Hearings On 8 Hour Law

Lumbermen Present Case Against Further Restrictions of the Business

WORKERS ALSO HEARD

The sessions held last Friday by the board of adjustment under the Hours of Work Act, relative to the coming into effect of the eight hour law, which is fixed for the first of January next, created a good deal of interest, there being many present to hear the question discussed by the three commissioners. J. D. McNiven, deputy minister of labor at Victoria, was the chairman of the board, the other commissioners being F. V. Foster and T. F. Patterson. The sessions were to have been held in the courthouse, but some cases being on there, and there being a fairly large attendance, adjournment was made to the city hall.

Most of the local lumber companies were present at the sessions during the day and on into the evening, and in addition Mr. I. R. Poole, secretary of the Mountain Lumbermen's Association, was present to put the case for the operators against the policy of fixing the hours of work for this section. Among the prominent lumbermen noted at the hearings were, E. L. Staples, Otis Staples Lumber Co., Wycliffe; G. C. Robson, late of the B. C. Spruce Mills, Lumberton; Mr. Barnstead, A. MacDonald Lumber Co., Galloway; C. M. Pennock, Crow's Nest Lumber Co., Wardner; C. E. Curran, Paulson-Mason Lumber Co., Kitchener; Messrs. H. A. McKowan and W. F. Attridge, Cranbrook Sash & Door Co.; and others.

Many representatives of the lumber workers were also present and took part in the discussions, advocating the eight hour day without any exemptions. As in other places their affiliation with the I.W.W. was apparent, and the questions they sometimes introduced seemed to be very wide of the subject supposed to be under discussion.

Mr. Poole presented a memorandum for the operators, which summarized their arguments as to why the eight hour law in this territory would tend to the further restiction of the industry, which is already in a very unsettled condition. Some of the conditions peculiar to the lumber industry in the interior of British Columbia and which severely handicap the production of lumber in this territory Mr. Poole said were:

"1. Climatic conditions are such as to make year around operations uneconomical if not impossible.

"2. Comparatively poor quality of timber and scattered nature of stand of timber.

"3. Lack of local markets to absorb the lower grades of lumber and mill refuse.

"4. Approximately 85 per cent. of the production of interior mills is marketed outside of the province. The total production is marketed by rail, and the hauling of lumber from 500 to 3000 miles by rail to markets is in itself a tremendous handicap.

"5. Long distances from centers of population and distribution. This condition renders difficult the securing of labor, skilled labor in particular, and adds greatly to the cost of supplies necessary to the operations.

"The application of any measure restricting the hours of work to eight hours per day, or 48 hours per week, would most injuriously affect the progress and development of the lumber industry in the interior of British Columbia, and at the same time would be detrimental to the interests of those dependent on said industry for a livelihood."

Climatic conditions in the interior are such as to prohibit woods and mill operations during each month of the year, Mr. Poole pointed out. Excessive snowfall and severe weather prevents logging in certain districts during some of the winter months. Again, lack of snow often hampers and delays the transportation of logs by sleighs."

The application of an eight hour day to woods operations would seriously interfere with production, and greatly enhance the cost of logs. While it may be true that woods operations for some years past have been run on an eight hour basis, meaning eight hours work for the majority of the crew, yet to maintain the operations on an eight hour basis it is necessary that certain members of the woods crew actually work more than eight hours, such as blacksmiths and helpers, cooks and helpers, teamsters, men employed on locomotives, donkeys and other machines connected with producing logs.

"The application of an eight hour day to lumber manufacturing would

OFFICERS APPOINTED AT SCOUT ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

There was not a very large attendance at the annual meeting of the Cranbrook Boy Scouts' Association, about a dozen in all gathering at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evening of last week. J. F. Scott, president of the association, and assistant district commissioner for East Kootenay was the chairman, and F. G. Morris secretary.

The secretary read a financial statement for the year, which was adopted, subject to the customary audit. A number of accounts in connection with the summer camp still remain unpaid.

A statement was read from Scout master J. M. Clark regarding the purchase of troop flags with money loaned by the association, a balance on hand of $16.50 being shown, which has been received by the secretary.

Scoutmasters M. T. Harris, J. M. Clark, H. L. Porter and F. G. Morris gave a short report of the standings of their various troops, and the chairman gave a short address on the progress made in the past year. He thanked the scoutmasters for their efforts, and suggested that a proper board be appointed to take care of the tests required for King's scouts. The troop at the Baptist Church seemed a little weak, the organization there apparently being a choice between the scouts and the tuxis square. The scout camp had been a success, in spite of lack of numbers. Mr. Scott also suggested that a vote of thanks be accorded to Messrs. G. Salter and F. Constantine for their assistance at the camp, and also to Mr. Mannell, of Wasa. This was duly carried out by motion.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows:

Hon. Pres. .... Dr. G. E. L. MacKinnon
Hon. Vice-Pres. ..... W. E. Worden
President ..... J. F. Scott
Vice President ..... W. M. Harris
Sec.-Treas. ..... C. J. Lewis

The district commissioner, Major H. B. Hicks, called on for a few remarks, thanked the association for their efforts on behalf of the movement. He would like to see a large annual summer camp and had urged the provincial headquarters to send in a man to help in the detail work of scouting. The provincial council was to meet in Vancouver shortly, and the commissioner asked for suggestions as to any matters which might be brought up then. He himself hoped to attend the Gilwell summer course for scout officers next year.

Scoutmaster Clark brought up the topic of cheap .22 rifles of foreign manufacture, which upon test were found to be dangerous to the user. He was asked to prepare an article for the local press in regard to this menace.

Rev. B. C. Freeman spoke on support of the work, saying that the work done by the scout troops could not be too highly spoken of, and will meet with the cordial support of the parents. Rev. E. W. MacKay mentioned that among others Scoutmasters J. M. Clark and J. C. Emslie were doing especially good work. He felt that perhaps there was a lack of contact between the boys and the parents, and something should be done to bring the desired closer contact. He felt there should be a permanent summer camp. Wherever there is a scout troop there are always men who are giving up valuable time to attend to the work.

Christmas Mails For Overseas

Parcels and other mail matter for delivery in European Countries BEFORE CHRISTMAS, should be mailed at as early a date as possible, PREFERABLY WITHIN THE NEXT TWO WEEKS and at the very latest to connect with the steamer Minnedosa, sailing from St. John on December 1th.

Friends of Mrs. C. J. Lewis are glad to learn that she is recovering quite satisfactorily from her two recent operations at the hospital.

Returns From Extended Holiday

On Wednesday of this week Principal H. L. Porter of the high school welcomed home again Mrs. Porter, who since the summer holidays has been visiting in the east. Accompanying Mrs. Porter was Miss M. M. Porter, who for some years has been a nurse in Boston, Mass., where Mrs. Porter spent two months previous to returning home. Little Miss Evelyn Smith, sister of Mrs. Porter, makes the fourth member of the party as it will be constituted this winter. Miss Porter is contemplating staying for the winter to see if the climate will benefit her health, and Mrs. Porter's sister, Evelyn will probably remain here for a number of years, attending school.

INCORPORATION OF LOCAL OIL COMPANY ALMOST COMPLETED

Further steps have been taken during the past few days towards the ultimate establishment in this city of an oil refining plant. The process of incorporation of the company, to be known as the Cranbrook Oil & Refining Company Limited, has been almost completed, the necessary papers having gone forward to Victoria, and the formal advice of incorporation is expected in a day or two. The first board of directors were named at a meeting held on Saturday afternoon last, when the incorporation papers were completed.

Messrs. E. C. Guilbault and Mentor Etnyre who have been connected with the promotion of the company, have been in the city during the week. The former returned to Lethbridge on Saturday and will be back again this week, when it is expected that the campaign for the raising of the required capital will be put under way.

HEAD OF LADIES' AUXILIARY TO B. OF R. T. VISITS CRANBROOK

An unusually interesting meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was held on Wednesday evening at the Maple Hall, taking the form of a banquet and social gathering in honor of two visitors of eminence in the lodge, Mrs. Clara Bradley, of Columbus, Ohio, the Grand President of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. Lenore Lee, of Edmonton, a past president of the lodge there. Members of the kindred railroad organizations had been invited to be present, and the gathering proved an exceptionally enjoyable one. Mrs. Bradley gave a very able and impressive address, and among the other speakers were some from the visiting lodges, Mr. Jack Beaton, and others.

On Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. Dallas, a tea was held in honor of Mrs. Lee, when many ladies took the opportunity of meeting the visitor and enjoying an exchange of social amenities.

Presentations were made by the local Auxiliary to the visitors while here, Mrs. Bradley being given a silk scarf, and Mrs. Lee a piece of hand painted china. The presentations were made by Mrs. R. W. Leonard, president of the local lodge.

The committee in charge of the banquet on Wednesday evening carried out their plans most successfully, it is admitted on all sides. The committee consisted of Mrs. P. Dallas, Mrs. R. W. Leonard, Mrs. P. C. Hartnell and Mrs. W. Laidlaw.

Mrs. Bradley left on Thursday noon for the west, and Mrs. Lee travelled east the same evening. Members of the local lodge were at the station to bid their visitors goodbye, the feeling being that their visits had been most timely and acceptable. The enthusiasm of the members of the lodge found expression in the following "yell," a copyrighted composition the origin of which is understood to have been traced to some local member of the lodge:

We — we —
Who are we?
We are the ladies of the B. R. T.
Are we in it? — well I guess!
Ladies' Auxiliary— Yes! Yes! Yes!

While in the city on Wednesday the scholars of the high school were treated to a talk from Rev. Clarence MacKinnon, moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Principal Porter took advantage of having the visitor, who is principal of Pine Hill College, Halifax, and a leading educationalist, in the city, to have him give a short talk to the pupils.

How It Looks To Fernie

When one looks at the prosperity of such towns as Trail, Kimberley, Wallace and Kellogg, etc., where wages are comparatively reasonable, that is from $4 to $6 a day, and where work is steady, and compare them with some of our coal towns, where wages are from $7 to $10 per day, and work is very occasional, we are led to believe that the high wage stuff is more or less of a snare and a delusion. When W. R. Wilson, manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., offered his employees a five year contract at fair wages, with every prospect of steady work, he was laughed and howled at in derision by Sherman and his band of faithful followers. To-day, with little or no work in sight, the men are beginning to realize that he was not handing them a line of hot air. No one in this country is more interested in the welfare of his people than Mr. Wilson, but when men refuse to listen to reason and common sense, they must pay the penalty. There is a limit to the price that industry will pay for coal. (Fernie Free Press))

HUNTER-KENNEDY

(From the Nelson News)

The Boswell Memorial hall was the scene Monday afternoon, November 10th, of a very pretty wedding, when Rev. C. Reed, of Balfour united in holy matrimony Harriet, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kennedy of Boswell, and Wilfred Laurier, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hunter, of Lumberton, in the presence of over 80 guests. The hall had been appropriately decorated with autumn flowers and foliage, whilst a rustic arch of silver birch logs, decorated with chrysanthemums and erected just in front of the altar sheltered the bridal party.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a very pretty gown of silver grey panne velvet, trimmed with powder blu crepe and silver tissue. Her hat was of the same material, trimmed with gray ostrich feath- with powder blue crepe and silver tis- wore a black fox fur stole, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a shower bouquet of pale pink roses.

The bridesmaid was Miss May Kennedy, sister of the bride. She wore a dress of turquoise blue crepe-de-chene trimmed with silver beads, and a hat of beach velvet ornamented with the same material and silver tissue, and carried pink carnations.

Little Miss Agnes Grey of Cranbrook made a demure little flower girl, attired in a very pretty frock of pink organdie trimmed with beach velvet ribbon and hat to match, and carrying a basket of pink carnations.

The groom was attended by A. Duff, of Wycliffe.

Mrs. Kennedy, the bride's mother, was gowned in black satin trimmed with cream lace, and a black velvet hat, whilst the groom's mother, Mrs. G. Hunter, wore a dress of black crepe relieved with white lace, and a hat of black and white satin. Miss Jessie Hunter, the groom's sister, was dressed in brown crepe, with brown velvet hat.

The bride's gift to the groom took the form of a gold and pearl tiepin, whilst the groom's gifts were, to the bride a black fox fur stole and muff; to the best man a gold tiepin, to the bridesmaid a gold and pearl brooch and to the flower girl a birthstone ring.

During the ceremony the hymns, "O Perfect Love," and "Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us," were sung, whilst Mrs. Norgrove, of Cranbrook sang as a solo, "When Song is Sweet." Mrs. W. Lawson Hepher was at the organ and the bridal party entered to the strains of the wedding march.

Following the signing of the register the guests sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast. The wedding cake which had three tiers and was beautifully ornamented, was made and presented by Mrs. O. A. Gray, of Cranbrook. During the breakfast Mrs. W. L. Hepher sang "Mate o' Mine."

Capt. J. F. Oatts proposed the toast to the newly married couple which was duly honored with music, and Mr. Hunter replied for Mrs. Hunter and himself.

The bride's travelling dress was of navy tricotine trimmed with green satin, and a hat of black velvet relieved with green satin, and a coat of grey velour.

The majority of the guests assembled on the wharf to say farewell, and confetti was much in evidence. As the Nasookin pulled out for Nelson three hearty cheers and a tiger were given. The honeymoon will be spent in Spokane.

In addition to the local guests there were present from outside points Mr. and Mrs. G. Hunter and Miss J. Hunter, Lumberton; A. Duff, Wycliffe; Mrs. O. A. Gray, Miss A. Gray, Mrs. J. Norgrove and Miss F. Chelmick, Cranbrook; Mrs. H. Irving, Wynndel; and Miss A. Parnaby, Nelson.

UPHILL-BENNETT

Monday morning at Fernie an event of interest to many Cranbrook people took place, when Miss Delphine Bennett was united in marriage to Mr. Howard Uphill, of that city. The scene of the wedding was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Uphill, Mr. Uphill, member for Fernie at Victoria being the father of the groom. The wedding was of a quiet nature, those in attendance being Mrs. T. Uphill, Mr. Bowen of Fernie, uncle of the groom and Mr. Sam Bennett, brother of the bride. The bride and groom took the train that morning for Cranbrook, and are making their home here for the present.

DISTRICT FORESTER LEAVING GOVERNMENT SERVICE SHORTLY

The announcement that Mr. Norman Moore, district forester here for a number of years past, is leaving the government service at the end of this month, comes as a surprise to many of his friends. Mr. Moore is taking a position with the B.C. Spruce Mills, at Lumberton, as bush foreman.

Succeeding him as district forester here, Mr. C. D. Orchard has already arrived from Victoria. Mr. Orchard has been in the central administration branch of the forestry department as one of the junior foresters.

Mr. Moore has devoted much energy to his position, making himself familiar with conditions in every part of his big district and gaining thorough information relative to forest and timber conditions. In the fire season his position has not been an enviable one, permitting no limitations as to hours. Statistics during the past two or three years show that the Cranbrook district has become the third largest in the province measured by the extent of the lumbering operations carried on, and the value of its timber products, Vancouver being an easy first, and Prince Rupert second.

MUSICAL SOCIETY NOTES

The members of the Musical Society are requested to be on hand on Tuesday evenings instead of Wednesday evenings in future, for the regular practices.

To Develop Big Oregon Plant

Mr. G. C. Robson, formerly of the B. C. Spruce Mills, Lumberton, accompanied by Mrs. Robson, left on Wednesday for the Coast, and will proceed from there to LaGrande, Oregon, where Mr. Robson will superintend a big lumber plant installation, the program for which will involve a capital outlay of about a million and a half dollars, and will take about fifteen months.

RESIDENT OF CITY IN EARLY DAYS PASSES AWAY AT VANCOUVER

Word was received in the city by members of the family today, Thursday, that Mr. Dan Evans had passed away suddenly at his home on Howe Street, Vancouver, this morning. He had been ailing for some time, and the end had not been altogether unexpected on account of his advanced years. The late Mr. Evans was formerly a resident of Cranbrook, and had many friends here. It is twenty years since he left to make his home at the coast.

He leaves a wife and two children, the widow being the younger daughter of Mrs. M. O. Finnis, of this city. Other members of his family by his first marriage are Mrs. W. L. Wright and Dr. J. R. C. Evans, of Brandon College, Mrs. E. H. McPhee of this city, Mrs. Bert Dryden, of Bellevue, Alta., and Mr. Harry Evans of Vancouver.

The late Mr. Evans had reached the age of upwards of seventy years, interment is being made at Vancouver.

CATHOLIC BAZAAR AND DRAWINGS RESULT IN PROCEEDS OF $800

The ladies of St. Mary's Church are again to be congratulated on the success of their annual bazaar, which event took place on Wednesday last. After months and months of effort on the part of the ladies the success is all the more appreciated.

The Knights of Pythias Hall was again the scene of their activities, the hall being arranged so that it represented a minature fair. The fine display of wares of different descriptions made a pleasing sight. While the crowd in attendance was not as great as last year, considering the difference in conditions it was remarkably good.

The whist drive in the evening was well attended at the conclusion of which the lucky winners of the prizes were drawn for, Mayor Balment being the master of ceremonies in this feature. The following were the owners of the first ten tickets drawn:

1. Mahogany Eight Day Clock — T. J. Dillon, Bull River.
2. Silver Plated Autostrop Shaving Set — Mrs. E. Lodge, Cranbrook.
3. Boston Club Bag — J. E. Cardinal, Cranbrook.
4. Smoking Set — Mrs. Alan McDonald, Cranbrook.
5. Majestic Heater — T. D. McCrea, Lumberton.
6. Grandmother's Quilt (gift of Mrs. L. Paquette) — F. W. Burgess, Cranbrook.
7. Watercolor Miniature—A. Neuman, Lumberton.
8. Ten Pounds White Honey (gift of D. J. Murphy) — Mrs. W. H. Lewis, Cranbrook.
9. Turkey —G. W. Patmore, Cranbrook.
10. Pyrex Ovenware — Mrs. Belanger, Natal.

From the above it will be seen that there was a fairly equal distribution between the winners resident in the city and those from outside points.

While there were few members of the church who were not in some way connected with and contributing to the success of the undertaking, those more directly responsible for the same were as follows:

Mrs. R. J. Collins was general convenor, and to her must be attributed a large share of the credit for the success that was attained. Assisting her as convenors of the several combooths at the bazaar were:

Apron Booth—Miss Della Greaves.
Woollen Booth—Mrs. H. Fisher.
Candy and Soft Drinks—Mrs. H. Doris.
Fish Pond—Mrs. J. Bertoia.
Kitchen Utensils—Mrs. D. Ryan.
Tea Table—Mrs. Mackie.
Cooking—Mrs. J. A. Genest.

As a result of their work the sum of over $800 was raised. While this was not as large as last year, still the ladies are more than pleased as it came up to and beyond their expectations.

Opening New Curling Rink

Rinks To Be Invited From Outside Points For Event

CURLERS ELECT OFFICERS

The enthusiasm with which the curlers went at their re-organization for the coming season last Friday, when the annual meeting took place, apparently was too much for the weather man, who has since rescinded from the stand that seemed likely last week to provide ice within a very short time for curling and skating.

The meeting took place in the city hall, Dr G. E. L. MacKinnon presiding, and E. H. MacPhee, secretary, recording the business.

There were about twenty curlers present and the first business was the reading of the minutes and receiving the statement covering last season, which was submitted by the secretary.

Officers for the season were elected as follows:

Hon. Pres. ..... Dr. F. W. Green
Hon. Vice Pres. ..... R. E. Beattie
President ..... Dr. G. E. L. MacKinnon
Vice President ..... W. M. Harris
Sec.-Treas. ..... C. T. Spence

Executive—Jas. Milne, W. F. Cameron, A. S. Ward.
Chaplains: Rev. F. V. Harrison and Rev. B. C. Freeman.
Umpires: T. M. Roberts. D. Halcrow.
Ice Committee: A. C. Bowness, S. Fyles, G. B. Willis.

A strong membership committee was appointed to bring in all the old members and as many new ones as possible. In this connection word was received from the Elks Lodge that they expect to put in two rinks of seasoned veterans, and would put in also ten new players providing the dues for the latter were fixed by the club at half the regular dues. This offer was accepted, the dues being fixed at $12 for the season for old curlers, and $6 for any who have never curled before.

The membership committee was named as follows:

Jno. Martin D. A. Burton, W. F. Cameron, R. J. Collins, J. P. McLaren, P. McK. Morrison, A. J. Ironsides, C. J. Little, W. J. Barber, W. D. Gilroy, G. Sinclair, M. McCrindle.

The matter of making the draws for the rinks also came up and it was finally decided to proceed the same way as in former years. The players will be classified, skips chosen and the players drawn for. The understanding seemed to be that there should be the same privilege as has obtained in previous years of effecting exchanges on the rinks before the competitions open. In the matter of getting the competitions started, it was decided to write to Mr. Sherwood Herchmer of Fernie and get from him the method of working out their competitions, by which they seemed to be able to maintain a higher pitch of enthusiasm throughout the season. Four groups of rinks are chosen and each plays against every other rink on a schedule arranged for the entire season, and play-offs are arranged for the final championships.

Along with the movement to get more new players into the club, it was decided to appoint a committee of instructors, whose place it will be to coach the new men on the niceties of the game, and also another to instruct in points competitions.

Fernie having expressed a willingness to send down four or five rinks for the occasion, it was decided if possible to make the formal opening of the new curling rink something of an event. Efforts will be made to get rinks from Bull River, Kimberley, Wycliffe Lumberton. Etc., so as to make a representative event of the opening of the new rink. A banquet may also be held in connection with the affair.

Addresses C.G.I.T. Workers

Miss Allison of the religious educational department of the Methodist Church in Canada, who is at present on a tour of the western provinces in connection with this work, stopped over in Cranbrook on Monday last to meet the workers in the Protestant denominations interested in the C. G. I. T. movement and other similar endeavors. Miss Allison spoke to a meeting in the Methodist Church on Monday composed principally of Methodist workers, while on Tuesday afternoon she addressed a meeting of all denominations in the city. Here, as in other places, Miss Allison's addresses were of an inspirational nature, and much benefit was derived therefrom. In B.C. the Methodist and Presbyterian churches act co-operatively in this branch of their work.

WYCLIFFE NOTES

A meeting for the discussion of winter sport and the formation of a hockey club was held in the club house on Friday evening last. L. Crowe as acting chairman, opened the meeting and invited discussion as to skating rink maintenance, procuring of funds and the formation of the Wycliffe hockey club. As a result of the discussion the hockey organization came into being with the following as officers of the club: E. L. Staples, Hon. President; H. Munroe, President; W. Johnson, vice-president; L. Crowe, sec.-treas; J. Jones, manager. The meeting decided to canvas the town for the funds necessary to carry on the rink and it was unanimously agreed that families whose children use the rink be requested to pay the sum of three dollars, and seniors who play hockey the sum of five dollars. With the cooperation of everyone in Wycliffe the amount thus received should meet the wages of an ice maker and caretaker, thus assuring everyone of the maximum of skating during the season without the task of clearing the snow and flooding the rink by voluntary service—a plan that has been tried in former years and found wanting. W. Johnson and B. Johnson were appointed as canvassers. It is hoped that everyone will fall into the spirit of the effort and assist the canvassing committee with their contribution, for the popularity of the rink with both young and old proves it to be an asset that provides the chief and best enjoyment of the winter months.

The idea of a local hockey league was also reborn during the evening and it was found that there were players in abundance along this line. Four teams will probably be entered. Their line up has not yet been decided but the following captains were appointed; J. Jones L. Crowe, W. Johnson, I. Johnson. We wish to state that as a result of the foregoing discussion it was decided to receive application for the job of rink caretaker at once.

An entertainment committee to handle social events during the coming winter months was assembled, and is made up of the following: L. Crowe, chairman; P. Franzen, J. Jones, B. Bourgeois, E. Staples, V. Swanson.

Mr. F. Wilson, salesman and baseball fan, who represents Simonds Canada Saw Company, was a business visitor on Wednesday last.

Mr and Mrs. A. Yager entertained a few friends at dinner on Tuesday night of this week.

On the occasion of Master Thomas Clark's thirteenth birthday a very enjoyable party was held at his home, in which several of his boy friends participated. They were Geoge Tanner, Harold Johnson, Harry Ireland, and Alex Yager.

That parasite, and well known insect, the radio bug, has apparently invaded Wycliffe in dead earnest. C. O. Staples, L. Crowe and T. Ireland have recently been bitten and others seem to have the same general idea. A flock of technical terms can be heard in the store and office at any time during the day, and travelling salesmen who can't talk amplification, antenna, static and reception find themselves at a disadvantage with the more highly informed brothers of the fraternity who can.

SOCIAL DANCE ON SATURDAY

A social dance in the club house, Wycliffe, will be given on Saturday night, November 22nd. Dancing 9 to 12 Brasch's orchestra from Kimberley will supply the music.

Resolutions at Institute Conv'n

(Concluded From Last Week's Issue)

Resolution No. 4—It was moved and seconded that a bridge to span river at Cokato is badly needed, that we urge upon the authorities to take the necessary steps to grant our reasonable request.

Mr. Draper pointed out the necessity of having good roads and that they wished the bridge across the Elk river to connect the settlement of Cedar Valley and Cokato as they have to go all the way to Fernie and then to Cedar Valley from Cokato and often markets could be found for farm products such as hay but it does pay pay to haul it around this long route and then the school children from Cedar Valley could use the school in Cokato. Also it would develop trade with Fernie, and also by connecting the three places make for social life and make the district more attractive to live in.

Resolution No. 5 — Wilson Creek, Kaisner road, No. 17, whereas, we believe that the money appropriated this year for the completion of this road was sufficient, if the amount had been properly spent, resolved that we solicit the support of the Cranbrook Convention in requesting that this money be spent as intended.

Mr. Brady explained that this money had been appropriated for this road and some work had been done on it but that the vote had been recalled on account of lack of funds but that this road would be finished as soon as funds were available.

Resolution No. 6 — Resolved that our delegate be instructed to use his best influence at the convention to secure equity in procuring burning permits.

Mr. Mansfield of Natal, stated that owing to road conditions the fire warden can not travel through territory under jurisdiction with the result that only one or two get premits to burn. Mr. Moore explained that the reason that burning permits had not been issued to more than two people in that district while others wished them, was that these were sufficiently protected by having men to fight fire and were near water and the regulation distance from inflammable material and the humidity of air was correct to allow burning with safety. There is no discrimination in issuing permits as to who the farmer is, but there is as to weather conditions.

Resolution No. 77—That the Hon. Minister of Agriculture be approached with a view to having a better-farming train tour the province. — Carried.

Resolution No. 8—That this Institute is in favor of some action being taken with a view to holding the Land Settlement Board and the Soldiers' Settlement Board responsible for the eradication of weeds on lands controled by these two boards and now abandoned in settled communities. These abandoned farms are now so infested with weeds that they constitute a serious menace to adjoining farms.

After considerable discussion an amendment was drafted out as a possible solution of the matter, ,and the original motion would stand with the following clause. "This action could be carried out in an economical manner by leasing it at a moderate rate, or by turning over such weed-infested property gratis, to neighboring farmers, provided that these farmers take steps to cultivate and keep down the weeds. To futher protect said boards it is suggested that the seed sown on such lands pass the inspection and approval of the board's representative, i.e. a district agriculturist. — Motion Carried.

Resolution No. 9—Whereas the reduction of the Provincial government grant to small agricultural fairs is making it extremely difficult for agricultural associations to carry on successfully, and whereas many small agricultural fairs held in the center of large districts will have to be discontinued unless the grant is materially increased, therefore be it resolved that the size of the grant be based not only on the amount previously paid out by an association in prize money but also that the extent of the territory which the fair serves be taken into consideration. — Motion Carried.

Resolution No. 11—That the government be asked to give a little more of their time to the consideration of resolutions sent in by Farmers' Institutes. — Motion Carried.

Resolution No. 12—That if the Advisory Board continues to exist for the future, that it be asked to convene at an earlier date in relation to the opening of the legislature in order to have their recommendations prepared in such time as to give the members of the government ample opportunity to consider their intent. — Motion Carried.

Resolution No. 13—Whereas there is a feeling that the advisory board of the Farmers' Institutes of B.C., fail to keep the respective Institutes advised of their efforts to obtain required legislation from the government, and feel that the board is failing to function as intended, therefore be it resolved that unless the advisory board can show more definite results in the future it be abolished. —Motion Carried.

Resolution No. 14—That we respectfully petition the minister of the interior for the Dominion of Canada to seriously consider as to whether or not the appropriation annually set aside for immigration purposes could not and might not be spent more advisedly and advantageously, in the main in the improvement of home conditions in farm life, especially for the betterment of conditions for the women folk. — Motion Caried..

Resolution No. 15—Whereas the present regulations in running beef cattle require a bull to each certain number of cows over 24 months of age, and whereas all stockmen understand that many heifers come into breeding age before that age and are therefore a drain upon the herd bull, be it resolved that we request that these regulations be revised reducing the breeding age limit of females on the range to 12 months instead of 24. Motion carried.

Resolution No. 16—Whereas the present regulations in running beef cattle on the range demand that stockmen ranging thirty females or the major portion thereof also range a bull of a good beef type and whereas in certain districts there are a number of these stockmen and also a number of small stockmen ranging a smaller number the onus of providing the bulls for the entire range falls on a few of the larger stock breeders, therefore be it resolved that the Animals Act be amended in cuch a way as to compel these small stock-breeders to arrange among themselves to place on the range sufficient bulls for the number of females on the range regardless of ownership.—Carried.

Resolution No. 17—Resolved that we at the convention assembled appeal to the goverment for further protection from the gopher pest, than we are obtaining at the present time, the present bounty being insufficient to interest the children, who in pervious competitions did great work.—Carried.

Resolution No. 18—Whereas in the work of the Farmers' Institutes there is great necessity for more correlation of aims and objects as between the different Institutes of each district and whereas the recent visit of Mr. Bricker to each local in district "I" has given great satisfaction throughout the district, and has undoubtedly given Mr. Bricker as a Board member a much better idea of the needs of the work in this district than any former board member has ever had, as well as arousing much greater interest within the Institutes, therefore we believe that a more certain provision for the Advisory Board members to enable them each year to make a visit without fail to each local as a part of their official duties and such provision not only cover their expenses but also a per diem allowance for their time while away from home. Motion carried.

Resolution No. 19—Whereas it is expedient for our Central Institute to be financed and for our Advisory Board member to be paid a per diem allowance while on Institute work. Therefore be it resolved that this convention suggest that half of the grant from the Department be paid direct to the Central Institute of the district as the local contribution to the Central's expenditure. —Motion carried.

Resolution No. 20—That the government be requested to establish an Illustration or Demonstration Farm in the East Kootenay District.—Carried.

Resolution No. 21 — Whereas the settlers at Dorr have lost and are still losing, through erosion by the waters of the Kootenay river, a large portion of the best of their land, for some of which a high price has been paid; and whereas they have hitherto had their requests to the government to furnish a pile driver and operator to do the work necessary to protect their property turned down, though the said settlers were willing to furnish the piles and supply all the other labor in connection with the work, which would mean some 90 per cent of the total cost; and whereas the government has engaged in various reclamation and land clearing projects in other districts with the view of increasing the agricultural lands of the province and has assisted various municipalities and other parties to prevent loss by erosion; resolved that wherever it is necessary for any party or parties to do work to protect their property from loss of this nature, it should be the duty of the government to supply any mechanical appliances necessary for the work together with the skilled labor to work such appliances and expert supervision for the whole undertaking.

Resolution be sent direct to Public Works at Ottawa and Victoria, with information that there is a pile-driver at Fernie.—Motion Carried.

Resolution No. 22—That the government take steps to improve the grasses on the range and keep the pasture in the state it is now.

Resolution No. 23—Whereas it has been understood that technical men and district representatives of the department of agriculture are entitled to a statutory increase in salary a sum of $120 per year and whereas it is important that men in such positions receive the impetus in their work of the evidence of appreciation which is best shown by a little added amount on salary therefore we request that these men would much better serve their work by receiving the assurance that these increases will be regularly forthcoming as deserved.—Carried.

Resolution No. 24—Resolved that the provincial department of agriculture be approached with a view to securing a special freight rate between the four western provinces on seed potatoes similar to that already in effect on the shipment of grain for use as seed.

Resolution No. 25—Owing to the inadequacy of the present Workmen's Compensation Act with regard to farm labor, we ask that the Act be amended so as to cover farm employees and employers in all occupations constructive and operative. We do not ask that the farmers be compelled to come under the act but that it remain optional. — Carried.

Resolution No. 26—Resolved that our Advisory Board member be paid a per diem allowance of $5.00 per day from the Central Institute while actively engaged on Institute work.—Carried.

Resolution No. 27—Moved by Mr. Smith, Newgate, seconded by Mr. Bowers, that Central Institute put on an excursion of the farmers of the district to visit the experimental farm at Invermere on or about the first week in August.—Carried

A letter was read from Fernie Farmers' Institute with regard to Mr. Bricker. Moved by Mr. Smith, Newgate, seconded by Mr. Crowe, that no action be taken on this letter but that a vote of confidence in Mr. Bricker be passed for the work he has done.—Motion carried.

Mr. W. H. Lyne, from Vancouver, gave an address on the importation of nursery stock and fruit, as well as the fumigation work in connection with this. Questions being raised as to the expenditure on plant at Vancouver, Mr. Lyne showed that this was necessary as there were sometimes five or six carloads of bulbs or fruit trees to be inspected or fumigated at one time and while the fumigation did not take a long time many of the shipments arrived in such condition that first aid was necessary and space was necessary to allow for this work being done Farmers here wished to know if they could not be allowed to bring in trees, etc., from some of the prairie provinces without the same having to go to Vancouver for fumigation.

Development of irrigation in British Columbia. This was a paper compiled by E. Davis, chief engineer, Water Rights Department, and read by Major Hicks at the Institute banquet. It was entitled "The Price We Pay For Neglect." It was in part as follows:

"On many of our British Columbia irrigated farms, owing to agricultural depression and other causes, irrigation systems have been allowed to get in bad repair, and large sums must now be expended to put these systems in shape to carry water, whereas, had a small amount been spent on upkeep each year, our systems would have been in fair condition to-day.

So much for the systems. Now let us see what the land has been doing. We find that poor preparation has made sound irrigation methods impossible. Grades have not been considered, having to flood certain areas to reach others, washouts occur as a consequence, hence more trouble to irrigate the entire field. In depressions where water stands, wild grasses grow and even rushes appear, the land becomes sour and legumes are killed out. In some cases alkali has come to the surface. Yields are greatly reduced. Many farmers tell us of the wonderful crops that grew on these lands and produce photographs as visual evidence, then ask, "why not now?" The reason is a repetition of irrigation history the world over.

"Fortunately for agriculture, these commercial fertilizers or expensive run down soils are not calling for treatment, but rather for that old, oft-repeated and much neglected word 'humus.'

The old saying that live stock is the basis of good farming is still true, providing the manure of live stock is properly made use of. I am sorry to say that the hay crops taken from most of our farms are fed off the land. We find our winter manure crop in the bush or under the pine trees, in some cases feet deep where cattle have hunted shelter.

"These methods cannot go on much longer. Mother earth is a kindly creature but she will not stand neglect for ever. The price the farmer is paying is half to one ton per acre, instead of two to three tons, also the reduced amount of stock on the farm.

If we want to increase our herds, be they beef, dairy, pig or sheep, we must first consider cheap winter feed. I know of no cheaper way than by increasing acre yields. To do this we must prepare irrigation lands to avoid humps and hollows, shorten the water run and apply water often in small amounts instead of large quantities at long intervals. Fall irrigate when needed, study how water penetrates the different soils; take care of every pound of manure. Plan a proper rotation of crops to suit your particular class of farming Humus must be supplied in some form or other because it enlivens and mellows baked, run down soils, increases fertility, makes plant food available, increases water holding capacity, makes soil warmer, increases bacteria, in case of manure, adds nitrogen, phosphorus and potash.

The earliest date when irrigation can be said to have officially commenced in British Columbia was in the year 1858, when the first right to the use of water for agricultural purposes was granted.

The recording of a right to the use of water at this early period of the existence of the province established a precedence which was the forerunner of the present water licenses which are issued today.

"It has been said by competent authorities from the United States that had California adopted such a system of recording rights with respect of use of waters within that state the endless litigation in the courts would not have occurred.

"In 1859 Governor Douglas issued a proclamation known as the 'Goldfields' Act,' providing for the acquisition of a water right and also issued rules and regulations to be used in connection therewith. It required that the applicant in making the formal application should state the quantity of water desired, the locality of distribution and the time within which the works were to be completed. If he refused or neglected to take, within the time mentioned in the application, or within such further time as the Gold Commissioner might allow, the whole of the quantity of water applied for, he was deemed at the end of the time granted, only the quantity taken by him actually and the surplus could be granted by the Crown to another person.

'The title of the act seems to confine it to the use of water in connection with gold mining although numerous rights were granted for the use of water for irrigation between the years 1859 and 1865 in which latter year definite provision was made for agriculture.

It will be seen that this early enactment embraces a principle basic to the provisions of the Water Act in the form in which it is now in use in British Columbia; that is what may be termed the principle or doctrine of beneficial use.

"Subsequent water legislation was enacted under various titles until 1897 when the 'Water Clauses Consolidation Act was passed, consolidating and amending the several laws respecting the use of water. This act is considered to be a highly commendable conservation enactment and marks the greatest advance up to that time made in the water laws of the province.

"Owing to the greater use being made of the water resources and to the laxity in the making of the records and to there being no real supervision over the use of water, the necessity was realized of reviewing and defining the existing rights and at the same time more closely guarding the granting of new rights. The act of 1909 was passed with that end in view and it marks a still further advance in water legislation.

The Board of Investigation has examined the status of 7,000 records and has ordered the issuance of licences where bona fide use was being made of the privilege or ordered cancellations where no use was being made or where claimants to the right could not show that it was apurtenant to their uand, appeals from this semi-judicial board were required to be taken to the Court of Appeal and it is interesting to note that only three appeals made against the decisions have been allowed.

"In 1914 the Water Act was again revised and a section provided therein for the organization of co-operative irrigation districts.

Owing, however, to the financial and other conditions into which the larger irrigation companies subsequently became involved, this section of the Act was not altogether suitable and it was repealed in 1920 and a new section substituted.

In 1918 the B. C. government realizing the difficulty irrigation districts had in arranging finances for the rehabilitation systems which had been acquired from the involved companies, enacted provisions in the Water Act for the loaning of money to the districts.

The B.C. act as it stands to-day is considered to be one of the most advanced water codes on theis continent and it is often quoted as embodying the best in irrigation laws.

Although it has been said that irrigation is young in the province, the wise procedure required in the early days in the matter of acquiring rights to the use of water was in advance of the methods in vogue in California, and the foregoing remarks indicate that while the country has passed through a number of viscissitudes which have occurred in the older countries, considerable progress has been made in irrigation matters.

Resolution No. 28—Whereas it is public knowledge that an electrical power company is applying for water powers on a site on the Elk river near Philips Canyon, which was provisionally allotted some years ago to a pulp mill undertaking; and whereas an undertaking of the latter description would not only afford more employment than a power company, but would also greatly encourage farming in the district by the creation of a township whose needs would afford a good market; resolved, that the government be urged to consider the matter very carefully before granting such water powers to any but the said pulp mill undertaking even though the latter may have hitherto failed somewhat to observe the terms on which they were provisionally granted such powers.—Motion carried.

Resolution No. 29—That in view of the serious shortage of water for irrigation, and in view of the fact that more land is coming under cultivation each year, it is, in the opinion of this Institute, highly desirable that the Water Rights Branch make a survey of creeks and larger streams with a view to locating reservoir sites, we further recommend that the Water Rights Department take such action as will result in these sites being reserved by the Crown. — Carried

Resolution No. 30—That the government of B.C. should be petitioned to have a closer examination made of small irrigation projects throughout the province with the end in view of stopping wastage through natural causes, such as might easily be prevented at small cost, and also the possibilities of developing further small irrigation projects. Further, that If the government determine on the examination of any large areas of land for the purposes of encouraging irrigation projects, that they should first turn their attention to works of this nature which are already in existence, with the end in view of carrying such projects through to completion, or the revival of them, having in mind that this might be done at comparatively small cost. — Carried.

Resolution No. 31—Whereas in the case of infraction of water regulations by land owners taking use of water to which they have no title and actually in such cases robbing the man who has the license for this water, the Water Department states that action against the man stealing this water must be by civil action in the courts which may postpone any remedy in the matter indefinitely; and whereas the use of water is vital to the owner of the water license and summary action is really the only remedy sufficiently quick to avert loss to the license holder, therefore we ask that power to take action at once against persons unlawfully diverting water, be vested in the engineer of the Water Branch for the district.—Motion carried.

Resolution No. 33—That the department be petitioned to have a closer examination made of all small irrigation projects throughout the province with the end in view of stopping wastage through natural and other causes; and further, that the department first lend their assistance to irrigation projects already under way. —Carried.

Resolution No. 34—In view of the fact that the government has in many cases subsidized other industries, and has spent thousands of dollars on roads for settlers who have since left the country owing to the lack of water, therefore we recommend that grants be made to deserving irrigation projects, care being taken to see that there is a reasonable prospect of the project being successful.—Carried.

Resolution No. 35—That a second survey be made as low down Vermilion Creek as possible to get a ditch to benefit the greatest number of settlers, to be diverted from North Vermilion Creek to south of Columbia river. — Carried.

Resolution No. 36—Resolved that we petition the Post Office Department to establish a post office eleven miles south of Golden.

Mr. Newton suggested that Institutes do everything to arrange talks with various officials of the government and find out the real work of these men and co-operate with them.

Resolution that meeting show appreciation for those in charge who arranged the meeting and gave papers. — Motion carried.

Moved by Mr. Quail, seconded by Mr. Crowe that Mr. A. B. Smith be re-elected president of the District Farmers' Institute; moved and seconded that Mr. Quail be vice-president; moved and seconded that Mr. A. L. Hay be secretary.

Directorate from each Institute: That it was decided at meeting to appoint directorate of five, three to be a quorum. An executive to include president, vice-president, secretary and two others. Moved and seconded that Mr. Moreland and Mr Cameron be other members of executive. Directors left for Institutes to choose.

Discussion of pooling transportation expenses of all locals. Moved and seconded that transportation to this convention be pooled among the Institutes. — Motion carried.

Moved and seconded that conference be held in Cranbrook next year. —Motion carried.

Moved and seconded that Mr. A. B. Smith be member of Advisory Board for East Kootenay for 1925. Mr. Moreland was nominated as alternate delegate to the Advisory Board in the event of Mr. Smith not being able to attend.

Moved and seconded that vote of thanks be sent to City of Cranbrook for use of the City Hall for the convention.

THE HIGH WAGE BUBBLE

THE SITUATION which has now arisen at Fernie from the temporary closing down of the mines at Coal Creek is a reminder that will serve to impress upon all observers the lesson that high wages do not always spell prosperity. The miners gradually forced the wages up. During the war years there was justification for it, and no opposition was met when the increases were tacked on to the price of coal, because everyone expected to pay more, in keeping with the general trend of things. But in later years, there has been a feeling among the consuming public that the trend of things should be downward. This feeling was apparent in the markets where the Fernie coal was to be sold and gradually the product of the mines became more and more difficult to dispose of. Still the wages kept up, and work became less plentiful. Strike succeeded strike, finally disorganizing production so that the supply became undependable. That was the finishing touch. Industry that uses coal in large quantities cannot hazard anything on its fuel supply. Now the mines must close till different conditions permit them to re-open on some stable basis.

It is worth noting that the company offered the men a five year contract at what seemed fair wages, though a little lower than had been paid under the previous contract and there was then every prospect of steady work. Union leaders scorned the proposition, and preferred to wait a settlement for the entire district. But the men now find that there are other things to consider besides how much the miners are to get out of it. Which would have been preferrable, continuous work at slightly lower wages, or little or no work at higher wages?

The people of Fernie have seen many viscissitudes during the existence of the city, and while it must be a serious blow to the business men and those with property interests it is safe to say there are men of courage and resource who will be able and willing to adapt themselves to the new and somewhat more stringent conditions now presenting themselves, and so hold the situation in hand till better fortunes come their way. A city that can stand fires of the magnitude of those which have swept Fernie, and can also stand the rocking of a bank failure that annihilated nearly a million dollars of its cash resources, will probably meet this latest catastrophe with more stoicism than other places which have not been so severely tried.

NOTE AND COMMENT

PUTTING THE CART before the horse seems an apt way of describing the policy followed in regard to the proposed eight hour law. The time to have discovered how its application would affect industry would seem to have been beforehand, instead of waiting till it comes into effect, and placing the onus of proving a hardship on the industries affected. If the measure is considered after investigation to be of benefit to industry in general, it should be put into effect forthwith, but to attach to it a provision by which it can be completely nullified is surely a flimsy way of camouflaging the fact that it was an ill-conceived measure to which a joker had to be attached for safety's sake.

CRITICISM of the government's financial policy in the past when economies were urged, were always met with the cry from Premier Oliver to show him where the economies could be made. This year the budget brought down in the house for the first time in many years shows the expenditures for the coming fiscal year pruned down till they come well within the estimated revenue. This seems tantamount to an admission that the cry of the opposition in the past that economies must be made were not idle and destructive criticism after all. Feeling themselves running uncomfortably close to the danger line in the matter of a majority in the house, the government has decided that there is scope for economy after all. Public works expenditures are to be reduced, and also administration costs in various directions, but it is significant also that no increase is anticipated in revenue, the feeling being apparently the every dollar possible is being squeezed out of the taxpayers.

From Our Exchanges

WHERE YALE STANDS

The irony with which impartial fates season their decrees regarding mankind is one of the most intriguing things in all history. "If it were not for irony," says Anatole France, "the world would be a forest without birds."

Take the case of the by-election in Yale, which concluded with a victory for the Conservatives. Mr. Mackenzie King assumed office three years ago without a working majority in the house. He wished to make an alliance with the progressives, but eastern interests at first vetoed this plan. Last session he achieved his purpose and favor after favor was conferred on the West. A low tariff, an anti-dumping clause such as the prairies wished, Crows Nest rates were all given with a view to attracting and holding Western support. The East was still skeptical, however, and the premier longed to dangle before its eyes as a proof of his success, a real Western constituency he had snatched from the Conservatives.

But here the ironical fates played him a trick worthy of Puck. The only available Western constituency was Yale, the one agricultural riding in the country where a low tariff meant only low prices for produce, where the Progressive anti-dumping legislation was anathema and where the Crows Nest rates spelt ruin. The premier did his best. He campaigned in the riding himself, though it was far from the capital. He brought several of his ministers with him, and he pleaded the government's need of some encouragemnt, of some sign that the West appreciated the efforts that were being made in its behalf. It was all no use. Yale heard the premier courteously; but it remained Conservative. — Vancouver Province.

ONTARIO NATIVE SONS PUTTING ON PROGRAM DECEMBER THIRD

On Wednesday night, December 3rd, the members of Cranbrook Assembly, Native Sons, who claim the province of Ontario as their birthplace are putting on the program for the occasion. This follows on the nights put on by the sons of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Quebec, but the native Sons of Ontario are planning to eclipse them all. If quantity counts for anything they should have no difficulty in doing so — for there are over fifty names on the membership roll of the Assembly who hail from that province. From such a plethora of latent talent Dr. J. WW. Rutledge, who has been named as chairman for the program committee, has had some difficulty in deciding what items could best set forth the merits of old Ontario. It is even said that far from being able to summarize them in a single evening, he feels that not less than a week would be required to present the case in a nutshell. There is no doubt, at any rate, but that on the night of this meeting a program well worth while will be presented.

HEAD OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ADDRESSES MEETING ON TUESDAY

Dr. Clarence MacKinnon Urges Church to be Alive To Opportunities

A fair sized audience greeted Dr. Clarence MacKinnon, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, when he spoke in the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening last.

Coming from Halifax, where he is principal of Pine Hill College, the moderator is nearing the end of the tour he is making of Canada in connection with the work of the Presbyterian Church.

Speaking of the work of the church in general Dr. MacKinnon dwelt on the importance of the church making the most of opportunities as they presented themselves.

Analyzing the word "opportunity," the speaker pointed out that from the Latin, "op" meant "near," and "port" meant "harbor," and as ships sometimes make miscalculation and miss the harbor and thus become shipwrecked, the church was to be advised to guard against a similar fate. In connection with the political world, the publication of Winston Churchill, called "The World Crisis" was cited as an illustration of the harm done through lost opportunities and mistakes at Galipoli.

With reference to the manner in which the church seized its opportunities he suggested greater zeal with respect to the spread of the doctrines which we pretend to uphold. As a beautiful example of this he mentioned the instance of John St. Chrysostum, a celebrated Greek churchman, who when in Constantinople about 400 A.D., proudly referred to the fact that Christian immigrants had touched *the British Isles. Again in con*nection with the founding of the Methodist church in Ontario there was the devotion of Rev. Matthew Bangs.

Dr. MacKinnon concluded his address with an urgent appeal to the church not to miss its opportunity.

Following the meeting a conference on the subject of church union took place when many questions were asked and answered by the visiting head of the church. In connection with this it was made clear that there were certain fundamental motives for church union the principal one being economic, as was readily apparent when conditions on the prairies were considered. There, denominational churches could not exist, whereas union churches could. The East had been influenced—they were anxious to do something in order that the life of the country communities could be made the more passable. Under union more effective work could be carried on than otherwise. One pleasing feature in connection with the work of organizing for union was the discovery of the spiritual unity that existed. They were to a very large measure, one at heart.

HEARING ON EIGHT HOUR LAW

most seriously curtail production, and greatly increase the cost of lumber. During the operating period the maximum amount of lumber must be produced in order to maintain the cost of production at the lowest possible level. The expense of having plants tied up for over five months each year is a heavy one.

"It is not practical to operate mill plants in the interior more than one shift per day. Planing mill plants, lumber yards, housing accommodation, logging operations, etc., are laid out to handle production on a ten hour basis. The instability of the lumber market does not warrant the expenditure of the enormous sums of money which would be required for additional logging equipment to handle the increased cut.

"The production of lumber on an eight hour basis would greatly increase the cost of production. The uncontrollable expenses and overhead would be as heavy on an eight hour production as on a ten hour basis, though the output would be reduced by about twenty per cent. on the former basis.

"The workmen engaged in the lumber industry will also be most seriously affected by the enfocement of an eight hour day. Due to the handicaps and instability of the lumber industry referred to above, the business of producing lumber in the interior of this province has not been a profitable one and as a result the remuneration that workmen have received has not been as high as that paid in some other industries. Employees generally are paid on a per hour basis, and the adjustment of wages to an eight hour basis would be most serious to those engaged in the industry, particularly to those with dependents, and who depend solely upon the lumber industry for their livelihood.

Different speakers for the lumber workers urged on the commissioners that the eight hour law was in effect in some places south of the line, and that it could be put into effect here similarly. During the discussion the old question of the fortnightly payday was also introduced the workers claiming it was a dead letter in this part of the district. Mr. McNiven invited them to show any specific instances where this was being disregarded by the companies, but none were forthcoming.. There is almost without exception the regular pay day for mill workers, but out in the camps, where it is not found practicable, and where the money would be no use if it were paid, the system of handing out time checks which can be cashed at any time is followed generally, and without objection being made to it.

From Cranbrook Mr. McNiven went on to Fernie to look into the situation at Coal Creek, intending to join the other commissioners when they made the trip up to Golden for further hearings on Tuesday of this week.

The homeworkers of the Anglican Church put on a very successful sale at the Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon last, about $400 resulting from their work. There were all the customary articles made by clever feminine fingers which usually find ready sale especially at this time of year, being much in demand as Christmas gifts, and there were also tables of superfluities and dolis' material. The candy and home cooking tables were the scene of much activity, and the scouts and cubs, in helping to serve afternoon tea did their bit towards making the afternoon quite successful.

What the board granted was pay for the time he actually worked, leaving his two weeks holiday unpaid for.

At their meeting on Tuesday last the Cranbrook Rotarians in a very tangible way showed appreciation of the assistance the Gyro Club had been in the putting on of the recent Rotary Playground Carnival. The club bought a block of sixty tickets and on the opening night expect to occupy the bald-headed rows. This is a matter of much encouragement to the embryo acter-Gyros. They feel that most of their brother clubmen are sympathetic and will go with a recollection of a fellow feeling, while with regard to any who are not they feel that the short range will not be conducive to good shooting The Gyros have been practicing hard and will doubtless give a good account of themselves. In the short time at their disposal they have done very well. They promise everybody their money's worth or their money refunded.

Coming from Nelson on Friday last, possibly it was the change of altitude or change of drinks that affected Charles Clip, who registered at the B.C. Rooms that night. The proprietor, Mr. Sakaguichi, admitted him to his rooming house but did not notice anything out of the ordinary then. During the night he did hear someone pacing the hall rather vigorously, but still did not investigate. The next morning, however, when he went up to make up the rooms at about ten o'clock, Clip was in his room and would not let the proprietor in, saying there was someone wanting to shoot him. As a protection against these missiles Clip had two socks tied around his chest thinking these would ward off the bullets. At about five o'clock that afternoon the police got him from his den. After examination Clip was sent to New Westminster. He went by several aliases it was found on investigation.

COAL STRIKE FORCES COMPANY TO CLOSE MINES AT COAL CREEK

Announcement Made Last Week Means Hard Blow To Fernie

The official notice posted by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company that its Coal Creek mines will close down indefinitely through lack of business has come as a very serious blow to Fernie, which has had a chequered career as a mining town.

This notice was the official statement of that company that they are closing down the mines at Coal Creek for an indefinite period. It read as follows:

"The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, through failure to retrieve sufficient business to operate the Coal Creek mines regret the necessity for having to inform the employees of the said mines that the Coal Creek Mines will be closed down indefinitely. Under the circumstances, we advise the employees of the company to try and secure employment elsewhere. Company officials will bring all the miners' tools out of the mines to the surface building at Coal Creek, where the men owning the tools will be able to get them.

(Signed) The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Limited."

The mines are probably the most extensive and best equipped in Western Canada, but in various ways have suffered interruption in operation during the past ten years.

In 1908 a fire practically destroyed the town and recurring strikes have made business very insecure. The latest decision of the company to close the mines, comes at the end of a strike which lasted more than six months. During the strike the management of the company endeavored to deal with its men on the basis of a long term contract at a wage which would have given the miners comparatively steady work. The wage then offered was between ten and fifteen per cent. more than the scale obtaining on Vancouver Island. The men preferred to wait for a settlement made by the whole district, and the company, which is a member of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, accepted the settlement which was made recently although it was not as favorable as was proposed to their men.

Until the miners struck last spring the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. supplied the smelter at Trail with coke. The strike with the consequent shutdown of the coke ovens, it is common knowledge, forced the Consolidated to place coke orders in another market.

The company made it clear that while accepting the settlement it was such as would enable the mines only to secure one or two days' work a week. Apparently the change in the market conditions during the time the Fernie mines were idle has made the situation even worse than the company contemplated, with the result that the mines are now closed indefinitely.

The population of Fernie, including that of the village of Coal Creek, six miles distant, where the mines are situated, is about 4,000. Many of the miners live and have homes in Fernie, others occupying company houses at Coal Creek. Formerly several lumber companies operated in the vicinity of Fernie and their payrolls helped to swell the business turnover. These mills, during the past two or three years, however, discontinued operations so that the mines were practically the only revenue on which the town depended.

Some years ago when the mines were running steadily, about 1200 men were employed, but the number has been gradually reduced through falling markets until the number had dwindled considerably when the mines closed down.

While the Coal Creek mines are Fernie's largest individual reliance for business, lumbering is also an important source of revenue and that will not be impaired in any degree by the shutdown reported.

"THE VARSITY COACH" TO PLAY FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY

With the multiplicity of entertainment being given in Cranbrook at this season, the high school students have decided to put their play on for one evening only, Dec. 5th, Friday, unless when the ticket sale opens they receive such support that two evenings will be necessary. Therefore tickets will be sold for Friday evening. Tickets will be on sale on Monday, November the 24th, students calling at homes and places of business. These can be exchanged later for reserved seats. Students feel that one bumper crowded house will be better than two small houses. Also, in order to make their first effort popular, they have *decided to place their price at a pop*ular figure. One dollar will be charged for all seats in the first eight rows, but all other seats in the house will be only seventy-five cents for adults and fifty cents for children, including all school students. This should meet with popular approval.

The play is progressing satisfactorily. It is a comedy of modern college life, full of laughs, and uproariously funny in places, but with a serious thread, giving opportunity at times for real drama. It is sure to please the average theatre-loving public.

Next week we will give a personal sketch of the characters taking part in the play.

"Britannia" will include forty students, and is sure to be well received. Mr. Robinson is assisting with a high school orchestra, and Mrs. R. Potter is training a group of students in the glee club. In all about sixty-five high school students will take part. Don't miss this bit of the season's amusement.

John Swanson, Who Died As Result of Train Wreck

(Contributed by Henry McMaster, Portage la Prairie, Man.)

The funeral of the late John Swanson, of Kamloops, B.C., was held on Monday afternon, November 3rd, at 2 p.m., from the residence of Mrs. Swanson's father, Henry McMaster, 50 Campbell Street, South Portage la Prairie, Man., interment being made in Hillside Cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. S. P. Riddell, Methodist pastor on the Prospect circuit. In referring to the deceased he voiced the sentiments of all in the words, "To know him was to love him." The pall bearers were six brothers in law: Messrs. Roy, James, Russell and Leslie McMaster, W. J. McCracken and Charles T. Fraser.

The beautiful floral tributes included a wreath from the family, wreaths from the B. of L.F. & E., No. 258, Kamloops, of which he was a member, and the B. of L.E., No. 821, Kamloops. a spray from Miss Ross, Portage la Prairie, and wreaths from Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McAvinn, Kamloops, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cope, New Westminster.

The late Mr. Swanson was born in John O' Groats, Caithness, Scotland, August 8th, 1892. Besides his widow he is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. David McDonald, two brothers, Sinclair and David, and three sisters, Fanny and Georgina at home and Mrs. Donald Polson all living at Wick, Scotland. Mr. George Manson, 528 Clinton Steet, Vancouver, is an uncle.

The deceased came to Canada in 1911 and upon his arrival at Cranbrook entered the services of the C. P.R., as locomotive fireman and since then has worked out of Cranbrook, Sirdar, Trail, Revelstoke, Field and Kamloops.

On May 5th, 1915, he answered the call of King and Country, enlisting with the 56th Canadian Battalion at Calgary. In 1916 he arrived at Shorncliffe, England, and was drafted to the 31st Battalion of Calgary, to reinforce Canadians in France. After the "June scrap" at Ypres, on June 13, 1916, he was sent to the hospital at Manchester, Eng., for five months. Later he returned to France with the Fifth Canadian Railway Troops as sapper. He was again invalided to England. At Armistice he had completed nearly four years of service, of which two years had been spent in France. He was invalided to Canada in 1919 and received his discharge, March 20th of the same year. Owing to ill health he spent six months of 1921 visiting his parents in Scotland. September 18th, 1923, he married Miss Jean McMaster, of Portage la Prairie, Man. Two months later they went to reside at Kamloops, Mr. Swanson firing the yard engine there. The deceased had been under the care of Dr. J. S. Burris for over six months and had just started back to work on September 29th.

On October 29th, at 6.30 p.m., he was fatally injured when the yard engine he was firing was struck by a freight train that was pulling into the yard. He was rushed to the Royal Inland Hospital and his wife reached him a few minutes later. Everything possible was done to relieve his suffering but he passed away at midnight. His death came as a great shock to his many friends and the sympathy of all is extended to the young widow in her sad bereavement.

Now there is a little work to be done Taylor's supporters do not seem to have teams suitable for the job, so one was brought out from Cranbrook. But there! 'Twas ever thus!

LOCAL MEMBER TAKES PART IN DEBATE AT LEGISLATURE

Urges More Encouragement Be Given To Mining Industry

Mr. N. A. Wallinger, the local member, has again been placed on the mining committee of the legislature. He made his opening speech of the session on the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne.

Previous addresses made by Liberal members had made copious references to the prosperity of the province, and this was referred to by Mr. Wallinger in his speech:

"I have failed to see the reason for so much optimism," he added. "Prosperity does not exist in British Columbia as it once did, and I see no chance of a change if the government carries on in the future as it has done in the past."

Mr. Wallinger recorded his objection to the Timber Royalties Act, and urged that a downward revision be made. Relative to agriculture, he contended that the industry had been drifting steadily backwards, and that conditions now were much more serious than they were ten years ago. In the Cranbrook district there was room for fifteen or twenty thousand settlers. At present only about seven hundred were located there.

Mining formed the major portion of the Cranbrook member's speech. isted in mining throughout the east- He believed that a great future exthe government would first have to ern sections of British Columbia, but take steps to encourage the industry. A prospector had not been seen in the Cranbrook district for a good many years, he declared, and a new discovery of silver-lead ore, which was the principal mineralization, had not been made for twelve years.

He reviewed the possibilities of development and the effect of such action upon the general prosperity of the province. Cranbrook contained, he said, the largest silver-lead mine in the world, and from it alone, a large payroll was distributed.

Continuing, Mr. Wallinger said that the Sullivan mine had produced 670,000 tons of silver-lead ore, which had been shipped to the smelter at Trail and to Antwerp, Belgium.

Concluding his speech, the Cranbrook member spoke about the civil service, and charged that men had been "pitchforked" into jobs over the heads of departmental chiefs and servants who were entitled by their service to promotion.

DR. KING NOT SURPRISED BUT DISAPPOINTED AT RESULT IN YALE

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, before returning east after directing the by-election in Yale riding, expressed himself as disappointed but not surprised at the result, declaring the district inherently Conservative.

D. King stated: " While naturally disappointed at the result of the by-election in Yale I was not surprised at the result. The district has been inherently Conservative since the time of Duncan Ross, when in 1908 there was a deferred election in this riding and despite the fact that Sir Wilfred Laurier had swept the country as a whole, and the electors knowing this gave an overwhelming Conservative majority. In the provincial elections held only a few months ago this riding gave approximately a 3000 adverse vote against the Liberal party. We had, however, hoped that the people of Yale might realize that Liberal policies as enunciated by the prime minister, which means the building up of Western Canada would be appreciated by the agricultural people of the district of Yale, where they specialize in fruit growing, but they have failed fully to realize the importance of the issue to themselves.

"However, I am not going back to Ottawa discouraged, as I feel sure that the people of this province are behind me in my efforts to develop British Columbia, and especially the coast cities of Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Prince Rupert and that when the general election comes around I will be given their support to assist me in carrying on the work which I have started in the development of Pacific coast trade, which means the development of British Columbia and Western Canada as a whole. The people of this province must realize that their destinies are tied up with the King government, the policy of which government aims to help and stimulate the great basic industries from which all wealth flows, or, in other words, a Western Canada policy."

Boy, Oh, Boy

Soph: "Some kids kicked a football through the window and hit Gladys right in the ribs."

Other Soph: "Did it hurt her?"

"THE SIGNAL TOWER" IS OUTSTANDING HUMAN PICTURE; FULL OF REALITY

"The Signal Tower," Universal super-Jewel starring Virginia Valli, which will be shown at the Star, Friday and Saturday this week, is a photoplay that sends the spectators home wondering just how many families there are in this land whose story might have furnished the material for this drama.

"True to nature" when applied to this drama, may be a nature that most persons have very little knowledge about. It is true not all of us are railroad employees destined to carry on their duties in a lonely stretch of forest, but all know quite well what the joys and tragedies are that enter the homes of the average in this country.

"The Signal Tower" achieved success in two ways: one in the convincing ability of the characterizations, and the other in the reality of the externals. The vital dramatic interval of the story is set in the swirling environment of a storm at night within a mighty forest. A train wreck comes to add its chaos to the tormented mind of a man who believes that by devotion to his task—that of saving the lives of those who ride by rail—he would wreck for ever the happiness of his home life.

Miss Valli never has been seen on the screen in a more appealing role than that of Sally Tolliver, wife of a man who works in the signal tower of a railroad that runs through a lonely forest.

But there is no loneliness in the home life of this family of three—father, mother and child. Neither is there tragedy till the coming of a second man, also a signal tower man, who, against the desires of the wife, is taken into the family.

The story that develops from then on is just as true as is the story of the happy days that came before.

Throughout, the picture is full of human touches that appeal.

The cast includes Rockliffe Fellowes, Wallace Beery, Frankie Darro, a child actor who goes through his part as though it were no "part" but just "doing things"; James O. Barrows, Dot Farley, and J. Farrell MacDonald.

"The Signal Tower" is a photoplay that should not be missed.

"CONSIDER THE LILIES—" SEE BIG WEEK-END FILM AT STAR NEXT WEEK

"Lilies of the Field" is the title of the picture to be shown at the Star Theatre, Friday and Saturday of next week, November 28 and 29. It is a society drama of rare strength and magnificence.

Mildred Harker loved her husband. As is often the way of a man with a maid, Walter Harker's only tie to his wife was their three year old daughter, Rose.

On the night the story opens Walter calls his wife from the office saying that he would be detained until late and for her to call Ted Conroy who was coming to dinner, and ask to have the engagement postponed.

Unable to reach Conroy, Mildred waits till at the appointed time Conroy appears. He persuades Mildred to visit the home of Louis Willing, America's richest bachelor.

In the apartment of Maizie Lee, a lily of the field, a meeting of her friends is in progress, Maizie is dressing also in preparation for the Willing party.

At the Willing home Mildred wanders in the library, enchanted by the thousands of books. Louis Willing, tall, debonair, but with a slight touch of cynicism, finds Mildred looking more beautiful than ever, perched on a ladder examining a rare volume. Naturally he is intrigued.

At home, Walter Harker appears just as Mildrd is repulsing Ted. The divorce that follows rocks New York.

Willing returns and makes violent Harker leaves with his new bride for California, taking baby Rose.

love to Mildred. She refuses to see him again. In order to win her hand in marriage, Willing attempts to recover baby Rose for the disillusioned mother.

On a stormy night, alone and miserable, a telegram comes for Mildred saying that Rose has died. She considers life not worth living and goes to Willing, ready for anything rather than her own thoughts. She faints in Willing's arms. He receives a telegram from Harker saying that Mildred's wire had been sent by his wife in a fit of jealousy and that Rose was leaving for New York.

The realization that Willing really loves her comes to Mildred when she learns of the struggle he has made to secure Rose, and they pledge eternal devotion.

MID-WEEK PICTURE AT STAR HAS SETTING IN SOUTH SEA ISLANDS

Wrecked from a hydroplane in the South Seas, what could an attractive young couple do but fall in love and get married? How it all happened, and how an obscure English village took the news is seen in "Sinners in Heaven," the feature to be shown at the Star Theatre, next Wednesday and Thursday.

Barbara Stockley, straight-laced daughter of a conventional English family, who lives in a prim little English village, is persuaded by her intimate friend, Mrs. Fields, to go on a round-the-world flight in a hydroplane with her brother, Alan Croft, a flier of international fame. Barbara leaves her fiance, Hugh Rochedale, with a promise that when she returns the following Christmas she will marry him.

The fliers get caught in a South Sea typhoon and are wrecked off the coast of a small island in the tropics. all are lost but Barbara and Alan, who manage to get to shore safely. To their dismay they find that the island is inhabited by savages. However, with the aid of the radio outfit which he salvages from the wreckage, Alan scares the superstitious natives into believing that he is a white god.

As time passes Alan and Barbara realize that they love each other. Finally they plight their troth before God, and without clergy, perform a marriage ceremony. When hope of rescue is almost gone, an aeroplane suddenly appears on the horizon. Just in the nick of time! For the natives, having discovered that Alan is not a god, decide to kill them both. In the fierce battle that follows, Alan is shot by a native and left for dead, while Barbara and the aviators escape.

When Barbara returns home, she finds the town outraged at the news of her unconventional marriage. Although believing Alan dead, Barbara nevertheless defends her action.

But happiness comes to her at last, for Alan miraculously appears one day. So Barbara and Alan renew the vows they had taken on the desert island.

At the Star Theatre on Friday and Saturday Nov. 21 & 22

WILL THE I.W.W. AND LUMBER OPERATORS COME TO GRIPS AGAIN

(From the Calgary Herald)

The I.W.W. organization, while still active in the Kootenay country, will not be able to repeat its campaign of last year in tying up the lumber industry in interior British Columbia. This is the opinion of lumbermen who visited Calgary this week.

The lumbermen expect a fight with the wobblies this winter when the bush work starts but they are confident that the agitators will not succeed in their plan to hinder operations.

Two factors enter into the speculations of the lumbermen. One is that the I.W.W. have lost much of their support in the lumber districts the other is that there will be much less employment this winter and the labor supply is large.

The lumber market is not brisk at the present time. Large tie contracts made a great deal of work last year but to date this season fewer contracts of this nature have been awarded. Therefore there will be much less activity in the woods.

The wobblies have maintained the skeleton of their organization in Cranbrook, where they have kept a headquarters open all summer.

Mother: "Did that young man put his arms around you last night?"

Daughter: "Yes, mother, three times."

Mother: "Heavens — what long arms!"

LUMBERTON CHIPS

Winter sports in Lumberton have gotten away to a good start already. Coasting on the hill which leads to the houses has been very good, especially last week, while the ice on the pond was in excellent condition. Several of the boys got together last Saturday and cleared a large space of snow so the stage was all set for the following day and many Lumberton enthusiasts enjoyed their first skate of the season. There has been very little work done on the ice rink thus far this season. Arrangements were made some time ago at a meeting of the hockey enthusiasts, to make everything in readiness; the boys were to meet on the following Sunday morning at the rink and put everything in first class shape. The usual thing happened, for out of twenty-five who attended the meeting only three appeared on the scene of action, so very little headway was made. Something will have to be done soon or we will have the same experience as we had a year ago.

The regular weekly meeting of the Lumberton Club was held last week in the club rooms. Eight tables of empire whist were in play during the early part of the evening. The high scores were made by Mrs. G. C. Robson and Mr. J. Bartle. A lunch was served by the committee after the supper waltz had been played, which was followed by dancing till the hour of twelve.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dwelley entertained a number of their friends last Friday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Robson. The time was spent in playing empire whist, which was very much enjoyed by everyone present. Prizes were awarded to the followin: Mrs. R. B. Mitchell, ladies' first; Miss Jessie Hunter, ladies' consolation; Mr. G. C. Robson, men's first and Mr. R. Issler, consolation. A very tasty lunch was served by the hostess during the course of the evening. The guests departed at a late hour after having spent a most enjoyable time.

Messrs. Patterson, Foster and Rayne, of the special commission which is making a trip through British Columbia investigating the sentiment of the people and manufacturers with reference to the eight hour law, spent Saturday of last week at the B. C. Spruce Mills camps. The gentlemen were accompanied on the trip by Mr. Klinestiver, manager of the mills. The idea of the trip to the camps was to obtain some first hand information with regard to the conditions which prevail at the logging camps. At the time of the hearing in Nelson one of the men connected with the I.W.W. organization testified that the camps at Lumberton were above the average. However, this was contradicted when the hearing was held and it so happens that a member of the same organization told the commission that they had been misinformed while at Nelson in regard to the conditions at the B. C. Spruce Mills camps. The visit to the camps at Lumberton left no doubt in the minds of the commission as to the authenticity of the testimony which was given at the hearing at Nelson.

The new Holt cat is making its daily trips to the camps with very little trouble. It has no difficulty whatever in making the round trip to camp one in a day, allowing lots of time for the loads to be put on for the next day. The return trip from camp one has been made in less than 3 hours. Heretofore it has required two days to negotiate the round trip with the four horse teams.

The music pupils of Mr. Bruce Robinson are giving a recital at the Presbyterian Schoolroom on the evening of Monday, December 1st.

On Friday last A. Macdonald and J. McKinnon assaulted a Chinaman somewhat severely, so that the unfortunate victim of the affray has been for two days in hospital, and is now recovering. The case will come up before Magistrate Leask on Tuesday next, when the accused will face a charge of assault and causing bodily harm. The men were arrested at Lumberton after an exciting chase past Smith's Lake, the snow in some places being two feet deep.

This Is A Real Treat - Don't Miss It!

Despite the date, Thursday, November 13th, was a very lucky day for the kitchen of the Baptist church when in the evening at a shower for this very important department it was literally deluged with utensils of all descriptions suitable for cooking and otherwise caring for the corporal wants of the members of the congregation. Many a housewife who prided herself on her kitchen equipment now looks with envy on the church cupboard.
