S. Shimobu called & sworn as interpreter for M. Miyasaka

At about 5 pm. of evening of 22nd July when tide was just falling was running with a W. wind below Aberdeen about ½ way between Aberdeen & Hotspring on Skeena River, ~~said~~ his partner Matsuchita was steering & tried to turn the sail from Port to Starboard side of boat, at that moment he was knocked off the boat by the main sheet, the rope probably being on wrong side of his body, as soon as Miyasaka noticed his partner knocked overboard he threw two boards & an oar thinking he might catch one of them, Miyasaka then tried to turn his boat back to the place where his partner fell overboard, but before he could reach the place his partner was out of sight; he tried in vain to find any trace of him so returned to S.R.C.Co. Cannery & told McKinnon & his house-bro about the occurance, who with other friends went over again to the spot where Matsusheta fell overboard & searched in vain; this was about 7 p.m. not blowing very hard; medium breeze.

Uzaka

Interpreter S. Shinobu

S Shinobu said that he made further search for the body on the morning of July 23rd with 12 others in company with him, but were unable to find any trace.

S Shiobara called & sworn as interpreter

for M. Miyasaka

/

Cet about 5 p.m. of evening of 22nd July when tide was just falling was running with a W. wind below Aberdeen about ½ way between Aberdeen

& Hoteruys on Chehalis River, I & Interpreter

Matsuchita was steering & tried to turn the sail from Port to Starboard side of boat, at that moment

he was knocked off the boat by the main sheet rope probably being on wrong side of his body, as soon as Miyasaka noticed his partner knocked overboard he threw him boards & an oar thinking he might catch one of them, Miyasaka then tried to turn his boat back to the place where his partner fell overboard, but before he could reach the place his partner was out of sight, – he tried in vain to find any trace of him so returned to S.R.C.Co. Cannery & told McKinnis his horse was about the occurance –, who with other friends went over again to the spot where Matsushita fell overboard & searched in vain; this was about 7 p.m. not blowing very hard, moderate breeze.

Uzuka

Interpreter S. Shinobu

S. Shinobu said that he made further search for the body on the morning of July 23rd with 12 others in company with him, but were unable to find any trace.