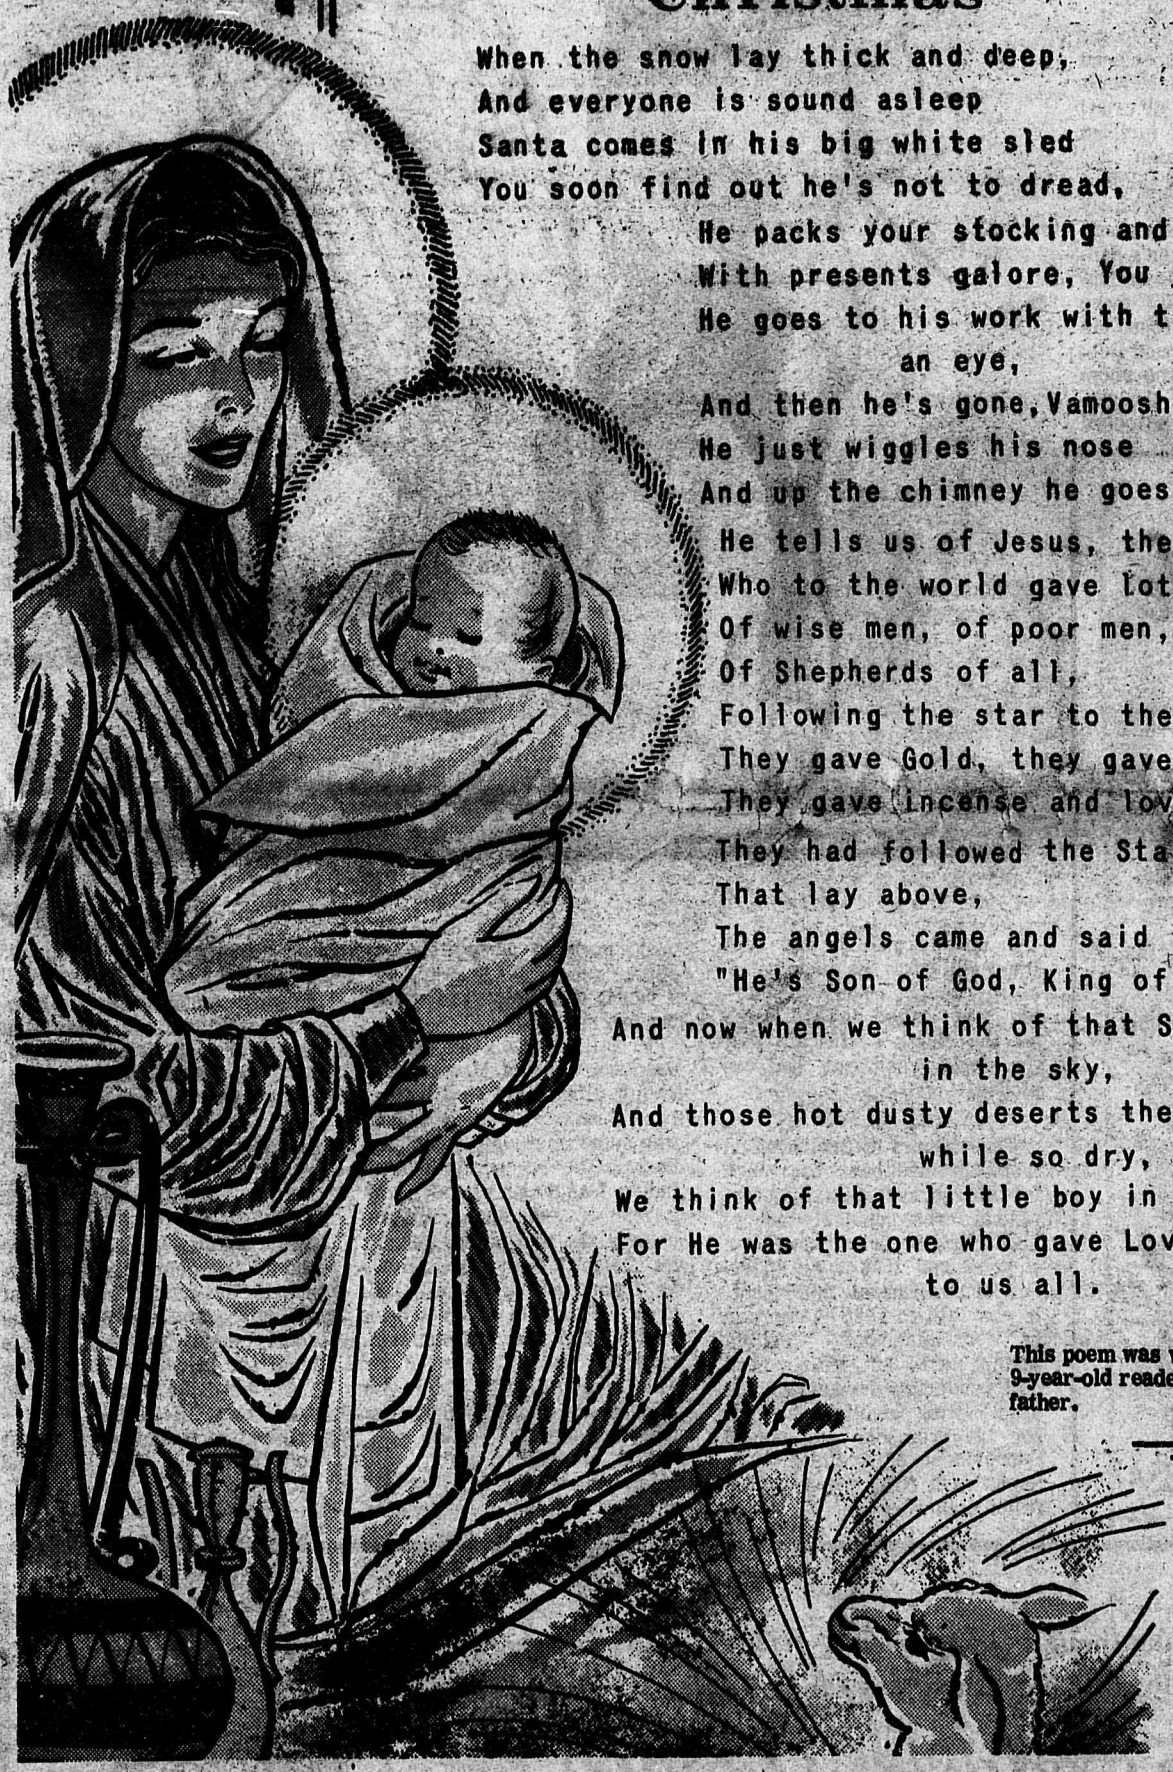
How I Feel About Christmas

When the snow lay thick and deep,
And everyone is sound asleep
Santa comes in his big white sled
You soon find out he's not to dread,
He packs your stocking and your tree,
With presents galore, You just see.
He goes to his work with the wink of an eye,
And then he's gone, Vamoosh, Goodbye,
He just wiggles his nose
And up the chimney he goes.
He tells us of Jesus, the baby boy,
Who to the world gave lots of Joy,
Of wise men, of poor men,
Of Shepherds of all,
Following the star to the Royal Stall,
They gave Gold, they gave Silver,
They gave incense and love,
They had followed the Star
That lay above,
The angels came and said to them
"He's Son of God, King of men."
And now when we think of that Star in the sky,
And those hot dusty deserts they crossed while so dry,
We think of that little boy in the stall,
For He was the one who gave Love to us all.

This poem was written by one of our 9-year-old readers, as a tribute to her father.



Star closed for holidays until January 3

The Central Fraser Valley Star and Star Printers will be closed for the Holiday season from Tuesday, December 24, and re-open on Friday, Jan.3, 1975.

Christmas at Westglenmoor Castle

by Rudy Langmann

Illustrated by Larry Blackhall

The owner of Westglenmoor castle, the somewhat excentric millionaire Geoffrey Mulroy, smiled benevolently as he switched on the lights of the great plastic Christmas tree in the main hall. He had bought himself a present, and he was just itching to take it out of its wrappings.

Mr. Mulroy was a self-made man. His success story dated back not too many years, to a time when he did not own anything but his two strong hands and a lot of energy. He also had a good head, a shrewd mind and a charming manner. And in a few years he rose to become one of the best known publishers of music in London. Mr. Mulroy had earned himself a small fortune - or rather quite a sizable fortune - and one of his first major purchases was the well-known 217-room Westglenmoor Castle which he had bought from an old and bankrupt nobleman. He hadn't even quibbled about the asking price, but paid - in a fat wad of one-thousand-pound notes - exactly what Sir Archibald, that fox, had asked. Mr. Mulroy had earned a lot of money on music - not this modern stuff, of course, as he just couldn't stand rock and roll or such, or even jazz. He had earned his money on classical music. He loved music. He attended every concert in London and Liverpool, symphonies, choirs, chamber music, concerts for two violas, bass and cello, concerts for tuba, bugle and French horn, and even concerts for piano, crosscut saw and flute.

Himself, he played the trombone. Not in an orchestra, only as a hobby. He played the trombone so it could be heard throughout South Wales and clear to Birmingham.

And it sounded atrocious.

When he put his lips to the instrument and the subsequent vibrations filled the air, everything that could walk or crawl sought refuge in the furthest corner of the old mansion.

One day when Mr. Mulroy had practiced some extremely difficult tetrachords sostenuto of Ludwig van Beethoven's Sonata Pathetique and E-Major Sonata, Opus no, 91½, for more than three hours, he found his beautiful dog, a purebred Doberman, dead inside the room next to the salon. A thoughtless person unknown had locked the doors, and it had been impossible for the noble animal to escape. The veterinarian was called in and noted on the death certificate that the dog's eardrums had exploded.

Three hours of Beethoven on trombone had been too much for the brave animal. Mr. Mulroy was genuinely sorry, and cried, because it had been a good and true dog. It received a beautiful interment. It was laid to rest in a corner of Westglenmoor Castle's stately park. Mr. Mulroy himself conducted the service and as a fitting highlight he sent for his trombone and played Dance Macabre by Camille Saint-Saens as a final tribute to his fallen comrade.

It sounded absolutely terrible.

Not to Mr. Mulroy, mind you, but to Priscilla.

Priscilla was the young, beautiful wife of Mr. Mulroy. She had been married before, two times. First to a lord who sometimes visited Buckingham. The second time to an Indian Maharajah who also was a man of substance. Unfortunately the maharajah took off for Calcutta with a go-go dancer from the Cat n' Tail Cabaret. Priscilla had not been overly happy the day she married Mr. Mulroy. I mean, he was after all only a common millionaire - and to make things even worse, a self-made man.

You couldn't possibly talk about him at the same breath as you mentioned the lord or the maharajah. He had far too many faults. His musical interest being one of them.

Mr. Mulroy turned away from the light switch and beamed.

"Prissy, my dear," he said. "Now, that's that. The tree is ready and we can unwrap our presents. Aren't you excited?"

"Yes, darling, very much so."

Mr. Mulroy sent for James and let this gentleman's gentleman do the manual work. First all the bagatelles. A few mink coats, some original models from the houses of Paris, New York and Flin Flon, Man. An assortment of jewels, a 14 - carat diamond ring and a gift certificate for 250,000 Pound

Sterling to a fashionable salon on Carnaby Street.

"What's that in that big parcel over there?" Priscilla pointed under the tree. "Is that for little me, too?"

Mr. Mulroy nodded. James loosened the ribbon and removed the paper wrappings. It was a 1975 Cadillac Fleetwood.

"Are you disappointed?" Mr. Mulroy asked, watching his better half.

"Oh no, darling," Priscilla forced a smile. "Of course, I would have preferred a '76 model.

"They are not out yet," said Mr. Mulroy. "But let's now see what you have for me."

There were several small surprises for Mr. Mulroy. A pair of Stanfield long-johns, an ounce of tobacco, a pair of pink suspenders, a polka-dotted tie and a pair of crocheted slippers.

"Thank you, dear," said Mr. Mulroy and kissed his beautiful wife.

"There's one more parcel," said Priscilla. "Who's that for?"

"That's for myself," said Mr. Mulroy, smiling mysteriously.

"From whom?"

"From myself."

James assisted. Priscilla screamed when the old battered grinding organ appeared. She almost fainted.

"What kind of an awful machine is that, Jeff?" she asked with a trembling voice.

"As you see. An organ."

"And what for, if I may ask? Is that suppose to replace your terrible trombone?"

"No."

"I insist on you telling me - right now - what we are going to do with that monstrosity?"

"It will be placed in the main hallway."

"In the hallway?" Now Priscilla prepared herself to faint.

"Easy, my dear. It is a perfectly good organ. Listen."

Mr. Mulroy cranked the handle, and the organ immediately fell in with the "Tennessee Waltz." Only Mr. Mulroy knew it was 'Tennessee Waltz', as he was cranking the handle too slowly.

"It sounds terrible. I have never in my life heard anything like it," Priscilla cried.

"It is not perfect," Mr. Mulroy agreed amiably, "but I'll have some new rolls put in it. I've chosen Vecsey's Chanson nostalgique and the Sonatina by Paganini."

He put his hands on the shoulders of his young and beautiful wife.

"My dear Priscilla," he said. "You know that I started out from nothing, right? My dad was a shoeshine man, as I have told you so often, and you also know I got my own start as an organ grinder. You know. . . . ."

"James, you can leave."

Priscilla could have disappeared into the ground if it wasn't for the fact that she was standing on the hall's solid marble floor. James had heard that her husband had been an organ grinder. Just imagine, an organ grinder. What more could happen to her?

James didn't appear to hear her voice. He was absolutely fascinated, so much so, that for the first time in his life he ignored an order.

"Didn't you hear me? You can leave," Priscilla repeated icily.

James collected himself.

"I'm sorry, mam," he stammered, and disappeared.

Priscilla looked at Mr. Mulroy.

"Do you know what a pioneer is?" he asked.

She didn't answer.

"A pioneer," Mr. Mulroy began, "is a man who with a shovel, a saw and an axe in hand, (together with his wife) goes to an unsettled frontier country, a place where the weeds abound and where the ground is full of rocks. As soon as he arrives, he starts cutting down the trees, chops down the weeds, tills the soil, and he dresses the logs and builds a cabin, and in the ground he plants corn and potatoes, and as the years go by the harvest becomes more and more bountiful, he earns money, more and more, builds a bigger house and buys perhaps 150 pigs, 150 cows, and 150 horses. He has created a farm. The pioneer has become a solid citizen and maybe some day he shows an axe hanging on his wall to his new friends. 'With that axe,' he says proudly, 'I cleared the land where now my corn grows!' And his friends think the farmer must be an exceptional man, since he started out with nothing but his bare hands."

Mr. Mulroy fell quiet. He watched his old organ with a happy smile. There were tears in his eyes as he continued:

"You see, my dear Priscilla, I'm not a pioneer farmer. I have no axe I can show my friends, but I do have this old organ and I can with proud satisfaction tell them: 'That organ earned me my first farthing in the street where I was born and where my dad polished the shoes of the upper class.' That's what I can say, and my friends can then tell that I have worked to achieve the position I hold today."

He gave the handle a couple of turns.

"Do you understand now why I bought this organ?" he asked.

"Yes." Priscilla was now openly crying. She immediately left the room and went up to her bedroom and threw herself hysterically on the large bed. She wept. She sobbed and the bed shook. Christmas was ruined. Just imagine, everybody would soon know that she was married to an ex-organ grinder.

She thought longingly of the fine and noble lord, and the equally fine and noble maharajah.

None of these gentlemen had ever been an organ grinder.

Christmas Day and most of Boxing Day as well were taken up by James and Mr. Mulroy polishing the organ. They installed a new crank, new rubber tires and chrome bub cabs, a new air bag and two rows of new chrome pipes. New music was installed, and James painted the main part in a nice green color with yellow racing stripes. Priscilla didn't come out of her room. She cried in the morning, she cried still in the afternoon and evening, but the second day she didn't cry quite as much. There were periods of 10 or 20 minutes in between when she didn't cry at all. In the afternoon she got up and tried her new wardrobe.

The following day there was held a great Christmas party in the Westglenmoor Castle, and toward evening, when everyone was filled with the happy Yuletide spirit, Mr. Mulroy suggested the guests ask Priscilla to play Paganini on the organ. He would accompany on trombone.

Everyone present was delighted. James was sent to the concert salon for the trombone, and Mr. Mulroy went to fetch his young and beautiful wife. He couldn't find her. Several of the guests joined in the search, but Priscilla was nowhere to be found.

The concert had to be cancelled.

Nobody thought to look for Priscilla in the gazebo on the small island in the middle of the large lake down in the park. That was too bad, because that's where she was.

She sat closely entwined with one of the guests, the famous newspaper tycoon Herbert Newcombe. She was in love.

"Isn't it absolutely ridiculous with that organ, Herbie, dear?" she asked.

The tycoon nodded his head.

He was a young, slender man. Good-looking.

"I can't stand it. I just can't stand it. I can not remain the wife of an , an . . . . . an organ grinder."

Herbert Newcombe squeezed Priscilla.

"Why don't you divorce the man?" he asked. "Mental cruelty, I'm sure."

Priscilla jumped up.

"Yes, by god, I'll get a divorce tomorrow."

"And marry me, right?"

She nodded. He kissed her.

The sound of a trombone drifted to the young lovers from Westglenmoor Castle. If Herbert and Priscilla had paid attention they would have known it was Tchaikovsky's Allegro non grazia of his Symphony No. 6, but they didn't pay attention to anything or anyone but each other.

Besides, neither Herbert nor Priscilla cared for Tchaikovsky. Not even on trombone.

Priscilla got her divorce. She married Herbert Newcombe and loved her new husband. He bought her two or three sable coats a week. Sometimes four.

He gave her four Cadillacs, complete with chauffeurs.

He offered Mr. Mulroy so much money for Westglenmoor Castle that the latter felt he had to sell, and Priscilla once more moved into her old home. Herbert was, thank goodness, a real man. He didn't play the trombone. He didn't care for music at all, as a matter of fact. But he did care for his newspaper. He talked almost constantly about his newspaper, one of the largest dailies in London.

He knew everybody who was worth knowing. He was on a first-name basis with Henry Kissinger and Richard Burton.

He was a man of substance.

Priscilla loved him. She loved him almost as much as she had loved the lord and the maharajah. Until the following Christmas morning when she discovered an old news stand in the hallway. A common, simple, plebeian, plywood newspaper stand, painted black.

"What is that, Herbert?" she asked.

"As you see. A news stand. From myself, to myself, for Christmas."

Herbert lit a cigarette, and smiled at Priscilla.

'Away in a Manger' was performed by Jubilee school students at annual Christmas concert Friday night.

Doug Easton was master of ceremonies at 1974 concert, and the audience, filling the Jubilee hall, participated vigorously in the concert by joining in the carolling.

Students also performed in play, 'The Night before Christmas' and 'Christmas Acrostic.'

Soloists on accodian were Murray and Jonathan Pauls, and Janet Cronkhite, Richard Campbell, June MacKay and Mark Petersen performed in a woodwind quartet.

She didn't smile.

"And that stand has to remain in the hall?"

"Of course, my dear. And I will tell you why. You see, I haven't been a newspaper tycoon and a millionaire all my life. I began small. I earned my first pennies as a newspaper boy. Later I managed to save enough so I could buy a news stand, an ordinary black . . . "

"Do you know what a pioneer is?" asked Priscilla, her eyes shooting darts.

"Yes, a pioneer is a man who with a shovel, a saw and an axe in hand, (together with his wife) goes to an unsettled frontier country, a place where the weeds abound and where the ground is full of rocks. He plants and builds, cuts down the trees and harvests the corn, and in a few years he works himself toward becoming a well-to-do man. Say, by the way, your analogy was good, dear. And it will make it so much easier for me to explain this old news stand to you. You see, I'm like a pioneer. I am . . . ."

"Yes, you're an egotist. An egotist like Geoffrey. All men are egotists."

She stamped her little foot angrily on the marble floor. She looked hatefully at the small black plywood building and disappeared out the door. She didn't even wish her husband a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Next Christmas we find Priscilla in Andrew Cunningham's luxurious London flat. She sits close to Mr. Cunningham. They are in a close embrace.

This worthy and substantial man had been a guest of Herbert Newcombe on Westglenmoor Castle quite often in the past year. But after Priscilla was divorced from Herbert, he no longer visited the newspapers tycoon's mansion.

He was a tall, slender man, quite good-looking. He had earned his fortune on fruit. He had made a tremendous fortune on fruit.

He liked fruit.

He also liked Priscilla. With the utmost loving care he drew her close and looked into her beautiful eyes.

"May I tell a secret?" he asked. He was emotionally shaken.

Priscilla nodded.

"I love you."

"Ah."

"Will you marry me?"

Priscilla hesitated.

"On one condition," she said.

"And that is?...."

"That you promise never to give yourself a banana push cart for Christmas, and place it here in the hall."

Mr. Cunningham promised. He swore by his eternal love. And then he married Priscilla, and they lived happily.

For how long we don't know.

Christmas is here!

We're sending our warmest wishes to you and your family for a very, merry Christmas! Thank you for your patronage.

Opposition doing its job

by Bob Wenman

This year's end is a time for assessment. In most opinions, the 30th Parliament is shaping up as something less than spectacular. The Liberal Government has displayed little of the energy, determination and sense of direction expected from an administration with a fresh mandate and sizeable majority. If anything, it seems that their new majority status has given them a sense of security which is rapidly turning into arrogance and smugness. In view of the very serious problems facing Canada today, inflation, energy shortages, crime, farm production and endless others, the Government's turtle-like pace is indeed discouraging.

BOB WENMAN

Sitting as an opposition member, it is difficult for myself and my colleagues to direct this country onto new paths. This of course is the responsibility of the Liberal majority sitting on the government side of the House. Where we can be effective is preventing the Government from taking certain undesirable courses of action, or in changing past policies that are ineffective. I am pleased that the record shows that during the fall session of this Parliament, the opposition parties have performed well on this count.

For example, opposition pressure has forced the Cabinet to not proceed at this time with Bill C-32 (the Petroleum Administration Act) which, as you'll remember from last week's column, has three objectives; to give legislative sanction to the oil export tax; to authorize the payment of subsidies to Eastern Canada who must, because they import, pay more for their oil; to give the federal government, in the absence of agreement with the producing province, the power to set the domestic price of Western Canadian gas and oil. It was this last mentioned objective that we objected to so strenuously because the right to set prices of provincial resources is foremost a right of the producing province. And, perhaps more important, the bill would have given the federal government the right to impose a price if agreement was not reached with the provinces. The result of this? Undoubtedly the bill will be brought before the House again after Christmas but almost certainly with modification to the price setting feature. Thus, future oil prices will result from pricing agreements that include the Western oil-producing provinces.

Equally pleasing is the opposition's campaign to strengthen the very weak conflict of interest guidelines drawn up by the government. The SIU affair has focused attention on this problem, especially as regards ministers and their departments. After a very effective one day special debate on this, the House had little choice but to instruct the committee on Privileges and Election to review the Government's proposed conflict of interest rules. Stronger guidelines are demanded, especially for ministers, and it looks as if the government will have to follow suit in order to satisfy the House and the Committee.

Demands from British Columbian and other Western M.P.'s for more representation in the House have also been heeded, at least in part. Because the Government's redistribution Bill simply did not take into account enough, the swift growth of B.C. and Alberta, myself and a group of my colleagues threatened to block passage of the bill. The result? The government announced this week that they are prepared to compromise. Accordingly, B.C. will get five new seats (instead of the four originally proposed) for the next election, bringing our total to 28. Alberta will get two, bringing its total to 21 (Alberta has 19 now).

Each of these three examples - the petroleum bill, conflict of interest and redistribution - show how a numerically smaller group of M.P.'s can, on certain important issues, cause the majority to re-condsider; and if enough pressure is applied, revise its policy or approach. While I am very displeased with the government's performance so far, especially after all the moaning on the need for majority government, I take pleasure in knowing that our side of the House has been active and in spite of the overwhelming majority of the Liberal Government, the Opposition has achieved some measure of success.

The Most Beautiful Story

The first and perhaps the most beautiful story is related in the second chapter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew:

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem.

Saying, where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him . . .

And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the child; and when you have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed: And, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was.

When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy.

And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: And when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold and frankincense, and myhrr.

REINDEER APPEARED LATER

Most of the legends and beliefs about Christmas animals are very ancient. The animal that came into prominence later is the Christmas reindeer. It is difficult to determine exactly when he made his first appearance, or why. One story has it that the Christ Child told St. Nicholas he might choose any animal he wished to draw his gift-laden sleigh on Christmas Eve. But it was Santa Claus, and not St. Nicholas, with whom the legend of the reindeer grew up.

We find many animals taking their unforgettable parts in the Christmas scene. The barnyard beasts who serve mankind so well are there. The camels and the horses and the goats, as well as birds are in the Christmas picture.

The reindeer are there too, and likely to remain.

Jack Loeppky (left) explains to coaches and managers why ice has to come out.

Owner is adamant

Ice is coming out

ALDERGROVE - "I won't be hosed," arena owner Jack Loeppky told a meeting of about 30 minor hockey and ringette coaches Thursday night. "The ice is coming out January 1."

The coaches and managers decided to send a delegation to council Monday morning, to try and sway councilmen's minds toward not forcing a two-month closure of the arena in mid-season.

Loeppky said he had trusted municipal officials all along and not forced the signing of a legal option of purchase. Neither had the municipality ever had the arena appraised by an impartial outside party, he said.

The local developer said that contrary to public opinion he was not going to make a huge profit on the sale of the building.

Selling the facility for $750,000 to the district, he said, would, according to his auditors statement net him $31,016 for two years of "hard work and worry" and investing $210,000 of his own money.

He said the latest proposal from district council, to hold back $80,000 of the purchase price for an unspecified length of time, amounted to "a bombshell dropped on me nine working days before conveyancing."

He said the demand was completely unjustified as an $1,100 confidential engineers report made on the municipality's request in early October described the half-inch heave in the floor as "not regarded as a serious condition."

All arenas have frost heaves in their floors, he said, including the municipality's own arena in Brookswood and the White Rock rink which he said had a 4-inch heave.

And, anyway, council had never, until last week, mentioned the possibility of a hold back.

"The ice is coming out on January 1," he repeated.

Sponsored ice time for elementary school children brought comments from some members that if ice is removed from the arena, the Legion should reconsider the instituting of ice time again because after all, Matsqui and other municipalities provide free skating time to schools and the payment of $2100 per year for ice time by the Legion could be considered another form of taxation.

This is not an official Legion opinion but only the opinion of some of the members who consider it an outright gift to the municipal coffers and if breach of contract for ice rental occurs, there should be no reinstatement.

Environmental discipline

The spectre of cities buried under their own trash, of pollution blotting out the sun for weeks on end, of marine life dying because of polluted oceans is becoming more real. In the past, it was merely an ugly vision in somebody's imagination. Today, the dangers of pollution have become all too obvious.

One doesn't have to look very far to find causes: First, the world's population is growing at an unprecedented rate. Secondly, we have not disciplined ourselves to avoid pollution. So far, ordinary people everywhere have not begun to realize the devastating impact of of mountains of wrecked cars, both in cities and even in the countryside. Noise pollution is now considered a definite health hazard.

What then is the solution - if indeed there is a solution? Man must discipline himself, must discipline his wasteful consumption habits in the affluent lands. The more consumption, the more pollution. Urban planners must pursue the concept of satellite cities - connected in future years by rapid transit systems of various kinds. Satellite cities, which so far have not won wide acceptance, avoid the urban overcrowding that leads to so much pollution.

There must be local, provincial, national and international action if the environmental "doomsday" discussed by United Nations environment chief Maurice Strong is to be avoided. Future generations will thank us if more people are educated to fight actively against pollution of the air, the land and the water.

The Important Tree - A Ritual

There's no end to the variety of Christmas trees today. They come in every size, shape and color, and are decorated with elaborate and expensive bulbs or simple paper chains and pine cones.

Snowy white Christmas trees and cherry red Christmas trees, Christmas trees with birds and bows. Popcorn and gingerbread trees. Tall trees and tiny trees. Christmas trees with twinkle lights and bubbly lights. Tinsel trees and holly trees. Scotch pine trees and aluminum trees.

Not so, years ago in the days of the first Christmas trees. According to an ancient legend, the very first Christmas tree was a simple fir that appeared to St. Boniface. The English missionary stopped a group of heathens from sacrificing a prince at an old oak tree in Northern Germany. He chopped down the oak, and a fir tree miraculously appeared. He dedicated the tree to the Holy Child.

The tale of the fir tree and its miraculous appearance spread, and soon Germans were using trees as part of their Christmas decoration. Early trees were decorated with stars, angels, toys, nuts and candies.

To many, selection of just the right tree is the most important part of the Christmas tree ritual. There are some who like to trek out in the woods, find just the right tree and then cut it down.

Volcano potential of Mt. Baker seen

Mount Baker "is a potentially active volcano" which could bring disaster to Whatcom and Skagit counties if it ever erupted, an Eastern Washington State College geologist says.

Dr. Eugene Kiver, who headed an expedition last August to the subsummit crater of the 10,788-foot peak, said an eruption could bring "mud-flows or other geological events and cause considerable loss of life and property."

Kiver said the team found evidence of volcanic activity and the likelihood of an avalanche in the next three years.

"Geologists only need to look at the uneroded slopes of this glacier-covered giant, the fresh surface of the Sulfur Creek lava flow or the furious discharge of steam from fumarole vents in the crater to know that this mountain is a potentially active volcano," Kiver said.

Kiver said that 10 eruptions of the mountain could be seen and felt in Bellingham and other nearby towns between 1842 and the last eruption in 1870.

Canada buys most Japanese oranges

TORONTO: Japan Trade officials contend Western Canada is the major market for Japanese oranges eating a lion's share of the $4 million shipments of 16,000 tons. This, they point out despite the fact Christmas oranges are promoted from coast to coast.

Officials said Japan expects to harvest a record crop of some 2.9 million tons — up 30 per cent from last year.

Receiving 150 hours hours pins for volunteer service as candy stripers at Langley Memorial Hospital are Nancy Shell and Linda Williamson, presented by Mrs. Len Nicholas.

CONSCIENCE and COMMENT

By Rev. K. Neill Foster

Condemned heads rest easy here

In a bizarre kidnapping and murder case in Moncton, New Brunswick two policemen have just lost their lives.

According to the speculation of law-enforcement officers on the scene the two policemen were forced to dig their own graves before they were murdered. Both of the victims were married men with children.

Two suspects have been taken into custody and the charges likely to be laid are kidnapping and capital murder.

If the suspects are ultimately convicted, the crime will be the killing of policemen. And the penalty specified by Canadian law is hanging.

Looking further down the road there will be a nearly endless round of legal appeals, all quite proper, which will consume many months.

But, still assuming, the matter will finally come to rest in the Cabinet. There the Prime Minister and his colleagues will duly consider the case. And if all goes as it has been for a number of years, the capital punishment prescribed by the law and ordered by the court will be set aside. Condemned heads can rest easy in Canada.

Now in this space we are not plumping for vengeance. Justice would do. But given the present state of affairs in Canada, justice will not be served. The law will be thwarted, our society further weakened and our law-enforcement officers endangered even more.

We could turn this column into an harangue for capital punishment, and stir up a lot of controversy in the process (we know that by experience). However, another principle is at issue here. Is the law really the law - or is it not? Surely it is time to decide.

The ultimate irony is to watch lawmakers sidestepping the law. Instead of letting their "yea" be "yea", it now means yes, no or maybe. And on the hanging issue, regardless of the law, always no.

Children's version of 'Good Word''

Youngsters spending Christmas holidays away from school will enjoy the special series of "What's The Good Word" programs BCTV is presenting from December 23 to January 3. The CTV Network word-association game show, produced by British Columbia Television, will feature two weeks of special Children's Games during the holiday season. They will be shown weekdays at 3:30 p.m. on BCTV.

Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 16 will be competing to guess the mystery words and win the prizes, instead of the grown-ups who usually participate on "What's The Good Word." The show's producer, Bob Aaron, organized the first Children's Series for last Spring's Easter holidays. It proved so successful that he decided to repeat the idea during Christmas. Aaron found that young people are very good at playing "What's The Good Word." They are less inhibited than adults and become very involved with the competition. "It makes for a really exciting show", Aaron said.

"What's The Good Word" is directed by Dave Wallace and produced at British Columbia Television, the Vancouver affiliate of the CTV Television Network.

Tis the season to be helpful

"Tis the season to be jolly", for some, but for others it is the season to prepare for the collection and distribution of Christmas Hampers. The Christmas Bureau of Langley Community Services is the scene of increasing activity as the festive season approaches. Training sessions for volunteers are almost complete, and soon, dedicated men and women will work to ensure that the aged, the needy, the sick and unfortunate in the municipality of Langley share in the general prosperity. Telephones are set up at the Bureau at 20538 Fraser Highway and trained persons will pass on the names of needy persons or families to persons, agencies and organizations which are preparing to donate hampers. Persons or executives of organizations are urged to telephone 530 - 6204 if they know of a needy family, or if they are planning on collecting food, clothing or toys for hampers. The purpose of the Christmas Hamper Service is to co-ordinate the sending and receiving of hampers by acting as a clearing station for information about both groups. A Master List of those receiving hampers will be kept so that duplication in the sending of hampers can be avoided. All organizations sending hampers are urged to send lists of names of hamper recipients to the office, so that these names can be included on the Master List.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Muriel Arnason, Volunteer Co-ordinator of Langley Community Services, an election of officials was held on Monday, November 18th. Mr. Robert Montpietit was nominated Chairman of the Christmas Hamper Committee. He is to be assisted by Mrs. Betty Gleig and Mrs. Nora Burnett. Volunteer Cor-ordinator is Mrs. Yvonne Montpetit. Members of the Publicity Committee include Mrs. Joan Hickey, Mrs. Sandra Mason, Mrs. Gladys Montgomery and Mr. Robert Montpetit. The Purchasing Committee will include Mrs. Billie Miller and Mrs. Margarete Borck. The Treasurer of the Committee is Mrs. Judie Sahadeo.

The number to call is 530 - 6204 if you know of any needy person of family whose Christmas will be made happier by a gift of food, toys or warm clothing. The number to is 530 - 6204 if you or your organization need the name of a needy family, or if you need extra food, clothing or toys to complete a hamper. The number to call is 530 - 6204 to inform us of the names of those persons to whom you have sent hampers. These names will be included on the Master List. The number to call is 530 - 6204 if you have money, food, clothing or toys to donate.

Please help us to help the needy this Christmas.

Legion membership growing

The regular monthly meeting of Branch 265 Royal Canadian Legion and Ladies Auxillary was held Thursday night.

After regular business during which letters of thanks from Langley and Abbotsford hospitals were read, acknowledging receipt of the third $500 payments of $2000 being given to each, the election of officers for 1975 was started.

Jake Wall became president, Slim Sorenson 1st. vice president, H. Love, 2nd. vice president, Nick Grychowski, secretary, Joe Ayzan, treasurer, Jim Arcand, sergeant at arms and six members were elected to the executive A. Campbell, H. Gibbon, W. Hopkins, L. Rushmore, G. Taylor and F. Zaharia.

Thirty one members attended and quite a few new members were accepted bringing total membership to 162 regular and 56 fraternal. Openings for new members exist in regular (veteran), associated (son or daughter of veteran) or fraternal (jovial fellowship).

The building has slowed down somewhat due to only three members showing for work parties and again a large number of vacancies exist in these work parties. W. Hopkins will be happy to receive applications for these or above memberships.

In the Auxilliary meeting $50 was donated to the Retarded Bowling League and $3,500 was handed over to the Legion. Then the following officers were elected for 1975: Verna Ayzan, president, Margaret Gervan, 1st. vice president, Nellie Nachbar and vice president, Freida McKay secretary, Liz Hiest treasurer, Mal Love sergeant at arms and Helen Drew, Mary Wall, Lena Carr, Sheryl Isherwood, Melsa Patterson and Betty Bradley were elected to the executive.

Installation of officers will be held at 1:00 p.m. January 5 and not at 2:00 p.m. as previously announced.

Not a world of peace and goodwill

Ours is not a world of peace and goodwill among men.

In Africa, rival races of blacks and whites struggle - in the open and in secret, with and without violence - for dominance.

In the Middle East, great powers escalate each other's armament bids.

Fighting has become so commonplace in some places that newspapers hardly report it any more: Viet Nam, Northern Ireland, Cyprus . . . And the repression of an entire continent is ignored - in South America an unofficial alliance of military regimes tightens the screws on a hundred million poor.

And in Bangladesh and India the Sahel and who knows how many more centres of suffering, millions more die the slow agony of starvation.

There seems to be something incongrouous about celebrating Christmas in such a world. For Christmas speaks of kindness and love, peace and goodwill.

Yet we should remember that the first Christmas was not a peaceful one. The baby Jesus was born into a world of tyranny, of hate, of vicious dictators and treacherous politicians. In an effort to destroy that child, a pitiless Herod slaughtered all the children of Bethlehem. Nor was the life of Jesus particularly peaceful. He was always under suspicion, always under attack. His life was a conflict with forces of evil, forces which eventually brought him to the Cross.

So in celebrating Christmas, we should see in the one called Christ a challenge, not only to the Herods and Pilates of 2,000 years ago, but to those of every day, of every nation.

That was the hope, of Christmas then. It is still the hope, of Christmas today. But we need to work harder to realize that hope.

This month we had a combination birthday and Christmas party.

Birthdays this month: Mrs. L. Gary, Mr. John Lundgren 90 years young and John Hoffie.

Everybody enjoyed the party thanks to our president Mr. Ings; he worked hard. We had a tasty dinner thanks to the ladies preparing it and thanks to the people sharing it. We want to express our thanks to the entertainers that made it more enjoyable. Lets not forget the kitchen help. These ladies deserve sincere thanks. I personally like to thank everybody who had a helping hand in it that made our party a real success.

We had different groups coming in caroling, we like to express our thanks to them also.

Christmas is a wonderful season and a Happy New Year to everybody.

Another snow job?

Langley MLA Bob McClelland has charged that Agriculture minister, Dave Stupich, has pulled another snow job on the people of B.C. with his purchase of Panco Poultry Products of Surrey.

While Stupich sounded like the great white knight in shining armour with his comments about saving the processing industry and saving 400 jobs, McClelland says the indication of a spur-of-the-moment salvation by the government is purely nonsense.

Negotiations to purchase Panco have been going on for almost as long as the government has been in office. In fact, says the Langley MLA, a deal to purchase Panco was almost consumated two years ago but for some reason fell apart.

No doubt, that Federal grain came to the B.C. government all right; why not? since the Socialists have an open cheque book. But Panco was a profitable operation and one that would surely have been snapped up on the open market.

McClelland also says he wants to know the true price of the Panco purchase by Col. Stupich and his B.C. Fried chicken department. One thing that hasn't been disclosed is the amount of liabilities the people of B.C. picked up on top of the 4.8 million we paid for Panco. There are indications that with liabilities, the purchase price might in reality be double the 5 million dollar figure.

There was no panic to buy Panco - only the socialistic urge of the NDP government, McClelland concluded.

The splendor of the shining star reminds us of the glories of that first Christmas night, making our hopes brighter.

Christmas at Children's Hospital

It's a great day when Christmas decorations are chosen for the wards at Children's Hospital and each patient is given their choice.

The three wings develop their very own ideas and whether it is for much loved scenes on windows or sparkly mobiles the full length of corridors, the entire hospital is involved in the great happiness of the occasion.

In the kitchen trays have been planned ahead with holiday favors which can be worn or eaten. You see some kids go home and others don't, so it's best to celebrate a week or so before and right up to the day so no one will be missed.

December 4th, 1:30 p.m. - Jack Bourne and his music makers played to a full audience.

December 11th, 1:30 p.m. - Pupils from Lord Selkirk school annex with their teacher Betty Epp are sharing their Christmas Pageant with hospital patients. The script is written for audience participation and it's going to be a fun day.

December 17th, 2:00 p.m. - Vancouver Uptown Kiwanis Club will present Ken Benoy, the magician with his real live nose wiggling rabbit - always the star of the show. Clowns (members of the club) lead the sing-along, distribute gifts and are great at helping to open parcels.

December 19th, 2:00 p.m. - The annual Children's Auxiliary and Vancouver Firefighters party. Fireman (Gordon Hall) is the man in the red suit with Mrs. Mona Atchison (Auxiliary member) in the role of Mrs. Santa. Sharply at 2:00 p.m. they will roar down the street aboard a huge fire truck and march through the wards accompanied by clown Bill Thompson and accordion player John Sulentich. Giant tags on parcels and name tags on children will be matched up because "Santa always knows me."

Later in the week and right up to December 24th there will be carolers from the Citizens Radio Band Group and from Augustana Lutheran Church to name a few.

December 25th, 9:00 a.m. - "Santa" - The great day opens early as everyone scrambles to open large red stockings someone has hung on their bed. No sooner done that Ho! Ho! Ho! can be heard and everyone who can wriggle out of bed follows along in the train of William Jacks of Richmond, B.C., who has worn that red suit at Children's Hospital on Christmas mornings for over a dozen years. As each little face lights up he calls them by name and pauses for an exchange of confidence. It is a sight to behold and enjoy and thre is much love.

Christmas dinner at noon is followed by a nap for all the children while working staff have their dinner. Vancouver Elks Lodge No. have been hosts for dinner to both patients and staff at the hospital for forty-six years.

Christmas at Children's Hospital is a precious time to be remembered well. For half a century in many ways people from all over the province have gone that extra mile to make it so. To each of these we offer the thanks of many children and may happiness return to you in the way you want it most.

Danny, age 4½ years, sharing in the hanging of the greens at children's Hospital.

Mail this month consisted mainly of thank you letters for the various Christmas donations sent out earlier. The letter from C.J.J.C.'s Retarded Fund explained that C.J.J.C. is the central office for this fund, which covers eight chapters of the Association from Ladner to Mission. There is no administration charge, every penny donated is put to work.

Queen Alexandra Solarium sent a copy of their December News Letter; great excitement there with the children 'helping' to get ready for Christmas.

Minutes of the Douglas District Board Meeting were read. Spring conference date has been set for April 9, 195, in the Fort Langley community hall. Fort Langley will be hosting this year, as they are celebrating their 65th anniversary on that date. The host Institue is open for suggestions for the afternoon's speaker or program. They are considering having an antique display in the hall, and it is hoped that any members having such articles will take them along to the display. Competition to be little girls' dresses and boys' shirts. Garments will be donated afterwards to the Children's Hospital. Sizes most requested are from 4 to 10 years. Dress patterns can be obtained from Mrs. Gould at Children's Hospital.

Subscription to the Canadian Consumer magazine is to be renewed. Members all agree this is a worthwhile magazine.

The plant sale in April will be extended to include a tea, raffle and door prizes. More about this in the New Year.

The meeting was held in Mrs. W. A. Johnston's home. 14 members enjoyed the exchange of gifts, and a delicious lunch.

Season's Greetings and Best Wishes to all our friends and sister W. I.'s.

IF ONE TIRED SHOPPER
FOUND ONE NOTE OF CHEER
BECAUSE OF A FRIENDLY EXPERIENCE HERE. . .

IF ONE PAIR OF EYES
WERE FILLED WITH DELIGHT
BECAUSE OUR STORE WAS A PLEASING SIGHT. . . .

IF YOUR SEARCH FOR TRUE VALUES
WAS SATISFIED HERE. . .
NOT JUST FOR ONE WEEK, BUT FOR ALL OF THE YEAR

IF ONE SINGLE HEART
WAS SOFTENED AND WON
BECAUSE OF OUR EFFORTS?
" A THOUSAND AND ONE "

IF ONE WEARY SHOPPER
HAD A HAPPIER DAY
BECAUSE OF A PACKAGE WE HELPED ON ITS WAY.

THEN WORTHWHILE WERE THE EFFORTS
OF OUR STORE CREW
BECAUSE WE PLEASED SOMEONE

'LUCKY MISTLETOE'

Mistletoe is one of the few live Christmas decorations that never takes root in the ground. It has a long history that dates back to the ancient Druids, and is considered to bring happiness, safety and good fortune as long as it did not touch the ground. Mistletoe hangs traditionally over doorways.

The Druids worshipped the parasitic shrub with its waxen white berries and glossy leaves. It was considered sacred—especially when growing on an oak tree—and has mystical origins and superstitions surrounding its use.

Mistletoe is generally found on apple, poplar, willow, lindens and hawthorne trees and grows from New Jersey to Florida and westward to Texas and Kansas. The English Mistletoe (Viscum album) is rarely found on oak trees but along the Pacific Coast.

Went reeling along

Superstitious belief that to dance the old year into the new one dispelled bad spirits and "settled" good fortune on the dancers prompted communal New Year's Eve dansants in old French and German villages of any size.

Fair warning

Mistletoe as a Christmas decoration comes from the Druids of ancient England, to whom it was a sacred symbol of fertility. Kissing under the mistletoe was presumed to insure the couple's having offspring.

Surrey Exhibition Association

by Fred Zaharia

On Wednesday, December 18 held an extra-ordinary meeting in the board room on the fair grounds to consider asking the Canadian Department of Agriculture to approve a thirty year loan of one and a half million dollars to construct multi use facilities on the fair grounds.

This would consist of a club room and grandstand capable of seating 3,800 for harness racing or around 6,000 for rodeo or other events. During racing season it would be taken up wholly by racing and then be available to fair board from April to October each year. Also a new building containing barns, ring and seating for cattle or horse shows, sales, etc. would be erected. A model of this was viewed by members attending. The motion of loan application was passed by membership and the next step is to get backing of municipal or provincial government to qualify for loan.

If this loan is obtained the old buildings on the grounds will have to be removed. One of these, the old aircraft hangar could possibly be adopted for a skating rink.

Dollars & Good Sense

by William J. Martin
Special Consultant to AVCO FINANCIAL SERVICES

A simple way to chart your financial progress from year to year is the annual computation of your net worth.

Your net worth is the total value of all your possessions minus the total amount of your liabilities.

There are a number of advantages to knowing what you are "worth." You will have a clear indication of where your finances stand. You can see exactly how your family would be provided for in the event of your death.

And it shows you if you are really saving enough.

The calculations are surprisingly easy.

Begin by listing all your assets. These include cash, savings, your home and car, your investments and the cash value of your insurance policies. Also include whatever pension or profit sharing holdings your employer may have set aside for you. Be sure to use the current market value of your assets, what you would get if you sold them today, not what it would cost to replace them.

Next, calculate your liabilities. These include your mortgage, car payments, bills and miscellaneous debts.

Subtract the total liabilities from the total assets. The result is your net worth.

According to many economists, each year your net worth should increase about 10%. This includes increases in equity in real estate, personal property, and savings.

Readers' questions are welcome and should be sent to Box 5857, London, Ontario.

Angels from the realms

Angels from the realms of glory,
Wing your flight o'er all the earth;
Ye who sang creation's story
No proclaim Messiah's Birth;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

Shepherds in the field abiding,
Watching o'er your flocks by night,
God with man is now residing,
Yonder shines the infant light;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

Sages, leave your contemplations
Brighter visions beam afar;
Seek the great Desire of nations,
Ye have seen His Natal Star;
Come and worship,
Worship Christ, the new-born King.

We three kings

We three kings of Orient are
Bearing gifts; we traverse afar
Field and fountain, moor and mountain,
Following younder star.

Refrain:
O star of wonder, star of night,
Star with royal beauty bright,
Westward leading, still proceeding,
Guide us to the Perfect light.

Solo (Melchoir):
Born a King on Bethlehem's plain,
Gold I bring to crown Him again.
King forever, ceasing never,
Over us all to reign.

Solo (Caspar):
Frankincense to offer have I,
Incense owns a Deity nigh;
Prayer and praising, all men raising,
Worship Him, God most High.

Solo (Balthazar):
Myrrh is mine; its bitter perfume
Breathes a life of gathering gloom;
Sorrowing, singing, bleeding, dying,
Sealed in the stone-cold tomb.

Glorious now behold Him arise,
King and God and Sacrifice;
Alleluia, Alleluia,
Earth to the heavens replies.

Message for the wealthy, perhaps!

Pastor R. J. Hergesheimer
Immanuel Lutheran Church

Perhaps this Christmas message should not even be read by those of you who will celebrate the excitement of the season with the whole family together. Perhaps this message should not even be ready by those of you who are healthy, whole, wealthy, and blessed by good fortune with an abundance of happiness. Perhaps!

For the Christmas message of hope and joy is not directed toward those who celebrate Christmas with brightly-burning fireplaces and freely-flowing Christmas cheer. The coming of the King, the approach of the promised Messiah, is for the solitary and the suffering - those alone and in pain.

Those of you who will likely not share in normal family joys, those of you curiously excluded by the popular celebration of Christmas, those of you who are disadvantaged - lonely, lame, blind, poor, sick, dying, weary, depressed, despondent - those, in essence, among whom our Lord shared his lonely and often pain-filled life - you are the targets of the Christmas hope.

The efficiency of modern technology and mass production, the principle of natural selection of Darwin's theory of evolution, the survival of the fittest found in nature - these do not apply to the kingdom of God.

No! For the themes of hope, comfort, patience, endurance, trust, healing - all are directed to those who suffer; to those who have stared into the face of death as it masked a husband or wife or child; to those blind in sight and with darkness as their companion, and those blind inside with a joyless, dark existence ever-present; to those deaf, unable to hear the sounds of life, and those deaf to the cries for help and understanding from family members or friends, neighbours or co-workers, employers or enemies, those afraid to listen because their own weakness seems too strong and makes them unable to share strength; to those on welfare, social insurance benefits, pensions, those who will be spending a lonely, gift-less Christmas because the money isn't there even though the bright and eager eyes of the children are - to those thousands of pain-filled people, the Christmas message is directed.

But the hope and healing of Christmas will remain buried and hidden inside the Scriptures, inside the churches, inside all of us unless we risk opening ourselves up to those around us in need. There are many waiting for us to touch their lives with the presence of the coming King, and to warm their lives with the sharing of our lives and our love.

The message of Christmas is Hope for all who need it. Please share that hope through your acts of concern and kindness, just as the Father shared his heart's love with you - by sending to earth his most valuable gift, his Son, who came to bring healing and new life to all in need.

The family of the coming Christ at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Aldergrove, hopes all of you will be touched by the gentle power of the new-born King. We pray you will in turn tenderly touch the lives of any who are suffering around you, and share with them the hope and Confidence that is ours through the marvelous coming of the Christ.

The best gift of all

A Christmas Message
reprinted from The Christian Science Monitor

This is the time of Christmas giving. But how much consideration do we give to the best gift of all, one which costs nothing, yet one which we often bestow last, even upon those whom we love the most?

Stanley H. Churchill
Assistant Aldergrove - Langley Area, Christian Science Committee on Publication for B.C.

This gift is the giving of ourselves, not grudgingly or routinely or because we have to, but rather because our hearts overflow with love that must be shared with others. Such giving is evidenced in unselfed love, the compassion for those less fortunate, the kind word or deed that gives hope and encouragement.

Christ Jesus showed us how to give. His whole life was an immeasurable gift of love. Materially, he had little to share with those who followed him. Yet he gave the best gift of all - the giving of himself through daily living of his true selfhood, the Christ. It was his continuous recognition and manifestation of man's true selfhood or character - not material but spiritual - which reached the receptive thought and loosed with divine power the physical and mental fetters that bound it. Weary hearts were refreshed, the sick were healed, sinners were regenerated.

In "Science and Health with Key to The Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes (p. 470), "Man is the expression of God's being."

As we turn to divine Love in humble prayer, we receive Love's unfailing inspiration to do the useful, unselfish, and loving thing which will accomplish the most good for those ready to receive what we have to give.

If at this Christmastide we feel weary of the world, if the commercialism of the season seems to have put out the glow, let us give the best gift of all. Let us take the time and the thought to give of ourselves, to express with our giving the tenderness and warmth of divine Love. Then our giving will not be shallow; it will not be momentary but will truly reflect the tender love and compassion of him whose birth we commemorate. Such giving includes its own blessing. It breaks old bonds that fetter us - long-held grievances, resentments, self-pity, and hurts. It open the way for renewed joy and opportunity to flow into our lives.

When we give of ourselves - the best gift of all - Christmas becomes a continuing experience. As the Master said (Luke 6:38), "Give, and it shall be given until you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom."

Good Cheer Merry Christmas

And the Best in 1975

Search for meaning

by Phillip Whitney, Arthur Nash and Joseph Ellis

Today, as always, people are searching for the meaning of Christmas. The answer to that search can only be an individual discovery - each person himself becoming aware. I would like to share with you some of my discoveries.

For me, Christmas means that God cares for the world. Even though it is wracked with pain and stress, starvation and gluttony, shortages and surplusses, inflation and depression, indifference and passion, - God cares! The world is important to its Creator. God cares so much that He enters into our human experience, and shares the human predicament. The Bible declares, "For God so loved the world that He gave his only Son."

Christmas means too that God cares for persons, for each individual. Jesus is born in Bethlehem demonstrating that from infancy to old age God is directly involved with our lives. God loves Me! I cannot comprehend that! I can only accept it, and be grateful. Again the Scriptures affirm this. "This is how God showed His love for us: He sent His only son into the world that we might live through Him."

My search into the meaning of Christmas brings me to the awareness that I as an individual discover meaning because I am loved of God. Somehow love does that to a person - it gives his life purpose, a reason for being, a reason for doing.

Not only does God love me, and share my life, He offers me an alternative way of life. The angelic messengers declared of Jesus, "He shall save the people from their sins"; and "To you is born this night. a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord." I need a saviour! I am discouraged with my own efforts to give my life meaning. I am frustrated, along with most of mankind, at man's failure to overcome our inhumanity. The world too needs a saviour! The world too cries out for an alternative way of life.

The Christmas message assures me that I no longer need to live for myself, but through trusting myself completely to Jesus, I can now begin to live for Him. I discover a real deep joy that satisfies my conscious and subconscious yearnings. I learn what it means to live at peace with God and others, and to be a peacemaker. I experience a God - given 'good - will' towards all man. I discover Jesus Christ. I have found the meaning of Christmas.

Are you too looking for the meaning of Christmas. Join the shepherds on the hills of Bethlehem who said to one another, "Let us go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has happened, that the Lord has made known to us."

The Clergy and their families of the Anglican team parish of Four Saints Langley wish you a Christmas which leads to a rediscovery of life's meaning, and a very happy 1975.

Even as I

by Rev. John Van Hemert,
First Christian Reformed Churc
Langley, B.C.

Some of us find this world a loveless place. We are shocked over a thirteen year old who makes his mark in life by being a murderer. We are disturbed about all the robberies and we wonder who will be robbed next. We also wonder what our so-much-loved dollar will still buy tomorrow, for the cost of living is increasing by a percent a month or more. Some pensioners feel the squeeze so that the only food they can well afford is pet food.

It is really amazing is it not, that Jesus chose to come into a world which was as hard and loveless as it is today. He came into a world in which there was no place of shelter but a barn, no cradle but a trough, and no bedding but straw. While He was a babe His Life was threatened by a murderous tyrant. As a result He became a refugee in Egypt. Later when an adult He faced a harsh opposition which led Him innocently to the execution on a cross. Harsh world, Harsh people.

Yet for these kind of people He came to give His love and life as payment for their sin. It was and always will remain an act of love for the unloving and undeserving. This love sacrifice of Christ is still the greatest Gift today. This kind of self-giving love is still offered by God to cancel all our guilt and wrong. What greater gift is there than the gift of forgiving love for all wrong? To be emptied of sin and shame and be filled with the ever-new love of God? Is it not love the world so desperately needs. This is why He came.

He gave His love and His love for a purpose, for people all kinds of people so that they may be renewed to love again out of the love of God. God first and our neighbour as ourselves. This now becomes our responsibility because He made it a possibility. He would not command us to love if there were no love available. He even gave the pattern for love in His own example. A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; even as I have loved you. "John 13:34" Even As I have loved

Jesus Christ is for real

Aldergrove Regular Baptist Church

It is distressing to hear the birth of Jesus Christ treated as a childish myth. Santa Claus and Jesus Christ are not of one kind. Popular ideas concerning Santa are clearly legend, while New Testament teachings concerning Jesus are presented as historical facts.

Pastor Rod Wilkinson

Luke was a contemporary of those who participated directly in the drama of the Christ, from the cradle to the cross. He was a medical doctor and scholar of wide interest and ability. Dr. Luke conducted an extensive investigation of the reports concerning Jesus Christ, and documented it in His Gospel. His conclusion - "Jesus Christ is for real!"

Luke came to strong convictions concerning Christ's miraculous conception, birth, unique Person and life, atoning death, bodily re-surrection, ascension into heaven and promised return. He did not arrive at those convictions easily. He was forced to them by what he had found to be historic fact.

It is tragic that many, presupposing the impossibility of the miraculous, discount the evidence concerning Jesus Christ without ever examining it. That is anti-intellectualism. That the Gospels are written as historic records, and that they make claims that have a bearing on the life of every person, is reason enough to study them carefully.

Like Dr. Luke, examine the evidence. To do so honestly, requesting the guidance of God Himself, is to become a believer in Jesus Christ as divine Lord and Saviour.

Here we come a-wassailing

Here we come a-wassailing among the leaves so green;
Here we come a-wandering, so fair to be seen.

Refrain:
Love and joy come to you, and to you our wassail too,
And God bless you and send you a Happy New Year!

We are not daily beggars that beg from door to door;
But we are neighbor's children whom you have seen before.

We have a little purse made of ratching leather skin-
We want a little sixpence to line it well within.

God bless the master of this house; likewise the mistress, too;
And all the little children that round the table go.

While shepherds watched

While shepherds watched their flocks by night,
All seated on the ground,
The Angel of the Lord came down,
And glory shone around.

"Fear not," said he, for mighty dread
Had seized their troubled mind;
"Glad tidings of great joy I bring
To you and all mankind."

"To you, in David's town, this day,
Is born of David's line
A Saviour who is Christ the Lord;
And this shall be the sign:

"The heavenly Babe you there shall find
To human view display'd,
All meanly wrapped in swathing bands,
And in a manger laid."

Thus spake the seraph, and forthwith
Appear'd a shining throng
Of Angels, praising God, who thus
Address'd their joyful song:

"All glory be to God on High,
And to the earth be peace;
Good will henceforth, from heaven to men
Begin, and never cease."

It came upon a midnight clear

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth
To touch their harps of gold;
"Peace on earth, goodwill to men
From heaven's all gracious king."
The world in solemn stillness lay
To hear the angels sing.

Yet with the woes of sin and strife
The world has suffered long;
Beneath the angel strain have rolled
Two thousand years of wrong;
And men, at war with men, hear not
The words of peace they bring,
O hush the noise ye men of strife,
And hear the angels sing.

Greatest Story ever told

by Mun Hope

Nearly two thousand years ago, the Lord Jesus Christ was born in Bethlehem. The record of His life and His finished work became the greatest story ever told. It can be summarized briefly by three powerful words, which are still challenging the hearts of thinking men and women all over the world, including the Lower Mainland, during this Holiday season.

They are (1) the Cradle, (2) the Cross and (3) the Crown.

First of all, the Cradle reminds us of Emmanuel, meaning "God with us." God came to this planet Earth personally in the very body of the Lord Jesus Christ. Even doubting Thomas recognized Him and acknowledged Him as "Lord and God.' He was born in a stable and cradled in a manger.

Secondly, the Cross is a very familiar symbol, being worn sometimes as an ornament, or used regulary in connection with some religious ceremony. However, the true significance of the Cross of Calvary and the death of the Lord Jesus Christ for our sins needs to be personally understood and applied to each individual life. The apostle John tells the believer in no uncertain terms, that the "Blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin." This means that if a person becomes a believer, he is instantaneously made as clean and pure as the Lord Jesus Himself, as far as his personal standing before God is concerned. The very moment that a sinner sees his totally sinful condition; and acknowledges the Lord Jesus Christ as his own personal Saviour and Lord, he becomes the possessor of eternal life as an outright gift from God.

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Romans 6:23.

Thirdly, the Crown of thorns has long since been replaced by the Crown of Glory and Honour, after His bodily resurrection from the dead, and His ascension into Heaven. It is a reminder that the work of the Lord Jesus was completed at Calvary; and that if there were any sins to be held against the believer, the Lord Jesus Christ could not have been raised from the dead. Think of the Cradle, the Cross and the Crown; and crown Him the Lord of your life, and soul and all.

The first Noel

The first Noel the angels did say,
Was to certain poor shepherds in fields where they lay;
In fields where they lay keeping their sheep
On a cold winter's night that was so deep.

Refrain:
Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel,
Born is the King of Israel.

They looked up and saw a star
Shining in the east beyond them so far;
And to earth it gave great light,
And so continued both day and night.

And by the light of that same star
Three wise men came from country far;
To seek for a King was their intent,
And to follow the star wherever it went.

This star drew nigh to the northeast,
O'er Bethlehem it took its rest,
And there it did both stop and stay
Right over the place where Jesus lay.

Then entered in those wise men three
Full reverently upon their knee,
And offered there in His presence
Their gold and myrh and frankincense.

Then let us all with one accord
Sing praises to our heavenly Lord;
That hath made heaven and earth of nought,
And with His blood mankind hath bought.

O little town of Bethlehem

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie,
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark streets shineth
The everlasting light;
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tinight.

For Christ is born of Mary;
And, gathered all above
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wondering love.
O morning stars together
Proclaim the holy birth and praises sing of God and King
And peace, to men on earth.

How silently, how silently,
The wondrous gift is given.
So God imparts to human hearts
The blessings of His heaven.
No ear may hear His coming,
But in this world of sin,
Where meek souls will receive Him, still
The dear Christ enters in.

O Holy Child of Bethelehem,
Descend on us, we pray,
Cast out our sin, and enter in;
Be born in us today,
We hear the Christmas angels
The great glad tidings tell;
O come to us, abide with us,
Our Lord, Emmanuel.

O come all ye faithful

O come, all ye faithful,
Jouyful and triumphant,
Come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem,
Come and behold Him,
Born the King of angels:

Refrain:
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord.

Sing, choirs of angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing all ye citizens of heaven above,
Sing ye, All glory
To God in the highest!

Yea, Lord, we hail Thee,
Born this happy morning;
Jesus, to Thee be glory given,
Word of the Father,
Now in flesh appearing.

Jingle bells

Dashing through the snow
In a one-horse open sleigh,
O'er the fields we go,
Laughing all the way;
Bells on bob-tail ring,
Making spirit bright;
What fun it is to ride and sing
A sleighing song tonight!

Jingle bells. Jingle bells!
Jingle all the way!
Oh, what fun it is to ride
In a one-horse open sleigh!

Good King Wenceslaus

Good King Wenceslas looked out
On the Feast of Stephen
When the snow lay 'round about,
Deep and crisp and even;
Brightly shone the moon that night,
Tho' the frost was cruel,
When a poor man came in sight,
Gath'ring winter fuel!

"Hither, page, and stand by me,
If thou knowst its telling,
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what His Dwelling?"
"Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain;
Right against the forest fence,
By St. Agnes' fountain."

"Bring me flesh and bring me wine,
Bring me pine logs hither;
Thou and I will see him dine,
When we bear Him thither."
Page and monarch forth they went,
Forth they went together,
Through the rude wind's wild lament,
And the bitter weather.

"Sir, the night is darker now
And the wind blows stronger;
Fails my heart, I know not how.
I can go no longer."

"Mark my footsteps, good my page;
Tread thou in them boldly;
Thou shalt find the winter's rage
Freeze thy blood less coldly."

In his master's steps he trod,
Where the snow lay dinted:
Heat was in the very sod
Which the saint had printed.
Therefore, Christian men, be sure,
Wealth or rank possessing,
Ye who now will bless the poor
Shall yourself find blessing.

In excelsis gloria

When Christ was born of Mary free
In Bethlehem in that rair city;
Angels sung e'er with mirth and glee,
In excelsis gloria
CHORUS:
In excelsis gloria,
In excelsis gloria,
In excelsis gloria
In excelsis gloria.
Herdmen beheld these angels bright,
To them appeared with great delight,
And said, "God's son is born this night",
In excelsis gloria,
CHORUS:
The King is come to save his kind,
In the Scriptures as we find,
Therefore this song we have in mind:
In excelsis Gloria,
CHORUS:
Then, dear Lord, for Thy great grace,
Grant us the bliss to see Thy face,
Where we may sing Thy solace:
In excelsis gloria'
CHORUS.

Deck the halls

Deck the halls with boughs of holly,
Fa la la la la la la la la
'Tis the season to be jolly,
Fa la la la la la la la la
Don we now our gay apparel,
Fa la la la la la la la la
Troll the ancient Yuletide carol,
Fa la la la la la la la la

Silent night, holy night

Silent Night! Holy Night!
All is calm, all is bright,
Round yon virgin mother and child!
Holy infant, so tender and mild,
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent Night! Holy Night!
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Heavenly hosts sing Alleluia,
Christ the Saviour is born!
Christ, the Saviour is born!

Silent Night! Holy Night!
Son of God, love's pure light,
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming grace,
Jesus, Lord at Thy birth.
Jesus, Lord at Thy birth.

There's a song in the air

There's a song in the air!
There's a star in the sky!
There's a mother's deep prayer,
And a baby's low cry!
And the star rains its fire while the beautiful sing.
For the manger of Bethlehem
cradles a King!

There'a tumult of joy
O'er the wonderful birth,
For the Virgin's sweet Boy
Is the Lord of the earth,
Aye! the star rains its fire while
the beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem
cradles a King!

In the light of that star
Lie the ages impearled;
And that song from afar
Has swept over the world,
Every hearth is aflame, and the beautiful sing,
In the homes of the nations that
Jesus is King!

We rejoice in the light,
And we echo the song
That comes down through the night
From the heavenly throng.
Aye! we shout to the lovely evangel they bring,
And we greet in His Cradle
our Saviour and King!

Carol, sweetly carol

Carol, sweetly carol,
A Saviour born today;
Bear the joyful tidings,
O, bear them far away;
Carol, sweetly carol
Till earth's remotest bound
Shall hear the mighty chorus,
And echo back the sound.

Refrain:
Carol, sweetly carol
Carol sweetly today;
Bear the joyful tidings,
O, bear them far away.

Carol, sweetly carol
The happy Christmas time;
Hark! the bells are pealing
Carol, sweetly carol
Ye shining ones above,
Sing in the loudest numbers,
O' sing redeeming love.

Hope the holiday season lifts your spirit with happiness, laughter. Thanks to all the folks we have had the pleasure of serving.

Winter Wonderland

Sleigh-bells ring, are you list'ning'?
In the lane, snow is glist'ning',
A beautiful sight, we're happy tonight,
Walking' in a winter wonderland!
Gone away is the blue-bird,
Here to stay is a new bird,
He sings a love song, as we go along.
Walkin' in a winter wonderland!
In the meadow we can build a snowman,
Then pretend that he is Parson Brown;
He'll Say, 'Are you married?' We'll say
"No, man!
But you can do the job when you're in town!"
Later on we'll conspire,
As we dream by the fire,
To face unafraid, the plans that we made,
Walkin' in a winter wonderland!

White Christmas

I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
Just like the ones I used to know.
When the tree tops glisten
And children listen
To hear sleigh bells in the snow.
I'm dreaming of a white Christmas
With every Christmas card I write,
May your days be merry and bright,
And may all your Christmases be white.

Hark! the herald angels

Hark, the herald angels sing,
"Glory, to the newborn King,
Peace on earth, and mercy mild,
God and sinners reconciled."
Joyful, al ye nations rise,
Join the triumph of the skies;
With angelic hosts proclaims,
"Christ is born in Bethlehem."

Refrain:
Hark! the herald angels sing,
"Glory to the newborn King."

Christ, by highest heaven adored,
Christ, the everlasting Lord;
Late in time behold Him come,
Offspring of a virgin's womb,
Veil'd in flesh the Godhead see;
Hail the incarnate Deity.
Pleas'd as man with man to dwell,
Jesus, our Emmanuel.

Hail the heav'n born Prince of Peace,
Hail the Son of righteousness.
Light and life to all he Brings,
Ris'n with healing in His wings.
Mild He lays His glory by,
Born that man no more may die,
Born to raise the sons of earth.
Born to give them second birth.

Christians awake!

Christians, awake salute the happy morn
Whereon the Saviour of the world was born!
Rise to adore the mystery of love,
Which hosts of angels chanted from above;
With them the joyful tiding first begun
Of God Incarnate and the Virgin's Son.
Then to the watchful shepherds it was told,
Who heard th' angelic herald's voice,
Behold,
I bring good tidings of a Saviour's birth
To you and all the nations upon earth!
This day hath God fulfill'd His promis'd word:
This day is born a Saviour, Christ the Lord.
Then may we hope, th' angelic hosts among
To join, redeemed, a glad triumphant throng;
He that was born upon this joyful day
Around us all His glory shall display,
Saved by His love, incessant we shall sing
Eternal praise to heaven's Almighty King.

Away in a manger

Away in a manger, no crib for a bed,
The little Lord Jesus laid down His sweet head;
The stars in the bright sky looked down where he lay,
The little Lord Jesus, asleep on the hay.

The cattle are lowing, the Baby awakes,
But little Lord Jesus no crying He makes;
I love Thee, Lord Jesus; look down from the sky,
And stay by my side until morning is nigh.

Be Near me, Lord Jesus, I ask Thee to stay
Close by me forever and love me, I pray;
Bless all the dear children in Thy tender care;
And fit us for heaven to live with Thee there.

Frosty the snowman

Frosty the Snowman was a jolly happy soul,
With a corn cob pipe and a button nose
And two eyes made out of coal.
Frosty the Snowman is a fairy tale, they say,
He was made of snow but the children know
How he came to life one day.
There must have been some magic
In that old silk hat they found,
For when they placed it on his head,
He began to dance around.
Oh, Frosty the Snowman was alive as he could be.
And the children say he could laugh and play
Just the same as you and me.

From all of us to all of you, our best and merriest wishes. Here's hoping the holiday season holds for you many present delights. Sincere thanks for the opportunities you've given us to be of service. Have a simply wonderful holiday.

Santa Claus is comin' to town

You better watch out, you better not cry,
Better not pout, I'm telling you why:
Santa Claus is comin' to town.
He's making a list and checking it twice,
Gonna find out who's naughty and nice,
Santa Claus is comin' to town.
He sees you when you're sleepin',
He knows when you're awake,
He knows if you've been bad or good,
So be good for goodness sake.
Oh! You better watch out,
You better not cry,
Better not pout, I'm telling you why;
Santa Claus is comin' to town.

Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer

You know Dasher, and Dancer,
Prancer and Vixen.
Comet, Cupid, Donner and Blitzen,
But do you recall
The most famous reindeer of all . . .

Rudolph, the Red-nosed Reindeer,
Had a very shiny nose,
And if you ever saw it,
You would see it even glows!

All of the other reindeer
Used to laugh and call him names;
They would never let poor Rudolph
Join in any reindeer games.

Then one foggy Christmas eve,
Santa came to say:
Rudolph, with your nose so bright,
Won't you guide my sleigh tonight?

Then how the Reindeer loved him
As they shouted out with glee:
Rudolph the Red-nosed Reindeer,
You'll go down in history!

Brightest and best

Brightest and best of the sons of the morning,
Dawn on our darkness, and lend us Thine aid!
Star of the East, the horizon adorning,
Guide where our infant Redeemer is laid.

Cold on His cradle the dewdrops are shining,
Low lies His head with the beasts of the stall;
Angels adore Him in slumber reclining -
Maker, and Monarch, and Saviour of all!

Say, shall we yield Him, in costly devotion,
Odours of Edom and offerings divine?
Gems of the mountain, and pearls of the ocean,
Myrrh from the forest, or gold from the mine?

Vainly we offer each ample oblation,
Vainly with gifts would his favor secure,
Richer by far is the heart's adoration;
Dearer to God are the prayers of the poor.

Brightest and best of the sons of the morning
Dawn on our darkness and lend us Thine aid!
Star of the East, the horizon adorning,
Guide where our infant Redeemer is laid!

Infant holy

Infant holy, infant lowly,
For His bed a cattle stall;
Oxen lowing, little knowing
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.
Swift are winging, angels singing.
Nowels ringing, tidings bringing,
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.

Flocks are sleeping shepherds keeping
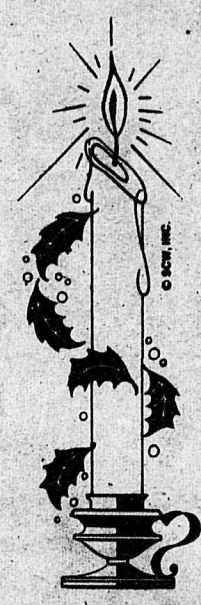
Vigil till the morning new
Saw the glory, heard the story,
Tidings of a gospel true.
Thus rejoicing, free from sorrow,
Praises voicing greet the morrow,
Christ the Babe is Lord of all.



God rest ye merry gentlemen

God rest you merry gentlemen,
Let nothing you dismay,
Remember Christ your Saviour
Was born upon this day,
To save us all from Satan's power
When we were gone astray.

Refrain:
O tidings of comfort and joy, comfort and joy,
O tidings of comfort and joy.

Now to the Lord sing praises,
All you within this place,
And with true love and brotherhood
Each other now embrace;
This holy tide of Christmas
All other doth efface.
