REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF INSURANCE.

DEPARTMENT OF INSURANCE,
VICTORIA, B.C., July 2nd, 1942.

The Honourable R. L. Maitland, K.C., M.L.A.,
Attorney-General, Victoria, B.C.

SIR,—Pursuant to the "Insurance Act," I beg to submit the Thirty-first Annual Report of the Department of Insurance covering the year ended December 31st, 1941.

At that date 293 insurers were licensed under the Act to transact business. The following summary indicates the origin of the companies, how many held only Provincial licences, and how many had Dominion registry in addition to a Provincial licence:—

Where incorporated.	Provincial Licence.	Dominion Registry.	Total.
British Columbia	3	. .	3
Other Provinces	5	15	20
Canada	....	61	61
Great Britain	3	68	71
Australia	....	2	2
China	....	1	1
France	....	5	5
Hong Kong	1	2	3
Switzerland	....	4	4
United States	1	122	123
Totals	13	280	293
The comparative figures are for:
1940	12	281	293
1939	12	281	293

Six new insurers have been licensed during the year, namely:—

Canton Insurance Office, Limited.
General Security Insurance Company of Canada.
Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.
National Retailers Mutual Insurance Company.
Stanstead & Sherbrooke Insurance Company.
Western Union Insurance Company.

Six insurers ceased to do business in this Province during 1941, as follows:—

American Credit Indemnity Company, which, with the consent of its policyholders, is carrying its business to expiration.

Bee Fire Insurance Company of Paris, France, whose business was reinsured with the Prudential Assurance Company, Limited.

Commercial Life Assurance Company of Canada, which, with the consent of its policyholders, is continuing its contracts.

General Fire Insurance Company of Paris, France, whose assets and liabilities in Canada were acquired and assumed by the General Security Insurance Company of Canada, a Quebec company. Subsequently a new Dominion company of the same name as the Quebec company took over its assets and liabilities and is now the licensed insurer.

Stanstead & Sherbrooke Fire Insurance Company, Stock Mutual, a Quebec company, whose assets and liabilities were acquired and assumed by a new Dominion company called the "Stanstead & Sherbrooke Insurance Company."

Tokio Marine and Fire Insurance Company, Limited, which cancelled its contracts in the Province.

A complete list of licensed insurers will be found on pages 11 to 63. A similar list made up to December 31st, 1941, was printed for circulation and published in The British Columbia Gazette. The present list is therefore made up for the purposes of convenience to June 30th, 1942, in order that it may show the classes of insurance for which the insurers are now licensed.

On analysis the list shows that 35 companies were licensed for life insurance, 225 for fire insurance, 171 for automobile insurance, and 77 for marine insurance. These figures cover only the major classes of insurance, and it should be understood that the same company may be licensed, for example, for fire, automobile, and marine insurance.

The annual statements of the companies holding Provincial licences only are set forth at length on pages 65 to 75, as in previous years.

Only two fraternal societies are licensed, the Grand Council of Canadian Order of Chosen Friends and the Sons of Scotland Benevolent Association.

Nine underwriters' agencies, a list of which will be found on page 64, were licensed.

Nine reciprocal exchanges held permits under section 194 of the " Insurance Act," and are also listed on page 64.

New life insurance written in 1941 records a larger increase than in the previous three years. Preliminary figures go to show that the general rate of growth for Canada was 10 per cent. If that estimate is correct, then this Province has not secured its proportion of the new business. More employment with higher wages and greater circulation of money provided favourable conditions. The total amount disbursed in British Columbia was considerably lower than in the last two years, mainly due to fewer lapses and surrenders. The companies, however, are gradually being compelled to scale their premiums higher, as the rate of interest earned on their invested funds declines. For many years a " minimum earning power of 3½ per cent., and even 4 per cent., was regarded as a fairly conservative view and amply satisfied the legal requirements for reserves." To-day the companies have huge sums invested in war and other bonds, giving a low yield, and it is difficult to find adequate investments with higher returns. Two of the largest companies are now computing their reserves on a 2½- and 2¾-per-cent. basis, and probably all companies will be bound to take a similar step. It is a corollary of these conditions that the liberal " dividends " to which policyholders have been accustomed will have to be reduced.

An interesting sign of the times is the growth in the annuity branch of the business, indicating that the public appreciates the investment features of life insurance and feels that a safe income can be secured in that way. Then the number of women taking out life insurance steadily increases and it has been said that they hold on to their policies more tenaciously than men. It is significant, too, that more Canadian life companies are now entering the field of accident and sickness insurance. It is likely that at first their operations will be confined to group contracts in conjunction with group life contracts, but the expansion is a logical one.

The statistics abstracted from the annual statements and the five-year summary will be found at page 78, and the investments in the Province at page 99. For the benefit of those particularly interested, it should be pointed out that the arrangement of Tables I. and II. has been altered in the endeavour to secure practical uniformity with the statistics published by other Provincial departments of insurance. With the same object the statistics for fire, automobile, and other classes of insurance have also been set out differently.

The figures for fire insurance at pages 79 to 82 again disclose very satisfactory results. The loss ratio of 26.37 is a new record for the Province and the second lowest in Canada; Saskatchewan once more occupying first place. The volume of business was larger, but perhaps at first glance disappointing as not indicative of much growth. The increase here appears to have been rather below the average for Canada. The removal of the restriction on insurance of mercantile and manufacturing risks for a larger term than one year would tend to expand the income for 1941 at the expense of that for subsequent years, and would not necessarily involve new insurance. While values have in recent years recovered and the amounts at risk moved upwards, there has been a steady fall in rates. The improvement in the loss ratio made that inevitable, but the process has been accentuated by sharp competition. Some companies realized the facts earlier than others and more quickly adjusted their charges to the change in conditions. In this respect the companies not belonging to any Board had an advantage. Organizations are apt to be conservative in their outlook and at times too rigid in their structure. Insurance must respond to altered circumstances like any other large business serving the public. There is a forward-looking school of thought both in Canada and the United States which holds that the business of insurance needs a thorough overhaul and a good deal of modernization.

Some pertinent observations are contained in a striking review of British insurance in the "War Period and Afterwards," by Mr. A. E. Morgan, President of the Insurance Institute of London. "We" (that is the insurance business), he says, "are a national asset and our first duty is so to conduct ourselves that we first discharge that primary liability . . . Insurance of necessity permeates the whole of commercial endeavour. The flexibility and adaptability which has to be exercised in the transaction of the business is such that it cannot wait on hide-bound red tape . . . The future is bristling with problems, the solution of which . . . can only be brought about on the best basis possible, by each section recognizing that we have a common obligation to discharge." The public has become aware of the real necessity of insurance and its value and could easily be made more so. But insurance should not be sold as a mere commodity, and the methods of the market are unsuitable. The root principle of insurance is to save people from suffering great loss and is founded on a basis of contributions to a common fund by a large number of persons. The philosophy of it is mutuality—co-operation and sharing—and that is the direction in which the future of insurance lies. The public should be able to feel that they are partners in a joint enterprise and not merely buying something—for which an equivalent will some day be demanded—from a vendor whose chief aim is to make profits. Perhaps we shall learn some lessons from the war.

The experience in automobile insurance was satisfactory. The loss ratio of 47.53 per cent. is an improvement on that of nearly 52 per cent. for 1940. Premiums again increased by an amount approximately equivalent to the average increase for Canada. The losses incurred exhibit only a small decline. Premiums for the current year are likely to diminish in view of the restrictions on the use of cars. It is to be hoped that theft of tires will not become prevalent; it is a mean thing and the magistrates will be heartily supported by the public opinion if they impose severe punishment.

Notwithstanding the war and other good reasons, the public, both automobilist and pedestrian, have not progressed far in learning that the automobile can be a dangerous instrument. The Travelers Insurance Company compiles each year an exhaustive and diagrammatic record of automobile accidents in the United States; in 1941, 40,000 persons were killed there, nearly 1,500,000 injured, and more than 1,000,000 cars damaged. A foreword to the booklet says: "The nation, if it is to succeed in its victory program, simply cannot afford a continuation of this waste of life, of man-hours, of hospital space, of machinery and of morale . . . The record of death and injury is one that should leave every American with a sense of shame and should move every one of us to resolve that it shall never happen again." Canada and British Columbia can take those words to heart—especially the concluding words. The car could not be blamed; over 90 per cent. in the United States were in good mechanical condition. Now the car will be an important factor. Every car on the road will be used as long as it will travel and the tires hold out. No doubt gas rationing, no replacement of tires, and the speed-limit of 40 miles will combine to reduce the casualty record. That is not enough; the record talks only in cold figures. It is the human factor alone which can resolve to do better.

Table VII. for miscellaneous insurance has been in part rearranged and new subclassifications are now separately shown for aircraft insurance and personal property insurance. In former years the figures have stated gross premiums written and gross losses paid. In order that Provincial statistics may be uniform the amounts recorded represent net premiums written and net losses incurred, and Table VIII. must be read with that change in mind. In the classes of accident, sickness, public-liability, and property-damage insurance there was improvement, and the reverse in the case of plate-glass and employers' liability insurance. Aircraft and marine insurance proved very unprofitable, while the returns on guarantee, theft, and inland-transportation business were very satisfactory. The business of the new sub-class of personal-property insurance was formerly included under property-damage insurance and some of it under inland-transportation insurance.

The periodical census taken in 1941 showed a population of 11,500,000. It occurred to me that a kind of census in outline of the chief classes of insurance would be of interest from several standpoints. The years taken are 1922 and 1940 and it may be first stated that the population after the census of 1921 was about 8,500,000 so that the increase by 1940 was roughly 3,000,000. All figures stated will be understood to be approximate.

Life Insurance.	Canada.		British Columbia.
	1922.	1940.	1922.	1940.
Premiums (in millions)	$107	$204	$7	$15
Amount in force (in millions)	$3,000	$7,000	$203	$469
Number of companies	42	41	36	37

Life insurance has thus grown faster than the population and the amount per capita has increased from $365 to nearly $700.

Fire Insurance.	Canada.		British Columbia.
	1922.	1940.	1922.	1940.
Premiums (in millions)	$51	$42	$4.7	$4.3
Amount at risk (in millions)	$6,500	$12,000	.....	.....
Average premium per $100	$1.06	$0.66	.....	.....
Loss ratio (per cent.)	68	37	44	29
Number of companies	172	278	143	223

It is remarkable that the volume of premiums was smaller in 1940 than in 1922, not only in this Province, but for Canada, while the amount at risk has nearly doubled. The drop in the average premium rate is a partial explanation. It will be noticed that the number of companies competing for the business has increased by about one-third.

Automobile Insurance.	Canada.		British Columbia.
	1922.	1940.	1922.	1940.
Premiums	$3,600,000	$20,900,000	$655,000	$2,700,000
Loss ratio (per cent.)	36	50	46	51
Number of companies	85	170	74	167

This class of insurance exhibits striking expansion, as might have been expected. The competition has, as with fire insurance, become severe. In fact, it is conceded that there are too many companies not only in the Province but in Canada.

Notwithstanding the considerable increase in the coverage on the people and property of Canada, it is often claimed that both are underinsured. The claim is asserted as a general proposition; it has a more particular application to-day when values tend to rise and replacement is difficult, if not impossible. In the broad sense the public is more aware of the need for and benefit of insurance against the diverse vicissitudes of life and, concurrently, becomes perhaps more claim-minded. Insurance is to-day an important element in the cost-of-living budget; probably many persons would gladly carry more. Undoubtedly there is ample scope for expansion of business. But, as the saying goes, "the price must be right." The policyholder, too, must feel satisfied that he is protected and, when misadventure or misfortune befalls, not be disappointed to find that the risk was not covered.

The aim of the insurance companies should be to make their policies more and more comprehensive and, as they do, so they will find a more responsive market. An English insurance paper called "The Policy" carried last year an article entitled "Has the Insurance World any Thinkers?" The theme was that many insurance-men seemed to envisage a complete return after the war to pre-war business, whereas vast changes were inevitable. If national freedom is the outward aspect of this cataclysmic war, social security is the inward aspect. "Is it not true," says the article, "that in those two words you have almost the entire concept of insurance?"

Insurance, of course, has some thinkers and as a result of the efforts of those who established and have carried on the work of the Insurance Institute of Vancouver, British Columbia, will, I am convinced, add to their number. The Institute was founded in 1929, possesses a library of about 1,000 volumes, and from November to April provides lectures voluntarily given. The heartiest congratulations are merited by all who have devoted their time to so valuable an organization. The course lasts three years, but there are examinations at the end of each year, and diplomas are awarded. Nearly 1,000 students have taken the examinations and many from this Province have achieved conspicuous successes in competition with students from other parts of North America. There are other Institutes in Canada and the United States and the graduates should surely prove a powerful and fertile factor in the future of insurance. The time is approaching when licences may only be granted to those who have received or are receiving education and training in the business.

If the amount of tax collected is a criterion, the volume of unlicensed insurance continues to increase. The receipts were for 1939–40, $13,653; for 1940–41, $16,213; and for 1941–42, $25,254. The years are fiscal years. In view of the number of companies, excessively large, which compete for the business available, the figures are rather surprising.

The number of insurance agents, salesmen, and adjusters has once more diminished, as appears from the table below:—

Licences issued to.	1941.	1940.	1939.	1938.	1937.
Life insurance agents	1,016	1,019	1,238	1,330	1,301
Other than life insurance agents	1,121	1,160	1,203	1,175	1,163
Insurance salesmen	624	679	797	936	904
Insurance adjusters	28	27	25	26	27
Employees of insurance adjusters	19	21	23	23	20
Totals	2,808	2,996	3,286	3,490	3,415

Unquestionably the war is largely responsible as it has depleted the ranks of eligible young men, and there is a marked tendency for older men to return to the business. Only twenty-three women were licensed for life insurance, while for other classes of insurance seventy-nine held licences as agents and forty as salesmen. The figures for 1940 and the current year are approximately the same.

The Association of Superintendents of Insurance for the Provinces met last year in Toronto. The subject of exclusion of war risks was discussed at length. A new condition was recommended for addition to the statutory conditions for automobile policies, and that was enacted here at the recent session. The same condition has been or will in all probability be enacted by other Provinces. A similar condition has existed in the statutory fire conditions for many years. It has been admitted everywhere that war damage is not a normal insurable hazard.

In contradistinction to insurance the number of real-estate agents and salesmen has again increased and, as in insurance, many older men have taken out licences. Twenty-two women were licensed as agents and thirteen as salesmen, about the same numbers as in 1940 and the present year. The record of licences is as follows:—

Licences issued to.	1941–42.	1940–41.	1939–40.	1938–39.	1937–38.
Real estate agents	577	551	528	522	505
Real-estate salesmen	473	432	355	349	340
Totals	1,050	983	883	871	845

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your obedient servant,

H. G. GARRETT,
Superintendent of Insurance.
