Woman's Institute Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute took place Tuesday afternoon at the Maple Hall, presided over by Mrs. W. B. McFarlane. A very large and enthusiastic body of members and visitors were assembled to enjoy a highly interesting and varied program prepared for the day. Proceedings opened with the singing of the Maple Leaf, followed by the minutes of the January meeting being read and approved and disposal of other business.

The social part commenced with an excellent solo contributed by Mrs. E. D. Ireland. Mrs. H. H. McClure was then called upon to give a paper on "How Women May Become Self-supporting in Rural Districts." This subject was given at the convention at Nelson by Mrs. McClure, who was a delegate from the local Women's Institute, and her apt and able manner of treating it prompted the directorate to invite her to repeat the subject for the benefit of the members, who thoroughly appreciated it. At the conclusion of her remarks, Mrs. McFarlane suggested the paper should be printed in the local press, the matter being a weighty one with women generally. Appended is the paper:

"How Women May Become Self-supporting in Rural Districts"

"At first glance one would think this an easy subject, but the more you ponder on it the broader it becomes.

"Before deciding what line of work to take up it will greatly depend upon the individual woman herself. Some would be in their element when engaged in out-door occupation, while others would be like a fish out of water. Many think there is nothing pays like keeping poultry and there are many instances where women have made a splendid success at such work, but one does not want to get carried away with the idea that there is no work connected with it, for it is a case where eternal vigilance is the price of success. One also needs to take into consideration the size and proximity of the available markets, for much better prices can be obtained in the larger centres than in smaller places, and if one has to ship any distance it greatly reduces the profit.

"Then there are many who would not make a success at poultry raising, and yet would do well at the growing of small fruits and vegetables, both of which prosper in this province. Our local markets are for the most part well supplied with early vegetables, but one may do well by growing tomatoes, cucumbers, onions, cabbage and celery for the prairie markets where there is a good demand and these are things which will ship to good advantage. In the case of small fruits, such as strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries, red, white and black currants, all these yield splendid returns for the labor involved. Both of these I have mentioned—poultry raising and the growing of small fruits and vegetables—require a great deal more of manual labor than many women would care to undertake unless she has the business ability to make things pay sufficiently well to have the hard labor done by hired assistance.

"But there is another enterprise which has been largely overlooked by women seeking means of self-support and yet it requires much less labor and gives greater returns for the

Knights of Pythias

One of the best and most interesting evenings was spent in the Knights of Pythias Hall last Tuesday, the occasion being the installation of the officers for the ensuing term. When the usual routine business had been transacted E. A. Hill took up his position as installing officer, and was assisted by C. Borgstrom as Grand Master of Arms and Gilchrist as Grand Prelate. The occasion was one of marked interest to the members.

The officers installed were
C. C.—R. C. Carr.
V. C.—J. L. Walker.
Prelate—Rev. W. E. Dunham.
M. of W.—J. Scanlon.
K. of R. & S.—F. M. Christian.
M. of F.—E. Halsall.
M. of E.—F. Kummer.
M. of A.—L. Pearson.
I. G.—C. Ekstrom.
O. G.—J. R. W. Woods.

After the installation ceremony the members enjoyed an elegant repast after which several of the newly installed officers gave addresses, whilst others rendered songs and recitations.

The evening was one of optimism for the future, the members having some of the ozone of enthusiasm in their breasts that will bear fruit in the near future.

East Kootenay Federal Association

An organization meeting was held in Cranbrook last Saturday to appoint officers for the East Kootenay Federal Conservative Association.

General routine business was transacted and the following officers elected:

President—Dr. Barnell, Fernie.
First Vice-President—A. M. Chisholm, Windermere.
Second Vice-President—Dr. Rutledge, Cranbrook.
Secretary—W. B. McFarlane, Cranbrook.
Executive Committee—Dr. S. Barnell, Fernie, A. B. Trites, Fernie, R. Reading, Fernie, representatives from the Fernie riding; Dr. Rutledge, Cranbrook, W. B. McFarlane, Cranbrook, A. E. Watts, Wattsburg, representatives from the Cranbrook riding; A. M. Chisholm, Windermere, H. Parsons, Golden, E. A. Bennett, Field, representatives from the Columbia riding.

Hon. R. E. Green visits Cranbrook

Hon. R. E. Green, member of the Federal House for this district, visited Cranbrook last Saturday on his way to Ottawa. During his visit the executive of the Board of Trade arranged for a meeting and invited Mr. Green to be present. This meeting was held in T. T. Meccredy's office at 5 p. m. The executive brought several matters to the member's attention, particular reference being made to the proposed telephone connection with the Atholmer-Windermere district and subsequently to Golden. Mr. Green in reply said that he could not pledge the government at this time to do the work they required but assured the meeting that he would use every endeavor to have the proper authorities consider the matter as favorably as possible. Re the matter of having an armory built in Cranbrook for the purpose of establishing a centre for the volunteers that were now drilling and other possible ones in the future, Mr. Green reiterated his former statements and said that he would do the best he could for the project. Mr. Green drew the attention of those present to the fact that the meeting assembling in Ottawa was, as far as he understood, for the purpose of passing legislation for war measures and only the absolutely necessary legislation directly affecting the welfare of the Dominion would be considered at all. However he would use all the influence possible to assist the district to obtain these necessary requirements.

Conservatives Meet

The usual monthly meeting of the Cranbrook Conservative Association was held in Clapp's Hall last night when a very large attendance was present.

President W. B. McFarlane occupied the chair.

The meeting was first opened by the reading of the minutes of the previous meetings and adopted as read.

A communication was received from the Cranbrook Board of Trade in reference to the wood distilling plant which it is proposed to establish in the city or district. The association endorsed the action of the board of trade in requesting the government to assist the enterprise.

The great question before the meeting was the passing of bylaws governing the rules and regulations of the local association. Dr. Rutledge, chairman of the bylaw committee, addressed the meeting re the same. They were afterward passed on separately and finally adopted with a few amendments to the committee's suggestions.

The following committee were appointed to look into the voters' list: Messrs. Dr. Rutledge, I. J. Baxter, D. McFarlane, Wm. Steward, A. J. Balment. The committee has power to add to their numbers.

The meeting was one that carried with it much enthusiasm for the cause; it portrayed an increasing interest in the welfare of the Conservative party, and it bespoke well for the betterment of some of the conditions that have existed in the city in times past.

It might be well to point out that these monthly meetings are for the benefit of all Conservatives who have the interest of their party at heart and carry an interest in the well-being of the rank and file of that party. The president and members who do attend wish it to be known that they would be pleased to welcome any who care to attend these meetings and enjoy the social privileges of the local Conservative association.

Young Men's Club "Play Ball"

All roads led to the Young Men's Club on Monday night when the first game of the newly organized basketball league was played before a packed house.

Arrangements had been made for a special night in order to create interest in the club and the result exceeded all expectations. Early in the evening the crowd began to gather, and by the time the first event of the evening, the girls' game, commenced the overflow crowd necessitated the placing of seats on the basketball floor.

The girls' game was on a par with the program for the rest of the evening. The "Hicks" and "Macs" were the opposing teams, and their playing time and time again awake enthusiastic outbursts from the audience. The play was fast and furious and at half time only one point separated the rivals, the "Hicks" leading 4-3. The same equality was shown through the second half when the whistle blew the tired "Macs" led the equally tired "Hicks" by one point, the final score being 9-8. The girls showed skill at the game that surprised the on-lookers, many of the goals scored being of a sensational nature. All starred, the scorers being Lilly Turner and V. Bradwin for the Hicks and Edith Macdonald and Enid Gill for the Macs. The centres were evenly matched, while Della Greaves was the star of the backfield, but the others were not far behind. The lineup—Macs, M. Turner and E. Gill forwards, Edith Macdonald centre, D. Greaves and D. Kershaw guards; Hicks, L. Turner and V. Bradwin forwards, G. Hickenbotham centre, B. Gill and E. Caslake guards. Mr. Mirams, as referee, made a hit with the girls by his impartial handling of the contest.

During the interval between the girls and boys' games Mr. Mirams gave a clever exhibition on the parallel bars, time and again drawing applause for his skillful work.

The game between the "Stags" and the "Beavers" then took place. The teams started off with a rush, each basket in turn being bombarded and only the sterling work of the opposing sides kept the score down. The rivalry of the players showed in their inclination to rough it in the first half considerably with the result that fouls were numerous. At the end of this period the score stood 11-10 in favor of the Stags. The second half started off just as fast but the Stags found their scoring eye and soon drew ahead, but not without a struggle. The pace was strenuous but the players did not let up and were going faster at the finish than when the game began. At full time the Stags led 26-17. Dallas was high scorer for the victors, annexing 14 points, while Ashworth accounted for nearly all the losers' tallies. The lineup—Stags, Crowe and Wanger forwards, Dallas centre, Bricken and McNabb guards; Beavers, Gill and Rickards forwards, Ashworth centre, St. Clair and Bridges guards. Bill Hopkins refereed to the satisfaction of both teams, with Mr. Mirams judge of play.

After the game another exhibition by Mr. Mirams on the horizontal bars was given. This was even better than the first stunt, and was greeted with rounds of applause.

The musical program came next and consisted of the following

21st YEAR CRANBROOK, B.C. February 6, 1915. No. 6

The debate on the address was closed last Friday afternoon by the Hon. W. R. Ross, minister of lands, in a speech that was masterful, clear and convincing, brushing away the silly sophistry and calumnious charges of Liberals and Socialists by a magnificent sweep of indisputable facts and figures. Mr. Ross has made many splendid addresses and speeches during his career in parliament, but never before has he been so overwhelming in his arguments, so forceful in his statements. There was no attempt at an apology for his department. On the contrary a perfect willingness to let the entire truth be known so that the people might judge fairly on the policy pursued by his department. He did not indulge in flights of oratory, but like the surgical specialist laid bare the cold facts on record. There was no mincing of words, no Macedonian cries of distress. He did not hesitate to declare that it was a condition, not a theory, that confronts the Government, the province and the people, the same condition that is confronting every civilized land today, and he expressed the earnest belief that the land policy of the government was endorsed by those who were familiar with the fact and not controlled by political views.

Mr. Ross' speech was one of the best made in parliament for years, and will give him that privilege that comes to every statesman who meets the critics of his party with a reply that is fair and clear, absolutely devoid of personalities, partisan bitterness or cheap subterfuge. It is a speech that should be read by every man in British Columbia, as it is a most valuable addition to the land policy of the province. Mr. Ross stated that he was inclined to believe that the criticisms of the last few years was due more to the success of the policy pursued by the department rather than failure. The ten years, from 1905 and ending 1914, the government had consented to a sale of over 5,000,000 acres of land and the amount received in cash from these sales was $12,500,000, and it was to a large extent, the receipt of this money that had enabled the government to give such an impetus to the progress of the province and prosperity to the people. Mr. Ross said that the big land boom was due more to the caprice of the public than to any legislation by the government. In 1905 the land sales were 55,000. In 1906 225,000 acres. In 1909 the first appearance of the land boom, 645,000 acres were sold, and in 1910, 2,000,000 acres were sold. But in 1911 prices advanced to $10 and $15, and there were 900,000 acres sold. In 1912 only 200,000 acres were sold. In 1913 there were 426,000 acres and last year only 45,000 acres.

These figures fully met the arguments of the opposition, since only 225,000 acres were sold in 1906 when land was practically one dollar with no reserves. Yet in 1909 with the price increased 150 per cent. and many reserves made 645,000 acres were sold. As to charges of fraud by stating the amendment was passed at a time of strong opposition, and the object of that time was to make the staker of the land make an affidavit as there had been some frauds discovered regarding previous staking. The official figures on arrears of principal were about $9,000,000. The government could not lose as much money had been paid on these lands and if they reverted to the government they could be used. There were many buyers who would be willing to quit if they could get their money back. In closing Mr. Ross said they were anxious to secure the best men for the task of developing the best province in the Dominion of Canada.

Financial Assistance to Farmers

Cranbrook, B. C., Feb. 4.

Editor Prospector:

Sir,—I note that you invite criticisms of two petitions to the Dominion Parliament as suggested by Mr. A. E. Watts. The one advising generous financial terms to encourage farmers is akin to my ideals of politics and I am neither a Liberal or Conservative, but I approve of the policy of taking the best suggestions and the cream of thought from all sources for the common good. This is far more commendable than wasting energies in useless or inane stuff that makes one despise the modern press as the slave of party politics. There is one thing very apparent that the west must be developed along agricultural lines if the great cities are to be maintained and earning capacity given to the great network of railways. The cities and towns are developed too far ahead with no corresponding agricultural and industrial support, the result is crowded cities with hungry people. It was a most cruel thing for those in authority to permit people to be drawn to this country by advertisements as was done under the direction of the late Minister of Public Works, the Hon. Clifford Sifton, and he was hailed as a clever organizer which he would have been had he properly and humanely completed his work along the lines suggested by the petition under consideration, and in my opinion there can be nothing added to improve it except to emphasize the truth that when people are attracted to a country by governments and by corporations, it is the duty of both to protect and assist the settlers, and this should be done as set forth in the petition. I think there would be no difficulty in getting half a million or more signatures in the west and armed with such an expression of public opinion, a man of strong character with ability and determination no doubt could get the measure passed, and the one who succeeds in doing it, will do more for the prosperity of western Canada than has ever before been attempted. I enclose my address and shall take great pleasure in obtaining signatures if copies of the petitions are sent to me.

selections: Instrumental, Miss Belau, Reg. Hockey; song, Miss Hewitt; recitation, Miss Bradwin; cornet solo, J. Ketteringham; recitation, Miss Orma McNabb; song, Miss Caslake.

The audience showed their appreciation of the talent displayed by their repeated encores.

The refreshments were then served on the basketball floor. The crowd was much larger than anticipated and caught the refreshment committee napping, but, although there was no surplus, everybody was served and, the committees hopes, satisfied.

The boys wish to thank the girls of the club for their great help in time of trouble, that is, in the supplying and dispensing of refreshment. Without their aid things would certainly have fallen by the wayside in this particular part of the night's entertainment.

The hope is that the crowd will continue to turn out in as large numbers for the next Monday's game. On that night the Beavers and Athletics clash in the second game of the league. These teams are evenly matched and an exciting contest is looked forward to. Admission, everybody 10 cents.

The preliminary game will be played between the Hicks and Macs when the Hicks intend to avenge their defeat of Monday night.

amount invested than either of the two mentioned that is bee-keeping. I have no actual experience in this line of work myself, but from what I understand from the experience of others it is a very profitable business. I know of one man in Ontario whose yield of honey for last year from 200 hives was 20 tons which he sold at 10c a pound, netting him $4,000. Had he sold his honey in this province he would in all probability have realized about double that amount. This is an instance where I see no reason why women could not do equally as well as a man.

"These things require more or less capital, while many women are thrown entirely on their own resources. Still there are numerous ways in which a woman can support herself.

"Where is the rural community that would not gladly welcome a nurse? Yet there are hundreds of them in this western land of ours, and although the Government has been interviewed time and again on this question, yet not one dollar of Government money has ever been spent in sending nurses to these brave women who pay the price toll of colonization. One very sad case came to my notice some time ago. A woman takes sick, the nearest doctor lived 40 miles away, the nearest telephone 25 miles away, the roads almost impassable. A neighbor walks 25 miles to telephone the doctor and waits there until he comes to show him the road. As they near the house the husband comes out imploring the doctor to hurry. On going in he finds the woman has been suffering untold agony and five minutes after another home has been left without a loving mother's care, and a lonely husband to care for four small children.

"There are many women who have had no special training for nursing, yet have had sufficient practical experience in nursing their own friends that if they let it be known they were willing to undertake such work I venture to say they would find many who would appreciate their services. Then there are many women to whom none of these things appeal and yet are endowed with abundant qualities as home-makers. They love the daily routine of home work and the care of little children and yet fate (if I may so call it) has left them without such of their own and to such I would say there is wide scope for your energies for there are many men in the same position as the one I have spoken of who would gladly pay for such help as you could render.

"And there are many mothers whose hands are full to overflowing with the daily routine of washing and ironing, cooking, baking and churning, sweeping, scrubbing and dusting, that she would gladly have the assistance with the making, mending and darning, and there is an abundance of such work in every district, but, alas, too often the old story—no help to be had.

"In conclusion I would like to say to all mothers, by all means, let us see that our daughters are trained thoroughly along some kind of work so that if the day should ever come that it would be necessary for them to support themselves they will be in a position to do so."

Mrs. J. Shaw was next called upon to give her "First Aid" notes, taken from a medical lecturer at the recent convention in Nelson, and were found to be every day useful remedies in cases of burns, bites, stings, scalds, etc.

A short talk on "Nut Bread" was given by Mrs. D. Campbell and when handed round was pronounced excellent.

The hostesses for the day were Mesdames Campbell, Ireland, Boyes and Kennedy who handed round light dainty refreshments with tea.

Another highly successful meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

that are making you feel so badly. If so, you can easily tell. If your head feels dull and aching—if your back hurts nearly all the time—if your appetite is poor and your tongue is coated—if the urine burns, is highly colored and offensive in odor—if you notice a brick dust deposit or mucus in the urine after standing over night—then you certainly have something the matter with your kidneys. A MISTAKEN IDEA

There are some people who still resort to drugged pills or alcoholic syrups to overcome colds, nervousness or general debility, and who know that the pure, unadulterated nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is eminently better, but refrain from taking it because they fear it may lead to excessive fat or obesity.

This is a mistaken idea, because Scott's Emulsion first strengthens the body before making flesh. Its blood-forming properties aid nature to throw off sickness by building health from its very source, and flesh is formed only by its continued use. Avoid alcoholic substitutes for SCOTT'S.

The Cranbrook Herald, before asking the attorney-general's department to wake up, should take a stick of dynamite and blow out the cobwebs that are evidently hanging around their reporter's department. For their information it might be well to point out that the appointment of the police and licence commissioners was known in the city by proper authorities last Saturday. Police commission: L. Clapp and W. Attridge; licence commission: A. J. Balment and J. Caslake.

$2 A DAY SALARY FOR INTELLIGENT married or single women for work around home or liberal remuneration for spare time. Mrs. Davidson, Brantford. Fe20

Arrangements have been made whereby the ordinary rate of two cents per ounce applicable to all letters sent from Canada to the United Kingdom, will apply to letters addressed to British and Canadian troops on the continent. The rate on ordinary letters from Canada for the continent is five cents for the first ounce, and three cents for each subsequent ounce, so that this extension of the two cent an ounce rate to letters addressed to our soldiers on the continent is a decided reduction in favour of correspondence going to the soldiers.

houses of Canada on all orders of $15.00 or over. Ira R. Manning, Ltd.

The inference made by the Herald in one of their locals this week is to the effect that it was the city who opened the restricted district again. For the Herald's information we beg to point out that the order in council No. 262, approved on March 29th, 1910, has been rescinded, consequently the whole of the "district" is under provincial control at the present time. It would be well if the city council or the board of trade or some responsible representatives of the citizens of the city and district would bring the necessary pressure to bear and let the government thoroughly understand that the citizens of Cranbrook generally do not want the restricted district and want it done away with at once.
