Notes On A Long Saddle Ride

Lady on Trip From Alberta to Okanagan Records Impressions of Cranbrook Dist.

Mrs. Rosa Laing, of Westbank, who last June passed through the city on horseback on her way from Alberta to Westbank, in the Okanagan, has been writing of her trip in the Calgary Herald. A recent instalment told of that part of her journey from the lower end of the Banff-Windermere road to as far along the road as Moyie, and some of the impressions she records do not seem altogether of the pleasantest. A number of local allusions made to things and people will easily be recognized and Mrs. Laing's story makes interesting reading since it notes incidents in a long journey that might otherwise go unmarked. Her story seems more like seeing the district as others see it, and not through our own accustomed eyes.

Mrs. Laing writes as follows, her description commencing at a few miles beyond Sinclair Springs:

Along the sides of the road there were evidences of forest fire. Miles of trees standing stark and bare, charred and blackened. It is a sad sight of desolation and should do more than the many notices to make the tourist careful of his camp fire.

Reaching the summit there is a beautiful little lake on the left of the road, full of fish. Someone was telling me that these fish were placed in the lake a while ago, and don't seem to get natural food, they are so ravenous for bait of any kind that it is really not sport catching them. The mountains here as one descends are simply glorious—a tour like mine, absolutely alone—brings you up against fundamentals. "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help," God always seems near in the mountains, they are so vast and untrammelled.

Hot Water Springs

Descending this mountain pass, I saw some mountain sheep, quite near, on the hill side, just before I reached Sinclair Hot Springs. Here I had a lovely swim in the natural hot water. It was quite the hottest out-of-door bath I ever tried, after which I rode down through Sinclair Canyon, a really wonderful place, the great rocks forming arches, washed out by the water, through which runs the road, on one side and the water rushing down below on the right. The rocks are a glorious red stone, which glowed beautifully in the setting sun.

Down at the foot of the canyon there is a real inn, or rest house for travelers. Here it was a treat to get fresh milk again, after a few days of the canned variety. Here I slept splendidly, and early Tuesday morning started for Windermere. The road runs through the valley of the Kootenay until it reaches Lake Windermere and the little town so prettily situated on the side of the lake.

Very reluctantly, I mounted again, and rode away up the hill out of Windermere.

Deserted House

About a mile out, away on the left of me, I saw what looked like a beautiful farm house. Thinking I could get a bed there, I struck off across a couple of fields but no dog ran out to greet me as I reached the stable yard. The place was empty, deserted. Dust everywhere—a great box of pictures, old photographs and papers lay strewn about. What a story it suggested. My horses were enjoying the fresh grass and I decided to rest for an hour, but what was that? A boy riding across the fields toward the house. He looked at me with suspicion. "Where are the owners of this house?" said I, "Gone years ago," he replied. He sat his horse and stared at me moodily, evidently waiting for me to go. Slowly I dragged my unwilling horses from this good pasture and rode away, followed at a distance by the boy until we reached the main road, where I turned south while he took the road to Windermere.

Several Indian houses are situated along this way, but very few white folk. It was six o'clock when I reached Fairmont post office, and I was dismayed to learn that there was no stopping house here. However, seeing how weary I was they kindly gave me a bed, and cared for my horses.

My host and hostess made me feel quite at home, and I stayed with them a couple of days until I felt rested up. It was a jolly visit. We bathed in the hot springs there. This is quite an ideal camping ground, and certainly a place I would choose for a summer holiday. Fairmont post office is also

AN INSIGHT INTO WHAT THE Y. M. C. A. IS DOING IN THE CITY

Reasons Why All Should Be Interested in the Membership Drive Coming This Month

The Railway Y. M. C. A. is a real asset to Cranbrook. It stands for things that are best —for self improvement along Social, Physical, Educational and Moral lines, and for the promotion of community welfare. It co-operates with all the Churches Schools, Parent-Teacher Association Lotary, Board of Trade and with every organization or individual whose aim is to make Cranbrook a busier and better city. Its rooms are open to any organization that has for its object the best interests of Cranbrook and over a hundred meetings were held by such clubs and organizations last year in the building free of charge.

The activities of the 'Y' for the past year have been many, and it will be impossible to enumerate them all in the space allotted. There are labors that can never be estimated because there is always a quiet constructive work going on and its employees are ever ready to give service when called upon or when opportunity affords However, the following condensed outline will give a fair idea of things done:

Visits to rooms, 52750; Baths taken, 2016; Beds used per day, 30; Visits to sick by Secretary,34; Letters written on correspondence paper provided free, 1820; Committee meetings, 28; Meetings held in rooms by outside organizations, 121; Lectures and entertainments, 2; Religious meetings, 2. Secretary Clark took charge of 7 religious meetings outside of Y.M.C.A. building. He also took an active part in scout work in the following way. By passing 208 Scout tests including First Aid, Fire Lighting, Cooking, Swimming, Scout Pace, Tying Knots, Map Reading, etc., as well as assisting in passing boys for proficiency badges. He accompanied 163 Scouts on nine hikes, attended camp at Morrissey with twenty-seven for two weeks, and went on a hike to Fairmont Hot Springs this summer with twenty-seven.

A scout bowling league was conducted at the "Y" with forty scouts taking part. This was most interesting and resulted in a victory for the English Church boys.

Secretary Clark conducted gymnasium classes every Saturday night during the winter at the Recreation Club with an average of 34 boys in attendance, as well as supervising and instructing the boys in swimming. He also assisted at the school athletic meet as a judge, and in the collection and distribution of prizes. He also had several private talks with boys on clean living, and was always ready to assist in other ways.

The Y. M. C. A. with its gospel of "Body, Mind and Spirit," and its program of clean living, clean thinking, and unselfish service, has an opportunity which it must not fail to see and grasp. It will require the co-operation of men of faith, courage and means to do this. Are you prepared to play your part? Come, let everyone have a hand in this great game of helping others. The Y. M. C. A. is not a thing of wood and stone, that is only what it lives in. It is the linking together or earnest men and put the welfare of our boys and of their fellow men ahead of self satisfaction, and are willing to work with others at the great task of bringing up a race of men worthy to be called Canadians. It is a great game —let's all get into it.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Sinclair returned on Saturday last from a holiday trip to Southern Alberta points by motor.

There will be special music at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening. All are cordially invited.

In the report of the reception and social tendered Rev. and Mrs. E. W. MacKay on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, an omission was made which is regretted in not mentioning that the presentation of the purse from the Ladies' Aid was made by the vice-president of the society, Mrs. A. A. MacKinnon.

Mrs. E. A. Beech and son Norman left last week for Nelson where the latter has entered the Nelson Business College. Mrs. Beech returned on Wednesday after spending a few days with friends at Nelson and Duck Creek.

Mr. G. J. Spreull returned on Thursday from Fernie where he was in attendance at the assizes. Mr. Spreull was acting with Mr. A. I. Fisher in defence of one of the defendants in the case of Fry vs. McGladry and Marsham. The decision of the judge was reserved. Mr. S. Herchmer was the attorney for the plaintiff.

It is reported that a mill from one of the mining properties near Kaslo will be shipped to Kimberley and installed at the Stemwinder group, to be operated with power from the East Kootenay Power Co., at Kimberley.

W. H. Townley, assistant manager of Miller & Richards, Winnipeg, well known printers' supply house, was in the city this week, calling on the Herald. Equipment is being added in various departments of the Herald which are necessary to keep pace with the growing volume of business, and of which other mention will be made at a later date. Indicative of the general pulse of business in the west is the fact that Mr. Townley is on his way to Vancover where a new branch of his firm will be established.

About half a dozen responded to the call made for a public meeting for the formation of a Japanese Relief Committee in this city, including two members of the Women's Institute. After a short discussion by those present it was decided that in the absence of any branch of the Red Cross society here, the Women's Institute be asked to take in hand the raising of any money in Cranbrook. It was proposed that the city council be asked permission to hold a tag day.

Mrs. W. J. Sipprell, wife of Dr. Sipprell, of the Metropolitan Church, Victoria, addressed a meeting in the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening on missionary work. She dealt with the earthquake in Japan and the extent of the catastrophe on church property there. While in the city, Mrs. Sipprell was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hodgson.

Sunday last special services were held in the Methodist Church, marking the twenty-fourth anniversary of the denomination in Cranbrook. Both services were well attended. In the morning special music was given by the children's choir, while in the evening a male quartette sang. The pastor, Rev. B. C. Freeman, delivered two addresses which were very helpful and full of strong ideas on really christianizing the mission of the church, so that it could be said to express properly the mind of Christ.

Much interest is being displayed by local baseball enthusiasts in the world's series being played in New York. The games so far stand a draw one all, the game on Wednesday being won by the Giants 5-4. With the score a tie Stengal hit a home run when last man up in the ninth, while to-day's game Thursday) went to the Yankees 4-2. In this game Ruth is credited with two home runs and a Giants player also scored a homer. Young, for the losers was hurt during the game, but continued. For the news of the Wednesday game the Herald is indebted to Mr. E. H. McPhee and for Thursday's game to Mr. E. T. Cooper, both of whom got the news over their radio's from Calgary.

Council Agrees to put By-Law

Petition for New Rink Presented at Regular Meeting on Wednesday Last

The regular meeting of the city council was held in the council chamber on Wednesday evening, alderman Bronsdon being the only absentee.

After the reading of the reports of the various civic departments the joint delegation of representatives from the various local organizations who have had the matter of providing accommodation for skating and hockey under consideration for some time were heard, Mr. Beale, speaking for the Recreation Club, said that he wished to correct some erroneous impressions that were being circulated that the Club had made money out of the hockey during the last two seasons, the best that could be said being it had about broken even on the two years balance. The club through the generosity of the Messrs. Staples, who had given the lumber for the making of the skating rink, were able to provide ice for the past two seasons. Mr. Beale was of the opinion that if there was any money to spend in the erection of a new rink, that the claim of the Club that their premises be used should receive consideration. By arrangements with Towriss & Adams lots adjoining their rink could be secured for rink purposes by a transfer of lots within the city. He suggested that this matter be seriously considered before any definite action were taken.

Mr. Harris introduced the delegation who were to propose the submission of a bylaw to the people for the raising of money for an addition to the present rink.

Mr. G. T. Moir related briefly the circumstances leading up to the proposed presentation of the petition which was signed by fifty-two ratepayers, representing over ten per cent of the valuation of the taxable property in the city. While he admitted that the curlers had been responsible for helping in a large measure to finance the cost of the purchase made by the city of the rink, he felt sure that those citizens who were now behind the local skating and hockey enthusiasts were men who by the support they had given amateur baseball last season had shown their ability to look after affairs of this kind. He felt that the building of the addition could be financed so that no additional burden would be placed on the tax payer. He claimed that the encouragement of sport was essential to the development of a vigorous and prosperous manhood.

E. H. McPhee, in speaking for the curlers, said so far as they were concerned they were willing and anxious to co-operate with the skaters. He referred also to the lack of support given skating and hockey in past years.

F. M. MacPherson, representing the Board of Trade, said that he had been in sympathy with the plan first advanced by Mr. Grubbe which had just been outlined. Since hearing Mr. Beale with respect to the Recreation Club however, he felt it was worthy of consideration.

Miss Patterson made a suggestion that met with favor by many present, that the site of the Recreation Club rink be utilized for the erection of a rink for the curlers which could be readily constructed.

Walter Soden was present to ask why the light near his residence had not been kept in operation. The engineer promised that this should be attended to.

Alderman Kilby said he had a petition signed by about twenty-five ratepayers relative to a nuisance said to be created by the dump the city was making on Van Horne Street near the Western Grocers. Dead cats and dogs, besides being offensive, were not, to his mind the stuff that roads should be made of. Alderman Balment claimed the city teamsters had disobeyed instructions if they had dumped such refuse there. Mayor Cameron said that people coming in on the trains "sensed" it too and he felt that it should be attended to.

Alderman Balment attempted to introduce a bylaw in keeping with a promise to Mr. Uren that a bylaw to purchase the fair grounds site be presented to the people for consideration. It was pointed out by alderman Cameron that such a procedure was out of order without a petition of ratepayers asking for same. Mr. Uren is to be so notified.

Bylaws were introduced authorizing the transfer and sale of a couple of lots by the city.

Some amusement was caused by a bylaw to amend another bylaw which had been passed last year whereby the lots on which the post office now stands had been sold to Mr. Clausen in mistake for the lots upon which his hotel is now built. Mr. Clausen has now no claim whatever on the federal building, the mistake having been rectified.

According to the report of the city engineer it will be necessary to discontinue the use of the primary and secondary filters at the sewage disposal works on account of the expense of keeping them running during the cold weather. The results would not warrant the expenditure.

The fire chief reported six calls, all of a minor nature, with the exception of the call to the old laundry building. Twelve fire drills were held at the school, one being witnessed by A. A. McDonald, deputy fire warden, who complimented the teaching staff, saying he was very well satisfied.

The trades license by-law was finally read and adopted. This is a consolidation by-law with certain amendments. Wholesalers will pay $25 every six months, and banks will pay $125 every six months. Outside firms doing a retail business in the city will pay $25 each six months.

The dairy inspector reported all the dairies in good condition. The milk tests were as follows: McCrindle 4.2; Playle 4.2; Austin 3.4; Goddertis 3.4; Lamont 3.4, Lancaster 3.4.

Accounts amounting to $10,985.77 were ordered paid.

Alderman Cameron gave notice that at the next regular meeting he would introduce a by-law making the club license $200.00.

The fire department will in future be responsible for turning on the street lights.

COUPLE MARRIED HERE GIVEN ROYAL WELCOME AT FERNIE LAST WEEK

(Fernie Free Press)

A wedding which created some lively interest locally, was quietly solemnized last Saturday afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, in Cranbrook, B.C., when Miss Helen Jones, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Jones, of that city, was united in marriage to Mr. H. A. Bryant, of Fernie, B.C., Rev. E. W. MacKay officiating.

Following the ceremony the gathering partook of a buffet luncheon, after which the young couple left for Fernie where they will make their home.

On arriving here the bride and groom were given a great welcome by their local friends and members of the Great War Veteran's Association, of which Mr. Bryant is a past president. On stepping from the train Mr. Bryant was promptly "shanghaied by his former comrades, who after seeing Mrs. Bryant safely in a waiting automobile, escorted the bridegroom to Joe Longden's waiting 'Rolls-Royce' and gave him a ride through the business section of the city, loudly announcing that he had been newly married, before taking him to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Biggs, where the bride and groom were the guests of honor at a reception dinner.

Later in the evening a large party of returned men, headed by the brass and pipe bands, formed a torchlight procession and marched to McPherson Avenue where they serenaded the newlyweds until nearly midnight.

The tourist season is not yet over apparently, to judge by the cars from distant points seen on the streets recently. Cars have been noted from Los Angeles, Michigan, Quebec and Saskatchewan in the last few days in this vicinity.

The charge against the foreigner, Tiscare, charged with an attempt to murder Miss Jean Blakey of Fort Steel, has been reduced to shooting with intent to do grevious bodily harm. The accused comes up for election and trial on Monday.

The people of Wynndel watched with interest the development of a romance which has had its culmination in Nelson, when Cecil Moore, whose foot was torn off by a belt at the J. B. Winlaw sawmill at Duck Creek some months ago, and Miss Borghild Hagen were united in wedlock. The young man is of English stock, while his bride is of Norwegian ancestry. Fate decreed that the young man should step on the belt that tore off his foot and smashed his ankle. The train being an hour late that day, it was possible to get him immediately aboard it, and off for the Cranbrook hospital under favorable circumstances. One month later his fiancee assisted in bringing him back to recuperate. Then she accompanied him to his mother's home in Nelson, as being on crutches he still needed care. Under the Workmen's Compensation act "Cecil," as he is known to everyone here gets $2000 for his injury, and now the wedding bells are to ring. Mr. and Mrs. Matt Hagen, the bride's parents are famed for their family of fourteen.

SOCIAL EVENING AT METHODIST CHURCH 24th ANNIVERSARY

Presentation Made To Mr. and Mrs. A. Ashworth from the Congregation and Board

Monday evening last the Methodist schoolroom was the scene of a very pleasant social function, when the members of tre congregation gathered to celebrate the twenty-fourth anniversary of the founding of their place of worship. A musical program was rendered, among those contributing being the following: vocal solo, Miss Grace McFarlane; piano solo, Master Frank Roy; vocal solo, Mr. A. Shankland. The occasion also afforded an opportunity of saying goodbye to Mrs. A. Ashworth, who is leaving shortly to join her husband, who has assumed the managership of the Imperial Lank at Invermere. A most pleasing feature of the evening were several addresses of farewell to Mrs. Ashworth from church and city societies Mr. W. H. Wilson on behalf of the Quarterly Board of the church conveyed to Mrs. Ashworth in an appropriate address an expression of the sense of loss that they and the congregation felt at their departurefrom the city. As a slight token of their remembrance the board presented them with a sterling silver deposit brown betty tea set, with tray.

Mrs. J. T. Sarvis, speaking for the Ladies' Aid, told of Mrs. Ashworth's connection with that branch of the church's endeavor, and reminded her of the difficulty that would be experienced in filling her place. A beautiful silver relish dish will remind Mrs. Ashworth of her many friends in the Methodist Ladies' Aid of this city.

On Mr. A. Shankland devolved the duty of telling how the Musical Society would miss the valued assistance of herself and Mr. Ashworth, and he presented them on behalf of that body with a silver vase, as a mark of the esteem in which they are held.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stirling of Darvel, Ayrshire, left on Monday for Van couver en route to Los Angeles and New York previous to returning to Scotland. Mrs. Stirling is a sister of Mrs. Spreull, with whom they have been visiting for the last three weeks.

On information received from the superintendent of state penetentiaries, at Walla Walla, Wash., S. V. Rollins, who has been posing as S. B. Brown, and was employed at Wycliffe, was this week brought into the city by Chief Constable Mortimer of the provincial police. The prisoner is wanted as a convict who has broken parole. He is being held here pending the arrival of the authorities from Washington to take him back.

G. C. Mortimer, provincial chief constable for this district, has been spending some time since his return to Cranbrook visiting the big territory under his charge. He spent most of last week at Creston and other points west. Cranbrook will now have two representatives of the provincial force stationed here when constable Duncan returns from his visit to the Old Country.

Mr. J. F. Armstrong, formerly of this city and Fort Steele, when he was in the service of the provincial government, is paying another visit to the city, the guest at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. A. Beale. He has just returned from a visit to Montreal and his native province of Quebec, where he had not visited for close on thirty years, and where he found much that was new arisen in the three decades of his absence.

Arthur Gill of the Royal Bank in this city has been transferred to the newly opened Fernie branch of the bank, which has been commenced since the closing of the Home Bank there, under the managership of Mr. A. Watson, who was formerly manager of the Home Bank. Many friends here are glad to learn of Mr. Watson's appointment, realizing that the failure of the bank for which he labored so indefatigably came as a severe blow to him, after he had built up, as the figures given out show, the biggest branch of the Home Bank west of Winnipeg, with deposits totalling close to a million dollars.

Following warnings given, the police have this week lodged several prosecutions under the motor vehicle act. Among the offences were the following: driving without lights, parking within fifteen feet of a hydrant, and turning the corner on the wrong side of the street. It is rumored that cases are pending against other local motorists for fast driving. Despite the fact that safety signs have been placed on Cranbrook Street warning motorists with regard to the school children, there are still some who seem to have no regard for the safety of the children, and drive past the school at a dangerous rate of speed.

J. M. Mein of Toronto, deputy president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, was a visitor to the city for a short time the end of last meek. Accompanying him were Messrs. J. F. Guimont and J. G. Kemerling, of Nelson, and with G. T. Moir the local president, they held a conference pertaining to the work of the order in this district.

Examinations in connection with the Faculty of Music, McGill University, may be written in Cranbrook next year by those who are looking to obtain a definite standing in their musical studies. The local secretary is Mr. G. E. Bower, L.R.A.M., who expects there will be a good number in this city trying the examinations next May or June. The preliminary announcement as to the diplomas and degree courses these examinations lead up to is to be found elsewhere in this issue.

Engineer Bratten, who is in charge of the operations at Elko for the East Kootenay Power Co., was the leading speaker at the Rotary luncheon at Fernie last week. He told of the work in detail and the difficulties encountered which had caused the delay of several weeks in the completion of the undertaking. The tunnel, which is 2200 feet long is within 450 feet of completion and this will probably be finished in November. The present power plant at Bull River is taxed to capacity to carry the present load and the demand for further power is increasing every day. When the Elko project is completed it will add 6000 horsepower to the output. A complete duplicate line is being built all over the system to be used in case of emergency.

THE SATISFACTION THAT GOOD WORK GIVES IS WORTH MANY TIMES WHAT YOU PAY.

CLUB IS MAKING GOOD

With a membership of something like three hundred, the Recreation Club now rises in the estimation of those in the community who appreciate its work to a position where it is a big factor in the life of the adolescents of the city and district, and many parents will receive with satisfaction the statement that the Club is to retain the service of Mr. Salter, when other institutions, perhaps not handicapped as the Club here has been, are able to hold out the inducement of a comparatively long term contract. Through the persistent loyalty of a few to the idea of community service through the medium of the Club, and a refusal to be daunted by obstacles that have arisen, it has come by the aid of Mr. Salter's practical methods and through understanding of the young people and their needs, to a place where organized amusement of unquestionable nature is demonstrated, and physical development carried on along with it.

There is quite a pronounced feeling in some quarters that hockey and skating could be handled better under the auspices of a body of this nature, than by letting it come directly under the wing of the city, as it would be if the new rink plans went through. It was felt last year that the accommodation at the Club then was inadequate for hockey, but it was not known what could be done, if anything, for the enlargement of those quarters. Acting apparently on the presumption that new quarters would have to be found, a natural move was made for the curling rink, which has now been diverted to a plan for an additional rink at the expense of the ratepayers. Before this is gone into, the question as to whether hockey and skating could not be given better accommodation at the Club rink by means of an enlargement and a roof, should be finally settled. The financing would be a big obtsacle, but it is now learned that lumber is available to whatever extent is necessary, more space could be had by embracing two other lots and some well disposed citizens are willing to contribute to a voluntary subscription list, one alderman offering to head the with a fifty dollar donation. Many people feel that if no avenue is open the city should provide a rink according to the tentative plans now being discussed, but not till every other avenue toward the same end by other means has been tried.

GIVING THEM A CHANCE

The arm of the law may surely be said to have tempered justice with mercy in the disposition of some cases which came up last week. None realize more than those who administer the law the effects which might arise from consigning to jail some who are only thoughtless or impulsive, to mingle with those who must be termed habitual wrongdoers, whose lawbreaking is studied and cold-blooded. To exercise supervision without restraint is one of the problems encountered in dealing with juvenile delinquency. The law recognizes only two classes of people, the guilty and the innocent. Its fundamental principle is that the guilty must be punished, and sentimental considerations can not enter into the matter too strongly, or respect of the law would soon be a thing of the past. In the final analysis anyone proven to have broken the law is a criminal the degree being the only debatable point. It is this that leads to different consideration being given a youthful offender than an older person. If by careful training, new associations or activities, erstwhile offenders can be brought to see for themselves the folly of former conduct, surely the ends of justice have been served, and at the same time a service done to society.

Severity for the sake of example has its place, but there is also a lot to be said for a sensible tempering of the law to meet the individual cases.

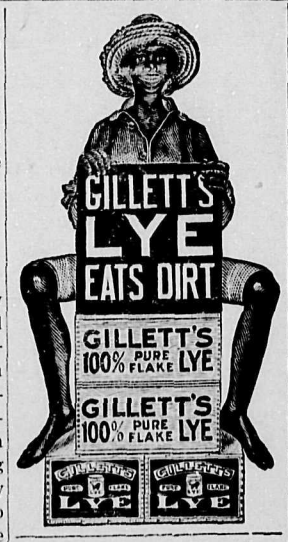
MR. MEIGHEN STATES HIS POSITION

During the recent western tour of Hon. Arthur Meighen which has at all points brought him into a favorable viewpoint in the eyes of the people, he has hit straight from the shoulder in criticising the Mackenzie King administration at Ottawa In one of his speeches he set forth very succinctly some of the weaknesses which the government has developed since taking office. He said:

"What we need is the slicing by segments of our controllable expenditure. We need deflation in our departmental personnel comparable with what has been done in other British countries. We need a definite and final negation of all impertinent demands for public works of pre-war political nature. We want tax rates pared down to the level of vastly reduced expenditures. We want a clear and definite stand on fiscal policy, so that business interests will know that our fiscal policy rests on the solid rock of principle and not on the shifting sands of dickering for votes."

NOTES

Now that the German policy of passive resistance it the occupied Ruhr area has collapsed,



French economists are able to show that this policy of the Germans has cost them more as a nation than the reparations they were asked to pay, and from which the French refused to recede. In addition to this the German policy has forced the mark down to such a low point that some foreign banks can sell them for waste paper and realize more than as currency.

FROM THE VIEW-POINT OF OUR CONTEMPORARIES

POOREST KIND OF PUBLICITY

Just now when an effort is being made to raise by more or less "popular" means a $100,000 publicity fund, British Columbia is receiving considerable free advertising in the Eastern Canadian press.

Under the caption "The Shadow of Death" some pertinent facts of serious detriment are broadcasted.

As a sample take this:

Per capita increase in government expenditure in the last three years, shows B.C. at the head of the list.

British Columbia increased 239 per cent.

Prince Edward Island increased 16 per cent.

The other provinces ran between.

British Columbia has the highest per capita taxation. She also has the highest per capita debt.

These are facts that make prospective settlers hesitate and seek more favorable conditions of sucecssful home-making.

It is also pointed out that taxation has gone far beyond the danger point, that "the shadow of death" is an accomplished fact.

Another determining factor is the restrictions placed on business—restrictions that militate against the small trader and tend to develop the group or department store.

It would take more than a publicity campaign to overcome these unpleasant facts.—Okanagan Commoner.

FAIR EXCHANGE

More than 50,000 residents of British Columbia are preparing to participate in the great annual trek from the cold belt to the sunny south, it is reported from Vancouver Tourist headquarters. The exodus to the south will be the largest on record.

The 50,000 estimate from B.C., does not include dependents, pensioners or people seeking work, but embraces exclusively people of ample means in search of climate and scenery, plus entertainment and happiness. This 50,000 northerners going south is only a fair exchange for the 100,000 or more south rners who went north during the past summer and will come again next summer. British Columbia do s not complain: in fact, it rather likes it.—Los Angeles Examiner.

St. Johns, Que.—Maximum production is being gradually attained at the plant of the Singer Sewing Machine Company here. The plant is turning out approximately 5000 machines a week. A large share of the output is shipped to South American countries, where the company has developed an extensive market for their product.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Extracts from The Cranbrook Herald of this date, 1903.

In the first election held in the province on strictly party lines, the Conservatives captured twenty-two of the forty-two seats. In a vote of about a thousand the Cranbrook riding elected Dr. King with a majority of 55.

A contract has been let for an addition to the Royal Hotel on Cranbrook Street, which will increase the number of rooms in the place to ninety-one in all.

Conductor J. J. Jackson was in charge of a special train passing through this week, carrying a party from the Canadian Manufacturers Association.

It is announced that about $30,000 is required to complete the smelter at Marysville which is being raised by means of a bond issue.

WASA NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Graf motored to Cranbrook on Tuesday. Mr. Graf operates a ranch near Wasa where he has gathered a considerable crop this season. He has a large crop of hay, and expects to begin pressing soon.

Malcolm Horle, the Wolf Creek logger, was doing business here on Monday.

F. Manning, manager for the Lovering Lumber Co., at this place, who has been at his home in Calgary for some time returned of Thursday of last week.

John Richardson and Harry Moore were down from Parkin's Mill on Saturday last.

Charlie Stevens of Stevensville is hauling hay from his ranch on Upper Wolf Creek to the Lovering Co. plant at mill town.

Robert McBean, a familiar figure ure of Wasa and Yahk, left Wasa for the coast on Thursday. He concluded his services here on the completion of his work for Mr. Doyle on Wolf Creek, and was formerly on employee of the Lovering Co., and Mr. Mathieson of the Wasa Hotel.

Johnny Crowe it is reported will drive "fours up" the coming season, and is understood to have taken four of Mr. Doyle's prize horses to the Kootenay River plant to do the heavy hauling for them in their forest operations.

The radiophone at milltown which was set up early in the summer, but which was never a real success owing to the inefficiency of the assembling apparatus, is now being readjusted, and it is hoped under the able guidance of Mr. Cloughly, chief engineer at this place, may prove a success.

Tom Leask, lumberman of Wolf Creek, was a business caller at Wasa on Monday.

Mr. Al. Manning motored to Cranbrook on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ted Swanson is making preparations to remove to Spokane in the near future where Mr. Swanson is employed in one of the mills.

Stuart Jeffrey has taken a position with the Kootenay River Lumber Co. "on top" as a log loader.

Wallace Crowe while at work for the Kootenay River Co. had the misfortune to cut his leg with an axe.

Mr. Dave Sutherland, lumberman of Calgary, was the guest of Mr. F. Manning on Tuesday.

Peter Mathieson of the Wasa Hotel who also operates a stock ranch here, sold several head of beef cattle a few days ago to a Calgary buyer.

A vacationist in Arkansas was attracted to a native who kept driving a lank, lean pig up one lane and down another. Unable to control his curiosity longer, he walked to the fence. "Huh—a pig's time ain't worth nothing. Gitep."

WYCLIFFE NOTES

From latest reports it is understood that Jimmie Jones, who left Wycliffe last week, has accepted a position with the B.C. Spruce Mills, at Lumberton. Jim will be a valuable addition to that town's proposed hockey team, and it likewise leaves a gap in the ranks of the local puck chasers for the coming season.

Aubrey Kemp has returned from a trip to his home at Creston, where he has been superintending the apple packing operations more or less.

Those who attended the Lumberton Club dance last Friday night are loud in praise of the good time accorded them. Messrs. Frensen, Pennington and Johnson represented this lumber town in the other.

The present mild epidemic of black eyes and swollen noses does not indicate a state of war between the ranks; let it be known that local leather pushers are getting into trim for the winter months when boxing may again come into its own in Wycliffe.

Much has been said, pro and con, about a dance in connection with the presentation of the Daily News cup. In view of this, we have it on good authority, that, as soon as the world's series comes to an end the matter will be decided upon.

Concerning sunflowers, it may be that Marysville takes the palm, but the club garden has some distinction as the flowers rise to an estimated height of thirteen feet, requiring a certain amount of rubbernecking to catch a glimpse of the top.

Elmore and Chester Staples are at present in the north country on a big game hunt. They expect to be away for three or four weeks.

We would like to get detailed information of the local married gent who stayed out late one night last week, tho' not on that account, for the tale is yet to be told: at breakfast the following morning he sat down, rolled up his sleeves, shuffled three pieces of toast, dealt himself five slices of ham, and discarded two small eggs. His wife said "Well" in three different tones, and silent treatment followed, but that's all we know about it.

WATCH FOR MY WAGON

THE CALL OF THE BOY

(By Charles Keith)

We have heard about the tariff and taxes,
And problems of ruling and state;
We know all about parties and platforms,
And politics little and great.

But 'midst all the din and confusion
Of struggles for riches and joy,
Have you heard the new note that is sounding?
Have you heard the call of the boy?

Louder and louder we hear it,
A cry from the homes that we view,
A call from the men in the making,
Commanding attention from you;

It tells of the training of leaders,
And this is the call we enjoy;
It tells of defeat at the outset;
'Tis a pretty grim call from the boy.

The scene of our story has shifted;
It is night and a boy has left home;
He meets the gang down at the corner,
Where evils unspeakable roam.

Then actions take place that are tragic,
For wild, reckless pleasure decoys,
And souls that were white have been darkened;
'Tis a pitiful call from our boys.

And we who are grown must remember,
When tempted to watch them askance,
That most boys who go wrong are not vicious,
And all that they ask is a chance—

Just a chance to make good in the battle,
Amid all the strife and the noise.
They are pleading for this. Will you grant it?
Will you answer the call of the boys?

Hansen Has Thrown His Crutches Away!

"Tanlac is the only thing I can give any credit for helping me," is the precise statement made, recently, by C. B. Hansen, a well known carpenter, 12835 121st Street, West Edmonton, Alberta.

"For three years I had rheumatism so bad in my right hip and foot that I couldn't hit a lick of work. In fact couldn't get around at all without my cane or crutches. My pain was almost unbearable. I couldn't sleep and got down to a mere shadow of my old self.

"My case was so stubborn that it took a long, hard pull, but Tanlac finally brought me around in fine shape. It gave me a fine appetite and such complete relief from the rheumatism that I put my crutches aside and went back to work. It increased my weight twenty-five pounds and left me feeling like a new man."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists, except no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

There's Danger IN THE SIMPLE CUT

Your injury may be just a simple scratch, a cut, bruise, burn or scald; but it needs prompt treatment with zam-buk. Neglect and delay leaves broken tissues open to dangerous germ infection and ulceration, blood-poison or even chronic eczema.

Keep zam-buk always handy! This powerful herbal antiseptic applied to broken, chapped, burnt or lacerated skin is instantly effective. It ends all smarting pain and inflammation, makes tissues germ free and germ proof and ensures rapid perfect healing.

Mrs. Valmor Savaria, Morean St., Montreal, writes:—"I cut my finger to the bone while working an electric machine. The wound went the wrong way and became badly festered.

"It was surprising how quickly zam-buk stopped the pain. I persevered with the balm, and the wound which for weeks had defied all other treatment was healed perfectly. I shall never forget how zam-buk saved my finger."

In a hundred other emergencies of skin disease or injury, you will find zam-buk invaluable. All chemists 50c box.

ELKO HAPPENINGS

A visit to the power plant here is most interesting and instructive.

Mrs. Hubbersty has gone to reside in Fernie for a time.

Mrs. Graham and family are contemplating a change of residence for the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont entertained a number of friends, celebrating a wedding anniversary. All report an enjoyable time.

Everyone is pleased with our new school teacher. That's the stuff.

There is to be a world's fair in Elko next summer. This is the spot, we have the right scenery all set here for a fair.

Mr. Millett has harvested a fine crop of apples and other fruits.

Mr. Swope's garden has made a very fine showing also. Elko apples are second to none.

Mr. Whipple and Mr. Warner are back again and have gone to work at the power plant after a trip to Nelson and other points. Elko is alright after all. There are worse places.

Elko may be classed as a hunter's or artist's paradise. The variety of scenery and abundance of game, including a large number of deer that have been seen recently in the vicinity make the district an ideal one for the pursuit of either pleasure.

The new bridge is rapidly nearing completion.

UNFOUNDED RUMORS

That a padded cell is a good place to rest if disturbed by nocturnal noises.

That the wearing of a bell affects a cow's milk.

That it costs more to move a piano this way than that.

That a Sherlock Holmes could not find out who broke into the warehouse.

That she did have a license to shoot deer.

That Mr. Hubbersty fed the pumpkin spoken of in the "Courier" on milk.

That Elko will be lit up with electricity to equal Broadway within the next two weeks.

That Walter has them beaten a mile when it comes to throwing horse shoes.

That a pup is not a pup, it's a nuisance.

That another little drink wouldn't do us any harm.

That if there is any other thing the "Courier" wants to know in "Things We Want to Know" the Herald is "Johnnie on the Spot" to answer.

a general store, and has a wonderful supply of food and clothing and in fact anything one might fancy, from bright colored beads to a frying pan. While staying here I was present at the first filling of the new swimming baths. One has a splendid view from them.

Mosquitos Plentiful

Friday morning I hit the trail again, reaching Canal Flats that evening. This was a short day's ride, and I stayed two nights here. The scenery is beautiful, the fishing is good, but the mosquitoes—well, they certainly were a lively bunch. Sunday morning when I pulled out, was frightfully hot. After riding about ten miles I got a soaking, not a house either, anywhere along this piece of road. I saw only one house that day, at Sheep Creek, but this was abandoned. Some Indians were camping on the side of a river I crossed, and about six, I made my solitary supper by the side of a little gem of a lake, Premier ake.

I did not waste much time as clouds were threatening, and it was growing dark when at last I came to a farm house. Eagerly the horses made for it. Wolf Creek, it proved to be, and I gladly dismounted and stayed the night there. The pack rats did not bother me although I heard them along the walls. Next morning I found the pinto had dragged a shoe off in the stable. My host was equal to the occasion, however, and it was quickly nailed on again. Off I started about 7 and reached Wasa soon. Here I came across a travelling photographer. The chief industry of Wasa is lumbering. It is a picturesque little place with a small lake.

Blacksmith "Busy"

I reached Fort Steele soon after noon. Here I lunched, then hunted for a blacksmith, but was informed that he was on a "toot" so could not get anything done. I walked around, and was chiefly interested in the forget-me-nots. Never have I seen a place carpeted with this little flower before. It must be a native of the soil, surely. There seemed no other vegetation. That night a terrific thunderstorm raged, the lightning playing up and down the mountains—a vivid tongue of violet light. It was an impressive sight. I left Fort Steele early Tuesday morning and travelled over some very pretty country into Cranbrook. One thing that rather began to mar my joy was the motors along the road. All through the mountains I had not been bothered with one cloud of dust, and believe me, it is never pleasant to bite the dust, however necessary. The highway not being open made it like a private road for me, which though lonesome was glorious. From now on, however, I was fairly pestered by these demons of the road, for a car is, you know, the hated rival of every self-respecting horse.

Only Few Dollars Left

Riding up the main street of Cranbrook, I tied my horse to a post and went to the post office. No letter from home. I started with fifty-five dollars, but my visit to Calgary, Banff and Lake Louise, with the horses and myself to care for had eaten most of that small sum and I only had fifteen odd dollars left. I therefore decided I could not afford lunch in Cranbrook. I bought some oats, a loaf of bread and a bottle of milk, and made some enquiries about the road ahead, at a jeweler's store. This man evidently called up a reporter, for just as I was about to leave, the jeweler beckoned me over and introduced me to a man, who began asking me questions. I answered him jokingly as one often does. The result was the wonderful bear story which, to my astonishment, appeared as authentic three weeks later in the Vancouver paper, and about which many of my friends chaffed me. Just as we were talking I heard a sickening crash and turned to see a little boy and a bicycle lying underneath a motor delivery wagon. The boy started to scream, and a tall man ran across the road and picked the boy up. This happened only a few yards away, and I was standing waiting for news of the boy when a man walked up. It was the same man who had picked up the boy.

"Where are you going?" he asked.

"On to Nelson," I replied.

"Surely I caught that saddle horse of yours in Canal Flats last Saturday?" he said.

"Very likely," I answered. He did stray in spite of his hobbles.

"Will you come and lunch with me?" he went on.

"No thank you," I answered.

As soon as I had said it I regretted it. He was the only person in Cranbrook who offered me hospitality and he was not a Cranbrook man.

Well, I rode about two miles out, and then got off and fed my horses. I drank the milk but could not swallow the dry bread. A few miles further I came to Lumberton, a mushroom town well named, being only created and carried on for the sake of the lumber they are butchering there. A few more miles and I found another road camp pitched in a marsh and swarming with mosquitos.

More Difficulty

Here I was glad of a cup of coffee and a piece of cake, then on again. Motors were pretty thick on this road. I passed one in trouble and spoke to the people. Later they caught me up and told me my pack was loose and that they had picked up a shoe on the road. They had seen its fellow further back, also a skirt, but had not stopped. This was indeed bad news. I had only one pair of shoes and one skirt with me. It was growing late, a storm was threatening, and added to this my horses were very tired, we had come nearly 40 miles that day.

"Won't you go back a few miles and get them for me? I will gladly pay you," I said.

"No," they answered, "we want to get on."

What was I to do? Had I ever learnt the value of tears I would certainly have wept. Instead, I am afraid I cursed angrily to myself. It does help to get angry when one is dog tired; it seems to release a new supply of energy. I turned back, therefore, and began to watch the road carefully. Soon I met a car of workmen coming from Lumberton. They had not seen anything on the road, they said. Just after this another car with a lady and gentleman came up. "Yes, they had picked up a skirt about eight miles back." So I recovered my skirt and only lost my shoe Cinderella still has the neighbor, Sir Prince, and would be awfully glad have the other again, if you read this send it to Westbank, B.C.

Once more I turned west and met a real horrid storm of sleet and rain in my face. It began to grow dark, also. At length I began to pass some deserted houses, and found it was the town of Moyie, on the lake of its name.

Here seemed to me the height of desolation, windows boarded up, houses falling to pieces. Preserve me from a town like this. Still, I did find a stable here and accommodation of sorts, so I had supper and stayed the night.

FORT STEELE NOTES

The community Sunday School held their opening services on Sunday last, twenty-eight children answering the roll call.

Mr. James Crooks is taking a holiday in Spokane.

Messrs. Dorman and Cameron came in on Friday and are now settled in the Robertson cabin at Westport.

Mr. R. Richardson was a business visitor to Cranbrook on Thursday last.

Accidents seem to be the order of the day on the road north of here, another car came to grief about three miles from town last week. Mr. Joe Walkley was coming from Wasa on Thursday when the steering rod of his car broke with the result that the car piled in the ditch.

News came to the town on Saturday of the death of another old-timer, Jack Smith, who was well known among the lumber-jacks of twenty or more years ago.

A GREAT CAST IN THE BALLIN PRODUCTION OF "VANITY FAIR"

One of the most notable photoplay casts of the year will be seen in this city on Monday and Tuesday, when Hugo Ballin's production of "Vanity Fair" comes to the Star theatre for two days. This production was made at the Goldwyn studios for distribution by that company and Mr. Ballin had at his disposal all the best resources of the Goldwyn organization. The picture is one of the film achievements of the year and gives the story of Thackeray's masterpiece as he wrote it in his novel.

Mabel Ballin, the wife of the producer is starred as Becky Sharp. She is conceded to be one of the most charming of the popular film stars of the day and has constantly been adding to her reputation as a screen player of exceptional ability.

Technically there are four leading men in this production. At the head of these, on account of his long years of experience on the stage and in the silent drama, comes Hobart Bosworth. The George Osborne of the cast is Harrison Ford, a screen recruit from the legitimate stage who made his first picture appearance with Fanny Ward, in "The Crystal Gazers".

George Walsh, brother of R. A. Walsh, the director, pays the part of Rawdon Crawley. In his previous screen appearances he has been cast for roles that called for athletic prowess and daring feats. His Rawdon Crawley in "Vanity Fair" is one of the high lights of the cast.

Captain William Dobbin is played by Earle Foxe, the young actor who made his screen debut with Griffith and has since acted important roles with every big producer in the industry. The Joseph Sedley of the cast is played by Willard Louis. His stage sister, Amelia Sedley, is played by Eleanor Boardman, the young woman recently selected by Goldwyn out of two thousand applicants in New York City. Miss Boardman made such a big hit in Marshall Neilan's "The Strangers' Banquet" that she was given the present role in "Vanity Fair" and at the conclusion of that was selected to act the ingenue lead in "Souls for Sale."

A MILLION DOLLAR BABY
Naturally, those who see this heading expect to read about some "baby heir" of an American multi-millionaire, and they will be surprised to learn that such a description applies to a scientific pyorrhea preventative, tooth and mouth preparation, and they will doubtless wonder how such a product ever came to be spoken of as a "million dollar baby." So the story must be told. Over three years ago, the Research Department of the Rexall Company, in consultation with chemical specialists, began an exhaustive investigation into the disease Pyorrhea, and its proper treatment, and in their characteristically thorough way spent over two years before they perfected a compound which answered every test, according to their high standards. Such a remarkable demand has been created that they have named it "the Million Dollar Baby." Probably no preparation that is devised for use as a germ combatter was found so efficacious in preventing all contagious diseases that enter the system through the mouth and nose as Klenzo Liquid Antiseptic. Especially was it proved that users of it completely escaped all attacks of the flu when so prevalent last year. This Rexall product can be purchased in 35c. and 60c. special toilet bottles at

PEANUTS, WILD WOMAN, THRILLS, ARE ALL IN "SOUL OF THE BEAST"

They're all there; the living skeleton who eats enough for three ordinary people; the fat lady to whom impertinent by-standers suggest dieting; the wild woman, stolen from a cannibal mother in Africa, and the tattooed man. The first reel of Thos. H. Ince's "Soul of the Beast", the Metro picture playing at the Star theatre next week, is better than a day at the circus for the sights are all there without the attendant discomforts of heat and dust. The surging crowds; the loud-mouthed peanut, popcorn and lemonade vendors, the "hick" with staring eyes, taking in all the side shows, are real as life for a real circus was used to make this part of the film.

The picture gives a satisfying suggestion of the glamor of the sawdust ring and then shifts the scene to the tawdry life behind, where a close-fisted grasping old villian begrudges even the food they eat to the people who work for him. Little wonder that when the top of the tent blows off in a terriffic storm that "Oscar," the big elephant, who is the troupe's star performer, pulls away from captivity, taking his small mistress with him.

Romance comes into the life of "Ruth" when she meets a boy musician at a quaint trapper's town. "Oscar," pouting in elephant fashion—whatever that is—when his mistress forgets him, turns his back and wanders off into the woods where he has a big time renewing old woodland acquaintances. He can't forget the desire for human affection, however, and finally wanders back to the settlement in time to save the girl from dire peril Madge Bellamy, a screen light ever since her big success in Ince's "Hail The Woman," and Cullen Landis, head the cast, with "Oscar" sharing honors. "Oscar" is only ten years old—a mere child for an elephant—but with eight years training in captivity to his credit he shows an intelligence that would put some school children to blush. The children and the grown-ups, too, will get many thrills and laughs from this delightful picture.

The elephant's performance is absolutely unique and in addition the story is intensely human and full of dramatic action which works up to one of the biggest climaxes ever shown on the screen when "Oscar" nearly kills a big bully who has tormented his mistress and tortured the man she loves.

"Soul of the Beast" furnishes the best evening's entertainment of any picture that has been shown for some time. It is absolutely novel and carries an appeal for every screen fan young or old.

CONDITONS MAY WARRANT HIGHER TIMBER ROYALTIES

Session of Legislature May Change Conditions of Stumpage Payments

Victoria.—Reports that the Provincial government proposed to reduce timber royalties at the next session of the Legislature are denied.

"There is no intention to reduce the royalties," a high official of the lands department has said. "On the contrary, there is almost sure to be an increase. The government, however, will probably take action at the next session of the Legislature to remedy the present condition under which timber royalties are paid. These conditions undoubtedly are working a hardship on the lumber industry. The department of land officials and representatives of the timber industry are trying to work out a fair basis for the payment of royalty charges and we hope to reach a settlement before the session opens. The royalty situation, however, is substantially the same as it was three months ago."

Under the original arrangement agreed upon by the government and the timber holders alike, the government was to collect in the form of royalties a certain fixed proportion of the amounts received for lumber sold wholesale for more than eighteen dollars a thousand. This seemed a fair enough arrangement at first, because no one expected the wholesale price of lumber to go much higher than $18.

Improvement in market conditions increased cost of logs and labor, fluctuations in currency and other factors resulted in making $18 a thousand a decidedly low average figure, and the operation of the original formula obliged the timber men to pay an increasingly high royalty to the government.

THE NON-ADVERTISER

Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said—
"My trade of late is getting bad,
I'll try another ten-inch ad.'
If there be, go mark him well,
For him no bank account shall swell;
No angel watch the golden stair
To welcome home a millionaire,
The man who never asks for trade
By local line or ad displayed
Cares more for rest than worldly gain,
And patronage but gives him pain.
Tread lightly, friends, let no rude sound
Disturb his solitude profound;
Here let him live in calm repose
Unsought except by men he owes,
And when he dies, go plant him deep,
That naught may break his dreamless sleep;
Wherein no clamor may dispel
The quiet that he loves so well;
And that the world may know its loss,
Place on his grave a wreath of moss
And on a stone above, "Here lies
A chump who wouldn't advertise."
