CANADIAN PACIFIC

The Expression of a Nation's Character

WORLDWIDE in scope, international in activities, the Canadian Pacific is pre-eminently the expression of a progressive nation's character.

Canadian Pacific rails extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, webbing prairies and mountains, reaching out to cities, farms, forests, ranches and mines scattered over a million square miles.

Stupendous record in steel of the daring and genius of a young people who fifty years ago dreamed of transforming a virgin wilderness into a nation—and made their dream come true.

Canadian Pacific Steamships, on all seven seas—Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, carrying messages to world's end and back—Canadian Pacific Express, trusted bearer of goods to the farthest places, with money-orders of worldwide currency—Canadian Pacific Hotels, with guests from all the continents.

Gigantic symbol of the vision, enterprise and spirit of the people of Canada.

The CITY

Vancouver, Canada's gateway port to the Orient and commercial metropolis of British Columbia, is situated on the shores of Burrard Inlet, a land-locked arm of the Pacific Ocean. Including its suburbs it has a population of about 250,000. It is a flourishing, rapidly growing city which, in the face of extraordinary business and industrial development, yet maintains an air of dignified beauty and rare charm. Its downtown section pulses with the rush and flow of modern business, its magnificent harbor is athrob day and night with the unceasing movement of rich traffic from East and West, but these somehow seem subordinate to the graceful sweep of the wide tree-lined streets and boulevards, the calm of lovely parks and beautiful suburbs, the artistry of stately residences and public buildings and the cultured life which centres therein.

The CLIMATE

Not the least among the advantages possessed by Vancouver is its climate. The mountains, whose snow-tipped peaks loom majestically to the west and north effectively protect the city from the northerly winds, and the Japanese Current sweeping around from Asia bathes its shores with pleasantly warm waters. As a result, Vancouver is an evergreen city, and it is usually possible to play golf and enjoy other forms of outdoor recreation and sport all the year through under favorable conditions.

POINTS of INTEREST

Vancouver offers a wealth of scenic attractions and other features of distinct interest. Stanley Park, a natural reservation of 1,000 acres within the city limits, is famous for the primitive unspoiled beauty of its giant trees and luxuriant foliage. The renowned Strait of Georgia, Capilano Canyon—a deep gorge spanned by a suspension bridge hung 200 feet above a rushing stream, Lynn and Seymour Canyons, Grouse Mountain with its panoramic view of the city and harbor, The Lions, Crown Mountain, Indian River Park, unsurpassed bathing beaches, the waterfront visited by ships from all parts of the world, the Oriental quarters, Shaughnessy Heights, entrancing motor-car and steamship excursions—these are but a few of Vancouver's many attractions and sightseeing inducements.
