagers turning up during the trek – but any that I saw were NOT walking – but riding in cars along the route. Nearly everyone of these kids, who were actually engaged in the walk, conducted themselves admirably, and entered into the spirit of the day with all the enthusiasm such an undertaking deserved.

I would also say that we should think twice from now on before we complain about today's youth being out of shape. Once again, except for just a few, who perhaps wore inadequate shoes, the youngsters completed the walk in great shape.

As a matter of fact, the adults in the walk did pretty well too. Except for a couple of antiquated newsmen, I would say the adults also came through with flying colours.

General Chairman L. J. Wallace, Lieutenant-Governor G. R. Pearkes, R. P. Clifton of Courtenay, and former Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross at April 7 meeting of Provincial Centennial Committee. Mr. Clifton is chairman of Native Indians Participation Sub-committee. He reported that several native Indian committees have been formed on their own and in other cases Indian bands are joining with adjacent sub-committees.

CAREFUL DRIVING

Slow down in heavy rain because the front wheels of your car actually leave the road, says the B.C. Automobile Association.

A BCAA safety official said that recent research had uncovered the danger of front-wheel skids in heavy rain or slush through the phenomenon known as "hydroplaning."

"At a certain critical speed, the tires climb up on a tough film of liquid and 'hydroplane' the way a water skier rises out of the water and skims along the surface," the official said.

At 50 or 60 mph, he said, the tires may lose all contact with the pavement and the driver is without steering or braking control over the front wheels. A motorist can drive along for miles on the verge of a skid without being aware of it when the road is covered with rain or slush. Then when he pulls out to pass, or puts on the brakes, or is hit by a sudden gust of wind, the vehicle may break on a nerve-shattering skid.

To avoid such eventuality, the BCAA advises drivers to slow down in heavy rain and leave plenty of distance between vehicles. When braking on wet or slushy road, pump the pedal with fast action and you will be less likely to skid.

Another idea offered by the auto club is to drive in the "tire wipes" left by the vehicles ahead. Even in heavy rain, car tracks remain visible and relatively free of water for several hundred feet.

"Best advice to all is to make sure that your front tires are in good condition," the BCAA official said. "Most new tires have grooves about 11/16th of an inch deep which allow water to squirt through, lessening the hydrodynamic pressure that builds up to lift the tire off the road as speed increases."

Most heart attack victims now recover from first attacks and, of those who do, three out of four return to work, often to the same job, according to the B.C. Heart Foundation which is conducting the 1965 Heart Fund campaign during February.

Funny, the little things that annoy customers! Like hearing a busy signal every time they call you, for example. They get to feel unwanted. Wouldn't you? You might as well leave your business phone lying on the desk!

Every now and again a customer hears your busy signal once too often—and phones a competitor: a man with a voice, not a buzz.

The economical solution: an additional telephone line. Then, few customers will ever again get the busy signal from your phone. It could pay for itself sooner than you think just by the business you save.

You will even pick up new customers, folks tired of being buzzed at by one of your single line competitors.

Learn how much more another line can improve your business, and at such little cost. Call and ask our Marketing and Sales Department.

Chamber Says Let The People Decide

The Aldergrove Chamber of Commerce is going to ask Langley District council to alter its stand on a proposed ice arena centennial project and go to the people with the idea.

The Chamber want council to take a public opinion poll of the ratepayers to find out if council was justified in turning down the centennial committee's recommendation that an ice skating-curling arena be built as Langley official centennial project. Joe Brier, one of the chief exponents of the arena says the ice rink is still the only answer to a centennial project that will meet the needs of the people of Aldergrove. He says council may be going over the heads of the people in turning it down cold. The municipality claimed the arena would be too expensive, and directed the committee to come up with a new idea. Brier says the people should be the ones to decide whether or not they want to pay an extra 3 dollars a year for the recreational facility. He told the Chamber that if the people want it, they will be glad to pay for it. Meantime, the chamber decided to present a proposal for installing a cinder track at Aldergrove High School and a cover on the swimming pool, as an alternate project, if the bid to reactivate the ice arena fails.

Health Unit Move Set For Next Month

June 24th has been set as the date for reorganization of Health Units in the Fraser Valley.

The new boundaries will see Langley City and Municipality change over from the boundary health unit, which includes Surrey, Delta, White Rock, and join with the North Fraser Union, which under its new set will include the two Langleys, Mission City and District, Maple Ridge and Pitt Meadows. Under the new set up, Kent and Agassiz will be dropped from the North Fraser Unit to join with Chilliwack.

Another item of business at the June 24th meeting will be a change of name for the North Fraser Unit, which is no longer felt to be descriptive with the additions of the South Fraser areas.

The new boundaries are expected to bring about a better dispersement of population, leading to increased efficiency in the Health Unit areas.
