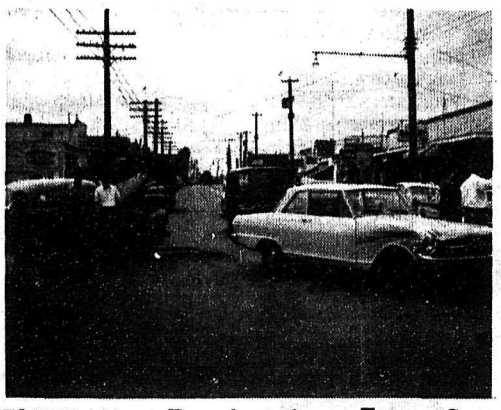
ALDERGROVE EXHIBITION PLANNED FOR SEPTEMBER



SIDESWIPE. Two cars belonging to Abbotsford people met with an accident right in Aldergrove last Tuesday afternoon. One car was pulling out from the Shell Service Station onto the Trans Canada Highway and was hit by a car travelling east. An estimated $150 damage was done. (News Photo)

Aldergrove will not be entirely without a "Fair" this year! Such was the decision made by the Fair Board at a meeting last Friday evening.

Under the chairmanship of D. W. Poppy, twelve members of the Fair Board were present and several more indicated their willingness to fall in with the plans.

On September 17th, 1963, there will be an Exhibition of Flowers, Fruit, and Children's Garden Produce (flowers, vegetables), to be held in the United Church Hall from 2 to 10 p.m. These sections will be exactly as in the Fair Book of 1962, with the addition of a cash prize as well as the trophy in Class 33, Best Display of Flowers.

For those who do not have a Fair Book from last year, lists will be available in a few days from the Aldergrove News office, or the secretary, Mrs. Cora Williams.

The decision to have a smaller display this year was made because of the shortage of time. With the death of the former chairman, J.E. Scott, in the spring and the illness of his right hand man, Dick Clamp, it was not possible to get things moving sooner.

However, the Fair Board plans a normal fair for next year and have already started preliminary plans. They hope to continue the tradition and make it bigger and better than ever. Members of the Board were greatly encouraged with the many reports of regret expressed by members of the community when they thought there would not be a fair this year.

The ladies of the United Church will serve tea, as in previous years.

Another trophy for RCSCC Columbia

Columbia's sailing crew, one of three crews selected to represent British Columbia in the National Sea Cadet Sailing Regatta held recently at the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, placed 4th out of 19 in the final standings.

Ed MacKenzie of Aldergrove and Fred Carstinsen of Haney who represented Columbia did extremely well considering that they only started sailing in May of this year.

The other two B.C. crews, from St. George's School, Vancouver, and Brentwood College, Vancouver Island, placed first and second.

Terry Ray of Langley, who happened to be on hand when the Regatta started, was called in to replace a cadet who was taken ill. Terry sailed for the Lion Corps of Hamilton, Ontario.

During the two weeks' basic training at HMCS Quadra this year, the whaler pulling crew, consisting of Cadets Bill Buxton, Ed and Cam MacKenzie, all of Aldergrove, Fred Carstinsen, Haney, Rod Miller and Derek Low of Abbotsford, won the competition and brought back another trophy.

Leading Cadet Bill Buxton, Aldergrove, has been selected to spend two weeks with U.S. Sea Cadets, training with the U.S. Navy at Bremerton, Washington. Bill left for his trip on Sunday morning.

LANGLEY LADY IN CAR CRASH

The wife of a well known Langley teacher was injured in a car smash Saturday evening when returning with some young friends from White Rock.

She is Mrs. Rick (Wendy) Buck, of Swain Road, Langley, and she had three children as passengers in her car. The car was hit broadside by another car whose driver had gone through a red light.

Mrs. Buck is in White Rock Hospital with undetermined injuries. Two of the children were released immediately and the third went home Monday.

Damage to her car is estimated around $700.

Community Effort

Because of unavoidable circumstances, there will only be a small exhibition this year, although plans are already being made to resume the Aldergrove Fair in full proportions next year.

Members of the Fair Board feel that this could be a real red-letter day each year in Aldergrove, if the whole community would get behind it. They have been encouraged by the many inquiries from people who wished to enter the various classes and expressed real regret that all classes could not be catered for this season, due to the lack of time.

The exhibition of flowers and fruit and children's garden produce was planned to make the best show possible with time available. If everyone tries to enter flowers or fruit, if they have them, it could be a very colorful and attractive show.

The children are always keen and the section for them was included in order to hold their interest.

With planning for next year already under discussion, the 1964 Fair could be outstanding in many ways.

More and more people are coming to the district and any newcomers would be just as welcome as the "old regulars". New ideas are always worth considering. So, if you would like to know more about the Fair, or to suggest some changes (have a bright idea?), why not attend the next meeting of the Fair Board? Due notice will be given in this paper. In the meantime, look over your garden and orchard, or persuade someone else to try their hand at exhibiting.

"Let's go camping - it looks like it will be a warm weekend." That's what himself said at lunch Saturday. The children were in favor so I didn't have much choice.

"One trouble," I said, "is that we don't have the sleeping bags, stove, cooler or air mattresses."

After looking at three disappointed faces, I decided we should go anyway. So packed bathing suits, towels, dishes, and all the blankets in the house. Then piled in the kids on top of it all and away we went.

Found a wonderful camp manager at the Maple Ridge Campsite who lent us a camp stove - so we were set.

Played in the water - yes, me too, - had a weiner roast for supper and came bedtime.

After making up camp cots for the three youngsters with the heavy quilts, there was no room for us in the tent. So, that's fine, we will sleep outside.

Children all settled, we unloaded the rest of the blankets from the car and found that we had a total of four blankets for two beds - and thin ones, at that.

Himself climbed onto his cot with heavy socks on, I onto mine with his jacket on, and the sun slowly sank in the west. The air began to get colder --- I began to get colder.

About midnight, I whispered, "Move over, I'm coming with my blankets." He said, "Good!" After another two hours, I was still cold, so woke himself up and told him to go sleep with one of the kids, I was going to sleep in the car.

It took me at least an hour to get slightly warm, and then my legs cramped and I had to stretch them out of the blankets and got cold all over again.

The sun was rising from the other direction when I finally dozed off to sleep again, to be awakened at 5:30 by himself frying bacon. He had been up for a while, not faring any better than I.

We piled all the blankets on the kids and sat and shivered until they woke up at seven. Anyone driving by saw a man and a woman sitting by a picnic table with arms around each other. Bet they thought that we must be honeymooners, but you all know we were just cold.

Guess what I am going to buy -- more sleeping bags naturally, and some heavy woollen socks for me.

MIGHTY MACHINE AND MIGHTY MAN

by MARGARET GREEN

The United States Air Force brought up to the Abbotsford Air Show a huge "Flying Boxcar" - one of, if not the, biggest military planes in the world. Its proportions are hard to believe and it is harder to imagine the thing being airborne, but it was seen to take off after each engine had been started individually.

A very tiny man beside the great machine was dressed much like a mechanic - come - radio - announcer. He proved that man is still necessary. With headphones on and trailing a long cable, he watched the starting of each engine in turn. One propeller would not tick over, so the small man took off the headphones, went over and grabbed one of the giant blades of the propeller, jumping off the ground to do so. Slowly swinging on the blade, he moved it, then went to the next blade and repeated the performance, four times. Back with the headphones on, he gave instructions and the huge engine roared into life.

A long ramp extending out at the front of the plane was slowly drawn up into the plane and one was reminded of a huge insect devouring its hapless prey. After the doors had closed on this, the small man climbed a ladder and disappeared into the plane, ladder following. One imagined this was it - but no! Out he pops on the top of the plane, complete with earphones and cord! He stayed there until the huge creation was well out on the runway, then he disappeared for the last time.

The tremendous plane took off smoothly and incredibly easily, all 92 tons of it, and headed back for its base in the States.

AROUND TOWN

By MARGARET GREEN

Steve Dediluke is back for a short visit. He owns 15 acres at Pender Harbour now and is enthusiastic over the beauty of the area and the exceptionally good fishing. He says that's the place to go for a wonderful holiday.

The Abbotsford Air Show offered very different entertainment this year - including the announcement and subsequent arrival of the land squall which was not scheduled. All the little planes had to take cover and only the big brutes like the "flying boxcar" could turn up their noses at it.

If you have never exhibited flowers or fruit before, I suggest you try at the Aldergrove Exhibition this year. Support for this smaller effort will keep alive the interest for the regular fair next year.

The bowlers are getting organized again and all new bowlers will be specially welcome if they attend the general meeting at Alder Lanes on August 18.

I am told that at least twelve ladies from County Line are taking swimming lessons at the Aldergrove Pool. They must have some priority, or perhaps the pool was built in the wrong place!

Brucellosis Losses Substantially Down

By June 1, 1963, the Canadian government had paid $9,000,000 compensation for cattle slaughtered under the brucellosis control program. This sum is equal to estimated annual losses to farmers from brucellosis at the time the program was begun in 1957. Annual losses today are only a fraction of that sum. It is hoped to complete first testing of the national herd by the end of 1965.

ANGLICAN CONGRESS TO MEET IN TORONTO

The most complete representation of bishops, clergy and leity ever assembled in the history of the Anglican Church throughout the world meets in Toronto from August 13 to 23.

The Anglican Congress of 1963 is the third such gathering the Church has held; the first being in London in 1908 and the second in Minneapolis, Minn., in 1954.

This big event will be covered on radio and television by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. It will open with a service in Maple Leaf Gardens.

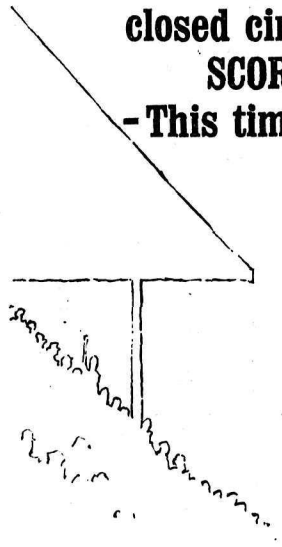
SCORES AGAIN
-This time in FOOTBALL



The hooded TV set that stands by the Lions bench at Empire Stadium is not for entertainment!

Through this TV monitor (and the TV camera mounted on the roof of the East stand) the Lions coaching staff receive a "birds-eye" view of the struggles on the gridiron. The coach is in constant contact with the cameraman on the roof and instructs him on what formation to follow. Thus the coach gets an aerial observation of the battle – by closed-circuit TV.

This installation is a typical example of the versatility of B.C. TEL's closed-circuit television. Its modest cost puts it within reach of any business.

For further information on how B.C. TEL can help you solve your communication problems (with or without the use of closed-circuit television) call the Marketing and Sales Department. Parliament Hill

By BARRY MATHER, M.P.

A subject of interest to many electors and to many elected persons is the question of whether or not MPs deserve the pay they get. As a Member of Parliament myself, I am naturally not free of bias in my opinion of this issue. But it may be of some point to give one MP's views on the salary question.

First - I don't think a hard and fast generalization can be made in the matter.

There are many MPs whose business or professional circumstances and whose particular places of residence, close to Ottawa, make the amount of money the public pays them a very generous amount indeed. I know of Members of Parliament who live in or near Toronto or Montreal and who, as lawyers or doctors or businessmen are able to spend approximately half of their time at home or in their private business offices, thereby maintaining a good part of their private income while working for the public at the same time.

There are others, particularly MPs from Western Canada or the Maritimes, who are 8 or 9 months of the year in Parliament at Ottawa, unable to return to their homes or constituencies or jobs or businesses for more than a few brief visits. These Members, in many cases, accept a substantial drop in the income they had been receiving before they were elected.

I know of several such myself. My own income in 1961 was, in round figures, $15,000 from my writing. At the present time, and due to my public employment, my writing income has dropped to $2400 a year .... So, counting in my public pay, for some time I have been functioning on approximately $2,600 a year less income than before the public hired me and sent me to Ottawa.

I do not want anyone to think that I would have complained about the situation. I was the one who asked for the job - I got it and I like it very much indeed. Nevertheless, in fairness to all, the loss I mention should be considered in arriving at a decision as to whether MPs get too much or too little.

It should also be said that a Member at Ottawa needs at least $300 a month to pay his rent and food and all other expenses there. This while he may require $300 or $400 a month to maintain his wife and family at his real home. If you add the incidental expenses, such as long distance phones, telegrams, donations and the like - plus, in many cases, $1,000 or more contributions to his own frequent campaign funds .... in many cases, the MPs were not making much more than a busy and uncertain living.

As I've said - this is not the case in many ridings - where the Member lives close to Ottawa and maintains his earlier income to a large degree ....

I'd say, with all humility, that there are some MPs whom the public loses money on. There are others who do an outstanding job for their constituents and their country as a whole. They are cheap at the price.

But, on the whole, I cannot say that the public gets its' money's worth from the present system of representation. Our Parliament and its procedures are geated to a bygone day. We spend a great part of our time in Parliament in electioneering .... If you come into the House of Commons some days and listen to the speeches, particularly by the older parties, I'm sure you will agree that it sounds just like the last federal election campaign.

The work of the public at Ottawa, in my view, could be done much more speedily and much more effectively and economically if we had some sort of manager system - as we do in many cities and municipalities. Empowering an administrational authority to get on with the job - this does not necessarily mean a reduction in the degree of democracy which the public has in the parliamentary system.

Indeed, I have often felt as I sit through the political speeches and time-wasting in Ottawa that the present type of procedure is weakening democracy.

The world trend, whether we like it or not, is to efficient centralization of authority --- whether in business or in civic life, as long as the public, through its city council or through its provincial or federal representatives, control the policy, then there is much to be said for getting action into democracy .... and taking the moc out of democracy.

This has been the case in a growing number of countries. I have no doubt it will continue. Whether we think of France's DeGaulle or West Germany's Adenauer, or the Americans' Kennedy or Egypt's Nasser - the evolution of our times is toward a more effective, powerful executive. It is not enough to talk .... We must Act .... Unless there is action, people lose faith in democracy .... Our own country shows the trend in that direction. We have now had four general elections in six years - and three minority governments out of four as the public, frustrated, without faith, lacking leadership, swings narrowly from one side to the other of the old clock - like a pendulum which travels in ever more narrow rundown limits.

I'd say some MPs should get more - and others should get less. On our general political effectiveness, I'd add that the public could be better served by having a federal manager to take action, with a Parliament to set policy.

Frozen Vegetables Should Keep Color

Good color in frozen green vegetables attracts the eye of the consumer and is also a good index to quality.

R. B. Hyde of the CDA's experimental farm at Morden, Man., says the flavor and nutrient value of frozen green peas and snap beans decreases with loss of color.

Color deterioration in turn is caused by chemical changes. These may be kept to a minimum by proper processing procedures:— blanching no longer than the recommended period for each vegetable, cooling thoroughly, and, after quick freezing, storing at 0°F or colder.

LIVE-IN TRAILER PLUS GROCERIES

A compact, live-in trailer, packed with groceries, will be given away at the Pacific National Exhibition August 28.

The free prize drawing will be a feature of the Festival of Foods and Merchants' Day at the annual Fair.

Total value of the trailer and its merchandise is an estimated $1,245. Cost of the trailer, $995, is shared by the PNE and the 40 exhibitors in the Pure Foods Building. The exhibitors also are donating the foodstuffs that will be crammed into the trailer, a 't that will sleep four people.

In addition to the grand prize, several food hampers will be given away each hour of the Festival day. Draws will be conducted from 11 a.m. until the grand prize drawing at 9 p.m.

All persons entering the Pure Foods Building during the big day will be given a blank on which to write his or her name, address and telephone number. Winners of the hourly prize, and of the grand prize, will be drawn from this barrel.

Purpose of the day is to honor the retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers of the food industry.

Butter Boxed In Fiberboard

Use of corrugated fiberboard butter boxes has been approved by the Dairy Products Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, and the boxes will now be acceptable for packaging butter purchased by the Agricultural Stabilization Board.

The boxes, however, must meet specifications set out by the division to ensure durability and resistance to moisture. The "specs" were drawn up following extensive tests in which the Dairy Products Division, Forest Products Laboratory and the paper box industry co-operated.

Like its wooden counterpart which will continue to be an acceptable package, the fiberboard box has a 56-pound capacity.

YOU and YOUR HEALTH

President of Dominion Herbal College (1962) Ltd.

GRAIN OF WHEAT

From the beginning of time ead has been the basis of every tion's diet. It has been aptly med the "STAFF OF LIFE". t this writer must confess that ne of the bread put out by mmercial bakers would be ter termed "THE CLUB OF ATH". Man has thrived on for generations (if made in entirety).

t is however, certainly ob- us that man cannot live by ad alone; that he must live a generally natural diet; but at bread he does eat must be he natural variety — MADE THE WHOLE LIVE AINS. For centuries man ne-milled or groun the whole eat kernel including the prec- s heart of the wheat — the eat germ — and baked for nself and his family, a loaf bread that sustained life.

KERNEL OF WHEAT

...er favourable conditions eat will keep alive for thous- is of years. When the tombs some of the Pharaohs were ned wheat was found in them l when planted it germinated. erefore, in a grain of wheat re exists life that defies the turies.

he living germ in each grain in turn give life and strength YOU if you will leave the eat alone and eat 100% whole in flour, bread, cakes, or at have you.

E MINERALS AND TAMINS IN HIGH OTEIN WHEAT

inerals: calcium, iodine, iron, rine, phosphorus, chlorine, gnesium, sodium, potassium, nganese, boron, copper, bar- , sulphur, silver and other e minerals.

itamins: Thiamine, B1, Ribo- in B-2 or G. niacin, panto- ic acid, pyridoxine B-6. Bio- or H. Inositol, folic acid, ine, vitamin E (the fertility vitamin). Plus at least four other vitamin factors generally found in Bran and Wheat Germ.

This writer has been in the baking business for several years, using stone mills and purchasing flours and grains on a 100% chemical free basis. For bakers who wish to give their customers a "real taste thrill" with that real "Down to Earth" taste of home made bread ther would advise them to get in touch with the ELLISON MILLING AND ELEVATOR CO. For they can supply you with 100% whole wheat or pastry flour—UNTREATED.

These flours are ground so fine that there is absolutely no need to add any white flour in order to make delicious Yorkshire pudding, waffles or pancakes.

A new and delicious loaf of bread on the market today and made of approximately four whole grains including flax goes under the trade name of PEASANT BREAD. And MacKinnon's Bakery at 2715 Granville Street is making this most delicious loaf with honey.

WHY WHOLE WHEAT

Take a grain of wheat, place it under a powerful magnifying glass or microscope and you will find near one end of the grain the straw coloured GERM which is the life of the grain. Remove it, then you have a DEAD grain which will not germinate or grow. This germ contains more than 50% of all the vitamins in the grain of wheat. Thus you are robbing your body of health-giving vitamins if you ignore these factors.

In conclusion if any reader would like a brochure entitled "A KERNEL OF WHEAT" giving in full detail (with picture) of a kernel of wheat, then simply write either to the Editor of this newspaper or write to the offices of the Pure Food Guild at 825 W. Broadway.

And remember friends — the best fed mouth in America — IS THE KITCHEN SINK.

ABBOTSFORD, AND CLEARBROOK NEWS

FALL FAIR - FLOWERS

Pre-schoolers and kindergarten youngsters have an opportunity to compete at the Central Fraser Valley Fall Fair in the Flower Division. Mrs. B. Davidson, convenor, has included a special classification for children up to 6 years of age.

There are no entry fees in the junior divisions. These include arrangements for a junior up to 16, and corsage and gladiolus entries. Mrs. Davidson states there were fifty entries in the junior and 4H section of gladiolus in last year's fair.

The Pine Grove Garden Club display promises to be something new and different.

Inquiries have been received regarding exhibits from flower growers as far away as White Rock.

Mrs. Davidson states that with gardens being a little later this year due to the weather, the Flower Division is expected to better previous years.

Mrs. Davidson has been convenor of this section since 1958 and has been active on the Fair Board for more than 10 years. She is sponsor of the 4H Pine Grove Garden Club and she believes that childrens' interest should be fostered in flowers and gardening. Each year she presents members of the club with gladiolus bulbs and many of these blooms are seen at the Fair.

NIGHT SCHOOL

A total of 50 courses are being planned for the 1963-64 Night School Course in School District 34. Enrolment in the program is expected to exceed 600.

The 12 new courses offered this year will be in the academic and vocational fields. These include 3 additional courses in the Interrupted High School program and the additional vocational courses. Non-vocational courses this year will include: Drapes & Upholstery, Hair Styling and Home Beauty Care, Mathematics for Parents, and Dog Obedience Training. Recreational courses will include Keep Fit Classes alongwith Badminton, Bridge and Golf.

Mr. A.B. Thompson, director of Adult Education, reports that negotiations are underway to secure two other training programs. A training program in Restaurant Management and in Waitress Training is planned for either this year or next. The Department of Education's Management Training Course is also to be included in the curriculum (this course is directed towards helping the small businessman in B.C.).

BUILDING

The value of construction in Sumas Municipality during the first 7 months of 1963 shows a considerable increase over the similar period last year.

Permits valued at $49,000 issued from the Municipal Office in July were mainly for new residences.

Total value of construction to the end of July this year is reported at $599,000. This figure is $268,000 more than for the seven month period last year.

TOURISM

250 persons have signed the Guest Book of the Abbotsford Tourist Bureau in the Park Hotel.

Visitors to the area come from all parts of Canada, the United States and as far away as Mexico, Hawaii, New Zealand and Switzerland.

The Tourist Bureau, operated by the Abbotsford and District Chamber of Commerce, is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day til the end of August.

This is the second year of operation of the Bureau. The program started last year during July and operated through August. This year the Bureau has been manned since June 15.

ESCAPEE

Matsqui Municipal Police report the capture of an escapee from one of the Chilliwack Forestry Camps.

43-year-old Bronco Carr was apprehended by a constable on the Le Fevre Road at 11:20 last night and returned to Chilliwack.

MATSQUI POLICE NEWS

A four-year-old Matsqui boy was taken to the MSA General Hospital with injuries after he had driven his bike into the side of a car.

Matsqui Police said Allan Graff of Hawthorne Road rode his bike into the side of an auto driven by Albert Warkentine of Huntingdon Road. The mishap occurred near the boy's home.

An Aldergrove man was treated at the MSA General Hospital for facial cuts and bruises when his car was in a rear end collision on the Trans Canada Highway.

Clarence Wiebe received minor injuries after his vehicle crashed into the rear end of a car driven by Zolton Foldesi of Yarrow.

Damage in the mishap is estimated at $500. Matsqui Police are continuing to investigate the accident.

In other Matsqui Police news, Gordon Wick of Kilgard was assessed a total of $400 in fines when he appeared in Matsqui Police Court. Wick was found guilty of impaired driving and of driving while under suspension.

SWIMMING MEET

Abbotsford Swim Club members again chalked up a top score when they met other clubs from the Valley.

At a meet held in the Maple Ridge Pool at Haney, the Abbotsford Club scored 421 points with the Haney score standing at 245 points. Third place went to the Mission City team, with a score of 196 points, while Cultus Lake Club members chalked up 133 points.

This was the first Fraser Valley meet and it is hoped it will be an annual event. Abbotsford Club will act as hosts for next year's meet, to be held in the Centennial Pool.

Friday and Saturday, the Abbotsford Club will compete in the annual provincial summer club meet at the UBC. Club members will take part in the swimming and diving events.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

An Industrial Development Committee for the MSA District was listed as a major project for the Abbotsford and District Chamber of Commerce. A list of projects was drawn up for the Chamber of Commerce by the organization's executive at a meeting held in the Park Hotel.

Speaker at the meeting, Mr. A. Weston, an industrial development consultant attached to UNESCO, suggested that Abbotsford could become an air freight terminal and distribution centre.

Other projects to be supported will be establishment of a junior college, vocational school and a western veterinary college.

Mrs. O.M. Dayton, chairman of the Abbotsford Local Council of Women will recommend to the group that they undertake civic beautification. Executive members of the Chamber had commented on lack of results of this project when undertaken in past years by the Chamber.

The meeting deplored the lack of adequate signing to guide motorists out of town. President Oscar Dayton said that strangers who inadvertently make the correct turn to McCallum Road may be excused for returning for directions when the road narrows to back lane standards. The matter was referred to the McCallum Road Committee for action.

The meeting unanimously approved a motion to request Lester Inman to chair the Band Festival for a second year.

COLLISION

Extensive damage was caused in a two car collision yesterday in Matsqui.

The mishap occurred at the intersection of the Mt. Lehman and Harris Roads. Cars involved were driven by John Haak of Mt. Lehman, who was travelling north on the Mt. Lehman Road, and an auto driven by Louis Boersma of Matsqui, travelling west on the Harris Road.

There were no injuries in the incident.

Matsqui Municipal Police are continuing an investigation into the accident.

SEA CADETS

Cadets of the Columbia Sea Cadet Corps have been adding several distinctions to the list of top awards gained by the unit.

In last weekend's National Sea Cadet Regatta, the team of 15-year-old Ed McKenzie of Matsqui and 15-year-old Fred Carstenson of Haney placed fourth. The two competed against 19 teams in Flying Dutchman junior sail boats.

The Boat Pulling Crew won the Whaler Pulling Trophy at competitions held at HMCS Quadra Sea Cadet Summer Camp. 21 sea cadets from the unit attended the camp. The race was over a one mile course in a 27-foot whaling boat.

In other unit news, 17-year-old Leading Cadet Barry Cornwall will leave shortly for new entry training at Halifax in the Royal Canadian Navy.

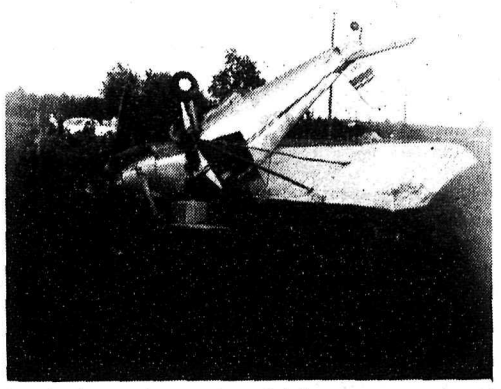
An estimated total of 40,000 persons attended the second annual Abbotsford Air Show, held during the weekend.

The skies over the Valley were filled with all types of aircraft, ranging from home-built planes to the jet fighters of the Canadian and United States Air Forces. Visitors saw flying demonstrations by F102 United States Air Force fighter interceptors, aerobatics by the RCAF Red Knight and fly pasts by units of both the USAF and the RCAF.

The Valley Sky Diving Club held jumping competitions both days.

Lt. Governor G.R. Pearkes officially opened the show on Saturday. He spoke of the unity of the armed forces of the two countries and said this should be strengthened even further to provide a united front. He reminiced about the Abbotsford Air Port stating he remembered the field when it was being carved out of woods. He pointed out the difference today when the largest planes can land and take off from the local port.

Winner of the return trip to Hawaii was Mrs. E. Klitz of Vedder Crossing.



An Alaska resident, Art Weininger, escaped with minor injuries when his plane crashed south of the Abbotsford Air Port Saturday night. The plane reportedly had difficulty landing and when Mr. Weininger tried to gain altitude the engines stalled. The plane crashed one-quarter of a mile south of the air port into a stump-filled field. The Federal Department of Transport Investigating Bureau is in charge of the investigation.

One of the many scenes at the 4H Club Rally at the Central Fraser Valley Fair Grounds. The Achievement Day program attracted 130 club members from the MSA District. The day's events included a dress revue, judging of cattle and poultry and Garden Club exhibits. Almost 200 people attended the program to view the year's work of the Club members.

NORTH COGHLAN NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Masson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Cochrane and Mrs. Brietsky of Coghlan were members of a scenic tour by Lyle Penzer's bus. The August 7th tour was planned by Mr. Penzer and included such spots as Harrison Lake, Green Point and other places around Harrison.

Mrs. Dick Head of Gull Lake, Sask., was a recent guest of Mrs. W. McLeod. A sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. McLeod's Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barfoot of Welling, Ont., are also visiting her. Mrs. McLeod's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Iain McLeod, North Bend, are also here, having recently been in Victoria Arbor, Ont.

Patty Twemlow cut her knuckle with a scythe and had to have several stitches in it.

The 1st Coghlan Scouts spent the weekend with their fathers at Chilliwack Lake. About 25 took part.

The swimming class of the little kids at the Aldergrove Pool have had their tests. Some got stroker cards, others beginner buttons or junior buttons. All are very happy with their progress.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Hampton, who are on leave from San Salvador, Central America, with their three little girls, had lunch and spent the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. T. Hunter of Kendall Road recently.

Attending the Presbyterian Church and Sunday School Picnic at Redwood Park were a number of North Coghlan residents.

Leslie and Terry Kirkham had the misfortune to fall off a horse while riding. Leslie fell on the paved road, was knocked unconscious and cut her head. A friend, Bob Shore, and Eunice Radons drove her to Langley Hospital where several stitches were required. Leslie will spend a few days in hospital.

Mrs. Flo Hansen slipped and fractured her hip. She was operated on in the Royal Columbian Hospital last Tuesday and is reported recovering.

ROYAL CANADIAN LEGION
BRANCH 21 – LANGLEY

The Special General Meeting held on 30 July was fairly well attended. New Branch By-Laws were passed and a scheme for re-financing the Branch was approved. A circular letter about the scheme will be mailed to all members in the near future. One of the pressing needs of the moment is for members who will take an active part in the work of the Branch. Too many seem to think that if they turn up at a meeting and vote for a resolution the job is as good as done. In fact, it is only then beginning.

SENIOR VETS CLUB

The picnic at Redwood Park seems to have been enjoyed by all those who came along. Unfortunately, a good many members apparently did not realize that the picnic was definitely arranged; otherwise, the party would have been larger. The

The next meeting is on Thursday, 29 August at 2 pm at the Legion – it is always on the last Thursday of the month. Come along and bring your wife or a friend.

There is a double suite vacant in Douglas Manor, the Senior Vets Homes in Fort Langley.

The low inclusive rent covers heat, light, fridge, etc.

Anyone interested should contact Mrs. R. Copeland (phone 534-4205) right away.

SUMMER CAMP

Our guests for this year are now enjoying themselves at White Rock. They are:

Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pelley, Mr. and Mrs. John James, Mr. an Mrs. Ed Mearns, Mrs. L.M. Wasson, Mrs. W. McLeod, Sam Gooden and John Hayward.

A nice little party. This year, as it turned out, we didn't have to refuse anybody who wanted to go.

IN HOSPITAL

A. Metcalfe, R. Holmes and L. E. Thouret are in Shaughnessy. D.J. Peters is making progress in the Royal Columbia and Van Hedlund is in the Pearson.

MEMBERSHIP

We welcome the following comrades who have joined the Branch recently:

M.W. Anderson, G.G. Moss, G. K. Mooney, A.R. Thomson, J.C. Johnson, K.A. Wallace, L.A. Noakes and Miss V. Kelly.

Have YOU brought in a new member this year?

If anybody asks you what the Legion is doing, you can tell him that, amongst other things, the Branch has distributed over $15,500 on welfare and community work in the last five years.

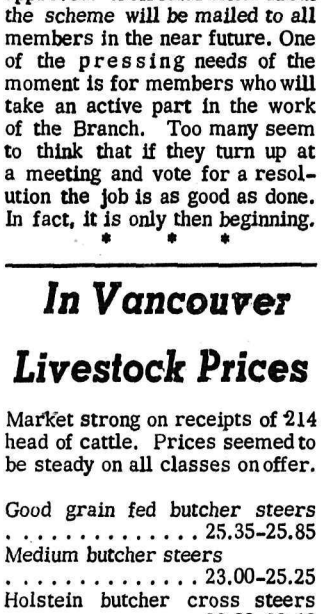
LARGE ATTENDANCE. Part of the very large crowd at the Abbotsford Air Show on Sunday is seen above, watching some of the planes. Attendance was doubled over last year and those parking cars gave up counting after the 3,000 mark. (News Photo)

GLOBEMASTER. This plane is well named – Globemaster. The largest military plane in the world, it is claimed, was on show at Abbotsford on Saturday and Sunday. It belongs to the American Air Force and was one of several. This is also known as the "flying boxcar" and attracted much attention. (News Photo)



Safety Feet

When you're painting, place the foot of the ladder about one-fourth its length away from the wall. For example, a 16-foot ladder should be 4 feet from the house. Grasp the side rails rather than the rungs while climbing.

Only Macuilzochitl – Aztec god of dance and song – protects the Flying Birdmen in their ritual 110-foot dive! You'll get goose-pimples when these fearless Mexican dancers perform ancient Aztec-Mayan rites in the exciting PNE Empire Stadium Show, where EVERY act is a smash hit! Thrill to death-defying auto crash drivers . . . the Junior Military Tattoo's stirring splendor . . . gorgeous costumes of every Pacific country displayed in the colorful Parade of Pacific Nations . . . enchanting grass-skirted Hawaiians, flown to Vancouver by Canadian Pacific Airlines, the Curtain of Fire . . . the blazing eruption of the volcano Mauna Loa in the spectacular fireworks finale. M.C.'d by top Hollywood entertainers. SENSATIONAL! is the word for the 1963 PNE Pageant of the Pacific Empire Stadium Show . . . don't miss it!
