PREST, THE PHOTOGRAPHER

WAS A STRENUOUS DAY

The Cranbrook Fair Furnished Much Excitement.

THE FOOT RACE THE BIG EVENT

Horse Races In the Afternoon and Boxing Contest At Night.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS WERE WAGERED

Monday was a strenuous day in Cranbrook. It started with a foot race in the morning, on which thousands of dollars were bet, then followed some very good horse races, and in the evening there was a boxing contest, and later a banquet that lasted untill 2 o'clock in the morning. The foot race was a fluke, although a pretty contest, the horse races were all right, the boxing contest gave forth the ordor of fakism, and the banquet was one of the most enjoyable ever given in Cranbrook. The individual who played the whole string, engaged in the numerous discussions arising out of the foot race and boxing contest, cheered the winner of the horse races and participated in the feast of reason at the banquet knew the next morning that he had made a day of it.

In some ways the day was a success, in others it was a failure, yet in the two cases that failure could be charged up against the proceedings, the foot race and the boxing match, the management of the Cranbrook Athletic association could not be held to blame by any reasonable man.

The Foot Race.

There was a foot race in Cranbrook Monday.

It was a great event and aroused more interest and hard feelings than any sporting event pulled off in this district.

And the end is not yet.

The race was a match between Harry Nevin of Cranbrook and F. J. Mitchell of Fernie for $500 a side. But the purse was the small part of the total wagers made. Monday morning the Fernie men were rushing around with their hands full of bills hollering for bets. As a result by 10 o'clock several thousand dollars had been put up. When the bank opened another big bunch of Cranbrook money floated into the street and the Fernie boys began to waver. Here and there a backer of Mitchell would be heard to say, "Can't take any more, I'm all in." This continued until after the grounds were reached, when it became impossible for Cranbrook to put up any more coin for the reason that no man with Mitchell money could be found. Everything was good natured, although at first the Fernie men did a good deal of blowing, but as their fifties and hundreds were promptly covered their betting enthusiasm gradually died until finally they had nothing to say and Nevin money had to go begging.

The preliminaries of the race were quickly arranged. Both men inspected the track, it was carefully measured by both sides, and H. Haines of the bank and H. Bentley of Fernie were selected as starters, and James Ryan and G. H. Miner of Cranbrook and H. Hunter of Pincher Creek, judges of the horse races were named as the judges.

It was arranged that Mr. Haines should fire a pistol if the start was right but that if it was not satisfactory to Mr. Bentley he was to fire a second shot to call them back.

The started was made, Haines fired and the two men came down the track like a whirlwind, neck and neck. In 20 or 30 yards Nevin got the lead, but just kept ahead up to the 60 yard point when he pulled out and then the race was his. Mitchell made a good struggle but he was up against too swift a man and the finish left him at least six feet in the rear.

A great cheer followed the close of the race and the admirers of Nevin flocked onto the track and hoisted him on their shoulders and carried him in triumph to the grand staud.

But a change came over their dreams.

Word was brought up from the other end of the track that it was a false start

No, no, that could not be! The men had run for blood. Everybody could see that it was a fair start. That was a mistake or a hoax.

But no. Two shots were fired. Harry Bentley, although satisfied that the start was fair to both sides, says that he fired his pistol accidentally!

And then came the war of discontent. But true to their sporting spirit, although the race had been run fairly and won fairly, the Cranbrook crowd cried, "All right. Let her go. We'll run again and give them another chance. We will give them no chance to kick."

Nevin went to his room under the grand stand expecting to be called any moment. But he was not.

Mitchell was taken hurriedly to the Cranbrook hotel and sent to his room.

The judges met and, being anxious to deal fairly with all, held a consultation and sent word to Mitchell to appear and run at 12:30. Word came back that he could not run before 1 o'clock, and he told E. J. Peltier just as he was leaving the grounds that he would be willing to run again at 1 o'clock. Then came further word from the Fernie backers, that the judges had nothing to say, as the articles provided that the second race might be run at any time during that day. Again the judges relented, hoping to keep good feeling all around. The crowd waited until nearly 2 o'clock and then gave it up and went home to get something to eat, coming back in the afternoon. Several of the Cranbrook men saw Mitchell between 12 and 1 o'clock and he expressed a willingness to run as soon as he had permission of his backers. Between 1 and 2 o'clock word came to the ground that Mitchell had strained a tendon and might not be able to run, and a 5 o'clock he sent notice to the judges to that effect, and appeared on the street limping badly and carrying a cane. J. L. Gates was hurrying around at 2 o'clock looking for the cane, but at no time was a physician called or allowed to examine Mitchell to ascertain his condition.

Then came inquiries to the judges if they would allow the Fernie men to draw down their side bets, but no answer would be given them except that those matters would be controlled by their decision.

Later in the day, the Fernie men who had had the most to say in the morning, began to serve notice on the stake holders not to pay over any money. But not all the Mitchell backers did this, by any means. Men like Albert Mautz, William Eschwig, W. W. Tuttle, Tom Rader, P. McMahon, and others, said that Nevin had won and fairly, and that they were willing to give up their money. But McKercher, Gates, Shaw, McLeod and others had notices served on some of the stake holders, and further notice sent Wednesday by the law firm of Ross & Alexander of Fernie to none of which any attention is being paid.

The judges' decision is as follows:

We decide that Harry Nevin is the winner of to days race with F. J. Mitchell by default.

Cranbrook, October, 27th 1902.

L. H. Hunter,
G. H. Miner,
James Ryan,
Judges.

And The Herald desires to state right here, that no where in East Kootenay or British Columbia could there be found three men who would deal fairer with any sporting proposition than these three. They are well known througout the district for their integrity and could not be induced to perform a dishonest or dirty act for any amount of money.

Most of the bets were made subject to the judges' decision, and consequently are being paid, and the stake money of $1,000 was turned over for the same reason.

It is most unfortunate that the affair resulted as it did, but throughout it all the people of Cranbrook acted fairly and as true sports. They bet confident they had the best man, and bet their money freely, and if they had been defeated they would have given up their coin without a murmur. After the race had been run the men from Fernie who were dissatisfied, never made a claim for any bets, but seemed anxious for some excuse to draw down their money. And yet they all knew that Nevin was the swiftest man.

The Horse Races.

The horse races were exceptionally good. In fact there were several events that have not been equaled on the Cranbrook track for interest. Owing to G. H. Miner's horse meeting with an accident some time ago, the harness races had to be called off. The different races and the winners were as follows:-

The Boxing Contest.

The boxing contest between Fitzgerald and Lewis, whether premeditated or not, was a rank fake, as the decision was given to Fitzgerald on a foul before the end of the first round. W. W. Tuttle was selected as referee, and a better one could not have been selected, and when his name was announced the crowd present broke into cheers of approval. The hall was not crowded yet there were quite a number present, and the seating arrangement was very satisfactory. The prices were $1.50 for general admission, $2 00 for the front rows and $2.50 for ring seats. It was nearly 9 o'clock when the men took their corners and stripped for the contest, "Fitz" showed his power in chest and shoulders but gave evidence of a lack of hard training, as there was too much superfluous flesh. Lewis on the contrary was apparently in fine fettle. When time was called the men stepped forward and the referee announced that it was to be a clean break away and that the pivot blow was barred. After shaking hands, quick action followed, as "Fitz" seemed determined to rush the battle from the start. In fact, there was more work in that part of a round, than is often seen in several rounds of the average boxing contest. Within a few seconds "Fitz" landed a terrific blow on Lewis' chin, sending him to the ropes and to his knees, where he remained until the referee had counted nine. From that time on "Lewis" work was punk. He attempted to foul on the break aways and three times went after the pivot blow, although repeatedly warned by the referee. The third time the play was so strong, although "Fitz" was always out of the way, that the referee called off the contest and gave his decision to Fitzgerald before time had been called on the first round. There were howls of derision from the audience, although everybody declared that Tuttle could do nothing else under the circumstances But the crowd was sore. They had paid to see a boxing contest of a few rounds at least and there were many yells of "fake, fake," as they left their seats.

Whether the fight was fixed or not for the first round, the principals got the blame for it, although Lewis seemed to come in for most of the censure. To even the casual observer it was rank, and to the men who put up their money for a boxing entertainment it was rotten to the core. It is such horse plays as that that spoils the success of good boxing contests by men who are honest enough to want to give a crowd a run for their money.

Lewis claims that after he got the blow on the chin, he went daffy and didn't know what he was doing, and this paper gives him the benefit of his explanation.

Wilmer-Cranbrook Mail Petition.

The following petition has been sent by the residents of the Windermere country to Postmaster General Mullock: Sir William Mullock, Postmaster-General, Ottawa, Ontario.

Sir:-The petition of the undersigned residents of the Windermere District, of British Columbia, humbly sheweth:-

That several months ago the residents of said district petitioned your department to establish a mail route from Wilmer to Cranbrook on the Crow's Nest Railway.

That said petition it is feared did not receive from the department the consideration that the merits and importance of the subject matter therefore justified, and now renew their request with the earnest hope of a more favorable consideration.

The District has made marked progress in the development of its rich mineral and agricultural resources in the past few years, but notwithstanding this, its mail facilities are not as good as they were five years ago the Windermere-Fort Steele mail route having been discontinued in the meantime.

The establishment of the route asked for will bring the district in closer touch with West and South Kootenay and the extensive development in progress there at the present time, and thus our vast undeveloped mineral resources are within the easy reach of the investor and capitalist.

The large increase in the volume of postal business transacted in the district and its importance as a mining and ranching center justifies the assumption that it is entitled to better mail facilities than at present enjoyed, and it is believed the Postoffice Inspector of the Province will concur in this view.

Your petitiones respectfully submit:

1. That the district is entitled to better facilities than that now furnished.

2. That the residents of the district, who should be the best judges of their own interests are almost unanimous in their desire for a weekly service from Wilmer to Cranbrook in preference to a bi-weekly service from Windermere to Golden.

3. That the establishment of this route means for the district almost the difference between prosperity and stagnation in the development of its ranching and mining interests.

4. That the expense of establishing the route asked for will be less than the expense of a semi-weekly service to Golden; a consideration which should appeal to the well-known economy of the department over which you preside.

5. That the fact above stated that the mail service has retrograded, notwithstanding the material progress made in the district served is not in keeping with the usual progressive character of the post office department under your incumbency.

In conclusion your petitioners bespeak for the subject matter of this request a fair consideration on the merits.

No Doukabours Need Apply.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 22—The provincial government has received a petition from the Doukabors of Assiniboia, in the Canadian northwest, asking that they be allowed to move to British Columbia, stating that they are not allowed to practice their religion as they would wish, for their religion holds that they must obey the laws of no country—no laws other than those of God.

The executive of British Columbia has declined to entertain the proposition.

FAREWELL TO FRIENDS

Messrs. Haines, Coleman and Hunter Honored.

A BANQUET GIVEN MONDAY NIGHT

There Was a Magnificent Spread and Speeches On Many Topics.

INNUMERABLE EXPRESSIONS OF REGRET

The people of Cranbrook are loyal to their friends and are ever ready to give material evidence of their feelings when the occasion arises. It was such an occasion last Monday night when the business element of Cranbrook gathered about forty strong to display their esteem and friendship for three citizens of Cranbrook who are leaving to better their conditions in new fields of labor. H. Haines, for nearly two years manager of the Canadian Bank of Commere, C. E. Coleman, for a year and a half agent for the C. P. R., and James Hunter, now teller of the Canadian Bank of Commerce have been notified by the companies by which they are employed that they have been transferred, and in a few days the scenes that have known them in the past few years well known them no more.

Among their friends in Cranbrook there was a unaminous feeling that there should be something done in their honor and in consequence it was decided to give the banquet. Arrangements were made for the event at the Cranbrook hotel, and a more successful function was never held in the town. The tables were arranged in the form of half a square, and when decorated with shining silver, potted plants and attractive glassware presented a scene that was pleasing to the artistic eye, and a credit to Mr. T. Rookes, the clerk at the hotel who had the arrangements in charge. It was about 10:30 when the guests filed into the dining room, and Chairman Beattie and Vice Chairman Gilpin took their places. Mr. Haines and Mr. Coleman occupied seats on either side of the chairman, while Mr. Hunter had a seat to the right of the vice chairman. The many good things to eat supplied by Mr. Kyan, the host, were thoroughly enjoyed by the guests, while the different groups indulged in pleasing conversation, jokes and salies of wit.

It was about 11:30 when Chairman Beattie inaugurated the toast programme by proposing the health of the King, and "God Save the King" was sang with hearty tones. The next toast was "Our Guests," which was responded to by Messrs. Haines, Coleman and Hunter, who expressed their pleasure over the honor conferred by the gathering, and their regret over leaving Cranbrook and the many friends they had here. In the responses that followed there was a strong current of feeling displayed when reference was made to the departure of the three gentlemen, showing plainly how strongly they had intrenched themselves in the hearts of the people of Cranbrook,

The toast list was as follows:

The Railroad Interest—Messrs. Jamieson, McKenzie and Cory.

Lumber Interests—Messrs. Lund and McNab.

Our Sports—Messrs. H. Jamieson, A. Leitch and W. F. Tate.

Mining Interests—Messrs. Beale, Hutchison and Elwell.

Banking Interests—Messrs. Malpas and Johnson.

Mercantile Interests—Messrs. Fink, Reid and Miner.

The Press—F. E. Simpson.

The Learned Professions—Dr. King' G. H. Thompson and Martin.

The Ladies—Messrs. Patterson and McSweyn.

Our Host—M. McInnes.

After singing "God Save the King" and "Auld Lang Syne," the guests dispersed, all feeling happy that they had been priviieged to enjoy such a pleasant evening.

The Wonders of Wild Horse.

Dave Griffith came over from Wild Horse Tuesday with another consignment of gold dust and nuggets. He was over only two weeks ago, and his load was not as large this time, having only about $1,600 in dust and $325 in nuggets. The last time he came over he deposited over $5,000 worth of dust in the bank. The nuggets were magnificent in appearance, being intirely free from quartz and perfect beauties. There were quite a number of strangers at the Cranbrook hotel when Mr. Griffith came in, and it was a sight to see them open their eyes when the nuggets and dust were produced.

Speaking of the celebrated gulch where nearly $30,000 000 in dust was taken out in the early sixties, Mr. Griffith said: "There are millions in the Wild Horse yet. I have done pretty well this summer, but the time is coming when that gulch will start the world talking again."

Creston, B. C.

Times are looking up. Church service every Sunday. Creston will soon be a civilized place.

The public school is progressing rapidly and will certainly be a credit to the town.

The new roads east and north are now in good shape. The east one goes to Goat River Canyon where there is good fishings and shooting and only two and a half miles from the station.

The family of James Barton, of the Dominion Express company, accompanied by Mr. Hale, Mrs. Bartons father, arrived last week and will locate on the ranch as soon as the house is completed.

On Sunday night last, some sneak thief entered the chicken coop of Major Little and removed some of the his choice fowls The door is now double locked. Better late than never.

From the amount of ground being put into shape a large number of fruit trees will be set out this fall and the following spring.

The weather here compares very favorably with that around Cranbrook.

Provincial Notes

T. Alfred Kennion, secretary of the Grand Forks board of trade, and for a long time a resident of that city, has gone to Mexico. He may find it necessary to cease parting his name in the middle when he gets down among the greasers.

They are still playing base ball in Grand Forks and Phoenix. They must have some hot fans in that section of the province.

Charles C Cliffe, of the Sandon Mining Review, has sold the little paper to his son, and has gone to the Soo to start a daily.

Golden's new daily paper plant has arrived at the scene of its future vicissitudes and troubles.

The bachelors of Grand Forks are going to give a ball next month. They would better be buying marriage licenses than spending their money on dances.

Advertising Pointers.

How much and how well you advertise counts.

Don't expect to reap good business from bad advertising.

The bracing autumn air is full of reasons why the clothing stores should begin advertising liberally.

You can't advertise too often if you are advertising the right goods in medium in the right way.

The best good ad. will prove powerless unless it is supported by good goods and good store management.

It is on record that Solomon advertised his new building There is a possibility that his 1,000 wives were what is called "the indirect results from advertising

A Pleasant "Stag" Party.

Last Friday evening James Gill gave a very pleasant stag party to about thirty guests in honor of H. Haines late manager of the Cranbrook branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Mr. Gill is an ideal host on an occasion of that kind and those present will not forget the evening very soon. Music, cards, anecdotes and words of good will formed the intellectual programe for the evening while the desire for the material part was met by an elegant lunch served in a most pleasing manner. The evening was a great social success in every respect.

An Independant Meat Market.

"There seems to be an idea prevailing" said M. McInnes to the Herald man, "that my new market is being operated in connection with P. Burns & Co. That is a mistake. My market is independent of any other firm or corporation and has nothing to do with P. Burns & Co., or any other meat firm."

Echoes of The Foot Race.

The horse Race and the foot race is now over, but the great race to "McSweyn & Griffith's" for a winter suit is now on. There will be no injuction served and everybody must win who buys. So don't be late. Cranbrook Block.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

There is more than one way to get sand bagged.

The lumber business will prove to be the basis of continued prosperity in many parts of South East Kootenay during the next few years.

John Houston is making a most readable paper out of his Nelson Tribune.

The Honorable Mr. Tarte is working the old fake of protection to the farmers that was worked on the agricultural element in the States for twenty years. A duty on farm products the prices of which are determined by the export market, is the rankest kind of demagogury. And yet it will catch some of them.

With quartz mining on the increase, with many new properties being developed, with the lumber industry rapidly growing, with the agricultural conditions improving and the coal business growing greater every month, there is every reason to be thankful that one has to-day in South East Kootenay, the richest district in Canada.

The time is rapidly approaching when hundreds of thousands of dollars will be invested in the coal industry between Cranbrook and Frank, Alberta, in addition to what is already invested. This will mean a rapid increase in the commerce of this section and greatly enhance the prosperity of the district.

The subscriptions to The Herald have been coming in at a rapid rate the past two months. The people realize that if they want to read the news of the whole district they must read The Herald.

Last winter The Herald editor was a philanthropist. He had no fence around the back yard of his office, and coal and wood were dumped promiscously on the ground. This condition was taken advantage of by a number of lazy skunks, and our fuel bill increased accordingly. We have ceased to be a philanthropist. We have had a high board fence built, sheds put up and all fuel will be kept this winter under lock and key. We feel sorry for the lazy ones, but there are other charitable inclined people in town to whom they can devote their attention this winter. We have had enough.

They say that Dunsmuir don't know what to do about resigning. If he will go to the country on the record his aggregation has made, the people will tell him what he will do in short order.

The result of the big coalstrike in the anthracite regions will prove a good thing for both capital and labor.

The New Denver Ledge says that more people have come to Canada from the State sof Iowa, the past year than through the work of the London office presided over by Hon J. H Turner, and suggests that his office be removed to DesMoines, the capital of the state of Iowa. The fact is that Mr. Turner is a superannuated politican, and has been given the job at London as a sinecure. It is such policies as this that handicaps B C., and will do so as long as the present crowd is in control

FORT STEELE ITEMS

From the Prospector.

J. J. Miller, Cranbrook, was at the Imperial Tuesday.

Barrister J. A. Harvey left Tuesday for a few day's stay in Winnipeg on business.

C. H. Pollen and J. T. Laidlaw left Tuesday for Frank, Alberta, on business.

The provincial tax sale held at the court house in Fort Steele was a success looking from the government side of the question. A small number of purchasers were present. There were no lots offered for sale in Fernie or Fort Steele. Seven lots were sold in Westport, twelve in Moyie, 48 in Wardner, 68 in Cranbrook and two in Kimberley, no bids being offered for remaining lots advertised. Messrs. Robinson and Clapp of Cranbrook were the largest purchasers. Everything in Cranbrook and Wardner was snapped up quick. Kimberley lots were slow, and pre-emption market was overstocked, and there is some left for the next sale which will take place in January.

ITEMS FROM MOYIE

From the Moyie Leader

The Moyie Lumber Co. is looking for men. There is not an idle man in town.

The work of laying new steel between Aldridge and Yahk was commenced this week.

J. Attwood, Moyie's new station agent, the family arrived here Wednesday from Fort Steele junction.

It is with sincere regret that the people of Moyie lose Mr. Hillier. Always courteous and obliging, and ever ready to do the people a good turn, he won the affection of everyone, and he came to be looked upon as one of Moyie's permanent fixtures The move, of course, is promotion, but not as good as Mr. Hillier is entitled to, for he is one of the oldest and most faithful men in the company's service. Cranbrook has gained an excellent citizen in Mr. Hillier, and they should appreciate the fact and extend him every courtesy possible.

E. S. Pollard, who helped to organize the Odd Fellows' lodge in Moyie and took such an active interest in it afterwards, is now over in the Coeur d'Alenes. The last issue of the Wallace Tribune says that "District Deputy Grand Master Pollard, assisted by the officers and members from the Gem and Wallace lodges, instituted a new lodge of the I. O. O. F. at Burke, which was named Burke lodge No. 92."

MORRISSEY ITEMS.

Morrissey Miner

Cory Dow, the Elko constable, was in town Wednesday. Mr. Dow expects o be transferred to Wardner within a short time.

Harry Bentley, the saw mill magnate of Fernie, was in town last Sunday. Harry is also interested in the mill at this place, and says Morrissey investments are a good thing.

The citizens of Morrissey should unite in songs of thanksgiving and praise over the fact that the ping pong craze has not yet invaded the camp, and the first one to introduce it will be looked upon with suspicion for all time to come.

"Mooch," the Miner mascot, came within an ace of taking an unexpected trip to dog heaven last Tuesday evening, as the result of getting tangled up under a pile of falling lumber at the mill. No damage was done, however, but "Mooch" has cut the mill out of his calling list.

The work of clearing the townsite is progressing rapidly, and as a result a great change has taken place in the appearance of the place. Now that the mill is running steadily the streets are rapidly being cleared of logs, and in a short while it will be hard for the old timers to realize that it is the same place.

Cold weather will soon be here, and as yet no one has made a move toward putting up fire wood for use this winter. There will be a great demand for wood in a short time, and some energetic chap could make a barrel of money in this line. There is any amount of first class wood on the townsite which could be got for the asking, but no one seems to care about getting rich fast.

H. L. Stephens expects to give a grand opening ball in his new hotel on the evening of Tuesday, November 17. The large dining room, 30 by 40 in size, will afford ample room for the dancers, while music will probably be imported from Fernie. Special efforts will be made to bring a crowd from both Fernie and Cranbrook for this occasion, and it is the intention of Mr. Stephens to leave nothing undone that will in any way add to the comfort or enjoyment of his guests. Arrangements are now being made for the affair, and the dance will go down in history as one of the swell social events of Morrissey.

Joe Duchesne, a Frenchman who has been operating a ranch at Jaffray for Finch & Jones, the saw mill men of Marysville, is now in the toils for shooting several head of cattle belonging to Frank Derosier, the hotel keeper of Jaffray. The trouble started over Derosier's cattle using Duchesne's ranch as a promenade. This Duchesne objected to, and he accordingly entered a complaint with Derosier, telling him to keep the cattle off or he would deposit several pounds of shot in their anatomy. This Derosier did not do, so the next time the cattle wandered on the ranch, the wrathy rancher emptied the contents of a double barrel shot gun into their midst. He shot at close range and succeeded in wounding three of them in a serious manner. The owner of the cattle naturally objected to having them assay so high in lead, and promptly got out a warrant for Duchesne's arrest. A preliminary hearing was held bfore Stipendary Magistrate Armstrong at Jaffray last Wednesday, and the man behind the gun is now behind the bars at Nelson waiting trial by the assizes.

Morrissey's First Show.

Morrissey Miner

Morrissey has had its first show, and although the entertainment was of a most refined and high grade character, the environments was typical of a new camp. Messrs. Kanouse and Drake, the proprietors of the Pioneer hotel, arranged with the advance agent of the Boston Comedy company to show in Morrissey, the new dining room of the hotel to be used as a theater. The performance was duly advertised, and work was rushed on the new dining room addition, which at the time the contract was made for the appearance of the company a week ago was simply a plan in the grey matter of Frend Kanouse's cranium. But the people in the west laugh at difficulties. The hotel proprietors said they would have the room ready, and they did. To Cyrus Bownlee Newton, the male member of the troupe, and Jan Darrell, the balance of the company, the hall, stage, etc., may have seemed a little crude, yet they put forth an effort worthy of the best theater in Vancouver or Toronto. Rich tapestries from the Orient, (curtains from the old restaurant) formed the dressing rooms on the stage, while the softest of Axminster deadened the foot fall on the stage. The walls of the room were immaculate in their whiteness, (they had just been clothed for papering) while the luxurious seats were rustic in their creation and artistic in design, (rough boards on beer kegs). Mr. Drake presided at the box office, four whiskey cases piled one on the other, and a cigar box for the cash drawer. At 8:30 Mr. Kanouse appeared in the box room and announced that the show would begin. The gentleman is noted for his fluency of speech, and he broke the record on that night, and would have roused the envy of the best speeler on the Midway at the World's Fair. Mr. Kanouse's speech was as follows:

"Gentlemen: Tonight Morrissey has its first show, and before I proceed to dilate upon the many attractive features of the entertainment, I desire to state that at the cost of $15 I have secured a real live piano and it now sits on the stage in all its glory and pristine beauty. But, gentlemen, what is the use of the most elaborate banquet that has been served since the time of Julius Cæsar to Laurier, if there are no guests to gather around the festal board, and what is the use of a piano without someone to play it. Is there a thumper of ivory in this camp? If there is let him come forth and I will pay a reward of $5 in good Canadian money."

"I know where there is—" one man started to suggest, but another in a lower tone stopped him by saying "Shut up, you chump, he may raise the price." But no one came.

"Now, gentlemen, this entertainment is in charge of two individuals who have made kings and queens laugh with joy, and shed tears over the pathos presented. They have played from the Occident to the Orient, from the barren sands of Patagonia to the land of the midnight sun, and always to enthusiastic audiences. Let us show the representatives of the effete people in the centers of civilization that Morrissey possesses the true, artistic temperament, and can appreciate all there is in the higher and classical realms of literary merit and histrionic art."

The eloquence of the speaker caused a lull in the stud poker game, and the crowd lined up at the bar ceased for the time to fill their glasses or argue on the coal strike.

"There may be some of you," continued Mr. Kanouse, "who feel backward about entering the brilliantly lighted hall because you have come here from your work and have had no time to make a change in your attire. Let no false modesty influence you. I stand here ready to exchange any article of clothing that I wear, from my undershirt to my necktie, with any of you. Remember that clothes do not make the man, but that we are all created equal, and are brothers together in the great family of humanity. The doors are now open. On to the hall of merriment and let joy be unconfined."

There was a momentary silence when Mr. Kanouse had closed and then followed a rush for the hall. Quips were cashed in, glasses emptied and the bar became deserted for the time being.

Never before, probably, had either Mr. Newton or Miss Darril worked with such vim, and their efforts were received with every evidence of appreciation, except by one individual, who had imbibed too freely and came in late. Mr. Newton had just started his master piece, "The Death Bridge of the Tay," one of the finest pieces written, and tells the story of that disaster. The inebriated individual listened to the pathetic portion for a few minutes, and staggering to his feet, said, as he reeled toward the door, "I didn't come in here—hic—to listen to a—hic—Presbyterian minister," which brought down the house.

After the entertainment music was furnished by Mrs. Higbye and Miss Silger, and then followed a merry dance that lasted until the small hours of the morning.

J. S. Carter, district passenger agent of the C. P. R., with headquarters at Nelson, was in town Wednesday and made The Miner office a pleasant call. Mr. Carter is a genial chap, smokes excellent cigars, and deals out misery to the publishers of the province when it comes to issuing transportation. He was here to put in a supply of tickets or Agent Lyman.—Morrissey Miner.

"Baldy" Morris, the Cranbrook constable, was a passenger on the west bound train last Saturday, and during the train's stop at the station, took occasion to shake hands with his many friends here. "Baldy" is a big, fat bundle of good nature, and his laugh would make a man feel generous enough to love his mother-in-law. He is not only a good fellow, but a good officer, and Cranbrook is fortunate in having such a man to look after her welfare.—Morrissey Miner.

Canadian Pacific Railway Lands

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company control a large area of the choicest farming and ranching lands in the Kootenay District. The prices range from $1.00 to $5.00 an acre, the latter being for first-class agricultural lands. These lands are readily accessible by the Crows Nest Pass Railway.

Terms of Payment

The aggregate amount of principal and interest, except in the case of lands under $2.50 an acre, is divided into ten instalments as shown in the table below; the first to be paid at the time of purchase, the second one year from date of the purchase, the third in two years and so on.

The following table shows the amount of the annual instalments on 160 acres at different prices under the above conditions:

160 acrs at $2.50 per acr,		1st instalment	$59.95	9 equal intal'ts at	$50.00
"	3.00	" "	71.90	"	60.00
"	3.50	" "	83.90	"	70.00
"	4.00	" "	95.85	"	80.00
"	4.50	" "	107.85	"	90.00
"	5.00	" "	19.85	"	100.00

Lands under $2.50 per acre are sold on shorter time.

DISCOUNT FOR CASH

If the land is paid for in full at the time of purchase, a reduction from the price will be allowed equal to ten per cent on the amount paid in excess of the usual cash instalment.

Interest at six per cent will be charged in over due instalments.

The Company has also lots for sale in the following town sites in East Kootenay: Elko, Cranbrook, Moyelle, Kitchener, Creston and Kimberley.

The terms of payment are one-third cash, and the balance in six and twelve months

Kimberley is the business and shipping point for the North Star and Sullivan mines.

THE HOMELY SPUD

There are all kinds of potatoes grown, good and bad, according to the nature of the soil in which they mature. We have bought this year a potato guaranteed for its excellence by the proprietor of the Coldstream ranch in the Okanagon valley. This ranch has gained an enviable reputation for distributing only the best of its products. They ship no inferior stock. This season we have handled over 200 boxes of Coldstream apples and never heard of a bad apple being found. We have several hundred sacks of their potatoes in our cellar and we feel confident that every potato is a good one, large enough to peel and a dry, mealy fellow when cooked.

THE PATRICOLOS

In Their Unique and Up-to-Date Concert and Specialty Show

Read the following from the Williston, N. D., paper says: "The Patricolo family, who will close their engagement here this evening are well remembered by Williston's music loving patrons from their visit here two years ago, when they gave two performances in Odd Fellows Hall with such excellent satisfaction. Louis Patricolo and his daughter, Isabella, are a full show of themselves, and stand pre-eminently above the average of musical entertainers. The exhibition of the many little comedies enacted by Little Tommy make their entertainments more attractive than formerly and the highest praise is accorded them wherever they appear."

The Empire Tobacco Co. Limited,

G. R Leask, the pioneer contractor of Cranbrook has sold his shop and residence to J A Mauller, and will retire from the contracting business in Cranbrook, and may remove to Spokane this winter. Mr. Leask came to Cranbrook when the town was little more than a name, and many of the best buildings in the town were constructed by him. He was always a good citizen ready with *his money and time to promote any pub*lic enterprise and work for Cranbrook and the district, and his removal will be a loss to the town. The Herald regrets his departure but hopes he will prosper wherever he locates.

More Material for The Herald.

The Herald office has just received a large consignment of type borders, rules etc., to keep abreast of the progress of times. Although it was the best equipped country office in Eastern British Columbia, yet more purchases have been made so that the demands of the people in this district for first-class up to-date printing can be met. Some people wonder why it is that The H rald ge s so much work from all over the district That fact is easily explained. The people want modern printing, to do modern printing it takes modern type, modern equipment, modern workmen with modern ideas. This all costs money, but it pays because the results are appreciated by the people. It is impossible to keep up with the times by crawling in a hole and staying there.

FERNIE NEWS

From the Fernie Free Press.

The pay on Saturday last for Fernie amounted to $45,000.

Rev. D. Holford, accompanied by his wife, left for the coast on Wednesday morning. Mr. Holford, although, not entirely recovered from his recent illness, is convalescent.

The spur to the French mines seven miles from Frank, will be completed in about three weeks. This work has been rushed with marvelous rapidity having taken only three months. There are over 30 pieces of trestle work on the road. The company have considerable development work done and will commence shipping coal on a large scale at once.

An agitation is on foot in Fernie to establish a branch of the League of American Sportsmen here. This is a step in the right direction. A branch of this league would do more to look after the proper protection of game during the close season than all the government officials in South East Kootenay. The indiscriminate killing of game in this neighborhood, and particularly near Michel, is rapidly thinning out the larger game and is viewed with serious apprehension by local sportsmen.

From appearance on Sunday evening last some of our local gamblers thought that Chief Forbes was only running a bluff on them when they were notified that the gambling must be discontinued Several games were carried on without the slightest attempt at concealment. The action of the Chief upon learning of this shows that although he does not intend to be hasty in the matter, he certainly means business. He went to each one personally and warned them that it must stop or he would enforce the law. Since then, we understood, all games have been closed down.

Considerable new work is being started at the Coal Creek mines with a view to increasing the output. Two new tunnels are being run, one on each side of the gulch. The one on the north side is nearly a mile below the present workings and will be connected by track with the tipple; men are already at work on the grade. It is the intention of the company to tap the seam at several points along this grade and the cars will probably be handled by a small locomotive similar to the ones now used on the coke ovens. There is also a rumor that the company intend building a much larger tipple to be equipped with all the modern improvements to meet the increased output.

W. H. Blundell, who recently paid an extended visit to Fernie and vicinity, has been talking about this district to a reporter at Nelson. He says that the prospects for a prosperous winter along the line of the Crow's Nest railway are very good indeed. At Morrissey there are 75 cottage in the course of erection and foundations have been built for 600 coke ovens to handle the output of the Morrissey mines. At Frank and Michel there is also great activity and Fernie is looking better than it has for a year past. Coal is being shipped from Morrissey to the coke ovens at Fernie pending the completion of the ovens at the former point. There is very good hunting in the valley of the Elk about Fernie, both grouse and deer being plentiful. The train Mr. Blundell was on surprised a bunch of six deer on the track, killing a fawn, and the train being stopped it was taken on board.
