SUSPECT'S QUICK RELEASE ANGERS POLITICIANS

Premier to get blast

ALDERGROVE - Township council will be letting the Premier and Attorney-General know that they're not at all happy that an accused violent rapist was set free until his next court date.

Mayor John Scholtens said council's letter of complaint should be sent to the province, in support of RCMP superintendent Rick McMartin's concern that "an offender is released within hours of arrest on charges of sexual assault, when he knows who the victim is and where she lives. No one is safe... that's not the way to solve problems."

The victim was assaulted for over an hour and a half in the suspect's car in the parking lot of the Alder Inn, late Tuesday, Jan. 3. A hotel employee who comforted the victim while awaiting arrival of police said she was appalled at the victim's description of her experience. Neither the victim nor the suspect were familiar as hotel pub regulars, but the employee said the victim left the premises with the suspect under the impression that they were going to a nearby restaurant to get a coffee.

Darren Adam Ursel, 24, of Abbotsford is set to appear in Langley Provincial Court on Jan. 11, on the charge of aggravated sexual assault in the case.

Coun. Steve Ferguson said he supported the motion of a letter of protest because, "the superintendent went out on a limb with his concern about the release (of the suspect)." Council gave its unanimous support to sending the letter.

Taxes up 3% in '95

LANGLEY - Township property owners can expect an average $29.50 increase on their 1995 taxes, after council approved a three percent increase to this year's spending. The increase is based on one percent above the current two percent inflation rate.

The new budget also marks a change in its traditional system in that provision is made to allow employees incentives to save money in their departments, as well as generate "new revenues through entrepreneurial activity" and give "investment capital to test new ideas." Councilor Muriel Arnason cited concerns over some of these philosophies: "I thought we were supposed to provide services." Her worries include more fees for services, uncertainty of future revenues from senior levels of government and, "there's no provision for accountability to council."

The mayor and other councilors were more enthusiatic. Trudi Campen said the public desired "a more effective user pay system -- they're tired of paying for other users." Mayor John Scholtens said the changes were "not dramatic" and Mel Kositsky suggested that "every councilor is a watchdog. I can't imagine Muriel letting anyone (at municipal hall) get away with anything."

Scholtens said council should be "delighted" with the public safety aspects of funding for two new RCMP officers plus four RCMP officers dedicated to a year-round bicycle patrol, and continuing operation of two community policing stations.

The budget also provides for purchase of ice time from private arenas for youth groups, design and construction of the first phase of the cultural centre, reconstruction of 28 kilometres of roads and acquisition of new parkland together with development of facilities in six parks.

Coun. Heather McMullan pointed out that the new incentive plan or "bonuses system" would not give the bonuses to individuals who came up with ways and means of saving tax money in their departments, but rather would provide extra funds for the department involved.

'Grove deal "excellent"

ALDERGROVE - Township councilors expressed delight with the deal that will see Aldergrove sewage go to Abbotsford's JAMES plant, at their first meeting of the new year, Jan. 9.

"We have to give credit to (township engineer) Fred Peters," said coun. Muriel Arnason. "It's an excellent deal."

The plan to eliminate Aldergrove's aging sewer treatment plant over the next five years "will look after Aldergrove's future," said Mayor John Scholtens. One of its biggest benefits is that the sewer line to Abbotsford will "cost $3.5-million less" than a line to Annacis Island.

Coun. Steve Ferguson, one of the township's most vocal advocates of amalgamation with

Neighbours fear prison

ABBOTSFORD - Three convicted murderers were recaptured after a brief, violent escape from Matsqui Institution, Friday, but the repercussions continue in the community.

Zachary Finlay, 22, Darren Huenemann, 22, and Daljit Singh Dulay, 30, were recaptured by Abbotsford Police shortly after they fled in a stolen car. The trio have been taken to Kent maximum security prison, while staff of the medium security Matsqui prison undertake review of their procedures.

The escapees had hidden inside a truckload of cardboard, and jumped the truck driver when he arrived at the recycling depot near Mission highway. The driver had a knife held to his throat and suffered a blow to his head, before the trio made off in a pickup truck stolen from the recycling depot. Depot staff called police, who gave chase and arrested the men.

All three men were serving life sentences for separate murders that, in total, claimed six lives. The truck driver was hospitalized but is not suffering life-threatening injuries. The escapees will face further charges in the escape attempt.

MP Randy White expressed the worries of residents here, criticizing corrections for holding "three desperate people" in a medium security prison. "The solicitor-general's deaprtment has to keep in mind if you're going to build prisons in the lower mainland, you're virtually building them among residences, and therefore you can't allow these kinds of breakouts."

Dennis Finlay, regional manager for Corrections Canada, said their review and an inquiry will find out what went wrong and what needs to be done to prevent recurrence. However, he said that procedures require thorough checks of all vehicles leaving institutions and that this was not strictly followed by staff on Friday. "Obviously, there was some laxity at that particular point."

White said he's not satisfied with security at Matsqui Institution and would be visiting it again on Friday to ask his own questions.

Police tracing owners

NEW WESTMINSTER - Police here invite the public to view photos of stolen property seized at an Aldergrove home last week. Persons who identify their property at the police office's front counter will have their claims checked out before the property is returned to them.

The stolen goods, valued at about $10,000, were seized in the Jan. 1 raid of a home at 404 Bruneau Place, along with about $100,000 in bagged marijuana. The goods are believed to be stolen from residences in Burnaby, Coquitlam, New Westminster, Langley and Aldergrove. The stolen goods are primarily expensive jewellery, along with stereo and television equipment.

The two suspects charged are Fred James Keown, 21 and Jake Klassen, 44. They are to appear in Langley Provincial Court on various charges, Feb. 22.

TWO PRIVATE RINKS MOVE AHEAD

Township ready to deal with Gettling

LANGLEY - Township council gave third readings to both of the proposed private twin-rink ice arenas in Walnut Grove, but staff has been ordered to negotiate with the Canlan Investments/ Grant Gettling proponents for 88 hours of weekly ice time over a 30-week schedule. The ice time would be offered to local youth groups at subsidized rental rates by the township, as is the practice at the two municipally owned arenas in Aldergrove and Brookswood.

Councilors are still optimistic that the Tobem Projects proposal will also go ahead. Councilor Mel Kositsky pointed out that Surrey residents have been lobbying their council for more ice: "We'd welcome them here in Langley." However, both private proposals counted on the contract with the township for youth groups as part of their financial plan, and should negotiations with Gettling succeed, the Tobem proposal seems unlikely to proceed at this time.

The deciding factor in Gettling's favour appears to be their plans to have the twin rink ready by this fall, to be followed by an additional two rinks when demand calls for it. Tobem proposes a first phase of three rinks that would not be completed until late 1996, with another two rinks to follow in future. However, Tobem's project includes a dedicated leisure rink and a surrounding commercial development that may still make the project feasible.

Coun. Muriel Arnason again fretted about the impact of licensed pubs inside the arenas, but coun. Heather McMullan said that was a hypocritical concern as the township's Civic Centre has been licensed for 18 years.

The Gettling project is on five acres on 91A Avenue near the 200 Street interchange. Tobem's project is on eight acres in the 8900-blocjk of 202 Street.

Two hold up restaurant

ABBOTSFORD - An employee of the Dairy Queen on South Fraser Way was robbed by two men with large knives as he was closing up for the night on January 7.

It was about 12:30 a.m. when he was accosted by a man who demanded money. Then a second suspect appeared on the scene. After receiving a small sum of money they fled on foot. There were no injuries.

The suspects are described as Asian and 16-17 years old. One was wearing a black hat, black shirt, black pants and a blue bandana. The other was wearing blue jeans and a mask.

Anyone with information about this robbery is asked to call Abbotsford Police at 859-5225.

Sewer deal will close local treatment plants

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

ALDERGROVE - Abbotsford city council has approved the recommendation to allow Aldergrove to have their sewage go to the JAMES plant for treatment. The area in question includes Aldergrove, Gloucester Industrial area, CFS Aldergrove and any lands east of 256 Street which may eventually be serviced with sewers by Langley.

The current sewage plant in Aldergrove will be closing after the new system is in place, and the township will be responsible for building any sewer trunks, pumping stations and headworks necessary to divert the flows to the north Clearbrook trunk, just west of Ross Road.

Township will also be footing the bill for upgrading the Clearbrook trunk should it not be sufficient for the amount of sewage that will be carried.

The expense for sewage treatment, in addition to the capital costs of about $250,000, will be $300 per megalitre along with a surcharge of 15% to be not less than $65,000 per year. It is estimated that there will be about 1,000 Ml per year flowing through the system.

Fred Peters, township engineer, says that this plan will be cheaper than the original plan of connecting Aldergrove to the Annacis Island treatment plant.

The twenty year agreement will be automatically extended in five year increments, unless all parties agree to termination.

Langley will not have to give up its membership in the GVRD, nor join the CFVRD for this proposal; instead they will be considered a customer of the JAMES plant and will pay for services by volume.

The new sewer system will allow for the three small treatment plants in the area to be closed. The most important is the Aldergrove plant which is near capacity, due to residential development.

The Gloucester plant is sufficient for now and the area will not be connected to the new system until extensive development takes place. The plant at CFS Aldergrove is also sufficient for now, especially since the station is due to be closed.

Capital plans for the project will not be charged to existing sewer customers; they will be paid by new developments through cost charges assessed by the township at the time of development approvals.

About 200 acres of Abbotsford lands adjacent to Aldergrove will also be serviced by the sewer trunk extension.

The agreement is not without its detractors, as Abbotsford councilor Simon Gibson was the sole contrary vote. "Aldergrove is poorly planned and ill-conceived. Now we're looking at subsidizing, supporting and condoning (Langley) township planning along the Abbotsford border," said Gibson during Monday's meeting.

Township has not made plans for the use of the Aldergrove plant site, but anticipate that the lagoons will be drained and backfilled after the sludge is removed. Part of the site will still be used for operation of the pump station but uses for the remainder depend upon an environmental assessment, and the cost of any clean up required.

Amalgamation enthusiasm...

From front...

Langley city, could barely contain his "excitement" over the windfall of dollars Abbotsford saw with amalgamation with Matsqui. "I got to corner (municipal affairs minister Darlene) Marzari and her staff to discuss the steps to go this fantastic route. Her answer was that once (the township and city) got together they would fund the study (to determine the costs and benefits of amalgamation)."

"It will be a great day when the residents of the township and city get the chance to express their wishes (in a referendum on amalgamation)," cautioned mayor John Scholtens.

New assessments out

LANGLEY - Property owners in the Langley area are now receiving their 1995 assessment notices, according to area assessor Wes Colbert.

More than 27,000 assessment notices have been mailed to property owners in the township along with 7,000 to Langley city property owners. In British Columbia, assessment notices are delivered every year to property owners.

All properties in the province share a common valuation date, July 1, 1994, providing an equitable market value base for property taxation. The real estate market determines the value of property and BC Assessment reports that value to the property owner and taxing authorities.

"Most houses in this year's assessment roll are worth more than they were the year before. Market movement, however, appears modest when compared to previous years. Langley's assessment roll has grown from $6.7-billion to $7.5-billion in the last year. This growth reflects higher market values for many properties but also includes subdivisions, rezonings and new construction. Growth in the assessment roll is less than previous years as lower market demand has affected both market trends and the development industry," Colbert said.

"This year the Langley/ Abbotsford Assessment Office has sent 1,300 more assessment notices to Langley property owners than last year. Most of these notices were sent to the owners of new homes that have been built since last year."

"If any property owners feel their property assessment is not reflective of market value as of July 1, 1994, or the information contained on their assessment notice is incorrect, they are encouraged to contact BC Assessment directly."

During the month of January, office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday to Friday. The Langley/Abbotsford Area Assessment Office is located at #240 - 31935 South Fraser Way, Abbotsford.

Abbotsford byelection could be the key to '95

VICTORIA - The New Democratic government's political fate could hinge on the outcome of a spring byelection in Abbotsford, pundits say.

Political scientists say that the result of the Fraser Valley vote could determine whether Premier Mike Harcourt would risk a general election this year.

A key factor is whether the BC Reform Party or the Liberals win the byelection to replace Social Credit MLA Harry DeJong, who quit last fall.

"For the government to risk a general election in 1995 two things have to happen," University of BC politics instructor Gerry Kristianson said.

"It has to improve substantially in the polls and the Reformers have to make it a three-party race by winning Abbotsford. If reform wins it becomes an important player. If not it is still a rump with four MLAs, all of them elected under the banner of a different party."

Kristianson said the Liberals could emerge as the only credible defender of the free enterprise system by winning the byelection.

A strong Reform Party, he added, would be the favored outcome for the New Democrats. "In a two-way race against the Liberals alone the NDP doesn't stand a chance."

The New Democrats are currently polling 30 percent support, trailing the Liberals by about 10 percent.

Appeal board delays ruling

By MONIQUE GALAZKA

VANCOUVER - An Immigration Appeal Board, consisting of members Des Verma and Nirmal Singh being presided over by Lorenne Clark, which was hearing the case against the deportation of convicted criminal Bounjan Aai Inthavong, has reserved their decision for at least a month.

Inthavong was ordered deported from Canada in April 1993 following an incident in which he was found guilty of aggravated assault, but has since appealed that decision.

He was granted refugee status in November 1994 which, according to Fraser Valley West MP Randy White, makes last week's hearing more of an exercise than anything else.

He has been following the case and calls it a disgrace that Refugee Board members Marcelle Brisson and Kenneth Burke have apparently ignored their own rules in approving Inthavong for refugee status, since they knew about his prison sentence and deportation order. He wants them removed from the board.

White has sent Immigration Minister Sergio Marchi several letters asking him to reverse the decision of the Refugee Board which is what must be done before Inthavong can again be ordered deported.

White will also try to have a public inquiry held into the workings of the Refugee Board, which is not required to record the reasons for their decisions. He also said that if the two members disagree on the situation they err on the side of the refugee, in this case ignoring the safety of the Canadian public.

"It is a serious flaw in the system," he said. "No other tribunal does that. It's absolute nonsense."

Inthavong was found guilty and sentenced to just over five years in jail for the assault on Aldergrove resident Kirby Martin. Inthavong repeatedly beat Martin over the head with a baseball bat before he was shot in the head by an accomplice of Inthavong's. A young offender was found guilty of murder and sentenced to three years in jail.

At the hearing Inthavong testified about his criminal past and what he plans to do now that he is out of jail. His mother also testified by phone. White calls it an abomination that there were no witnesses called for the Crown and that they had to fight to have victim impact letters written by the mother and the brother of Martin entered as evidence in the case.

"I'm bothered that there were no witnesses called against this person. He had everything in his favour, the crown counsel had nothing except the letters that we had to fight to have entered as evidence."

Inthavong's lawyer, Chris Elgin claimed that the letters were prejudicial, indicating without proof that Inthavong is a gang member in the Countess Group and is directly responsible for the murder.

While in jail he has taken high school courses and anger management classes. He was given full parole on February 24, 1994, after serving about two years of his jail term.

Florence Evans, the mother of Martin, said in her letter that she is deeply concerned about Inthavong's parole and refugee status. She said that her family has paid dearly enough without her tax dollars being spent on keeping Inthavong in Canada.

Terry Martin, Kirby's brother, said in his letter that the deportation of Inthavong should proceed without question.

He goes on to say that there is no place in this country for an immigrant who thinks so little of the privilege granted to him free of charge, and that he chooses to accept the benefits of Canadian citizenship but at the same time ignores his responsibility to maintain a minimum standard of conduct.

This is in reference to the numerous times Inthavong has been arrested and charged with crimes ranging from theft to mischief, since his arrival here from Thailand in 1985. He had left his native Laos at the age five, and spent 10 years in Thai camps before coming to Canada.

Elgin asked Inthavong what would happen to him if he were to be deported to Laos now. He said that he would probably be killed as a traitor. He also said that he knows no one there and life would be very difficult.

It may take as long as a year for a decision to be reached, during which time Inthavong maintains his refugee status and all the privileges that go along with it.

Thugs welcomed here

CALGARY - Reform immigration critic Art Hangar said this week that a public inquiry into the immigration and refugee board is needed because they are giving refugee status to "thugs."

Hangar also said immigration minister Sergio Marchi "should appear before the standing committee on citizenship and immigration to answer publicly for his outrageous action," and that the board should be scrapped.

Hangar's statement was provoked by reports that Bounjan Inthavong, a Laotian convict currently on parole for his part in the murder of an Aldergrove man, was given refugee status by the board, even though they knew of his long criminal record. Inthavong, 23, is awaiting an appeal board decision on an outstanding deportation order against him. Police and parole officials had also argued against Inthavong's release into the Abbotsford community, but he was paroled last year after serving about two years of his five year-plus sentence.

Local MP Randy White said abuse of the refugee system is more widespread than officials will admit, and said he's uncovered two other similar cases in this riding in the past six months. One of these is El Salvadorean Jose Salinas-Mendoza, who is believed to have fled to the U.S. because of the public pressure brought on by White.

Kidnapper known by police

SURREY - A national manhunt for the kidnapper of a Surrey woman is hoping for a break in the form of tips from the general public. The biggest break in Melanie Carpenter's disappearance are the photographs of the suspect taken by cameras inside an automated teller machine, minutes after her abduction.

Carpenter, 23, was working alone in the Island Tan Salon, 8888-152A Street, shortly after lunch on Jan. 6, when she disappeared. RCMP said a customer had come in to book an appointment and upon return at about 2 p.m., Carpenter was gone, the door was unlocked and some of Carpenter's personal belongings were left behind. "Management confirmed that $250 was missing from the till, however her coat, vehicle and keys had not been taken," said Cst. Steve Fullerton.

The suspect used Carpenter's bank card to withdraw $300 at 2:15 p.m., from Surrey Metro at Guildford. Photographs of the suspect have been released but police have enhanced the quality with computer technology. Police have received a number of tips so far, including several who claimed to recognize the man in the photos.

On Jan. 10, Surrey RCMP released information about a series of phone calls to the shop's owner that occurred on the day of Carpenter's disappearance. A man who identified himself as Frank Sheldon said that he represented a group of Japanese businessmen who wanted to meet at the shop to discuss investment in franchising the Island Tan stores. However, no one showed up for the 1 p.m. appointment and ten minutes later, there was another call from "Sheldon" who said that one of the businessmen had come down sick, and the owner arranged to meet Sheldon and the group the next day at the Newton store.

Then five minutes later another call came and Sheldon said he wanted hors d'oeuvres arranged for the group for the next morning. The owner then became suspicious, and his request for Sheldon's phone number was refused. Sheldon also said he had spoken with other tanning salons, but the owner remained suspicious about Shgeldon's motives. At 1:30 p.m., the owner left the store and that was the last time anyone reported seeing Carpenter. RCMP are asking the public if anyone else has been approached with a similar scheme.

Police and Carpenter's family are pleading for the abductor's safe release of Carpenter. "We know who he is," said Cst. Fullerton. "Let's end it now before any harm comes to her."

Information on the case should be called to RCMP serious crimes unit at 599-7634.

Carpenter is the third Surrey woman kidnapped in broad daylight in three months. Pamela Cameron, 16, was killed near 152 Street in October, and in December, a 14 year old escaped from her abductor when his truck became stuck in mud. Mitchell James Owen, 39, and Raymond Edward Perry, 41, are facing charges in those respective cases.

Paper not acceptable to politicos

By KURT LANGMANN

LANGLEY - Township council will let the Fraser Valley Regional Library know that they do not approve of it distributing a homosexual publication free of charge, after a narrow majority voted that the magazine was not acceptable. Councilors Muriel Arnason and Heather McMullan said they feared moves towards censorship, but both admitted to The Star after the meeting that they have never perused the magazine in question.

This writer read a copy of the publication several months ago and felt that while the editorial standards were laughable, the many references to sado-masochism and other deviant practices were offensive and degrading to both genders, whether straight or gay. This writer also opposes censorship, but was extremely displeased to see copies displayed on a waist-high rack in the foyer of the local library alongside other free publications of varying literary merit. If local retailers who choose to carry publications from Playboy and Playgirl to Hustler and worse, keep it behind their counters and don't want to give free space to free publications such as Xtra West, why should the library give it premiere display space?

"Perhaps I should recommend a compromise," Arnason told The Star. As council's representative on the library board, Arnason said she'd suggest that libraries keep copies of Xtra West behind the counter, to be released on request, as has been done with Playboy since a public uproar over it several years ago.

Council's discussion was provoked by a letter from resident Jim Sydor, who said, "The liberal attitudes being expressed by individuals in the media skirt the issue under the guise of censorship and flow of information, when in fact we are allowing the propagation of sodomy within the local community, funded by the taxpayer."

Xtra West publishers will be making a presentation to the library board in January, regarding distribution and policy affecting the tabloid. Langley township council has now joined several other valley municipal councils in protesting the magazine's distribution through the libraries which they fund.

Councilors who voted for expressing their displeasure to the library board included Trudi Campen, Mel Kositsky and Steve Ferguson. Steve Burton was away on holiday. Ferguson, who teaches troubled youths in Surrey, compared the situation to students bringing pornography or mysoginist rap-music tapes to school. "I'm consistently taking tapes away from kids, and saying to students that certain things are not acceptable in school. That doesn't say what what people can do in their own homes..."

Mayor John Scholtens said council was not out to censor anything: "If people want to subscribe to it, yes, but they should not be allowed to use public facilities to distribute it."

McMullan said she worried that such moves would provoke others to seek the banning of J.D. Salinger's Catcher In The Rye and Arnason invoked visions of Nazi book-burnings. However, both told The Star that they were open to reconsideration and promised to have a look inside the publication that offended their peers.

Discovery Software earns a tie

ALDERGROVE - Discovery Software Pirates and Marlin Travel Mighty Ducks played to an exciting 4-4 tie Saturday at the Aldergrove Arena. The Ducks dominated play early with Pirate goalie Iain Cassels making several outstanding saves off Kris Armstrong and Jacob Harder. Armstrong opened the scoring for the Ducks on a hard shot along the ice with help from linemates Harder and Jordan DeGianni. The Ducks stretched their lead to 3-0 on a pair of spectacular goals by Ryan Martin resulting from hard work by Alex Wismer and Matthew Kuzyk.

The Pirates narrowed the gap to 3-2 on two goals by winger Kevin Carlson on rebounds as the Pirates finally managed to beat Sean Simmons, who was solid in the Ducks net. Linemates Daniel Lafferty and Stephen Howerton set up both goals. The Pirates continued to press and shortly later the Pirates Stephen Howerton was awarded a penalty shot. He tied the game on a beautiful deke to the backhand.

Play continued to seesaw back and forth with some outstanding defensive play by the Ducks Taylor Anderson and Bryan Jones and the Pirates Brady Fishbook and Kevin Harper. Finally some sensational play by the Pirates Michael Kitterath resulted in a 4-3 Pirate lead with five minutes remaining. The Pirates looked poised to hang on for the victory, but another great goal by Martin, his third of the game, gave the Ducks a tie. Discovery Software Pirates play in Langley Wednesday before returning home to face Mad Dogs this Saturday.

Bruins do well in valley jamboree

ALDERGROVE - The holiday season was a busy one for the Aldergrove Peewee B Bruins this year as the team travelled to Chilliwack to take part in the annual Peewee Jamboree. The tournament was very well run, with teams from all over B.C. and Washington state.

The Bruins, sponsored by Valley Gravel Sales, began play with a game against Seattle's Northwest Admirals on Dec. 27. The Admirals were a fast skating team and really put Aldergrove to the test early, but the Bruins came out of the first period with a 2-1 lead on goals by Darcy Benson assisted by B.J. Konschuh, and Steven McGovern assisted by Benson. Benson and Konschuh each scored unassisted goals in the second period to offset one Admiral goal for a 4-2 lead, and in the third, goals by Larry Fraser (assisted by McGovern) and Adam Dodd (assisted by Eric Strandt) made the final score 6-2 Aldergrove. Goaltender Aaron Slagman made several great saves to keep Seattle scoreless in the third period. Great defensive work from Ben Eldridge, Derek Charles, and Shawn Pandin helped make Slagman's job easier.

The next day, the Bruins faced another American team from Wenatchee. In a good hard skating game, the Bruins prevailed 7-5. Steven McGovern and Darcy Benson scored in the first period, both goals assisted by B.J. Konschuh, but Wenatchee scored three to lead 3-2 after one. Wenatchee extended their lead to 4-2 early in the second before the Bruins offense got rolling on a goal by Mark Windle assisted by McGovern and Shawn Pandin. Score after two periods was 4-3 Wenatchee. The third period was wild and wooly with Aldergrove outscoring Wenatchee 4-1 to take the victory. Aldergrove scorers in the third were Darcy Benson from Mark Windle, Benson again from Eric Strandt, Aman Sivia from B.J. Konschuh, and McGovern with his second from T.K. Laidman. Kris Keith in the nets was faced with many difficult shots but was equal to the task with some super saves. Forechecking by the forwards was a key to the victory, with the line of David Mamchur, Mark Windle, and Steve McGovern leading the way.

The competition began to get tougher the next day as the Bruins faced two tough teams, Cloverdale in the morning and Abbotsford in the afternoon. In the morning game, Cloverdale used their manpower advantage and speed to defeat the Bruins 7-3. Bruins were led by Adam Dodd with a goal and two assists, David Mamchur with a goal and one assist, and Steven McGovern with one goal. Reduced to two forward lines by illness and injury, the Bruins nevertheless gave their best effort against a very good Colts team.

That afternoon, the Bruins went up against the Abbotsford Hawks. The Hawks rolled to a 5-0 lead before the Bruins could get their lone goal late in the game, credited to B.J. Konschuh from Steven McGovern and Ben Eldridge. The final score of 5-1 was a credit to all the Bruins against an extremely good team.

On Dec. 31, the Bruins parents sponsored a New Years Eve dance at the Kinsmen Community Centre. Thanks to the many people who supported the team, the dance was a success. The dance was held to help raise funds for the boys to travel to New Zealand in August of 1995 to participate in the International Friendship Tournament. The team would like to thank the many individuals and businesses who contributed in so many ways to the success of the dance (donations of food, gifts, auction items, etc.), thanks so much. A big thank you to all the parents who gave so much of their time and effort, and especially to those who supported the team by attending and having a good time.

The Bruins begin the second half of the regular season at home on Tuesday, Jan. 10.

Where there's smoke, is fire

ABBOTSFORD - High school students here face stiff penalties if they are caught with tobacco products on school grounds.

A new anti-smoking law which took effect on January 1 bans the possession of cigarettes on school property.

Under the policy, which is the first of its type in the province, students caught for a first offence will have the products confiscated and their parents will be notified.

They face a one day suspension for a second offence, and a three day suspension for a third.

Students are saying however that they will not be deterred from smoking, just because they can't do it at school.

According to B.C. Lung Association statistics, more young people are smoking. Results of a survey taken last year indicate that one third of grade 7 students have tried smoking, almost double the number in 1991.

Residents living near schools have complained about students using their parking lots and front lawns as smoking areas, since smoking on school grounds was prohibited in 1987.

One junior high school principal asked the board last year to reintroduce smoking areas for students on school property. Students also have said that they would prefer to have a 'safe' place to smoke.

Stamping out those 'weeds'

LANGLEY - Whatever course of action the GVRD chooses in banning tobacco smoke in restaurants and pubs will probably be followed by township council here.

Mayor John Scholtens told councilors that they should "move in concert with the GVRD" on the issue, in response to a letter from Surrey resident, Debbie MacKay. MacKay said she shops and eats quite frequently in Langley and is "strongly in favour of 100% smoke-free bylaw."

Vancouver's chief medical officer, John Blatherwick said recently that they favour a complete ban of smoking inside all restaurants and bars. One of the aims is to protect employees and patrons from second-hand smoke, which is considered a serious public health issue. On the other hand, Vancouver's 500-seat Town Pump bar recently experimented with a non-smoking policy based on the premise that their business would flourish as weli as have the benefit of clean air. The owners quickly retreated on the policy when they found that, instead, patrons stayed away in droves regardless of whether they were smokers or non-smokers.

Township council are all non-smokers, or reformed ex-smokers.

SEASON HIGHLIGHT

Bruins bounce back in fast bout

ALDERGROVE - After a disappointing turnabout Thursday against the New Westminster Royals, the Allied Windows Pee Wee A Bruins bounced back to play Richmond in the game that must be called the highlight of the season. Richmond, standing in first place in our tier two division, suffered their first defeat at the hands of the Bruins in an exciting, fast paced game.

Aldergrove played host Thursday to the New Westminster Royals in our first game since the Christmas break. We met the Royals early in the season, where, in exhibition play we gave up a 4-0 lead to settle for a tie. Tonight would end much the same.

In a concerted effort infront of the Royals net early in the first, Ben Henthorne managed to force one through, assisted by Dustin Goodman and Matt Roberts.

Mike Haber and Martin Nicola, also notably having a good, aggressive game, were unable to get the breaks. But with our defensemen playing in good form, and goalie Shane Marchant coming up with some key saves, we held on to our 1-0 lead through the second period.

The Royals were right on top of us going into the third period for an early goal, then followed it up quickly with another while Shane was still berating himself for his first lapse. Too often we are allowing back-to-back goals. "Shake it off a little quicker Shane, and get back in the game. You can't take the full responsibility for every goal against!"

The Bruins fought to the end but the score would remain 1-2 for New West.

Sunday we travelled to Richmond where we were in for the rare treat of meeting a team that did not have us outsized or outmuscled. While Richmond holds first place, they don't rely on size and bullying, but rather speed and skill, and we were able to skate with them.

Richmond started off the scoring within the first minute of the game. Then Aldergrove picked up a couple of overlapping penalties and Richmond kept the heat on goalie Davis Parley. He weathered the first but could not last out the second and Richmond scored on the power play. Shane took over net duty at this point.

Midway through the first Aubrey Smith caught Richmond on a line change for a short breakaway and a long shot to the top corner. But Richmond got a last minute goal to go ahead 1-3.

Seconds into the next period Paul Daley passed behind the net to Mike Roberts – Mike out front to Josh MacKnee. Josh was being checked and pulled the puck to his backhand and put it past the Richmond goalie. Then in the seesaw scoring it was again Richmond's turn for a point.

Tom Martin gave the team a good laugh as his slap shot knocked the stick right out of the goalie's hand. Unfortunately it was, in the process, deflected away. Aldergrove would not end this period without another goal though. Working a power play, Chris Colonval intercepted an attempted dump to skate it in and sink a wrist shot in the last 30 seconds of play. The Bruins were back to within a point of Richmond going into the third.

The pace of this game never faltered as the play moved from end to end. Goalies at both ends were phenominal. Aldergrove was killing a penalty and moved the play into the Richmond zone. Mike Haber got the puck back to Chris at the blue line and Chris took a slap shot true on goal to tie the score at 4-4. The tie was short lived however, as Richmond still on the power play, scored on Shane. Aldergrove was quick to recover as Josh passed to Mike R. behind the net – Mike to Paul at the boards. Paul skated to the front of the net and put the puck into the corner. Then Ben put us ahead, for the first time. Picking up a pass at the blue line from Dustin, he deked around the defense at the Richmond goal and put a lift on it to get it past the netminder – assist also to Matt.

Now with four minutes left in the game we would have to hang on for dear life. Richmond would not make it easy for us. But in their bid to reclaim the advantage they incurred a roughing penalty, and as a last resort, pulled their goalie in the final minute of play. Aldergrove's first attempt at the empty net failed and they found themselves back in their own zone for a face-off. Paul, taking the face-off, got it to Ben. Ben was checked and bounced the puck off the boards, then tied up his check to set Paul up for a breakaway. It was an easy shot for Paul and the game for Aldergrove as the score ended 7-5.

This was a game every member of the team should be proud of. Great effort!

The Allied Windows Bruins next game is at home Thursday against Port Coquitlam.

Locals try hard

By JOE MORRISON

ALDERGROVE - After finishing the Atom B Christmas tournament, the Aldergrove Atom B Hewitt and Co. Bruins only had one game this week, with their regular game slot at the Aldergrove Arena replaced with a practise.

So the Aldergrovians rolled into Surrey for their first game of 1995, coming on January 7. Surrey absolutely dominated the first period at the beginning and had a solid edge on play all night, continually keeping the puck in Aldergrove's zone. The visitors came back with sporadic rushes, but failed to get a good quality shot for the first half of the period due to a great Surrey defence. The home team managed to get three shots by Aldergrove goalie Scott Mathieson; at 11:36, 10:16 and 1:23 to end the first period with a 3-0 lead.

The second was much the same as the first, except for the fact that Aldergrove had a few more chances this time around. Most of Surrey's chances came on breaks, but their goals came on zone play. Midway through the period Scott Mathieson was replaced by Will Parley as Aldergrove gave both goalies a chance to play but Surrey still scored three goals to take a 6-0 lead into the third.

Aldergrove had the only goal of the third, however, and it came at 10:37. During a melee around the Surrey net that lasted almost 15 seconds, the puck came loose twice. The first time, Aldergrove recovered but the shot was blocked. The second time, Jordan Stangle pounced on the puck and backhanded the puck in to get the visitors on the board. The goal seemed to spark Aldergrove, and even though the play evened out, Aldergrove failed to score again and lost 6-1.

At the end of the game Aldergrove player Parker MacDonald was caught under the chin by a high stick. He was taken to the Surrey Memorial Hospital with suspected neck injuries, but was soon released. No call was made on the play.

Deadline nears for festival entry

Ducks fit to be tied

ALDERGROVE - The Marlin Travel Mighty Ducks opened 1995 action against the Discovery Software Pirates on Jan. 7, 1995.

The first period saw the Ducks come out flying. Kris Armstrong opened the scoring with an assist from linemate Jordan DeGianni to give the Ducks a 1-0 lead. The Ducks then scored two more goals to jump out 3-1 after the first period. Ryan Martin with two goals and Alex Wismer with an assist did the scoring.

The second period was all Pirates as they scored three goals to go up 4-3 after two periods. Sean Simmons the Mighty Ducks goalie made several good stops to keep the Ducks in the game.

The third period saw Ryan Martin complete his hat trick to give the Mighty Ducks a 4-4 tie. The game was close down to the wire. The Kris Armstrong line with teammate Jacob Harder just missing on a couple of great chances. Brian Jones and Matthew Kuzyk with James McDonald worked hard but could not find the net. The defense saw the return of Taylor Anderson who played well, Allan Olson continues to play well each game. Layton Lavik and Andrew Wainwright cleared several dangerous scoring chances away. Brodie Sorenson broke up several dangerous rushes.

The Marlin Travel Mighty Ducks next game is Tuesday, Jan. 10 in Aldergrove.

That'll be me coasts to win

SURREY - It was good-bye starter and hello judges as Thatll Be Me with Bob Clark in the sulky paced to an easy victory in the $28,700 final of the Attorney General Classic Sunday at Cloverdale Raceway.

Clark sent Thatll Be Me right to the front from the start and when he wasn't pressured in the early going was able to dictate the pace of the race and ended up 2 1/2 lengths clear of Clairvoyant and Ed Hensley at the wire while Mob Scene and driver Bill Davis finished third. Time for the mile over the track rated slow was 2:00.1.

The race was the first for Thatll Be Me as a four year old and gave him an excellent start to try and repeat his accomplishments last year as a three year when he won 19 of 28 starts and had earnings of $274,669. Thatll Be Me will be shipped back to his Alberta based owners where they will decide when and where his next start will be.

Track Chatter...Alberta based driver Bob Clark made the most of his trip to the coast by also scoring with Harmonic Justice in the 8th race on Sunday. This Sunday January 15, Cloverdale will have another of the popular Seniors' Days. All patrons 60 and over will receive free admission, a free program and a free coffee. Ed Hensley continues to lead in dash wins with 120 trips to the winner circle but is second in the UDRS standings to Bill Davis. Racing continues on Wednesday and Friday evenings with parade to the post at 6:50 and on Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 1:05.

Fresh new approach to play

ALDERGROVE - The fresh new approach to post Christmas play for Titan Construction Bantam A Bruins continues as they have posted a winning 2 - 0 and 2 record. On Thursday night they travelled to Port Coquitlam to take on the heavy hitting PoCo team. The Bruins jumped in to an early lead on an unassisted goal by Kevin Keith and never relinquished the lead posting a 4-3 victory. Paced by Keith's three point evening, a goal and two assists, and goals by Nicholas Sequin, Greg Maggio and Sean Askin with Jason Ballantyne and Chris Fox each earning assists the victory was well earned and deserved. To be recognized is the effort of T.O. Leakey who 'stood on his head' stopping over 30 shots, many of them tough ones, to preserve the win.

Moving in to Hollyburn Winter Club on Saturday once again saw the team jump in to a four goal lead in the first period on goals by Sandy Brown, Tanner Rattray, Rob Maksymetz and Nicholas Sequin. A strong effort on the part of the Bruins was unable to hold off the tide of Hollyburn forwards as they reversed the score in the second quarter scoring four unanswered goals. The third period was a draw resulting in a 4-4 tie in an evenly played and enjoyable clean game.

After such a clean game the team was expecting the worst as the Burnaby Winter Club moved in for a Monday evening contest. Noted for their high penalty numbers and rough play a delightful surprise awaited as only four penalties were called on either side. This made for a fast paced game which saw Scott Siefert score to put the Bruins in to an early lead. Jason Ballantyne and Greg Maggio assisted on Seifert's goal. Burnaby scored late in the first period and early in the second as it looked like the troops were sagging. Just as Burnaby turned up the heat an odd goal was scored as Kevin Keith shot from behind the goal line, his shot hitting the goal tender and bouncing in. Tieing the game was the initiative the team needed to turn the tide as David Haber scored with 1:37 left in the second period unassisted. Less than a minute later, recently converted forward, Matt Holmes scored assisted by Sequin and Brown making the score 4-2 headed in to the the third period.

In the third, play moved from end to end as the teams played hard knowing the game could still go either way, this made for exciting hockey for faithful fans whose support the team appreciate very much! With their goalie on the bench for an extra attacker the Burnaby team tried desperately to put the puck behind the invincible Colby Smith in net for Aldergrove but were unable to. With seconds left, David Haber picked up a clearing pass from Rob Maksymetz and goaltender Colby Smith as he went in to score on the open net making the final a convincing 5-2 score. This victory more than doubles the teams pre-Christmas point total.

The team asks that you save up your bottles as they will be sponsoring a bottle drive on January 28. Funds raised go to help the team in tournament entry fees in Port Coquitlam and Maple Ridge.

Bob and Ray together again

VANCOUVER - Two of the world's favourite performers will be together again for the 29th annual "Show of Hearts", February 11 and 12 at the Plaza of Nations. Bob McGrath, the much-loved children's entertainer of Sesame Street fame, and the incomparable Ray Charles will once again be headline performers on Variety Club's 22-hour marathon fund raiser broadcast province-wide on BCTV.

Each year the Variety Club "Show of Hearts" brings together over 1,200 singers, dancers, and variety acts to perform on stage; over 4,500 volunteers to look after all the details of putting together an entertainment extravaganza; plus, representatives from the countless thousands of dedicated special event fund raisers from communities across the entire province of British Columbia; and thousands more who come out to sit in the audience, some for the entire 22 hours.

Auditions for local talent to perform on the "Show of Hearts" were held at the Gateway Theatre in Richmond, Saturday, November 26 and over 100 individuals and groups showed up to showcase their talent. "The level of talent was phenomenal," said an amazed Shel Piercy, producer of the annual event, "far superior to any auditions we've held in the past."

Admission to the Variety Club "Show of Hearts" on February 11 will be $4. from 7pm til 6am. Sunday admission from 6am til 6pm is free of charge.

Loss, win for Bruins

ALDERGROVE - The Aldergrove Pac-Can Bantam B Bruins spent their pre-Christmas break in a tournament in North Delta. The competition was very tough and saw the boys coming up against Tier 1 and Tier 2 teams, as well as one A team. They did not fare well in the win column, losing four straight games, but the exposure to the faster pace and more physical play was invaluable.

Their first league game of 1995 saw the Bruins facing their greatest challenge of the season. They were coming up against the PoCo Thunders who had an identical 8-1-1 record in the first half of the season but this was to be the first meeting of these two teams. PoCo struck first with a goal in the first period which held up until early in the second when Shannon Kobliuk scored with assists to Brent Adams and James Patterson. PoCo retook the lead late in the second and both teams exchanged two goals in the third leaving us on the short end of a 4-3 score. Third period markers for the Bruins were Delayne Dupuis from Shannon and Brent and Wes Schwartz from Mike Shipley and Derrick Van Der Burch. We enjoyed twice the power plays and scored one less power play than PoCo which was a large factor in the game. These two teams meet again on Feb. 4, 1995 in Aldergrove and it should be a good one!

You have heard the phrase "A bear with a sore paw" and I think this may apply to the Bruins next two games. They came out Saturday short two players and proceeded to maul the Burnaby Winter Club team 14-2. It was a very rough, penalty-ridden affair as BWC did not take kindly to being outplayed so badly. Aldergrove scorers were Derek Day, Darren Caldwell and Delayne Dupuis with hat tricks, Shannon Kobliuk (2 goals, 2 assists), Brent Adams (2 goals, 3 assists) and Kyle Grant with a single. Other assists went to Ryan McAdams, Derrick Van Der Burch, Nathan Gole and Justin Billinghurst.

The next day the Bruins were still smarting and they took it out on the North Shore Winter Club with an 8-2 victory. This game was a good skating affair with very few penalties. Derek Day potted his first of what was to be his second hat-trick in two days with only 17 seconds on the clock. Ryan McAdams assisted on two of Derek's goals. Remaining goals came from Shannon Kobliuk with two, assisted by Brent Adams and Delayne Dupuis, Brent Adams with two, assisted by Kevin Roberts and Shannon, and a single from Kevin Roberts, assisted by Kyle Grant. The boys have the rest of the week off and do not play again until Sat., Jan. 14 at 8:00 p.m. in Aldergrove when the North Shore Winter Club visits. Be sure to come out and watch!

We would like to remind Aldergrove residents that the Pac-Can Bruins will be holding a bottle drive this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and we would appreciate your support when the boys come to the door.

Jewel of a play

CHILLIWACK - The second production of the University College of the Fraser Valley theatre department's 1994/95 season of theatre is James W. Nichol's compelling adaptation of Margaret Laurence's classic Canadian novel The Stone Angel.

The Stone Angel is a bright jewel of a play that probes deep into the hearts of its characters and audiences. It tells the uncompromising story of Hagar Shipley - as seen through her own eyes at the age of ninety. Her reflections on her past emerge as a series of vigorously etched portraits, from her life as a young girl in a bleak prairies town, to an old woman armoured by her steely humour yet still isolated by her pride and self reliance.

New theatre faculty member, Dr. Bruce Kirkley makes his directorial debut for the department with this production. The challenging role of Hagar Shipley is played by theatre student Carol McCormick. Carol has appeared in many UCFV theatre productions and can be remembered for her outstanding performance as Dolly Levi in last season's hit production of The Matchmaker. Theatre student Larry Hamm plays Bram Shipley, Hagar's shiftless husband. Larry has also appeared regularly in department productions and was last seen as Iago - plus several other roles - in Goodnight Desdemona (Good Morning Juliet). The role of Hagar's dour, inflexible father is taken by theatre department veteran Rick Mawson. Other performers in The Stone Angel - each playing several roles - include theatre students James Ashcroft, Ron Heal, Corby Legault, Lori Rippin and Jean Servizi and community performers John Ayris and Jacquie Simpson. First year theatre student Sabrina Byrne takes the role of Sandra.

Costume design for this production is by second year theatre student Jean Servizi, with costume construction supervised by wardrobe mistress Yvonne Krehbiel. Set and lighting design credits are shared by director Bruce Kirkley and theatre technician Jim Wenting; stage manager is Gwen Coates.

The Stone Angel opens Friday, January 20 at 8 p.m. in the Studio Theatre on the Chilliwack campus, with two half price previews January 18 and 19 and continues January 21, 25 to 28 and February 1 to 4. Two special matinee performances will also be offered January 26 and 31 at 12:30 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale at the theatre box office on the Chilliwack campus.

For reservations and information call 795-2814.

'Pirates' audition

SURREY - The Fraser Valley Gilbert & Sullivan Society is holding auditions for 20 men and 20 women (must look 16 years of age or older), required for Pirates of Penzance. Audition dates are January 15, 2-5:30 pm and 7-10 pm, January 17, 7:30-10:30 pm, and January 19, 7:30-10:30 pm, all at St. Cuthbert's Anglican Church, 11601 - 82 Avenue, Delta.

Prepare an audition song (no selections from Pirates of Penzance, please), and a pianist will be provided. For more information contact Janel Young, producer, 585-0775. No appointment necessary.

Rehearsals to start January 26, and the show runs at the Surrey Arts Centre from May 18 to June 3. New members are also welcomed.

Local wins praise for valley farm preservation

BURNABY - The Greater Vancouver Regional District Board of Directors has presented a special commendation to its Agriculture Advisory Committee for its efforts to maintain a viable agriculture industry in the region.

GVRD chairperson Greg Halsey-Brandt presented a framed certificate of appreciation to committee chairperson Marlene Van Baalen, co-owner of Brookside Greenhouses Ltd. in Langley. He said that among the committee's major achievements during 1994 was organization of the first ever 'Agriculture Month in Greater Vancouver', held in October and attended by 13,000 people. The event included an open house at many farming operations. The committee also provided the regional board with an agricultural perspective on numerous issues, said Halsey-Brandt.

The 15-member committee is composed of representatives of various types of farming, nurseries, and other interests.

Only 1.4 per cent of British Columbia's farmlands are in Greater Vancouver but they produce 25 per cent of the province's farm income.

Here a disaster, there a disaster

By MAUDIE MacPHERSON

ALDERGROVE - Everywhere there's disasters. In Florida there's vicious storms, in Japan earthquakes, in California torrential rains and flooding but here in Aldergrove nothing but bright sunshine and glorious balmy weather (almost). Makes me think of a story of a fellow from Aldergrove who died and when he reached the pearly gates St. Peter greeted him and said "Come in but you won't like it here."

Things are happening again down at the OAP hall. Carpet bowling Thursday with two carpets in play and sixteen enthusiastic players. One girl I heard was bragging about a skunk, but I wasn't there so I can't verify it. Come on down to the OAP hall Thursday afternoon at 1:30 pm and join the crowd.

Dancing as usual on Wednesday and Saturday. On Wednesday Mabel Henning from Weyburn Sask. was the lone visitor. 50-50 winners were Donald Wyers, Mary Sanderson and Martha Nesbit. The fifty-fourth wedding anniversary of Mary and John Ewanchu was celebrated at the dance. We wish you many more happy years together. The spot dance went to Cliff Souther and Mabel Henning.

Even though Murrayville had their dance Saturday, 71 came to Aldergrove. Just a nice crowd. A couple of visitors, August Smith and Minnie Remanda were welcomed. The spot dances went to Art and Edith Dieno and Betty and Harold Armstrong. There were four 50-50 winners, Ann Marie Jesse, Mary Sanderson, Dorothy Bright and Audrey Fawkes. Door prizes were won by Betty Matheson and Mabel Henning, our Weyburn visitor. Valley Ramblers will be playing for this weeks dances.

Opal Thomas is feeling under the weather these days. Shake that flu Opal and get with it again. Another member who is having health problems is Rita Ford. Hope you are on the mend soon Rita.

Bridge is back in full swing again. Ann Audette took first prize with a score of 6490, second prize winner was Alex Barstow whose score was 6170. Irene Oelsner came third with 5990 and John McDougall was fourth with 5770. The draw went to Bruna (can't remember her surname).

Funny how Ernie Cluett excuses for the men's inability to learn the art of coffee making at home, so they have to rely on Tim Horton's to provide a watering hole. Well, Ernie you may think the women folk are forgetful and a little bit vague, but I have to inform you, women are devious and almost manipulative but they aren't dumb. While they are letting their men folk run off to coffee each morning something is going on in their pretty heads and after several weeks of lonesome breakfasts a suggestion arises "What about a dinner out?" Nothing cheap about these Aldergrove gals, steak and lobster at the classiest joint in town makes these guys turn pale. And Ernie your explanation of the problems created in the Garden of Eden had nothing to do with fig leaves or an apple in the tree it was the pair (pear) on the ground that caused the problem.

The first general meeting of 1995 was held Friday, Jan. 6 in the OAP hall with 48 in attendance. A good meeting was conducted by the new president Roy Lockhart. It was good to see a few new faces. We're always glad of new members. Fran Colebank had engaged a speaker who was most informative on capital gains, wills, power of attorney and many things that seniors should consider. We thank Fran for her efforts in getting interesting speakers at these meetings.

Bunty Baker must have touched many people's lives in her journey through life, since Gladwin Heights United Church was packed and overflowing for her memorial service.

This is the seniors news for this week. Here's a quote by Michael Pritchard. "You don't stop laughing because you grow old, you grow old because you stop laughing."

YOUR VOICE

Bears and dope

By LARA BRODIE
and LOIS BRONK

How do you feel about Snowball, the polar bear at the Calgary Zoo, being prescribed Prozac?

Jennifer Linsenmeier, 11,
Donelle Beggs, 12,
Brandie Griffiths, 11:

...I think it's really good, so that he won't be lonely since his other friend died. The other one fell down and he's been lonely since that. I think it's really good that they give him that so that he will be happy and he won't be so lonely.

...I think it's a good idea because then he won't be pacing so much anymore and then they can use it on other animals.

...If it doesn't harm him and he likes it then they might as well give it to him because then he'd be more happy in a zoo.

Lottie Heyligers:

I think it's a bit outrageous, kind of ridiculous for a polar bear. His behavior was probably quite normal in the circumstances, pacing back and forth. He's probably pretty bored, so what else can he do but pace back and forth? I don't think it's right to give that to an animal.

M. Jones with Kylie, 4
and Tom, almost 3:

They should release the bear if the bear is getting so bored. Why prescribe drugs for it? I don't see the point to that.

Harry Brossault, Jr, 14
and Doug Jure, 13:

...If he's depressed they should put him on lithium because that's the exact same thing as manic depressive. After awhile the animal might get used to it and need more and more, get used to it, and he might die of it.

...I don't think it's right because that will start to effect the bear. I think they should just leave the animal the way that it is, I don't think it's fair. If they have to pump him with drugs, it's just going to harm the animal.

Colleen Wyllie:

I don't think it's fair to keep animals in captivity if they are not happy and healthy but if it takes Prozac to keep them happy and healthy I guess that's all right but, of course, I'd prefer to see him back home if such a thing is possible, but, if he's been there his whole life that's probably not possible.

New executive welcomed

By MADELINE ROACH

ALDERGROVE - Congratulations to all the members of the Legion Branch and Ladies Auxiliary who were installed on Sunday for their new year. Pictures of the executives are in this paper. A good time was had by all who attended the ceremony. Also congratulations to W.A. Ford and Margaret Gervan who were awarded the highest honor from the Branch and L.A. They received the Meritorious Service Medal and Meritorious Service Award - L.A. for a job well done.

This week we have Wylie and the other Guy performing on Thursday evening from 8:00 to 12:00. Stillwater plays on Friday and Saturday from 9:00 to 1:00 and on Sunday from 4:30 to 8:30. The meat draw is still on every Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m.

This is the third Sunday of the month so there is a breakfast in our hall from 9 to 11:30 a.m. It is open to the public and the menu is: bacon, eggs, sausage, hash browns, toast, juice, and coffee. The prices are: $3. for adults, $1.50 for children 5-12, and those under 5 free. We hope to see you all at the breakfast. Please come out and support your branch.

Musical feast

LANGLEY - Start the new year listening to an evening of great chamber music played by internationally acclaimed performers. Kwantlen's chamber music series continues on Friday, January 13 at 8 p.m. at the Langley campus music performance hall, 20901 Langley By-pass.

The evening program features the music of Molino with a Trio, Op. 45 for violin, viola and guitar, Castelnuovo-Tedesco's Fantasia, Op. 145 for guitar and piano, and Dvorak's Quintet in G major, Op. 77 for two violins, viola, cello and double bass.

Each concert presents a variety of works featuring musicians from the college music department as well as selected guests.

Meet the stars

LANGLEY - Come and meet the stars at the Langley Arts Council general meeting on Jan. 18 at 8 p.m., held at Langley Playhouse, 4307 - 200 St. Excerpts from their next show, Slow Dancing, a dramatic comedy written by Shelley Picard and directed by Randy Holmes, will be performed for your entertainment. Business meeting will be followed by an opportunity to visit with some of the cast and other members of the Langley Arts Council over refreshments. For information call 534-0781.

Dead Sea specialist joins Bible department at Trinity Western

LANGLEY - Old Testament specialist Dr. Paul Hughes joins TWU's Religious Studies department this January upon completion of his doctoral studies at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Teaching Old Testament courses at the undergraduate level, Dr. Hughes will also lend his expertise to TWU's Master of Arts in Biblical Studies which is scheduled to start this fall. The MA program will be taught by one of the strongest faculties in North America and will enable students to examine primary literature including the Dead Sea Scrolls, papyri, inscriptions, pseudepigrapha and biblical manuscripts.

Two additional professors with a concentration in the areas of Bible and Dead Sea Scrolls are also expected to be hired by September to give the growing department excellent representation in all areas of religious studies. "With the appointment of these two faculty, we will be in the position to establish a Dead Sea Scrolls Institute, inviting scholars of international reputation onto Trinity's campus for symposiums," said Dr. Craig Evens, director of TWU's MA program in biblical studies.

Learn pastels

FORT LANGLEY - Create your first painting with pastels, or hone your pastel painting skills. Join well-known Fort Langley artist Barbara Boldt in a six week program at the Langley Centennial Museum and national Exhibition Centre. There are two Artists' Soft Pastels programs to choose from, one geared for beginners the other for intermediates. The first course begins Saturday, January 14. The fee is $98. Phone 888-3922 to register.

Barbara Boldt has extensive teaching experience and has a studio in Fort Langley. Her teaching style is workshop fashion and she encourages learning from others. A supply list will be provided on the first day of class and will be about $80. if you must purchase all supplies from scratch.

What a bright and sunny day

By SYLVIA BAKER

ALDERGROVE - What a bright sunny day to welcome in the new year. 1995 waits for us with sunshine days, good friends, co-workers, and an exciting year ahead.

The Aldergrove Thrift Shop held its first meeting of the year on Monday, Jan. 2. Eighteen members were in attendance even though it was a day off for many. I would like to thank them for coming out. This was an important meeting for our group as it sets the pace for the coming year.

Many things were discussed but first and always the most important were the donations from our December sales. We had a unusual month with many days of rain and of course our very short weeks during the holiday season. We did, however, donate a total of $3,000. to the following organizations: Vancouver General Burn Unit, Kinsman Mothers March, Wagner Farms, Stepping Stones and Marilyn Clark Anorexia Fund.

It gives me great pleasure to say that over the year the shop, through its dedicated workers and supporters has been able to donate back to the communities of Aldergrove, Matsqui and Langley and those who have made special requests for assistance, a total of approximately $21,000. An additional $12,800. has been donated to national organizations that touch us all in some way, such as the Heart Fund, Red Cross, Muscular Dystrophy, Cancer Fund, and on and on.

The end of January will bring great sales and bargains for those looking in our hardware section. I think this is a first time ever deal where everything in that shop will be on at half price, except books. We will be announcing sales throughout the month of January in both shops but the hardware area is due for its annual clean-up. In order to accomplish this we will have a clean house sale from January 23 through January 27. Then the shop will be closed January 28, 29, 30 and 31, while we re-shelve and bring out new items. Be sure to come see us during our sale time and after, of course.

Speaking of shelves, we will be scouring the area for some shelving and assistance. If you have some 2x4's or plywood just hanging around perhaps we can use it. Better yet, if you have some type of business with shelving that needs moving to our store we would be happy to assist. Give us a call at 857-0931. Someone will come to look it over.

There are rumours that we will hold our second annual "Bag Lady" fashion show again this spring. A date hasn't been set but we had such a great time last year with or first "Bag Lady" fashion show at the Aldergrove Mall, we think we would like to do it again for our pleasure and your entertainment.

The appreciation dinner for our workers is coming up soon for those all of us who look forward to the wonderful food and social gathering of our past and present workers. We will be calling to let everyone know the date.

I would like to thank Roy, Gibb and Roger for coming everyday to put out the merchandise and bring it back in, in front of hardware. Rain or shine they were right there through the holiday season and the entire year. So many people devote their time to help make this shop work I'm always surprised at the generosity of this community.

Look for the bright orange tags in clothing for half price clearance bargains.

Love's Labor not lost

ALDERGROVE - The Community Secondary School and the Black Light Theatre Company present William Shakespeare's Love's Labor's Lost this month.

Love's Labor's Lost is an hilarious view of life, love and stupidity; or, more strictly, the stupidity of love. It is about a king who has had his three lords sign an oath saying they will study without seeing or talking to any women for three years in the king's court. No sooner have they signed to this, however, when the princess of France shows up with her three ladies. The blunders between the two groups lead up to a shocking ending.

Love's Labor's Lost was written by Shakespeare, known worldwide as possibly the best playwright and poet ever to have lived. It has been adapted by director, David L. Young, from a three hour production to a one and a half hour performance. The costumes consist of modern day clothing as opposed to Elizabethan dress, giving the play an interesting twist. The atmosphere of the park where the scenes take place makes you feel as if you are in the production yourself.

Love's Labor's Lost is being produced by Aldergrove Community Secondary's Black Light Theatre Company, and will be performed in the drama studio from January 17 to 27.

Evening performances are January 18, 19, 20, 25, 26 and 27, with door at 7 pm and curtain at 7:30 pm. It is $8 general admission and $6 students and seniors. Matinee performances are January 17, 19, 24 and 26, with door at 12:30 pm and curtain at 1 pm. It is $4 senior matinees and $3 student matinees. For reservations call 856-2521. The theatre at Aldergrove Community Secondary School is located at 26850 - 29 Avenue.

ASK ANNABELLE

Dear Annabelle,

My husband (I'll call him Alf) retired two years ago and since then he has been driving me nuts. For the past two years Alf has been picking up our mail every day. This used to be my job when Alf was working and I used to separate it from the junk stuff and toss it out before he came home. Now he looks at everything that comes to our mail box, including all the flyers and papers from other communities and the coupons from various stores. He stacks them all in order and goes through them one by one. He pulls coupons for me expecting me to run out and buy that particular thing immediately. Any clothes items in the flyers he insists on asking me if we could use it now because it is marked down. He knows all the news about the councils in other towns and what is going on there. He talks about these people as if he knows them and even calls them by their first names (as if I care). But, his worst habit is entering these so-called envelopes from Publishers Clearing House to getting free seeds from gardening give-aways. He won't let me throw anything away and my house has now become a junkyard filled with boxes and bags of flyers, give-aways and coupons. What can you suggest to try to break him of this habit? Please.

Signed: No room to turn around.

Dear No room,

There isn't much you can do about the mail you receive that keeps piling up in your home. My advice is find your husband a new hobby, like borrowing books from the library that have to be returned. Flyers that come through the mail are a nuisance but you can do something about the junk mail. I would advise you to keep it a secret from your husband so hide somewhere and write to: Canadian Direct Marketing Association, Mail Preference Centre, #1 Concord Gate, Unit 607, Don Mills, Ont. M3C 3N6.

Good luck with that and may your house never more be filled with junk mail.

My Dear Annabelle,

Please be tolerant of possible errors in this epistle, since I am penning it by the dim illumination of a single guttering candle in a forgotten corner of the cellar of The Fox and Hounds. Hidden by beer kegs (one not as yet entirely empty), I am in bivouac here as part of my plan to survive as long as possible against the awful hostility of the modern world. My motivation, I hope you will understand, is not fear but the belief that the best hope of the innocent citizen lies in the preservation of fighting men such as myself, tempered in the fires of war since the distant days of Kaiser Bill and the Somme.

It is enough, one would think, that every day brings more reports of chaps setting fire to other chaps, of shootings and stabbings, mayhem on the motorways, kidnappings, violent robberies and shoplifting in liquor stores. But no - now we have citizens pillaged and plundered by their own political and business leaders, as witness the Rogers Cablevision incident, aided and abetted by the CRTC (Canadian Rights Trampled Completely). Now we are on the brink of allowing an aluminum and pollution producing corporation to make off with an entire river, fish and all. What next? Chief Executive Officers occupying children's wading pools? Vice Presidents down our wells? O, I say.

Yours in hiding,

Brig. Hugo (Huge) Wallop (Ret)

Dear Huge,

I think you have said it all. There is nothing I can add (in case I get into trouble). Ration yourself re: the beer keg, and keep a stiff upper lip.

Negative into positive

LANGLEY - The first meeting of Langley Gifted Children's Association will take place on January 19, at Wix-Brown Elementary, 23851 - 24 Ave. from 6:30 to 8:30. Registration is at 6:30 sharp with the guest speaker, Dianne Burnell starting at 7:00 with a talk about "turning negative behavior into positive." This will not be a children's night. For more information call Rae Desaulniers at 534-6343 or Daniela Bates at 856-5818.

FIRST AID TIPS!

POISONS

- every hour at least one child in B.C. is poisoned
- over 50% of all poisonings occur in children less than 5 years old
- most poisoning in children happens before lunch or dinner when they are hungry and less supervised
- most poisonings occur while the products are being used - not while they are stored
- the most common poisons in children are: cough/cold medicines, vitamins, flouride, antibiotics, cleaners and plants
- product labels may have first aid instructions that are incorrect
- "child-proof" caps are not child-PROOF, they are only child-RESISTANT

Sweet, delightful fluff

By LARA BRODIE

I.Q. was a delightfully enjoyable film. Tim Robbins seems to be having a pretty good year. Following his extraordinary performance in the unusually inspiring Stephen King-based movie, The Shawshank Redemption, he ended the year and opened Christmas day with an equally intriguing character. Robbins plays Ed Walters, he's an auto mechanic at Bob and Al's Automotive. He likes to read science magazines and his latest fascination is with the soon-to-pass-by Boyd's comet. As chance would have it, Ed meets the daughter of the man who discovered Boyd's comet, Catherine Boyd. Catherine (Meg Ryan) is a mathematician, her fiance, James Roland, is of equal calibre intelligence, unfortunately that appears to be his only interesting attribute. The two are driving along when what should happen? Car trouble. But that's ok, because they're close to a garage, Bill and Al's. Ed comes to serve them and is instantly smitten with Ms. Boyd. Since she leaves her pocket watch behind when she phoned for a taxi, Ed is given a reason to seek her out. Engaged or not, he is certain that Catherine is the women that he shall marry.

In his quest for Catherine, he meets her uncle, Albert Einsteinium himself (Walter Matthau). Upon meeting Einstein and his three eccentrically intelligent old friends, the laughs begin to pick up speed. The old gentlemen immediately like Ed and decide to help him win the love of Catherine. Set in her belief that she must marry a highly intelligent man in order to produce extremely intelligent children, Catherine has ignored the notion of love for a very long time. After meeting Ed she finds herself considering it. Does James love her? Does she love him? James Roland is a desperately unlikeable character. He is a scientist at the Paine Institute for Behavioral Studies and the audience gets to see how he treats his animal and human subjects. One man is locked in a small white room, he's yelping and screeching, James takes it as par for the course. He is studying the effects of time deprivation and ignores the subject's cries to be set fee. Sounds somewhat unethical.

The movie is sweet, harmless and very entertaining. The laughs are plenty and the silliness abounds, especially in the presence of the four old intellectuals. They perfectly balance the charm of Robbins and the naivete of Ryan. Though the overall romance is an unfulfilling aspect of the show, you'll enjoy yourself so much that you won't even notice.
