"The Mounted"

The scarlet coat of "The Mounted" has been the symbol of law, order and justice to Canadians since 1873, twelve years before Canada's first transcontinental railway, the Canadian Pacific, was built. In the western plains, during the 1898 gold rush to the Yukon, and across the Dominion, the history of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has been one of tenacity, endurance and high courage. Organized as the North-West Mounted Police, armed with horse, lance and carbine to handle Indian unrest and protect settlers in the North-West Territories, the Force maintained order during the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway across the Prairies. In 1904 the name of the Force became the Royal North-West Mounted Police.

In 1918 it was entrusted with the enforcement of Dominion legislation for Western Canada. In 1920 this jurisdiction was extended to the whole of Canada, and the name was changed to Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Headquarters was transferred to Ottawa from Regina which is still the Dominion Training Centre. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police today enforces the laws against smuggling by land, sea and air, is responsible for the suppression of traffic in narcotic drugs and exercises supervision over aliens. Use is made of every known scientific aid to police protection in its well-equipped laboratories.

Just as "The Mounted" played an heroic part in the carving out of a new democracy on the western frontier so, today, it plays a part in the preservation of that democracy at home.
