ACROSS CANADA

Two transcontinental trains a day each way between Vancouver, Montreal and Toronto—and in summer a third, the Trans-Canada Limited, the fastest long distance train of the American Continent.

One train a day from Vancouver to St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago.

Also fast, frequent and comfortable local services on 19,900 miles of track in Canada and the U. S., and steamship services on the British Columbia Coast, the Great Lakes, etc.

EMPRESSES OF THE ATLANTIC

The Empress of Scotland (largest steamship sailing from any Canadian Port) the Empress of France, and the Empress of Britain—from Quebec by the sheltered St. Lawrence River route to Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg.

MONOCLASS CABIN SERVICE

Eleven popular Monoclass Cabin Steamships from Montreal and Quebec (or St. John in winter) to Liverpool, Glasgow, Southampton, Belfast, Antwerp, Cherbourg and Havre.

CANADIAN PACIFIC HOTELS

Thirteen fine hotels in the principal cities and holiday resorts in Canada.

TELEGRAPHS

Canadian Pacific Telegraph system covers Canada, with direct connections with the United States and principal cable routes.

CRUISES

Five magnificent Steamships Cruises early in 1924 — Around the world, Around America, to the Mediterranean, and to the West Indies.

Empress of Australia

IN planning the four magnificent Canadian Pacific Empresses which ply between Vancouver and the Orient, careful attention was paid to the fact that there are persons who keenly desire the delights of a trip across the Pacific but do not wish to do so on the more costly scale required for first-class accommodation.

To suit the requirements of such passengers, provision was made for a section of accommodation on each ship designated Second Cabin, at moderate rates.

By this class of accommodation a vacation to the Orient is placed within the financial reach of many who would otherwise be forced to plan their holidays on a less extensive scale. In this class of travel on the Canadian Pacific Empresses will be found congenial people travelling for education and pleasure.

Before deciding to spend a vacation on a less ambitious, less enjoyable or less educational tour, consider the possibility of visiting Japan, China and the Philippine Islands, travelling second cabin by one of these magnificent Empresses of the Pacific. This most splendid of all vacations may after all be enjoyed at a moderate expenditure, and the Orient is just the same to see, to enjoy, and to remember, whether one travels first-class or second cabin.

Empress of Australia
Second Cabin Dining Room

THE EMPRESS OF CANADA has accommodation for 162 Second Cabin passengers, the Empress of Australia for 165, and the Empress of Russia and Empress of Asia each for 120.

In the construction of these ships, the summer climate of the Japan and China coasts was carefully provided for, and all staterooms are spacious and well-ventilated. They contain ample wardrobes and the latest type of open plumbing porcelain wash-basins, with hot and cold running water, and accommodation for two, three or four passengers, according to size. Ample bath-rooms are provided.

The lounge, smoking-room and dining-room are all particularly attractive, lending a distinctive charm of sociability. Generous promenade space is available on sheltered decks. The cuisine and personal service are of the high standard associated with the name of the Canadian Pacific.

burners. The Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia are comparatively new, but are already established favorites.

The Empresses sail every fortnight from Vancouver, via Victoria, for Yokohama. Beyond Yokohama the Empress of Canada and the Empress of Australia call at Kobe, Shanghai and Hong Kong, while the Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia call at Kobe, Nagasaki, Shanghai and Hong Kong.

The "Empresses of the Pacific" are a link in the great transportation system provided by the Canadian Pacific. To or from Vancouver fast Canadian Pacific trains carry the traveller across Canada; Canadian Pacific "Empresses of the Atlantic" provide a fast connecting service to Europe. Connecting with the sailings of the Empresses are the Trans-Canada Limited (summer only), the fastest transcontinental train in the world, and other daily trains from Montreal, Toronto and Chicago.

VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Canada's gateway to the Orient, is the largest commercial centre of British Columbia, standing on an excellent land-locked harbor guarded by imposing mountains. Surrounding it are environs of varied and beautiful character, where every form of recreation is encouraged by a mild climate. Here the Canadian Pacific has its railway terminal, and the steamship journey begins; and here, too, is the magnificent Canadian Pacific Hotel Vancouver, the finest hotel on the north-west Pacific coast.

VICTORIA

Victoria, four hours' sail from Vancouver, is charmingly situated at the southern end of Vancouver Island. The capital of British Columbia, it has a delightfully mild climate that has made it a favorite resort for both summer and winter. Its fine boulevards, beautiful homes, parks, public buildings, semi-tropical flowers, and magnificent surroundings give to it an atmosphere of old-world leisure which is scarcely possessed by any other city of this continent.

JAPAN

Japan is Asia's wonderland of beauty and romance—six hundred islands endowed by nature as a land of exquisite delight. The traveller's first contact with the "Land of the Rising Sun" is Yokohama, which, besides its own interesting character, is also the port for Tokyo, capital of the Empire. Tokyo is a city filled with a thousand never-failing sources of interest, of study and of amusement—a city of strange and enchanting national festivals, imperial palaces, parks and gardens, and everywhere the flowers which are the passion of the Japanese.

Not very far away is the famous Fujiyama, towering twelve thousand feet into the clouds, and beautiful alike in summer and in winter. Kyoto (which, with Nara and Osaka, is easily reached from the port of Kobe) was the ancient capital of the Empire, and even now is its chief art centre.

Everywhere in Japan are buildings of historic interest and architectural countrysides, volcanic springs, dashing rivers, mountains, inlets, lakes and headlands—a country filled with delights for every moment of one's visit and with memories to enrich a lifetime.

CHINA

China is a land of walls—walls that are happily giving way. It is a land that is the exact opposite of almost everything to which the western traveller has been accustomed. To him it is the most foreign country under the sun.

China has the oldest extant civilization on earth. For three thousand years of uninterrupted national life, China's hundred million population has been piling up treasures of immeasurable historic and artistic worth—forbidden cities, temples, monuments, gates, water clocks, pagodas, giant walls, fountains, palaces, altars. To-day one may travel amongst these memorials in the greatest comfort, for the door has swung wide enough open to let in the railway train and the European hotel.

Shanghai, the first port of call in China, has amongst other interesting sights the original Willow Pattern Tea House. A short railway journey brings one to the ancient walled city of Nangking, formerly the home of the celebrated Ming Dynasty. From Pukow, on the opposite side of the Yang-Tse river, Peking can be reached by rail—the capital of China, with a history pre-dating the Christian era. The journey can be continued through to Mukden and through Korea (Chosen) back to Japan.

HONG KONG

Hong Kong, farthest east of Canadian Pacific ports, in the south-east corner of China, is a mountainous little island over which the British flag waves. Its beautiful harbor, always crowded with native craft, merchant vessels and warships, is the meeting place of all nations, for Hong Kong stands truly at the cross-roads of Oriental traffic. Here the traveller for South China stations, Manila, Singapore, Malay Straits, Java, Australia, Indo-China, Siam, Burma and India can obtain frequent connections. The view of the harbor from "The Peak" by day, or that of the "Peak" from the harbor by night, are magnificent. Side-trips can be made from Hong Kong to Canton, Macao, and West River.
