Dear Sir

A person named Julius Voight has applied for a Lease of a sandspit on the South side of English Bay, shown on the official Map as Navy Reserve. This piece of Land is about 20 acres in size, and is required by him for the cultivation of cranberries. but as it is included in your lease, would there be any objection to this person occupying it for a term of years for that purpose. I presume there is no timber on it and therefore comparatively useless to your Lessee.

I shall be obliged by an answer

Yours truly
H Whitsale
