SHOW PROVES SUCCESSFUL

The first venture of the Aldergrove Businessmen's Bureau, the sponsoring of a Home and Garden Show here in Aldergrove, proved to be quite a success. Of the four days the show ran Friday proved to be the most popular, with some 2000 persons attending.

Booths were occupied by Toews Sewing Machine Company, Encyclopedia Brittanica, World Book Company, Amana Foods, Dept. of Agriculture, Valley Floor Centre, Aldergrove Furniture, Hayes Nursery, Haida Nursery, Bakerview Gardens, Later Chemicals, Debonair Distributors, Abbotsford Lumber, Mt. Lehman Credit Union, Otter Institute, and Michael Hayes Equipment.

It is expected the show will now be repeated each year.

Next idea being organized by this group is a Kiddies' Day Parade, but more will be heard of that later.

HOME AND GARDEN SHOW. Pictured above is the entrance to the Home and Garden Show held in Aldergrove last week. Some 4000 people passed through these doors during the four days of the show, some from as far away as Prince George. Results of the show indicate that a larger building will be needed for next year's exhibits. More pictures next week. (NEWS PHOTO)

FRUIT AND VEGETABLE GROWERS TO MEET

The proposed 50% tariff cut will be the subject of a meeting of fruit and vegetable growers set for April 8 in Abbotsford.

Guest speaker at the meeting will be the Honorable Frank Richter, Minister of Agriculture.

Representatives of the producer and processer organizations of horticultural groups in the Lower Mainland, Vancouver Island and the Okanagan have stated that such a drastic cut in tariff protection would be ruinous.

All Valley growers are urged to attend and support a motion of no tariff cuts.

TEACHER'S WIFE IN CAR CRASH TWICE IN NINE MONTHS

The wife of a Langley teacher, Mrs. Rick Buck has had the misfortune to be a victim in two car crashes within nine months, neither being her fault.

In August last year, her car was hit broadside near White Rock. She had three small children as passengers at that time and Mrs. Buck herself was hospitalized for a time. On Saturday, March 28th, she and her husband were returning home form Burnaby and had reached Fleetwood when a car travelling west made a lefthand turn right in front of them. Mr. Buck received a broken right wrist. Mrs. Buck suffered a broken sternum, left arm, two broken kneecaps and bruises and lacerations to her head. She is in the Langley Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Buck was driving at the time and informs us that the driver of the other car is to be charged.

EDITORIAL

They did it!

It is amazing what can be accomplished when people set their minds to do a thing. Some young businessmen in Aldergrove decided on a Home and Garden Show of an entirely different nature from any seen in Aldergrove before. They worked hard and long and came out on top with a fine show.

Approximately 4000 people came to the show and the organizers feel well satisfied for the first time. The exhibitors also were well pleased and all asked to return next year. More local people want to come in on it next time, so the ice has been well and truly broken.

The Aldergrove Businessmen's Bureau have other ideas for promotion. Coming up immediately is an Appreciation Day. Every Saturday, at 3 p.m. a draw will take place from the Treasure Chest. April 18th will be the first draw.

A Kiddies' Day Parade is also being planned for May. More about this later but keep a watch out for other surprises.

LEGION NEWS-BRANCH 265

ALDERGROVE

Friday, April 3 was the date of the annual Joint Executive Dinner - held this year in Vancouver. Comrades Bill Brown and Norm Williams attended as representatives of Branch 265. We should have a report on the business of this meeting at the next general meeting which will be on the 16 of April.

President Len McNernie will be branch representative at the Dominion Conference at Winnipeg. Comrade George Burham is an alternative in the event that Comrade McNernie is unable to attend.

Although this is not strictly Legion news, the Legion has a strong interest in the sport activity of the community, so we would like to mention that Pete Swensen, Director of Sports at Langley, has suffered a heart attack and is in the hospital. We one and all wish him a speedy recovery.

Starting this month, the Women's Auxiliary to the Legion will be holding their meetings on the same night as the Legion at the Elk's Hall. This causes me to have high hopes that the ladies will drag the old man in, and increase our attendance at the General Meeting!

Since April 9 is the anniversary of the Battle of Vimy Ridge, most branches will hold a Vimy Night on that evening.

Conrade George Burnham, a veteran of this battle prepared a short run-down on the battle, and has written a poem in memory of it:

The Battle itself was preceded by a strong artillery barrage. The Canadians, in this battle had the frontal assault, with British troops on each flank. Vimy, to this time had been thought to be impregnable. Although casualties were tremendous, this point of view was disproved and the ridge taken, due in large part to the tenacity of the Canadians.

BATTLE OF VIMY RIDGE
GEORGE BURHAM

The night was cold, and then the morn;
When all arranged, the Plan began to take its Shape.
And o'er they went, through snow and sleet, and then
The sun broke through, to show a battle had been won.
The ground all o'er was torn with shells galore
'Twas hard to move, but with a steady gait
They fought along, till victory was assured.
The roll-call first was loud and long, on that great day at dawn
The hours passed on, the battle won, but the ranks were thinly drawn
You count the cost, of all the loss, and also of the gain
Now memories unfold, as the tales are told
And the talk of that snow and sleet
As now and then our Comrades meet
With a shake of hand, and a constant smile until we meet again.

BY ADA MAE DUECK

While waiting to cross the tracks the other day I remembered when trains were an integral part of my life. Father, two grandfathers and several uncles worked for the Canadian Pacific Railway and we never lived more than two blocks away from the tracks. As kiddies we played by the tracks listening to hear trains miles away with our ears pressed against these tracks. We put little rocks on the tracks and collected the pulverized material later. As rail roaders' children, we were not denied access to many places and knew what it was like to ride and eat in the caboose, and even to ride on the engine. In the cold winter months all the neighborhood children would take wagons to the coal dock and pick up coal dropped in the loading to take home. We knew all the engineers and brakemen, and when we heard that whistle we hurried to wave to our friends.

One thing I do know is that the whistle of a diesel is completely impersonal and doesn't carry the friendly message of the steam engine whistle.

After we moved to the big city we had to walk the long way around to go to school or cross through the railway yeards. As I have said, we were pretty familiar with trains and tracks. This brought disaster to a girl I went to school with. She lost a leg when she miscalculated one day on her way to school. As you can guess, we took the long way around for quite some time. And for those who didn't get the message from the accident, railway police were on hand to make sure we didn't trespass.

My children didn't have a ride on a train until they were 7 and 9 years old, but by that age I had travelled many miles on the train, most of them by myself. Our pass was only supposed to be good for one trip but if you knew the conductor he wouldn't take it away. I remember especially one time grandmother and I went from Estevan in Southern Saskatchewan to Flin Flon in Northern Manitoba by train. This involved a foreign pass, on the Canadian National Railway. As it was a trip of two nights, it also involved sleeping facilities. When travelling on a foreign pass, you were only entitled to the upper berth. The lowers were left for the paying customers. Somehow or other we managed to get a lower, going to Flin Flon. About ten years old at the time, I was to go to the station to make arrangements for booking berths on the way back. When I asked for a lower berth the agent looked at the pass and told me this couldn't be done. So I just told him I was travelling with grandmother and intimated that someone her age couldn't be expected to sleep in a top bunk. I just about showed him a picture of her but the only one I had at the time was of grandmother acting like Roy Rogers on the back of a cow. Anyway, he believed me and gave me the lower berth for the way home. Just as I walked out of the station heaving a sigh of relief at my accomplishment, grandmother went by. Her transportation was the engine of a train. She was on her way to pick blueberries in the bush and had persuaded an engineer to provide transportation where no road would go. I cast a quick glance inside to see if the agent had seen and hurried on my way, rather pleased my grandmother wasn't as old and certainly not as feeble as I had painted her.

March was generally a dull, cool and wet month, but the unusually warm weather of the Easter weekend brought the temperature means to near normal values.

The mean temperature, 40.9, was close to the normal 40.8 and that of last March, 41.0. Temperatures ranged from a low of 25' on the 19th to a record high of 72' on the 29th. The range in March 1963 was from 23' to 63'.

Six days were sunny, four less than normal. Fifteen days had frost, which is normal for March.

Total precipitation was 7.55 inches, 33% above the normal. Only March 1959 and 1961 were wetter, while March 1957 had the same. 21 days were wet, four more than average. March 1961 had 22 wet days.

Snowfall totalled 2.8 inches, compared to the normal 4.9", but occurred very often in the cool showers. Measurable snow fell on seven days, four more than average, while traces were recorded on four other days.

Parliament Hill

By BARRY MATHER, M.P.

OTTAWA - Recent hassels here added unecessary proof of the need for speedy reform of Parliament.

When I consider the wonderful ways of the House of Commons and Senate and then look at the modern, efficiency of other organizations I'm reminded of my grand-uncle's splendid old general store, and of what happened to it. (Some of the store's high-button shoes are now among displays at Barkerville).

My grand-uncle established a general store in Nanaimo about 1880. It was a good store, for that day. He had a small gas plant behind it and lit his own gas lamps. He had a horse and wagon to deliver the goods, which he sold on long credit. He put wooden shutters on the windows at night. And I don't believe he had a sale in his life.

I say it was a good store in the 80's. It was still pretty good in 1915 when I visited it as a boy. By 1930 it had changed - no wooden shutters or gas lights. Some other grudging reforms were made in the store's operation in the 40' and the 50' when it went out of business surrounded by fine modern super-markets geared to the realities of the day.

My readers will se, what I'm driving at - Parliament today is very like my grand-uncle's store in the 1940'. It is not really too much changed from the 1890's.

The business of the House, that is the business of the public, is handled in a splendid, gentleman's club sort of manner. There are, in my view, many things that need quick correcting if we are to get results which will enable public business to be properly dispatched.

A few of these:

THE PRIVATE MEMBERS HOUR: ..... Between 5 and 6 p.m. when a Bill may be put forward by any M.P. for discussion. I think only two such Bills have been passed in 20 years. Invariably they are "talked out". The MP who introduces the Bill, say it is for sweeptakes, gets up and urges its virtues for 15 minutes - until the hour ends with no vote. The Bill goes to the bottom of a pile of similar Bills waiting their turn to be "talked out" also. I feel that this is ridiculous and that Bills should come to a vote.

THE POWER OF VETO: In some respects the Commons is an autocratic body. We may have, as we did the other day, 200 Members in favour of continuing a debate and getting on with the business. But after regular hours this requires unanimous consent. So, if one Member gets up and says, "No, Mr. Speaker" the will of the 200 means nothing. The House adjourns. I feel this must be stopped so the will of the majority prevails.

SENATE BILLS: Senators excercise the right to introduce legislation. This is sometimes called "getting in the back door". Senators, of course, are not elected. Indeed quite often they have been rejected by the voters. Yet Senators can and do propose laws and succeed sometimes in getting them passed. The fact that some of the Senators' ideas may be good ones is not the point. It seems to me that not the only persons who should logically or ethically make laws affecting the public are persons who have been given that authority by the electors.

These are but a few of the anachronisms, the old fashioned way of life which irk many Members here and which we are trying to have rectified.

Aldergrove Elks Lodge members gave a surprise party for one of Aldergrove's oldtimers, Mr. Harold Endacott, on the occasion of his 80th birthday on April 8th. A very nice evening was spent and included a sing-song. Mrs. H. Endacott accompanied on the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Lien had a pleasant weekend visiting the old stamping grounds where Mr. Lien spent his boyhood, on the east coast of Vancouver Island near Nanaimo.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Paulson were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Backen and family from Forest Grove, B.C., over the Easter holiday week. The two families took a trip to Pender Harbour where they had an oyster hunt. They came back to enjoy an oyster supper.

To create a daily ton of newsprint manufacturing capacity in 1963 required a capital investment of $110,000 to $120,000, exclusive of paper and wood supply - about three times as much as prior to World War II.

Apply now for your Social Insurance Number

For these reasons, you are invited to apply for a Social Insurance Number, even if you are not a contributor to the unemployment insurance plan.

IF YOU ARE AN EMPLOYEE your employer will give you an application form. Fill it out and return to your employer promptly.

IF YOU ARE UNEMPLOYED and drawing unemployment insurance benefit you will complete an application form when you report to the U.I.C. in person or by mail.

IF YOU ARE AN EMPLOYER registered with the Commission, you will receive application forms automatically.
