TRACK LAYERS HUSTLING

They Now Have a Clear Way Almost into Cascade.

MR. TYE WALKED FROM THE TUNNEL

He Gives Some Interesting Details About the Work on the New Railway Line to Readers of the Record.

William F. Tye, chief engineer, and John G. Sullivan, chief assistant engineer of the Columbia & Western railway, arrived in Cascade Thursday evening. They were making a tour of the new railway line, for the purpose of inspecting the work thus far accomplished. From West Robson to the long tunnel it was a simple matter, as work trains were running that far, but from the tunnel to Cascade, these high officials in the engineering department of this branch of the C. P. R. made the journey on foot—thus being able to take in every detail of the construction to date. In company with J. W. Stewart, one of the firm of contractors for the building of the line, Messrs. Tye and Sullivan left yesterday morning to continue the trip to the end of the line at Midway, 40 miles beyond Cascade.

"It is the most difficult piece of road-building ever attempted in Canada," said Mr. Tye to a Record representative, who was accorded an interview. He then went on and gave a most interesting account of the work thus far accomplished.

It was February 1st, 1898, when Mr. Tye landed at the mouth of Dog creek, on Lower Arrow lake, with a force of engineers, and began the work of running the location lines for this railway, the contract for which was soon to be let, although few were aware of it at that time. Some idea of the difficulties to be overcome by the engineers may be gained when it is remembered that on this survey 100 pairs of snowshoes were worn out. The contract for the 105 miles was let to Mann, Foley Bros. & Larson in June, 1898, and active construction at once begun.

Mr. Tye divided his engineers into four divisions of about twenty-five miles each. The first was under F. M. Young, whose work is now done, and he is out near Penticton; the second is under George Farr, with a camp at the Summit; the third is in charge of Oscar Englund, at Cascade, while F. M. Rice, located at Greenwood, is division engineer for the balance of the line. Mr. Tye or Mr. Sullivan are frequently over the line of construction, with a general supervision of the work.

In regard to the track laying, the progress of which is now attracting wide attention, Mr. Tye stated that the rails were now down on both sides of the switchback, had reached the bridge at Quinn creek, and were coming on towards Cascade at the rate of about a mile per day. The bridges at Quinn creek and Porcupine creek, being practically completed, will not occasion much delay. Then there is a completed roadbed till a point near Gladstone is reached, where bridge men already at work will have the high trestles in that locality ready for the ribs of steel by the time the track gets that far.

At Sutherland creek and Baker creek, emptying into Christina lake, which are crossed on wooden bridges also, no delay is anticipated. It is expected that the main part of the 1000 foot bridge over Kettle river at Cascade will be in place in a couple of weeks. The two spans will not be put in at present, but false work will be used in their place—probably this year.

NOTES OF THE WORK.

McLean Bros. are now in about 800 feet all told in their 3000 foot tunnel, and after a long series of most vexatious delays twelve drills of the compressor plant are now at work on the 16x21 foot bore through the mountain. The workmen are now in hard rock, and good progress should be made from now on.

Plans for the commodious station and freight house, to be erected in Cascade, have been prepared and forwarded to the head office in Montreal. The plans include everything needful for a town several times the size of Cascade. Work will undoubtedly be started on the structure before long.

It is expected that contracts will be let shortly for the posts for the 45 miles of fencing that will be necessary for the new line from Cascade on.

Today Paymaster Woodman starts out to distribute bank checks to the workmen on the line, of which there 2500 for the month of April. He goes to Midway first and then to Brooklyn.

Setting Poles and Stringing Wires.

The Columbia Telephone Company, who have the poles for their new line distributed from Cascade to Camp McKinney, began this week the work of setting poles and stringing wires. A force of twenty or thirty men camped down near the bridge, and already have the poles set into Cascade from the boundary line. The work is being superintended by Mr. Donald, and will be pushed as rapidly as possible to an early completion. Angus Cameron, who will have charge of the Cascade office, has been directed to secure the necessary lumber and fit the office up at once in the new building on First avenue which he is now putting up, and which will also be used for the post-office.

All Cotton and a Yard Wide.

The B. C. Syndicate store has received a consignment of red, white and blue bunting, for decorative purposes. It is all cotton and a yard wide. The price at which it is sold, six cents per yard, is so low that every one in Cascade can afford to decorate for the Queen's birthday.

READY FOR CELEBRATION

Horses Now on the Way to Race for the $150 Prizes.

OCCASION WILL BRING BIG CROWDS

General Meeting of All Committees Will Take Place at the Cascade Auditorium To-night to Complete Final Details.

Nearly everything is now ready for the celebration of the Queen's birthday, to be held in Cascade next Wednesday. This evening a meeting of all the committees is called to take place at the Cascade Auditorium at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of arranging the exact time and place for each event to take place, and such other details as may come up. A full attendance is specially requested.

During the last week considerable correspondence has been had with outside towns, and everything points to there being a large attendance from all neighboring places. Members of the general finance committee have visited Rossland, Bossburg, Grand Forks and Columbia, and have been agreeably surprised to learn of the interest being taken all over in the celebration. The chances are that hotel accommodations in Cascade on the night of the 24th will be taxed to their utmost capacity.

In the horse race there is likely to be some flyers. Inquiries have come in from several places—Republic, Bossburg, Grand Forks, Rossland and elsewhere, and two horses are now en route from Rossland. This promises to be the most interesting of all the events.

The other races will also doubtless be well patronized, as they are being talked up by those most interested. The details of the various sports will be gone into at tonight's meeting, and judges appointed as far as possible.

The cornet band from Bossburg will arrive Tuesday evening, and Director Watkins has notified the secretary that there will be 14 pieces instead of 12, as originally arranged.

Considerable work has been done on the baseball grounds, and it is expected that an interesting game will take place. The Bossburg baseball club is expected, and probably one from Grand Forks. Another feature that will undoubtedly create merriment will be the friendly tug of war beeween the hotel keepers of Grand Forks and those of Cascade. The Grand Forks Miner says that the landlords of that town are expected to give a good account of themselves.

From now on every man in Cascade should let no stone go unturned to see that the greatest kind of a success is made of the celebration. Streets should be cleaned up, buildings decorated and everything put in apple pie order.

Hughes Was Released.

Fred'k K. Hughes, who was arrested in Cascade on December 22nd, charged with passing a worthless check, had his trial before Judge Spinks at Midway a few days ago and was released, as no one appeared to prosecute. Hughes was sent up for trial from this city, the chief witness being Matthew Miller, a laundry man, on whom he had passed the $75 check that had been pronounced worthless by the bank of B. N. A. at Rossland. Miller had since gone to the United States.

Two large banners will welcome visitors, one at either end of the town, next Wednesday.

IN AND AROUND CASCADE.

Do not miss the Watkins concert on Monday and Tuesday at the Auditorium.

Wm. Meadows, of Cascade, has been appointed local agent of the Columbia Stage Co.

Mrs. Wm. Wolverton, who has been spending several weeks at Spokane, returned to Cascade on Thursday evening.

The Cascade Saw Mill Co. has finished the contract for cutting bridge timbers, with the exception of the ties and some girders.

A number of buildings in town are being greatly improved by painting. This week the Scandia hotel is being favored in this way.

I. Langley, of Winnipeg, father-in law of S. F. Quinlivan of Cascade, is in the city, looking for a location for the tailoring business.

N. McLellan made a trip to Grand Forks, Columbia and Greenwood this week, and returned quite well satisfied with the outlook in Cascade.

James McGregor, provincial inspector of mines, has been formerly notified that the government will enforce the eight-hour law after June 12th.

J. S. Woodruff, of Chicago, a boyhood friend of A. Chandler, has been making his first visit to Cascade and the Boundary country this week.

C. K. Milbourne, manager of the Dominion Mining, Agency and Development Co., Ltd., owners of the Cascade water power, arrived in town last night.

John Sinclair, of Rossland, an old timer in this section, who has been spending several days in the Burnt Basin, visited Cascade yesterday, and was most enthusiastic over the mineral showings of the Basin.

It is reported that the British American corporation, whose expert recently visited the Mother Lode in the Burnt Basin, has decided to take over that group and operate it extensively. This will be good news to those interested in Basin properties.

The new cut-off, on the Bossburg-Cascade wagon road, whereby the bad piece down the big canyon is avoided, is constantly used now and much appreciated by teamsters. It was done by Stevens county officials, who are said to have 900 miles of wagon roads to look after.

No settlement has yet been made between James Gill, whose leg was broken March 12th by being thrown out of a Columbia stage, near Hall's, and the owners of the line. A lawsuit will probably result. Mrs. Gill started for California this morning, her husband being able to be around.

G. T. Curtis started last Wednesday with a force of men for properties on Sutherland creek. Before he returns he intends to stake the famous free gold lost mine on that creek, staked first ten years ago, which he claims to have found. Many searches have been made in the past for this property without success.

Every one should attend the entertainment to be given Monday and Tuesday by the Watkins Family Concert Co., for the benefit of the celebration fund. The entertainment is said to be refined and highly humorous and largely of a musical character. Prof. Watkins, Mrs. Watkins, Master Guy and Baby Laura Watkins will appear, assisted by C. Claire in solos and specialties. The company come to Cascade well recommended. Admission 50 cents. See small hand bills.

Licensing Court at Cascade June 15.

Chief License Inspector Darraugh of this city, has selected June 15th as the date of the meeting of the board of license commissioners of Rossland riding, which will be held in Cascade. There are 60 or 70 licenses, outside of incorporated towns, now in existence, and the majority have applied for renewals. Roughly speaking, Trail has 18, Brooklyn 5, between Brooklyn and Cascade 9, Cascade 12, and 18 or 20 west of Cascade. Each applicant for a license must attend the court in person.

Christina Creek Bridge Raised.

In accordance with arrangements made with the Taxpayers' Association, contractor D. D. Ferguson, with A. Chandler, president of the Cascade Development Co., and a force of men, yesterday finished the work of raising the wagon bridge over Christina creek, so that the steamer Myrtle B. can make trips from the lake down to this city. Three spans of the bridge were raised four feet six inches, and it is expected that the steamer will come down to Cascade tomorrow for the first time.

TENDERS WANTED.

To remove the building occupied as the Custom House, from lot 5, block 8, to lot 6, block 18, east of the Hotel Cascade. Written tenders only will be considered, and should be lodged with G. C. Rose by May 26th. No offer necessarily accepted.

IN AND AROUND CASCADE.

Grand Forks is now talking about building an electric railway.

The merchants of Cascade now close their places of business on Sundays.

T. E. Mahaffy returned on Tuesday from a business trip to the upper Boundary country.

The Nelson & Vernon Telephone Co. are operating an exchange in Greenwood, and will soon install one at Grand Forks.

C. Homer and W. Rosamond, of Engineer Englund's camp, left on Tuesday to join Engineer Rice's party at Greenwood.

Roman Catholic services were held in the school house on Wednesday morning and evening, by Rev. Father Palmer, M. A., Ph. D.

The Inland Telephone Co., now building a loop from Bossburg to Russell, have begun setting poles and stringing wire. About six or seven miles of the line are now completed.

Alexander F. McDonald has secured the contract for street grading in Grand Forks, embracing some 14,500 yards, at 55 cents per yard. The bond required is in the sum of $2,500.

A wagon road is being built up the North Fork of Kettle river to Volcanic and Pathfinder mountains, which will greatly facilitate the development of mining properties in that locality.

Last Wednesday the two stage lines brought 42 passengers from Bossburg and Marcus into the Boundary country, and then a number were left at Bossburg, who could not find seats.

Donald McLeod returned from Brooklyn Tuesday, where he superintended the removal of the commissary store of the railway contractors to a point on the track near West Robson.

The heavy rains this week have made the wagon road from Cascade to Bossburg once more the terror of freighters and teamsters generally. In the swamps especially much trouble is experienced.

John Spargo, a laborer, was killed by a cave-in at the Jewel mine, in Long Lake camp, last week. Thomas Edwards was also hurt, but is recovering. Mining Inspector McGregor has been looking into the causes of the fatality.

V. Monnier last week made a wager of $100 with Oscar Stenstrom that the first smelter in the Boundary would be erected in Cascade. He states that he is not shaken in the least in his faith of winning by the announcement of Jay P. Graves having selected a smelter site near Grand Forks.

W. F. Anderson, travelling passenger agent for the C. P. R., stopped over in the Gateway City on Tuesday, on his return from a trip through the Boundary country. While on his way through he appointed E L. Beer as ticket agent for Columbia, and A. Bremner as agent at Cascade.

Elsie Parks has sued the Columbia Stage Co. for $1000 for the loss of a trunk. The case was called in the county court last week, but was adjourned to the next session. It has excited a good deal of interest. Cayley & Cochrance appeared for the defendent and Messrs. Gault and Sutton for the plaintiff.

HONORED FOR EIGHTY YEARS.

"The Queen! God bless her, and many happy returns of the day," will, we hope, be the toast and the wish of every resident and visitor in Cascade on Wednesday next; and those gathered together in respectful jubilation need hesitate not one second to consider whether or not they be American, British, Canadian or foreign, for, judged either as woman, mother, octogenarian, queen or empress, she stands and reigns supreme; worshipped alike, worthily and deservedly, by the simple cottage folk of Balmoral, as by the great ones "chosen of the people," gathered round her throne in the "places of the most high."

And Cascade, one of the newest of the new, will not be alone on Wednesday next in celebrating the birthday of the greatest of the old, and in honoring the queen she will be more than honoring herself and adding one pure note to the glad pæan of joy and praise which will, like Puck's belt, encircle the globe.

It is beyond most of us to achieve distinction; it may be almost past our own capacity to detect worth in ourselves, but the most obscure and worthless among us can have no excuse for not knowing, admiring and honoring the worth, benevolence, tact and greatness of Her Majesty our queen.

The hotel keepers of the province generally are anything but pleased at some of the provisions of the new license law, which was brought about by Hon. Joseph Martin, the attorney-general. In places of less than 50 inhabitants, they formerly paid $60 per year for a license; now it is $100. In the vicinity of places having more than 50 people, they must pay $200 per year as before. But all applicants must send in a fee of $10 with the application—which has has not been required heretofore.

If either of the stage lines can explain why they deliver passengers at Bossburg from three to four hours before the arrival of trains, the Record would be pleased to hear it. The travelling public would appreciate an extra hour or two in bed at 4 or 5 a.m., and an hour's leeway for delay would certainly be ample for all probable contingencies.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

With the last issue the Grand Forks Miner was three years old. It bears on its face many evidences of prosperity.

Visitors to Cascade on the Queen's birthday will be assured of a hearty welcome. From letters received they will come from every point of the compass.

The establishment of a recording office in Cascade would please and accommodate mining men in this vicinity more than any other one thing the government could do just now.

Unless all signs fail, Cascade will be thronged with visitors next Wednesday. That they will go away with a favorable opinion of the town and its enterprising inhabitants, goes without saying.

Old Winter has been lingering in the lap of spring this year until most people are heartily tired of it. If the weather clerk cannot make a better job of it than he has of late, he would do well to resign.

Grand Forks has a near-by smelter site selected and Columbia is an incorporated town. Both have their greatest desires. Now would be a good time for them to kiss, let by-gones be dog-gones and make up.

A subscriber asks the Record if Joe Martin is the only one who has anything to say in the British Columbia government. Well, its hard to say, but appearances indicate that he is pretty nearly the whole push.

Last Saturday Jay P. Graves selected a site for his long-talked-of smelter, on the North Fork of Kettle river, about a mile from the town of Grand Forks. A site for the C. P. R. smelter in Cascade was selected five months ago.

Rumors that the joint high commission would not meet, as arranged, in August, have proved groundless, and there is reason to believe that some of the trade differences between Canada and the United States will be adjusted

The Toronto Telegram thinks that when Hewitt Bostock failed to withdraw his anti-pass bill at the bidding of Sir Wilfred Laurier, he showed that he was tired of being stepped on every time his party wants to rest its feet on something soft.

In the Dominion parliament the redistribution bill does not help southern British Columbia in the least, the dispatches stating that in this province the representation "will-remain unchanged." If this is not altered by amendment, Mr. Bostock will still have the fast-developing Yale-Cariboo-Kootenay constituency to look after—enough for two or three good men.

It is announced that the West Kootenay Light & Power Co. will extend its electric service into the Boundary country by way of the Dewdney trail. This means that the trail will be kept clear all the way to Cascade--which has not been done for a year or two.

The enforcement of the eight-hour working law, which is to be put in force June 12th, is more than likely to make a lot of trouble in the mining section of British Columbia. The minister of mines, who is the author of the act, will find that he has stirred up a pretty hornet's nest.

BY THE WAYSIDE

One of the publishers of the Record happened to meet an official of the C. P. R. last Saturday, and was assured by that gentleman that he had just been informed by a smelter official of the great corporation, who is in a position to know, that the building of the Cascade smelter was absolutely assured, and that the delay in starting operations was merely a question of details. While this is in accord with the ideas of the Record on this subject, we merely give the opinion for what it is worth. At the same time, it should be remembered that much of the so-called smelter news is really of little or no value. But, as Rudyard Kipling would say, that is another story.

A few weeks ago the Record called attention to the flotation of properties of questionable value in Camp McKinney, on the reputation of such mines as the great Cariboo. Here is the opinion of the British Columbia Mining Record, a recognized authority, on the subject:

"It is greatly to be regretted that the prosperity of such a promising mining camp as Camp McKinney should, as now seems inevitable, be seriously retarded by the practices of the unscrupulous "wildcatter" which we have noticed during the past few months. On the reputation of the Cariboo, the Waterloo and the Fontenoy very many claims have been sold to new companies floated for that purpose and in many cases the hypothetical presence of the Cariboo vein on the new company's ground has been used to wheedle subscriptions from the pockets of an all-too-gullible public. If the celebrated Cariboo vein were to run into all the ground in which its presence is claimed then Camp McKinney would be a geological wonder indeed, for it is said to be in all sorts of impossible places and the most absurd reasons are given in support of the statement. Besides these claims purporting to have the Cariboo vein, many other properties unimproved and undeveloped, often staked on the snow, have been unscrupulously foisted on a public which does not understand that there are worthless as well as valuable mineral claims in every mining camp. So far has wildcat work been carried in Camp McKinney that we believe several of the properties thus sold would only fulfil the better half of Mark Twain's celebrated definition, 'A mine is a hole in the ground, and the owner thereof is a liar.'"

That the C. P. R. recognizes the strategic importance of the location of Cascade is generally recognized. Additional evidence of this is found in the fact that steps will soon be taken by that company to ascertain the feasibility of bringing light draft steamers down from Christina lake to the door of Cascade. The idea is to bring the Christina lake ores to this point as economically as possible, and it is believed this can be done more cheaply by water than by the railway, which is located in places at a high elevation above the lake. Captain Troup, of the C. P. R. Kootenay fleet, has been requested to look into this matter and give his opinion. It will thus be noted that the C. P. R. fully appreciates the possibilities of ore tonnage on Christina lake, and will take the initial steps towards providing for it when it is offered.

The townsite owners are fully cognizant of what it means to bring the lake trade to this city without transfer by water, and are confident that it can be accomplished by the construction of a dam in Kettle river, below the confluence of that stream with Christina creek, thereby giving sufficient depth of water in the latter stream at all seasons. It is understood that it is the intention of the townsite company to undertake the putting in of this dam in time for use for the purpose indicated. Such an improvement would add greatly to the commercial importance of this city.

No one has yet risen to explain why the two stage lines, operating between Cascade and Bossburg, should get passengers down to the latter place from two to three hours before either up or down train arrives at that town. To most people an hour or two additional spent in bed would be vastly preferable to spending at the railway town with nothing in particular to do. The claim that allowance for accidents and delays in crossing the Columbia is needful, may be all right, but surely a leeway of three hours for either or both of these contingencies is uncalled for. Here is an opportunity for both lines to get the good will of the travelling public by acting on the suggestion referred to.

On another page of this issue of the Record will be found an article on the Similkameen district, from the pen of R. E. Gosnell, who is reported to have lately purchased a controlling interest in the Boundary Creek Times. Just at this time, when so many prospectors and mining men are turning their attention towards this rich section, this information will be peculiarly appropriate. The rich lodes of the Similkameen have been known to exist for years, but their inaccessibility has effectually barred exploration or development to any extent. The district now, however, promises to come rapidly to the front.

If indications count for anything at all, at this writing, Cascade will be crowded with strangers next Wednesday, who will be here to take part in the celebration. Several loads will be here from Bossburg, including the cornet band and the baseball club; Gladstone will be depopulated on that day; a number will come from Greenwood, Republic and Columbia, while Grand Forks—well, its people will forget all about the Columbia fight for a day and give themselves the pleasure of honoring Queen Victoria at the Gateway City, and the Record predicts that they will all have a good time.

Mail Now Goes Out Much Earlier.

This week the Columbia Stage Co. has inaugurated a new schedule which, in one respect, is anything but pleasing. One of the vehicles runs through to Bossburg in the afternoon, leaving Cascade about 2:30. This is not so bad, if the stage company, who has the mail carrying contract, did not insist on carrying the outgoing mails at the same time. That is to say, a letter must be mailed here a little after noon, instead of by 8 p. m., to reach its destination at the same time as formerly.

An early morning stage is still sent out, that has from three to four hours to spare at Bossburg to make connections with both trains, but the Columbia Stage Company, in its usual high-handed way, purposes to carry the mail whenever it likes. It evidently voices the sentiment attributed to W. K. Vanderbilt, viz., "The public be d——d." And it is losing business every day by just such methods.

Another Rich District Close to Cascade.

The Bossburg Journal calls attention to a section on the reservation which has until recently been neglected as far as mine development goes, viz., the Deep Creek neighborhood near the international boundary line, about four miles south of Cascade. It is now one of the latest attractions in mining circles, and the indications are that this section will show up something this season that will create a stir up there. The ledges are wide and prominent, and are composed of soft quartz, with serpentine formation. The surface assays are comparatively high, running from $9 to $23 in gold and silver. The Virginia Mining Co., which is getting ready to work its Deep Creek property, has a fine showing, having obtained an assay from near the surface going $19 in gold and 16 ounces in silver. There are several other properties in that section which will be extensively developed this season. When the reservation was first opened the ground in that locality was all staked by a few wholesale locators who did no work, and delayed the development of that rich section. Most of the ground was relocated last January and is now claimed by people who will push development.

IN THE RICH SIMILKAMEEN

One of the Coming Mineral Sections of the Province.

HAS SOME IMMENSE COPPER LEDGES

Description of the District and Something of the Promising Claims That are Already Located There.

One district that is drawing a great deal of attention at present from a mining standpoint is the section known as the Similkameen, which is practically in the same mineral belt as the Boundary creek country. The following was written by R. E. Gosnell in regard to this district:

As is well known the Similkameen is not a new country. It was first explored in the early days by placer miners and a considerable quantity of gold was taken out from along the Similkameen rivers and their tributaries. Long ago, too, it was known by old timers that very large ore bodies existed there, and it was predicted then that it would some day become a great mining camp. In fact, the hopes of many were nailed to that district long before the ore bodies of the Kootenay were known to exist.

Twelve years ago, a settler from the Similkameen valley described to the writer the mountains of ore which existed there, and descanted enthusiastically on the wealth that would be taken therefrom. Large hydraulic plants are now being worked in various parts of the district adjacent to Copper Mountain, and within a radius of a few miles of Princeton, which some day will occupy a prominent position in relation to the whole of that country.

It is situated about 100 miles south of Kamloops, and about twelve miles east of Granite creek, the recording centre of the Similkameen district. It is also on the surveyed line of the Victoria, Vancouver & Eastern railway, and sooner or later it is conceded that a line more closely connecting the Interior with the Coast will yet be constructed. There are hopes, too, that a railway will be extended from here to a point on the main line of the C. P. Ry., probably Spence's Bridge.

It is only lately that this district attracted any large number of prospectors. During the summer of 1897 a large number went in, with the result that at Copper and Kennedy mountains, some ten miles from Princeton, very large copper ledges were discovered. As will be observed later on, these ore bodies also contained very considerable values in gold and some in silver. I am indebted to a friend for some particulars of these claims, given as the result of an examination by a competent and reliable mining engineer, who thoroughly inspected all the properties referred to.

The first location made was the Sunset claim, on which several hundred dollars were expended. It showed such prospects of the makings of a mine that prospectors from Rossland and the Boundary district flocked in, and many locations were made, although there still remained a good deal of ground untouched. The little work already done has proved the country to be so rich in copper that the attention of capitalists has already been directed thither. The Sunset claim is developed by a 43-foot shaft, and is in solid ore with no walls. An average assay taken from the bottom of the shaft ran 14 per cent. in copper with $2 to $3 in gold. This claim is controlled by the B. A. C.

The Sunrise has two shafts, 10 and 26 feet in depth respectively, disclosing an ore body 30 feet in width running the full length of the claim, average assays running 27 per cent. in copper and $4 to $10 in gold.

The Copper Farm is developed by a 30-foot shaft, with average assays of 20 per cent. in copper.

The Helen H. Gardner has an open cut 300 feet in length, showing an enormous copper-bearing ledge, the width of which is not yet determined. There are also two shafts on this claim, 48 and 30 feet respectively in depth, with average assay of 11 per cent. in copper.

The Primrose Boy, averaging 17 per cent. in copper. The copper bluff has exposed on it one of the best ledges on the mountain. It is a chalcopyritic ore with large kidneys of bornite in the shaft, assaying 54 per cent. in copper and 20 oz in silver.

Canada Mountain, which is a spur of Copper Mountain, separated by the Similkameen river, has deposits similar in character but is less developed. Few claims have more than one assessment done on them.

The Brooklyn has 15 per cent. in copper and $7 in gold, with a solid body of ore at the depth of 10 feet. The Magnetic returns similar values, while the Invincible goes $12 27 all values.

The Key West and Lela are also properties of apparently great merit. The Lela exposes on the surface a 60-foot ledge, assays showing total values of copper, gold and silver of $32 at a depth of 10 feet. The formation is dioretic with ledge matter of porphyritic quartz, impregnated with chalcopyrite, showing malacite and arsenic. The Key West adjoins the Lela, but it is crossed by the ledge now opened on Bornite and Princeton claims, assays from which have given 13 per cent. in copper at 10 feet deep.

The nearest railway transportation to this district is the main line of the C. P. R., at Spence's Bridge, a distance of 110 miles. A good wagon road at present connects Princeton with that point. About eight miles west of Princeton some valuable free gold quartz ledges were discovered in 1896, the character of which is very similar to that of the celebrated Republic mine in the state of Washington.

The Manila claim is situated on the north side of the Tulameen river, eight miles west of Princeton. An average assay from thirty different openings across the entire width of 26 feet ledge gives $30 in gold. At another point on the same ledge it gives $18 in gold. The ore can be stamped and treated on the ground successfully by the cyanide process. Numerous coal deposits have been found in the district, the nearest being only three miles from Copper mountain. Several coal pits have been opened up near Princeton. Similkameen river also affords excellent water power, necessary for the operation of a smelter. It may also be added that the Tulameen Valley is a good farming country, in which there are a number of valuable ranches, so that until railway transportation is completed all the necessaries of life ought to be obtainable.

MINES AND MINING

Another rich ledge was recently uncovered on the Winnipeg.

Surface assays of $9.00 have been obtained on the Two Brothers, in Providence camp. It shows a ledge twenty feet wide.

W. S. Lenning is calling for tenders for doing 100 feet of work on the Carmi, a West Fork property recently bonded by him.

It is reported that the enforcing of the eight hour law will result in the closing down of several mines in the Boundary country.

A strike of 12 feet of chalcopyrite was made a few days ago in the Golden Eagle, on Volcanic mountain. Assays are said to return $1000 in gold and 10 per cent. copper.

The Humming Bird Gold Mines Ltd., is the name of the new corporation organized to take over the Humming Bird and O. K. claims on the north fork of Kettle river, which were recently purchased by Smith Curtis for a sum said to be $35,000 cash. A force of nine men go to work on the property at once.

Extraordinary favorable rates have been given by the C. P. R. on mineral exhibits or live stock sent to the big industrial exhibition at Winnipeg, which takes place from July 10th to 15th. The rate will be 20 per cent. of the tariff one way, and shipments will be returned free of charge to the original point of shipment.
