BOTH LEGS AMPUTATED

MAN IN DESPERATE PLIGHT AT HOSPITAL AND NEEDS RELIEF

Dr. F. W. Green, on Tuesday, operated on J. Riley at the St. Eugene hospital, amputating both legs below the knees.

This unfortunate man was picked up recently near Canal Flats, where he had been wandering for five days and nights, lost in the woods. Both feet were frozen and he was brought to this city and the doctors have since been endeavoring to save his limbs but amputation was finally found necessary.

Mr. Riley is an Irishman and has a wife and three children in New Foundland. He is a shoemaker by trade and if he could secure funds to provide himself with artificial legs, would be able to make a living for himself.

His case has appealed strongly to the charitable nature of a number of people in the city and a subscription is being opened by the Herald in an effort to raise enough money to furnish two artificial legs. Anyone desiring to contribute to this case, which appears to us as being the most worthy that has come to our attention in many months, may make their wishes known to the Herald. The two artifiqcial limbs will cost about $200 and this appeal should be all that is necessary to raise that amount.

The fund has been started as follows:

The Herald	$5.00
E. L. Staples	5.00
A Friend	5.00

We shall hope to announce next week that the necessary amount has been subscribed.

NEW COUNCIL ORGANIZED

VARIOUS STANDING COMMITTEES NAMED FOR YEAR

The newly elected mayor and aldermen met at the City Hall last Monday morning, at 10 o'clock. Those present being the Mayor Simon Taylor, and Aldermen W. F. Cameron, J. F. Campbell, H. Hickenbotham, F. Genest, Geo. R. Leask and Malcolm Horie.

Returning Officer T. M. Roberts announced the election of the mayor and council by acclamation and the election of Messrs W. H. Wilson and Maurice Quain, at the poll, for school trustees.

The following committees were named by the Mayor:

Finance—Campbell, Genest and Hickenbotham.

Works and Property—Leask, Hickenbotham and Horie.

Water—Cameron, Campbell and Horie.

Fire and Police—Genest and Campbell.

Health and Relief—Hickenbotham and Cameron.

Legislation—Leask and Genest.

Sewerage—Horie, Cameron and Leask.

On motion being carried, it was decided to hold the regular meetings on the second Monday in each month at 8 p.m., local time.

Mayor Taylor addressed the council congratulating them on their election by acclamation to their positions and sounded a warning note that the strictest economy must be observed in all departments throughout the year.

Council adjourns.

CONSERVATIVES ELECT OFFICERS AT WARDNER

The annual meeting of the Wardner Conservative Association was held in the Foresters' Hall on Friday evening, January 16th, with a good attendance.

Several new members were enrolled and the following were elected to the various offices for the year:

Honory Presidents: Hon. R. L. Borden, Sir Richard McBride, Thomas Caven, M.P.P.

President: Peter Lund; Vice President, Otto Wisner; Sec'ty-Treas., Fred W. Burgess; Members of Executive Committee, Brock E. Markle and William Schad.

The meeting was a very enthusiastic one throughout and several interesting discussions arose in connection with important issues affecting conditions in the district at the present time.

Regular monthly meetings will be held throughout the year and it is expected that many additional names will be added to the already long list of members. The prospects for a successful year for the association are bright indeed.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF ANNUAL MEETING

THE BRITISH COLUMBIA FRUIT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION

The 24th Annual Meeting of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association will be held at Victoria, January 21, 22 & 23, 1914. The opening session will commence at 3 p.m. on the 21st., and the concluding session on either the afternoon or evening of Friday, the 23rd.

The Association is able to announce addresses by the following prominent speakers:-

R. Robertson, Manager, The Okanagan United Growers', Ltd., Vernon, on "The Organization and Results of the Okanagan United Growers'."

H. F. Sampson, Secretary, The North Pacific Fruit Distributors, Spokane, Wash., on "The Organization and Work of the North Pacific Fruit Distributors."

Worrall Wilson, General Council, Northwestern Fruit Exchange, Seattle, Wash., on "Marketing Northwestern Apples through the Organization of the Northwestern Fruit Exchange."

W. P. Sawyer, Ex-President, Washington State Horticultural Society, Yakima, Wash., on "Growing and Marketing Fruit in the Yakima Valley."

The business before the Association is also of a highly interesting character. Resolutions have been received from various Affiliated Societies and from independent members calling for action by the Association, on the following, besides other questions:-

Ownership of Land by Asiatics.
Transportation Conditions.
Loans to Settlers for Agricultural and Horticultural purposes.
Control of Fire Blight.
Government Aid to Co-operative Buying and Selling Organizations.
Advertising B.C. Fruit in the Prairies.
Marketing Fruit in Carloads by Express.
Standardization of Box Packages.

In addition the various Committees of the Association will make reports of progress and results on many matters affecting the Fruit Industry dealt with during the past year.

All directors, delegates, members and others attending the Annual Meeting are requested to purchase a Single First-class Ticket from the nearest C.P.R. Agent, and ask for a Standard Certificate. This entitles you to a free return ticket.

All interested in B.C. Fruit Growing are cordially invited to attend the Sessions, which will be held in the Conversation Hall of the Empress Hotel, Victoria.

The time for accepting resolutions has been extended to January 12th. Affiliated Associations and Members who desire to present resolutions, are requested to get them in not later than that date.

THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

At the annual meeting of the Cranbrook-Fernie Farmers' Institute, held last week in the old gymnasium, the following officers were elected for the year:

Hon. President: T. S. Gill.
Hon. Vice-Pres.: John Levett.
President: A. B. Smith.
Vice-President: J. A. Pringle.
Sec.-Treas.: Alb. H. Webb.
Directors: N. McClure, B. Palmer, W. B. Bardgett, Fred. Pain, W. F. Whitney.
Auditors: Sam Macdonald and G. Parnaby.

A resolution was passed instructing the delegate to the convention to apply for the name Cranbrook-Fernie to be changed to Cranbrook.

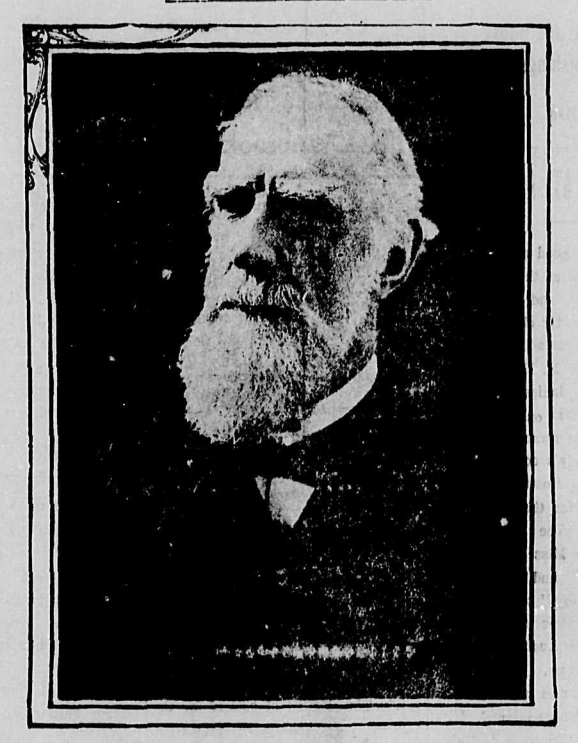
A delegation was appointed to interview the City Council re a public watering trough for horses during the summer months.

At a meeting of the directors held last Saturday afternoon, it was decided to hold the government crop competitions in potatoes and oats under the rules fixed for the event, which is open to all members of the Institute and requires a half acre in potatoes and two acres of oats. The prizes in each competition are: First, $35.00; second, $20.00; third, $15.00; fourth, $5.00. An entry see of 50 cents is charged.

H. Y. Parker is at present engaged in making a reconnoissance survey in connection with the proposed branch to the Kootenay Central. The country under investigation is between Wycliffe and Hungerford.

Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner of Canada, Passes Away in Peace

Great Financier, Philanthropist and Patriot After Long Stubborn Fight With Physical Weakness, Succumbs at His Home in London



The Late Lord Strathcona

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Lord Strathcona died at 1:55 this morning. The aged statesman's last moments were quiet, and he passed away peacefully in his sleep.

His lordship's fatal illness was but short, and it was realized from an early hour on Saturday morning that he was sinking beyond recovery. An attack of catarrh, which would have been a comparatively trifling matter for a man in the prime of life, was too severe a strain for one who had passed the four score and ten mark well over three years ago. The malady completely prostrated him, eventually inducing heart weakness, so that the aged patient sank into a state of coma, the end coming peacefully at an early hour this morning.

Lord Strathcona, on several occasions within the last few years, has been confined to his house, for an odd day or two, but at such times, despite his heavy burden of years, his friends have always had confidence in his power to resist illness. Unhappily, such a confidence could not be entertained on this occasion.

Hon. Mrs. Howard, Lord Strathcona's only daughter, and to whom the title descends by royal patent, was present at the end, as were other members of the family. The house at 28 Grosvenor square was besieged by inquiries as to the venerable statesman's condition, the King and Queen being solicitous and, with other members of the royal family, made repeated inquiries. When the death notice was finally posted, expressions of sympathy were received by hundreds from all sections of London's diplomatic, philanthropic and social life, and are still pouring in. Even in a mighty metropolis full of striking personalities, Lord Strathcona's figure had been one of the most striking. English journalists for nearly 30 years back had described him as Canada's Grand Old Man, until the phrase became almost tiresome in its repetition.

Until two months ago Lord Strathcona attended the office in Victoria street daily, arriving at 10 o'clock or even earlier, and remaining often till after night fell. The Canadian office, in fact had been nicknamed in the vicinity "the lighthouse," through the windows frequently being illuminated long after the remainder of the street was in darkness.

There is not the least doubt that sheer force of will alone enabled Lord Strathcona to continue his activities even at such a venerable age. Significant incident occurred at the Hudson's Bay company's meeting last June. Lord Strathcona, presiding, started reading his speech, the document extending over several pages. His voice at starting was perfectly clear, but gradually it weakened, and it was a palpable strain to follow the typewritten pages, the shareholders, too, were becoming restive on finding the speaker becoming inaudible. Eventually the secretary suggested to Lord Strathcona that his speech should be read for him. The aged chairman, however, ruthlessly brushed aside and continued reading himself.

A few minutes later, though, he confessed to the audience that the secretary was "a somewhat younger man than I am," and resigned his manuscript.

The next night, however, his lordship presided at the Dominion Day banquet, and delivered a lengthy written speech, supplementing it by voluntarily adding a good portion of the previous day's Hudson's Bay speech. The following night he shook hands with 2,000 guests at a Dominion Day reception. On his ninety-third birthday on August 6, he attended a private luncheon given by Senator Jaffray, of Toronto, and the same week entertained the medical congress.

The home for the incurables at Streatham was one of Lord Strathcona's pet philanthropies, and he contributed several thousands pounds towards its maintenance. He also enlisted the active sympathies of Queen Alexandra and other high personages.

His Lordship showed a catholic taste in charitable matters. His last big public donation was a gift of $50,000 toward the public acquisition of the Crystal Palace. Another recent gift was $500 to the English Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

Lord Strathcona's principle residence here is at 28 Grosvenor square, where he passed away. It is a comfortable but unpretentious house in a district peopled by notables. He also had a large establishment at Glencoe Scotland, close to the scene of the famous massacre in the time of William III., and overlooking the island where his murdered clansmen were buried. Other residences are Debden Hall, Saffron Walden, Essex; Colonsay, Argyll; Silver Heights, Winnipeg; Norway House, Pictou, N.S.; and 911 Dorchester street west Montreal.

The royal society of arts recently presented Lord Strathcona with its Albert medal in recognition of his services toward the improvement of railway communication and Canadian resources.

The death of Lady Strathcona in November last was a great blow to him, but even then the venerable high commissioner's force of will asserted itself, and he insisted on attending the funeral. A week later he attended the Hudson's Bay meeting. This was his last appearance in public, and the meeting in December at the Mansion House, under the presidency of the lord mayor, to further the scheme for the Dominion's exhibition at the Crystal Palace next year, was without the presence of the Canadian high commissioner, who had been the first to take an active interest in the project.

His lordship all the same had booked a number of engagements for the next few months. Less than 10 days ago he wrote correspondents that, although he was suffering from a cold, he hoped to be about again in a few days.

Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, colonial secretary, referring to Lord Strathcona, said:

"He wears the laurels, or rather, the maple leaves of an unselfish, industrious life, which has made his crown of a ripe and honored age."

The imagination can scarcely supply a more thrilling career than that closed by the death of Lord Strathcona, "The Man of Iron." His life story is a moving chapter in the history of the West's development, one of amazing activity and surpassing success. While Winnipeg was the centre of much of his tremendous creative genius, the whole of the Dominion was his field of operations any many lines of finance and industry.

Born at the time when Europe was just settling down after the agony of the great Napoleonic wars, and coming to Canada when the Dominion was not dreamed, and when even there was little semblance of union among the provinces, he has lived through and participated in a series of events in some ways the most remarkable in the history of civilization.

When Donald Smith, aged eighteen left his home in Morayshirt, and sailed for Canada, Queen Victoria had just been crowned and the first steamship was preparing to cross the Atlantic. It took them six weeks to do the journey which is now accomplished in six days.

The revenues of the country were not worth speaking about. The Centre and West were not accessible, for there was no railway across the continent and the vast territories administered by the Honorable Company of Adventurers founded by Henry VIII and known as the Hudson's Bay comapny, was the great lone land of adventurers and trappers and traders.

Into this wilderness went Donald A Smith in 1838. After ten years in the St. Lawrence ports, he entered Labrador, where he remained until 1864, and established a reputation as a trader in pelts, and an administrator of the Hudson's Bay company. His tact and wisdom won the confidence of the Indians and his iron

FORT STEELE MAN SEES GOLDEN FORTUNES

ROBERT BARBER LOOKS FOR CLAIMS IN KOOTENAY VALLEY TO YEILD BONANZAS

"From $2 to $75 to the pan is being taken out on a number of placer claims located on Findlay Creek in the Kootenay valley, some distance north of Fort Steele, and when second bed-rock is reached, and it may be reached any moment, there are undreamed of possibilities for that country. If the second bedrock pays as much as the first, there will another Klondike rush in there," declared Mr. Robert Barber, mining expert, who has just come from that country, say the Vancouver World. He has followed the lure of gold both in North and South America, for many years. He is staying at the Hotel Vancouver while here, but leaves shortly for the interior.

Mr. Barber explained that a number of old-time Klondykers had located claims on this creek and that a number of men were working on this particular claim running a shaft to what is believed to be a second bedrock. The creek is the scene of old diggings and that country thereabout has yeilded somewhere in the neighborhood of $78,000,000, according to Mr. Barber, in the early rush following the Fraser River rush and is one of the more recent rushes which took place just prior to the big gold rush to the Klondyke in '98.

This yield came from the first bedrock and on examination of the creek some eighteen months ago several old timers with Mr. Barber re-staked, and on this particular claim a shaft is being sunk. In places anywhere from $2 to $75 a pan has been taken out.

Mr. Barber expects to receive a telegram any day declaring that the second bedrock has been reached. From the prospects being panned now Mr. Barber thinks the second bedrock will yield a good pay.

As to quartz properties, Mr. Barber declared that the country had been extensively staked in this way and that none of the properties would be likely to be developed before the Kootenay Central Railway was completed from Golden to Fernie, passing through Fort Steele.

Fort Steele, Mr. Barber remarked, was a mining camp which had had a population of five thousand men in '97 and then had gone down when the placer properties had petered out, but it was now beginning to get on it feet again, and with the coming of the railway would be a town which would be in the best location for a central market for farmers and agricultural producers in the Kootenay Valley.

There was one quartz property which Mr. Barber emphasized in his review. It was the Kootenay King mine. He declared that although a low grade ore proposition it was, according to surface indications, a vast ore body. The main lead was 400 feet wide. In speaking of the mine, Mr. Barber related a little story regarding it, which besides being interesting, is typical of the history of mining.

Mr. Barber said that the man who owned the mine had almost sold it, and the buyer was on his way to Ft. Steele to complete the final deal. The buyer only got as far as Calgary and died there. The heirs of the buyer did not want to pay the price that the buyer, an experienced mining man had been willing to pay, and the deal had fallen through.

Mr. Barber leaves shortly for the interior and he declares that if the second bedrock on Findlay Creek pans out as much as did the first bedrock, there will be another Klondike in the Kootenay Valley and a rush which will equal, if not surpass, the Klondike rush of '98.

CRANBROOK HOCKEY CLUB

A large attendance of Hockey Enthusiasts met at the Cranbrook Hotel parlors last Monday evening, January 19th, 1914, for the purpose of organizing a hockey club for this winter. Mr. Moffatt was elected to the chair for the evening.

It was first moved by Mr. Moffatt and seconded by Lee Sims, that a Hockey Club be formed and named the Cranbrook Hockey Club.

The next business of the meeting was to elect officers, which resulted in the following nominations:

Non. Presidents—R. E. Beattie, E. H. McPhee and A. L. McDermot.

Hon. Vice-Presidents.
A. C. Bowness.
Richard Griffith
Watson Hall
N. Hanson
W. B. McFarlane
M. Saunders
G. F. Stevenson
W. Stewart
W. H. Wilson

President—R. P. Moffatt
Sec-Treas.—C. C. Connolly.
Vice President—Harold J. Scott.
Manager—Cliff Steves.

It was then moved by C. Steves and seconded by W. John, that a membership ticket to the club be sold for $2.00 for the purpose of helping to maintain the expenses of the club.

It was moved by Mr. McNabb and seconded by H. McIlwaine, that the president make arrangements for a match between Fernie and Cranbrook next Friday, January 23.

Mr. Moffatt then took the opportunity of thanking the team for the splendid game they put up against Fernie Champions last Friday and he thought that with the practice the boys will have before Friday and as the team will be strengthened, that they would win the next game.

It was then moved by H. Bathie and seconded by H. J. Scott, that the meeting be adjourned.

J. R. McCreedy returned last week from Belleville, Ont., where he attended the wedding of his brother, J. M. McCreery, which occurred in that city on January 7th.

PUBLIC MEETING AT CRANBROOK AUDITORIUM

Liberal Speakers will Address Electors of the District on the Provincial Situation and the Issues of the Day

H. C. Brewster, leader of the Liberal party in British Columbia, and M. A. Macdonald, president of the British Columbia Liberal association, will address the electors of the Cranbrook district at the Auditorium, Cranbrook, next Monday evening, January 26th.

At a meeting of the executive of the province recently, it was decided to send seveeral speakers on a tour of the province, holding meetings at the most important points. A number of meetings have already been held and they have proven that the move is a good one, judging from the enthusiasm that has been shown. The speakers, evidently, have an impressive message to the people; for they have been received everywhere with glad acclaim.

The itineraty of the speakers will include Nelson, January 24; Fernie, January 27; Creston, January 28. Mr. J. P. McConnell will be with the party of speakers and may be heard here. Mr. Macdonald will leave the party after the Cranbrook meeting and his place will be filled by Mr. John Oliver.

Cranbrook may well feel proud to entertain such distinguished visitors. Mr. H. C. Brewster, the leader of the party bears the highest respect of the Liberals of the Province and is a speaker who moves his hearers by the facts which he presents. Mr. Macdonald is too well known here to need any introduction and his Cranbrook friends will be pleased to again renew his acquaintance and listen to his oratory. Since he left Cranbrook he has been elected president of the British Columbia Liberal association and is a much sought speaker at political meetings on the coast.

Speaking at a meeting at South Vancouver recently, Mr. Macdonald said:

"When the true conditions of affairs are known, the people of British Columbia will rise in their might and overthrow the most corrupt and inefficient government which ever existed in any province of Canada since confederation."

The arrangements for the meeting here next Monday are in the hands of the Cranbrook Liberal association, and they have distributed posters throughout the district and expect a very large attendance.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Citizens of the district should appreciate the fact that they will not again have the opportunity for some time to listen to as distinguished speakers as may be heard at the Auditorium next Monday evening. Political sentiment at the coast is changing and Vancouver especially is preparing to wage a hearty conflict in the next election. Some predict that a few seats will be Liberal, and some enthusiasts even predict the complete overthrow of the McBride government at the next election. The speakers who will be heard here next Monday are in touch with the coast and know the situation and are prepared to present the facts so that thinking men and women may judge for themselves.

In the history of the world, whenever a crisis has arisen in national affairs, there has always arisen a man strong and powerful enough to cope with the situation. Such men only appear once, perhaps, in a century in the history of any country. Canada's loss in the death of Lord Strathcona marks the passing of such a man—an empire builder—who, with keen and intelligent foresight, saw the possibilities of the future for Canada at a time when men of influence generally looked upon the Dominion as a barren waste, and with vigorous hand and undaunted courage, set about the transforming of this land into one of prosperity and bright promise. Other men have made their mark as conquerors, soldiers, or men of conquest. Lord Strathcona has won his laurels in time of peace by his devotion to the practical upbuilding of a nation. This unassuming Scotchman has won the eternal gratitude of all Canadians by his commercial success. Who can predict where Canada would be to-day but for his success in the building of the C. P. R.? It would surely be less prosperous, less known and less honored. The secret of his great success was that he did his work faithfully and well, and the results will live long past the erection of the monument upon his grave, and even after the monument itself has crumbled into dust.

In this issue is given the outline of the plan for instituting a new Postal Library for Canada which is well worth reading. The scheme has been worked out in detail and is presented by Mr. Joseph T. Tracy of Lethbridge. The system is entirely a new idea and if adopted in Canada would place this country in the front rank in the library movement, the establishing of which has been occupying the attention of the world for decades past. With this proposed new system there would be placed at the disposal of readers throughout Canada a system so complete that it would give better service than could the greatest libraries in the world. Books would not be disseminated through one central branch but any special volume in the archives of the Dominion would be at the disposal of the reader. Specialists would be employed, which would greatly assist in research or the study of particular subjects. The scheme appears to be well worthy of adoption.

McCREERY-STEWART WEDDING

CULMINATION OF CRANBROOK ROMANCE AT BELLEVILLE ONTARIO, ON JANUARY 7th, 1914

J. Martin McCreery, of the firm of McCreery Bros., of this city, and Miss Ada Grace Stewart, of Belleville, Ont., were married at St. George's Church, Belleville, on Wednesday, January 7th, 1914, at 11 a.m., by the Rev. Canon Beamish, in the presence of about sixty invited guests. Mrs. R. T. Brymner, of Lethbridge, was matron of honor, and her two little daughters were flower girls. Mr. J. R McCreery, brother of the groom, was best man. The bride was given away by James Grace, of Toronto.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Stewart, on George Street. The young couple are spending a month in the east and will be at home in Cranbrook after February 1st.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McCreery are well known in Cranbrook, the groom being one of the city's most popular merchants, and the bride spent several months here during the past two years visiting her sister, Mrs. R. T. Brymner. Both have a host of friends who are eagerly awaiting the opportunity to convey their congratulations.

MASQUERADE AT ARENA RINK

There was a good attendance at the ice carnival at the Arena Rink last Tuesday night, and the costumes were of a much better character than at previous masquerades. Miss R. Staunton and Miss M. Hickenbotham, as two Japanese ladies, were easily the best characters on the ice, and Miss Staunton was awarded the prize for the best lady's costume. Clifford McNabb, as a Roman Gladiator, won first prize for the best gentleman's costume. The girl's award was carried off by Miss Doris Wallinger as "Grandma," and Walter Laurie, as a "Scotch Boy," won the boy's prize. The best comic costume was credited to Wesley Austin in a very good clown's make-up.

Other good costumes were worn by Miss Florence Erickson and, Miss Bessie Pye as "Pierrots," Ruben Webb, "Scotchman," Miss Della Drummond, Miss Whitehead and Miss Elsie Van Slyke as "Three Old Maids looking for Husbands," Miss Collins as a "Spanish Dancer," Miss Mable Cameron and Miss Orma McNabb as "Fairies."

C.C.S. WILL MOVE NEXT WEEK

NEW LOCATION BEING FITTED UP BY FORCE OF CARPENTERS AND PAINTERS

W. B. McFarlane is preparing to start moving the stock of Cranbrook Co-Operative Stores into his recently purchased property on Norbury Avenue, which was formerly the home of the East Kootenay Mercantile Co, A force of men are busy this week on the interior of the new location. The large warehouse at the rear has been ceiled, all the wall lights removed and sky lights installed, and painters are rapidly transforming the entire interior. The carpenters have also erected a balcony which will provide additional floor space in the already large building. The partitions between the front store building and the rear have been removed and the entire floor put into one large show room. At the rear a room has been provided which will be utilized as a workshop and another room will be devoted especially to the showing of house furnishing goods.

The upstairs will be turned over to the linoleum and carpet departments and special equipment is being installed for showing these goods to advantage. Built in show windows have been erected and a plate glass front will be placed in the near future. An equipment for taking goods over the top of the building into the second floor is another improvement to be inaugurated. Work on the removal of the furniture will start the first of next week, providing the carpenters and painters have completed their labors by that time. Mr. McFarlane hopes to have everything installed and ready for business at his new place by February 1st.

It is not known who will succeed the C.C.S. as tenant of the property on the corner of Baker street and Armstrong avenue. This store has occupied the premises for a long number of years, in fact, so long that it has become one of the oldest landmarks in the city and was until now one of the few stores in the city that had not changed locations in the last few years. All the stock and furniture in the present building, as well as the one next to Patmore Bros., will be transferred to the new store.

OVERSEAS CLUB

On Thursday, last, the members of the Overseas Club held their annual meeting in the Carmen's hall. A large number of members were present. The election of officers for the current year took place that night The following were elected:

President—E. Y. Brake.
Vice-Pres.—C. A. Cock.
Sec-Treas.—L. Pearron.
Executive Committee—Mesdames G. Tisdale, Leaman, Marshall, and Bradley; Messrs. G. Tisdale, H. Leaman, J. Lower and Jos Whittaker.

The next meeting of the club will be on February 5th when a financial statement of the club will be read by the Auditors. All members are requested to be present, as there will be a social after the meeting.

AT THE EDISON

"Ivanhoe", a gorgeous reproduction in four parts of Sir Walter Scott's most wonderful story, will be shown at the Edison theatre next Wednesday, January 28th.

Following is an excerpt from the Calgary Herald:

"It looks as if everybody who is able to ride or walk is going to see Ivanhoe during the engagement of that picture at the Rex. The picture in all its splendor opened at the Rex yesterday and crowds flocked to the popular photoplay theatre to see this wonderful film dramatization of Sir Walter Scott's noted novel.

"The attendance at night was so away but they still had the opportunity of seeing the picture by going across the street and to the next block, where the Monarch, by arrangement with the Rex exhibited the picture at night. By this means hardly a soul was disappointed. This was the first time in the history of motion pictures in Calgary that the same film was utilized at two theatres at the same time. The identical pictures as exhibited at the Rex were at the Monarch and the orchestra of both theatres played the same incidental music.

"On all sides could be heard words of praise for the marvelous presentation of 'Ivanhoe' and the filming of this beautiful thrilling and romantic story was not in vain. Calgarians were eager to give the picture a hearty welcome and all that had been said of the films in advance was proved when the crowds applauded the many stirring scenes and situations. Time and again 'Ivanhoe' was cheered when he appeared on the screen and the pathetic figure of Isaac of York created a heart interest that could never have been equalled had the play been presented by a dramatic company instead of a photoplay cast.

"Scenically, the picture is a work of art. The light and shade effect throughout is exquisite and the camera men came in for words of praise from the spectators. Truly, 'Ivanhoe' is a masterpiece and it is to be regretted that the engagement is only these days."

A meeting of the officers of the Calgary and Fernie Railway Co., was held in Fernie on Monday. While nothing definite is known of the future of this proposed road, prospects look bright for construction next year. Considerable survey work has been done up Elk river this year and it is expected that work will be continued throughout the winter. As a short independent line such as that would be would scarcely be a profitable undertaking it seems reasonable to suppose that other railway interests are behind the present activity. The immense coal areas of the Upper Elk probably constitute the principle magnet that is bringing capital into the enterprize.—Fernie Free Press.

Don't be satisfied with anything less than an Edison Phonograph

Throughout the history of sound reproduction Mr. Edison has blazed the trail. Every important step has been conceived first in his mind. He is the acknowledged master of acoustics throughout the world. His recent triumph is the Blue Amberol Record.

It came, after countless experiments, with all its strength of volume, sweetness of quality and lasting endurance. To bring out the remarkable tone of this new record demanded a new reproducer. He invented it—the Diamond-Point Reproducer. With it there is none of the annoyance of changing the needle after each record. The diamond is as much a part of the phonograph as its beautiful cabinet.

Hear a Blue Amberol—that's all we ask. Your Edison dealer will play over as many as you like. We are content to leave the verdict with your ear.

THE POSTAL LIBRARY

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS REGARDING THE PROPOSED NEW LIBRARIES FOR CANADA

Q. What is meant by THE NEW POSTAL LIBRARY.

A. THE POSTAL LIBRARY is a project to make the exchange of books amongs the prople of Canada as easy and inexpensive as it is to receive or send ordinary mail.

Q. Has such a library been provided in any other country?

A. No. It is a new scheme and affords Canada an opportunity to not only add a much-needed public service for the public of this Dominion but also to lead the other nations in a great movement.

Q. Why is it called THE POSTAL LIBRARY?

A. Because the Library is to be provided by the people of Canada and operated by the Post Office Depart-Department.

Q. Why should the Government undertake to provide libraries?

A. A survey of the whole country shows that the people are now poorly supplied with library facilities. Heretofore philanthropists such as Andrew Carnegie have been largely relied upon to supply the need of libraries. Dependence upon philanthropy is unworthy the Great Canadian people. Besides the results of such dependence to date are very meagre and scattered. Grants by Provinces and cities and bequests by private individuals have provided some creditable libraries notably in Ontario. The reports however show that nearly one half the people of Ontario are still out of reach of any library privileges. The other Provinces are far behind Ontario. Canada has a great frontier The outlying and sparsely settled districts cannot expect adequate library privileges for generations at the present rate of progress. THE POSTAL LIBRARY will supply the whole library need of all the people of every community in the country and that without delay.

Q. Why should the Post Office Department operate the Library?

A. The Post Office operates everywhere and all the time. It is already established. It now has housing facilities in every community. It has the best and most inexpensive facilities for distribution and collection of books. The addition of the Library service to the Post Office is certainly as natural as that of the Parcel post.

Q. Would the reservation of education of the Provinces by the British North America Act prevent the Dominion Governement from undertaking THE POSTAL LIBRARY?

A. Writing on this subject the Honorable J. R. Boyle Minister of Education for the Province of Alberta says.

"If the Dominion Government were prepared to undertake this work there would be no serious objections to their doing so on any constitutional grounds."

The Act confers all Post Office authority upon the Dominion Government. THE POSTAL LIBRARY is a public service beyond Provincial administration.

Q. Would THE POSTAL LIBRARY include Public Reading Rooms such as are now attached to public libraries in some Canadian cities?

A. Public Reading Rooms are not now in large demand and are expensive to maintain. Best results are had by reading at home or in private. THE POSTAL LIBRARY scheme does not include public reading rooms. Instead the delivery and collection of books through the mail extends the Library to every home school office and individual. "Going to the Library" will hereafter be out of date as THE POSTAL LIBRARY will come to you.

Q. Would not the cost of providing THE POSTAL LIBRARY be prohibitive?

A. Let us assume that one book per capita with proper means of circulation would be an adequate library for all the people. Again let us assume that for an average of $1.00 per volume a suitable collection of books can be purchased by the Government. This is a large supply and a higher cost than for any library now in existence in Canada. The amount therefore required to purchase all the books for THE POSTAL LIBRARY would be less than $10,000,000.00. The Parliament at its last session provided $10,000,000.00 to assist the Provinces in Veterinary Education. The improvement of a single harbour often cost a large amount while a modern battleship is estimated to cost around $15,000,000.00.

Q. Where would this large supply of books be kept?

A. THE POSTAL LIBRARY will operate with every Post Office in the country as a branch. The books would be distributed over the Dominion according to the population. A Post Office serving 200 people would have a library of 200 books and an office serving 10,000 people would have a library of 10,000 books and so on. Toronto would have a library of say 400,000 volumes Winnipeg 150,000 volumes Halifax 46,000 volumes Vancouver 100,000 volumes St. John 42,000 Lethbridge 15,000 Dawson City 9,000 and so on.

The libraries in the larger cities would be complete in themselves. The Postmaster in a smaller office would draw on a neighboring larger office for any book desired and which his library did not contain. Thus the most remote frontiersman in Canada would have the same unlimited reading privileges as those enjoyed by the wealthiest resident of the metropolis.

Q. Would there not be a large expense for library buildings and equipment?

A. With the Public Reading Room eliminated it is believed that a large percentage of the present Post Offices could house THE POSTAL LIBRARY without requiring additional room. Some additions would no doubt be required. There will also be an expense for stacks of printed forms records etc. Let us assume 50c per volume as a sufficient amount to cover all this expense. Probably less than $5,000,000.00 would be required for these purposes.

Q. Is there not danger of great loss by non-return of books and by damage while in the hnads of the people?

A. There would be the usual wear and tear which must be provided for. Ordinary libraries require security before lending books. THE POSTAL LIBRARY would do the same. Each book would have a certain list value. Those desiring to borrow books from THE POSTAL LIBRARY would first secure and file a guarantee up to a certain amount by some rate-payer securing safe return of books and payment of fees. This guarantee will protect the Library against losses. Again since the people own the Post Office they have pride in its success and are interested in its security.

Q. In what manner will books be secured from THE POSTAL LIBRARY?

A. The method would be very simple. When a book is desired a postal card form prepared for that purpose would be filled up, stamped to the amount of the required fee and dropped in the mail just the same as any other mail matter. In due time the book would be delivered in the same manner as other mail. The return of a book would be as simply done. A person might draw any number of books desired provided of course his guarantee was sufficient.

Q. Would not the expense of such service be excessive?

A. The Postal Service is the best example of efficiency and economy found in civilized countries. The low cost of the clerical work and of the transportation collection and distribution by the Post Office has been a continuing astonishment. THE POSTAL LIBRARY will operate by mail. There will be no waste of time in conversation. The books will go and come along with letters papers and parcels and the expense of the additional service will be light.

Q. What fees are contemplated for the use of books?

A. The enterprise should be launched on a self-supporting basis. It is believed a fee of 2c would be sufficient for the use of a book for 7 days. A charge of 5c per day might be made for overtime to encourage prompt return of books. The fees could be paid by attaching ordinary stamps.

Q. Need THE POSTAL LIBRARY be confined to the circulation of books.

A. No Lantern slides moving lictures films music records and other appropriate devices for amusement and instruction may be included and thereby provide pleasant occasions for homes societies schools lodges and the like. Such service would add greatly to the enjoyment of life in rural communities and on the frontier.

Again THE POSTAL LIBRARY will elevate the profession of Librarian to importance. There is a rapidly increasing demand for expert library service. Legislators, editors, teachers, professional people, public officials more ond more are requiring assistance in Library research. The Postal Library might provide this service for a fee of say 50c per hour for the time of the Librarian. Such expert service could probably be provided in all the principal centres and be made available to all the people.

BRADSTREET'S FORECAST FOR 1914

The liquidation in the stock market in 1913 was apparently thorough without being paniky. Trade and industry in turn showed symptoms of an orderly retreat rather than of a precipitate flight, and since the improved feeling noted in the latter weeks of 1913 set in, less is heard of rumors of business troubles in this and other cities. The complete history of the 1902-03 collapse and quick revival, some of whose earlier happenings were closely paralelled in 1913, will repay perusal because holding some lessons and indeed some encouragements. It is generally conceded that while the entry of industry into the stock market in a capitalized form has made it more sensitive to unfavorable happenings, it has also made it quicker to respond later to improving influences. The best judgement seems to support the view that money, the great desiratum in finance and trade, will be both cheaper and easier to obtain in 1911 than last year. The passage of the currency bill is expected to be an aid in this respect, whatever may be thought of ultimate effects of the possible inflation feature of the new measure which has supplemented a seriously defective system. Of course, any ill-considered rise like that of 1895, with its aftermath of deep depression, is to be avoided, and the possibilities of Europe endeavoring to further liquidate its burdens in American markets are to be considered in this connection, although our immense credit balance may help us in this respect. Money, however, should be plenty for legitimate trade and industry in 1914, and the absence of burdensome stocks, owing to long continued hand-to-mouth buying, should be helpful. It will not be forgotten that many crops were short in 1913, and prices, particularly of food, were high which may help agriculture as a whole, though no country ever made much money out of its crop shortages. As to 1914 crop conditions, it may be said that conditions are favorable and winter wheat is in excellent shape. The matter of possible railway rate advances presses for early solution. All of the advances asked for in the past years would have been insufficient to save some badly manages enterprises from the effects of their own sins, but the justice, indeed the absolute necessity, of allowing the railways to recoup themselves for high cost of operation can hardly be denied. In this matter the auguries at the offset of the year are thought favorable and if they prove so should have an important effect in stimulating demand for a variety of articles which move through the marts of trade. Whether any great liquidation in commodity prices is possible in 1914 is doubtful, and without that often predicted liquidation of labor seems to partake of the nature of a dream. High costs of all operation in fact, seems to have come to stay, but it does seem possible to make progress in the matter of reducing the world's most useless expenditure, that for armaments. Time will, perhaps, be needed to heal the bruises; they were hardly deepseated injuries that the business world received in 1913, but past experience would seem to indicate that, lacking any serious damage to the business fabric, of which there are really no tangible signs, a comparatively quick revival from the quiet visible in many lines should ensue, governed, of course, by the money and crop developments of 1914.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE SOLVES THE PROBLEM OF GOOD HAIR

After Prof. Sabouraud confirmed the germ origine of dandruff, science was confronted by a new problem which was not solved until the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide being the first successful preparation compounded in harmony with this new theory, "the original remedy to kill the dandruff germ."

Since then, numerous preparations, said to be "just as good" as Herpicide have been thrown upon the market; others have adopted Herpicide claims, and without making any change in their remedies, but none have ever reached the same degree of popularity. Everywhere this remedy is recognized as the one genuine dandruff eradicator. As a result, Herpicide has more satisfied users than all other preparations combined.

Being the original remedy, users expect more astonishing results from Herpicide than they would look for from any other preparation and they usually get them. So wonderful has been the success of this germicide that it is now recognized as the standard hair remedy of the world.

Herpicide destroys the dandruff, checks falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications obtainable at the good barber shops. Insist on having real Herpicide. Send 10c in postage for sample and book to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

ANTI-MOSQUITOE MOVEMENT LAUNCHED

At Wasa, on December 21st, 1913, a meeting of the property holders and others was held to discuss ways and means by which we might combat the mosquito pest, which renders this valley at times unfit for habitation by either man or beast during the summer months of such years that the Kootenay river overflows its banks and leaves the sloughs and low places full of stagnant water.

A Anti-mosquito League was formed, officers and executive elected, and a movement launched that will if taken up energetically by the various interests and communities affected throughout the East Kootenay, undoubtedly accomplish its object and make this district at all times a paradise for tourists and hunters, a profitable agricultural and stock-raising district and a most desirable place in which to live.

At the meeting it was suggested and agreed that:

First—Drainage measures on a large scale are not feasible at the outset.

Second — The treatment of stagnant water surfaces with a low grade kerosene seems to be the most promising solution reasonably within our reach.

Third—Comparatively small quantities of oil thoroughly distributed and applied at intervals of two or three weeks are efficient.

Fourth—The task of distributing the oil over large areas of sparsely settled districts is an undertaking of considerable magnitude and that the settlers or members of the League undertake the distribution of the oil.

Fifth—We ask the B.C. Government to co-operate with us to the extent of supplying the oil f.o.b. cars in barrels or containers, a some point on the C.P.R. and that we ask the C.P.R. Colonizarion department *to co-operate with us, by transport*ing the oil free of charge to its destination here in the Kootenay.

The secretary was instructed to have a notice of this meeting published in the Cranbrook papers and to invite the people of all communities interested, to form clubs, forward the movement, and have their secretary communicate with Mr. C. L. Bechtel, Secretary - Treasurer of the Wasa League, who will act as District Secretary until a convention of delegates from the various clubs can be held and a representative executive elected.

A membership fee of one dollar was unanimously agreed upon to cover incidental organization expenses. Accounts and correspondence are open to inspection by any members of the League at League meetings.

Receipts for membership fees are promptly given whether requested or not.

DIVERSIFIED FARMING IS CALLED SOLUTION

At a recent meeting of the Farmers Institute, of Grand Forks, an interesting lecture was delivered by Max Rulmann, horticulturist. In the course of his lecture he said:—

The Farmers' Institute is a very important factor in the development of the district, perhaps more so than some of you realize. I have now been in this district for a matter of about nine months and am very glad to be able to say that you have a large percentage of what I might term clean farmers, undoubtedly a larger percentage than in any other district in British Columbia which I have visited. This is one of the greatest assets to a farming community, but it is not enough to have a number of clean farmers in a district, you must endeavor to make clean farmers of your neighbors. The first step towards this end is a farmers' institute, of which every producer in the district should be a member. The first duty of a farmers inatitute is to prsach the gospel of clean farming, and let every man practice what he preaches and prove his teachings in a practical manner.

The principle subject for a farmers' institute to discuss and also for the members to practice are diversive farming, improvement of stock, and methods of production, science vs. practice, markets and marketing, beautifying the home and farm, and above all, co-operation. Co-operate in everything, cutout the middleman; talk Co-operative canneries, dryers, creameries, packing, marketing; get your farm supplies, seed, stock and machinery co-operatively; but don't only preach but practice; also help your neighbor and thereby help yourself, in fact love your neighbor if you can.

cultural districts is that the individcultural district is that the individual producers often think of self alone; too often jealousies exist to the great detriment of the community. This is absurd on the face of it; there may be some ground for not exactly loving your neighbor but don't let it interfere with your own business or that of the community; be broad-minded, don't think your neighbor is wrong because he does not always agree with you; there is such a thing as being in the wrong yourself; no one is perfect, no one is infallible; discuss methods with your neighbor, discuss methods at your meetings, and don't get hot because everyone does not agree with you, there may be some ground for it; broad-minded discussion is the best solver of problems.

You have in this valley one of the finest propositions in the interior of British Columbia if you go in for diversified farming; you have the soil climate, water, and you have for a good foundation a large number of practical and experienced men This valley has made slow but good progress; slow but sure, with capable men, is very much better than rapid development through a boom; a boom is good in a way, it brings capita into a district, it also brings a large number of people in without experience who won:t always make good and then knock the district; it also tends to put false values on land which is perhaps the greatest fault of a boom.

Personally I donit like booms, though a good district like this cannot avoid one indefinitely, but I hope the gospel of diversity will be preached by the men who do the booming for the sake of the future of the district.

SEED GRAIN DISTRIBUTION

The Department of Agriculture has made arrangements for the distribution of Seed Oats for the Spring of 1914, under the following conditions:

1. Orders for Seed must be sent through the secretary of the Farmers' Institute to which the applicant belongs.

2. The Seed Oats will be distributed to all members of Farmers' Institute at the actual cost of seed plus the transportation charges, except as hereinafter provided.

3. The Department will pay the transportation charges on Seed Oats supplied to members whose order is accompanied by an entry for the Crop Competition in Oats for 1914, provided that the Institute to which the applicant belongs complies with the conditions for the holding of the Crop Competition.

Forms for application for Seed Oats and also for entry in the Competition, will be supplied to the Secretary, and may be obtained from him.

4. Only the actual owner, renter, or Superintendent of a farm may obtain Seed Oats from the Department, and that only for the purpose of sowing the lands which he owns, rents or supervises.

5. Payment for the Seed Oats must be made by the Institute within thirty days from date of shipment.

6. All applications must be received by A. H. Webb, on or before January 28th, 1914.

The Oats supplied will be the American Banner variety, selected under the rules of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, Ottawa, and guaranteed by them as to quality.

The rules under which these oats are selected, grown and inspected, are a guarantee of a first-class article. The crop is inspected in the field and again in the sack, before receiving the official seal of the Association.

Sufficient work has not been done to enable us to advise a specific variety for a specific locality, but the American Banner is a well known variety, and has been chosen as the one most likely to give general satisfaction.

The Department expects to be able to deliver the Oats at about One Dollar ($1.00) per bushel.

DENOUNCE INCREASING ELECTION CORRUPTION

Amongst the resolutions considered by the Grain Growers' convention at Brandon, Man., was this:-

"That this convention views with alarm the increasing corruption in elections, both Federal and Provincial, and hereby express their indignation and condemnation of such practices, and demand that the law bearing upon elections be so changed that the parties proved guilty can be adequateiy punished."

It is evident that these Manitoba farmers had in mind the Macdonald infamies and the Gimli corruption. More than two years after Premier Borden came to office these grain growers have found such a resolution necessary. Mr. Borden made it a main klank of his Halifax platform, to put an immediate end to wlwctoral corruption, and appoint a public prosecutor to punish election wrongdoing. Premier Borden has been perfectly content to profit by any electoral corruption that will win ridings for his party, and instead of appointing a public prosecutor, has countenanced the engaging of counsel to defend the election crooks who worked for his party.

SURPRISES MANY IN CRANBROOK

The QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis is suprising Cranbrook people. Many have found that this simple remedy drains so much foul matter from the system that A SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. Adler-i-ka is the most thorough bowel cleanser ever sold. The Beattie-Murphy Drug Co.

"THE HOG—THE MORTGAGE PAYER."

In these days of the high cost of food and especially of meat, when the packers are despairing of the meat supply and the price of flesh food is proceeding steadily upward, farmers would do well to pay heed to a section of Samuel W. Atherton's book on "Practical Farming," entitled, "The Hog"—The Mortgage Payer.

Mr. Atherton says that this is what the hog is known as on Illinois farms and he believes that it is an eminently correct designation. He gives much practical advice regarding the successful raising of hogs and points out that the only serious obstacle to success is hog cholera.

But this may be avoided by proper feeding of the animal, his idea being that cholera is produced by overfeeding of corn. He therefore advises ground barley as a change of feed, and also suggests, in order to prevent the spread of the disease in case any animal upon a farm should become afflicted with it, that hog coops be constructed and scattered over the farm so that infection may be confined to as few animals as possible and the loss minimized.

Mr. Atherton shows that by proper care hog raising is not expensive, and it is unnecessary to point out that in these times of high prices it brings large returns. He shows, in addition, that besides the direct value of hog breeding in the profit of the animals themselves, hogs greatly enrich the soil upon which they run, and thus their presence on the farm makes for the betterment of all crops by supplying natural fertilizer.

Farmers should know all these things not only for their own benefit but for the sake of the entire consuming public of the nation. If it were realized how profitable hog cultivation really is, there would be many more hogs raised and the meat problem would be by no means so acute.

Japanese in the Provinces of Isomori and Hokkaido are suffering from the worst famine since 1869. On account of the failure of crops and fisheries, thousands of persons are starving. Many parents are reported to be selling their daughters to keepers of brothels in Tokyo, where batches of girls are arriving. Others are said to have been sold to foreign white slave dealers for shipment abroad. There have been runs on many local banks and the government intends to appropriate $3,000,000 for the relief of banks and the starving peasantry.

H. R. MacMillan, chief forester for British Columbia, reports that the forest fire damage during 1913 was the smallest in the history of the province. Practically all the eastern provinces, especially Ontario had been heavy sufferers again this year from the fire scourge, he reports, and while the weather was responsible for a share of the credit in British Columbia, the efficiency and organization of the Forest Branch of the Department of Lands has been an important factor in the excellent record made this year. The British Columbia Forest Branch now has a staff which, including forest guides and patrolmen on duty numbered 415 during the past summer. Thirty rangers and 280 guides protected the forests from fire, while eleven district foresters and twenty-three forest assistants were largely occupied with this work. Fifty-one of the staff of 415 were railway patrolmen, part of whose wages were refunded to the government by the railroads at the close of the season, and in addition there were about sixty railway employees who were employed on patrol duty.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men

Send Name and Address To-day. You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous

We have in our possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, fading memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that we think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So we have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope, to any man who will write us for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and we are convinced it is the surest acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor ever put together.

We think we owe it to our fellow man to send them a copy in confidence, so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what we believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SELF-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop us a line like this: Interstate Remedy Co., 7329 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and we will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but we send it entirely free.

You Can Thank Advertising

Next time you step into the corner store, take a look around. Of all the articles on the shelves, how many were on your shopping list five years ago? Make it ten years, and you will find that most of things you buy to-day—and could not do without—were not even made then.

You men and women who buy things, let this sink in. You are better men and women because of advertising. You eat more wholesome food. You wear better clothes. Your home is better furnished. You have cleaner and more sanitary houses. You read better books and magazines. You seek more healthful amusements.

Isn't life brighter because we have new and higher standards of living?

Let us thank advertising for it.

CONSOL BEAUTY — EYEGLASSES DURABILITY

Are Your Glasses Right ?

Vision changes as all things do with the years (particularly in old folks) and the glasses that were just right a few years ago may be all wrong to-day. If they have outlived their usefulness, you are doing your eyes an injury by wearing them and you are bringing on headaches and nervous disorders.

Better let us test your eyes and see whether your present glasses are suited to them.

The Tenth Anaual Ball of the Ancient Order of Foresters was held last Friday in the Auditorium. There was a good attendance and a very enjoyable time was spent by all present. Supper was served at 12 p.m. by the Companions of the Forest and the music was furnished by the Rex Orchestra.

NO ALUM

Mrs. A. J. Balment and Mrs. Fred Small were hostesses at a reception given at the residence of Mrs Balment, on Wednesday afternoon. About thirty ladies were in attendance. The unique feature of the affair was that each lady was to attend dressed to represent a book. A guessing contest resulted from this novel idea. Mrs. R. E. Beattie won first prize in the book contest. The reception was given in honor of Mrs. Fred Brown, of Red Deer, Alta., who is visiting in the city.

Four hundred and eleven votes were cast in the election for school trustees last Thursday Messrs. W. H. Wilson and, Maurice Quain being elected as members with a substantial majority. The following was the official returns of the election: W. H. Wilson, 208; Maurice Quain, 193; E. H. McPhee, 163; A. A. MacKinnon, 146; J. R. McNabb, 36; T. J. Doris, 23.

Pupils of the King Edward school and Miss Rumsey are planning on giving an entertainment at the Auditorium on Saturday, February 21st. The program will consist of children's playlets, action songs and dancing. Their entertainment last year at the King Edward school was much enjoyed by those who were present and they are endeavoring to surpass any previous performance and the coming entertainment promises to be an interesting one.

The finals at the Fernie bonspiel, last week resulted in Cameron winning third for the Macleod trophy, second in the Walker, second in the Lethbridge, and fourth in the Cranbrook trophies. His rink put up a good strong game throughout and were defeated in all the events at the last by a narrow margin. Chambers rink took fourth prize in the Walker. Alan Graham, of Cranbrook, proved one of the best entertainers with his pianologues on the bagpipes. Everyone had a good time and are all satisfied with the results. The last three days of the spiel there was very heavy ice, many of the stones dying on the hog.

Return game of basket ball between the Bankers team, of this city, and Wycliffe will be played at the club building at Wycliffe, on Saturday evening, January 24th. The Bankers won the first contest but it is understood that the players of the little lumber city have been busily getting into shape for the coming contest, which promises to be a fast one.

On Tuesday evening the Fellowship Class of the Baptist church comprising about forty young people, enjoyed a very jolly sleigh riding party to Fort Steele and return. They visited the home of Mrs J. F. Bridges, where the evening was spent with a program of games and music. Lunch was served and the party returned to the city arriving at 3 a.m. One four-horse load and one single sleigh team conveyed the crowd and they report fine sleighing. The only unusual incident of the drive was when Ralph Palmer fell out the back seat, which was caused by the inattention of the young ladies in not holding him in.

Meet me at Bob's Place.

About 300 people were present at the first dance to be given by the Cranbrook Civilian Rifle association at the Auditorium last Tuesday evening. Te dance proved to be socially and financially successful. The committee will have about $10.00 to tuen into into the Association's funds as proceeds. The hall was decorated with a predominance of Union Jacks

This is a Two-Reel Special, full of thrills and unusual interest. Arizona Bill is given thirty days in which to prove the authenticity of a Will of which he has been appointed Executor. The Disinherited Nephew plots to kidnap Bill and the Heiress, so that neither can be on hand at the appointed day.

Then follows thirty days of wild excitement during which the Heiress is captured by a hired gang; even Arizona Bill has a warm time to save his skin until Bill's wife takes a hand in the tussle and shows Bill the tracks of the bandits.

To see Arizona's wild ride on horseback; to see him follow the bandits as they leap upon a passing train by himself leaping from his galloping horse to the vestibule; to see him wage the fight over the roofs of the coaches, into the engine cab, onto the very roof of the engine; and finally, to see him make a spectacular leap from the locomotive into a River, is to realize what thrills this Two-Reel Feature affords.

Telegraphic communication with the west coast cities was interrupted by a snow slide which occurred a few miles west of Revelstoke about ten o'clock last Sunday night. The slide put the Western Associated Press Wires and the commercial service of the Canadian Pacific out of commission. Linemen were sent out from Revelstoke to repair the damage.

A very quite wedding was celebrated on Wednesday, January 14, at the home of Mr. F. W. Adolph, of Baynes Lave, B.C., when Mr. Alexander Grant Low, business manager of the Canadian Equipment Supply Co., of Edmonton, was united in marriage with Miss Kathleen Ida Ross, teacher, of Fernie, B.C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jos. Philp, M.A., B.D., of London, Ont., who is spending a year at Baynes and supplying the Methodist pulpit at Coal Creek on Sundays. Among the few friends present were Mr. E. W. McMullen and Mr. W. H. Ross, of Calgary. The young couple left on the 11 a.m. train for Spokane and other points west, accompanied by the best wishes of a host of friends.

MIRACLE OF WOMAN

What do you think of a woman, without eyes, with ears that convey no intelligence, who has never known anything but darkness and impenetrable silence, receiving hundreds of dollars for a few minutes' speech, which she herself could not hear? What do you think of the civilization which can rake a deaf and blind and dumb girl and make her a most intelligent, a receptive, a responsive, a witty and eloquent being, and author and a politician even among the doctors?

You saw the miracle when you heard Helen Keller speaking to a great audience in the city the other night; when, by putting her fingers on the throat and lips of a man she had never seen, received the faint, embedded vibrations of his voice and knew and answered his questions as instantly as you did with your ears and eyes working to their utmost efficiency.

"Does Miss Keller hear the applause?" was a question from the audience which Miss Keller picked up through her fingers on the throat and lips of her repeating teacher. "Yes," came the answer immediately, "with my feet." No one ever saw a vibration passing from people into the air and into the solid timber of the platform, yards and yards away from clapping hands. Yet this blind and deaf woman gathered the applause through the platform, through her shoes, through her feet, and made response to it as though she had never been deprived of any of the senses which make life tolerable to most of us.

Verily, a miracle has been wrought. You cannot hear of it, much less witness it, withot an infinite giving of thanks for what is possible for mankind to do with and for mankind.

Written by Bright Correspondents

ELKO

(By Fred Roo).

The other week Portugal succeeded in selling its Provinces in Africa to Great Britain and Germany for 100 Million Dollars—which proves that the price of White Elephants is going up.

The annual meeting of the Elko Board of Trade was held in the Elk Hotel reception rooms, Tuesday, January 13th. On account of the Hockey match and the Conservatives holding a meeting, only about twenty attended. R. Hirtz was elected President, C. E. Ayre, Vice-president; Fred Roo, J.P., Sec't'y-treas., for the third term. Considerable new business was brought up and a live booster club organized. These people who will neither pull nor push for the town have had special invitations to get on the wagon and ride.

DON'T RUN AWAY

If you don't like the kind of town, that this seems to be
If things are running down,
a way you hate to see.
If something isn't up to date,
or good as things of old.
While other towns are simply great,
or so you have been told.
If you would like to see a place,
that's full of push and snap.
A town that hits a faster pace,
a town that's on the map.
Yes, if a way you'd like to know,
to find it in a jerk.
I'll tell you where you ought to go,
you ought to go to work.
You needn't pack a trunk or grip,
and leave the folks behind.
You needn't go and take a trip,
some other place to find.
You needn't go and settle down,
where friends of old you miss.
For, if you want that kind of town,
just make it out of this.

The Elko Conservatives had another rousing meeting this week and voted (on account of pressure of correspondence) the secretary a long haired typewriter. May they get more in the future than they have in the past. Blessed are they that expect nothing, for they shall not be disappointed.

Did you ever send a telegram over the C.P.R.? Did you ever receive one to do you any good? They are about as sloppy with their telegrams as they are with their freight and express. We don't know anybody in this fair Dominion of ours that gets money easier than the C.P.R. Company unless its a Cabinet Minister.

R. F. Green passed through Elko Sunday, enroute for Ottawa. We sincerely hope his feet won't get cold sitting on the benches.

The Joyce boys left Elko for the Western Canada College, Calagary.

F. B. Hawthorne, of Nelson, was in town this week and drove down to Waldo.

Miss Todd, of Fernie, is in town, the guest of Miss Belle Thompson at the Hotel Columbia.

Hearts were light and faces bright at the Social and Dance given in the Grand Opera House, Wednesday night, by the Bachelor Girls of the historic old burg of Elko. Misses Belle Thompson, Hirtz, Holbrook, McKee, Johnson and Taylor were the leaders and they certainly put the circle two-step 'round the boys when it comes to getting up a dance. Mrs. C. E. Ayre received the guests, and a splendid time was spent by all the participants. Cranbrook Orchestra supplied the music, and the best one can say about the music is that they have been engaged fo several dances under way in the near future. In spite of the hard times and tightness of the money market, it was a financial success.

J. B. Tiffany was in Elko this week visiting friends and old college chums. J. B. can always depend upon a royal welcome in Elko with no country rock in it.

Finley Robson, of the Western Canada Wholesale Co., Fernie, was in Elko this week and Kootenay River points.

Miss Belle Thompson left for Passburg where she will visit with her sister, Mrs. T. Duncan, who has just returned from a four months visit to Scotland and other points in You Rupp.

A shoe traveller, last week, between Calgary and Macleod, lost a trunk full of Sample Shoes. How's that for 'Booty!'

The Elko Dramatic Club are busy with several comedies under the direction of Rev. Mr. Bruce—no relation to Robert.

The sleeping sickness so fatal in Africa has struck some of Elko's husbands with full force. They seem to be attacked worst about the time they should be making the morning fire.

It may be a bit early, but nevertheless, if you wish to wsar a strawhat this week it is perfectly alright, we have some which we would like to exchange for cash.

C. M. Edwards, of Baynes Lake, was in Elko and Fernie this week.

Miss Alvertson, of Cranbrook, is visiting Mrs. R. Joyce, Riverside Ave., Canyon Park.

Fred Roo is visiting Flagstone and Roosville this week.

Harvey Young, General Merchant, Gateway, Montana, one of the pioneers of Tobacco Plains, died at Mayo Brothers' hospital, Rochester, Minn., last week.

Mrs. Dr. Hugh Watt, of Elko, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Clark, and her daughter at Trail this week.

Elko has become so metropolitan that the water works officials object to farmers hitching their teams to the fire plugs.

There's a lot of people, right here in Elko, who would jump at the chance of selling their property for the assessed value.

There are fifty-three Thursdays in the year 1914 but this, Jim Thistlebeak says, doesn't help much. Very few persons get paid on Thursdays.

BAYNES AND WALDO

(Special correspondence).

Friends of Mrs. J. H. Ross will be glad to learn that the operation she underwent for appendicitis has been very successful.

A very thoughtful and beautiful thing was done here by the Ladies' Society of the Presbyterian Church and a few friends. They took up a subscription, which was generously responded to, and asked Mrs. R. J. Waddell, of Winnipeg, to buy a bouquet of Killarney roses and present them to Mrs. Ross in the name of the donors. This was done and Mrs. Ross writes to thank all her friends for their kindly deed.

Mr. Fred Adolph visited Edmonton this week on business for his company.

Henry Berquest is back in Waldo again after working part of the winter in Fernie.

On Sunday evening in Baynes Hall at 7:30., the Rev. C. L. Cowan will give his third lecture on Heroes and Martyrs of Reformation times. Subject: "John Knox—The Man who never feared the face of man." Large numbers are taking advantage of these lectures and a very hearty invitation is extended to everybody.

The juvenile hockey team of Waldo met the Baynes boys on the Kootenay rink last Saturday and, to use a colloquialism, "put it all over the visitors." The Baynes lads were rather on the small side to make headway against their larger opponents. After the match Mesdames T. Anderson, H. H. Ross, and C. L. Cowan gave the lads a tea.

The Rev. E. S. Bruce will preach in Baynes Hall on Sunday February first at 11 a.m. A welcome is given to all.

C. D. McNabb spent a few days in Cranbrook last week.

The local branch of the Canadian Order of Foresters meet in Baker Hall to elect wardens, etc. A large turn-out is requested to this annual meeting. For fuller particulars see bills.

Mrs. R. F. Nilne has decided to spend the remainder of the winter at Ottawa.

Mr. J. W. Ross is still at Winnipeg.

A new feature has been established here in connection with the Presbyterian church. A Girls' Club was organized last Friday in the manse to study Domestic Science. Mrs. C. L. Cowan, who took a course of instruction in Manitoba University while taking her Arts' training, and Mrs. T. Anderson, an expert with the needle, will, with a few other ladies, teach the children. Waldo congregation may justly claim, the correspondent thinks, the honor of being the first in Crows' Nest Pass, or even the Kootenay, to take a forward movement of this nature. Congratulations!

Logging is now in full swing in this locality.

Street Shumard, a teamster, got his foot crushed last week in Waldo. At the foot of hill on the Baker logging road, his chain around his logs loosened and he jumped off his truck. A log fell on his foot breaking, it is feared, one or two bones.

Friends of Mr. A. M. Beattie will be glad to know that he has been appointed hon. vice-president of the Cranbrook Poultry and Pet Stock Association for the year 1914. This honor was coming to Mr. Beattie whose chickens, like some of our local wares "can't be beat."

INVERMERE

INVERMERE, B.C., Jan. 21—Owing to the exceptionally mild weather which has prevailed throughout this part since the second instant, it has been found necessary to postpone the District bonspiel for one week from the thirteenth of this month. It has been an utter impossibility to form any ice by natural methods on account of the high temperature.

It is reported here that these phenominally mild winters reach us in cycles of from nine to ten years, but no such treatment as the present is remembered by the old-timers for the last sixteen winters.

INVERMERE, B.C., Jan. 21.—A general meeting of the District Board of Trade was held here yesterday when amongst other business transacted was a memorial asking the Provincial Government to construct some more of the good type of roads which characterized their work of last year under the superintendence of H. C. Rayson, Government Agent, for the district. The annual meeting of the Board of Trade takes place on Friday, the sixth of February.

INVERMERE, B.C., Jan. 21.—The good work of finishing the connecting link between the two ends of steel on Kootenay Central branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which branch will, when completed, connect this part up with their main line and their Crows' Nest Pass branch is being pushed apace by the contractors. The end of steel on the northern part is now within twenty miles of this townsite and supplies for the contractors' work are being brought over it. Some of the camps from the southern advance have been transfered to the Northern end and shifts are now working overtime. The approaches for the bridge on the Columbia River in this vicinity are receiving special attention. Taking it, all in all, it is reasonably safe to predict that within another month the railway will be in a position to deliver general freight and merchandise to a point within twenty miles of us and that by early spring they will be carrying passengers to the same place.

It is reported that should the Canadian Pacific Railway go on this year with the double tracking of the main line through the Kicking Horse Pass that much of the freight which now reaches the prairies from the Orient will be turned off at Golden and by coming down the branch through this valley take the congestion off the main line where the work of double tracking is being pushed.

As evidence of the mild weather which still prevails in this part it might be instanced that when Eugene, a Shuswap Indian, was crossing the Columbia Lake with his team and democrat that the ice gave way with him. His team was drowned and it was with no little difficulty that the Indian managed to save his own life.

THE GROUCH

Here is the way George Fitch, author of "At Good Old Siwash," describes a Grouch:

"The grouch is the only other biped besides the human being who wear clothes and pays taxes.

"The grouch looks like a man and there is a closed season on him all the year round, which accounts for his numbers. In fact, he was originally designed as a man, but through a mistake his bile was put in his brain instead of his liver, thus spoiling him for ordinary conversational purposes.

"The grouch has a disposition half way between that of a hyena and a case of la grippe. If he were pounded up and assayed he would not yeild one pound of good nature per carload. He has a built in frown and the only time he smiles is when his little son stubs his toe and hurts himself just as the grouch said he would if he didn't stop being happy and bothering him.

"The grouch doesn't believe in anything and can not be persuaded to do anything—even to go away and remain hence. He is usually either mad or just about to discover a reason to be mad. Put one grouch in a hall full of happy, cheery men, and in half an hour he can spread so much ill nature, that the police will have to turn off the festivities.

"The grouch does not contribute to anything but the general gloom. he does not approve of anything and he declines to be mollified by anything. He has only one redeeming feature. That is love for himself.

"The grouch is generally good to himself as if he were his own grandmother. He is kind and forbearing with his own faults, and while all the world is saying harsh things about him, he nobly refrains. The grouch would be entirely satisfied with himself if that did not involve being satisfied with a work of nature.

"There is no way to get rid of a grouch except to move the town away from him. They are generally long lived, because vinegar is a great preservative. However, the longer a grouch has to live with himself, the more terribly is he punished, which proves that we should not murmur or repine over the ways of Providence. If there were no grouches all funerals which take place would be a dead loss to the community.

constitution enabled him to thrive on the rigors of the climate.

Now comes the most interesting chapter in his life, the Red River rebellion. For long the hold of the great company had been loosening on the west. The company's rule which hitherto han been wise and practical, was denounced as arbitrary. The Red river settlement had then a mixed population of some 12,000 people. There were Europeans, Canadians, Americans and French half-breeds. Most of the priests were natives of France, to whom Canada was almost a foreign country. With a mixed population like this it was difficult to deal and when, on November 9, 1869, the deed was signed in London, whereby the committee surrendered its interests in the northwest to the crown with reservations for the company, rebellion broke out. The leader, Louis Reil, a half-breed, a man not wanting in either energy or ability.

The story of Wolseley's expedition, the flight of Riel, and the murder of Scot, are known to all. In the settlement that followed Donald A. Smith played the part of mediator and until the arrival of Governor Archibald, he administered the affairs of the province.

For a long time the idea of uniting the eastern provinces of Canada with the west had filled Mr. Smith's mind. To become a nation Canada must have railways, and with this end in view, after becoming member for Winnipeg in the provincial assembly, he used all his ingenuity and energy. In 1871 he was elected to the Dominion house as member for Selkirk by the almost unanimous vote of the community. As a result of hard and steady work for the good of his constituents, his district rapidly gained a name for sobriety and order. One of his first steps was to abolish the liquor traffic among the Indians. For some time the Hudson's Bay company had been accused of being at the bottom of all the trade in drink. To stop this, Mr. Smith had a law passed by the council forbidding any intoxicating drink to pass the boundary. Even officers were not exempt from the lay, and a small quantity of wine which was brought out for a factor was actually sent back to England. When Governor Archibald, in October, 1870, appointed Mr. Smith to the Northwest council, he had this prohibitory law carried out in the name of Canada. This act is still known as the Smith Act.

The next great undertaking of this tireless worker was the building of the Canadian Pacific railway. Money was wanting, and nothing but sheer pluck and energy could have pulled it through. The expenses were enormous and both Mr. Smith and his colleague, Mr. Stephen, were obliged to pledge their private fortune in order that the work could go on. In Montreal today there are many stories in circulation of the meetings which used to be held at which the board of directors sat with blank faces, discussing ways and means.

At one of these meetings, Mr. Smith is alledged to have said: "It's clear we want money. Well, we can't raise it amongst ourselves. Let us come back tomorrow and report progress."

When the board met the next day each member reported failure until it came to Mr. Smith's turn. "I've raised another million; it will carry us on a bit. When it is spent we will raise some more." And so the work went on. On November 7, 1885 five and a half years before it's time, the railway was finished, and the people began to realize how much one man had done by pluck, energy and determination.

The London Daily Citizen claims to have substantial grounds for the statement that the naval esrimates will be swollen by more than $1,000,000 for an airship fleet to number eight or ten dirigibles. One rigid airship is now being built in England, prior to the grant of money by parliament, but the others will be of foreign origin.
