Eighty-one Tyros Passed Over the Burning Sands in Safety and Partook of the Refreshing Waters of Zem Zem's Well

The "Dokies" came to Cranbrook from Spokane last Saturday, fifty-four of them. The train from the west was about three-quarters of an hour late, but when it came in the American boys were welcomed by a large crowd, including a number of gentlemen with shipping tags tied to the lapel of their coats, bearing the mystic word "Tyro," in large red letters. Headed by the band of El Mabarraz Temple, No. 92, of Spokane, the visitors and "Tyros" formed into line and marched to Fraternity hall, where a welcome was tendered the visitors. Mayor Fink, on behalf of the city, bid the "Dokies" welcome and "His Nibs," Hugo E. Arabs with drawn swords of fearful and wonderful make. The procession wended its way from the new opera house down Baker street to the Cranbrook hotel and returned and then what happened until about half past one in the morning no one knows except the "Dokies." It must have been a warm time for some of them, if one can believe George Hoggarth and "Dune" McLean. About half past one, or such a matter, the "Dokies" and their invited guests assembled at Fraternity hall to enjoy the banquet. It was a splendid banquet. "Bly" did the catering and did it in his best style. Everybody was hungry and did ample justice to

At 8 o'clock the procession of tyros left the new opera house, headed by the "Dokie" band. What a procession it was, weird in the darkness, broken only by blue lights and the street lamps, looked the tyros in their cages and tied to the long white rope, clothed in their white flowing garments, surrounded by fierce the viands provided. After the inner man had been satisfied a programme of toasts and speeches was indulged in.

George Thompson acted as chairman and everybody knows that Mr. Thompson makes an ideal chairman. The toast of the King was proposed and drunk with musical honors. The second toast was that of the president of the United States. If Teddy could have heard Thompson's eulogy on him it would have done him more good than killing bears in Colorado. The next toast "Our American Cousins," was replied to by "Chief Wind Pusher," W. VanHinkle and W. A. Jones, in a most acceptable manner. They both spoke of the good feeling that existed between the people of the State of Washington and the people of British Columbia. Mr. Jones said that he was born in England, brought up in London, Ont., the home of pigs feet and beer, and was now a citizen of the United States.

The Dominion was the next toast proposed, and was replied to by Thomas Caven and V. A. Rollins, the war horse of Lucan. Both these gentlemen spoke of the Dominion as Canadians should. The toast of the press was replied to by F. E. Simpson and Arthur Mott. Mr. Mott laid a great deal of emphasis on the power of the press for good or ill in the community at large. The toast of Cranbrook and Fernie was replied to by Mayor Fink, of Cranbrook, and Mayor Tuttle, of Fernie. Mr. Fink spoke as he felt about the future in store for Cranbrook and "Bill" Tuttle gave a very interesting story of his life from the old times in the Northwest to today, when he finds himself the chief magistrate of the city of Fernie.

The toast of the ladies was responded to by W. VanHinkle, who rather digressed from his subject and dilated upon the troubles of the Spokane band. Ross Tate, of Lethbridge, also replied to this toast and he assured the assembled multitude that he knew nothing whatever about the ladies. Whether or not he was believed is not known.

"His Nibs," otherwise Hugo E. Oswald, and "His Nobs," Gus Meese, replied to the toast of the evening, that of the D. O. K. K. Mr. Oswald dwelt upon the good feeling which existed between the people of the Republic and the Dominion and pointed out the fact that the two most popular rulers on earth today were King Edward and President Roosevelt. Mr. Meese told the audience that the "Dokies" of Spokane had the largest membership of any D. O. K. K. lodge in the world and that it was their intention to keep it the largest.

The Knights of Pythias were next toasted. This was replied to by Charles P. Foss, ex-grand chancellor of the K. of P. of Idaho, and W. Irvine, of Nelson, ex-grand chancellor of British Columbia. Mr. Irvine laid particular stress on the fact that fourteen per cent of the total male population of British Columbia were Knights of Pythias.

A vote of thanks to the visitors was proposed by F. E. Simpson and seconded by F. Kummer and carried amid cheers. H. E. Oswald proposed and E. W. Edgington seconded a vote of thanks to Crescent lodge, and the other Kootenay Pythian lodges which was warmly received.

Auld Lang Syne, God Save the King, three cheers for Spokane, three cheers for Cranbrook and three cheers for the chairman brought the proceedings to a close at—well, the hour is nobody's business.

AT THE GYM

The game of basket ball at the Gymnasium on Tuesday night between the Maple Leafs and Banks drew a large audience, and the game was played with a rush to the finish. It was about the closest game of the season and the players on both sides did some good work. Only for the Maple Leafs being off on their shooting the game might have resulted in their favor. The score at the end of the game, however, was 12 to 8 in favor of the Banks.

Six more games are to be played including the last scheduled game between Men's Own and Athletics, one postponed game between Maple Leafs and Men's Own, two friendly games between Athletics, Maple Leafs and Men's Own and Banks, and two protested games between Maple Leafs and Athletics and Maple Leafs and Banks. These will all be fast games and some good basketball will be seen. Games are played on Tuesday and Friday evenings at 8.30.

A COMMUNICATION

Editor of the Herald:

Dear Sir: One of the most serious questions before the managers of railways today is that of economy, and they realize that ere many years have passed it will be owing to increased competition, a vital one. Wrecks, derailments and the consequent loss and expense annually eat up hundreds of thousands of dollars, the accumulation of which has given the officials many a weary hour of thought and anxiety. How to overcome or reduce to a minimum this daily drain upon the exchequer, is a subject worthy of the deepest consideration.

An eminent jurist of Ontario made the statement that there are more people killed yearly in Canada, through negligence upon the part of railway employes, than Canadians were killed in the Boer war, and he went on to say that this result was to a great extent brought about by a lack of discipline. Admitting the statement for the sake of argument, the question which naturally arises is what is discipline? And if enforced, will it have the desired effect?

We are taught that the word discipline means instruction, training, being amenable to orders, and also includes chastisement. While I admit that discipline, so far as obeying the commands of a superior officer under almost all conditions is absolutely necessary to the successful accomplishment of any undertaking, let it be private or public, individual or collective, I do not believe that it will prove to be the panacea for the existing lamentable state of affairs, but rather let us couple discipline with a sense of individual responsibility, and we have, humanly speaking, struck the key note, how to bring about this desirable combination is our next thought. Centuries ago, when Admiral Nelson found himself face to face with the problem of his life, did he congratulate himself and his men upon the efficiency of their discipline, did he flash the message to each vessel, that he commanded every man to do his utmost? No, his knowledge of human nature was too deep, he knew there was only one way to get the very best out of the men and that was to appeal to each as being directly responsible. Are that well known message made England queen of the seas, and its sender immortal. Does the wise general when his weary regiments are face to face with the foe, oftentimes more numerous and equally well equipped, does he remind them that they have been well and rigorously disciplined, that they are getting a shilling a day for facing perchance death or hours of agony. Again, I say no. He too has learned his lesson and at the crucial moment he orders his bands or his pipers to strike up "Home Sweet Home" or "Bonnie Dundee," and as the thought of home and all that is dear to them is thus brought to their mind each man forgets that he is but part of a grand machine. He realizes that he is individually responsible, and a thousand hearts and throats acclaim that they are ready and eager for the fray. But you ask how are we going to inculcate our railway employes with an individual sense of responsibility. My reply is by establishing more passenger terminals. This may cost some pennies, but let us think of the pounds. Under existing circumstances, especially in the west, many large freight terminals are not passenger terminals. The result is all men employed in train service have constantly before them the fact that promotion invariably means change from one town to another, and if the man should be married this is in many ways expensive and burdensome, so much so that the majority of railway men are of the opinion that they should not risk matrimony until they have been promoted to a passenger train, running out of some terminal where they can reasonably expect to be located for many years.

Now, then, we come to the point. Let our railway officials arrange that all important freight terminals will also be passenger terminals, so that our young men can feel that they are safe to follow the dictates of their hearts (for Canadians are a domestic people) build a home with the assurance that it depends upon their own conduct just how long they may enjoy it, and then the companies will have an army of men individually responsible, faithfully and carefully performing their duties, having ever before them the knowledge that the least divergence from discipline, the least carelessness in handling the property committed to their charge, will re-act upon those who are dearer to them than life, and upon the home which they so proudly think, will be in a few months their very own. Thus we will have discipline, and individual responsibility working hand in hand, not only to protect the company's property, but to making better citizens, both morally and intellectually of thousands of its employes.

Yours Faithfully,
DeVere Hunt.

THE BUDGET SPEECH

Victoria, Feb. 21.—The budget speech was delivered by Hon. R. G. Tatlow at the sitting of the legislature yesterday, the estimates being brought down by special message.

Never has the financial position of the province been so satisfactory. A net surplus of revenue over expenditure of $1,201,000 was reported. This was due to the fact that the actual revenue of the province has grown by leaps and bounds in the past twelve months, far beyond even the expectation of the government. The actual expenditure exceeded the estimated expenditure by $220,000.

As the finance minister recounted the steps which had been taken in reducing the public debt of the province, his remarks were punctuated with frequent outbursts of applause.

The estimates, owing to the change in the fiscal year, are only for the nine months, ending March 31, 1909. They provide for an expenditure of $3,113,276.66. This amounts to within $150,000 of the total expenditure of last year. Over $700,000 is to be voted for roads, trails and bridges while each of the various departments of government owing to the various departments of government owing to the expansion of the last year, requires a larger amount set aside for it.

Capt. Tatlow dealt at some length with the condition of the different industries of the province and his remarks in this connection were heartily applauded.

BIG CIRCUS COMBINATION

Much has been said and printed relative to the combine which was made the past year in which the big circusses of this country were amalgamated. Before Norris & Rowe entered into the arrangement, they gave the subject great thought. It has been their aim always to give the public a clean, moral, refined performance, and that they succeeded in this is best illustrated by their past success. Wishing to give the public more for its money each year has been a constant problem that they have worked on incessantly. When the powers that be of the big combine approached Norris & Rowe and invited them to participate in the benefits to be derived from the union, they gave the matter further consideration. After so doing they saw a way clear in the saving of vast sems of money that had been wasted in useless warfare for territory, and in divers other ways to increase in size, and in the general excellence of their entertainment. By the agreement ent?red into, the Barnum & Bailey circus, will make the New England States, the Sells-Forepaugh circus has been retired from service entirely, the Ringling Bros. will make the Middle West and Southern states, and the Greater Norris & Rowe circus has been given the territory west of the Rockies. There will be but one of the big circusses in the trust to visit any section of the country any given year. This applies only to the big circusses, any of the little one horse affairs may go where they please. The trust has a special representative in each of the big cities of Europe hooking the big sensational acts; securing the strangest freaks, and the most expensive and rare animals. These acts and novelties are equally distributed among the three big circusses to the agreement, an advantage that heretofore has not been possible. The Greater Norris & Rowe circus has been enlarged to such an extent this year that it is now on a par with the other big shows in the combine, and will hereafter be one of the big "three." Their engagement in San Francisco this winter which extended over a month, was the most successful ever played by a tented exhibition in the history of the west. The entire press of the city were unanimous in proclaiming it to be the best circus ever seen in that city. This circus will visit this district early in the season.

EAST KOOTENAY GAME RESERVE

Resolutions adopted by the North American Fish & Game Protective association at its annual convention in Albany, February 13th, 1908:

Whereas, the North American Fish & Game Protective association has obtained reliable information that in a certain portion of south-eastern British Columbia, situated between the Elk and Bull rivers, there exists about 450 square miles of waste lands which is today richly stocked with mountain goat, mountain sheep, grizzly bear, deer and other species of valuable wild animals, all of which are positively known to breed in and inhabit that region all the year round; and

Whereas, this association is credibly informed that the region in question contains neither valuable timber, coal, nor agricultural lands, and that no claims of any kind have been entered therein, now, therefore be it

Resolved, by the North American Fish & Game Protective association, in annual convention assembled, it is to the best interests of the sportsmen of all Canada, and of the world at large, that the whole of the region referred to be permanently set aside as a game and forest preserve, and that action tending thereto be recommended to the government and people of British Columbia, And it be further

Resolved, that it is the view of this association that the permanent preservation of the wild animal life and scenery of the region, now tentatively known as Goat Mountain park, would redound to the credit and also the practical benfit of the people of British Columbia for centuries to come.

E. T. D. Chambers,
Secretary North American Fish & Game Protective association.

AN EXPLANATION

The Herald regrets that in the publication of the report of Mr. M. A. Beale, president of the Board of Trade, two or three errors appeared that were as aggravating to the Herald as to Mr. Beale. Below is a letter from Mr. Beale which the Herald trusts will explain everything in a satisfactory manner:

Cranbrook, B. C., Feb. 24, 1908

The Editor Cranbrook Herald, Cranbrook, B. C.:

Dear Sir: Would you kindly draw attention in the next issue of your paper to the following errors in the report of my address to the Cranbrook Board of Trade, appearing in your last issue: "The motion adopted at the Cranbrook meeting re timber license fees east and west of the Cascades was "to be presented" at the Associated Boards of Trade and was "dropped" at the Moyie meeting and not "adopted."

There are one or two other errors, but they are of no importance.

Your kind attention to the above matter will oblige,

Yours Truly,
M. A. Beale.

WILL BE TRIED FOR MURDER

Coleman, Feb. 14.—The adjourned preliminary hearing of Mike Phillips, the man accused of the murder of "Monte" Lewis, a woman who was killed last November in a house of ill-repute at Blairmore, was concluded today. After hearing the evidence of the Chinese cook, who prepared meals for the woman and Frankie Hartys, a woman of the same class who lived with the victim, the magistrate sent the prisoner up for trial at Macleod.

He will remain in the barracks at Macleod until May, when the next sittings of the supreme court will be held.

Inspector Starnes, of Macleod, heard the case with W. M. Campbell acting for the crown, and C. McLeod defending the prisoner.

THE GANTHONY ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. Cosgrove, of Willis & Cosgrove, should be ashamed of himself. He has foisted upon the opera house managers of the west and upon the public generally some of the worst apologies for shows that a long suffering public have had the misfortune to put up with. He gave us Bob Smith, "the messenger of mirth," who looked like an undertaker and went through his recitations like a corpse. And now he sends along Robert Ganthony, court jester to His Majesty the King. A man who has played for as high as $300.00 a night and, he is not forgotten, has been introduced to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. Sioux Indians and Zulu chiefs have been presented to the Prince of Wales before now. But this man Ganthony, patronized by His Majesty the King—well, Edward the VII. is more easily amused than his amorous predecessor King Henry the VIII. It makes one shudder to think of what might have happened to Ganthony if he had appeared before Bluff King Hal," in cap and bells. Ganthony is on a par with the entertainers supplied by William Whitley and the army and navy stores at two guineas a night to amuse a children's party. Mr. Cosgrove, because he has a cinch, is using it to bring poor shows to Cranbrook and other places in the west. This is distinctly unfair to the theatre managers, because if a good thing did come through no one would buy tickets, because they have been bitten too often. If the managers of the western opera houses are wise they will cut out Mr. Cosgrove at the earliest possible date. And right here the Herald desires to apologize to the public for all the good words it has said for Mr. Ganthony. The Herald was mislead.

GOOD ADVERTISIEG

Manager McHenry, of the new opera house moving picture show, has a new and original advertising proposition. Commencing tonight a coupon will be handed to each adult on entering the house, which must be retained. Within two weeks, on date to be announced, a drawing will take place. A small child will be selected by a committee of the audience, which committee will be on the stage to assure fair play, and the child will draw from a box containing corresponding numbers those on the coupons. The holder of the coupon corresponding to the lucky number will receive a handsome oper cloak tailor made in the latest design and lined with white silk. The value of the cloak is $35 and it may be seen in Burns Bros. window.

PINCHER CREEK GETS NEW RAILWAY

(Calgary News.)

J. E. Shoultz, vice-president of the Alberta Oil, Wheat & Railway company, and wife have returned from their eastern trip. While away Mr. Shoultz succeeded in selling the railway bonds guaranteed by the town and the railway is an assured thing now. The fact that the bonds sold at par speaks well for Mr. Shoultz and this section of the country in general. The C. P. R. intend to send one of their engineers as soon as possible to survey a route into town and to decide where the new road is to tap the C. P. R. An order will soon be placed for ties and other material and work will be started very soon.

Rambling Reveries

STERLING ADVICE

To a great extent the celibacy of our young men is owing to the way in which girls are brought up. Through mistaken kindness, mothers often themselves do what they ought to make their daughters do. Let them teach housekeeping on a fixed methodical plan, and they will then learn their history, French and music all the better. It is natural and right that a mother should wish to see her daughter well educated and even highly accomplished; and it is a mistake that good and careful education should unfit a girl for the homely duties of cooking, dusting and general housework. On the contrary, those duties would be better performed if mothers would at the same time that they seek talented instructors for their daughters, impart to them some of their own culinary talent, there would be more good wives and marriages. Little girls should be taught, as early as possible, to perform simple household duties neatly; and as they grow older, let them become gradually acquainted with the theory of housekeeping in such a manner that, when they are married, they will be able to adapt themselves to their circumstances, and be useful as well as pleasing companions to their husbands.

Gratitude for mercies, patience under trials, congenial society and the hope of heaven, will bring us all the happiness this life can bear. Absolutely, there is nothing beyond this but the life eternal. Accept this view, and waste no more time and labor in seeking for happiness where it is not.

THE FATHER'S DUTY

We estimate a mother's importance in her family as high as any one can; and yet we do not believe she monopolizes all the qualities needed in the great work of training up human beings. Her familiarity with her children places her in some respects, at a disadvantage for the exercise of wholesome authority. The wise father will not indeed take the reins of the family government from his wife, but he will make his children feel and know that her gentle sway is sustained by a firm and steady hand, that behind their mother's tender heart stands a cool judgment, and a will stronger even than their own, and that they cannot impose upon the one or resist the other. But if he would be truly the father of his family, he must not be a stranger to them. It will answer no purpose for him to come in once in a while to meet some great emergency, and awe down rebellion by hard authority. He must be the companion, the friend of his children. Strong, natural love must be the basis of all beneficial discipline. But this is also, we had almost said, equally necessary for the father himself. Nothing keeps the heart so fresh and young, saves it from bitterness and corrosion through the cares and conflicts and disappointments of life, as the daily enjoyment of a happy home. A man of business, or a scholar, who thus allows himself time for relaxation, and for the play of the domestic affections, will in the course of years have accomplished more, with less wear of mind and body, than one who has been all the time on the stretch, seeking to catch the nearest way to wealth or any other object of personal or public good.

WITHOUT AN ENEMY

Heaven help the man who imagines he can dodge enemies by trying to please everybody. If such an individual ever succeeded, we should be glad of it—not that one should be going through the world trying to find beams to knock and thump his head against, disputing every man's opinion, fighting and elbowing and crowding all who differ from him. That, again, is another extreme. Other people have their opinions—so have you; don't fall into the error of supposing they will respect you more for turning your coat every day to match the color of theirs.

Wear your own colors in spite of wind or weather. It costs the vacillating and irresolute ten times the trouble to shuffle and twist than it does honest, manly independence to stand its ground.

FLOWERS FOR THE DEAD

If friends would but have the good taste to place a few simple flowers about the departed ones, such as she or he was fond of in life, it would be very fitting, but it is surely not in taste to overload the casket with flowers representing an amount of money which would do much good to the poor. And then the custom of exposing the face of the dead to the gaze of those making the tour of inspection, which is now almost universal in country churches, is to us another very unpleasant feature of funerals. We often read with interest of the burial rites of comparatively unknown nations, and are surprised and amused with their peculiarities. Would not ours, in their turn, present some features as curious, if read of by distant people. If personal friends wish to take a last look of a deceased friend, it is surely due to them to do so alone, and without being gazed at by a crowd.

THE SUNSHINE

Everybody should live on the sunny side of their houses as much as possible; and allow the sun's genial rays to penetrate the rooms. Darkened parlors are fashionable evils. True, it is gloomy enough to be ushered into a tomb-like apartment, where one can scarcely grope his way to a seat, and to discover, when his eyes become accustomed to the dim light, that every chair and sofa has on its "duster," apparently equipped for traveling to some unknown land. But ladies must have their carpets kept bright and fresh, even if their cheeks are the paler for it! And so the shutters are tightly closed, and the heavy curtains drawn. But for the sake of health and beauty, ladies, let this be done only in the "best parlor," if it must be done at all. Let the rooms where the family live be cheerful and sunny. No lady would expect her house plants to send out full, brilliant blossoms unless she placed them at a window where the sunshine would invigorate them. No more should she expect her children to show fresh, rosy complexions, or to develop genial dispositions, unless they live in light, sunny, airy rooms.

The villages of Sibford-Ferris and Sibford-Gower, on the sloping hillsides of North Oxfordshire, are famous not only for their picturesque scenery, but also for health and the longevity of their inhabitants. At the parish church, which serves for these twin villages, there were between January, 1907, and January, 1908, ten burials, the ages of which were as follows, given in the order in which they took place: 95, 53, 78, 87, 86, 73, 79, 61, 86, 85—an average of over 78¼ years.

In the basket of a lady who boarded a mail packet at Calais, for Dover, was found a small dog. She was informed that the animal could not be landed at Dover without the necessary order. She begged hard for the officer to allow her dog to be landed, but the officer was obdurate. The lady burst into tears and presented quite a pathetic picture all the way across the Channel, saying she could not part with her little pet. Just before Dover was reached the lady made a final fruitless appeal to the official—and then presented the dog to the chief engineer.

OBSERVATIONS
BY THE OLD MAN.

Mary Markwell, who writes for the Winnipeg Free Press, is a clever writer, but her knowledge of the ways of the interior of British Columbia is distinctly limited. She says in an article on home life in British Columbia:

"The children of the inland towns seem to lack training, their manners are rude and their humors seem to be considered too much. Streets resound at night with cat-calls, and late evening hours find girls of quite tender years "out for a lark;" while parents generally appear to be considerate only of money-making and money-getting. Few of the inland, or indeed the island women are capable as the prairie or middle west wife and daughter. Housework is looked upon as degrading, and the most incompetent Chink or Jap is retained in service at a high wage, rather than a daughter should wet her fingers. It may be the atmosphere (I am quite willing to allow an influence of torpor), but this influence, whatever it is, seems to extend to the mentality of B. C. women as well as the physical, for (may I be forgiven for saying it) the sixteen-year-old Manitobian or the farm-bedged prairie dairymaid of the plains has a broader grasp of things general than the B. C. matrons have. In B. C. the vision if life seems cramped."

Mary Markwell has another guess coming. She has evidently never been in Cranbrook and how can she talk about inland towns when she has not been here? The Herald would like Mary to see the boys and girls of this city and as for the capabilities of our women, both mentally and physically, they can be beaten in no place on earth. As for their vision being cramped Mary is wrong again, for a better read up-to-date lot of women can not be found than those of this province.

The Rev. Father Lacombe, now of Pincher Creek, was a guest of the Canadian club at Edmonton last week. Father Lacombe first set foot where Edmonton now stands as long ago as September 9th, 1849. Father Lacombe entered a special plea for the preservation of Indian names. "The word Saskatchewan would have no significance to a Cree from whose language it is supposed to be taken," said Father Lacombe. "The river originally called 'Kissackatchewan', which means rapid river. In the same way Manitoba should be Manitoaba, which signifies a neck of land between two lakes."

"Now is the day of immigration," he concluded, "and the country is growing faster than I ever thought it could. It must be because we had the right men in the right place and were getting the right kind of immigrants into the country. The people show the greatest hope in the future and the people who came here a few years ago with nothing have property worth thousands of dollars."

We shall have a book on Canada that will be worth reading. Robert Ganthony is going to write on Canada for the well known London weekly, "The Sketch." These articles will later be produced in book form. What next?

Mr. Michael J. O'Donoghue, of New York City, for twenty years cashier of the water registrar's office, and who handled in that time forty million dollars (40,000,000), as much as two and one-half millions going through his hands some years, is dead. His accounts for the entire period were gone over by experts and found to be correct to a penny.

The Herald recommends its readers to peruse the letter from P. DeVere Hunt in this issue. If Cranbrook were made a passenger terminal for all trains the result would be of great advantage to Cranbrook. Railway men would establish their homes here and what Cranbrook wants is to be a city of homes.

The Herald wishes to call attention to the resolutions adopted by the North American Fish & Game Protive association at its annual convention at Albany held on February 13th, 1908. The fact of having a national game preserve in East Kootenay is of interest to every resident in the district and no stone should be left unturned to have this matter go through at the earliest possible moment.

Is it not time now that sittings of the supreme court should be held in Cranbrook? Cranbrook has a good court room and it seems as though the government should arrange to hold sittings here as well as at other points in East and West Kootenay. This matter should be brought to the attention of the provincial government by those who have the ear of the government.

Only once in four years can the birthday of Louis Joseph Saint Veran, Marquis de Montcalm, be celebrated, because he was born on the 29th of February, 1712. He was a French general, born near Nimes, France. Having entered the army he distinguished himself in several campaigns in Europe and in 1756 was appointed to the chief command of the French troops in Canada. Here he took Fort Ontario (Oswego) and Fort William Henry on Lake St. George, and occupied Ticanderogo in 1758, but at Quebec, September the 14th, 1759, was completely defeated by General Wolfe on the Heights of Abraham, both commanders being mortally wounded. At this battle the best blood of England and France flowed together, and the very joint shedding of the blood of the Briton and the Frank caused the inseparable union of the British and French in Canada today. Mantcalm, no less than Wolfe, is honored in Canada as one of the makers of this great Dominion.

Let the Board of Trade get busy. There is plenty to do. People will soon be coming in looking for locations and we want them for East Kootenay.

Don't forget to keep on boosting for Cranbrook to be made British Columbia's University City.

James Russell Lowell, whose birthday occurred last Saturday, the 22nd, was born at Cambridge, Mass., and graduated from Harvard in 1838. His famous "Biglow Papers" and other meetings did much to make the abolitionist movement popular. He became professor of modern languages at Harvard in 1855. He was the first editor of the "Atlantic Monthly" and joint editor with Professor Charles Elliot Norton of the "North American Review. He was United States minister to Spain from 1877 to 1880 and to the Court of St. James from 1880 to 1885. In Madrid he was the recipient of the same attention an honor that had formally been bestowed upon Washington Irving, and in England his graceful oratory was in constant demand upon public occasions. During his residence in England he was elected lord rector of St. Andrew's University, Edinborough. Among his works may be mentioned: "Life of Keats," "The Biglow Papers" and "Democracy and other Addresses." He died at Cambridge, Mass., on August 12th, 1891.

Today is the anniversary of the battle of Majuba Hill, where in 1881 was the scene of the defeat of 618 British troops and the loss of their leader, Sir George Cokey, by a greatly superior force of Transvaal Boers. The night before, after an eight hours climb, they had occupied the hill, which overlooked the enemy's position at Laing's Nek, and which toward noon was unexpectedly carried by a sudden rush of the Boers. To the British nation the name Majuba Hill become a synonym of disaster. The anniversary of this fight was marked by the success of Lord Roberts, commander of the British forces in the campaign of 1900, when he received the surrender of the Boer commander, General Cronje.

In the programme of the 15th annual meeting of the Canadian Press association, to be held in Toronto in March, Dave Elton is given as publisher of the "Star" Cranbrook. "Dave" has no kick coming because he is credited with running a paper in such a good town as Cranbrook, and Cranbrook has no kick in being credited with having such a good newspaper man as Dave Elton within her gates.

Mr. Flumerfelt, of Victoria, B. C., is anxious to stimulate an interest in the problem of how best to develope the resources of British Columbia. His offer of prizes for essays is commented on by all the leading papers. The Montreal Witness says:

We publish today the offer of Mr. Flumerfelt, of Victoria, British Columbia, of three hundred and fifty essays on the peopling of Canada and his indication of the lines such essays should follow. His intention is to scatter the prize essays in influential quarters for the good of Canada. All we know of the writer is that he is the president of the British American Trust company, whose head office is at Victoria. It is to be hoped that this patriotic proposal will result in much good. There is one thing that we can be sure of, namely, that it will be of the greatest possible benefit to the competitors in setting them reading and doing some precise thinking on the interests of our country.

After a warm shower of rain last night a perfect spring morning greeted the early riser this morning. Nothing could possibly be more delightful than the winter just past. No very cold weather, enough, yet not too much snow, and almost constant sunshine. Indeed the "banana belt" has reason to be thankful for and proud of its climate.

Every rancher and farmer in the district should attend the meeting of the Farmers' Institute on Saturday evening at the government office. The officers of the institute are doing all in their power to make the institute useful.

Results bring advertising. The Herald brings results.

The budget for this province shows again rank discrimination against the Cranbrook district in the way of appropriations for the year, due, of course, to the fact that the people of this district gave Dr. King, a Liberal member, a majority over J. A. Harvey, the Tory candidate. For the past few years the McBride government has seen fit to take revenge on the Cranbrook district, simply because the people expressed themselves at the polls in a manner that they had a right to. When it comes to the payment of taxes in this district, there is no discrimination between the Grits and the Tories. Every man is compelled under law to pay upon what property he may have whether it be personal or real. But the McBride government are a law unto themselves and they say to those districts that have returned Liberal members virtually in fact: "You have elected your Liberal candidate, now take your medicine." And yet Mr. McBride and the other members of the cabinet are elected for the purpose of dealing honestly and fairly with the revenues of the province, and it should be their bounden duty in handling the funds of the people to give each district what its revenue entitles it to in the way of appropriation.

WARD-HARRIS

A very pretty wedding took place at the Presbyterian church last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Julia C. Ward and Mr. William M. Harris. A large number of invited guests and others witnessed the impressive ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. C. O. Main. The service was choral throughout, Mrs. S. W. Ryckman presiding at the organ. The bride was attended by her niece, little Miss Laura Richards, as ring bearer. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white net over white silk and carried a shower bouquet of carnations. The little bridesmaid was charmingly dressed in white. After the ceremony some twenty-five friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Richards, sister and brother-in-law of the bride, where congratulations were extended and a very dainty supper served. Mr. and Mrs. Harris have taken up their residence at their house on Garden avenue. Both Mr. and Mrs. Harris have held responsible positions in the establishment of Hill & Co. for some years, where their uniform courtesy has made them a host of friends. Mrs. Harris resigned her position shortly before her marriage. Mr. Harris will, however, continue in charge of his department. Mrs. Harris has been a very hard worker in church circles during her residence in Cranbrook and for a number of years was a member of the Presbyterian church choir. Mr. Harris is a young man who stands high in Cranbrook and his friends are legion. The Herald joins with their acquaintances in wishing this very popular couple every happiness. The presents were numerous and appropriate.

DR. KING WORKING HARD

J. H. King, the member in the provincial house for this district, is making an effort to have the government build a trunk road through the entire district, thus giving easy transportation facilities for people between the different sections. This is a most excellent idea and the Herald trusts that Dr. King will be able to carry the matter through. In this connection the doctor is taking up again this year the project of a government bridge over the Kootenay river at Wardner. For the past three years Dr. King has labored along this line, but up to the present time has been unable to get anything more than promises but he is in hopes that the government will accede to his urgent requests of the past and make this much needed improvement.

AT THE CURLING RINK

Two rinks came up from Fernie on Monday, one skipped by H. R. Grant and the other by A. J. Blundell. On Monday night they played friendly games with some Cranbrook rinks, with the following results: Grant beat McCowan, Pinkham and Grant tied. Beattie beat Blundell, so that the net result was that Fernie lost by one point. The following made up the two Fernie rinks: H. Johnson, A. C. Liphardt, G. G. Henderson, H. R. Grant, R. H. Brown, Robert Duthie, A. J. Blundell and A. J. Burnside.

C.P.R. GETS NORTH COAST LINE

Spokane, Febf. 25.—Reports here are that the right of way of the North Coast Railway company, the president and originator of which is Robert E. Strahorn, of Spokane, has been acquired by the C. P. This would give the Canadian line a shorter route to the Washington coast than either of the transcontinental lines. The purpose is to operate it in connection with the Spokane International line, which is used by the C. P. R. from the boundary to this city.

UNFAIR DISCRIMINATION

(Nelson Daily News.)

John Oliver, M.P.P., spoke to the point when in the course of his comments upon Finance Minister Tatlow's budget speech, he drew attention to the marked inequality of the appropriations for public works in constituencies represented by opposition members as compared with those represented by supporters of the government. It is not unreasonable that there should be some difference although even slight favoritism can only be defended upon purely partisan grounds, and it would be expecting too much from a very human cabinet to ask that all constituencies should be treated with absolute impartiality in the matter of appropriations for public works. Still the too obvious penalty imposed upon certain constituencies for having exercised freedom of choice in the election of their representative is, in the present estimates, so marked that there is every justification for strenuous protest.

Take for example the treatment accorded the important constituency of Cranbrook represented by Dr. King, Liberal, as compared with the generous consideration shown the constituencies of Columbia and Fernie, which return government supporters. The total appropriation for Cranbrook electoral district is $5,000, whereas the vote for Fernie district is $22,950 and for Columbia $18,000. It is probable that neither of these latter votes is at all in excess of the pressing requirements of the respective districts, but it cannot be urged that the small sum of $5,000 is at all commensurate to the requirements of so large and important a district as that of Cranbrook, which includes not only the growing town of Cranbrook, but the smelter town of Marysville and the important mining camp of Moyie, probably one of the largest contributors to the provincial treasury of any camp in the province.

It will be contended by apologists for the government that Cranbrook district, by reason of its returning a Liberal, has only itself to thank for such scurvy treatment.

Again, the appropriation for Greenwood district, represented by G. R. Naden, Liberal, is fixed at $7,000, whilst $26,000 is appropriated for the Okanagan, both represented by government supporters. Similkameen and $38,000 for the

The precedent is a bad one and certainly cannot make for purity in politics. In effect, these appropriations represent an ultimatum to the constituencies. If you want reasonable appropriations for public works, you must return government supporters, no matter what your contributions may be to the provincial exchequer, or the pressing needs of your district in the way of roads, bridges, etc.

This policy savors strongly of bare faced bribery and corruption and must inevitably serve to perpetuate a very false standard of political morality.

MADE AN L.L.D.

Montreal, Feb. 24.—Right Hon. James Bryce, the British anbassador to the United States, arrived in the city this morning from Ottawa and this afternoon was invested with the honorary degree of L.L.D. at McGill University. The governor general was among the distinguished visitors. Mr. Bryce is the guest of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who entertained at dinner in his honor this evening.

ELKO AND TOBAC CO PLAINS

(From our own correspondent)

Ex-Policeman Draycott, of the R.N.W.M.P., with his rebellion war bag, was in Elko this week on his way to Okotoks, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McInnes and son, of the Tafl Pine Forest, Kootenay river, are visiting with Mrs. F. Roo at Roosville.

Fred Lewis, of the Number One Hard Milling company, was in Elko for the first time this week from Lethbridge, Alta.

We don't object to the "Old Man" patenting the word banana or putting a lock on it, but he might have owned up to the fact that he got his idea after paying Fred Roo a visit at Roosville, and seeing the ripe red fruit hanging in great big clusters from the trees.

Mr. Gusty, the hustling manager of the P. Burns company, was enjoying the beautiful sunshine in Elko this week.

P. McConnell, of the Island Park hotel, near Waldo, was in Elko visiting his old school chums, looking as bright as the bottom of a new tin bucket.

H. H. Ross, of the Ross-Saskatoon Lumber company, visited Elko several times this week, also Cranbrook and Fernie.

A. E. Ingham and wife were Fernie visitors this week.

Sheriff Kenny, of Montana, who is in British Columbia on business for the state, is visiting friends in Elko.

A man who don't believe there's any good in human nature can't have a very good opinion of himself.

M. W. Skelton bought several lots in Beech Grove Park, Elko, and is building a fine residence.

Mr. Roy Robez, head shipper and yard foreman for the North Star Lumber company here, leaves to take up a better position with the Baker Lumber company, Waldo, March 1st. Mr. Robey was the star pitcher for the Elko baseball team and was the best on the pike. We join with everybody in Elko in wishing him every prosperity.

A fellow down in California has discovered a love powder that will cause a hen to lay an egg whether she wills or not. We have ordered a carload and expect it here about March 15th. We are leaving a few with the "Old Man" for distribution to paid up subscribers and ex-aldermen. Pass the eggs please.

A frenzied financier says the open season for suckers is never closed.

W. S. McEwen went down to Hillcrest this week with a view to going into business at that coming Pittsburg of the Crows Nest Pass.

Fred Sheridan is putting some extensive improvements on his pre-emption across the river this winter, both in buildings and clearing land.

The many friends of Cinnamon Tom the tiger of the Flathead trail, will be pleased to hear that he is still above dirt and accumulating a vast amount of experience across the border.

Bill Cornfossel passed through Elko on his way to Fernie to see the doctor. Bill's got a wart on his nose the size of a full grown Colorado potato bug.

Miss Lonely Girl wishes us to say that the clothes pin social will take place some time in March and those having invitations will be notified as to the date and she promises a rip roaring time. Don't miss grand treat.

The Rev. Mr. Winter, church of England, of Fort Steele, preached in Elko last Sunday evening. We are very sorry to say a very small congregation on account of the heavy rainstorm.

W. A. Brown, of Eureka, Montana, was in Elko this week looking over C. P. R. land south of the town.

Mr. R. Sinclair, of the C.P.R. land department and Mr. Moffatt, timber cat, were in Elko and went south to the big red apple country.

J. D. Pugh, general manager of the Pugg & Livingston Lumber company, came in from Okotoks, Alta., this week.

Messrs. Heffern and Hulme, of the C. P. R. land department, of Calgary, are inspecting the C. P. R. lands around Elko, suitable for raising peaches.

Now, then, get a move on. Then keep going.

The artist that runs the typeomobile at the Herald office must have been exceeding the speed limit when he got to the Elko and Tobacco Plains notes last week the way he bunched them up. The first thing we know we'll be taken for Harold Beghie.

Bill Green, tie hack; Rob Ross, rail splitter and Sourdough Irwin, rabbit catcher, left Saturday for Washington. May the Lord have mercy on Washington.

FERNIE

(From the Fernie Free Press.)

The G. N. train on Monday afternoon carried away from Fernie an undesirable character in the person of F. F. Fisk, a bad man from Montana and a fugitive from American justice. It was not Fisk's desire that he should take the trip. He went at the instance of Immigration Agent Dunlop, who accompanied him to the boundary. Mr. Fisk was not enamored of the genial I. A's company nor does he approve of the activity of our immigration department. Otherwise he would scarcely have taken the course he did. As the train, running at 20 miles an hour, was rounding a curve near Elko he stretched himself forward in a yawn of ineffible ennui that completely deceived. The next moment he shot out the car door and plunged from the moving train into the snow. Giving a signal for the train to stop Mr. Dunlop entered into the spirit of the game and took to the snow himself. Fisk was partially stunned by his fall and had made little progress from the spot where he left his mark in the snow. He refused to get on the train again unless taken by force. He got on and he wore jewelry the rest of the trip. At Gateway Sheriff Parrow gathered him in and he will await the judgment of the United States court for theft.

A private bill, introduced by W. R. Ross, of Fernie, for the incorporation of the Crows Nest & Northern railway, caused an attack on that and also on a bill to incorporate the Eastern B. C. railway, which proceeded from the Socialist section but was not joined in to any appreciable extent by the other members on the opposition side.

The first hockey game of the series for the Whelan cup will be played on the rink on Wednesday, February 26. This cup was put up for competition among the teams of the Pass.

Word has been received from Bryan E. Williams, provincial game warden, to the effect that the government had adopted the principal of a game preserve in East Kootenay and that Mr. Williams would visit the district personally in the spring with a view to informing himself re conditions in the various proposed preserves. It is believed that on receipt of his report immediate action will be taken in the matter of delimiting the boundaries of a sanctuary for game in these regions. This will be welcome news to the members of the Fernie Game Protective association who, all along have been agitating for just this course.

Judge Wilson held county court on Thursday.

Malcolm McInnes, lumberman of Elkmouth, was in the city on Thursday.

Coleman defeated Michel on Michel ice in a spirited game of hockey on Tuesday.

C. Farrell, of Moyie, and Thos. Rader, of Morrissey, were guests at the Fernie on Wednesday.

V. Hyde Baker, of Cranbrook, and C. D. McNab, of Waldo, were transacting business in Fernie on Tuesday.

The friends of W. R. Wood are pleased to see him about again after his recent severe illness.

Provincial Constable A. Sampson was taken to the Home hospital on Sunday suffering from inflammatory rheumatism. Mr. Sampson's many friends will regret his indisposition and will be glad to see him about again.

M. A. McDonald, barrister of Cranbrook was in Fernie on legal business on Friday last.

There has been considerable activity in the real estate market recently, due no doubt to the desire of the knowing ones to anticipate the enhanced values that are bound to reflect the bright prospects of a busy summer.

MOYIE

(From the Moyie Leader.)

The new hoist for the St. Eugene has arrived.

Miss Tetrault came up from Cranbrook yesterday.

G. T. McGregor, D. A. Ayres, R. J. Brimson, Harold Chapman, J. A. Crawford, Sam Potter, E. W. McQuade and W. Kilrade were in Cranbrook Thursday evening attending a meeting of the Masonic lodge, and receiving their instructions for carrying on the work of a lodge of instruction in Moyie. The Moyie lodge will meet in McGregor hall on the first and third Wednesday evening of each month.

Centuries after centuries have passed away and still the origin of St. Valentines Day lies unrevealed. History tells us that in the early centuries in pagan Greece, it was a time of great festivities and rejoicing. Youth and maiden in particular celebrated it by the interchange of gifts. While the same spirit which was characteristic of the gift in the earlier days remains unchanged. The valentine gift of today partakes of an entirely different nature, having intrinsic beauty in addition to the charm of sentiment.

ULCERATED LEG AND ANKLE HEALED BY ZAM-BUK

A common result of an injury sometimes of even a tiny scratch is chronic ulceration, the skin disease that eats deepest into the tissue and is most painful, weakening and obstinate. Ulcerations are brought on often (especially in the case of women) by excessive standing or kneeling. Mrs. J. E. Berryman, of 91 Catherine St. N., Hamilton, Ont., says: "I was suffering for a number of weeks with a badly inflamed and ulcerated leg and ankle. I had used one remedy after another with no material benefit. My leg was swollen in some places to bursting and day and night I suffered severe pains. At this stage my husband prevailed upon me to leave off all other preparations and use Zam-Buk. This I did and was agreeably surprised for after a few applications the swelling in the leg was greatly reduced and the ulcer looked healthier. I persevered with Zam-Buk until the swelling was banished and the pain and inflammation entirely removed. Zam-Buk has effected a cure when other remedies failed."

Zam-Buk also heals cuts, bruises, burns, running sores, eczema, boils, eruptions, scalp sores, itch, piles, chapped hands and all diseases of the skin. Of all druggists and stores, 50c. box or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, postpaid on receipt of price. 3 boxes $1.25.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE WENTWORTH

Corbett & Co. have made a number of improvements in the Wentworth hotel. The office and sitting room have been repainted and decorated, new linoleum has been put down and the place looks a hundred per cent better. The dining room has also been redecorated and in the very near future the bar room is to be treated to a general cleaning up. Much credit is due Mr. Corbett for the way he is putting this popular hotel into shape. That he is justified in doing so, however, is evidenced by the patronage the house receives.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 18.—Three of the New York to Paris automobile racers arrived here early today. The American car reached Comeant at 7.30 a.m. with the Italian car one minute behind it. The French car reached Comealt at 9 a.m. Bad roads and heavy snowdrifts prevented anything like fast time.

DOING IT RIGHT

The Spokane city council say it is against the law for churches to take up a collection on Sundays. The people of Spokane are certainly not only putting the lid on, but sitting on it. They are quite right. There is no better means of getting rid of a bad law than enforcing it to the limit.
