The confusion and consternation, the agony of all little Barbara's friends, can hardly be described. They could not do enough for her, But until her father was buried she sat very still, hardly speaking, not murmuring in the least, looking sadly, sweetly patient, but, as those who loved her best said, just as though she were miles and miles away in another world.

That most charming Rectory in North Devonshire, where the old Rector had lived his life and passed out of it so suddenly, was now to be given to another. Meanwhile, the lawyers, Messrs. Parkes and Sunningley, came down from London to be present at the funeral. The Rector's cousin and greatest friend, Dean Chance, of Exham Cathedral, came over and immediately begged of Barbara to make her home with him. But this she refused, for Sunningley who was also her cousin, told her that her father had insured his life for two thousand pounds. This, with a little money—about thirty pounds per annum—which she inherited from her mother, would give her enough to live on, at least for the present. She thought of Ralph, and her heart beat. Oh, how far away he was! There were certain addresses which might in the course of time find him, but he was not with her now, when she wanted him so terribly. There was a curious obstinacy about this girl—perhaps it was one of her charms, perhaps it was the secret of her undoubted strength of character—but be that as it may, she refused all offers of outside help. She would live on her little income and take a tiny house near the beloved Rectory, and near all her friends. Joan would come with her and take care of her. Oh, yes, they could manage. The lawyers said they could safely secure her five per cent. for her money! they said nothing with regard to legacy duty—what did Barbara know of such things? Sunningley and Dean Chance would between them pay the legacy duty, and thus she could get a hundred a year on the two thousand pounds.

The Rector died in November, and it was a month later, almost to the day, when all these arrangements were being made and Barbara's tiny future home taken, that the next and most awful blow of all fell. She was not prepared for it, that was one thing; she was weak, too, from sorrow, which made it still harder to bear. But it fell upon her on the evening of a day which she had been spending with Margot Fenwick at Fenwick Chase, one of the finest mansions in North Devon.

Barbara was only nineteen, and she looked still younger, so petite was her neat little figure, and now and then some of the old happiness used to flash into her lovely eyes, and the girls who loved her watched for it with delight. Margot had invited Barbara and also the two Charltons, girls of the name of Averil and Grace, to tea. They were chatting, as girls will, and they got Barbara to promise that no one else should help her when she made her grand move from the Rectory to the little cottage. Suddenly, in the midst of their eager conversation, a strange and overpowering memory visited Barbara. She recalled her father's dying words—"You will find it—you will obey." The memory of these words came over her with an overpowering sense of dread. She had only a day or two longer to spend at the Rectory, for the new Rector wanted to get settled in before Christmas. In the excitement and sorrow of the last month those words and the agony on that dear face and the charred remains of a letter in the grate had more or less passed out of her memory. But now she recalled them vividly. Suddenly it seemed to her that even the laughter of Margot Fenwick was intolerable, that the chatter of Grace and Averil hurt her head. She rose abruptly from her seat.

"I must go, girls," she said. "I had forgotten something which must be attended to. I must go."

She stooped to kiss Margot, flinging her soft arms round her friend's neck. How little did either of them guess what a long time would elapse before they could kiss each other again!

"If you have anything to do," said Grace, "do let me come and help you. I should adore to come, and I am very good at putting things straight, am I not, Ave?"

But Barbara said: "No; I must be alone, and I must go at once, at once."

The next minute she was walking up the winding avenue, and the girls looked after her with disappointment on their faces. Why had she gone away so quickly?

"I don't like it, I feel nervous about her?" said Margot.

"Oh, there can be nothing," said Averil, "only I wish she had let Grace go and help her. Grace is so matter-of-fact."

CHAPTER II.

Perhaps, all things considered, there was no girl in all the world more loved than Barbara Chance. This was, as her friends expressed it because of her "happy face." And yet now, on this terrible fourth of December, she was not happy, she was overpowered by fear, and she had to hide this fear at any risk from her dear old servant, Joan. During the Rector's life-time Barbara had wanted for no ordinary comforts. The living of Worthington-on-the-Hill was a good one; there were plenty of servants, and although the Rector gave largely to the poor, his own house was well appointed and well kept. On this occasion she arrived home between five and six o'clock; old Joan was waiting for her, for a great many of the other servants had already been dismissed. Barbara ate sparingly in the great dining room, and Joan talked to her—was she not her nursling, her darling, whom she had brought up since her mother's death?

"Joan," said Barabara, "I have taken the wee house, and I think we shall be quite happy in it. There is a garden back and front, and we will have Michael in once a week to keep it in order. Do you know, Joan, it is rather fun being a poor girl; it will be so clever of us to contrive and make two ends meet. My friends think it awful that I should be poor, Joan, but, do you know, I am downright glad?"

"Then heaven forgive ye, my blessed lamb," said the old servant. "Ye know not what poverty means, my darling. It's grind, and grind, and grind, that's what poverty is. It takes the very life out of ye, Miss Barbara, that's what poverty does."

"Joan," said the girl, "I am ashamed of you. We shall have enough, will not enough do? You won't forsake me, will you, Joan?"

"As if I could forsake my nursling!"

Barbara rose from the table; she kissed the old woman and looked at the clock over the mantelpiece. "I shall be up for several hours," she said. "I am going into"—she dropped her voice—"father's study. I have papers to look through there. Please promise me, Joan, to go to bed at the usual time. I must get my work done in the library tonight, and I cannot be disturbed."

Joan looked as though she wished to expostulate, but no one ever did expostulate with Barbara—that little tinge of obstinacy in her character made it useless. Accordingly, about an hour and a half later, the servants might have been heard going up to their respective rooms. Joan was the last to go. The old Rectory was now shut up for the night. When this happened, Barbara rose from where she was seated in her father's armchair. A fire was laid in the grate—the night was a bitterly cold one—and Barbara struck a match and set the paper burning, the wood crackling, and soon the coal caught the grateful heat and merry flames danced up the chimney.

While her father was alive Barbara was the only person who had access to the library. It was she who dusted it and kept it in order; it was a room sacred to father and daughter. Mr. Chance received his parishioners in the parish room, which was situated quite at the other side of the rambling old Rectory. It was there he gave them good counsel and all the help that lay within his power. But it was in the library he liked to sit, and it was in this room Barbara sat with him from the time, seventeen years ago, when she was a little motherless child, until she grew up.

She recalled that last dreadful scene in the library, the noble and yet stricken figure, the charred letter, burnt to ashes, unreadable, and the strange, strange words which came from the blue lips in their death agony.

"You will find it. You will obey. Promise."

What was she to find? How was she to obey?

She had a certain premonition which told her that the scene of her search must be in the room where she was now seated. Whatever of secrets the Rector had, Barbara felt assured that they were concealed in the library. How could she have let a whole month pass without obeying those words of agony? Well, at least she would delay not a moment longer now.

SCREAMED WITH PAIN OF SCALDED LEG

And Foot. In Bad State. Inflamed and Festered. Could Not Sleep. Completely Cured by Cuticura Ointment in Short Time.

Middle La Have, N. S.—"My sister scalded her leg and foot very badly with a pan of boiling water. She suffered very much and her leg was in a bad state. The skin was red and inflamed and it festered. She suffered dreadful pain. She scalded it in the evening and could not sleep that night and could not bear to have anything near it.

"We tried ——— and ——— and then some ——— but everything seemed to make it worse and she just screamed for pain. I told my mother about Cuticura Ointment and we got a box immediately and bandaged up her foot and leg. Two applications made quite a difference and we kept on using it and in a short time her leg and foot were completely cured." (Signed) Miss L. Parks, May 17, 1913.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent dry, thin and falling hair, allay itching and irritation, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, frequent shampoos with Cuticura Soap, assisted by occasional dressings with Cuticura Ointment, are usually effective when other methods fail. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. A single set is often sufficient. For a liberal free sample of each, with 32-p. book, send post-card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. D, Boston, U. S. A.

WAKEFUL BABIES

If your baby does not sleep, if he is cross, cries a great deal and will not be comforted, that is the time to give him Baby's Own Tablets. They promote sleep—not the drugged unnatural kind obtained through the use of "soothing" mixtures, but that refreshing natural sleep of the healthy child. The Tablets banish all stomach and bowel complaints—the direct cause of crossness and sleeplessness. Concerning them Mrs. E. Medras, Grand Bois, Que., says: "When I began using Baby's Own Tablets baby was so troubled with constipation he would not sleep day or night. Now all this trouble has vanished and he is a strong healthy child." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Our contributor's small friend, little Rollo, aged five, had always observed that fish was the big dish at his home on Friday. And he had observed that the rule held in the neighboring households.

Recently, little Rollo was sent out to visit his grandma in the country. And after a day or two he missed something.

"Grandma," said he, "ain't it ever Friday in the country?"

"What a question," she laughed. "Of course it is. Today is Friday, dear."

"Well," said Rollo. "It don't smell like Friday."

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Indigestion and the attendant discomforts of mind and body are certain to follow continued use of improper food.

Those who are still young and robust are likely to overlook the fact that, as dropping water will wear a stone away at last, so will the use of heavy, greasy, rich food, finally cause loss of appetite and indigestion.

Fortunately many are thoughtful enough to study themselves and note the principle of cause and effect in their daily food. A young woman writes her experience thus:

"Sometime ago I had a lot of trouble from indigestion, caused by too rich food. I got so I was unable to digest scarcely anything, and medicines seemed useless.

"A friend advised me to try Grape-Nuts food, praising it highly and as a last resort, I tried it. I am thankful to say that Grape-Nuts not only relieved me of my trouble, but built me up and strengthened my digestive organs so that I can now eat anything I desire. But I stick to Grape-Nuts."

Funerals in Peru

According to social usage, women in Peru cannot attend funerals, and they do not appear at weddings unless they are very intimate friends. When a funeral procession passes through the streets the coffin is caried upon the shoulders of the pallbearers, who are followed by an empty hearse drawn by two, four or six horses, according to the means of the mourners and their desire for display. All the male members of the family and friends of the deceased follow on foot with a line of empty carriages behind them. As long as they are in the presence of the dead it is considered a proper and necesasry evidence of respect to walk. After the body has been committed to the grave those who attend the funeral are brought home in the carriages.

Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms without any inconvenience to the child, and so effectually that they pass from the body unperceived. They are not ejected in their entirety, but are ground up and pass away through the bowels with the excreta. They thoroughly cleanse the stomach and bowels and leave them in a condition not favorable to worms, and there will be no revival of the pests.

"What can that young fellow find to talk about for three hours every night?"

"Oh, he has plenty to talk about. He has to tell Mabel he loves her, and go over it four or five thousand times."—Kansas City Journal.

Ancient "Granary of the Empire"

It is difficult to imagine, but true, that as regards wheat, Britain in early days was the Canada of the Roman Empire. The Romans invested money in British land, sent their agents over to look after it, and there were fields of corn on the northern slopes of the Thames, across the Strand and Holborn, to Islington, the grain of which was transported to the imperial city. London now occupies those ancient wheat farms.

Kept Them All on Edge

One of the favorite devices of Lord Nelson when ships were cruising in company was to signal to a given craft that Lieut. Smith or Staff Engineer Brown or Captain of Marines Jones was to take charge, on the assumption that all his superior officers on board had been put out of action. The author of "Trafalgar Refought," says the result was very good, for every one therefore made a point of trying to make himself fit to carry out the duty should it ever be assigned to him.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Don't Overwork the Heart

"To keep your temper is rather a good thing," says Dr. Strickland Goodall of London. "Every time the heart contracts its force would raise a weight of two pounds to the height of one foot, and it does this from 70 to 140 times every minute.

"Running to catch a train increases the heart's work by 228 foot pounds a minute. Ascending a staircase slowly increases the heart's work by 112 foot pounds and ascending quickly by 152 foot pounds.

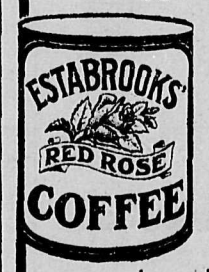
"A man who is really angry increases the work of his heart by 72 foot pounds. A rest of half an hour daily would save in a year 219,000 foot pounds of work on the heart."

Drives Asthma Like Magic.—The immediate help from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems like magic. Nevertheless it is only a natural remedy used in a natural way. The smoke or vapor, reaching the most remote passage of the affected tubes, brushes aside the trouble and opens a way for fresh air to enter. It is sold by dealers throughout the land.

Some birds, like all children, like to play, and Australia and New Guinea produce the "bower bird," which builds regular playhouses. These houses are not a part of their nests, but are constructed usually in the shape of covered archways of little boughs two or three feet long, eighteen inches high and about as wide. They use these houses simply for their games, as if they were clubhouses. Generally these playhouses are decorated with bright colored shells and feathers.

A Credit to the Name

If you already know Red Rose Tea you will expect much of Red Rose Coffee because of its name alone. Nor will it disappoint you; for it is worthy of its name.



Blended to combine strength and rich flavor, this fine coffee is crushed new-roasted into small grains, and freed from chaff and dust. These uniform grains readily give the true coffee flavor to a brew which pours clear without any sediment. You may expect rare quality from every tin of

ONLY SIXTEEN, GIRL VERY SICK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only 16 years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better."—Miss AMELIA JAQUILLARD, 3961 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans, La.

St. Clair, Pa.—"My mother was alarmed because I was troubled with suppression and had pains in my back and side, and severe headaches. I had pimples on my face, my complexion was sallow, my sleep was disturbed, I had nervous spells, was very tired and had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked like a charm in my case and has regulated me. I worked in a mill among hundreds of girls and have recommended your medicine to many of them."—Miss ESTELLA MAGUIRE, 110 Thwing St., St. Clair, Pa.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

An Indian Ghost Story

Several years ago I had a studio in Albuerque, New Mexico, and the walls of my reception rooms and office were hung with large photographs of Indians. One day I was visited by six men of the Navajo tribe who, after much smoking and visiting, made known the real cause of their call. Directly over my desk was a framed portrait of one of the old medicine men of their tribe, who had just died. Believing that a part of his soul was imprisoned in the portrait—else how could it look so like him?—they asked me if I would not destroy it, so that his spirit might be released and be at peace. I immediately took the print from the frame and tore it into bits while the men looked on with silent approval. After thanking me they each shook my hand in turn and filed quietly out of the room. They did not suspect that there might still be in existence other copies of the picture or a negative.—Karl Moon in Leslie's.

POSTMISTRESS IS QUITE WELL AGAIN

FOUND COMPLETE CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mrs. Gray, Who Was Nervous and Run Down for Two Years, Tells How She Found New Health.

Tichborne, Frontenac Co., Ont.—(Special).—Mrs. H. Gray, the popular postmistress here, is telling her friends of the great benefit she has received from taking Dodd's Kidney Pills

"For about two years," Mrs. Gray says, "I was all run down. My sleep was broken and unfreshing, and I suffered from shortness of breath and heart flutterings. I finally decided that the Kidneys were the cause of my trouble and decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took four boxes in all, and I feel quite strong and like myself again. I certainly think Dodd's Kidney Pills are a good medicine."

The experience of the postmistress is similar to that of thousands of other Canadian women. They were weak, run down, nervous and in bad health generally. They took Dodd's Kidney Pills and are strong and well again.

The reason is that when the Kidneys get out of order they fail to strain the impurities out of the blood and general lassitude and weakness ensues. The natural cure is to cure the Kidneys. The experience of thousands of others tells you that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys.

Not a Pear

Those who love to study human nature often derive as much pleasure from watching the people who visit picture galleries as they receive from the pictures themselves.

Two young women were looking at a picture in one of the art galleries entitled "His Only Pair." The artist has depicted a poor boy sitting up in bed while his hard working mother mends his only pair of trousers. The boy, although obliged to remain in bed while the repairs are in progress, is contentedly eating an orange.

One of the visitors evinced a special interest in the picture and gazed long and earnestly at it. Then, turning to her companion, remarked:

"'His Only Pair.' I don't call that a pear at all. It's an orange that he is eating."—Detroit Free Press.

A Standard Medicine.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, compounded of entirely vegetable substances known to have a revivifying and salutary effect upon the digestive organs, have through years of use attained so eminent a position that they rank as a standard medicine. The ailing should remember this. Simple in their composition, they can be assimilated by the weakest stomach and are certain to have a healthful and agreeable effect on the sluggish digestive organs.

A henpecked man was set to work by his wife to do a bit of repair work to the porch doors. While hubby was so engaged the wife would, from time to time, go out to see what progress he was making.

"Is there anything you need?" asked she, on the second trip. The man on the ladder gulped once or twice, but made no reply. Again the wife put the question and again a gulp was the only answer.

"Why don't you answer me?" she demanded ominously.

The unhappy man turned most apologetically and said: "But, sweetheart, my mouth is full of screws. I couldn't answer until I swallowed some."

Terrible Scalding Accident

ZAM-BUK GAVE QUICK RELIEF

For taking the pain out of a burn or scald there is nothing equal to Zam-Buk. Mrs. Eugene Demers, of Pembroke, Ont., who was the victim of a painful scalding accident, proved this. She says: "I was carrying a boiler of steaming water from the stove to the wash-tub, when suddenly my strength failed. As the boiler was falling in spite of my efforts, I heard my babies cry, and to avoid scalding them I gave the vessel a quick turn. The effect of this was that every drop of the boiling water poured over my feet and limbs, scalding me from my waist down.

"As soon as I saw the children had escaped, I told my oldest boy to bring the Zam-Buk (which we always keep in the house). I applied Zam-Buk freely, and the pain was soon eased. I continued using Zam-Buk and in a wonderfully short time the sores were completely healed."

Zam-Buk is equally good for cuts, bruises, eczema, ulcers, piles, pimples, etc. Price 50c per box, at all druggists and stores, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. Refuse substitutes and imitations. There is nothing "just as good!"

Sir Henry Lucy tells how, after the home rule bill rupture, Sir William Harcourt and Sir Henry James still retained unbroken an intimate friendship.

One day, in conversation, Lord Morris remarked on the charm of this incident in the storm and stress of party warfare.

"Yes," said Harcourt, softly, with a wistful faraway look in his eye, "we are, as you may say, brothers."

"So were Cain and Abel," said Lord Morris.

Motorist (on country road)—I'll give you £5 for that picture if you don't put another stroke to it.

Motorist—Oh! that doesn't matter; I just want the canvas to mend a busted tire with.

Quite Lady-Like

Frances came downstairs like a ton of bricks. "Now Frances," said the little girl's mother, "you come downstairs so noiseless that you could be heard all over the house. Now go up and come down quietly and properly, as a lady should do."

Frances retired, and in a few minutes re-entered the parlor.

"Did you hear me come downstairs this time, mother?" she asked.

"No, dear, you come down like a lady that time," replied her mother.

"Yes," said Frances, "I slid down the banisters."

A lady who had called to see Mrs. B. found her little son, Frank, in the library rubbing his eyes and gaping.

"Sleepy?" she inquired.

"Um," grunted Frank.

"I suppose you usually go to bed with the chickens," smiled the visitor.

"No, I don't!" snapped Frank. "I have a little bed in my room all to myself."—The Delineator.

"Madam," he said, on the fifth night, "if you would ring, this would be done for you.

"But where is my bell?" asked the lady.

"That the bell!" she exclaimed. "Why the boy told me that was the fire alarm and that I wasn't to touch it on any account."

Every Stiff Joint Limbered, Rheumatism Cured!

That Old Family Remedy "Nerviline" is Guaranteed for the Worst Cases

CURES NEURALGIA, BACKACHE, LUMBAGO

Rheumatism today is unnecessary. It is so well understood and so readily curable that every day we have reports of old chronics being freed of their tormenter.

"I can speak confidently of the Nerviline treatment, for the simple reason that it cured me," writes Albert B. Cornelius, from Kingston. "You can't imagine how stiff and lame and sore I was. Nights at a time I couldn't sleep well. I followed the Nerviline directions carefully—had it rubbed into the sore regions four or five times every day. Every rubbing helped to reduce the pain. The swelling went down. I got a fair measure of relief in a week. I also took two Ferrozone Tablets with my meals. They increased my appetite and spirits, purified my blood and toned up my system generally.

"I am as well today as a man could be—in perfect good health. I give Nerviline all the credit."

A large family size bottle of Nerviline costs only 50c., or the trial size 25c., and is useful in a hundred ills in the family. Whether it's toothache, earache, headache, neuralgia, lame back or a cold, Nerviline will cure just as readily as it will cure rheumatism. For family use nothing equals Nerviline.

Gets on the Nerves

PARALYSIS AND LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA

The most dreaded results of neglected nervous diseases—Study this chart and the symptoms stated here to learn if you are in danger—DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will cure you.

To understand paralysis and locomotor ataxia, which is paralysis of the limbs, and their causes, it is well to remember that every movement of the body or its members is due to the contraction of muscle, which can only take place under the influence of nerve force. As this all-important nerve force is created in the nerve centres of the brain and spinal cord, and conducted along wire-like nerve fibres to the various parts of the body, any derangement of the brain, spinal cord or nerve fibres may result in paralysis or loss of the power of movement.

A.—The Cerebrum is the centre of intelligence and thought.

C.—The Medulla Oblongata.

E.—Cauda Equina.

Paralysis, then, is the natural result of all neglected nervous diseases.

If you find yourself nervous and irritable, oversensitive to light, sound and motion, addicted to continual movement or tapping of the fingers, twitching of the muscles, sudden startings and jerkings of the limbs during sleep; if you have nervous headaches or dyspepsia, are unable to sleep or rest, feel downhearted and discouraged, and unfit to fight the battles of life; if your nerves are weak and exhausted, your blood thin and watery, you have every reason to fear paralysis of at least some part of the body, and consequent suffering and helplessness.

Paralysis can always be prevented, and partial paralysis actually cured, by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The time to begin treatment is when any of the above-mentioned symptoms become apparent. These are indications of a degeneration of the nerve cells, and when nerve force becomes exhausted, paralysis is bound to follow.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

acts on the system in an entirely different way to ordinary medicines. It is neither a stimulant to whip tired nerves to renewed activity, nor a narcotic, or opiate, to deaden the nerves. On the contrary, it is a food cure, which forms new, red corpuscles in the blood and creates new nerve cells. Every day it is bringing back health, strength and vitality to scores and hundreds who have become discouraged through the failure of doctors and other treatments to cure them. Why not get started on the way to health at once by using this great food cure? Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., LIMITED, Toronto. ### The Post Office

The post office matter must come to a head at once. As pointed out in these columns on various occasions, the 5000 appropriation was made on condition that the people of this place furnish a suitable site acceptable to the government's agent. This was done, and the size and location of the site given so pleased the department that Mr. Clements had no difficulty in getting a much larger appropriation and a better building in this year,s estimates. The plans and specifications are now being prepared, and the work of constructing the building will be ready to go on very shortly.

Mr. Clements is our authority for stating that under no circumstances will the Government purchase a site, and that unless the people of Courtenay stop their bickering there will be no public building built this or any other year.

"The Old Countryman" is the name of Vancouver's latest publication, the initial uumber of which reached this office this week. It is a weekly review of Canadian and Old Country life and sport. In this it should appeal to the British Columbia public. The coast papers pay altogether too much attention to American affairs, practically no attention being given to Canadian or Old Country life. It is neatly printed and illustrated and a credit to the publishers. We bespeak the proprietors a long life and a prosperous one.

Good Racing at Driving Park

On Saturday evening a large crowd of citizens gathered at the Race Track to witness the races announced to take place that evening. Three events were scheduled and although the number of horses promised did not show up the events were filled, and the races were keenly contested and exciting from start to finish.

The first race was between Coverts' thoroughbred stallion and Bridges' brothers famous racer. They got away to a beautiful start and were neck and neck for nearly the whole distance, Coverts finally winning out by a length.

The second event was a trotting race between Hogg's pacer and Bridges' trotting mare, the heat was won by Hogg. In the second heat Ole Olson put in his charger in place of Bridge's. He was very keen and went off his feet and galloped the whole distance, the crowd cheering him on.

The other race was between two of Carins' livery horses and Hinneberg's little pony, and was a clear race from start to finish, the pony winning out by a scant length.

COMOX

While walking by the Comox Sawmill last week,
I heard a hearty voice singing the following,
First we had some cabbage,
Then we had some jam,
Lambs frys, and Camels humps, and everything thats grand,
Highly flavored suckling pigs, all toasted nice and brown,
The tea was made with canned milk.
Which stuck when halfway down.
Steak too, and onions went floating round the dish,
Salmon and Halibut, and other kinds of fish,
The sauce was made of skid grease,
The steak was tough and old,
The gravy it was flavored with some Comox Sawmill oil.

Heard in Main St. Comox. "What a pity all the nice young fellows have left for the lumber camps, I guess we shall have to fall back on all the old married stiffs now!" Benedicts beware!

Hot Baths

By causing the blood to circulate more freely and dilating the vessels on the surface, hot baths relieve the congestion in the muscles and internal organs. In this way they promote the elimination of the waste products which cause tiredness, fatigue, and most of the other aches and pains from which humanity is liable to suffer. It is not necessary to wait untill bedtime before having a hot bath. Its most beneficial effects can be obtained by taking it in the evening on returning from work. It is then that it is most refreshing and if made use of at this time of day will enable many a man who has become fagged out to spend an enjoyable evening when otherwise he would be sitting down too tired to read or take part in any amusement.

It is a pity that Carrie Nation died so soon. She would be a heroine to the Grits in Ontario these days.

GRANTHAM

A most enjoyable day was spent at Grantham last Friday, when a large number of the residents of that district gathered at the school for the closing exercises and to say (good bye) to the old building which has done such good service as school house since the year 1881. We noticed one lady in the gathering, now a proud grandmother of three, who was one of the pupils to answer the first roll call at Grantham school. The closing exercises also a program of twenty-two pieces went off to the satisfaction of all present, the children's spelling contest being much appreciated. The Rolls of Honour were won by Elsie Berkinstock, for deportment; John Wingar, for proficiency, and Howard Janes for regularity. Mr. F. H. Janes, after presenting the rolls of honor, led with three hearty cheers for the teacher (Miss Gibson) and the old school. This part of the days work being closed by singing the National Anthem, led by Victor Berkenstock with his mouth organ. At the request of a number of the parents of the pupils, Miss Gibson will remain another year at Grantham The following list of sports which was ably conducted by Mr. J. Blackburn assisted by a committee was keenly contested by the children, and watched with interest by the spectators.

Boys tug of war. Prizes divided.

Girls tug of war. Prizes divided.

Tug of war, married and single men. Single men won.

We were sorry for the married men in this event when we saw Mr. Sandy Ledingham sitting on the end of the rope as anchor man for the single men, good cash prizes were given to the children. An unlimited supply of refreshments were kindly supplied by the ladies at frequent intervals, on the whole everybody seemed to think that the last school closing of the old school had been the best in its history.

HEADQUARTERS

Amongst the interesting events at Headuarters during the past week, not the least exciting was the gathering of a party of bachelors (boys and girls) to Miss Spencer's tent in view of that lady's pending departure for England.

Miss Spencer has been teacher at the Headquarters school since the beginning of the year, during which time she has endeared herself to the children, the children's parents and without exception to those big boys who have neither chick nor child to bless them in their loneliness in the woods. Assiduous in her duties as a teacher she has taken great pains in incalculating those precepts and examples so necessary with the rising generation, upon the minds of her pupils.

First and foremost in all sports whether indoors or outdoors, from the innocent game of forfeits, with its attendant pleasant punishments to the equally enjoyable if more arduous pastime of excursions to the wilds of Wolfe Lake for picnics, fishing and paddling, she has been a leader, and it was only fitting that her early departure should be heralded by such a gathering as there was last evening.

It was soon evident that her tented residence would not hold all the visitors and while the tight squeezing of these bachelor boys and giris in a 12 x 16 tent had its advantage of bringing them all very close together they decided to take the school house by storm and finish their evenings' amusement therein.

Dancing, singing, speach making and sports were indulged in till half an hour after midnight, when, after wishing Miss Spencer all happiness and prosperity, the guests dissembled, each happy in that he or she had added one more happy day to his or her life, but especially to him with the dark curly locks who had been specially singled out to receive the imprint of the lady of honor's lips upon his manly cheek as a result of forfeits which demanded of her to smile on the wittiest, bow to the prettiest and kiss the one she loved the best. God bless them both.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, New Hazelton, B. C." will be received at this office until 4.00 P. M., on Wednesday, July 15, 1914, for the construction of a Public Building at New Hazelton, B. C.

C., at the office of the District Engineer, Department of Public Works, Canada, Prince Rupert, B. C., and at this Department,

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating the nature of their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p. c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the perso ntendering decline to enter into a contractwhen called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Athletic Club Meeting

The Athletic Association held a meeting on Friday evening after the ball game. There was a fair attendance. Fourteen new members were added to the roll. The financial statement showed that $254 had been collected, nearly all of which had been expended in leveling the grounds, building a club house and fencing.

The bylaw committee brought in a copy of bylaws for the club, which were read and adopted.

After the 1st of July all persons using the grounds must be members of the Association, school boys excepted. This is only right, as the Association have gone to a great deal of trouble and expense in order to provide suitable sporting grounds.

After the association adjourned, a meeting of the baseball Club was held. They decided to join the Association, and handed over all paraphenelia to the Association. The Football and Lacrosse Clubs are expected to do likewise, and in the future all sporting events will be under Association auspices.

United States Navy's Wet Days Draw to a Close

Washington, June 25.—Speculation as to the grace with which officers will accept Secretary Danie's order banishing intoxicants from Uncle Sam's navy to a close The order becomes effective July 1. Thereafter no officers may have liquor on shipboard or on any naval reservation.

"All orders are to be reasonably interpeted," said Secretary Daniels to-day, when asked what was to be done with liquor which happened to be on ship when day breaks next Wednesday. The secretary added that he did not expect his officers to feed the goods to Neptune, Vessels on foreign service will be given a reasonable time to disembark their tabooed cargoes.

Baseball Not Good for Girls

San Francisco, June 19.---Playing baseball in public by young girls is bad for their morals, bad for them physically and bad for the crowds of male spectators, according to Mrs. J. C. ### An Indian Ghost Story

Several years ago I had a studio in Albuerque, New Mexico, and the walls of my reception rooms and office were hung with large photographs of Indians. One day I was visited by six men of the Navajo tribe who, after much smoking and visiting, made known the real cause of their call. Directly over my desk was a framed portrait of one of the old medicine men of their tribe, who had just died. Believing that a part of his soul was imprisoned in the portrait—else how could it look so like him?—they asked me if I would not destroy it, so that his spirit might be released and be at peace. I immediately took the print from the frame and tore it into bits while the men looked on with silent approval. After thanking me they each shook my hand in turn and filed quietly out of the room. They did not suspect that there might still be in existence other copies of the picture or a negative.—Karl Moon in Leslie's.

NEW HOPE FOR SUFFERERS FROM PARALYSIS

There are cases of paralysis that cannot be cured. But that is far different from saying that every case of paralysis is incurable. There is absolute proof that many forms of this disease are curable. Of the cases that cannot be cured many can be so benefitted that the formerly hopeless sufferer will once more find life worth living.

Attention is called to the remarkable cures that have been effected in case of partial disorders, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Some of these cures are so wonderful as to challenge belief, but in every case the statements have been carefully verified and may be investigated by anyone interested. In this connection the case of Miss B. Millehan, of St. John, N.B., is worthy of the most careful attention. Miss Millehan says: "Some three years ago I was taken seriously ill with diphtheria. The doctors brought me safely through this dreaded trouble, and I was assumed to be well. But two weeks later I took a relapse, my throat and limbs becoming paralyzed. I could neither speak nor walk. I was under the best of medical care, and after a few weeks was able to sit up in bed, but my throat was still completely paralyzed and I could only utter unintelligible sounds. I was treated by three of St. John's best physicians, for this trouble and my case was given up as hopeless. A friend asked me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I had spent so much on medicine without help that I thought it would be only a further waste of money. However, I felt myself growing daily weaker and weaker, and I decided as a last chance that I would try the Pills. By the time I had taken half a dozen boxes I could walk across the floor, something doctors had told me could never happen again. I still continued taking the pills, my speech returned, and I felt myself in perfect health. My friends thought my restoration nothing short of a miracle, and I think myself that I have to thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I am living today, and I feel confident they can do quite as much for others as they did for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills effect cures in cases of this kind because they make new, rich, red blood, which feeds and strengthens the nerves, and tones up the whole system. If you are in need of a medicine give these pills a trial. We are confident you will not be disappointed. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Lighthouse Bird Perches

Bird perches on lighthouses will soon be put to the test as a device for saving the lives of hundreds of birds who, in the ordinary way, would perish on striking the lenses of the powerful lights during their flights to England for the summer. Recent observations has led to the belief that the birds are not killed as a rule dashing against the light, but by sheer weariness. The lighthouses probably disturb the instinct of the birds for direction. If the flight is made in one dash they keep the sense of direction intact. If they stop and circle around the light they become temporarily dazed.

The Royal Society for the Preservation of Birds is interested in this scheme, and it is hoped to make bird perches a permanent equipment of the lighthouse.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE THROUGHOUT DOMINION

IN EASTERN CANADA PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND HAS THE LARGEST PERCENTAGE

In Western Canada Every Effort Is Put Forth in Providing Means of Education for the Increasing Population, New Schools Being Opened Every Week of the Year.

The school attendance in Canada is set forth in a statistical work just published by the census branch and based upon the last census. The total population between the ages of six and twenty years was 2,142,909, of which number 1,124,800 were attending school in 1910. The percentage is 52.51. Of the total 991,534 were Canadians, 58,115 British and 75,151 foreign born. In the eastern provinces the highest percentage of attendance between 7 and 14 years was in Prince Edward Island with 84.60 per cent., closely followed by Ontario with 84.27 per cent.; Nova Scotia with 82.86 per cent.; Quebec with 80.96 per cent., and New Brunswick 80.05 per cent. In the west, British Columbia led with 75.33 per cent.; Manitoba second with 74.64 per cent.; Saskatchewan, 66.71, and Alberta, 62.83.

In 1911 Prince Edward Island had a school for the 196 of the total population, Nova Scotia one for every 185, New Brunswick one for every 186, Quebec one for every 290, and Ontario one for every 376.

Quebec and Ontario show the greatest percentage of children between 7 and 14 years of age attending school for more than six months, it being 76.47 per cent. of the total number in Quebec and 74.43 per cent. in Ontario. In the Maritime provinces, the percentage ranges from 62 to 67 and in the west from 43 to 61.

Conditions in the West

The bulletin referring more particularly to the west says: "The western provinces being the mecca of the immigrant and the bachelor homesteader from the eastern provinces, have to face the conditions which are incident to the opening up of settlement in a new country and therefore cannot be adversely compared as regards school attendance with older provinces of Canada, where conditions are stable. There are many things which render it difficult for the settler, whether immigrant or Canadian born, to procure a working education for his children—the principal of which are, for the immigrant, if a foreign lack of knowledge of our language, and for all classes, if homesteaders, that they have to take up land and make homes beyond the point where municipal organizations exist and which have unwillingly, for some years to deny their children an absolute necessity of a common school education.

"That the western provinces have not been remiss in their duty in providing means of education for the multitudes, which flock to their cities and spread over the plains in an ever increasing volume, is evidenced by the fact that Manitoba put in operation on an average two news schools per week, each year since 1906, Saskatchewan about five and Alberta about three per week.

Percentage of Attendance

Quebec and Ontario shows the greatest percentage for children 7 to 14 years of age attending school for more than six months, being 76.47 per cent. of the total number in Quebec and 74.43 per cent. in Ontario. In the Maritime provinces, the percentage ranges from 64.24 to 67.90 per cent. and in the prairie provinces, from 43.76 per cent., in Saskatchewan to 61.74 per cent. in Manitoba. In British Columbia the proportion was 67.34 per cent. The Maritime and prairie provinces show the greatest proportion attending school from four to six months in the year.

Of the school population between 6 and 16 only 67.90 per cent. of males and 68.78 per cent. of females were reported as being at school for any length of time in the school year preceding the census. In other words, for Canada, exclusive of Yukon and the Northwest Territories, 321 boys and 313 girls per 1,000 of this age were allowed to remain away from school. According to this age grouping the highest percentage of school attendance, 72.58 per cent. for males and 72.61 per cent. for females was made by Prince Edward Island and the lowest by Alberta, with 54.94 per cent., for males and 54.68 per cent. for females.

Largest Yards in the World

Construction operations, extending over a period of almost two years, have now brought to a completion the new terminal yards of the C.P.R. at North Transcona.

The Winnipeg terminals of the C. P. R. are now the largest of their kind in America and perhaps the largest in the world. All told they comprise within a fraction of a mile of 300 miles of tracks. The Transcona tracks alone make a total of 156 and cover an aggregate distance of 105 miles. On these there is a capacity for 8,000 cars now and the work in prospect for the future will bring this capacity up to 12,000 cars.

New Buildings Not to Exceed 165 Ft.

That buildings in Winnipeg shall not exceed in height 165 feet, excepting church spires and towers, is the recommendation of a council committee appointed to deal with the matter.

DAIRY INSTRUCTION IN SASK.

Lantern Slides a Medium in Dairying Lessons—W. A. Wilson Holds 52 Meetings

A complete series of dairy meetings have been recently completed in Saskatchewan, which have been of great interest and value to the farmers. Arrangements were made with the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific railway companies for a first class passenger coach and accommodation for two speakers. These two coaches were fitted up under the direction of dairy branch, department of agriculture, Regina, and provided with lanterns and some eighty lantern slides, illustrating various features of dairying as conducted in the province and the work that was being done to promote the industry. Representative slides were also sohwn of dairy breeds and animals in the respective breeds with enviable records, and the speaker in each dealt fully with the merits of such animals as compared with the ordinary type.

The car remained one day at each place, and was moved from point to point by passenger train. At many points afternoon and evening meetings were held. On the Grand Trunk Pacific 28 points were visited and 52 meetings held. The total number of farmers attending the meetings was 3,861, with an average of 138 at each place and 74 at each meeting. The largest attendance at one meeting was 350, and the speakers had to move their equipment from the car to a meeting hall in town. The Canadian Pacific itinerary covered 43 points and 48 meetings were held. There was an average attendance of 60 at each meeting, and a total attendance of 2,612. The largest attendance at one meeting was 110.

The value of lantern slides at such meetings cannot be estimated. It has three chief features. It provides an attraction in securing an attendance; it enables the speaker to show what he is talking about and promotes discussion on the various subjects presented. In our past experience at such meetings we never had anything like the interesting discussions which took place at the meetings where the slides were shown. Many of the evening meetings lasted until after midnight, and the afternoon meetings, though started at two o'clock, seldom terminated before six. In addition to the lantern slides the speakers had literature for distribution, and suitable printed matter was displayed on large cards throughout the car. It was a very common occurrence to see people in the audience with their notebooks, copying all that could be copied from the printed matter before the meeting opened, and many remained afterwards to complete the information.

The railway companies co-operated nobly with the government in carrying out this programme, and supplied the coach and equipment, together with an attendant to look after the heating of the car, entirely free of cost. In this respect they gave a great deal of assistance to the dairy industry in this province, and have shown their broad-mindedness in extending this liberal assistance to an industry requiring so much attention.

New Form of Civilization

That the Basutos in South Africa are capable of emerging from their tribal system into a new form of civilization, apart from white influence whatever, is the belief of Lord Selborne, a former High Commissioner for South Africa.

"But it will take a great many generations," he added. 'Yet the process has begun, and it is very interesting to see the evolution from the ordinary hut to the nice house, and also to see the evolution from the tribal system of cultivation to that of individual tenure of land. Those in Europe who think that our civilization might be improved by our abolition of all forms of private property might do worse than consider the attempts of the more intelligent Basutos to escape from their tribal system."

Lord Selborne further declared his conviction that there was nothing to fear from the Basutos in South Africa unless they were misgoverned.

Changes in Naval Training

Changes have been made in the conditions governing the admission of naval cadets to the training college at Halifax. As Canada has no navy, those who pass through the college are no longer bound to adopt a naval career, while the government no longer promises to secure employment for them in the navy.

The college is to become an educational institution along the lines of the R.M.C. at Kingston. In addition to a general education, cadets will receive instruction in marine subjects and marine engineering, thus qualifying themselves for employment in the hydrographic, tidal and current surveys.

Drug Habit Grows at Alarming Rate

Owing to alarming ravages made by the opium habit in all classes of French society of late, a bill stringently to regulate the sale of the drug in its various forms has been drafted and will shortly be introduced in the chamber of deputies. In the meantime general orders have been issued by the police prefects of Paris, Toulon, Marsailles and other cities, to keep a sharp lookout for the traffic in all its phases and make arrests relentlessly wherever culprits may be found. The feelings of no noe, regardless of their prominence, are to be spared.

CANADA TO HAVE LARGEST TELESCOPE

USED TO MEASURE MOVEMENT OF STARS FAINTER THAN FIFTH MAGNITUDE

The Canadian Government to Build the World's Largest Telescope at a Cost of $100,000, the Sum Representing a Notable Contribution to Pure Science.

The Canadian government will soon posses a more powerful reflector telescope than any now in existence. It has been referred to in the newspapers as "the largest telescope in the world," but this description is misleading for two reasons: First, because its aperature, 72 inches, is to be the same as that of the famous Parsonstown reflector, built by Lord Rosse in 1842; and second, because by the time the Canadian instrument is completed it now seems likely that the 100 inch reflector which has long been under construction for the Mount Wilson Solar Observatory will also be ready for use. The Canadian telescope will, however, be a much more efficient instrument than Lord Rosse's. Not only will the mirror be much superior, but the mounting will enable the telescope to be worked to the full advantage. The Parsonstown reflector has an altazimuth, not an equatorial, mounting, and is operated under such difficulties that comparatively little use has ever been made of it.

Contracts for the new telescope have just been awarded to J. Brashear for the mirrors and other optical parts, and to Warner and Swasey for the mounting. The disk for the principal mirror will be made by the St. Gobain glass works, in Paris, but all the grinding and figuring will be done in the United States. The total cost will be nearly $100,000. Inasmuch as the instrument is intended primarily and notoriously for work of no immediate practical beenfit, viz., the spectographic measurement, of radial stellar velocities, this sum represents a very notable contribution to pure science on the part of a government.

The telescope will have a parabolic mirror of 72 inches clear aperture and 30 feet local length, with a central hole ten inches in diameter. The mounting is to be similar to that of the Ann Arbor and Melbourne reflectors, with a sketelon tube at one side and nearly midway between the bearings of the long polar axis, the balance being restored by the declinaton motion mechanicism and by counterweights at the other side. Both polar and declination axes will be carried entirely on ball or roller bearings of collimating and a complicated system of counterweighted rollers for relieving the friction. The construction will also be simplified in other respects, e.g., all fine circles will be omitted as will the slow motion arm in right ascension. It is characteristic of twentieth century technique in astronomy that, although the new telescope will have a full set of oculars for visual observation, no program of visual work is contemplated. Nowadays the camera takes the place of the human retina. The main purpose of the instrument will be the measurement of motion in the line of sight of stars fainter than the fifth magnitude; a task beyond the light-gathering power of nearly all existing telescopes. For such work the telescope will generally be used in the Cassegrain form; the light from the main mirror converging toward a focus, will be received by a second hyperboloidal mirror of about 19 inches aperture and 10 feet focus, placed about 23 feet above the main mirror. The light passes thence down through the hole in the main mirror, and the star images are formed about three feet below the latter. Here the spectrograph will be placed. For the fainter stars of low dispersion the spectograph will probably be placed at the prime focus. An investigation of the atmospheric conditions in different parts of Canada is now in progress, to determine where the telescope will be located.—Scientific American.

WOULD DECIMALIZE TIME

Frenchman Proposes 20 Hours and 1,000 Chrones for Day

A suggestion is made in the current Revue Bleue for the purpose of bringing the chronological system into line with the decimalization of money, weights and distance.

This new proposal involves the division of the day into twenty periods, called hores, instead of twenty-four hours, each hore being similarly divided into fifty periods, called chrones, each chrone—about one and a half minutes—being the thousandth part of a day—as the gram and the meter are the thousandth part, respectively, of the kilogram and kilometer. The chrones are further subdivided into centichrones, the equivalent of a second.

The deviser of the plan asserts that the new system would facilitate marine observations, besides simplyfying calculations of time generally. The French government, however, shows no inclination to adopt the idea.

The British government has forwarded through Walter Hines Page, the United States ambassador, its keen gratitude for the offer made by the state of Virginia to present to the British nation a copy of Houdon's statue of George Washington.

PRAIRIE INTO VALUABLE LAND

Stupendous Irrigation Work Near Bassano Practically Completed

The greatest irrigation plant on this side of the world was practically completed with the finishing of the great dam across the Bow river at Bassano, Alta.

In the Canadian work 3,000 men have been laboring constantly for three years. A battery of steam shovels, hundreds of concerte machines, 2,000 teams, a corps of engineers and survey men, hundreds of freight cars for supplies and material, have been employed. Altogether $17,000,000 has been spent to turn the territory into a rich agricultural district.

The area affected by this distribution of water lies at the foothills of the Rocky Mountains. It stretches practically from the outskirts of Calgary east to the Red Deer river and as far north as Edmonton.

Cutting this immense irrigation "block" nearly in half is the Bow river, a stream 200 yards wide, which rises in the Rockies and flows, an icy torrent, through Alberta. Near Bassano it bends in a wide sweep like a horseshoe, and there is located the Bassano dam.

This dam is situated eighty-three miles east of Calgary, is 7,000 feet long, 350 feet thick at the base, narrowing at the top to forty-five feet. It is built of earth, re-enforced with concrete. Behind the dam are the gates of the main irrigation canal.

Propose Assistance to Wool Growers

The live stock branch of the Dominion department of agriculture is prepared to offer practical assistance this year to associations of wool growers in the preparation and display of their wool clips for market. Associations, in order to receive this aid, must be organized in accordance with the regulations of the branch, and membership is limited to actual owners of sheep. West of Fort William an association must contain at least 3,000 sheep, or sufficient to comprise one carload of wool; east of there, a relative number. The services of expert wool classifiers, who will take charge of and perform the grading, classification and preparation of the wool will be provided.

This proposal represents much more than a mere continuation of the work undertaken last year, when two wool classifiers, in the employ of the live stock branch, visited the western provinces and gave practical instruction and advice to sheep raisers upon wool growing.

Rather it means the introduction of a definite scheme whereby wool producers may be actually assisted in preparing and presenting their wools upon the market in the most acceptable fashion, and thus be in a position to cater more directly to the requiremets of the market. Moreover, it should prove effective in developing and improving the general status of sheep raising and in creating an impetus to the production and preparation of an improved grade of wool and indirectly a better class of mutton.

The branch will also provide the means for the establishment of a central bureau for the distribution of current information respecting domestic and foreign markets of wool, so that the associations may be conconstantly in command of complete knowledge concerning the source of the demand and the ruling price of all grades.

Reliable information of this nature will serve as an excellent asset to an association in directing its policy and placing it in closer relationship with the demands of the trade.

Sheep raisers desirous of taking advantage of this offer and of forming an association should write, for detailed information and application forms, to the live stock commissioner, Ottawa.

Air Ports in Britain

The Aerial League of the British Empire, in conjunction with the war office, and the admiralty, is making an effort to arouse the British public from the apathy in regard to aviation.

Plans are being made for the provision of aerial landing places throughout Great Britain. At first these "air" ports will be situated at places where they are most needed by the services, but in course of time it is hoped to have forty or fifty dotted about the country.

At least twenty-five acres will be required for each landing place, and they will be equipped with two hangars, fuel, spare parts, telephone, and, where possible, a wireless installation.

It is hoped that the financial resources will be considerably augmented by letting out the landing places as football and recreation grounds, but a considerable sum of money will be necessary for the initial expense.

At present, cross-country flying is considerably handicapped by the absence of suitable landing places, and it is hoped that a scheme which arouses local interest as well as patriotism will receive the fullest support in the old country, and later in the dominions.

Penalty For Landing There

Hans Berliner, the German aeronaut, who was made a prisoner at Kirgischansk, Russia, last February, when he came to earth at the end of a balloon trip from Bitterfield, Germany, and the two passengers, who accompanied him, have been sentenced by the Russian authorities to six months' solitary confinement.

REPUBLIC OF MEXICO AND ITS HISTORY

COUNTRY HAS BEEN THROUGH MANY HANDS AND STRANGE ADVENTURES

History Dates Back to the Year 720—The Aztecs Established an Empire With a High Grade of Civilization Before the Invasion of the Spaniards.

The republic of Mexico, officially called the United States of Mexico, was one of the two great vice-royalties of Spain in the new world. Mexico and Peru, represented the dominions of a territory extending from the undefined north to the extremity of South America.

From the hopelessly confused legendary accounts of events in prehistoric Mexico, it is possible to make out only a rough outline of what happened. The Toltecs began a long course of wandering through the valleys about the year 720. They held sway until 1103, when their power was overthrown and they themselves driven southward through Central America. Their conquerors the Chichimecas, held the land until they were, in turn, overpowered by the Aztecs, who had wandered into the country from the north.

Aztecs Established Empire

The Aztecs established an empire with a high grade of civilization considering the wildness and savagery of the rest of the American hemisphere. The architecture, government, mode of living, and commerce were such as to astonish the Spaniards under Cortez, who invaded the country in 1519. Montezuma was their emperor.

The Spaniards quickly went to war with the Azetcs. The latter fought bravely for a time, but could do nothing before Cortez's cannon.

In 1810 a priest, Miguel Hidalgo, rang the church bell and called upon his people to throw off the yoke of foreign tyranny. A year later he was captured and shot, but the revolution continued until 1822, when Iturbide, a former Spanish official, but then a revolutionist, was proclaimed emperor of the independent monarchy, a year later a republic was established, and Quadalupe Victoria became the first president.

Texas Quits Mexico

In 1836 the Texans made good their separation from Mexico, and ten years later the United States army invaded the country, finding an easy conquest. Civil war followed and some of the European powers sent troops to protect the foreign citizens in Mexico.

Later on, all but France withdrew their troops, and it was then that Napoleon III. unfolded his plan for establishing a French empire in Mexico. He persuaded the weak-willed Austrian Archduke Maximilian to ascend the throne with his wife, the now insane Empress Charlotte.

The Mexicans then overthrew the monarchy, captured and shot the emperor and established another republic. General Juarez, leader of the patriots, became president. Upon his death, in 1872, Juarez was succeeded by Lerdo de Trejada, who was ousted by Portfirio Diaz, in 1877. Diaz was succeeded by his friend, Manuel Gonzalez, in 1880, who was, in turn, followed by Diaz again, the latter having changed the constitution limiting the terms a president might hold.

Follow United States

The government is patterned after that of the United States, having a president, vice-president, congress composed of two houses, and a similar system of judiciary.

Mexico is one of the richest mining countries in the world, and has vast water, timber and agricultural resources. It has been largely developed and exploited by foreign capital, with little or no advantage to the people at large.

There are more than 16,000,000 inhabitants, over 10,000,000 of whom are pure-blooded Indians or largely of Indian blood. The ruling calss is, for the most part, of nearly pure Spanish blood, and constitutes a very small part of the population.

The Latest Homestead Map

The twelfth edition of a publication which should prove of interest to every person following the progress of settlement throughout the province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is now being prepared in the railway lands branch of the department of the interior at Ottawa. It is known as a "Homestead Map," and shows in a graphic way the land situaton up to the beginning of the present year, also the standing of each quarter section throughout the three prairie provinces, according to the records of the department on the 1st of January, 1914. The map has been issued in three separate sheets, one for each province, the Saskatchewan and Manitoba sheets now being available for distribution, the additional sheet covering the province of Alberta to follow at an early date.

In addition to the information regarding lands which have been homesteaded or otherwise disposed of, the publication contains complete information with respect to Indian reserves, timber berths, grazing leases, post offices, railways, etc., throughout the three provinces.

The homestead map is being distributed free of charge. A copy of the Saskatchewan or Manitoba sheet may now be obtained upon application to F. C. C. Lynch, superintendent of railway lands, department of the Interior, Ottawa.

Comox Central Conservative Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of Comox Central Conservatives was held at Comox on Thursday night. There was a record attendance, forty delegates, and many others being present. After the reading and adoption of the minutes of previous meetings, the Associatton was asked to recommend a man for the office of Fishery Inspector, to fill the place vacated by the death of John Masson. There were three names before the meeting; Thos. Beckensell, Ed. Creech, and Geo. Davis. The result of the first vote was, Beckensell 10, Creech 11, and Davis 19. On the second ballot Creech had 19, and Davis 21, the Association will therefore endorse Mr. Davis' candidature for the position. Among this communication was one from the Powell River Association, regretting inability to have delegates present. The association will also recommend that all secretaries be appointed commissioners to take affidavids in connection with registering voters. Messrs. Duncan, Holmes, and Willard were appointed to draft by-laws for the Association.

The secretary was instructed to write Sir Richard McBride and see if he can spare an extra day to address a meeting here when he comes to Cumberland to assist at the opening of the new Opera House.

In order to wipe our the existing indeptedness of the Association, a per capita tax will be levied on all the members of the Conservative Association, affected with no central body.

The secretary was also instructed to try and find out why the Secretaty of the B. C. Association pays no attention to important communications from the various associations throughout the District.

The Presidents of the various associations were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the Premier's meeting, in case he can make it convenient to be here.

The election of officers was as follows:—

Hon. Presidents, R. L. Borden, and Sir Richard McBride.

Hon. Vice Presidents, A. P. Clements, and M. Manson.

President, A. McDonald.

Vice President' W. Duncan.

Sec. Treas., F. Cameron.

The next meeting of the Association will be held at Cumberland in about one month.

A serious fire took place in Salem Mass, last Friday. Two lives were lost, and many people were injured. About 10,000 people are homeless. The losses will amount to about 10 millions of dollars.
