EMPRESS OF BRITAIN WORLD CRUISE

The Empress of Britain World Cruise is more than an adventure in travel and luxury . . . it is an adventure in living!

Living . . . not in one spot, however charming, but around the world with its kaleidoscope of color and change. Living . . . not in one age or century, but in all the eras of history, touched by their glamour and romance. Living . . . not among one people, but among many peoples, seeing their dances, listening to their music, wandering in their cities, strolling in their gardens and temples.

When you leave New York, you leave behind the tempo of the West. From then on throughout the 128 days of this memorable cruise, your path is through the Old World.

Madeira, your first stop, whets your appetite for the romantic. Gibraltar serves you as gateway to the Mediterranean. Algiers, Monaco, Naples, and Athens each gives you a glimpse into the past. Then the Holy Land . . . a reverent pilgrimage. Egypt, the Red Sea . . . and before you lies the Orient, no longer veiled, but endlessly fascinating.

India, with its Taj Mahal, Delhi and Agra, Ceylon, Sumatra, Java, Singapore, Bangkok are on your itinerary. Here is wealth of scenic wonder, of customs, of color to add a note of the exotic to your cruise. Colonial America at Manila, colonial Britain at Hong Kong . . . these prepare you for the metropolis of the Far East . . . Shanghai, where East and West have met and mingled to a greater extent perhaps than anywhere else. Old Peking, now Peiping, stronghold of China's Emperors for tens of centuries, yields you thought challenging vistas. Then comes Japan . . . of the flower festivals, of geishas, of kimonos and of great industries.

After Yokohama the tempo changes once more. Glorious sea-days on the Pacific bring you to Hawaii . . . transformed from an island into a paradise, by moonlight at Waikiki, the fragrance of scarlet hibiscus, the plaintive melody of guitars.

With San Francisco comes an interlude of the West you know . . . and its contrast adds a poignancy to the tropic leisure of Panama and Havana.

All the worthwhile ports and places the world around are yours in this cruise epic. Because of the speed of the Empress of Britain, you do them in 128 days.

All the worthwhile ports . . . each at their best time of the year . . . for Canadian Pacific has planned and timed the itinerary so that you follow spring around the world . . .

EMPRESS OF BRITAIN

NEW ATLANTIC GIANTESS

Introducing a new era in World Cruising . . . offering unparalleled size, speed and super-luxuriousness.

42500 Tons Gross Register 63750 Tons Displacement 758 Feet Long

Empress in Name and Manner

The Empress of Britain is, by far, the greatest and fastest Atlantic giantess to make the World Cruise. Her gross tonnage is greater by 25% than that of any other World Cruise liner.

Her size . . . her speed . . . her super-luxuriousness introduce a new era in World Cruising. The Empress of Britain is the "ship of space" . . . space to live and space to play.

Super-luxuriousness . . . yet wide and varied in her choice of accommodations. Naturally the keynote is luxury but ample provision has been made for a wide range of more moderately priced accommodation.

Your living quarters aboard are not called cabins or staterooms. They're apartments . . . many of them with thirty-foot living rooms. You don't sleep in a berth . . . but in a real standing bed. You arrange your hair before a triple-mirrored dressing table and study your complete evening effect in a full length wall mirror. You keep your clothes in wardrobes fitted with hangers and tie-racks and trees and things; and your toilet requisites in a wall-cabinet. You can have all the little comfort-making electric gadgets . . . dressing-lights, curling-iron outlets, reading lights, telephones, call-bells, fans, heaters. You have steam heat and warmed air ventilation for northerly latitudes . . . cool air and pressure ventilation for more tropic climes. The vast majority of apartments have outside light and air. 75% of them have beautifully-fitted private bath, or shower and toilet. All have wood-panelled walls, and perfect taste and comfort in decoration and furnishing.

An entire deck, the Lounge Deck, is given over to these magnificent rooms where entertaining may be done in a gracious and charming setting:

MAYFAIR: a smart club lounge decorated by Sir Charles Allom, R. A.

CATHAY LOUNGE: the smoking room, done in a luxurious quaint Chinese manner by Edmund Dulac, the great illustrator of the Arabian Nights.

EMPRESS ROOM: Here, one dances on a beautiful, spacious floor in a ballroom decorated by Sir John Lavery, London's favorite society painter. The stage and movie screen offer entertainment here also. Elsewhere:

SALLE JACQUES CARTIER: Masterly murals of Abundance . . . suited to this dining room . . . by Frank Brangwyn, R. A.

OLYMPIAN POOL: with poolside café and Turkish baths behind the scenes. In sports, the Empress of Britain offers space to play indeed! She carries both a full sized tennis court and a championship squash racquets court. She has a Sun Deck, for those who like to start their tan early. She has an entire Sports Deck, where shipboard games flourish joyfully. She has an outdoor swimming pool on deck in the tropics.

Nobody on a world cruise need ever get fat or bored on the Empress. She's a marvelous ship with a good time built into her specifications from stem to stern. And more tonnage, more space, more crew per first-class passenger than on any other liner.
